HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut's housing crisis is increasing in severity and has hit both low-income and middleclass families searching for a safe and sanitary place to live, a state report concluded Friday.

State Housing Commissioner Joseph Canale said his department's Three Year Housing Advisory Plan included recommendations he hoped would make a dent in the housing crunch by 1984. But Canale warned, "I don't think we can solve the problem in three years. We're too far behind." The report, mandaled by the Legislature, said high inflation, slackened production, increased demands and a widening gap between household incomes and housing costs combined to produce a "crisis situation. Simply put, more and more people are finding it dif-ficult to find affordable housing. It is a problem that confronts the middle class, as well as lowand moderateincome families. The problem is increasing in severity, the report said. "A large and growing segment of the population is experiencing difficulty in obtaining decent, safe and sanitary housing," it said. Canale said there are at least 160,000 families living exploring "The Nation's Health" In this article microbiologist Rene Dubos discusses the potential and limits of modern medicine. This series, written for Courses by Newspaper, a program of University Extension, University of California, San Diego, was funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of

Medicine and health

By Rene Dubos

A generation ago, there was almost universal faith in the miraculous power of modern medicine There have been numerous spectacular medical advances since then, yet, paradoxically, it has become fashionable to downgrade the contributions of medicine

Several learned physicians have even stated that the steady improvement in public health during this century has been brought about not by medicine but by improvements in samitation nutrition bousing and our general standard of hyme

There is some from in that statement. But it is also se that secretables as a that used to kill large numbers of theorie can then the conflict on on thanks to modern aedicine d shall use my own line as an example.

I was almost 79 years old when I wrote these lines. I walked several miles every day in any kind of weather. I climbed three flights of stairs to my office and had many national and international activities, carrying my own luggage wherever I traveled.

All this sounds as if I had always been in perfect health But in fact. I have been medically handicapped throughout my life.

At age 8, 1 contracted a severe sore throat and developed acute rheumatic fever that resulted in a heart esion, at the aortic valve. This lesion is still with me and has made me a cardiac cripple, preventing me from playing the conventional games.

Some 10 years ago. I developed bacterial endocarditis in inflammation of the heart membrane. This disease used to be uniformly fatal, but I recovered because it can now be successfully treated with antibiotics

I have had several attacks of atrial fibrillation, or irregular muscle spasms of the heart, and in fact an ibrillating right now. After each episode. I have tried to rehabilitate myself by progressively increasing my physical activities. I have been so successful that at age 78. before my last attack of fibrillation. I was physically more vigorous than ever before.

My medical history would have been very different had I been born 50 years later Labratory tests would have shown that my initial sore throat was caused by a hemolytic streptococcus, and doctors would have known that infection with this microbe commonly leads to arteriosclerotic heart disease, strokes, various forms of care than are people with a more satisfying life. rheumatic fever. Medical care can relieve symptoms, for example, by treating patients suffering from arthritis or hypertension with drugs and advising them as to the proper ways of life. It can facilitate rehabilitation by helping the patient to compensate for one or another handicap — as I have been able to do with my own cardiac insufficiency. Finally, it can relieve anxiety by reassuring a patient, for example, as my physician did when he told me that atrial fibrillation is compatible with a fairly normal life.

Disease is probably inevitable because we can never achieve perfect adaptation to the various environments in which we live. I doubt, furthermore, that medicine can ever develop methods for the complete prevention or cure of all diseases.

But I believe that medicine will be increasingly capable of enabling patients to function comfortably and effectively even in the continued presence of organic disease - a goal at least as important as the prevention and cure of diseases or the addition of still more years to our

"You bysidale's recent failure to get voted into the Hall of Fame recalled his greatest jutching feat: six straight sources streak had reached its suggestest pitching feat: six straight sources streak had reached its shutouts and 58 2-3 scoreless innings in the 1968 season. But for some, that memory will always be slightly tarbed because of an incident in the fifth game of the streak.

The date was May 31, 1968, and an excited evening crowd of 46,067 had turned out at Dodger Stadium to watch Drysdale try to extend his incredible streak against the Dodgers' arch-rivals, the San Francisco Giants. Besides the tension of Drysdale's feat, the teams involved were battling for first place in the National League.

STORRS- Beginning Monday, Jorgensen Gallery at the University of Connecticut in Storrs, will host an exhibit of paintings, watercolors and prints by Joseph Raffael. Raffael, a Yale graduate currently living in California, has received international acclaim for his work over the past ten years, including the presitgious first prize at the Tokyo International Biennale in Japan. Art critics cite his work for its amazing detail and the richness of visual texture in the often large works. The subject matter of his works is light. Joseph Raffael paintings are built of an extraordinary fragile surface who sum is a canvas filled with vibrant passages of intens observation.

The exhibit, "Raffael: Paintings, Watercolors and Prints," will continue at the Jorgensen Gallery through Feb. 13. The gallery is open to the public free of charge. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, 1 to 5 p.m. on weekends, and 45 minutes prior to events at Jorgensen Auditorium. For additional information, please call 486-4226.

UConn to present National Symphony

STORRS — The National Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of maestro Mystislav Rostropovich, Smart shopping returns to Jorgensen Auditorium at UConn for a single concert on Thursday, Jan. 29, at 8:15-p.m. The program for the evening will feature "American Festival Overture" by William Schuman; "Symphony Nov. 4 in D minor" by Robert Schumann; and "Symphony Nov. 6 in B minor" ("The Pathetique") by Tchaikovsky.

Since it was founded in 1930, the National Symphony Orchestra has performed in every presidential inauguration.

BREAKER MORANT (PG) — Edward Woodward, Jack Thompson. (Drama) Filmed in Australia. this is the story of three Australian carabineers in the Boer War who are tried by a British military court for murdering seven Boers and a German missionary. A taut film adaption of a play which explores man's heart as well as an empire's psyche. Brilliantly acted, it truly excites, in the best meaning of the word. GRADE: A GENERAL RELEASE

PLASH GORDON (PG) — Sam Jones, Melody Anderson, Topol, Max You Sydow. (Adventure) The intergalactic hero is back in an expensive, gaudy, dumb-funny version it doesn't pretend to be anything but what it is an old Saturday afternoon serial, modernized to take advantage of today's technological advances in movie-making. Everybody has a ball with it, obviously, and if you don't expect too much, you will, too, GRADE: B IDOLMAKER, THE (PG) — Ray Sharkey, Peter Gallagher, Paul Land, Tovah Pelekulu. (Prama with music) Loosely based on the cureer of Bob Marcucci, who created Frankle Avalon and Fabian, this is the story of ambition — bow a man found and forged two kids into teen age singing idels in the '56s and '66s. Overlong, but often very strong. A great vehicle for Sharkey and Gallagher, two coming stars. GRADE: B

MELVIN AND HOWARD (PG) — Paul LeMat, Mary Steenburgen, Jassu Robards. (Drama) The improbable, perhaps even impossible, but maybe true story of the loser and the billionaire. This is how Howard Ringhes and Melvin Dummar got together, and what the "Mormon will" meant to poor Melvin and his family. It's more about Melvin's life before the will, however, and that's pretty dreary, although touching. The whole thing is strangely touching, and very well done. GRADE: B-plus

POPEYE (PG) — Robin Williams, Shelley Devall, Paul L. Smith, Paul Deoley, (Comedy with imaic) The comic strip hero is reborn, in a stylized version by Robert Altman that grows on you. The filmsy story is the weakest thing, but the acting (especially Shelley Davall as Olive Oyl) is fine, the effects are fun and the music fits neatly. It's a pleasant romp, GRADE: B

SEEMS LIKE OLD TIMES (PG) — Goldie Haws, Chery Chase, Charles Grodin. (Rominatic counsely) Well, Neil Simon hasn't done it again. The cuttedly master has concocied a pleasant fable, a triangle, with Goldie at the apex and Chase as her first hreband, innocently involved in a bank robbery and Grodin as her present hishand, a D.A. But it's all too strained, too forced, too deliberately cute. Some good moments, but they are care. GRADE: C

RAGING BULL (R) — Rabert Desire. (Brama) This is a film by Martin Scorsese that depicts the rise and fall of price lighter Jake LaMotta. It is powerful, but always very self-conscious of its artistry, you never for a moment forget you are watching a movie (and a performance by DeNiro) that is designed to be arty. Thus, it loses its punch. It is bloody and raucous, but never for a moment real. GRADE: B

DRESSES not tresses. The DRESSES are usually perfect at the start and need care to continue so. When is the start for tresses?

8. CLEAN not glean. To glean is typically (rather than merely "sometimes") the sort of process suggested.

9. PLAY not day. Aptly, getting a PLAY into shape is no easy matter; but ed at the will of a child or other unskilled per-I. GROW not glow. The clue's perfect enewer would be "burn," but GROW is more natural than a more "glow."

15. COY not boy. "COY" finks up more cogently with the theme of having title to say. Whether the friend is a boy or a girl is somewhat beside the FAME not name. FAME is more directly apt than name, since the star's name in fiself doesn't stand to be impreserve other than by his reputa-tion or FAME.

1. BOLD not baid. Being bald is not a trait of charpoter PERT not pest. Such a girl certainty stands to be called PERT, or forward, etc., but the bahavior mentioned in the clue falls far short of being a pest or real sulesance.

 LEAVE not lease. The tone of the clue so'ts that thing, the expiration of which one will have to face, presumably with regret (LEAVE). A lease may be for so long that one does not have to contemplate the ending of TAP not top. The clus implies that watchers are usually expected to derive great pleasure; however, TAP denous may well be very or-dinary.

CLUES DOWN:

 RUSTY not dusty. A little RUST "aboutidn"t be too difficult" to remove. A thing that is merely "a bit DUSTY" can hardly be at all difficult to clean 3. HEED not need. HEED is the stronger answer, since many people d tention to make it hard for him. In the army, however, thorough drilling to simply part of the training in discipline. The idea of being "merclises"

5. LOYALTY not royalty. Royalty is not "a quality" in a person; it is merely a rank or status. GABBLE not babble. The word "GABBLE" (jabber), rather than "babble" (make incoherant sounds) suggests a certain hasts, aptly opposed to the idea of taking one's time.

DEAR BLUE: Talk candidly to your mother. And tell her that only if she agrees to refrain from drinking on your wedding day will you have a wedding. If she agrees, enlist the cooperation of a few close friends and/or relatives to make sure she either keeps her promise or is removed. It's not fair that you should have to clope or forgo a wedding because your mother can't tolerate alcohol.

I recommend Al-Anon. It teaches friends and families of alcoholics how to deal with the explanation. ilies of alcoholics how to deal with the problem and if you really love your mother, you will view her problem as an illness and do all you can to help her

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive 66-year-old widow. I've dated a number of eligible men and have had many proposals, but there is one I would really like to marry. He is 72, but looks much younger because he keeps in shape and has a young and healthy outlook on life. He says he "loves" me, but he will not propose marriage because he had surgery 10 years ago that terminated his sex life.

I told him it didn't matter to me because I never placed very much importance on sex anyway, which is the truth. He insists that I was only being "kind," and eventually I would feel cheated. I swore to him on a stack of Bibles that I meant what I said. How can I convince this wonderful man that I want to marry him - regardless? AUSTIN, TEXAS

DEAR AUSTIN: Get a higher stack of Bibles.

... DEAR ABBY: My experience may help women who don't know how to handle obscene phone calls. Many years ago, when I was an attractive young woman, my telephone rang, and when I answered it. I heard a male voice speaking all his filthy language. I had never heard such dirty talk in my life. Then it occurred to me that the caller would get no thri out of talking to a deaf old lady, so that's what I pretended

In the same croaking, shaky voice, I again said, "What did you say? I can't hear you."
The caller started to shout his filthy spiel again when I heard another male voice in the background say, "Hang up,
