In brief

Survey to begin

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — In a move to bolster existing industry, state Economic Development officials will begin next week a program to get state officials out of their offices and into area businesses.

A pool of 44 professional people from every division of the Department of Economic Development will meet with business executives to hear their concerns and thoughts on doing business in Rhode Island.

The goal is 1,000 companies over the next 12 months.

"Eighty percent of new jobs are created by companies that are already here, and that's where the Department of Economic Development must concentrate its efforts," said Norton L. Berman, the new director of the department.

"We'll be visiting companies throughout the state to let them know who we are and what services we can provide," Berman said Wednesday. "We also want to hear about their problems and how they feel about doing business in Rhode Island."

"That kind of feedback will help us learn what we must do to retain and expand our vital existing industrial base," he said.

Berman said the move is designed to secure existing industry and improve the department's "credibility and visibility."

B&M ownership deal?

MACHIAS, Maine (UPI) — Gifford Transportation Industries Inc. is hopeful a plan being considered to reorganize the bankrupt Boston & Maine Railroad Corp. will allow it to assume ownership of the railroad, officials said Wednesday.

Connecticut financier Timothy Mellon, owner of Gifford Transportation Industries, has purchased the Maine Central and Delaware and Hudson railroads. He hopes to forge a New England railroad that can be operated under the common control of Gifford, but with individual managements located in Albany, N.Y., Billerica, Mass., and Portland.

John Gerity, vice chairman of the board of directors of Maine Central, said railroad officials in Portland hope Gifford will be successful in the B&M bid so the railroad can be reorganized in Maine and railroad gateways in Montreal, Buffalo, N.Y., and Washington, D.C.

Mellon won't be able to control B&M until a reorganization plan is accepted by creditors who hold two-thirds of the claims. Creditors have until Feb. 14 to accept or reject the reorganization plan.

EB picks new veep

GROTON (UPI) — Fritz G. Tovar has been appointed vice president-general manager of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. and has been elected to a General Dynamics corporate vice president.

Tovar has been general manager of Electric Boat since Nov. 1981 before he had been general manager of EB's Quonset Point, R.I., operation.

Vermont to borrow

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — The state Wednesday moved closer to borrowing $12.9 million from the federal government to shore up the badly depleted unemployment compensation "Trust Fund."

The Senate adopted a resolution authorizing the state to pay interest on the loan. It goes now to the House. The Employment and Training Department has warned the fund will be broke by Feb. 1 without the money.

It was believed initially $4.3 million would be needed, but backers of the resolution said 3,100 more Vermonters lost their jobs during the first week of January because of seasonal layoffs in the granite industry and a lack of snow that crippled winter tourism.

State law requires the authorization of the Legislature for the governor to make interest payments on federal loans.

If the resolution is adopted, the state will begin paying interest — perhaps as much as 10 percent — on Oct. 1, employers will pay the principle on the loan.

Rhody jobless rate soars at year's end

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Rhode Island's unemployment level soared to a seasonally adjusted rate of 11.4 percent in December, with 53,300 people out of work as 1982 came to a close, the state said today.

Figures from the Department of Employment Security showed there were more people out of work statewide last month than live in the city of East Providence, which had a population of 50,980 in the 1980 census.

"These are the most discouraging figures I have seen," said DES Director Mary C. Hackett. "These are difficult days."

The state said a massive decline in factory jobs and a falloff in traditionally strong seasonal hiring was responsible for the dramatic one-point rise from November's estimate of 10.4 percent and 46,400 jobless workers.

Nationally, unemployment was estimated at a post-World War II high of 10.8 percent in December and 10.7 percent in November.

Rhode Island's highest level, 16.6 percent, was recorded at the height of the 1975 recession.

"A manufacturing plummeted to a very low number, the lowest in many, many years. In trade, where we usually see an increase of 2,000 or more jobs, only 700 were added," Miss Hackett said. "It is a continuation of the national economic trend. Certainly we have caught up this month, whether it is a state trend, I can't say."

DES reported overall employment fell to 391,700 in December, a loss of 2,600 jobs from November. In December 1981, 402,200 people were estimated at work.

Dollar is overhauled

When strength can be harmful

By Mary Tobin
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK — The resurgence of the U.S. dollar as the world's strongest currency provides a psychological lift for Americans and a material boon for those traveling or living abroad.

"The only thing U.S. business and for much of the rest of the world."

"One can't exaggerate the damage to U.S. industry caused by the strong dollar," Ronald Liesching, economist at Chase Manhattan Bank, said. "People tend to focus on things like steel and cars, but you're seeing strong foreign competition in other areas too — machine tools for example."

"The only thing U.S. business is exporting is jobs," Liesching said.

American corporations which do business abroad are forced to reevaluate their foreign earnings into stronger dollars and their quarterly earnings reports of many large multinationals noted the adverse impact on profits. At the same time U.S. exporters are at a disadvantage in trying to sell their more expensive goods abroad.

"Domestically business must compete with foreign imports made still cheaper by weaker currencies, especially the Japanese yen which has depreciated 22 percent against the dollar since the beginning of the year. Apart from direct damage to manufacturers, foreign price competition hurts American producers. The U.S. copper industry, for example, has been virtually shut down by foreign price competition in a recessionary market."

"You won't find too many people who would disagree that the dollar is overvalued," said Thomas Campfield, head of the foreign exchange advisory service at Manufacturers Hanover Trust. "U.S. companies in certain areas have trouble manufacturing goods at a price that our trading partners can sell them because of current exchange rates."

The strong dollar is devastating to foreign countries. Since much of the world's trade, including oil, is conducted in dollars, non-oil producing countries are being forced to trade their weak currencies for dollars to pay energy and other trade bills.

The worldwide recession and high unemployment also are forcing foreign countries to take various measures to help their own economies, from lowering interest rates to devaluing their currencies, all of which further weaken the dollar.

There are hardly any negative factors for the dollar short-term: U.S. interest rates still are relatively high; politically the United States is probably the world's most stable country; there are signs the U.S. economy may be bottoming out while other countries still are mired in recession. In a word the dollar is "safe money."

But Campfield believes current exchange rates are not sustainable over the longer term based on the inevitable impact on trade and current account balances. The only question is the timing.

The U.S. recession has so far masked the decline in U.S. exports, but there has been a "tremendous deterioration in volume that will be magnified when the economy recovers. This deterioration could give the U.S. a trade deficit of as much as $10 billion a month," Liesching said.

"There are two main ingredients necessary for the dollar to come down" to more realistic levels, Campfield said. "One, a decline in interest rates, has already begun to happen."

"The second is a pickup in worldwide economic activity," he said. "When that happens investors and people who move money around may see an opportunity not only for capital gains on investments in other countries, but for gains on appreciation of their currencies."

"We don't see that happening until well into 1983," Campfield said.

Lack of regulation causes debt woes for poor nations

By Gail Collins
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK — L.J. Davis says he wrote his new book, "Bad Money," to celebrate "having predicted something right for once."

His prediction, which first appeared in Harper's magazine in 1980, was that the international Euro market, through which most international lending occurs, was dangerously unregulated and allowing developing countries to fall hopelessly into debt to American and European banks.

"Everybody's in town right now, trying to refinance," said Davis, referring to financial leaders of South American countries that have found themselves unable to pay the interest, let alone principal, on their international debts.

"If they don't (find the refinancing) the whole ball of wax is going to go," he added, with a mixture of concern and satisfaction.

Davis, a contributing editor to Harper's who won the Gerald Loeb Award for distinguished financial journalism last year, says the culprits are the American and European bankers who eagerly competed for Arabian petrodollars in the mid-70s, then recycled the money into loans to developing countries without appropriate concern for the borrowers' creditworthiness.

A bank consortium, he said,

"ended up loaning Zaire $400 million when a simple series of phone calls would have revealed this was a terrible idea. No such checking was done."

Brazil is so deeply in debt to international lenders, he said, that half its exports now go to meet interest payments alone. "If the debt burden grows much greater for Brazil — what's the point in exporting?" he asks.

Davis also blames the unregulated Euro market. Unlike domestic banking in the United States, he said, banks operating in the international Euro market are not required to keep a portion of their deposits in reserve, or to keep open records on their operations.

"This leaves the Euro market financiers with no limit on the number of times they can re-lend the same funds, he said. "You can liken this whole thing to a Ponzi scheme," he said. "There are two cases when a Ponzi starts to unravel — when debt becomes too concentrated, or when there's panic in the system."

Davis says he is also worried about the flow of dollars into a few small and oil-rich Arab countries like Saudi Arabia. So far, he acknowledged, much of that money has flowed back to the west in the form of massive spending on the nations' internal development.

"But pretty soon in Saudi Arabia they're going to have every palm tree connected with a six-lane highway," he said. "When that happens they're going to end up owning our currency." Although the dollars presumably would still be placed in American and European investments, he said, wealthy Arabs would have the means to reconvert the dollars into other currencies, by buying futures contracts.

"The futures market is our Achilles heel," he claimed.

"Bad Money," published by St. Martin's Press in October, gave Davis some headaches because the international debts of developing countries continued to outstrip his bleakest assessments as the book was in production.

"I knew what to do about Mexico and Brazil a couple of years ago," he said, referring to the two countries he claims pose the greatest threat of precipitating an international monetary crisis. "Then they were in lock $10 billion or so, which was a payable debt. Now it's $80-$95 billion, which is not a payable debt."

One possible solution, Davis said, would be a devaluation of the dollar, which would allow the developing countries to repay their loans with cheaper currency. "But that would have a devastating effect on the American economy," he said. "I haven't the foggiest notion how to get out of this now."

Changes in telephones mean new business in forwarding

NEW YORK (UPI) — Long distance business calls have become a tangible commodity like freight cargo and that has created a new business — the telephone call forwarder.

The telephone forwarder does for conversations exactly what the freight forwarder does for sales or boxes of merchandise or bulk commodities, says Melyna Goodman, founder and executive vice president of Combined Network, Inc. of Chicago, which went into the business in March, 1981 and did about $85 million in its first full fiscal year.

"Just as the freight forwarder routes a shipment over many different railways, trucking lines, air cargo lines and steamships, taking care of all the paperwork of the shipper and buying cargo space in bulk to get the cheapest rates, the telephone call forwarder automatically buys the cheapest route," Goodman said.

"Moreover, we buy the basic telephone time in bulk from the Bell System, independent telephone companies and their competitors such as MCI and Sprint, and resell at substantial savings to our customers."

For example, he said, Combined Network can save many of its customers about 15 percent of the cost of conventional WATS rates.

Unlike the freight forwarder, who operates in a time frame of hours, days or even weeks in the case of ocean shipping, the telephone call forwarder operates in a time frame of minutes or seconds. This is done by utilizing automatic machinery controlled by computer.

The business is a natural outgrowth of two developments, the landmark court decision more than a decade ago that broke Bell's tight control of sale and rental of telephone equipment, and the flowering of so much new telephone technology in the hands of Bell rivals — microwave, satellite communications and the like and new automatic switching systems.

Goodman expects Combined Network to have many competitors comparatively soon.

The oldest living trees on Earth are believed to be a stand of Bristlecone Pine in California's Inyo National Park, estimated to be 4,000 years old.

Skating up a storm

Old man winter was tardy this year, but he finally showed up this week — to the chagrin of many. But some of Manchester's hardy residents made the best of the cold, by turning out at the skating rink at Charter

Oak Park. That man speeding toward the camera is not Bobby Orr, but rather local expert Bill O'Neill, a former town public works director. Maybe the Whalers might have a job for him.

Abortion foes visit Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan invited anti-abortion leaders to the White House on the eve of the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion, while pro-choice forces mobilized Friday against new legislation.

"The president hopes these (anti-abortion) groups will get together behind a specific piece of legislation," White House spokesman Larry Speakes said. "He will support them."

Despite the backing from Reagan, the movement to overturn the decade-old ruling appeared sharply divided over strategy and in the deepest disarray of its young political life.

An internal memorandum written by a staff member of the National Right to Life Committee, the nation's largest anti-abortion grass-roots organization, has deeply embarrassed movement leaders by questioning the ability of Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., as their "point man" on Capitol Hill.

Dr. John White, president of the committee, sought at a news conference to minimize the movement's importance, calling it "a mountain out of a molehill."

The movement continues to have "nothing but the highest regard" for Helms, White said. He said his group has apologized to Helms and sent a delegation of the board to meet with him and assure him of their support.

Nevertheless, Helms was not present at Wilkie's Capitol Hill news conference and has been notably silent as the war of words marking the anniversary of the ruling on Roe vs. Wade has progressed throughout the week.

Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, author of a rival anti-abortion proposal, was asked to attend the conference but an aide said illness prevented his appearance.

Wilkie acknowledged the movement has not yet unified around a legislative strategy for the new Congress.

Supporters of the Supreme Court decision said they represent the majority of Americans on the controversial issue.

"It happens we represent the point of view of a majority of Americans. Mr. Reagan simply has said that he cares not to hear about their point of view," said

Stocks plunge as fears grow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks plunged Friday on Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker's warning interest rates would remain high and blunt the economic recovery in the government cuts the record budget deficit.

Investors also were frightened by the shaky world oil price structure and gave a negative reception to IBM's report of higher earnings.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, a 2.76 winner Thursday, skidded 17.84 to 1,652.08, the worst loss since it fell 19.59 Jan. 3. It dropped 27.87 for the week.

The New York Stock Exchange index shed 1.33 to 83.18 and the price of an average share decreased 34 cents. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 2.44 to 143.85. Declines topped advances by an 11-to-3 margin.

Big Board volume declined to 77,110,000 shares from 82,790,000 traded Thursday.

Volcker's Thursday night statement the battle is not over because "in this day and age it is impossible to have a zero inflation rate."

A decline in housing costs of 8.8 percent in December reflected the trend toward lower mortgage interest rates, only partially offset by rising house prices, and was the single biggest downward change in the index.

Affecting all the economic categories in varying degrees was the severe recession, which drove the unemployment rate to 10.8 percent, forced cautious consumers to choose sale prices and discounts and also held down demand for fuel.

"The decline in prices primarily reflects the renewed decline in the economy," said Jerry Jasnowski, chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers.

As businesses are forced to offer discounts to get rid of unsold surpluses, "it is inevitable that prices would fall," he said.

An environmental group is urging Congressman Sam Gejdensen, D-2nd District, to help eastern Connecticut take advantage of new federal legislation and get $25 million originally slated for a stretch of Interstate 84 that now won't be built.

The Eastern Connecticut Citizen Action Group, in a letter to Gejdensen dated Friday, asked him to help convince the state Department of Transportation to allocate the $25 million which would have been spent on a 4.5-mile section of the highway between Route 52 and the Rhode Island border for local transportation projects in eastern Connecticut.

ECCAG officials said the $25 million should be eligible to receive the state through the Interstate highway trade-in program. However, they said there are no guarantees the money would be spent in eastern Connecticut, rather than elsewhere in the state.

Spokesmen for Gejdensen were not available for comment Friday evening.

ECCAG OPPOSES the planned completion of the Interstate highway project between Route 52 and the Rhode Island border. Gejdensen is a strong supporter of the highway's completion.

However, everybody agrees that the portion of the highway originally planned to link Route 52 to the Rhode Island border will never be built, because Rhode Island backed out of plans to complete the Interstate to Providence. Now, Connecticut officials are striving to complete Interstate 84 as far as Route 52.

In their letter to Gejdensen, ECCAG officials said money for the portion that would have linked Route 52 to the state line "may be traded in immediately and without controversy."

They said trade-in funds, by law, should go to the area that would have been served by the Interstate.

They suggested the regional planning agencies, with citizen input, should establish priorities for substitution projects in eastern Connecticut.

"Any assistance which you might be able to give us to guarantee that the $25 million stays in eastern Connecticut would be very beneficial to the people of eastern Connecticut," wrote the ECCAG officials.

TRADE-IN FUNDING for Interstate 84 funding is available in the first place because of a recent change in the 1982 Federal Highway Act, which ECCAG aggressively lobbied for.

The legislation means money allocated for Interstate 84 instead could be spent on alternative transportation projects, including bridge repair, rail line improvements, transit bus purchases and repairs of existing roads. ECCAG officials said.

The ECCAG officials conceded that their goal of scrapping Interstate 84 completion entirely and trading in the money for alternative transportation projects "remains a controversial issue."

But they said there should be nothing controversial about trading in the money for the Route 52-Rhode Island stretch and ensuring that the money is kept in eastern Connecticut.

In addition to seeking his support for trade-in of the money for the section from Route 52 to the state line, they asked Gejdensen to "study and consider the benefits of trading in the entire highway," although that would constitute a major change in the congressional position and is probably unlikely.

News Briefing

Boston wooing Navy

BOSTON (UPI) — City officials are gearing up their efforts to lure the U.S. Navy, its $75 million payroll and at least 3,000 jobs into the old Boston Army Base.

Six naval planners led by Capt. James Ridge of the Atlantic Fleet headquarters in Norfolk, Va., wrapped up a two-day visit Friday during which they toured the 30-acre South Boston site.

"The Navy people told us they will give us formal specifications in two to four weeks and we are to reply around the end of February so they can begin planning for the 1985 budget," Brian Dacey, director of Boston's Economic Development and Industrial Corp., said.

The Navy is looking for a home for the nine-vessel Surface Action Group, Navy Secretary John Lehman's answer to President Reagan's call to disperse vessels to make them less vulnerable to attack.

New York City is the other prime contender as home for the group, while Portland, Maine, and Newport, R.I., have been mentioned as possibilities.

The home port would gain a $75 million payroll and at least 3,000 jobs on and off the base. About 5,300 families would accompany the fleet.

The newly-refurbished battleship USS Iowa would head the group, which would include a cruiser, a destroyer, two guided missile destroyers and two frigates. Two Navy Reserve frigates will also be based with the group.

Mondale asks arms cut

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — Former Vice President Walter Mondale Friday called for a $10 billion cut in defense spending and accused the Reagan administration of adopting a "reckless international policy."

"We have reckless international policy. In my opinion it is leading to a less safe world, particularly in the nuclear control field," Mondale told reporters before meeting with about 60 Democrats at a Manchester restaurant.

"We need a bold new policy that gets control of dreadful weapons, reduces the likelihood they will ever be used. In my opinion we should negotiate a mutual, verifiable freeze," he said.

On his fourth visit to state with the first-in-the-nation presidential primary since leaving the vice presidency, Mondale acknowledged he considers himself the front-runner for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination.

But he avoided making anything official. He has indicated he will announce his presidential bid in his home state of Minnesota Feb. 21 and plans to visit Iowa Feb. 22 and return to New Hampshire Feb. 23.

His latest two-day New Hampshire foray has all the trappings of a candidate's trip, including meetings with mayors in Nashua and Berlin, a news conference and luncheons with senior citizens and state Democratic leaders in Manchester, Portsmouth and Dover.

Bus and truck collide

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI) — A Greyhound bus smashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer Friday on the New York State Thruway, killing at least one passenger and injuring two dozen more.

Witnesses said the truck either stopped or slowed on the Thruway about 90 miles north of New York City and when the bus, carrying 28 people, tried to pass, it rammed into the rear of the truck.

Passengers in the first few rows of the bus were reported to be the most seriously injured and some were trapped inside more than two hours. Emergency crews cut into the bus with "jaws of life" equipment to extricate them.

The accident occurred between New Palz and Kingston in the northbound lane about 12:15 p.m. Greyhound spokesman Beth Meyer said the bus was carrying 27 passengers and a driver. It left New York City at 10:28 a.m. for Montreal.

Kingston Hospital Administrator Anthony Trialdi said 10 to 12 "critically injured" people had been admitted to the hospital and more were expected. Another dozen passengers were admitted to Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Trouble on the way?

BOSTON (UPI) — The Democratic Party is headed for trouble in the 1984 presidential election if it continues to pursue a narrow, anti-Reagan course, Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., said Friday.

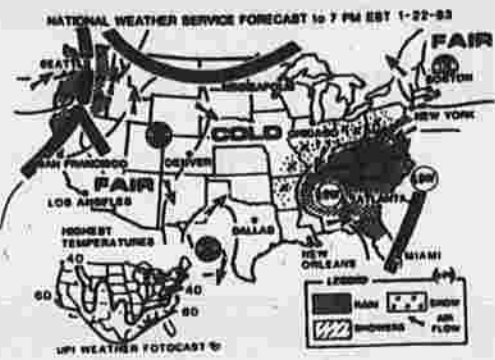

"The simplicity of anti-Reaganism, strategically, is a mistake," he said.

Tsongas told a news conference President Reagan faces the possibility of a two-year lame-duck period because of the erosion of his support among Republicans, especially in the Senate.

He said he was disturbed by the recent state Democratic Party convention in California, where the seven candidates for the presidential nomination focused on being against Reagan's policies rather than in favor of something else.

"I believed, at least until the California convention, that we'd get away from the '76 mindset of 'who's more pure'... because Reagan's weak and can be defeated," Tsongas said.

"I hope that's a one-weekend aberration and that's not where we're going," he said.

Dukakis asks shield

BOSTON (UPI) — Gov. Michael Dukakis said Friday he would propose a shield law to protect reporters from revealing sources because he doesn't want journalists to go to jail.

Dukakis told the annual New England Press Association convention reporters should be protected so they can obtain information necessary for stories.

"The burden to ensure you the freedom to report the truth without fear of imprisonment rests upon the shoulders of government," he said.

He said he will form a task force involving the news media, courts, legislature and district attorneys to study a law that would protect reporters, and use its recommendations to submit a bill.

"There is nothing about the passage of a shield law which forecloses First Amendment rights," Dukakis told the audience, some of whom said they don't believe reporters should be granted the legal right of immunity.

Massachusetts Newspaper Publishers Association spokesman Joseph Doherty said "I feel very strongly we don't need one." Dukakis was told many lawyers also are vehemently opposed to the law.

Crash story is updated

HARTFORD (UPI) — State police Friday revised their version of Wednesday's toll station crash on Interstate 85 in Stratford, saying the four cars involved were in front of a tractor-trailer truck, not behind.

A preliminary investigation failed to produce any evidence the truck was struck from the rear prior to ramming an automatic toll gate, a state police spokesman said.

Autopsies, performed on six buried victims at the chief state's medical examiner's office in Farmington, showed three of them died of multiple injuries and three died of smoke inhalation.

The seventh victim, identified by state police as Brian J. Thall, 5, of Milford, was pronounced dead Wednesday night at Bridgeport Hospital, about 6 1/2 hours after the 3 p.m. accident.

State police talked to the truck driver, Charles L. Klutz, 35, of Mocksville, N.C., who is recuperating in Bridgeport Hospital. But "there was nothing of any substance learned at this point," said John McLeod, state police spokesman.

Document is found

NEW YORK (UPI) — A hitherto unknown copy of the Declaration of Independence printed a few hours after its adoption July 4, 1776 has been found in the North Carolina plantation house of the state's first U.S. Senator and will be sold at auction April 24.

A spokesman for Christie's auction gallery said the 22nd known copy of the so-called "John Dunlap broadside" after the name of its Philadelphia printer is expected to bring more than $200,000 because of its fine, unwatermarked condition and the fact it is one of only 15 known copies to bear a special Dutch paper watermark.

The copy was consigned to sale by a member of a family who inherited Hayes Plantation near Edenton, N.C., from a descendant of Samuel Johnson, a member of the first Continental Congress, governor of North Carolina, and the state's first U.S. Senator.

It was found a few months ago in its original folded state in the plantation's archives, apparently placed there by Johnson.

Trio in Caribbean?

STONEHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Authorities Friday centered their search for an ailing week-old baby and her parents in Puerto Rico after confirming the trio headed for the Caribbean after snatching the baby from a hospital last week.

Police were tipped by the Boston Children's Services Thursday night that the infant — suffering a congenital heart defect — was taken to Puerto Rico by her parents, Wilton Pena, 23, of Waltham, and the 15-year-old juvenile mother.

When he fled with the mother and baby, Pena was also awaiting trial on charges of attempted rape and murder in Waltham in May 1981.

Police were working with the FBI to bring the three back to the Massachusetts, using kidnapping warrants issued against the parents after the Jan. 13 incident, the day after the baby was born, Sgt. Edward Pinato said.

Pregnant woman slain

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — A young deaf woman six months pregnant was stabbed to death early Friday in her apartment and her boyfriend later turned himself in, police said.

Detective Lt. Ernest Stetler identified the victim as Katherine Petersen, 25, of Springfield.

He said the woman's boyfriend, Edward Powell, 25, also of Springfield, walked into police headquarters and admitted to the crime shortly after the woman's body was discovered at her State Street apartment 7 a.m. Friday.

He was arraigned in Hampden District Court Friday, but court officials declined to release the results of the arraignment other than he was being held without bail until Monday.

Stetler said Powell told police the couple had been fighting over who would take custody of their child, a 2-year-old boy, just before the stabbing.

Suicide note was left

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The 8th grader who shot two fellow students then killed himself in a junior high study hall left a three-page note saying he planned to kill himself and possibly his two classmates, police said Friday.

"He knew exactly what he was doing," one investigator said of 14-year-old David F. Lawler, 14.

Police said the handwritten note was found inside a blue satin gym bag Lawler was seen carrying around Parkway South Junior High in rural St. Louis County for several days.

Lawler pulled two handguns from the bag during a study hall Thursday, firing several shots and hitting two 15-year-old classmates, Randall A. Koger, was killed and Greg Palmer was wounded severely. Lawler then shot himself in the head and died instantly.

Weinberg questions whether Eighth overture is sincere

By Paul Hendrie
Herald Reporter

Democratic Deputy Mayor Barbara B. Weinberg said Friday she questions the sincerity of a call this week by Eighth Utilities District President Gordon B. Lassow to re-open town-district talks.

"We always are willing to talk," said Mrs. Weinberg, when called for a reaction by the Manchester Herald. "But I am not interested in talking through the media. I have not been asked by Gordon or anyone to come and talk with him. It's all been done through the media. So I really question their sincerity. That telephone works both ways."

Lassow said last Monday, at a meeting of the Eighth District Board of Directors, that it is time for town-district talks to resume.

"Now, I'm calling on the town," said Lassow. "Call us."

Lassow's demand for a new dialogue with the town was prompted by recent disagreements between the Eighth District and the Police Department over emergency dispatching procedures.

A liaison committee, composed of the district and town directors and chaired by Mrs. Weinberg, suspended meetings nearly a year ago. Mrs. Weinberg called a halt to the meetings when it was learned that some residents of the Bryan Farms area were trying to petition their way into the district's service area.

Some town officials charged that the district was behind the petition drive. District officials denied that. White Mrs. Weinberg suspended the liaison committee meetings, she called on the district officials to report to her on the Bryan Farms situation.

"I have to date never received anything from them," she said, explaining why she has not re-initiated liaison committee meetings, even though the Bryan Farms controversy has died. The petition drive fell short.

Mrs. Weinberg did not close the door on re-opening liaison committee meetings, if she gets a direct request from district officials. However, she did not guarantee she would be receptive to such a request.

"It would depend on how they say it, what they say and what they mean," she said. "If they take the time and trouble to call, that's a different level. But when they deal through the media, I really question their sincerity."

Bolton school board looks for full-time superintendent

By Richard Cody
Herald Reporter

BOLTON — The school board has set up the framework for a special search committee that will screen applicants for a full-time superintendent position, apparently putting to rest speculation that a part-time position might be considered.

What the board needs now is seven persons fill the committee, one of whom must be a parent of a high school student, and another a member of the PTO, and another a person from the community "at large," board Chairman Joseph J. Haloburdo Jr. said Friday. He said people who are interested should contact the superintendent's office.

"We will be looking for a full-time super," Haloburdo said. "Though we never specifically said we will replace Ray (Allen), at this point, it appears that there's nobody on the board who wants to see a change. But if somebody wants to bring the issue up, then we'll consider it."

Allen, a superintendent for nine years with the Bolton school system, died earlier this month.

The board has appointed the principals to superintendent capacities to fill needs until another administrator can be found and hired.

Haloburdo said the board hopes to have somebody hired by June, before school is out.

Two board members will also be on the committee, Michael Parsons, who is the board's personnel subcommittee chairman, and Carol Levesque. An administrator will also be part of the group, as well as a teacher selected by the teacher's union, the Bolton Education Association.

After Allen died, there was speculation that the board might consider cutting the full-time superintendent position to part-time, in light of rising per-student costs and pressure from the community.

School administration this year has proposed a $2.24 million budget, up 10.4 percent from current spending. The board met Thursday to begin work on the proposed spending. It will meet again next Thursday to discuss regular learning and administration and administrative programs.

Weddings

Mrs. Thomas Small

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Fairweather

Small-Matassa

Dana Louise Matassa and Thomas Small, both of Maine, were married Jan. 8 at the Parish Congregational Church in Alfred, Maine.

The bride, formerly of Manchester, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Matassa of East Lebanon, Maine. She is the niece of Howard and Kenneth Fairweather of Coventry, and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fairweather of Walker Street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Small of Shapleigh, Maine.

The Rev. Franklin Anderson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Jane Rawlins of Alfred, Maine, was organist. Scott Matassa of Portland, Maine, brother of the bride, was soloist. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Caryn Hillborn of East Lebanon, Maine, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Matassa of Portland, Maine, and Cindi Kostis of Sanford, Maine, both sisters-in-law of the bride, and Amy Small of Shapleigh, Maine, sister of the groom. Flower girl was Jessica Kostis of Sanford, Maine, niece of the bride.

The best man was James Fiske of Acton, Maine; Keith Matassa, brother of the bride; Steven Small of Dover, N.H.; and Andrew Small of Shapleigh, Maine, both brothers of the groom, were ushers.

The couple was honored at a reception at the Town Club in Sanford, Maine. They will make their home in Springvale, Maine.

The bride is a graduate of Thornton Academy in Saco, Maine, and is employed as a waitress at the Potting Shed in Acton, Maine. The groom is a graduate of Huntington, L.I., schools. He owns and operates the Eastwood Restaurant in Lebanon, Maine.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

How can wife ever forgive?

DEAR ABBY: My parents have been married for over 35 years. They've raised a fine family and deserve to have a wonderful retirement. But something happened about 10 years ago that has had a devastating effect on their marriage, and things have been going downhill ever since.

My father had an affair with a woman of questionable character. It lasted three years. No one knew (no gossip), but for some reason he unloaded the whole story on my mother. She couldn't eat for weeks, and she was so shaken and distraught she required medical treatment. To this day she is a very bitter woman. Their relationship is only tolerable, even though my father has done everything in his power to make it up to her.

They tried counseling. It helped him to forgive himself, but it hasn't helped her to forgive him. Can a woman ever really forgive an unfaithful spouse? I know if the shoe were on the other foot, Dad would have forgiven her. Is there such a thing as male and female mentality? How can we help Mother?

DAUGHTER IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR DAUGHTER: The ability to forgive an unfaithful spouse comes no more easily to a man than a woman. "Confessions" of this kind usually do more harm than good. That was your father's second mistake. (The 1st was fooling around with another woman.)

Yes, women can forgive if they really want to. Your mother needs to get into therapy to find out why she's hanging on to her bitterness. Urge her to get help. If she refuses, she's expressing her sick determination to suffer — and make everyone around her miserable, too.

DEAR ABBY: Please set me straight. I am considered intelligent and well-mannered, with a good sense of humor. I am 73. My husband is 75.

What happened to the good old days when pleasant conversation was a part of a family dinner? Recently while we were guests for dinner at our daughter's home, she asked me to please call everyone to the table. I did, then I shut off the TV, which was screaming. My son-in-law immediately followed me and turned the TV on again. It remained on for the entire meal, and our daughter didn't say one word to him about it. Of course there was absolutely no conversation during dinner.

DEAR HOLDING: Your reasons for "holding out" are valid, sensible and unmercifully refreshing!

On Saturday mornings we read from the Torah in the synagogue service. Each week we read a different portion, proceeding sequentially, so that we conclude Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy each year.

The Torah selection is read (or, more accurately, chanted) in the original Hebrew, so the lay congregation needs a text they can follow provides not only the Hebrew text but an English translation as well. Such a text is called a "Chumash," which translates roughly, as "The Five," referring to the five Books of Moses.

One such text is the newly published "The Torah, A Modern Commentary." This book of almost 1200 pages contains the traditional Hebrew text, divided into weekly selections, the 1962 Jewish Publication Society translation, and brilliantly clear commentary.

The commentary takes several forms. First, each of the five books is introduced by several essays. At least one of these, in each set, will be a comparison of that book's contents with other ancient Near Eastern texts. Secondly, each subsection will have an explanatory introduction. Then, in the body of the text itself, the lower part of each page contains a phrase-by-phrase running commentary, providing definitions, linguistic notes, and glosses.

Finally, each section is followed by overview explanations as well as a section called "Specialty" providing a collection of relevant passages from various sources.

This book is a gold mine. It is published by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, 1841 20 BIRCH ST.

Printing - Engraving 649-4489

The TV is located no more than five feet from the dinner table. My husband nor I could relax, and we didn't eat much.

I do not expect soft music and candlelight, but I think this was very bad manners. How can something like this be avoided in the future?

MIDWEST-MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Since your son-in-law turned the TV on after you turned it off, his message was clear: It's my house and I don't care how you feel about TV during dinner — I want it on, and if you don't like it, tough luck!

Your daughter's silence indicated she either agreed with her husband or didn't have the courage to speak up in your behalf. It's unfortunate. But all you can do is decline future dinner invitations to your daughter's home and tell her why.

DEAR ABBY: Every once in a while I see letters in your column concerning the pros and cons of remaining a virgin until marriage.

I'm 27 years old, attractive (or so people say) and I'm saving myself for the man I marry. Outside of the fact that premarital sex is morally wrong, here are a few other reasons:

1. I do not have to worry about getting a disease.

2. I do not have to worry about getting pregnant.

3. I do not have to wonder if a guy really cares for me or if he's just using me for sex.

I have been out with many guys who have tried to get me into bed, and after I tell them I am saving myself for the man I marry, I never hear from them again. This is fine with me. Why waste time on a guy who looks at me only as something to be used?

When I get married, I want to give my husband a very special gift, something I've given to no one else I've ever known. What can be more special than myself?

Obituaries

Martha Harwick
Martha Harwick, 93, of 236 Autumn St., died Wednesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of the late Francis Harwick.

She was born in England on Oct. 28, 1889 and had been a resident of Manchester for past 11 years. Before that she had lived in West Hartford.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Murial McKinnon, of East Hartford and Mrs. Grace Measom of Manchester, with whom she had made her home; six grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be private. Burial will be in Milford Cemetery, Milford. There are no calling hours. The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., has charge of arrangements. Memorial donations may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Dominick V. Cataldo
Dominick V. Cataldo, 64, of 19 Green Manor Road died Friday at his home. He was the husband of Kitty (Lytte) Cataldo. He was born in Hartford on Dec. 23, 1918, and had been a resident of Manchester for the past 31 years.

He had been employed as an administrator for the Aetna Life and Casualty Co. for 43 years. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the U.S. Army. He was a member of St. Bridget Church. He was past commissioner of the Manchester Little League and served in several offices of the Little League for many years. He was treasurer of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, in Manchester and was a member of the Aetna Men's Club.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Virginia M. Cataldo of Hartford; a son, Philip J. Cataldo of Marietta, Ga.; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jarvis of Hartford, Mrs. Genevieve Clair of Rocky Hill and Mrs. Antoinette Kraigenow of Deming, N.M.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 9:15 a.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home. A mass of Christian burial will be at 10 a.m. at St. Bridget Church. Calling hours at the funeral home will be Monday, from 1 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to the Manchester Little League, care of Fred Parola, 60 Henry St.

Walter H. Suchy
Walter H. Suchy, 62, of 32 Bank St. died Friday at an area convalescent home after a long illness. He was born in Manchester on April 11, 1920. He was the son of the late Jacob and Lillian (Lange) Suchy and was a lifelong resident of Manchester.

Before retiring in 1979, he was employed as a foreman at the Hamilton Standard Division of United Technologies Corp. in Windsor Locks. He worked for the company for 37 years.

He is survived by his sister and brother-in-law, Erna and Michael F. Haberen of Manchester, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was a member of Concordia Lutheran Church. Funeral services will be at the church Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. Friends may call at the Holmes Funeral Home Monday from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to Concordia Lutheran Church or to the American Cancer Society.

Senior news

Rehearsals to begin

Editor's note: This column is prepared by the staff of the Manchester Senior Center. It appears in the Manchester Herald on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

By Joe Diminico
Activities Specialist

Greetings.
Just a reminder to all that rehearsals for our annual variety show this year entitled "Let's Do It Again" will begin this Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m. at the center. This year's show will be a synopsis of our past nine variety shows and should be our best one yet.

Marci Negro, the director, is always looking for new talent so if you know of a friend with talent or you would like to give it a try, please don't be bashful. Marci is also looking for the music from "On The Boardwalk of Atlantic City" for the show, so if you can oblige, then it most certainly will be appreciated.

The trip committee has lined up two trips, the first being on Feb. 18 where we will be going to Wright's Chicken Farm in Rhode Island for an "all you can eat" chicken dinner followed by a trip to Spags in Mass., all for $13. The registration date is Feb. 4 at 9 a.m.

THE SECOND TRIP is on March 16 for a celebration of St. Patrick's Day at the Aqua Turf Club in Plantsville, Ct. Entertainment, dancing, dinner and prizes and transportation all for $17. Sign-up will be at 10:30 a.m. on Feb. 2.

The following is our list of crafts classes for the spring semester:

MAGRAME — Feb. 1, Tuesday 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Instructor — Bernice Colbath; class limit — 10 persons (with preference going to individuals who were on waiting list of last semester and individuals who have not participated in the past classes.)

Oil Painting — Feb. 1, Tuesday 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Instructor Kay Hendrickson; beginners as well as advanced artists are welcome.

Crewel — Feb. 2, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Instructor, Rosemary Cornelius.

Basketweaving — Feb. 4, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Instructor Wendy Palermo. Class limit — 10 persons, with preference going to individuals who have not participated in the class in the past.

Ceramics — Jan. 31, 9 to 11:30 a.m. Instructor, Barbara Possum. All are welcome.

All classes are free of charge with exception of the cost of materials and will be held once a week. If interested, please sign up in the front office.

Please stay in tune with the column for additional classes being offered in late February.

We are in the process of developing our photography club and darkroom. Individuals with ideas or extra equipment can contact me at the center. One item that we are in need of is a deep-basin stainless steel sink.

Here's what we have lined up for Thursday programs in the near future. On Jan. 27, May Chatfield on "The Info Line" will be on hand to explain a little more about it and what it has to offer.

On Feb. 10, we will have the Bennett Junior High Jazz Band entertain you under the direction of Marilyn Lillibridge. So please come to the center and spend an afternoon listening to jazz.

Now for the big news: On Feb. 17, we will be honored with the presence of Mike Bogdanowski of WTNH-TV of New Haven. I'm sure all of you know Mike, the gentleman of Channel 8 who says "I'm in your corner." Mike is looking forward to coming to the center in our corner.

If you have a problem or a question on any consumer affairs Mike assured me he will do the best he can for you. So don't miss this big day and please be sure to attend.

Don't forget our upcoming Glaucoma Clinic scheduled for February 9 from 1 to 3 p.m. Also, we have scheduled a Hearing Clinic for February 25 from 1 to 3 p.m. Both are free of charge.

Lastly, Steve Ling, director of Lutz Children's Museum, has invited seniors as guests to the museum on Feb. 15 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Individuals with transportation problems should sign up at the center so that we can make arrangements. The newly renovated museum is quite spacious with a large array of exhibits, so please attend and have some fun as well as learning something new.

We have been notified that the Florida trip has been canceled due to insufficient registration. Refunds will be mailed.

Crowd of 80 hears Coventry sewer plan

By Sarah E. Hall
Correspondent

COVENTRY — The town mill rate will increase 0.5 percent if plans for a proposed $5-million sewer system are approved. Coventry residents learned Friday night at a special town meeting. In addition, sewer users will be charged a $4,400 assessment per unit and a $105 yearly operating fee.

Among the approximately 80 residents who turned out for the special town meeting, opinions were sharply divided on whether or not to approve the plan. The question will be decided at a Feb. 2 referendum. Many of the residents at the meeting wore yellow "vote yes for the solution" buttons, although several others complained loudly that the new sewer system would impart unfair benefits to those living in the Lakeview Terrace and Waterfront Manor areas of town, which the sewer would serve.

"We're getting the shaft," said William Miller, of Brewster Street. "Ten percent of the people are getting all the benefit and we're not getting any."

But William M. Breault, chairman of the Water Pollution Control Authority, stressed the "public health threat" if the sewer is not built. He also said the sewer would make Coventry more attractive commercially.

Andropov shakes up cabinet, putting his allies in power

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Friday disclosed two more high-level changes under new Soviet leader Yuri Andropov: the replacement of the minister of trade and the deputy premier in charge of light industry and consumer goods.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Grigory Vashchenko was named minister of trade, replacing Alexander Struyev. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said Valentin Makeyev has been removed as one of 14 deputy prime ministers.

The changes were the latest in a series of personnel shifts since Andropov assumed the top leadership post of general secretary following the death of Leonid Brezhnev in November. Many of the changes seem designed to put people close to Andropov into positions of power and remove Brezhnev's appointees.

Vashchenko, 62, has been deputy premier of the Ukrainian Council of Ministers since 1972, Tass said. The news agency said Struyev, who has served as minister since 1965, was retiring. It gave no further details.

Tass said Vashchenko worked as an engineer in machine-building factories. In 1958 he moved up in the hierarchy of the Communist Party to serve as first secretary of the Kharkov, Ukraine, regional party organization.

He is a member of the Central Committee and a delegate to the Supreme Soviet, or parliament, Tass said.

Makeyev, 52, was one of the youngest of the 14 deputy chairmen of the Council of Ministers. He was transferred to the All-Union Council of Trade Unions as a secretary and member of the presidium, Western diplomats said.

Pravda did not say where Makeyev was transferred or why he was dismissed from the higher-ranking post.

But Makeyev had political ties to Brezhnev. He also worked for Moscow Communist Party chief Viktor Grishin and his demotion could be due to political infighting and the loss of a patron, observers said.

To get a photo back once it has appeared in print in the Manchester Herald, simply come to the Manchester Herald, Brainard Place, and ask at the reception desk. Sorry, we cannot return photos by mail unless a self-addressed stamped envelope is submitted.

Satellite watch intensifies navia and, presumably, the Soviet Union — itself a possible target. "We pray that not a single broken piece will fall on Japan," Japanese Cabinet Minister Mutsumi Kato told reporters in Tokyo Friday.

In West Germany, government officials did not kid around about the situation, declaring they will bill Moscow for the cost of their precautionary measures regardless of whether any debris hits there.

While some states went seriously about the business of taking precautions, Maine's emergency operations officer, Robert Malaney, verbally threw up his hands: "Satellites are out of my league. If it comes to Maine there isn't anything we can do about it."

Then he told reporters, with a grin, "If it hits Maine we'll be here. I'll call to tell you to duck."

Windham stops Tribe

By Len Auster
Herald Sports Writer

Recognition of the opponent's defense didn't come easily for Manchester High. That proved to be a major headache in the first half for the Indians, who fell behind by a 28-18 count at the turn.

The poor opening 16 minutes proved to be too much to overcome as visiting Windham High held on for a 75-64 victory over Manchester in CCHL basketball action Friday evening at Clarke Arena.

The Whippets were intense on defense and shifted often from a man-to-man to 2-3 zone with some variations on the latter. That proved to be a major obstacle for the Indians, who saw a two-game losing streak stopped. The loss drops them to 3-5 in the league and 4-6 overall.

"We didn't execute as we had been," said Manchester Coach Doug Pearson. "They played good defense but we didn't execute on offense. Offensively we played very poorly. We didn't recognize what they were in and turned the ball over too much."

Windham, led by Randy Luciano's seven first-period points, had a 13-4 lead at the turn. Its edge at one point was 11 points, the Indians, behind Mark Mistretta's three hoops, narrowed the gap to 15-14 early in the second stanza before Jeff Gardner took charge for Windham with seven points.

The visitors ran off the final six points of the half for the 29-18 halftime reading.

"We can't afford to play a first half like we did. That's been the story all year at home," Pearson said.

The win moves Windham to 8-2 in the league and overall.

Windham's lead grew to 47-34 after three periods with Jeff Gardner scoring 18 points and leading the team with 11 points in the final period and held a 4-3 lead with 3:20 left. The Indians, behind nine points from senior guard Bill Silver, made it interesting towards the end by closing the gap to 65-59 with 1:26 left.

Windham, however, was able to hold on as junior guard Jim Barrett connected on 7-for-8 from the foul line to hold the Indians at bay.

"We were really never in the game," said Pearson. "We came back well in the second quarter but then went out and played poorly at the end of the quarter," he added. Gardner, hitting on all nine of his attempts from the floor, had a game-high 24 points to lead Windham with Hector Rodriguez adding 22 points for the Whippets.

Rodriguez was 9-for-12 from the field for the well-schooled Whippets, coached by former Manchester High product Bob Healy.

Ken Willis and Silver each had 15 points to show the way for the Silk Towners, who had a poor shooting first half. They were 9-for-19 from the field in the opening 16 minutes compared to 12-for-21 for Windham.

Manchester's next outing is Tuesday evening at Wethersfield High in an 8 o'clock affair.

Manchester captured the jayvee contest, 59-44. Jerome Owens netted 16 points and Albie Harris 10 for the 5-5 young Indians.

Manchester (64) - Brophy 2-3-7, Carmel 2-0-4, Willis 5-6-15, Petersen 3-0-6, Mistretta 3-0-6, McCurry 2-2-6, Silver 5-8-15, Turner 0-0-0, Dupue 2-1-25. Totals 24-16-22-64.

DOUG PEARSON long night for coach

Eagles turn back St. Paul

BRISTOL - Outscored from the field by a pair of hoops, East Catholic was an exceptional 26-for-32 from the foul line as it upended St. Paul 76-68, in Hartford County Conference basketball action Friday night in Bristol.

The win lifts the Eagles to 1-2 in the conference and back to the 500 mark at 5-5 while the loss drops the Falcons to 2-3 in the HCC and 6-4 overall.

The setback was the sixth in seven four-game winning streak of St. Paul's.

"It was encouraging getting the win under pressure. St. Paul had a good crowd and we reacted well to playing under pressure," said East Coach Jim Penders, pleased with the performance. "It was nice getting the first conference win and nice getting back to the .500 level. This, again, was another good team victory."

The setback was the sixth in seven four-game winning streak of St. Paul's.

"It was encouraging getting the win under pressure. St. Paul had a good crowd and we reacted well to playing under pressure," said East Coach Jim Penders, pleased with the performance. "It was at the bench, was perfect on six attempts from the foul line and added a basket for the game-total 18 points. Dargatzis was 4-for-4 from the 15-foot stripe in the closing stanza and wound up with a total of 18 points. The junior guard was 8-for-9 from the line.

Key figure, though, according to Penders was McPadden. He was 8-for-12 from the field and 3-for-3 from the line and had six rebounds to lead in that department. He had a good night but we also had good balance with four players in double figures.

Doug Bond had 14 points and 6-foot-7 junior pivotman Chris Brunone dumped in 11 points to give the Eagles four players in 20 digits.

Manit Paskow netted 19 points and Tom Day 18 to lead St. Paul. Pat Greene was also in twin digits for the home side with 10 markers.

"This was our best shooting night of the season," said Penders, looking at the 25-for-39 performance. "We took good shots, our shot selection was good for the most part. We got a lot inside and we got the ball to the open man very well." Dargatzis and Niel Ptachewski each dished out 8 assists for the Eagles.

The story was from the foul line. For St. Paul, "That was our best performance of the year," Penders understood, looking at the 8 o'clock shooting.

East will try to keep its mini two-game winning streak alive Tuesday evening when it hosts HCC rival Northwest Catholic at 8 o'clock.

East Catholic (76) - Day 7-4-18, Dargatzis 8-9-18, Brunone 5-9-11, Ptachewski 14-4-6, McPadden 8-3-19, Soucier 0-0-0, Theriault 0-0-0, Callahan 1-0-7, Kucinski 0-0-0, Totals 25-32-36.

St. Paul (68) - Day 7-4-18, Zlatas 4-0-8, Alvarez 3-1-7, Paskow 8-7-19, Greene 5-0-10, Pikiel 1-0-2, Roberge 1-0-2. Totals 27-12-16-66.

Eaglettes fall to Bobcats, 48-36

SOUTH WINDSOR - Putting forth a good effort wasn't good enough for the East-Catholic girls' basketball team as it dropped to 48-36 verdict to one-beaten South Windsor High in non-conference action Friday night at the Bobcats' gym in South Windsor.

The win lifts South Windsor to 10-1 for the season while the loss drops the eaglettes to 3-5 for the campaign.

Despite the loss, Eaglette Coach Donna Ridel had reason to be encouraged. "I felt we played well. We hadn't played South Windsor this well in years. We were within six points at one stage late in the game but we just couldn't get the key basket," said Ridel.

"I was encouraged by what I saw. The kids played their hearts out. To keep within 12 of South Windsor means we had to play well," added Ridel.

South Windsor, which won its first nine before suffering a two-point loss Wednesday to South Catholic, had a slender 11-10 lead at the turn and 24-17 advantage at the intermission.

The Bobcats extended the margin to 36-24 after three periods, with each side adding a dozen tallies in the closing eight minutes.

"We kept it close but South Windsor had too many trips to the foul line," cited Ridel. Each side scored 15 baskets with the Bobcats just over 50 percent from the foul line at 16-for-35. The Eaglettes, in comparison, went to the charity stripe only 8 times and made 8.

"We kept our turnovers down but we didn't get as many shots as we should have. We evened up on baskets with them but we made too many fouls," said Ridel.

The foul shooting proved to be the difference for the Bobcats. Linda Pavone netted 21 points and Karen Siegmund 11 to pace South Windsor. Liz Palmer hooped 12 points. Carolyn DeSiguere 9 and Martha Barter 8 to pace the Eaglettes. They were shown considerable improvement since dropping their first six games of the 1982-83 campaign.

South Windsor (48) - Pavone 7-14-21, Schaffner 2-3-7, Beland 1-3-5, Siegmund 4-7-11, Chesky 1-0-2, McQuag 0-2-4, Pizzi 0-0-0, Totals 15-18-35-48.

East Catholic (36) - Bearse 0-0-0, Reveille 2-0-4, Barter 4-0-8, Coffey 2-2-2, DeSiguere 4-3-9, Palmer 5-2-12, Coulombe 0-0-0, Lupacchino 1-2-1. Totals 15-8-36.

williamantic - Hitting nine straight free throws in the final quarter, Manchester High girls' basketball team secured its third straight win with a 47-33 decision over homestanding Windham High Friday night in Williamtic.

The win lifts the Indians to 4-4 in the league and 5-5 overall while the loss drops the Whippets to 3-6 in the CCHL and overall.

"This is a real good win for us," said Manchester Coach Steve Armstrong. "I feel now we're heading in the right direction."

Manchester, after taking a 24-18 halftime lead, saw it dwindle to 30-29 after three periods. That caused some concern for Armstrong.

"They (Windham) are a very scrappy team. They caused us a lot of problems early. They played a straight man-to-man defense and that was the first time we saw that all year. It caused us a lot of problems," the Indian coach emphasized. "When we did get the ball inside to Lisa (Christensen), we did a good job."

Windham continually threatened the Silk Towners in the final eight minutes, but the locals were able to sustain the upper hand by hitting nine in a row from the charity stripe. The Indians were 10-for-10 from the foul line with the 5-foot-11 Christensen on target from the line, hitting 6-of-7 tries.

Christensen led all scorers for Manchester with 22 points. She received support from frontcourters Lisa Young, who added a dozen points. The Indians were hampered somewhat as Patti Wojnarowski fouled out midway through the third period. Armstrong, however, said Carey Markham came off the bench and turned in a solid effort.

Donna DeGray netted 17 points to lead the homestanding Whippets.

Manchester will try to improve on its winning streak Tuesday night when it hosts Wethersfield High at Clarke Arena at 8 o'clock.

Manchester also took the jayvee tilt, 37-31. Michelle Morianos led the way for the 8-2 young Indians with 16 points.

Manchester (47) - Walrath 2-0-1, Christensen 8-6-22, Young 6-0-12, Kobut 2-2-6, Wojnarowski 10-2-2, Sullivan 0-0-0, Shaw 0-1-1, Markham 0-1-21. Totals 19-15-47.

Windham (38) - Little 1-1-3, Barrett 1-5-7, Hunziker 0-0-0, DeGray 8-12-17, Ruggs 3-1-7, Couto 1-0-2, Christensen 1-0-2. Totals 15-8-16-38.

Kings 115-108

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) - Larry Drew scored a career-high 33 points to help offset a milestone performance by Houston forward Elvin Hayes and give the Kansas City Kings a 115-108 victory Friday night over the Rockets.

Hayes played 30 minutes in the game to move past Will Chamberlain for the most career minutes in NBA history with 47,898, and he also scored a season-high 35 points to move past John Havlicek into fourth place on the NBA's all-time scoring list with 24,401.

East Hampton 56-46 winner over Bolton

Shooting for a 500 record overall, Bolton High will have to wait until next week at least.

Last night the Bulldogs dropped a 56-46 decision to Charter Oak Conference foe East Hampton at home. The loss was the fifth in eight starts and fourth in seven conference meetings.

The visitors never trailed, jumping into a 17-8 first period advantage. The closest Bolton came was at intermission when the teams led the floor with East leading, 25-20.

The live-point edge was upped to a dozen points after three periods, 42-30 and the teams traded almost point for point in the final eight minutes.

Bolton got two line overall performances from Jeff Peterson and Keith Owen. Each tallied 12 points with the latter hauling down 11 rebounds and Peterson 10.

High scorers for the Bell Ringers were John Kingston and Roger Wood with 17 and 12 respectively and Gary Wallace and Brian Kichaud each pumped in 10 points in

EHHS 'ducks' Indians

EAST HARTFORD - Tables were turned on Manchester High's swimming team Friday when East Hartford posted a 68-58 triumph, at the Hornets' pool in East Hartford.

The loss drops the Indian tankers to 1-3 for the season. The Eaglettes, in comparison, went to the charity stripe only 8 times and made 8.

"We kept our turnovers down but we didn't get as many shots as we should have. We evened up on baskets with them but we made too

Celtics corral Bulls, McHale, Parish star

CHICAGO (UPI) - Robert Parish scored 26 points and Kevin McHale added 22 as the Boston Celtics held off a fourth-quarter surge Friday night to defeat the Chicago Bulls 117-106.

Boston held a 98-72 lead entering the final quarter and led 103-83 when the Bulls started to make their run. Chicago cut the lead to 106-96 with 4:44 left while Celtics starter Larry Bird, Cedric Maxwell and Parish were on the bench.

The three starters were inserted back into the lineup but the Bulls still managed to close the gap to 109-104 when Quinlan Dailley hit a career-high 20 points and hauled down 22 rebounds. Reggie Theus added 20 points.

South's faith justified rebids of his own five-card spade suit.

A look at all the cards will show that if North played in six diamonds and East, opened a spade, the defense would take the first two tricks. The same look will show that six no-trump makes in a breeze since no ruffs are available to the defense.

South won the diamond trick in dummy and led East three trumps to his king, which held the trick. A second trump went to dummy's jack as West ducked again.

At this point, South should figure out if he could guard against the possibility that West might just have been dealt one diamond and two clubs.

Then South justified his faith in his ability to play the dummy. He heaved dummy's ace-king of hearts and clubs before leading that third trump.

West won and led a heart. South ruffed, drew the last trump and claimed his contract.

Note that if South had led that third trump before playing those ace-kings he would have been stuck in dummy and unable to get to his hand to shut out West's nine of spades. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Tolerance may be called for today as dealing with family members, especially your mate, is a good sport. Turn the other cheek instead of arguing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's a rarity when your mental faculties are out of order, but today, don't let this spoil the day. Don't tackle any thought-provoking projects.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If possible, avoid all financial transactions today, whether you're shopping, renegotiating allowances or gambling. Chances are you'd come out on the short end. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

ALLEY LOOP

By Davis Gruber

ARE YOU OKAY, HAZEL? WHAT HAPPENED?

WHOOSH! I TRIPPED AND LIT ON MY LIP!

WOW! WHAT'S OVER MY HEAD?

MY GOSH! THE WHOLE PLACE IS FULLA MELONS!

WOW! WHAT A MY MIND!

HEY YOU! THEVIN' VARNHIMSTERS GET OUTA OUR MELON PATCH!

FRISOLLA'S

By Ed Sullivan

WHERE'S HAZEL? SHE WASN'T FEELING WELL.

I HAD A HARD TIME CONVINCING HER TO SLEEP IN MY ROOM.

SINCE SHE'S THE ONE WHO STARTED THESE EARLY MORNING WALKS, SHE'S PROBABLY FEELING VERY GUILTY ABOUT IT.

MMMMMM... WALKING AT 6 A.M. I MUST'VE BEEN OUT OF MY MIND!

THE BORN LOSER

By Art Simmon

AM YOU'RE BRIGHT AND EARLY THIS MORNING!

ON SECOND THOUGHT, LET ME REPHRASE THAT...

...ONLY ONE OF THOSE ADJECTIVES APPLIES...

WINTHROP

By Dick Cavelli

WHAT DO YOU DO WHEN YOU GET UP INTO THE STRAZZIERE WITHOUT AN OXYGEN MASK?

I HOLD MY NOSE AND BREATHE THROUGH MY SHOELACES.

I DON'T KNOW WHY I BOTHER TO ASK HIM ANYTHING.
