America celebrates freedom

By United Press International America whistled, chimed, rang and beeped its pleasure, and tied a yellow ribbon on everything that didn't move.

The hostages were free! The news was spread in siren wails, whoops and hollers, although bells were the favored method of communication from Annapolis to San Francisco. Barbara Deffley, wife of a Methodist minister, went into her husband's church in Homer, Ill., and rang the church bell by hand 444 times.

Mrs. Deffley emerged exhausted, her face streaked with tears of pride. "At 200, it didn't seem like I would make it." she said. "But at 300 I got my second wind." Legislators and lobbyists in the Kansas Capitol came racing to their doors when tour guide Billie Shively tugged the bell in the rotunda 52 times. The tipoff: There was a dramatic angle overlooked by those reporting the Oakland Raiders' march to Super Bowl XV with their impressive victory over the San Diego Chargers for the AFC title. Their veteran tight end, Raymond Chester, was playing with a grave personal distraction. Just a few days before, in his native Baltimore, Raymond's younger brother had been convicted on a murder charge. But Raymond went out and caught a deflected pass for an opening 65-yard touchdown play and also led the Raiders with five receptions for the game.

EVENING HERALD, Wed., Jan. 21, 1981 - 9

Q. When the Minnesota Vikings were playing in the Saper Bowls in the early 1970s, I was a little young but read they had a lot of turnovers. From what you saw, if they had avoid-ed those turnovers, do you think they would have had a chance to win? — Scott Paist, Trevose, Pa.

to wis? — Scott Paist, Trevose, Pa.

Obviously, turnovers have a part in almost all defeats. The Vikings lost the ball often enough to influence the four Super Bowl debacies in which they played — IV. VIII, IX and XI, to use Pete Rozelle's designation of those games. But they were also outplayed in all of them, the closest being a 10-point loss and the average losing margin being 15 points. So there was more to their failure than fumbles and interceptions. They simply were knocked on their keisters.

Q. Inevitability prompts this request. The rainbow-wigged man who frequents all the games that are televised will one day be identified. Could you clue us in on who he is? I heard that he was Howard Cosell's son, or is that just a fabrication? - John Bodrug, Roebling, N.J.

Some time ago, a Sports Illustrated piece identified that bizarre character. But I don't think it's my province to glorify further such a calloused publicity seeker. He certainly isn't related to the ABC sportscaster. Howard Cosell's daughter, by the way, is a successful sports producer for another network.

Q. Why doesn't a team that gets to the Super Bowl play in its home park like baseball teams do? The league owes it to the fans who support them, and the city loses money. It's a rip-off. And wenther is no excuse. All games should be played in either team's park, not Florida or Texas. Do you agree? — Allen Wilson, Newportville, Pa.

No. A single Soper Bowl game in the home park of one of the competing teams would create an advantage for that team (although it could easily happen in the case of Miami or New Orleans, or even Detroit next year). More important, the weather is an excuse, despite what you say. That recent Oakland-Cleveland playoff game was a travesty, both for the players and the fans. Football wasn't meant to be played on a sheet of ice and before an audience risking pneumonia. I think, considering the time of year, all NFL playoffs should be held in neutral warm-weather sites.

AN URGENT APPEAL FOR CONSERVATION TO THE NATURAL GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONNECTICUT

It's cold outside...forty percent colder than usual for this time of year. The record-breaking cold is creating record demand for gas.

Your immediate conservation efforts are essential to assure that Connecticut gas companies can continue to meet the heavy demand. You are already conserving but we urge all gas customers to take extra conservation measures to help prevent gas shortages which could cause factory shutdowns and job layoffs. And, of course, to keep your gas bill as low as possible.

Here are some tips you can use to help meet the challenge:

REDUCE YOUR THERMOSTAT SETTING: Keep it at no more than 65 degrees during the day and lower while you are sleeping. (The elderly and those with certain medical problems may not be able to comfortably handle these lower temperatures. In such special cases, temperatures which are necessary for health and safety should be maintained.)

TURN DOWN YOUR HOT WATER HEATER: If you haven't already done so, you can safely turn down the thermostat on your gas water heater to about 120 degrees. Leave it there all the time. It's a good year-round conservation

USE YOUR GAS DRYER ONLY WHEN YOU HAVE TO: If you have room in your home, most clothes will dry fairly quickly if you hang them up in winter's low humidity. If you do use your dryer, use full loads for maximum efficiency.

USE YOUR GAS STOVE FOR PEAK EFFICIENCY: Plan meals so that all oven dishes are cooked at the same time. Turn off burners or the oven near the end of the cooking cycle and let residual heat finish the job. But remember never use your oven or top burners for heating your living

TAKE SHOWERS INSTEAD OF BATHS: They use less hot water. And for just a few cents you can get a small water flow restrictor at your local hardware store. It's simple to install and reduces the hot water you need for your shower without leaving you cold.

Your cooperation is appreciated.

Bring more of the exciting "new American cuisine" into your home with recipes that blend natural ingredients with a fresh approach to dining and entertaining. In your kitchen, as in internationally-acclaimed restaurants, the new American cuisine brings to the table the best of our cooking heritage served with your new skills and interests. Your recipes can now combine native flavors — European, Oriental, Latin — with the most natural American ingredients and products. most natural American ingredients and products.

And, American-made natural cheeses are a popular part of the new American cuisine—a cooking adventure that lets you experiment with tastes and textures, that insists only on very fresh, very fine ingredients.

Consider the old-world flavor of natural mozzarella cheese blended with pasta, fresh vegetables and natural herbs in tasty Primavera Squares... the subtle texture of Monterey Jack cheese with the western tang of barbecue sauce in Monterey Jack Filled Beef Rolls... the sophisticated taste of natural Swiss cheese brightly fused with the flavors of salmon, lemon and herbs in Petite Salmon Soufflés. Cheese is important to today's innovative American cook, and a variety of cheese tastes and textures is an important part of American family dining and entertaining.

In the past 10 years, American cheese consumption has increased by 60 percent, especially as we discover the range of American-made natural cheeses. With our increased knowledge of international cuisines, and our increased skills, we have discovered what international households have known for centuries—that natural part of the new American cuisine - a cooking adver-

Pennywise and Protein Rich

First, consider the per-pound price of natural cheese and the amount of protein it contains, the number of servings it yields, and the great variety of meals it makes for any occasion.

Since all cheese is made from milk (mostly cow's milk, whole or partly skimmed), it's a top source of protein and calcium — with other vitamins and minerals. A pound of cheese goes a long way for main dishes, snacks, sandwiches, side dishes, desserts. Or you can quickly cube it for the hors d'oeuvres tray... or slice it to brighten up a buffet. And extra pieces of natural cheese can be shredded for tasty toppings or sauces.

Cheese for Everyday and Everybody

Cheese for Everyday and Everybody

When it comes to taste, a sharp, pungent cheese—much like a heady, aged wine—is a great gustatory experience once in a while. But a steady diet of palateshocking flavors can tire even the greatest connoisseur.
That's why mild, all-purpose natural cheeses can be served as everyday cheeses. They satisfy your hunger for variety in cheeses, serve you in many ways as you cook, sustain the snackers in a family, and appeal universally to adults and children, to sophisticated and simple tastes. Among today's cheese favorites are:

Mellow Monterey Jack—A mild cheese with a growing popularity due to a creamy white color, wholesome flavor, and soft and moist texture that is great for macking and cooking. Monterey Jack takes its name from Monterey, California, where it was first made by monks, and it's a good example of an American-made natural cheese carrying traditional tastes into today's kitchens.

Melting Mozzarella—A native Italian cheese familiar to all pizza and lasagna lovers. In the Old Country, it was first made from buffalo milk. Today, most Italian-produced and popular American-made natural mozzarellas are cow's milk cheeses.

Buttery Gouda—A familiar sight with its flattened wheel' shape and protective, distinctive red wax covering. The cheese originated in the Dutch town of Gouda in the 13th century. Its color is creamy, its texture buttery, its flavor rich and mild.

Smooth Muenster—Originally a German favorite, French and German muensters are semi-soft, and they shred beautifully for cooking.

Mild Brick—Like Monterey Jack, brick is a native
U.S. cheese. It was first made in the 1870s in Wisconsin in the traditional bricklike shape that gives it its name, and it is one of the most popular all-purpose cheeses for slicing, snacking and cooking.

Natural Cheese in Your Kitchen

For centuries, mild natural cheese has been the creative cook's great, good friend. It adds, and can be the sole source of, protein in main dishes. It enhances, but never overwhelms, the flavors of other ingredients and its own flavor is heightened by melting.

The variety of cheese recipes is vast — and exciting. Say cheese and think of soups, salads, sauces, souffles, main dishes, side dishes, desserts, and snacks. And new, stimulating recipes are being developed all the time using cheese. From the Kraft Kitchens comes this trio of tantalizing recipes using Casino brand mild, natural cheeses.

of tantalizing recipes using Casino brand mild, natural cheeses.

Try Primavera Squares for a creative variation on the Italian theme — baked fettuccine and mozzarella, cut in squares and topped with Italian sausage and a colorful garden array of vegetables.

Monterey Jack Filled Beef Rolls combine ground beef with a rich natural cheese filling, rolled up like a jelly roll, then sliced and baked in savory pinwheels.

And for a quick, deliciously different supper, make Petite Salmon Soufflés — salmon-topped English muffins, crowned by a mild, natural Swiss cheese-enriched soufflé and baked to a crusty golden perfection.

Cooking with cheese is a grand culinary adventure, yours for the doing in your kitchen. You begin with good mild cheese, a unique recipe and a few helpful hints. ## to melt hearts

Made

Romantically St. Valer tine's Day is approved as a time for the giving o sweets and special gifts t close friends and family favorites.

What better way to send out a few love notes than to bake some cookies which will be love notes for those of all ages. Heart O'Mine cookies done with a heartshaped cutter are Cupid approved. Flaky pastry-like puffs are filled with and have a nut-like flavor from oldfashioned oats plus a touch of cream cheese. These should melt someone's heart on St Valentine's Day. Heart O'Mine Cookies

1 cup butter or margarine, soft 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, soft 1 cup sifted all-purpos

1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup oats, quick or old ashioned, uncooked Strawberry preserves cheese together until creamy. Blend in vanilla. Sift together flour and salt Add to creamed mixture mixing well. Stir in oats. Chill dough about 1 hour. Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to one-fourth-inch thickness. Cut with floured two and one-half-inch heart-shaped cutter. Place on ungreased thumb to make indentation n center of each cookie fill with a scant one-half teaspoon strawberry entree Beef stroganoff is favorite dish of cooking students, according to members of the Associa tion of Cooking Schools. And restaurant owners say stroganoff if very popular with customers of all ages. This stroganoff recipe makes a perfect addition to party menus. The dish uses omatoes cornstarch for thickening and less expensive beef chuck rather than top round or tenderloin Serve with rice or noodles.

Beef Stroganoff 2 tablespoons corn oil 2½ pounds boneless beef chuck, cut into strips 1/4 inch thick and 14-inch wide 1/2 pound mushrooms, 1 cup finely chopped

2 cloves garlic, minced 1 (28-ounces) can plum tomatoes in juice 2 teaspoons salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/2 cup cornstarch

1/2 cup dry white wine 1 cup dairy sour cream ½ cup chopped parsley In large skillet heat corn oil over medium heat. Add meat. ¼ at a time. Brown quickly on both sides. Add mushrooms, onior and garlic. Saute 5 minutes or until tender. Add tomatoes, salt and pepper. Simmer 10

Stir together cornstarch and wine until smooth. Stir into tomato mixture. Stirring constantly, bring Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in sour cream and parsley. This kitchen-tested

DEAR ABBY: Our son was married last June at beautiful church wedding. He and his bride received many lovely wedding gifts. (There were over 300 guests.)
In September I started getting calls. ("Did Wendy ever get our wedding present?") I mentioned this to Wendy, and she aid she was waiting for her monogrammed stationery. old her I'd be glad to buy her some appropriate station and even help her write the notes, but she said she was "too getting settled, and she'd rather wait. DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and I'm in love with my teacher. He is 30 and married, and I know there is no hope for me, but I think about him night and day. (Especially night.)
I did a couple of dumb things, like copying his picture out of the year and for art class, and I also told some kids in school how I felt about him. Well, it must have gotten back to him, because now he avoids me and won't even look my way. Before this, he would smile at me and say hi.

I have written him a dozen letters but I've torn all of them up. I can't help how I feel. What should I do? MISERABLE IN MALVERN, ARIZ.

DEAR MISERABLE: Don't do anything. Apparent ly your actions have already caused your teacher some embarrassment. You can't help how you "feel," but you can help how you behave.

DEAR ABBY. This is for those who are upset because their wedding gifts have not been acknowledged. I think Last summer my husband and I were invited to a wedding. It was several hundred miles away and the trip cost more than we really could afford, but we felt an obligation to go because the bride's parents were our good rienda, so we went anyway. We did all the right things — signed the guest book, went through the receiving line, wished the bride happiness and congratulated the groom. Subsequently we received a very nice note from the bride hanking us for our gift. And she ended with, "We were so sorry you couldn't attend our wedding. We missed you. INVISIBLE IN PORTLAND notrump, so North made no effort to explore grand siam possibilities with his 12 points and simply bid six.

West opened a diamond and South saw that if East held the club king there would be no problems. Suppose West held his majesty? Then South could still make six by getting home with two heart tricks before going after clubs.

After that start he would bring home the bacon if East held four hearts to the acc. West would not have a heart left to lead back to his partner. Even if West held three hearts he might not lead one. ner. Even if West held three hearts he might not lead one. A smart West would, but it is remarkable how even the world's greatest players miss plays that arm chair quarterbacks would never overlook. Anyway, South rose with dummy's ace and dropped his king. Then he led the three of hearts to his queen, went back to dummy with a second diamond and led the five of hearts. East ducked for a second time and South was home. He entered dummy with a spade, took and lost the diamond finesse and had his 12 tricks since West was freshout of hearts.
