

Region Concerns surface within softball league

BOLTON — The Men's Softball League Commission met recently to discuss concerns about the league that were expressed by the Recreation Commission.

The commissioners of the softball league commission should have members instead of four. The commission supports retaining an open league but proposed some changes.

The concerns that were discussed include the need of the league, make-up of the commission, a closed league vs. an open league, resident requirements and entry fees, umpires, league realignment and league rules.

Members of the softball commission, which is part of the Recreation Commission, are Ron Avery, Phil Ponticelli, Larry Pesce and John Struff.

The league's commissioners feel the adoption of a complete set of rules and an organizational meeting to introduce and clarify those rules is needed before the season starts.

Avery said the problems that occurred during the 1980 season could not be placed on any one individual or situation but actually stem from the aggravation of many things.

Action nixed

BOLTON — Gil Boissonneau, recreation commissioner, has overruled an action taken by the commission at a recent meeting.

Boissonneau said the commissioners, managers and umpires participating in the Bolton Men's Softball League will be required to take a course that will familiarize them with the American Softball Association rulebook.

The commission voted against having the course but Boissonneau, as commissioner, overruled their action.

Boissonneau said the Men's Softball League Commission, part of the Recreation Commission, is proposing to change the entire structure of the league. The softball commissioners are Ron Avery, Phil Ponticelli, Larry Pesce and John Struff.

Collector qualified

BOLTON — Elaine Potterton, tax collector, has been designated a qualified Certified Collector by the Certified Connecticut Municipal Collector's Committee.

Anthony Milano, secretary of the Office of Policy and Management, said, "Awarding this most prestigious and respected designation to you and other members of your profession is one of the most pleasant tasks I have."

Mrs. Potterton said to get the award you have to take and pass three courses that include tax collecting procedures and laws, government and budgeting, auditing and accounting procedures.

The courses are taught in conjunction with the State Tax Department and the University of Connecticut Institute of Public Services.

Mrs. Potterton said the courses were very interesting and helpful.

Israeli forces kill Syrian peace guards

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Slogging through mud and freezing temperatures, Israeli commandos attacked seven Palestinian guerrilla bases deep in south Lebanon Friday and clashed for the first time with Syrian peace-keeping forces in the area, killing three of them.

In Tel Aviv, the military command said an Israeli corporal was killed and three other commandos wounded. It said a Norwegian soldier from the U.N. peace-keeping force in the region also was seriously wounded in the cross-fire.

The command said the raiders killed between 10 and 15 guerrillas although PLO officials in Beirut put guerrilla losses at seven dead and 10 injured.

It was the 19th Israeli raid into south Lebanon this year and the second attack on Palestinian positions in the area in 24 hours.

Meeting called on Siebold fund

By MARY KITZMANN Herald Reporter
MANCHESTER — Three directors called Friday for a special investigative board meeting to decide whether Mel Siebold, recreation director, acted improperly in arranging overnight stays at the Community "Y" for a California tour group.

The directors said the meeting should be as soon as possible to end the four-month-old controversy by settling any allegation or innuendo surrounding Siebold or by releasing him from town employment.

But the directors differed on whether the meeting should be open to the public or closed. Democrat Arnold Kleinschmidt said he would push for a closed meeting while Republican Pete DiRosa said he would prefer to include the public.

The commission tested by continued controversy over payments he received from William Brown, owner of Student Valley Tours. Hours earlier the commission had received the second communication from Brown, that stated Siebold received a "gratuity" for services beyond his job as recreation director.

MACC will ease first Yule alone

MANCHESTER — After sharing a lifetime with her husband, a local woman is anticipating her first Christmas as a widow.

She will provide as much comfort to this woman as she has provided for her new pet.

Gifts for elderly persons like this woman may be left at the Main Street or K-Mart branches of the Heritage Savings Bank. They can also be left at the Human Services Department on Center Street, St. Mary's Church on Park Street, or St. Bartholomew's on East Middle Turnpike.

All the fire departments, including the Eighth District station, are also gift dropoff points.

MACC officials request that gifts be left unwrapped, although if persons wish to provide wrapping paper separately, it will be appreciated.

Murphy heads Senate

HARTFORD (UPI) — Senate Democrats as expected unanimously chose Sen. James J. Murphy of Norwich Friday as president pro tempore of the lawmaking body for the 1981-82 Legislature.

Unwilling to drop the matter, the commission, however, believed it could go further and request the Board of Directors meeting. The controversy began when Siebold said in September the tour group paid every year for using the "Y" and later said the group paid only in 1980.

A tour spokesman, Aido Buonaguidi told an area newspaper the group did pay every year, but his statement was later refuted by Brown who said the payment was only in 1980.

The commission was tired, frustrated, angry, that the affidavit sought to settle the matter only confused it further.

"No matter what we do this keeps coming up," Chairman Joel Janenda said Friday.

Measles hits Maine town

SANFORD, Maine (UPI) — An outbreak of German measles sweeping through this southern Maine town had physicians concerned Friday, but most of the residents were unconcerned.

Storefront health service offices on Main Street received few calls from residents worried about rubella, and in nearby schools students began Christmas vacation amidst the slamming of lockers and raucous laughter.

Dr. Wayne Greaves, a physician dispatched by the National Center for Disease Control, urged "some concern for rubella" — but admitted his presence may have blown "the whole issue out of proportion."

Rubella can cause birth defects if pregnant women are exposed in the first three months of pregnancy, and Greaves' efforts focused on medical records of pregnant teenagers to determine if they were immunized.

Greaves identified 30-40 cases that are almost certainly rubella — all in the 10-20 age group, and took blood samples that will be tested for verification.

"I think it was all a big nothing," said Cindy Sprague, a 12th grader at Sanford High School. "It had been going on for about two weeks and all of a sudden it's a big thing."

Fuel cost jumps

HARTFORD (UPI) — The average cost of home heating oil in Connecticut jumped by more than 3 percent in the first two weeks of December, state energy officials disclosed Friday.

Energy Undersecretary Thomas Fitzpatrick said a state survey showed the average retail price of home heating oil was $109.7 per gallon as of Dec. 15, compared to an average of $106.3 per gallon on Dec. 1.

The price jump was caused by the early winter season which has run 16 percent colder than last year, Fitzpatrick said. He said the cold "has allowed retailers to pass their costs for home heating oil on to the consumers."

The average retail cost for a gallon of home heating oil has risen by 23 cents since Dec. 1, 1979 when it sold for 83 cents a gallon.

Personal invitation

SALEM, N.H. (UPI) — The director of the Salem High School band said Friday President-elect Ronald Reagan personally invited the 204 youngsters to march in his inaugural parade after all.

Jack Calderon said Reagan called him to personally to extend the invitation after Reagan's inaugural parade committee revoked an earlier invitation. When Reagan was campaigning in New Hampshire's first in the nation presidential campaign, he promised the band it would march in his parade if he captured the White House.

Then the band had received a letter from T.M. Chambers, chairman of the parade committee, cancelling the invitation.

But Calderon said he received a brief telephone call from Reagan at his home Friday afternoon.

Price fix brings fine

Insurance fraud charged

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — A prominent cardiologist living in Houston was charged Friday with defrauding 14 insurance companies out of more than $250,000 through phony insurance claims.

Dr. Richard Kones, 39, formerly of Horsehoe Hill Road, Pound Ridge, N.Y., now of 11106 Bellaire Blvd., Houston, was arraigned on 20 counts of grand larceny and two counts of attempted grand larceny before state Supreme Court Justice Isaac Rubin.

Kones was released on $5,000 bail.

Westchester District Attorney Carl Vergari said Kones falsified claims for disability insurance coverage and submitted forged documents to obtain payments from May 1977 through January 1980.

Among the claims, totaling $250,000, were payments for an alleged traffic accident, an alleged tennis accident, the illness of a daughter of Dr. Kones and an alleged heart attack, Vergari said.

Many of the 14 insurance companies with whom the noted cardiologist filed claims were in Connecticut, Vergari said.

Workman killed

LUDLOW, Mass. (UPI) — One man was killed and two others injured Friday when heavy construction equipment fell 40 feet to the ground, police said.

Sgt. Albert Bellorini said a crew from the Springfield Steel Erector Corp. were trying to place a transition exhaust system "when the holding eye broke free from the crane."

The six tons of equipment and the men with it fell to the ground, Bellorini said, smashing one crewman underneath. Barret Musclemann, 29, of Ludlow, was declared dead at the scene, Bellorini said.

Thomas Beaupre, 23, and Ronald Kent, 31, were taken to Ludlow Hospital with multiple injuries. Their homeowns were not immediately available.

Bellorini said police have classified the incident as a

UConn getting Giamo papers

STORRS (UPI) — Retiring Rep. Robert Giamo, D-Conn., Friday gave the University of Connecticut his congressional papers which he said showed an honest and realistic picture of America in the last 22 years.

Giamo, first elected to serve the 3rd Congressional District in 1968 and the last chairman of the powerful House Budget Committee, graduated from the UConn School of Law in 1943.

"In the belief that the papers and correspondence from my 22 years service in the House of Representatives reflect an honest and realistic picture representative of America during this period... these documents rightfully belong to the people of the state of Connecticut," he said.

The papers, which will be stored in the UConn library's Archives center, include working papers, appointment books, public statements, news letters, press releases and correspondence with constituents on legislation.

The collection also includes files on the legislation Giamo introduced or co-sponsored, including the fight bill that led to the creation of the national endowment of the arts and humanities.

"I believe these files will help to show a more realistic picture of the true role of a representative, particularly indicating that much of the work of the Congress takes place in committees," he said.

"These papers will be preserved and available to scholars and researchers for assessment of their reflection of history," he said.

Giamo and UConn President John A. DiBiaggio signed an agreement transferring ownership of the documents.

"This university and your papers go hand in hand," DiBiaggio said.

Randall Jerny of the Archives center said "it is appropriate to recognize a gift of this magnitude because the historical documents form the collective memory of a society."

"They are the key factor in preserving the cultural heritage of the nation. History can only be written if records are preserved," he said.

Police union mulls decision on hiring

By MARTIN KEARNS
Herald Reporter

MANCHESTER — In the wake of the Police Department's budget review, the Police Union's executive board will first consider the conclusions of town directors before deciding any further action.

A bi-partisan subcommittee of town directors Thursday agreed hiring delays stem from the short-handed police force.

Tighe expressed the view of other officers when he said the department should increase wages for the dwindling pool of crossguards. On weeks off, as many as seven police officers are assigned to area crosswalks, which Tighe said spreads the patrol officers too thin.

The crossguards are civilians who are paid $3.50 an hour. Tighe said the low pay discourages new applicants and the department is now faced with a severe shortage.

Rhode Island tax high

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — State and local taxes took $975 from the pockets of Rhode Island residents in 1979, making the state's tax burden 18th highest in the country, the Rhode Island Public Expenditure Council said Friday.

The state's tax rate was more than $41 higher than the national average and pushed the state up three places in the 50-state ranking.

RIPEC's Executive Director Gary S. Sasse said Rhode Island moved to 11th place when the tax rate was compared with personal income.

For every $1,000 they earned in 1979, residents paid $129.71 to state and local taxes, $9.49 more than the national average, Sasse said.

"The last time Rhode Island exceeded the national average in this short-handed pool was also in fiscal year 1971," Sasse said.

Only two New England states ranked higher in the national comparison. Massachusetts was 4th with 158 percent between fiscal years 1969 and 1979 and 446 percent since fiscal year 1959 when state and local taxes totaled $178.51.

When compared to personal income, Rhode Island taxes increased 53 percent over the 20 year period

Youth sentenced in killing

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A teen-age street gang member was sentenced to a maximum 25 years to life in prison Friday for gunning down a popular high school teacher who was minding the school store.

A Superior Court jury last month found Reginald "Sunshine" Jones, 19, guilty of felony murder in the Dec. 14, 1978 slaying of Mrs. Annunziata, 56, of Orange, was shot once while tending a store used to demonstrate business skills to students in an attempted robbery.

Although a cash bond containing $108 was left behind, Jones was not a student at the school where Annunziata taught for nearly two decades.

Iran demands assets in return for hostages

By SAJJID RIZVI
International

Algeria freed Tehran's "final" terms for freeing the 52 American hostages to the United States Friday and Iran said it must get back its $8 billion in frozen assets and gold bullion before the captives are released.

In Washington, the State Department said it had received the reply but that further negotiations might be necessary and the hostages should not be expected to be home for Christmas.

Department spokesman John Trattner said the Iranian message was being "carefully studied."

"It presents issues of substance as well as questions of procedure," he said. "I would not exclude the need for a response by our side."

Each round in the Washington-Tehran dialogue, being conducted through the Algerian government, has required about two weeks. "It is a difficult, complicated and time-consuming task," Trattner said.

In Tehran, the head of Iran's special Hostage Commission disclosed some of the details of what he called the "final reply" to the United States on releasing the hostages held for 413 days.

The reply was given to a three-man Algerian diplomatic team that left by the terms of the agreement.

He said the latest U.S. proposals studied by Iran "have been recognized as generally acceptable."

But he added, "It is essentially the guarantee of these undertakings which the government of the Islamic Republic of Iran must first be completely assured of."

"Written promises with the signature of the U.S. president is not sufficient, he said.

The main sticking point appeared to be Iran's demand for the return of an estimated $8 billion in Iranian assets in United States frozen by President Carter.

Nabavi said Iran wanted the money, which works out to nearly $154 million per hostage, to be transferred to Algeria's Central Bank before the hostages were freed.

"It is required of the U.S. government to deposit the frozen assets and gold of Iran in the Central Bank of Algeria in addition to signing the document."

Celebrating Our 100th Anniversary Next Year!

Seniors prepare for holiday, winter trips

By WALLY FORTIN
Hi neighbors! Just think that this Thursday is Christmas, really hard to believe that it is here already.

This also means that it will be a short week for us here at the center as we will be closed on Friday the 26th as well as Christmas.

We will have our activities as scheduled Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, weather permitting of course.

I want to remind you folks, who do use our bus, that during the winter months whenever the schools announce they are closed because of a snow storm, then we will not use our bus that day. So, whenever you are in doubt, just tune in to WINP or WTC and you'll hear all the cancellations.

Don't forget that we have our big Holiday Dance coming up on Monday, Dec. 29 here at the center. We still need a few volunteers to help us for a short time in the kitchen that night, so if you can give us a helping hand, please call our office.

People can play cards if they don't care to dance and we will take our bus providing we have at least 25 passengers.

One more reminder that our bus for the Florida trip in February is all set to go and so all of you who are going must get in your final payment right after the first of the year. We still have a few seats open for any late takers, so if you're interested, drop by the office and sign up.

While on trips, remember we still have fliers telling you all about a super trip to Ireland scheduled for the first week in April. Drop by and pick one up and see what the deal is all about.

O.K. Time for the happenings here at the center and here is Tuesday's bowling league results: Ladies: Harriett Giordano high triple, 387; Catherine Ringrose, 157; Men: High Single, Frank Traggis, 288 and Leonard Bjorkman, 327, high triple. On Wednesday morning it was pinocle time and the winners were: Rene Maitre, 596; Al Chellman, 587; Arvid Peterson, 578; Betty Turner, 578; Grace Windsor, 577; Floyd Post, 570; Helen Silver, 564.

We also received word that one of our bowling friends is now a patient in the Manchester hospital, William Olcavage. Cards would certainly make him feel a lot better.

Our last exercise class for the year will be on this Tuesday afternoon and will resume again on Tuesday, Jan. 6.

Wednesday afternoon it was bridge games and the lucky prize winners are: Tom Regan, 6640; Irene Tolsey, 4480; Hilda Campbell 4120; Nan Flanagan, 3960.

Next week our meals will be served on Monday and Wednesday. Our meal program usually stops when school is out but thanks to Joe D. who will prepare a tasty little meal on Wednesday and then again the following Monday, Wednesday and Friday so now you can count on at least a light lunch as usual.

By the way, because our regular bus driver Jim Nason is recuperating at his home, 17 Lilley St., and isn't expected back until Monday, Dec. 29, we will not be able to start our senior bowling league at the Parkade Lanes; 1:30 p.m. exercise class.

Wednesday, you must call in at least 2 days ahead so that we can arrange our schedule.

Meals for the Week:
Monday: Turkey rice soup, ham on rye, tapioca, beverage.
Tuesday: Vegetable soup, egg salad sandwich, pudding, beverage.
Schedule for the Week:
Monday: 10 a.m. kitchen social games. Noontime, lunch served; 12:45 pinocle games. Bus pick up at 8 and 11 a.m. Return trips at 12:30 and 3:15 p.m.

IRA ends hunger strike

BELFAST, Ireland (UPI) — Irish Republican Army prisoners Friday ended hunger strikes that threatened to plunge Northern Ireland into renewed sectarian violence with a compromise settlement on prisoner demands for political prisoner status.

By the time the settlement was announced, however, one of the seven men who started the hunger strike 53 days earlier was in a coma that could lead to death within days or hours. A medical bulletin said his condition was still "very grave."

The British government denied it was giving IRA prisoners special status but reiterated a promise to extend prison reforms demanded by the strikers to all prisoners in Ulster.

A spokesman for the provisional Sinn Fein, political wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, said about 500 prisoners also called off protests in which they refused to wear prison clothing and many had fouled their cells.

The hunger strikers included seven men convicted of violent crimes, who began their fast in The Maze prison in Belfast Oct. 27. Three women who went on strike at Armagh prison Dec. 1 and 30 other prisoners in The Maze who began fasting early this week

Clashes reported over Khomeini

The concessions gave prisoners the right to wear their own clothes during recreation periods and to associate with one another in evenings and at weekends.

The Northern Ireland office said it would work out individual work, vocational training and education programs. And it promised to review all cases to see if remission of sentences for good behavior could be restored.

Atkins said these concessions had been given to the House of Commons Dec. 4 and a detailed copy was handed each prisoner Thursday.

Poland announces austerity

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Racked by labor strife and soaring debt, Poland announced an economic austerity package Friday that knocked the cheer out of Christmas by laying off 5,000 government workers and rationing meat for the first time since World War II.

Polish Finance Minister Marian Krzak told a special session of Parliament that next year would be worse and he announced major cost-cutting measures including the government layoffs.

On the final week before Christmas holidays, Poland's financial situation looked bleak.

Meat is being rationed for the first time since the war.

Sugar rations are being cut back.

Foreign debt is ballooning to $23 billion.

Food subsidies have soared by more than one-third.

The impact of the grim statistics cited by Krzak was evident in the stores where Poles line up for two and three hours to buy carp for Christmas.

Butter, virtually unavailable, is used for holiday gifts and some Poles are driving as far as Berlin for chocolate and other specialty goods for the holidays.

Ration cards good at 300 special shops in Warsaw were distributed to try to stretch the nation's thinning supplies of meat, sausage and butter.

"The economic situation will be even more difficult next year," Krzak said.

He said foreign debt will hit $23 billion — up almost $2 billion over last year.

He said the situation was eased somewhat by $1.1 billion in credits from the Soviet Union and $125 million from East Germany.

Gruman to check buses

TRENTON (UPI) — The New Jersey Transit Corp. Friday said it was taking precautions to make sure its recently ordered Gruman Flexible buses are free from design and performance problems.

NJ Transit Executive Director Jerome C. Premo announced he has appointed a special task force to study the problems and make recommendations by Jan. 9.

New York has grounded 67 of its new Gruman Flexible buses, which have developed cracks in their undercarriages. A fleet of 100 reserve buses from Washington is due in New York Saturday.

that are failing in service. We don't have any of the buses at all yet," he said.

The task force will document the problems experienced by Flexible buses in other cities, review actions taken by other transit agencies, decide which issues need to be discussed during a production audit of Flexible's construction plans and investigate the need for an independent analysis of structural problems.

Premo said he has contacted Flexible president Robert Landon three times to inform him of New Jersey's concerns. In addition, NJ Transit staff members accompanied federal officials on inspection trips to New York and Hartford, Conn.

NJ Transit also will retain the services of an independent consultant to aid its staff in monitoring Flexible's engineering and construction operations of the New Jersey fleet.

Premo said the contract was awarded to Gruman because its bid was lower than that of the other bidders. General Motors Gruman asked for $36,307,730 million. General Motors asked for $36,412,766.

Swearing-in to be low key

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. William O'Neill plans a low-key swearing-in ceremony Dec. 21 to succeed the ailing Gov. Ella Grasso. Capitol sources said Friday.

Senate President Pro Tempore Joseph Fusillo, who moves up to lieutenant governor will be sworn in along with O'Neill by Chief Justice John P. Cotter at the Capitol, the sources said.

O'Neill will serve out the term of Mrs. Grasso that expires at the end of 1982.

United Press International Iranian Revolutionary Guards killed 100 anti-Khomeini insurgents in a two-day battle in northwest Iran and an earthquake shook Tehran and several other cities, killing at least 25 people, the official Pars news agency reported Friday.

The report of the clashes in west Azerbaijan came two days after violent demonstrations in several Iranian cities, including Qom, where protesters tore up pictures of 80-year-old Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Pars reported the strong earthquake that shook Tehran and more than a dozen other cities and towns in northern Iran early Friday registering 5.7 on the Richter scale. The quake was centered about 125 miles southwest of Tehran.

The agency said Tehran and the holy city of Qom were among the cities affected but did not disclose the extent of damages.

The two-day battle in West Azerbaijan province, peopled by Turks traditionally opposed to Persian rule, left at least 124 dead — 100 insurgents

Walkers Reservoir site tagged for recreation

VERNON — Town and state officials met at Walkers Reservoir recently to discuss problems and possible solutions that will lead to the town using the reservoir as a passive recreation area.

Some time ago Charles Vassiliopoulos, the town's environmental health officer had asked the state Department of Transportation (DOT) to leave the upstream dam, which is about 15 feet wide, for future siltation control and the state has agreed. The dam was originally constructed to permit Savin Brothers Construction Co. to have water for its cement plant and the washing of vehicles.

Savin Brothers is the construction firm working on the widening of Interstate 86.

Since the highway work has started, problems with siltation in the reservoir have manifested and the town has asked the state to do something about it. The town wants the pond restored by spring so it can be stocked with trout. Mayor Marie Herbst said.

The environmental health department of the town drained the reservoir last spring to make it easier for state officials to see how much silt needs to be removed from the bottom of the pond.

Vassiliopoulos said that the DOT proposal to remove 1,000 cubic yards of material from the pond isn't sufficient to restore it. He said he has talked with John Clapp, a contractor, who has the experience and the equipment to remove the silt at a cost of about $2 per cubic yard compared to the $35 per cubic yard the state contractor wants to charge.

Vassiliopoulos said James Sullivan of the DOT is skeptical about the proposal but said the state would seriously consider it.

Town Engineer Leonard Sczesny said his surveyor will assist in determining the amount of restoration to enable Clapp to provide a firm cost per cubic yard removal.

The proposal will then be reviewed by DOT and the state Department of Environmental Protection and be revised if necessary. Vassiliopoulos said when this is resolved a letter of intent will be sent to Stanley Pae, commissioner of DEP, for approval.

Vassiliopoulos said that in addition he has asked DOT of the possibility of using a stump pond, owned by Marcus Mason of Reservoir Road, as an additional retention area for storm water runoff by providing a larger culvert between the two ponds and the state will have its hydrology department review this proposal.

Mayor expecting study draft

VERNON — Mayor Marie Herbst, who has fought against the state's proposal to widen I-291 from Windsor to Manchester, said she expects to receive a draft of the impact study, being done by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, next week.

Mrs. Herbst said if the state is allowed to go ahead with the project it will cut the heart out of Vernon. Town officials fear that traffic will bypass the Vernon Circle shopping area and go directly to the proposed Buckland Mall in Manchester.

Vermon was one of the towns that requested the impact study to determine the effect the project would have on the commercial area. Officials in Windsor also requested the study.

The comments of town officials are to be considered when federal officials adopt the impact study. This expected early in January. If the final draft is adopted then the U.S. Department of Transportation will be able to take action on the final environmental impact statement and approval of the latter would allow the state to go ahead with the controversial project.

Town prepares gardens

VERNON — It's only December but already the town officials are getting ready for spring gardening. The town's community garden area has been turned over.

The area is a new one, north of the area that has been used for several years, and to the rear of the Middle School.

Mrs. Herbst said farmers told her the soil should be turned now.

The town is involved in a land swap which will give the area formerly used for the gardens, to the Rockville Baptist Church.

The new area is on the upper level near the wooded area and parallel to the pond. Donald Berger, recreation director, who has charge of the garden arrangements, said the cross country course in the area won't be altered.

Berger said that the roadway to the site is in good condition so this should eliminate Inland Drive being used as a potential parking area, a practice opposed by residents.

Berger said the soil itself seems rich and should lend itself to rich harvests.

Berger did express some concern that there might be problems with a nearby wooded area. He also said the encroachment of the garden might cause problems with a nearby trail bike track.

DO IT DAILY — PLAY BETTER BRIDGE by reading Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag's column in the Evening Herald.

Berger also expressed concern about the boundaries of authority but the mayor said there is no problem with boundaries.

Christmas time at the Metropolitan Museum of Art

Visitors to the Metropolitan Art Museum in New York City are dwarfed by this giant Christmas tree trimmed with angels and candles.

Under the tree, the nativity is recalled with miniature figures from all walks of life coming to visit the Christ child.

People/Places

Colorful figurines garbed in costumes of their day, encircle the base of the Christmas tree as they follow the Star of Bethlehem.

Peter Wolfgang of 193 Grissom Road, Manchester, takes time out to admire this statue of a beautiful maiden on his tour of the museum with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Pinto of Manchester.

Supermarket Shopper

Nothing to rumor about proofs paying for kidney treatment

By MARTIN SLOANE
DEAR SUPERMARKET SHOPPER - I am the public-affairs director of a hospital. We regularly receive letters from good people who want to help others and who offer to donate to the hospital all types of Universal Product Codes and other portions of product packages.

Many say they have heard that these items can be used to pay for the dialysis treatments needed by kidney patients.

We have tried to track this rumor down but have not been successful. Are you aware of any group that converts these items to cash for worthwhile purposes? - M.S.P. from Wisconsin.

DEAR M.S.P. - Unfortunately, I don't know of any organization that will pay for dialysis treatments in exchange for Universal Product Codes or other proofs of purchase.

I, too, have tried to track these reports down. I'm afraid they are just a myth.

In a future column, I will provide the names and addresses of companies that do have programs offering valuable incentives to an organization that collects their box tops or labels.

DEAR SUPERMARKET SHOPPER - I never paid much attention to coupons and refunds. I felt that I couldn't be bothered.

But during the last year rising food prices have changed my mind. I am now watchful of every opportunity to save money.

Last week I found a $1 refund offer for a popular brand of potato chips enjoyed by my children. To receive the refund, I needed three net-weight statements cut from the bags of potato chips.

The chips are regularly priced at 99 cents, but in the food section of the newspaper I noticed them on sale for 89 cents. When I looked through my shoe box full of coupons, I found two 25-cent coupons for these same potato chips.

Using the two coupons, the three bags cost me $1.57.

Taking into account the $1 refund and the cost of the envelope and postage I need to obtain it, the three bags of chips will wind up costing me less than 25 cents each.

I have taken great pride in being a good cook and a smart shopper. Now I'm having a lot of fun learning to be a good couponer and refunder as well.

By the way, each bag of potato chips had a 15-cent coupon on it. - Betty W. from Worthington, Ohio.

DEAR BETTY - Every day more good cooks and smart shoppers are learning how to cut their food bills by taking maximum advantage of coupons and refund offers. We are proud to have you with us.

But why do you still keep your coupons in a shoe box? If you file all your coupons by major product groups, you will be able to find those you need faster and thus take advantage of more money-saving offers.

For instance, if coffee is on your shopping list, you would go directly to coupon envelope No. 8-Beverages and within seconds find the coupon that best suited you.

Learn the do's and don'ts of long-distance swapping in my Coupon Clipper's Newsletter No. 3, Trading Refund Forms by Mail. Send 75 cents plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope to THE SUPERMARKET SHOPPER, P.O. Box 461, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Refund of the day: Write to the following address to receive the form required by this $1 refund offer: Johnson's Reach - Dental Checkup Offer, P.O. Box 14801, Baltimore, Md. 21286. Send for this form by Aug. 1, 1981.

Wings of Morning

It's nice to help at Christmas

By CLIFF SIMPSON
At this season of the year those who can share seem to catch the spirit of giving. It's wonderful. I can recall the dilemma of one group that collected toys and mittens and various articles for children - and then found out that every needy group had already been spoken for. Even the orphanages refused the offer. These purveyors of good-will just needed to wait.

"Did you see the two new diamond rings I got for Christmas?" "I certainly did," he replied. "I saw them when you dropped that time in the collection plate."
The other partner is the tight-fisted who went out behind the barn the night before Christmas, fired a shot, then came into the house, told his two children that Santa Claus had just committed suicide.

A Christmas present?
The little girl's aunt was visiting for the holidays and took to him the gift of a Christmas tree. "What are you giving your brother this Christmas?" The little girl answered, "I don't know. Well, what did you give me?" "The little girl said, 'The whooping cough.'"

Lo Christmas bring you to reality
Too many have illusions about the holidays, believing that the mere passing of the days will wipe out family hostilities, the despairing teen-ager hoping for a miracle that will change his philosophy, the mother trimming the tree hoping that her daughter will change her lifestyle, the lonely man at the bar expecting the "season to be jolly" will bring him friends, the children buying a very expensive gift who are all in a world of unreality.

Christmas is also JOY. Not very many of us who have a home in Bethlehem. Christ the men, Mary and Joseph, the wisemen, the shepherds. Really, not a crowd, but to those who know JOY came to earth then. The Bible tells us that when the wisemen saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy (Mt. 2:10) and the shepherds heard, "for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy" (Luke 2:10). And those tidings have travelled around the world - and that message is still true today. JOY can be yours. William James, the famous Harvard philosopher, writes:

Joy to the world
Christmas is also JOY. Not very many of us who have a home in Bethlehem. Christ the men, Mary and Joseph, the wisemen, the shepherds. Really, not a crowd, but to those who know JOY came to earth then. The Bible tells us that when the wisemen saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy (Mt. 2:10) and the shepherds heard, "for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy" (Luke 2:10). And those tidings have travelled around the world - and that message is still true today. JOY can be yours. William James, the famous Harvard philosopher, writes:

Here is a life lived, consciously wrong, inferior and unhappy. "This is anxiety, frustration, despair, and hopelessness. James goes on: "By its firm hold on religious realities that life becomes united, consciously right, superior, and happy."

If you argue that is too great a claim, my answer is "Try it" - and you will find it so.

Christmas is cosmic
A group of American students attended a conference in a Swiss chalet and late one afternoon took a walk down the mountain. Before they left, the students and a mist rolled in this precipice walk. They dared not move - so they just waited. They sang some Christmas hymns, and hoped for help. Soon above them appeared a light bobbing down the path. They halted and were answered. Very soon they recognized the imkeeper's son who had come with them in their darkest time. So Jesus at the darkest time of the year came from his father's house to bring us light in our darkness. Truly Christmas is cosmic.
