Immigration vote urged

WASHINGTON — President Reagan has tried to quell doubts about his support of an immigration bill that would give amnesty to millions of illegal aliens, but his action may have come too late.

Several hours after House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said he would keep the bill from coming to a vote this year, Reagan's chief spokesman issued a statement Tuesday emphasizing the president's support for immigration reform, although not necessarily of the House version, and urging O'Neill to reconsider.

O'Neill said his decision was based on mixed signals from the administration as to whether Reagan — who vetoed the measure from the beginning — would veto it in hopes of winning political support from Hispanics, who generally oppose the bill.

Rebels bomb depot

Anti-Sandinista rebels launched a bold sabotage attack from speedboats on Nicaragua's principal Caribbean petroleum depot, destroying two storage tanks containing thousands of gallons of fuel, officials said.

In El Salvador, leftist guerrillas seized an important town Tuesday in the eastern coffee-growing province of Usulután and announced for the first time formation of a provisional government in another province.

Panel OKs trade department

WASHINGTON — The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, citing the need to make America more competitive with Japan and other nations, has approved the creation of a separate Department of Trade and Industry.

The legislation, approved 13-5 Tuesday and sent to the full Senate, would merge the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative with trade-related agencies within the Department of Commerce.

Non-trade agencies in the Commerce Department would either become separate agencies or become part of other departments.

Committee Chairman William Roth, R-De., said the panel's approval of the bill represents "a vote to make America more competitive."

King filibuster folds

WASHINGTON — Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., suddenly folded his filibuster against a bill to honor slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. with a national holiday and has agreed to allow the Senate to vote in two weeks.

Prior to Helms' decision, it was uncertain how long he would — or could — hold out.

The Senate was prepared to vote today to stop the filibuster but further maneuvers threatened to delay final passage at least past Oct. 17. Congress is due back then from the annual Columbus Day recess.

Strong earthquake hits Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile — Rescue workers today slowly made their way to a northern mining region to reach victims of a powerful earthquake that killed at least three people, injured dozens of others, collapsed buildings and forced scattered evacuations.

The quake, measuring 7.2 on the Richter scale, struck at 2:53 p.m. EDT Tuesday, knocked out electricity and telephone services in several cities. It generated a shock wave far away as Sao Paulo in southern Brazil, where minor damage was reported.

Chicago teacher strike stuck

CHICAGO — A teacher strike idling 435,000 students entered its third day today with parents afraid they would have to leave children home alone, and Operation PUSH threatening to sue if there is no settlement by Friday.

Talks broke off Tuesday with no settlement in sight. Affected are 435,000 students and 38,000 school employees, including 24,833 teachers seeking a pay raise denied them last year. Negotiations were to resume today.

Officials of Operation PUSH threatened to file a class action against the Chicago Board of Education and the teachers union if the strike is not settled by Friday.

Continental sessions resume

HOUSTON — Continental and the striking pilots union agreed to return to bargaining today for the first negotiation session since a walkout began against the bankrupt airline five days ago.

"I would hope that when they meet, they (the Air Line Pilots Association) would present the company with a proposal," said Continental spokesman Bruce Hicks.

Continental Chairman Frank Lorenzo personally asked striking pilots in meetings in Denver and Houston Tuesday to return to work. Lorenzo had to take a United plane to Denver because his scheduled Continental flight was canceled by a crew shortage.

Less than two dozen pilots attended the Denver meeting with Lorenzo, while up to 200 pilots and flight attendants picketed outside.

Debt repayment pledged

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — President Reynaldo Bignone pledged Argentina would honor payments on its $39 billion foreign debt but the country's Central Bank president faced interrogation today for alleged debt refinancing abuses.

In a nationally televised speech Tuesday night, Bignone said his regime — which must step down within 90 days of the Oct. 30 presidential elections — faces "serious (economic) difficulties."

But Bignone pledged Argentina would be "faithful to its tradition" by paying its overseas debt.

Justice's last-minute stay halts execution of 'Cowboy'

By Unity Taylor
United Press International

HUNTSVILLE, Texas — Murderer James "Cowboy" Autry, the executioner's tubes already in his arms for a lethal injection, won a reprieve 31 minutes before he was to die. His mother wept, his father thanked God but Autry could only shake his head.

The ruling by Supreme Court Justice Byron White was cheered by crowd of about 300 capital punishment supporters outside the prison who angrily shouted "kill him."

Texas Civil Liberties Union Director John Duncan, who worked with the American Civil Liberties Union effort to obtain the stay, predicted the stay would have the effect of stopping all pending Texas executions "dead in their tracks."

A surprised Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said he was unsure of the effect the ruling would have on state death row cases.

Autry, 29, was sentenced to death three years ago for the April 29, 1980, murder of Port Arthur, Texas, Sisk-N-Pak clerk Shirley Drouet, 43, a mother of five. Autry shot her between the eyes while trying to steal a six-pack of beer.

During the hectic period preceding White's stay order, Autry lay 61 minutes strapped to a hospital gurney, waiting to die with a neutral saline solution running into his veins. Prison officials placed him on the gurney shortly after 11 p.m. CDT and began the saline solution flow at 11:12 p.m.

White's order was issued in Washington at 11:30 p.m. CDT, a scant 31 minutes before a lethal dose of drugs was to be injected into Autry's veins.

In the case, the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that a state's highest criminal appeals court should review a death sentence judgment to determine if it is inequitable to carry out the sentence.

The arguments that won Autry his third stay of execution hinged on a California case currently pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I feel sad cause I don't want to die," Autry wrote.

Autry's father, Jim, was overjoyed as were other family members. "I'm numb," said Jim Autry. "I've been sitting here all day barely breathing and trying not to think I'm very happy. I've been a praying man all my life, but especially today."

Lebanon talks may annul accord with Israel

By Hojo Khoury
United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanon is willing to annul a security accord it signed with Israel May 17 if upcoming national reconciliation talks between Lebanon's warring factions, a government official said today.

Khalil Mekkaoui, political director of the foreign affairs ministry, told western journalists the government "will be open-minded to discuss any issue raised at the peace talks between the national warring factions."

"This agreement we concluded with Israel we thought and still think was the best way to get Israelis out of Lebanon, an instrument in our hands by which we can really commit the Israelis to withdraw."

"Now, if at the meeting somebody else can put to us another proposal, which will bring the Israeli and all other non-Lebanese forces out of the country, we will be more than happy to discuss it and adopt it," said Mekkaoui.

The accord, which was negotiated by Secretary of State George Shultz, calls for a withdrawal of Israeli occupation troops from Lebanon and a measure of upgraded relations between Lebanon and the Jewish state.

Implementation of the accord was thwarted because it depended on a simultaneous withdrawal of Syrian forces. Syria flatly rejected the agreement and has refused to pull out its troops out of Lebanon.

The upcoming peace talks between the government and the nation's factional leaders were called to resolve bitter divisions that erupted in 22 days of civil war last month with Syria backing anti-government Moslem militias.

The government hopes to open the talks in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia by this weekend, but Syria so far has opposed the venue of the talks.

Mekkaoui said no agreement has been reached on international troops to monitor the 90-day cease-fire, but that the forces may be drawn from neutral nations rather than ones which already contribute to the United Nations and multinational peacekeeping forces in the country.

Saudi Arabia, key negotiator of the Sept. 25 cease-fire agreement that halted the fighting between the army and Syrian-backed Druzeban in the war of "delicate and dangerous" developments.

Anti-Marcos protesters applaud Reagan

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Jubilant anti-government protesters, carrying banners thanking President Reagan for calling off his Philippines trip, jammed Manila's financial district today beneath a blizzard of confetti thrown by thousands of cheering anti-Marcos authoritarian rule.

A four-block stretch of the Ayala Avenue in the heart of the modern financial district of Makati was jammed with demonstrators shortly after the arrival of the president's plane at 3 p.m. Office workers rained yellow and white confetti out from telephone books and computer printout paper.

Aside from a lone traffic officer standing ankle deep in confetti at a busy intersection, there was no sign of riot police who broke up earlier protests in the district with tear gas, bamboo truncheons and pistol shots in the air.

Marcos told businessmen Monday his government will observe a 10-day moratorium in imposing life imprisonment or death on people committing rebellion and sedition and for those who utter seditious words, speeches, or write, publish or circulate libelous materials against the government. The presidential decree, No. 184, imposing stiffer penalties on anti-government activities, was published in the August issue of the Official Gazette. The decree took effect on publication.

Surprise witness says von Bulow's son supplied the drugs

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — A 24-hour guard has been posted around a surprise witness who says Martha "Sammy" von Bulow's son — not her convicted husband Claus — is guilty of supplying the drugs that put the Newport heiress into a lasting coma.

David Marriott, 28, of Wakefield, who says he unwittingly supplied the drugs, told a news conference at his home Tuesday that he has been threatened and assaulted since coming forward with the charges in an affidavit filed by von Bulow's lawyers in a motion for a new trial.

Von Bulow, who is free on $1 million bail pending appeal, was convicted in March 1982, after a sensational trial, of murdering her husband, Claus, by secretly injecting her with insulin at his Newport, R.I., mansion.

Marriott, who was accompanied by a burly, uniformed guard during a brief meeting with reporters, said von Bulow was framed to take the rap for her husband's murder by a previous marriage.

Marriott said he unknowingly supplied drugs, including Demerol, and needles to von Auerberg "at least six times" before Mrs. von Bulow's first coma in December 1979. He said he obtained the narcotics from a man he identified as Gilbert Jackson, who was murdered in 1978.

Marriott said von Auerberg told him he used drugs and once stated, "I even give some to my mother to keep her off my back."

"I believe he had something to do with putting his mother into a coma," Marriott said he had not come forward sooner because "of the trouble it would cause my family and myself. But I decided I must come forward to tell the truth."

He said he had hired a 24-hour guard to protect him against reprisals.

"I have received a number of threatening phone calls. I have been physically assaulted," he said. "Two of the calls came from people purporting to be friends of von Auerberg's."

Von Bulow's attorneys, John A. MacFadyen III of Providence and Harvard University Law Professor Alan M. Dershowitz of Boston said Monday they have 24 affidavits, including one from Marriott, indicating some of the evidence used to convict their client may have been planted and that Mrs. von Bulow abused drugs and alcohol.

No date has been set for a hearing on the motion. They said the new evidence undermines the state's contention at von Bulow's trial that the Danish-born aristocrat was the only member of the family familiar with drugs and drug paraphernalia. And they asked the Rhode Island Supreme Court for a new trial.

Looters ravage Arizona as flood waters recede

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Floodwaters that have already killed 13 people, caused $100 million in damage and left 10,000 homeless still threatened hundreds of homes today. Looters ravaged some areas where the water had receded. Water spilling over upstream dams crept over banks where the Salt River and Gila River converge, flooding several homes and forcing residents to flee. Three hundred residents of the Holly Acres subdivision west of Phoenix were ordered out of their neighborhoods. Many residents returned Tuesday, however, to survey the damage caused by the state's worst natural disaster this century. Many found their homes demolished, others found foot-deep mud oozing throughout their homes and some found looters had picked through their valuables. Looting was reported in heavily damaged Clifton. Teenagers were seen raiding a warehouse and some of the evacuated Clifton residents feared more looting unless they were allowed to return to their homes. Gov. Bruce Babbitt made a second-day tour of flood damage in the eastern mining community of Clifton, encountering angry residents who scolded him for not sending more National Guard troops. "The people around here are mad at you," said Clifton City Councilman Ed Marquez, who noted residents have suffered hard through the flood. "I'm like a creek now. People are coming back from Tucson to find out what's left of their homes."

AFL-CIO to back Mondale

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Organized labor seeks to once again become a presidential kingmaker today with its all but certain endorsement of Democratic front-runner Walter Mondale at the AFL-CIO convention. The former vice president has already received the endorsement of 99 percent of the AFL-CIO general board. Following the endorsement vote on the convention floor today, Mondale will address the closing session Thursday. The much sought endorsement will strengthen Mondale's lead over Ohio Sen. John Glenn and the other Democratic presidential contenders by giving him millions of dollars and an army of volunteer campaign workers. And it signals big labor's desire to return to its historic role in the political process — a role abandoned when it broke with the 1972 standard bearer, George McGovern, and his stand against the Vietnam War. AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland sought to unify labor to help defeat Ronald Reagan — the man labor blames for its woes. The 14 million-member federation, whose members range from the nearly 1 million auto workers to 286 horse shoers, has not endorsed a candidate for president before the nominating conventions since the AFL and CIO merged in 1955. It wants Mondale to adopt labor's agenda as his platform, including government support for ailing industries, a jobs bill to bring down unemployment, national health insurance and equal rights pay for women. In return Mondale gets a computerized list of 14 million labor union members, many who have a proven record of volunteer election service. The pricing on the endorsement could mean contributions of up to $20 million for the Mondale campaign effort. It is a double-edged blessing, however, with some of Mondale's critics saying he will become the captive of special interests. But the AFL-CIO decision to endorse a candidate drew praise Tuesday from Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the NAACP, who answered critics who say labor leaders do not represent the rank and file.

Nuke bomb would be misdemeanor

CHICO, Calif. (UPI) — Dropping a nuclear bomb on the city of Chico could result in a $500 fine and a six-month jail sentence under an ordinance being considered by officials. The city planning commission voted unanimously Monday night to hold a public hearing in November on a "nuclear free zone" ordinance proposed by Scott Murphy of the Chico Peace Center. "As a nuclear free zone, Chico will be known as a progressive community throughout the world," Murphy said in a letter to city government. If adopted, Chico would file a misdemeanor complaint against anyone caught violating the proposed ban against the search, production, design, testing, use, possession, or disposal, or use (detonation) of nuclear weapons within the city limits. "There is no known nuclear research conducted in Chico, a college community of about 27,000 people approximately 100 miles north of Sacramento.

Wincham fails

By Henry Peters Herald Sportswriter WINDHAM — The unbeaten Windham Whips were put under the CCLL microscope here Tuesday, but once a drop of Manchester Indians was added, they slowly but surely disintegrated. The question going into the contest: Could these Whips, 5-0 against lower-division league opponents, handle the upper echelon of the CCLL? For one half, they could, but Manchester exploded for three goals in the first seven minutes of the second half on its way to a 4-0 shutout and a first-place tie in the CCLL. With the win, Manchester stands at 12-0, the same record as Hall High, which blanked Concord 3-0 Tuesday. The Indians and Warriors tied 2-2 earlier in the year. The physical play left Windham's Gary Dopsal and his teammates surprised. "They usually don't like to mix it up. I didn't think they'd be so physical. In the past, they were more of a finesse-type team. They went right at us, and it kind of took us out of our game and leaving the field woefully in the first half. After banging heads with a picture-perfect conversion with-1:30 left to play. "Up until now, we haven't had to sustain constant pressure for an entire game," said Dopsal, whose Whips have beaten Concord, Ferris, Enfield, East Hartford and Penney, but have yet to tangle with Hall, Wethersfield or Simsbury. "We got a little careless, and they caught us flat. They outplayed us in the second half."

East girls fit to be tied

By Len Auster Herald Sportswriter There's nothing like a well-planned rest to get the motor running smoothly again. This was not one of them. Idle because of a cancellation last Friday, East Catholic was lethargic and didn't get moving until five minutes remained in regulation. By then it was late and the Eagles could do no better than a 0-0 overtime, with Northwest Catholic in HCC girls' soccer action Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Nobo. "The last five minutes we started to beat them to the ball but it was too little, too late. Each club had a good bid in the overtime. O'Brien was wide of the right post for Northwest. East's Simmons force Tracey to make a good save later to preserve the tie. Tracey was called upon to make five saves. Barter had 10 stops in goal for East. The Eagles, not looking for any rest, returned to action Thursday afternoon at 3:15 against unbeaten Hartford Public. Barter in the second half. East, 1-1-1 in the HCC and 2-2-2 overall, meanwhile didn't get its first shutout in the second half until the minute. Then the Eagles put forth a flow like someone left the tap running. Simmons had two good chances and Tracey denied Karen Kaufman and Christine Bearse, Rachel Rossow, Deb Sulzinski, Donna Revelesse and Stace Simmons, the latter doubling on offense and right wing, each turned in a solid effort on defense. "I feel we have one of the best defense around but this put a lot of pressure on them," Fay said. "The ball was down in the strike zone," he said. "It was really a good pitch. But I'm a notorious low-ball hitter. I think that comes from playing golf or something and I was able to drive the ball. You've got to give hitters credit, some time, they hit good pitches."

Schmidt knows long way yet

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The final score mattered as little to Mike Schmidt as the 1-0 lead the Phillies hold over the Dodgers in the best-of-five National League championship series. "One-to-nothing or 10-9, it's all the same," Schmidt said Tuesday. "The ball was down in the strike zone," he said. "It was really a good pitch. But I'm a notorious low-ball hitter. I think that comes from playing golf or something and I was able to drive the ball. You've got to give hitters credit, some time, they hit good pitches."

Phillies win classic duel as Carlton hurls shutout

By Jeff Hosen UPI Sports Writer LOS ANGELES — Maybe calling the World Series the Fall Classic is a misnomer. "It was a classic game," Philadelphia manager Paul Owens said Tuesday night after the Phillies defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in the first game of the National League playoffs. "I thought there would be good pitching and not a lot of hitting. "It was a tough game for the Dodgers to lose and a good game for us to win. The people saw a good game tonight." What 49,963 at Dodger Stadium saw was a masterful pitching duel between Steve Carlton and Jerry Reuss and a first-inning home run by Mike Schmidt that proved to be the difference. "The Dodgers will attempt to even the best-of-five series tonight when Fernando Valenzuela meets John Denny in an 8:20 p.m. EDT nationally televised game. The series then switches to Philadelphia for Game 3 Friday. Tuesday night's game was decided in the first inning when Schmidt launched a Reuss fastball into the humid night toward left-center. Four-hundred feet and Ken Landreaux failed at the plate. "I didn't really see it right away because my head was down," said Marshall. "It was curving toward the foul line but he (Lezcano) was able to run it down." Carlton allowed seven hits, but was able to get the big out when he needed it. "We had the guys up there, but we were not able to score any runs," said Sax, whose team left a runner on second base in the second, a man on third in sixth and a runner on second in the ninth. He pitched an outstanding game as he usually does. He's one of the hardest pitchers to hit in baseball. "Los Angeles manager Tommy Lasorda was at an unusual level of words when asked about the game. "He (Carlton) pitched a super game," said Lasorda. "What else can I say? We had our chances to score a couple of times and we didn't. Who would have thought that Schmidt's home run in the first inning would have been all they needed to win?" "They seem like they've been through this before," he said. "I just want to see them win after the first pitch."

Are new Whalers ready?

HARTFORD (UPI) — Hartford Whalers President and General Manager Emilio Francis made the final adjustments to his team before its regular season opener in Buffalo tonight. Francis sent four players to Binghamton of the American Hockey League Tuesday, returned two to junior hockey and released one outright. Right wings Paul MacDermid and Randy Pierce and centers Bob Sullivan and Paul Penton were shipped to Binghamton. Junior hockey defencemen Mark Paterson was sent to Ottawa and Paul Lawless was returned to Windsor. Center Merlin Malinowski was released. Malinowski played in 20 NHL games with New Jersey and Hartford and had eight goals and 21 assists. The 21-man roster does not include Ross Yates, who was recently released from Hartford Hospital, or former New York Ranger goaltender Steve Baker, who is being given a tryout by the Whalers. Francis has been involved in a series of transactions the past few days. On Monday, Hartford picked up two right wings and a center

Thirteen-year-old wins blue ribbons for her cooking

By Barbara Richmond Herald Reporter

Katy Vyr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Thomas Fraize of 30 Plymouth Lane, is only 13 years old but she's already winning blue ribbons for her cooking expertise. She's learned a lot about cooking through the 4-H.

When Katy and her mother make the sweet and sour meatballs, they usually increase the recipe to make about 200. Extra meatballs are frozen; the others are put in a crockpot to keep them warm.

Another favorite of Katy's is her apple cake. "I make it a lot because I like it," she said. However, she's not adverse to making some things she doesn't like to eat. She makes a gelatin salad, for instance, just because her mother likes it.

Mrs. Fraize, who works part-time as a nurse, said Katy is a big help. Here are some of the favorites of Katy and her family and friends.

- Lemon Tea Cake: 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup butter, 1 slice bread, 4 eggs, well beaten, 2 teaspoons lemon rind, 3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 cup milk. Cream together the butter, shortening, sugar and...

pineapple and coconut. Put in mold or bowl and refrigerate.

- Basic Gingerbread Mix: 4 cups sifted flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup shortening. Sift all dry ingredients together three times into a large mixing bowl. Cut in the shortening with a pastry blender until the mix is like corn meal.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix all ingredients. Pour mixture into greased muffin pans or into 2 1/2 inch baking cups. Bake about 20 minutes. Makes about 12 cupcakes. Frost with Portsmouth frosting.

- Hawaiian Bread: 3 1/2 cups drained pineapple, undrained, 1 1/2 ounce package flaked coconut, 4 eggs, beaten, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons baking soda. Combine all ingredients in order listed. Bake for 1 hour at 325 degrees in 2 ungreased regular-sized loaf pans. Can also be baked in small pans.

- Apple Cake: 2 cups flour, 2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 1/2 (or more) teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup oil, 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 5 cups chopped apples, 2 cups chopped walnuts. Combine flour, sugar, soda, cinnamon, oil, eggs and vanilla. Beat until well mixed on medium speed. Stir in apples and walnuts. Turn into well-greased 12-cup fluted or tube pan, heavily coated with bread crumbs (optional). Bake at 350 degrees for 60 to 65 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool.

beaten eggs and the lemon rind. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Add to first mixture and then add milk. Bake in greased loaf pan at 350 degrees for 40 to 60 minutes. Bake shorter time if using the smaller loaf pans. While the loaf is still warm, mix together the juice of one lemon with half a cup of sugar and dribble this over the top.

- Sweet and Sour Meatballs: 1/2 cup milk, 1 slice bread, 2 pounds hamburger, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons salt. Sprinkle pudding over sour cream and mix in with...

Supermarket Shopper

New mom has advice on refunds

By Martin Sloane United Feature Syndicate

DEAR MARTIN: I did a fair amount of refunding while I was still working, before the recent birth of my son, Sean. Coupons were also fun, especially when local supermarkets were offering to double their value. But now that there are three of us to feed, and we have to get by on one income, clipping, sorting and sending, have become mandatory.

- 1. Inform your coupon and refund form trading partners as soon as you get the good news. Request forms and coupons for any and all baby products. You'll go through a period of trial and error to determine which items you'll be using regularly, particularly if this is your first child. Incidentally, it doesn't hurt to request skin lotion coupons for yourself, to help with pregnancy dryness and itchiness.

Clip 'n' file refunds

Clip out this file and keep it with similar cash-off coupons - beverage refund collectibles, for example. Start collecting the needed proofs of purchase while looking for the required forms at the supermarket, in newspapers and magazines, and when trading with friends.

This offer doesn't require a refund form: JHRMACK $1.99 Refund, P.O. Box PM 150, El Paso, TX 79966. Send from any Jhrmack Shampoo or Instant Conditioner (except trial-size sample), the bottom panel containing the Universal Product Code symbol and the register tape with the purchase price circled. Expires Oct. 31, 1983.

These offers require refund forms: AIM $1 Refund. Send the required refund form and the Universal Product Code symbol from two packages of Aim Toothpaste super size (8.2-ounce) and one size (6.4-ounce) large size (4.6-ounce) in any combination. Expires Dec. 31, 1983.

Philip Pleasants as Viennese court composer Antonio Salieri, top, looks on with contempt at musical genius Mozart, played by Edward Hodson in a scene from "Amadeus," the Tony award winner which played last week at the Bushnell Memorial in Hartford.

Play review

Fine acting in 'Amadeus' thrills Bushnell audience

By Adele Anole
Focus Editor

HARTFORD — Mozart, as any classical music lover knows, died in abject poverty, and was buried in a pauper's grave.

How he got there is the subject of "Amadeus," the Broadway hit which played last weekend at the Bushnell Memorial in Hartford.

Playwright Peter Shaffer spins a most fanciful tale of Salieri, a jealous court musician who thwarts the career of a horribly immature Mozart. Salieri, played by Philip Pleasants, does so all the while realizing what a genius Mozart really is.

No, this isn't a historical play. Perish the thought that Mozart pranced through the court of the Emperor of Austria looking up ladies' skirts and using crude language, as he did last Friday at the Bushnell.

But there's lots here. Themes such as jealousy and thwarted ambition, the artist and the corporation make this a serious drama, though there's plenty to laugh at.

FROM BEGINNING to end, this was Philip Pleasants' and Edward Hodson's evening. Though the pair were supported by a fine cast, it was the two of them who really carried things off in fine style.

Pleasants is a versatile actor, who easily switched back and forth between the young Salieri and the Salieri near death. At times the audience hated the

Advice

Mother keeps affairs in the family

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago when I found out that my husband was having an affair with my mother, I practically went into shock. My husband said he loved me and wanted another chance. We'd been married for eight years and had three children, so I forgave him and my mother, too. Things were better for a little while, then a week ago he confessed that he had never stopped seeing my mother.

I told my two sisters about it, and they both said Mom had slept with her husbands, too. (Our father doesn't know this, but he's caught her with other men.)

I want to leave my husband, but I hate to break up my family. My parents come over often and my mom flirts openly with my husband, which

Dear Abby: I am a 38-year-old woman. Five years ago I was diagnosed as having uterine fibroids. During the past year I have noticed an increase in the duration of my periods. My flow is heavier and more clots are evident.

Five months ago my gynecologist told me my fibroids were the size of a seven- to eight-week pregnancy. He also said surgery wasn't performed until fibroids were severe problems and a possible hysterectomy in the future.

Since I am aware that approximately 50 percent of all hysterectomies performed in the United States are unnecessary, I'm sure you can appreciate my concern.

DEAR READER: Go see your gynecologist again. I am more concerned about your bleeding than about your fibroids. While the size of the fibroids is important,

Diets of kids lack calcium

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Many U.S. school children aren't getting enough calcium in their diets, a situation that may be aggravated by cuts in funding of school meals, a nutritionist says.

Katherine Riddle, food and nutrition specialist at the University of Nebraska, said a U.S. Department of Agriculture study found "large proportions of the student population do not obtain recommended amounts of calcium."
