The corporations offering this extra "perk" to employees assume no fiduciary responsibility, no administrative work, no investment. The mutual funds offering their securities under the payroll deduction plans take over all the paperwork involved as well as

QUESTION: What's so important about mutual funds offering a "family" of funds to employees?

ANSWER: This is a vital as well as a major selling pint. Both Lord, Abbett and Scudder, Stevens & Clark, New York-based sources of this information, offer large diversified "families" of funds. A typical group of funds would include a money market fund, several stock and more than a telephone call," says a Scudder, Stevens & systems that accurately show how much each employee has contributed to the IRA. ANSWER: That's an answer you must make for yourself. Mutual funds have had checkered investment records over the years and while money market funds have been superb investment mediums in the past few years, equity funds have fluctuated widely. There also is the "load" factor to consider. Lord, Abbett's funds involve a sales charge of up to 8% percent if you start your own IRA outside of a payroll deduction plan, as little as % of 1 percent if you buy your IRA through your corporation payroll deduction. The charge is for a group and the savings are passed on to you. Scudder, Stevens & Soudder, Stevens reports major corporations are already making commitments (Schlitz Brewing,

ANSWER: You can keep your existing IRA plan contributions as an individual if your new job doesn't have an IRA payroll deduction policy, or you can switch to your new employer's plan. This is an important convenience for large companies with employees in different cities and a high turnover rate. Employers notify their IRA investment management firm of the changes; the follow-up paperwork is completely handled QUESTION: What should you do if your employer ANSWER: Get together with your co-workers and speak to your personnel manager and immediate superiors about starting an IRA payroll deduction plan.

Desert isle discs

If former Beatle Paul McCartney were stranded on a desert isle, he'd like music by John Lennon and Benjamin Britten for company. So he said on the BBC program, "Desert Island Disc." Once upon a time people were asked what books they would most like to be stranded with on a desert isle, but during World War II the BBC began asking what eight records celebrities would pick for desert-isle entertainment.

The show's alummni includes Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon and Margaret Thatcher. Among McCartney's picks were Lennon's tribute to his son Sean, "Beautiful Boy;" a song written by his own father, "Walking in the Park with Eloise," and Britten's "Courtly Dances from Gloriana," played by guitarist Julian Bream. "My preference will always be rock 'n' roll, but I do like a lot of classical music, too," McCartney

Donohue said Tuesday they are investigating the theft of the beef which is valued at $2,265. The beef was reported missing by UConn's own auditors last

The investigation reportedly began in November when campus police received a tip that 20 pounds of pork chops, 10 pounds of hamburger and seven cans of beans had been damaged by dropping them on the floor or that they may have been run over by a machine such as a forklift. Police were told that instead of throwing the food away, a warehouse employee gave it to friends. Auditors at UConn went to work and discovered 39 instances in which more hamburg was signed out of the warehouse than reached the dining halls. The staff will review the matter and report to the gover

East Catholic indoor track team came home with a split yesterday in Hartford. The Eagle thinclads topped St. Paul, 79-21, but bowed to host Bulkeley High, 54-46.

The East 4 X 220 relay team of Prod. Cohen. The East 4 X 220 relay team of Brad Cabral, Clarence Zachery, Tony Carr and Greg Eltringham ran a superb race to nip Bulkeley at the wire. Carr took seconds in the high hurdles, high jump and 500-meter run for East while Eltringham had seconds in the 45-meter dash and Mike Downes took second in the 1,000-meter run while Kevin Lemery was second in the shot put for East. Seve Kittredge took honors in the 1,500-meter run with a time of 4:14.5 while Ron Adams came home the

Choose a fairly firm goat cheese such as Montrachet, and cut cheese into half-inch-thick discs, allowing one disc for each finely chopped fresh herbs of your choice. Assemble salad greens and oil-and-vinegar dressing. Toss together and transfer to serving plates. Coat cheese rounds in fresh bread-crumbs (made from homemade bread) and bake for baking sheet in a 450-degree preheated oven, or brown the crumbed cheeses quickly under the broiler. It is important not to overcook the cheese. Place on top of, or to one side of, salad greens and serve immediately. A slightly bitter salad is

Hudson: Enjoying new lease on life

When a man comes close to a massive, potentially fatal, heart-attack and lives to tell about it, his outlook on life is apt to change. At the very least, given a new lease on life, he is likely to modify his style of living. Superstar Rock Hudson, who underwent massive open heart surgery for a quintuple bypass last November, still don't look back," the 56-year-old, 6-foot-5 hunk does admit that he has begun asking about himself.

"I am an optimist by nature," said Hudson during an interview with People Exclusive recently. "After I do something, I press on. And that goes for the surgery as well. But I will admit that I now get up every morning and more. I walk three miles every day. And I watch my diet, my drinking and smoking."

Before the operation, Hudson said he was "never concerned with any of this. "I used to say, 'Who cares?' I was always blessed with perfect health. If I had a hangover, I knew it would eventually go away. Now, I am limiting myself to one or two

Mom's friend deserved mention

DEAR ABBY: My mother died last week following a two-year battle with cancer. She was 75. Mom had been years with a male friend in his home. He could not have been more devoted to my mother. He nursed her during her illness and rarely left her side.

Neurologist evaluates dizziness

DEAR DR. LAMB: What does it mean when you are told by an ear doctor that your reflexex are off balance a little? I had the ENG test done and he called me and told me to go see a neurologist for an evaluation. I talked it over with my doctor and he said he does not see what a neurologist could do for me. I also had the CAT scan and it was OK. The ear doctor said my inner ear was normal for a woman of my age, 62. My doctor says it is my nerves along with hormone trouble.

I would go to a neurologist if I thought for one minute he could help me but if he

for one minute he could help me but it not told me to take any kind of tranquilizers after paying him a large fee I would feel like kicking myself. Sometimes I seem to have trouble walking straight and I have nausea and a lightheaded feeling.

The ENG test you had a measures your eye movements. These are connected to nerve mechanism from your balance canals in your ears. From your comment the would like the ENG showed some abnormal movements. These are sometimes seen in people who have dizzy spells.

The point is that dizziness or position sense, related to feeling like you are walking straight or your sense of motion, is not just related to the ears. The ear balance mechanism, the visual reference from your eyes and the position sense signals from nerves all over your body send signals to your brain.

Sometimes the dizzy problem is the balance canals. In other instances it is because of some defect within the brain where all these inpulses from the ears, eyes and body position signals are integrated. Some studies show that the majority of patients over 40 years of age who have dizziness have it on the basis of something in the brain. something in the brain.

in "Bridge World" almost 50 years ago Ely called it, "the coup without a name."

The modern name gives the purpose of the play which is to cut communication between the defenders' hands so that one particular opponent can be kept out of the lead.

South is not proud of his overcall, but when he sees dummy it looks as if everything will come up roses.

Then the defense starts to annoy him. East takes his ace of clubs and leads back the three of diamonds.

Obviously, he has led a singleton and plans to take his ace of trumps and put his partner in with the king of clubs to give him a diamond ruff and the fourth defensive trick.

The "scissors coup" can come to South's rescue. He wins the diamond and promptly plays dummy's ace-king and 16 of hearts.

East wins but South chucks his jack of clubs and there is no way for East to get his ruff.

Note that the coup would not succeed if West could
