Haig resigns without warning

Foreign policy unclear, he says

WASHINGTON (UPI) Alexander Haig unexpectedly quit Friday as secretary of state, charging President Reagan's foreign policy has shifted from its goals of "consistency, clarity and steadiness of purpose

Reagan immediately named former Treasury Secretary George Shultz to succeed him.

The president went to the White House press room on short notice to announce the first major defection from his administration - Haig's sudden departure at the close of a stormy 18-month career marked by repeated and highly publicized clashes with other members of the administration.

Appearing tense, almost choked and speaking in a low voice, Reagan refused to answer any questions and left shortly afterward for Camp

The 71-year-old president said he accepted Haig's resignation with "great regret," and praised the departing secretary as a man who served "me well and faithfully."

At the State Department, an hour and a half later, employees gave Haig, dressed in a pinstripe suit, a standing ovation and a burst of applause when he appeared in the Dean Acheson Auditorium.

Reading from the letter of resignation he said he had given to the president earlier Friday, the 57year-old retired general who once called himself "the vicar of foreign ment, but "delighted and gratified"

When the administration took office, "We agreed that consistency, clarity and steadiness of purposes were essential to success. It was in this spirit that I undertook to serve you as secretary of state.

But, he continued, "In recent months it has become clear to me that the foreign policy on which we embarked together was shifting from that careful course we laid

Haig gave no specific reason, but some officials pointed to his defeat by hardliners in an administration decision a week ago on a boycott of the Soviet natural gas pipeline to Western Europe as the "last

Haig endorsed Reagan's choice of Shultz, 61, to succeed him. Shultz served in Richard Nixon's cabinet as secretary of labor and the treasury and as director of Office of Management and Budget. He was in London Friday, but planned to fly to Washington via the supersonic Concorde Saturday to meet with Reagan at Camp David, Md.,

Shultz is president of the Bechtel Group, I c. of San Francisco, which does extensive business with Arab countries.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, who often feuded with Haig, taking a harder line on major policy issues also was an executive of Bechtel. Weinberger said he is with Shultz' nomination.

Shultz had been prominently men-tioned during the transition as a possibile secretary of state. Reagan chose him to oversee the setting up of the economic and NATO summit meetings in Versailles and Bonn earlier this month, which provided Reagan with a showcase for his international expertise. A spokesman for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said hearings on Shultz' nomination will start as "soon as possible" after the July 4 recess. Congress returns to work July 12. Although there had been many storm warnings, Haig's resignation at this juncture came as a total surprise even to close associates of Haig at the State Department. They clustered in small groups to discuss the possible

A member of Haig's Falkland Islands negotiating and European summit team said he believed there were "an accumulation of reasons' topped off by the president overruling Haig on the decision to tighten the ban on the export of equipment for construction of the natural gas pipeline from the Soviet Union to West Europe.

Another close associate said Haig believed he was going to have to fight a new wave of battles over Middle East and Soviet policy and that his recent losses showed that he had lost the president's confidence. Haig, who established close stranger to Washington By United Press International

George Pratt Shultz, President Reagan's choice as secretary of state to replace Alexander Haig, is no stranger to Washington.

Shultz, 61, who had declined to be considered for a top post when Reagan was forming his original cabinet, has held high positions in both Democratic and Republican administrations. In the Nixon administration, he served as labor secretary, director of the budget office and treasury secretary.

He is now president of Bechtel

Shultz already is serving under Reagan in one capacity: as head of the president's Economic Policy Advisory Board of 12 prominent Republicans outside of government.

He also was brought in to handle preparations for Reagan's recent trip to the economic summit in Versailles because of a vacancy in the State Department post that normally handles that work.

Reagan had considered Shultz for the secretary of state post when he was forming his administration, but Schultz asked to be removed from consideration, citing his heavy responsibilities at Bechtel. It was understood he considered the extensive financial disclosure statement required of Cabinet and other high officials demanding. He was named to the Bechtel presidency a few days

Shultz, a New York City native, Princeton in 1942 and a doctorate in industrial economics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1949. In 1955-1956, he served as senior staff economist on President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. During that period he also was on the faculty of MIT and then went to the University of Chicago in 1957, serving as dean of the graduate business college from 1962-68.

In 1959-60, he was consultant to Labor Secretary James Mitchell, and in 1961-62 he was consultant to President Kennedy's advisory committee on labor-management policy. Shultz served in several top posts in the Nixon administration and became his top economic adviser. He was labor secretary from 1969-70 and director of the Office of Management and Budget from 1970-

He was named treasury secretary in 1972, and later that year - in addition to his Cabinet post - Nixon gave him major new duties as overall coordinator of economic policies. He also was given the title assistant to the president, with an office in the White House.

With Nixon's resignation, he joined Bechtel as executive vice president.

Shultz, who served from 194245 as a captain in the Marine Corps; is married to the former Helena M. O'Brien and has five children. They live near Stanford University south of San Francisco.

Nate aided Haig in '80

If it wasn't for former Manchester Mayor Nathan Agostinelli Alexander Haig might not have ended up as secretary of state.

State Sen. Carl A. Zinsser recalled Friday that Haig was not chosen to be a delegate to the 1980 Republican National Convention. Haig at the time was a Connecticut resident; he was president of United Technologies Inc. Agostinelli, who was a delegate, stepped aside and gave Haig his seat at the convention. That helped boost Haig's prestige among national Republicans and eventually land him the job as secretary of state.

State's congressmen fear foreign policy damage

By United Press International

Connecticut congressmen expressed fear that Alexander Haig's resignation Friday as secretary of state would damage

U.S. foreign policy.

matters terribly." Gejdenson added while he had 'many differences" with Haig, "he represented a continuation of American policy from previous ad-was a victory for the far right in the Senate and President Reagan's inner circle.

Rep. William Ratchford, D-Conn., said he was "deeply concerned about growing uncertainty abroad with respect to U.S. foreign policy."

"I am afraid that uncertainty over the direction our foreign policy is taking will only be compou Haig's resignation," Ratchford an "interim" secretary of state. 'He has a strong background in Ratchford said of government." Schultz," but his positions have not been in foreign policy.

Prime minister quits in Beirut

By United Press International

Israel sent its jets and gunboats to pound Beirut in the fiercest bombardment of the war Friday, then announced a cease-fire, saying Syrian resistance outside the city had "crumbled." Lebanon's prime minister resigned in despair. "I cannot work under this massive military escalation, this blackmail," said Prime Minister Chefic Wazzan, charging Israel was bent on destroying his country. "What is happening is an international conspiracy against The Red Cross said 1,000 people had been killed and 20,000 wounded by the Israeli invasion which, as it raged into its 20th day, became the longest Arab-Israeli war since Israel's 1948 war of independence.

Wave upon wave of Israeli planes, joined later by gunboats, blasted Beirut for the second day, widening the arc of destruction from the Palestinian camps on the outskirts to densely populated residential dis-tricts in the heart of the capital.

East of the city, Israeli troops and tanks battled Syrian forces along the Beirut-Damascus highway and the Israeli military command said "the entire Syrian hold on the mountain ridge east of Beirut has crumbled." Shortly afterwards, Israel announced its forces in Lebanon had told my reporter Esther Pessin. HERE'S THE shocking situation The mandated pay raises for IHS bureaucrats will result in an $18.5 million deficit in the agency's budget. Casting about for some way to plug the gap, OMB and HHS officials hit upon $11.6 million earmarked for construction of medical facilities on five Indian reservations in the West. Three clinics in Oklahoma and New Mexico will be axed from the IHS budget if the attempt to rechannel the money into salary increases is successful. In addition master plans for desperately needed ospitals on the Gila River Reservation in Arizona and the Rosebud Reservation in South Dakota will never get off the drawing board.

THE HOSPITAL is operating at one-third capacity. There are only six doctors to handle 30,000 or more outpatient visits a year, plus all the inpatient care. There are no facilities at Sacaton to treat diabetes. There isn't even a dialysis machine available for patients suffering from the kidney disease that often results from inadequately treated diabetes.

"We could probably prevent diabetes if we had a good hospital on director. But diabetic Indians often go blind or require amputation because of the disease.

The hospital is "both physically and operationally obsolete," according to an IHS report. The obstetrics ward was recently closed, and for major medical care, the Indians must go 40 miles to the IHS hospital in Phoenix.

There are still a few openings for the Elizabeth Park Rose Garden trip scheduled for July 1. The trip is free and individuals are encouraged to bring a lunch. If you have never been to Elizabeth Park. please take advantage of this trip and taken in all the beauty and splendor that the park has to offer. There are a few openings for the Connecticut River Boat and Train ride scheduled for July 15. Transportation, dinner at the Gelston House and boat and train ride all for $22 We will be having a trip on July 22 to Rocky Neck State Park. Individuals interested in going are reminded that we will have registration on July 5 starting at 9:30 a.m. The trip is free and again, individuals are encouraged to bring a lunch.

DON'T FORGET our lunch program will begin this Monday. During the month of July, meals will be served every day except Tuesday. I had the opportunity the other day to sit down and chat with the senior residents of the Hop River Homes in Andover in reference to developing programs for the residents. Many of the residents had heard about our center and were interested in coming to the center, not only to see what it has to offer, but in hopes of picking up new ideas I invited the seniors to our picnic on July 8. I'm sure Anthony Tymecki of Essex Junction, Vt., were married showing them around our center.
