

Put your money where your Heart is

How Are Your Heart™ Fund Dollars Spent?

- Summer Fellowships introduce College Students to Cardiovascular Research.
- CPR Classes instruct groups of nurses, paramedics, policemen and firemen and emergency rescue personnel in life-saving techniques for heart victims.
- Heart Care Classes teach patients and families how to live following a heart attack.
- Screening programs detect high blood pressure in adults.
- Literature, films and audio-visual aids on heart care are distributed on request.
- Speakers Bureau of Doctors teaches school children, civic and fraternal groups, church and club organizations on heart risks.
- Lectures, Seminars and Films keep physicians and nurses informed on latest developments in cardiovascular medicine.
- Low-cost penicillin provided to rheumatic heart victims.
- Answers to all questions concerning heart disease are provided and referral services offered.

This Page Paid For And Sponsored By The Following Civic Minded Businesses

ROBERT J. SMITH, Inc.
"Insurances Since 1914"
65 East Center Street
Manchester • 649-5241

CUNLIFFE AUTO BODY
"Quality Service At Its Best" Route 83
Talcottville • 643-0016

MORIARTY BROTHERS
"Over 50th Year"
315 Center Street
Manchester • 643-5135

HERITAGE SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION
1007 Main St., Manchester
649-4586

DONALD S. GENOVESI INSURANCE AGENCY, INC.
"Serving the Manchester Area for Over 50 Years"
1011 Main Street
Manchester • 643-2131

J. GARMAN, CLOTHIER
887 Downtown Main St., Manchester
643-2401

THE MANCHESTER HERALD
"A Family Newspaper Since 1881"
Herald Square, Manchester

SULLIVAN & CO.
Advertising Specialties
806 Main Street
Manchester • 649-6523

DILLON SALES & SERVICE, INC.
319 Main Street
Manchester 643-2145

KRAUSE FLORIST & GREENHOUSES
"Largest Retail Growers in Manchester"
621 Hartford Road, Manchester

AL SIEFFERT'S APPLIANCES, TV-AUDIO
445 Hartford Road, Manchester
647-9997

J.D. REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATES, Inc.
419 Center Street
Manchester — 646-1980

MANCHESTER HONDA
"Conn's Largest Exclusively Honda Dealer"
Sales - Service - Parts
24 Adams Street
Manchester — 646-3515

LYDALL, INC.
One Colonial Road
Manchester • 646-1233

Northway REXALL Pharmacy
"Prescription Specialists"
230 No. Main Street
Manchester • 646-4510

STAN BYSIEWICZ INSURANCE AGENCY
386 Main Street
Manchester • 649-2891

PARKER STREET USED AUTO PARTS, INC.
"For All Your Auto Parts Needs, Come See Us"
775 Parker Street
Manchester • 649-3391

THE CARLYLE JOHNSON MACHINE COMPANY
Specialists in Power Transmission Since 1903
52 Main Street
Manchester • 643-1531

FLO'S CAKE DECORATING
191 Center Street
Manchester • 646-0228

JAMES R. McCAVANAGH REALTY
"Residential & Commercial Sales"
73 West Center St.
Manchester • 649-3800

JOHN H. LAPPEN, INC.
184 E. Center Street
Manchester • 649-5261

GRAMES PRINTING
"Same day service when you need it in a hurry."
50 Purnell Place, Manchester
643-6669

"We can't hide behind our product!"
J. A. WHITE GLASS CO., INC.
OVER 35 YEARS EXPERIENCE
31 Bassell Street
Manchester • 649-7322

MANCHESTER DRUG
"Prescription Specialists"
717 Main Street
Manchester • 649-4541

HIGHLAND PARK MARKET
"The Choice of Meats in Town"
317 Highland Street, Manchester
646-4277

THE HAYES CORPORATION
"Our 20th Year of Professional Real Estate"
382 East Center Street
Manchester • 646-0131

It's official — columnist to add video to stereo

... page 15

Texaco-Getty merger given conditional OK

... page 20

U.S. winners in giant slalom

... page 12

Fair tonight: cloudy Tuesday — See page 2

Manchester Herald

Manchester, Conn.
Monday, Feb. 13, 1984
Single copy: 25c

Herald photo by Tarquino

Revolutionary sale coming

Main Street merchants are getting in the spirit for a revolutionary one-day Presidents Day sale being sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association. The retail sales promotion, which has become a Manchester tradition, normally involves an imaginary odyssey with a thin plot that ends in a thick list of bargains for Manchester shoppers. Ready to embark on the commercial adventure trip are, from left, Al Coelho, Donna "Martha" Stratman, Bernard Aptler, Joseph "George" Garman, Thomas "Abe" Marvin, Denise "Betsy" Roberts and Fred Nassiff.

Station held up 3 times

The Shell station on Tolland Turnpike was robbed three times at gunpoint Sunday by three different men, and a pair of teenagers stole the station owner's car the same day, Manchester police said today.

One suspect was apprehended in the car theft and another suspect was identified, but none have been identified in the three robberies, which are under investigation, police said.

The first robbery occurred at 2:45 a.m. Sunday, when a white man wielding a long shotgun forced station employees to turn over an undisclosed amount of cash, police said.

The man was last seen fleeing west on Tolland Turnpike in a brown Cadillac with a white vinyl top, they said. He was described by witnesses as 6 feet tall with brown hair and moustache. He told police he wore a green army jacket with the hood pulled up and a scarf covered his face.

Less than four hours later, at 8:28 a.m., a bearded black man, 6 feet tall and wearing a blue hat and sunglasses, pointed a small handgun at station attendants and forced them to turn over the station's receipts, police said. The man then locked the attendants in the office before fleeing with the money in a blue South Windsor bank bag, police said. Witnesses were not able to describe the getaway car, police said.

At 3 p.m. police returned to the station after the owner's car was reported stolen. Police spotted the car traveling west on Tolland Turnpike and followed it through the streets of west Manchester, finally stopping it and apprehending one suspect at 40 Olcott St., police said.

The chase came to a halt when the driver pulled into the parking lot behind the Olcott Street building and two occupants jumped out while it was still moving, police said. The two ran into the building, where an officer apprehended one of them, police said. A civilian who had been riding with the officer stopped the moving car, they said.

Please turn to page 10

Chernenko, 72, gains control

By John Iams
United Press International

MOSCOW — Konstantin Chernenko, who lost a power struggle 15 months ago to Yuri Andropov, was elected today to succeed his former rival as Soviet leader and immediately called for "peaceful coexistence" with the United States but not at the cost of military superiority.

Chernenko, 72, the oldest man to assume control of the Soviet Union, praised his predecessor and one-time rival as "an ardent patriot, Leninist and tireless fighter for peace." Andropov died Thursday. The announcement that Chernenko was chosen by the central committee of the Communist Party to succeed Andropov as party chairman was broadcast simultaneously on television and radio and carried by the official Tass news agency.

Konstantin Chernenko has been elected General Secretary of the CPSU Central Committee at an extraordinary plenary meeting of the CPSU Central Committee which was held here today," said the official announcement.

In a lengthy speech to the Central Committee, Chernenko mourned the loss of Andropov and said his 15 months in office was a "short, painfully short time." Andropov, 69, died of heart and kidney failure after a year of dialysis treatments and increasingly poor health. He was to be buried Tuesday in Red Square following a full state and military funeral service.

Lenin bequeathed to us the principle of peaceful coexistence with states of different social systems," Chernenko said in his speech.

In the age of nuclear weapons and super-accurate missiles, people need it as never before." But, he said, "Some leaders of the capitalist countries, to all appearances, do not clearly realize, or do not wish to realize that, the first high-level contact between Chernenko and the United States will come during a reception after Andropov's funeral when he was expected to briefly exchange views with Vice President George Bush.

Chernenko, quickly making his views on Soviet-U.S. relations known, said: "We need no military superiority. We do not intend to dictate our will to others."

But he warned in words similar to those of Andropov: "We will not permit the military equilibrium, that has been achieved, to be upset."

Inside Today

20 pages, 2 sections

Advice	17
Business	18-19
Classified	18-19
Comics	18
Entertainment	17
Letters	2
Obituaries	2
Opinion	6
People	2
Sports	11-14
Television	8
Weather	2

UPI photo

Konstantin Chernenko (right) is at the side of then-Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev during nuclear arms treaty talks with the U.S. in Vienna in 1979. Chernenko, who rose to prominence as Brezhnev's closest aide, is succeeding Yuri Andropov as leader of the Soviet Union.

Let nobody have even the slightest doubt about that." Chernenko vowed to strengthen Soviet military might so "that we should have enough means to cool the hot heads of militarist adventurists."

"This, comrades, is a very substantial prerequisite for preserving peace." Chernenko was nominated by Prime Minister Nikolai Tikhonov, at 78 the oldest member of the Politburo, and elected unanimously.

Following the nomination speech and Chernenko's acceptance remarks, the roughly 300-member committee observed a minute of silence in memory of Andropov before adjourning.

In recent public appearances,

Choice is a surprise

Theodore T. Cummings expressed surprise today when he learned that the Communist Central Committee had selected a 72-year-old man to succeed Yuri Andropov as general secretary of the Communist Party in the Soviet Union.

Cummings was one of the Manchester people in the Soviet Union with the Friendship Force when Leonid Brezhnev died and was succeeded by Andropov. Cummings said he expected a younger man might have been chosen this time. He said the idea that a young and more aggressive person might be selected worried him.

Andropov's successor is Konstantin Chernenko, Cummings was not surprised that the choice went to a rival of Andropov, however. Chernenko lost to Andropov in a struggle for the post 15 months ago. Cummings said he doubted the change would have any material effect on relationships between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He said the Russians have a deep fear of the Western World. Two others on the Friendship Force trip disagreed on the comparison of the atmosphere at Brezhnev's death and at Andropov's.

Mayor Barbara Weinberg, who led the trip, said it was her impression from watching television that the presence of the military was not so overwhelming when Andropov died as when Brezhnev died. She was watching Russian television in the earlier case.

She said she had spoken to several others who were on the trip and they shared her impression. But William Brindamour said the pictures he saw of scenes after Andropov's death seemed to him the same as the earlier ones he had seen when in Russia. Brindamour, like Cummings, was surprised that the Politburo had chosen an elderly leader again.

Food delivered; war zone quiet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Relief workers arranged a mercy mission to deliver more food and supplies today to rebel-controlled west Beirut and President Amin Gemayel vowed the crisis in the capital would end within a few days.

Although rival guns in and around Beirut were silent today during heavy rainfall in the capital, a peace effort by Saudi Arabian mediator Rafik Hariri ended without progress, said Lebanese rebels opposing Gemayel. The sources said Hariri returned home "empty handed" following his weekend mission in the region aimed at ending the latest slide toward an all-out civil war.

The capital's western Moslem sector has been under siege since rebels seeking to topple Gemayel gained control last week in the worst fighting since the 1975-76 civil war. Army troops have battled rebels, making it too dangerous to cross the "Green Line" dividing Moslem west Beirut from Christian east Beirut.

But a Red Cross convoy carried food and medicine to west Beirut through the crossover point at the National Museum on Sunday and Social Services Minister Adnan Mroueh said flour would be delivered today. Black market prices have soared amid fears of food shortages.

Beirut radio said Sunday the museum crossing would be open and protected by French peacekeepers today for 8½ hours. French troops moved into positions on both sides of the crossing, stationing themselves between the Lebanese army and Christian militias to the east and Moubarratoun gunmen from the Sunni Moslem militia to the west.

Gemayel, making his first public appearance since the Moslem takeover of west Beirut, promised that "in a matter of hours or days the situation will be resolved." He did not elaborate.

As Gemayel spoke, government artillery fired at Syrian-backed Druze Moslem rebels in the hills beyond, shaking the house in the eastern Beit Meri suburb overlooking the capital where the news conference was held.

1
3
F
E
B
1
3

New England tidbits: religion, campaigns, ships with wings

By Joseph Mionowony
United Press International

WASHINGTON — New England, notes from the nation's capital:
Low scores for region
The Christian Voice, a conservative religious lobbying group, gave New England senators and representatives some of the lowest marks of all members of Congress in a recent ranking of the House and Senate.

The organization based its ranking on 12 votes during the last session of Congress, including the censure of Rep. Gerry Studds, D-Mass., and the nuclear freeze.
Vermont's two senators and single representative scored the lowest of all delegations, registering a collective zero. New Hampshire was given the region's highest ranking — a 68.5 percent.
In the Senate, Republican Gordon Humphrey of New Hampshire was given a 100 percent by the group, while six of the region's senators scored zeroes — Robert Stafford and Patrick Leahy of Vermont, Edward Kennedy and Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts, Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island and Christopher Dodd of Connecticut.

Ten New England House members also received zeroes, while Rep. Judd Gregg, R-N.H., was given an 85 percent score — the highest ranking in the area.

Spending limits for primaries
The Federal Election Commission has limited each of the major presidential candidates to spending a total of $3.8 million on their primary campaign efforts in the six New England states.

The limits, which apply to candidates who have qualified for federal matching funds, are keyed to the voting age population in each state. Seven of the eight Democratic candidates have qualified for the funds. George McGovern has not.

Each candidate has a $1.41 million limit in Massachusetts, and a $768,569.80 cap in Connecticut. The hopefuls each have the minimum $404,000 limit in New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Rhode Island. The spending limits — which do not take into account certain additional spending for fundraising — generally only pose some problems for candidates in the early primary and caucus states.

D'Amours turns down spot
Rep. Norman D'Amours, D-N.H., head of a House subcommittee on oceanography, last week turned down a request that he sit on an advisory panel to submit the "Year of the Ocean."

D'Amours, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, was asked by National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration head John Byrne to help with the "Year of the Ocean" effort.

However, in a terse letter to Byrne, D'Amours said certain ocean programs meant to cut or eliminate certain ocean programs meant the "Year of the Ocean" effort was "nothing short of sheer hypocrisy."

D'Amours told Byrne that "given the recent budget submission... it is clear that the present regime at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is determined to abrogate its historic responsibilities to this nation's ocean and coastal resources."

Stafford moving on bill

Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., head of the Environment and Public Works Committee, finished a week of hearings on his acid rain legislation, and is on schedule to report a bill to the full Senate by mid-March.

However, so many factors are clouding the issue that by the close of the hearings last Friday, no one could confidently lay out an accurate scenario for the future of the legislation.

Not only are there major disagreements on Capitol Hill over how to fund a solution, but without White House backing, it appears any acid rain control program is doomed for this year.

Yet, there was speculation late last week that some effort might be made to tie together several different bills on the subject.
Referring to that complicated art of compromise so often practiced in the Capitol, one committee staffer remarked: "Somebody wants the Navy and somebody else wants the Air Force, so you build a ship with wings."

Peopletalk

You're never too old
No one is too old to enjoy a Valentine. And New York City's senior citizen shut-ins who receive Meals on Wheels this Valentine's day will be getting cards from Katharine Hepburn, Tony Randall, Sylvia Miles, Kaye Ballard, Melba Moore, Amanda Plummer, Jessica Tandy, Irene Dahl, Rex Reed, Marian Seldes and Mia Farrow.
They were among the New Yorkers who responded to the call for cards sent out by Eugene Ferkauf, founder of ClubMart of America. He has arranged for the cards and bouquets of flowers to be delivered on Valentine's Day along with the day's meal.
The cards ranged from Miss Hepburn's signature to a signature from Randall and Miss Ballard to Miss Tandy's message: "Love and good wishes on this Valentine's Day. May you have a happy loving day and a good year until next February 14th."

Talk from the stars
Marilyn Monroe confided, "Panties gag me." Ernest Hemingway complained that "a morose cousin or somebody, told me he sure did enjoy my book, 'All Quiet on the Western Front.'" Charlie Chaplin, who was always cold, said, "I hope to go to hell when I die so I can keep warm."
The man to whom those celebrities were talking was show biz columnist Earl Wilson. Wilson's talks with the stars have been collected in a new book, "Hot Times," to be published by Contemporary Books in May.
Among the celebrities Wilson tells tales about are Ingrid Bergman, Howard Hughes, Elizabeth Taylor, Jacqueline Onassis, Katharine Hepburn, Burt Reynolds, Grace Kelly, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope — the list goes on and on.

Quotes of the day
Mollie Fermaglich has written "Mollie's Rules For The Socially Inept," a book coming out later this month that includes these gems.
On table manners: "If there's more than one fork at your place setting, think salad, not 'sovenir.'"
On office parties: "Watch your alcoholic consumption: keep in mind that, if you are going to risk your professional reputation, embezzlement is a much wiser choice than 'sloppy drunk.'"
On women picking up dinner checks: "Unless one's right to assemble and bear arms is gravely threatened, there is always a less extravagant way of asserting one's independence than treating some guy to a T-bone steak."

Capitol caste system
One result of tightened security in the nervous capital is a new caste system on Capitol Hill, based on the color of your identification tag.
Instead of showing security tags on request only, as in the past, workers now must display them at all times. Lobbyists wear blue tags around their necks, journalists green.
Trouble started, however, when status-conscious congressional staffers were divided into two groups — those with the Red Badge of Status — given easy access to the Capitol at all hours — and others with yellow badges, who suddenly saw themselves as second-class citizens.
The Senate Sergeant at Arms, Larry Smith, was inundated by yellow-badged aides appealing for asstich to red badges. Finally, Smith caved in and announced that those with yellow badges likewise would have unlimited 24-hour access to the Capitol.
"You've just got to roll with the punches," sighed Smith.

Glimpses
Jane Fonda heads for New York at the end of the month to introduce a new line of exercise kits designed by Theloni Aldridge and called Jane Fonda Workout.

Peter, Paul and Mary received the Israel Cultural Award Sunday at a dinner dance of the Israel Bond Organization's New Leadership Division, at which Liv Ullmann was inducted as president of the Sabra Society.

Now you know
One of the world's first books of laws was the Code of Hammurabi, the king of Babylon, developed about 1,700 years before Christ. The code consisted of 280 laws that covered everything from business contracts to marriage to murder.

Today in history
On Feb. 13, 1945, Soviet forces captured Budapest after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed. An American soldier takes a snapshot of a wrecked bridge across the Danube in this scene a few months later.

On Feb. 13, 1945, Soviet forces captured Budapest after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed. An American soldier takes a snapshot of a wrecked bridge across the Danube in this scene a few months later.

Almanac

Today is Monday, Feb. 13, the 44th day of 1984 with 322 to follow. The moon is moving toward its full phase.
The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. There is no evening star.
Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius. They include French statesman Maurice Talleyrand in 1754, British statesman Lord Randolph Churchill, father of Sir Winston Churchill, in 1849, and actors George Segal in 1934 and Oliver Reed in 1938.

On this date in history: In 1835, the oldest public institution in America — the Boston Latin School — was founded.
In 1945, Soviet forces captured Budapest after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed.
In 1974, dissident writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn was expelled from the Soviet Union.
In 1983, John Hinckley Jr., who was acquitted of trying to assassinate President Reagan on grounds of insanity, was rescued from his third suicide attempt at a mental hospital in Washington D.C.
A thought for the day: exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn said, "No regime has ever loved great writers, only minor ones."

Weather

Today's forecasts
Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island: Today mostly sunny and mild. Highs around 50 along the coast, in the mid to upper 50s inland. Tonight fair early, widespread fog developing. Lows in the upper 40s to lower 40s. Tuesday morning fog lifting, remaining mostly cloudy. Showers likely west portion in the afternoon, with a chance of showers east portion by late in the day. Breezy and continued mild. Highs 50 to 55.
Maine: Mostly sunny today but some clouds north but some clouds north. Highs 38 to 43 north and mid 40s to low 50s south. Increasing cloudiness tonight with fog and a chance of drizzle south. Lows in the mid to upper 20s north and upper 20s to low 30s south. Cloudy and foggy Tuesday with some drizzle likely. Highs 40 to 45.
New Hampshire: Mostly sunny today but some clouds north. Highs 40 to 45 north and 45 to 50 south. Increasing cloudiness tonight with fog and a chance of drizzle south. Lows in the upper 20s to low 30s with slowly rising temperatures. Foggy with occasional drizzle likely Tuesday and rain possible by evening. Highs 40 to 45.
Vermont: Becoming partly sunny. Unseasonably mild. Highs near 50. Partly cloudy and breezy tonight. Lows near 40. South winds 10 to 20 mph, clearing at first Tuesday. Rain likely by afternoon. Highs in the 40s.
Long Island Sound: Winds southerly around 10 knots this afternoon. Wind southeasterly 10 to 15 knots tonight and increasing to 15 to 25 knots Tuesday. Visibility less than a mile in dense fog tonight and early Tuesday. Otherwise visibility will be 2 to 5 miles in haze today and 1 or 2 miles in rain Tuesday. Average wave heights 1 or 2 feet this afternoon and tonight.

Today becoming mostly sunny and mild. Highs in the mid to upper 50s. Southeast winds around 10 mph. Tonight fair early, areas of fog forming. Lows in the upper 30s. Southeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Tuesday areas of morning fog, becoming partly cloudy and breezy. A 50 percent chance of showers late in the day. Continued mild. Highs 50 to 55. Today's weather picture was drawn by Mary Schaffer of Coventry, a student at St. James School.

Extended outlook
Extended outlook for New England Wednesday through Friday.
Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island: A chance of showers early Wednesday. Fair Thursday. Chance of showers late Friday. Daytime highs mostly in the 50s. Nighttime lows in the mid 30s to mid 40s.
Vermont: Clearing Wednesday. Chance of rain Thursday. Clearing again Friday. Continued unseasonably mild. Highs 45 to 55. Lows 25 to 35.
Maine: Clearing west to east Wednesday. Fair Thursday. Chance of showers Friday. Continued mild with highs in the 40s except mid 40s to low 50s south. Lows in the upper 20s and low 30s.
New Hampshire: Clearing west to east Wednesday. Fair Thursday. Chance of showers Friday. Continued mild with highs in the 40s except mid 40s to low 50s south. Lows in the upper 20s and low 30s.

Satellite view
Commerce Department satellite photo taken at 4 a.m. EST shows layered frontal clouds with embedded showers extending from the western Great Lakes through the Ohio Valley and over the central Gulf Coast. Mid and high level pre-frontal cloudiness is racing eastward across the northern and central Rockies. Thick frontal clouds are entering the Pacific Northwest coast.

National forecast
For period ending 7 a.m. EST Tuesday, tonight, showers will be expected in the Central Pacific Coast, the Middle and South Atlantic Coast States. Elsewhere weather will remain fair in general. Minimum temperatures include: (maximum readings in parentheses) Atlanta 41 (69), Boston 35 (53), Chicago 34 (49), Cleveland 35 (50), Dallas 43 (75), Denver 28 (50), Duluth 23 (39), Houston 43 (78), Jacksonville 46 (69), Kansas City 31 (56), Little Rock 41 (70), Los Angeles 52 (66), Miami 66 (80), Minneapolis 27 (42), New Orleans 42 (68), New York 37 (52), Phoenix 47 (72), San Francisco 49 (58), Seattle 37 (49), St. Louis 36 (58), and Washington 41 (57).

Lottery

Connecticut daily Saturday: 721
Play Four: 1994
Other numbers drawn Saturday in New England:
Vermont daily: 724.
Rhode Island daily: 1556.
New Hampshire daily: 2861.
Massachusetts weekly Megabucks: 4-8-13-21-24.
Massachusetts daily: 075.

Manchester Herald

Richard M. Diamond, Publisher
USPS 327-500 VOL. CIII, No. 115
Published daily except Sunday and certain holidays by the Manchester Publishing Co., 16 Bradford Place, Manchester, Conn. 06060. Second class postage paid at Manchester, Conn. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to the Manchester Herald, P.O. Box 971, Manchester, Conn. 06060.
To subscribe, or to report a delivery problem, call 667-9946. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. Saturday. Delivery service provided by mail carrier Monday through Friday and by 7:30 a.m. on Saturdays.
Suggested carrier rates are $1.20 weekly, $3.12 for one month, $12.35 for three months, $30.70 for six months, and $61.40 for one year. Rates are available on request.
To place a classified or display advertisement, or to report a news item, story or picture idea, call 667-2711. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.
The Manchester Herald is a subscriber to United Press International news services and is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

These two women are standing less than a hundred feet away from the Center Street overpass next to Manchester Lumber, but the overpass was far out of sight in this morning's fog. Passing cars had to use their lights. Neither Mary Sue Lewonczyk of 91 Laurel St. (left) nor Bev Webster of 24 Newman St. could see their bus coming from up the street, but they caught it anyway.

Foggy morning

These two women are standing less than a hundred feet away from the Center Street overpass next to Manchester Lumber, but the overpass was far out of sight in this morning's fog. Passing cars had to use their lights. Neither Mary Sue Lewonczyk of 91 Laurel St. (left) nor Bev Webster of 24 Newman St. could see their bus coming from up the street, but they caught it anyway.

Fiano changing plans for houses

Attorney Lawrence A. Fiano said today he will submit new plans for a subdivision of Keeney Street which would call for about the same number of lots as a plan rejected last week, but which would allow for greater lot sizes.
The new plans, which Fiano said he hopes to submit to the Planning and Zoning Commission by the end of this week, call for 56 or 57 lots to be developed over the entire 28.7-acre parcel off Keeney Street near the intersection of Bush Hill Road, he said. A zone change from Rural Residence to Residence A will be requested, he said.
The PZC last week voted 3-2 in favor of changing the land's zoning to Planned Residence Development to allow for 37 single-family houses on 30 acres of the parcel, but a 4-1 vote was necessary to change the land's zoning.
Gerald Investments, of which Fiano is president, requested the zone change so that the houses could be built on lots of at least 9,000 square feet each. However, Keeney Street residents objected to the plans because they said the density of the proposed development would not fit in with surrounding neighborhoods and would spur further development in the area.

Court disposes of several cases

The following cases were disposed of recently in Manchester Superior Court by Judges Richard Noren and Edward V. O'Connell.
• James Morrell, third-degree assault, one year, suspended after 6 months, and two years' probation. Charges of possession of marijuana, failure to submit to fingerprinting and first-degree criminal trespass were dropped by the state's attorney.
• Edward Leebetter, 32, of Hartford, sixth-degree larceny, 90 days. One count of second-degree larceny was dropped by the state's attorney. The second charge stems from a Dec. 17 arrest when police found him at the wheel of a stolen car parked near Dairy Mart on Center Street, police said.
• Todd Daly, three counts of sixth-degree larceny, 90 days each, execution suspended and three years' probation. Three counts of third-degree burglary, one of third-degree burglary, one of interfering with police and one of failure to submit to fingerprinting were dropped by the state's attorney.
• Adrienne Lauray, third-degree assault, 90 days, suspended, one year's probation. Another count of third-degree assault and one count of sixth-degree larceny were dropped by the state's attorney.
• Donald Sney, drunken driving, fined $315.
• Clifford Moran, breach of peace and interfering with police, dismissed. Additional counts of third-degree criminal mischief, threatening, carrying a dangerous weapon and interfering with police were dropped by the state's attorney.
• Kenneth Boland, possession of drug paraphernalia, fined $115. An additional count of possession of drug paraphernalia and one of delivering liquor to a minor were dropped by the state's attorney.
• Anne Dunbar, drunken driving, driving an unregistered motor vehicle and driving without a license, all dropped by the state's attorney.
• Ronald Moriconi, drunken driving, fined $115.
• John Renouf, driving while intoxicated, 30 days, suspended, and one year's probation, fined $315. The state's attorney dropped another drunken driving charge and a charge of interfering with police.

Manchester In Brief

Cheney Tech has a heart
The Auto Vica Club at Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School is concerned with more than chrome, according to spokesman Bob Donovan.
In the past month, he said, the club has visited the Meadows Convalescent Home in Manchester and donated $50 worth of fruit to the residents. Members also gave the Union Church in Vernon $50 for its soup kitchen, and the Manchester branch of the Salvation Army another $50.
"Club members hope that through such projects they may in some small way show their gratitude to the community which each year so generously supports their fund-raising activities," Donovan said.
Valentine dance postponed
Poor ticket sales and a school hockey game the same night led to the postponement of a semi-formal Valentine's Day dance at Manchester High School Saturday, principal Jacob Ludes said this morning.
He said the dance was to have a complete menu including steamship round of beef, may be rescheduled to celebrate Mardi Gras.
The popularity of dress-up dances may be on the rise despite the postponement. The Valentine's dance would have been the latest of a half-dozen semi-formal affairs held at the high school since September, more than in recent years, Ludes said.
Meals on Wheels grows
Elderly, disabled and homebound people in Bolton may now receive "Meals on Wheels" for a fee. E. Ruth Baker, municipal agent for the aging, announced recently.
For $5.25 daily, those Bolton residents who cannot shop for groceries or prepare their own meals may get a hot dinner and a cold lunch. The meals can be provided on a short- or long-term basis, and it isn't necessary to take the meals every day.
The service operates from Manchester Memorial Hospital, and special menus are available upon a doctor's request. Those who are temporarily convalescing from surgery, illness or injury may also receive the service.
Three teacher changes
At the last school board meeting, members approved three personnel changes in Manchester schools.
Karin von Deck, a speech therapist in the elementary schools since September 1983, will resign in July. She is on a leave of absence and has moved to Florida.
Colleen M. McCann of Manchester was appointed as a part-time, second-semester art teacher at Manchester High School. She received her bachelor's degree from Alfred University.
Another Manchester resident, Petrea Reading, has been appointed as a part-time, second-semester science teacher at MHS. She received her bachelor's degree from the University of Utah, and has taught school in Utah and Maryland.
Both new positions were created because of additional student course selections.

Area Towns In Brief

Morals charges lodged
BOLTON — James C. Sutter, 17, of School Road, was arrested Friday at his home on charges of second-degree sexual assault and risk of injury to a minor, state police said.
According to police, the charges stem from incidents over several months on School Road. A female child was the victim, police said.
Sutter was released after posting a $500 bond and ordered to appear March 6 in Rockville Superior Court.
Prague to hear citizens
COVENTRY — Rep. Edith Prugue, D-Columbia, will hold office hours at the Town Office Building here from noon to 2 p.m. Town residents wishing to discuss legislative issues are invited to attend.

Fire Calls

Manchester
Saturday, 2:54 p.m. — medical call, 41 Campfield Road (Paramedics).
Saturday, 4:38 p.m. — motor vehicle accident, Pleasant Valley Road and Croft Drive (Town).
Saturday, 9:08 p.m. — chimney fire, 83 Constance Drive (Town).
Sunday, 3:47 a.m. — medical call, 92 Ridge St. (Paramedics).
Sunday, 8:01 a.m. — medical call, 30 Oak St. (Paramedics).
Sunday, 10:55 a.m. — medical call, 238 N. Main St. (Paramedics).
Sunday, 3:01 p.m. — service call, 15 Preston Drive (Town).
Sunday, 5:12 p.m. — service call, St. James Cemetery (Town).
Sunday, 7:15 p.m. — medical call, 78B Charter Oak St. (Paramedics).
Sunday, 8:04 p.m. — dumpster fire, Lincoln Center, 484 Main St. (Town).
Sunday, 11:06 p.m. — service call, 129 Brookfield St. (Town).
Sunday, 11:56 p.m. — motor vehicle accident, 76 Cooper St. (Town).
Monday, 1:18 a.m. — transformer fire, 176 Brookfield St. (Town).
Tolland County
Saturday, 9:02 p.m. — motor vehicle accident, Route 44 and Mark Drive, Coventry (North Coventry, South Coventry).
Saturday, 11:07 a.m. — medical call, Lakewood Drive, Coventry (South Coventry).
Saturday, 6:11 p.m. — medical call, Babcock Hill Road, Coventry (South Coventry).
Sunday, 5:17 a.m. — smoke investigation, RHAM High School, Hebron (Andover, Bolton).
Sunday, 5:36 p.m. — debris (fire, Root Road, Coventry (South Coventry, North Coventry, Eagleville).

BE THERE!
Saturday February 18th
Doors Open at 7:00 A.M

DISCOUNT AUTO PARTS
Super Store is Coming to MANCHESTER!
249 Spencer St. across from Shop-Rite.

FRAM 1 97
Regular 3.99
Oil Filter
No limit!

Mobil Super 10W-40 79¢
Regular 1.09
QUART
18 96
Regular 2.50
CASE

Do-It-Yourselfers or Professionals
YOU MUST SEE THIS PLACE TO BELIEVE IT

Dairy Queen
brazier.
You Have A Choice At Httf. Rd.
crispy fried chicken

SALE
Have you tried one yet? 21 pc. 9.50
They're great...the "Brazier Crispy Fried Chicken". An exclusive recipe cooked to perfection...just for you. 15 pc. 7.99
8 pc. 4.25

D.Q. and Brazier Sale
Choose from: Single Burger 49¢ each
10" Super Brazier Dog
Small Sundae only 49¢ each
Sale Good thru Feb. 29

Hartford Rd. D.Q. and Speed Queen Laundry
HARTFORD ROAD OPEN 7 days
SPEED QUEEN COIN LAUNDRY 6am-11pm
32 Family size Washers 75¢ load
4 Super sized Washers 1.50 load
•Blankets •Sleeping Bags •Bulk Items
17 Dryers • 15 Minutes 25¢

OPINION

Can Jackson carry Alabama March 13?

ANNISTON, Ala. — If you ask the Rev. John S. Nettles if any of his parishioners at the Mount Olive Baptist Church have objected to his aggressive support of Jesse Jackson, a look of amazed incredulity passes over his face. "Are you kidding?" he asks.

Nettles, who heads the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Alabama, has been out front for Jackson from the beginning. When the Alabama Democratic Conference, the leading black political organization in the state, endorsed Walter Mondale at Mobile in December, Nettles was one of the most vociferous and militant dissenters.

He is, then, the prototype of the small army of black preachers and younger civil rights activists — he is 40 — who make up the heart of Jesse Jackson's support in the South. And what John Nettles sees in Jesse Jackson is not just an ally — "a member of the family," in his phrase — but the rallying point for a new level of political awareness and activity in the black community. "He's creating new dreams and aspirations in people who dared not to dream before," he says, "Jesse created a spark in the black church and black community that has not existed in years. I've never seen people so excited."

Jack Germond and Jules Witcover
Syndicated columnists

THIS POLITICAL electricity is not limited to preachers, of course. The leader of the Jackson movement in Georgia, for example, is a 38-year-old state legislator who once worked for SCLC, Tyrone Brooks. And he, too, sees in the response to Jackson's candidacy a new beginning for blacks. "This is a movement," Brooks says. "It's going to continue beyond 1984. It's the best movement we've had going since Dr. King's death."

There is, however, a striking difference in the way the Jackson phenomenon is viewed by the black leaders who are a few years older and have been advancing through the political system over the last 15 years. Many of them are — privately, at least — much less entranced with Jesse Jackson, to put it in the most polite terms. And they are convinced that black voters are going to see the March 13 primaries in Alabama and Georgia as practical opportunities to advance their position by supporting Walter F. Mondale.

MAYOR ANDREW Young of Atlanta, for instance, says in the most circumspetuous way: "Jesse makes a tremendous spiritual contribution to the self-image of black Americans — but not a substantive political contribution." Blacks who are, for example, city sanitation workers, says Young, "are going to vote their interests, not their short-term racial interests but their long-term economic interests." Joe Reed, the leader of the Alabama Democratic Conference, is another example. "It's the first time we've had to deal with a black candidate of this stature running against a white," he says, "but my people vote their heads rather than their hearts."

In each state, what the politicians see is the progress they have made. In Alabama, for example, blacks were elected to Democratic National Convention delegates for the first time in 1968 and there were only two of the 42 delegates were black. "There are two kinds of people who go to a convention," says Joe Reed, "those who sit on the inside and those protesting out in the streets."

THE IMMEDIATE question about the Jackson phenomenon is how it plays out in those March 13 primaries — that is, will Jackson draw away enough black votes to deny victory to Mondale? And, again, the views run to the extremes. Andy Young questions whether black preachers "have power on their own, apart from the traditional political structure." But John Nettles has visions of Jackson carrying Alabama. And Joe Reed says: "There's a quasi-crusade and anybody who underestimates Jackson's strength in the black community, they're making a serious mistake."

Just how this translates into numbers isn't clear. But it would be no surprise if Jackson polled 10 to 12 percent of the total in Georgia, and perhaps as much as 15 to 20 percent in Alabama — enough to make it difficult for Mondale if John Glenn is still competitive. And some political professionals believe those figures could go substantially higher.

The critical question, however, is how those blacks drawn into the process by Jackson react once it is clear he is not going to be the nominee. And that depends on Jackson himself. Joe Reed, for one, is optimistic: "Jesse will support the ticket and he will work for it," he says. "Public opinion will force him to do that. Ronald Reagan is hated so much in the black community, he would have to do that."

Jack Anderson
Washington
Merry-Go-Round

Egypt's rejoining the Arabs

WASHINGTON — Egypt is making progress in its efforts to return to the Arab fold, from which it was summarily banished after signing the Camp David accords with Israel. Recently, the Egyptians were admitted back into the Islamic Conference, and in the next few weeks it may be allowed to rejoin the Arab League.

All this diplomatic activity has a certain urgency for Egypt, which desperately wants to find friends among moderate Arab states as a means of protection against Moscow-backed radicals like Libya and Syria. An agrarian administration is quietly encouraging the Egyptians, in hopes that they will regain the leadership role it lost at Camp David and thwart the Kremlin's mischief-making in the Middle East.

The importance of the U.S. Egyptian diplomatic offensive is underscored by President Ronald Reagan's current visit to Washington for White House talks on the stalled Reagan peace initiative for the Middle East and Egypt's desire for a large increase in U.S. aid. It is the second time in six months that Mubarak has met here with President Reagan and his top advisers.

Continued behind-the-scenes administration support for Egypt is sure to be an important part of the White House talks. Meanwhile, classified cables seen by my associate Loretta Laguarda disclose both Egypt's courtship of its Arab neighbors and the administration's steps to further the reconciliation.

ONE CABLE, FOR EXAMPLE, reveals that Egypt has been signing a number of secret trade agreements with other Arab states in recent months. Some of Egypt's new trade partners were among her shrewdest critics during the boycott of Egypt that followed Camp David.

All this agreement with Iraq, Egypt has been sending the Israeli old Soviet weapons and spare parts for their war against Iran — as the United States ships more new weapons to Iraq. Now, Iraq and Egypt have signed a trade agreement.

Although the agreement amounts to only $35 million, its political significance is far greater. It sends a signal to the radical Arab states that Egypt and Iraq have come to terms. Already, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein has toned down his anti-Cairo invective.

Egypt also signed a similar trade agreement with Lebanon — economically paltry, but a political challenge by Egypt to the Syrians.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT document reveals that Egypt is negotiating a trade agreement with Jordan, which also feels threatened by the radical Arab states and the free-wheeling terrorists they support. The political importance of this trade agreement was acknowledged in discussions in Egypt between Peter McPherson, director of the Agency for International Development, and the Egyptian minister for economy and trade, Moustafa El Said, according to the cable.

The Egyptian cabinet minister made a point of stressing how important trade expansion with its Arab neighbors is to Egypt — and how important continued U.S. aid is as well.

UNDER THE DOME: Most political candidates welcome help from just about any quarter short of the Kremlin and the Ku Klux Klan. Not Rep. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

The conservative Senate candidate complained to the Federal Election Commission that "Americans for Phil Gramm '84" has misled contributors into thinking they were giving money to his official campaign committee. He asked permission to write to contributors and tell them they can ask for refunds if they feel they were misled.

Racing
One of the contestants in the 55th annual run of the World Championship Sled Dog Derby crosses Winnisquam Lake near Laconia, N.H., during the race Saturday. Douglas McRae of Rheinfelder, Wis., won the race with a time of 2 hours, 12 minutes and 25 seconds.

Whealon is stable after Friday surgery

HARTFORD (UPI) — Archbishop John F. Whealon continued resting in stable condition at St. Francis Hospital and Medical Center today after his second operation in 10 days for removal of malignant tumors, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Whealon, 63, underwent surgery Friday and spent about 24 hours in the intensive care unit before being moved to a private room to continue his recuperation, said Martha Johnson, the hospital's public information officer.

"He is alert and cheerful and appreciates very much all the interest. There have been many phone calls offering prayers and well wishes," she said.

A team of surgeons spent 3 1/2 hours removing a 2-inch tumor from Whealon's rectal muscle tissue Friday. It was his second operation in 10 days as doctors attempted to end the archbishop's six-year battle with cancer.

Dr. John DeMaio, chief surgeon of both operations, said Whealon had a "70 to 75 percent chance of total and complete recovery."

Doctors removed Whealon's anus and rectum and inserted a permanent colostomy on his abdominal wall, but DeMaio said Whealon "will be able to carry on his duty without any budget writer's way of listing money to be spent for interest on the state's debts, cash fringe benefits to employees, some grants to local governments and certain other miscellaneous expenditures.

I imagine they will be traveling to the Capitol to speak at public hearings and attend the committee meetings where the fate of most bills is decided.

Legislators are considering putting up a new office building in part because of a need for more space for public hearings, now confined to the cramped Capitol. They also may want to spend some money to provide a dictionary of legislative and parliamentary terms to the public.

Deep Purple
The rich color and brilliance of these genuine Amethyst rings make them a joy to behold and a wear. Unmatched beauty at affordable prices.

Heart-shaped stone set in curved mounting. $120.
Marquise-cut stone set in band with diamonds. $190.
Oval-cut stone surrounded by diamonds in classic cluster setting. $445.

All settings 14K yellow gold.

Michaels
Trustee Jewelers Since 1885
100 MAIN STREET
Manchester, Conn. 06102 Tel. 643-2471
American Express/Chase/Mail/Discover

33 arrested Saturday

NEW LONDON — The 33 nuclear protesters, resting during the commissioning of the nation's fourth Trident nuclear submarine, the USS Georgia, have been released after promising to appear in court March 1st.

Police estimated the number of demonstrators at the commissioning Saturday at 200, including a half-dozen pro-nuclear members of the Ku Klux Klan, but reported no injuries or serious incidents.

Police arrested 33 men and women outside the Naval Underwater Systems Center on disorderly conduct charges as they tried to stop buses carrying guests to commissioning ceremonies inside the center.

They were later released on a promise to appear in New London Superior Court March 1, police said Sunday.

Adm. James D. Watkins, chief of naval operations, addressed the invited guests, including Georgia state and congressional officials.

"Deterrence of war is the sole mission of our ballistic missile submarine force. This is also our Navy's highest priority program and a cornerstone of our national security policy... a highly mobile, undetectable security system," he said.

At the same time, protesters outside the heavily guarded facility sang "Old McGeorge had a farm — we are sitting down."

There are 44 archbishops in the United States. Whealon is the spiritual leader for an estimated $44,000 Catholics in the Hartford archdiocese.

In the outpouring of concern, Ms. Johnson said there has been no deluge of cards and flowers.

"I imagine they will begin with a vengeance Monday," she said. "He was 24 hours in intensive care and no flowers are permitted there."

Whealon's battle with cancer began six years ago when a tumor discovered during a routine physical examination was removed. A second malignant tumor was removed three years ago. Removal of a third and largest tumor required two operations within 10 days.

Connecticut In Brief

Deported man returned
HARTFORD — A Colombian man deported despite a pending appeal of his deportation was to be returned to the United States today on the order of a federal judge, his lawyer said.

U.S. District Judge Peter D. Dorsey Friday ordered immigration officials immediately to return Jose Humberto Ayala Palacios, 43, of Bridgeport to the United States.

Dorsey criticized the handling of the case by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Ayala, who entered the country on a 1974 tourist visa and remained after his expiration, was seized by INS agents last Monday at the Bridgeport factory where he worked.

O'Neill shows gains: poll
HARTFORD — A University of Connecticut poll has shown an increase in Gov. William O'Neill's popularity among state residents, but a majority still consider his job performance fair or poor.

Fifty-five percent of those responding rated O'Neill's job performance fair or poor, down slightly from 58 percent in a similar poll a year ago. Another 40 percent said the governor was doing an excellent or good job, up from 30 percent a year ago.

The findings were based on the responses of 500 adults selected at random and interviewed by telephone between Jan. 25 and 31. The poll has a margin of error of plus or minus 5 percentage points.

Schlesinger seeks nomination
ANSONIA — Rep. Alan Schlesinger, R-Derby, has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from Connecticut's 5th District.

Schlesinger, in his fourth year of representing Orange, Derby and West Haven in the Connecticut Legislature, said Saturday he hopes to challenge incumbent Rep. William Rutherford, D-Conn., who is seeking a fourth term.

Two other Republicans, Fred Miller of Redding and Rep. John Rowland, R-Waterbury, are also seeking the nomination. But Schlesinger said he is "confident the nomination is secure" and that he can avoid a primary.

Troopers want investigation
HARTFORD — Minority state troopers have asked for federal aid and interviewed by the Department of Public Safety, which is under court order to boost minority hiring.

Charles Levy, a black state police sergeant and president of Men and Women for Justice Inc., said harassment of black and Hispanic troopers has reached a "new and dangerous high" with live minority officers above the rank of trooper the main targets.

Levy said he has found half-eaten chocolate doughnuts in his state police mailbox, had the title of sergeant stripped from his name tag and had uniforms returned from the Department of Public Safety's laundry service with the stripes removed.

"The department is rotten. It's not being run fairly," Levy said. The minority trooper organization will ask for investigations by the U.S. Justice Department and Connecticut Legislature, he said.

An editorial

Soviet alliances important factor

Congress, in providing for the common defense, appropriated $26.3 billion in taxpayer funds, making it the largest-ever peacetime defense budget.

In focusing on relative strengths of the contestants, the simplistic approach is to look at hard numbers of inventories: so many missiles, troop forces or ships. While these numbers are important for comparison of parity or superiority, there is another ingredient that must be considered if we are to assess the Soviet capability.

The additional factor is that of Soviet alliances. These purchased friendships provide the Soviet nation with both land mass and commodities of strategic importance. It is important to identify and counter these influences for they realistically affect the size of the U.S. defense budget.

The most obvious alliance is the Warsaw Pact, which has its headquarters in Moscow. To counter this, the U.S. has engaged in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Looking at the Soviet alliances and their effect on the U.S. military budget, we must also consider the 10 "friendship treaties" Russia has with the Middle East, North Africa and Southeast Asia nations. Alliances such as these are often in the form of low-cost loans which may

Open forum / Readers' views

Send letters to: The Manchester Herald, Herald Square, Manchester, CT 06040

Memories

I just want my man!
I happened to have been born in Brooklyn and still have my accent. Since that long ago time, I was widowed and now remarried and living in Bolton.

Recently Adele Angle wrote a column about saving green stamps for a shower curtain. It reminded me of the long ago and far away time when the Second Congregational Church in Manchester gave a Couples Club Variety Show.

I did a number about green stamps which were all the rage at that time, about 23 years ago. I did it to the tune of the Yellow Rose of Texas, but changed the words.

I'm the yellow rose of Brooklyn But my guy is kinda blue He's way back there in Brooklyn And he's really in a stew.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

This yellow rose of Brooklyn Is lonesome for her guy What good are all the stamps in town If all this is cry? So come on here and hold me tight Hurry, time's a wastin' Tear up all those goofy stamps They ain't worth this separation.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Where the Hudson River's flowing He's lonely as can be My heart is sad in knowing He wants the stamps, not me — I yearn for the days of long ago When guys were at a college. They loved you for yourself alone And not for the stamps in your book.

Woodland Gardens
"Your Complete Garden Center"
VALENTINE PLANTS
Carnations (Large Pot) $7.95
Clematis (Large) $7.95
Gardenias (Large) $7.95

HOUSE PLANTS—GIFTS
FOLIAGE PLANTS
Fantastic Selection

African Violets (large) 3.45
Primrose (in bloom) 2.59
Geraniums (in bloom) 1.59

CUT FLOWERS!
★ ROSES — $2.29
— ALSO — ★ Carnations, Chrysanthemums, Blue Iris etc.
★ GIFT ARRANGEMENTS — $4.99

FREE! LECTURE FREE!
TUES., FEB. 14th., 7-9:30 p.m.
"Home Landscaping; Guidance in Design, Planting & Care"
168 Woodland St. • Open 8-6 p.m.
643-8414 • Free Coffee

Special arrangements with the White Sewing Machine Company enable Jo-Ann Fabrics to offer a LIMITED QUANTITY of deluxe free-arm #445 sewing machines at fantastic savings. Exclusively at Jo-Ann Fabrics, these machines are NEW in factory cartons, sew on all fabrics from SILK to DENIM to LEATHER, feature 10 stitch patterns including stretch stitches and a built-in buttonholer. Available for one week only at 40% OFF regular price — SAVE $160.

NOW $239.99 Regularly $399.99
5% additional discount for cash sales

JO-ANN FABRICS
*340 Broad St., Manchester
Manchester Parkade 642-9424
MON.-FRI., 10-9, SAT., 10-8, SUN., 12-5
©Copyright 1984, Fetti-Carroll & Associates, Inc.

Obituaries

James V. Prindiville
James V. Prindiville of West Hartford died Friday at St. Francis Hospital and Medical Center, Hartford. He was the father of Dr. David Prindiville of Manchester.
Besides his son, he is survived by his wife, Mildred Marsden Prindiville, two other sons, James V. Prindiville Jr. of Winterhaven, Fla., and Robert F. Prindiville of Unionville, a daughter, Sally P. Jeddian of West Hartford; a brother, Edward Prindiville of New London; a sister, Mildred Armitage of Palm Desert, Calif.; and 10 grandchildren.
The funeral will be Tuesday from the Richard W. Sheehan Funeral Home, 1044 New Britain Ave., West Hartford, with a mass of Christian burial at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Hartford. Burial will be in Mount St. Benedict Cemetery, Bloomfield. Calling hours are today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Memorial donations may be made to the scholarship fund of Our Lady of Sorrows School, 39 Graves St., Hartford, in care of Sister Patricia Dore.

Zita (O'Reilly) Page
Zita (O'Reilly) Page, 71, of 56 Cedar Swamp Road, Tolland, died today at her home. She was the widow of Thomas M. Page Sr.
She was born in Ontario, Canada, and had been a resident of the Tolland area since 1947. Before her retirement in 1972, she was employed for 20 years by the LaPointe Industries Inc. in Rockville.
She is survived by two sons, Richard Page of Tolland and Thomas M. Page of Barré, Vt.; two daughters, Jane McCarty of Tolland and Catherine Westworth of West Hartford; three sisters, Mary O'Reilly of East Windsor, Margaret McNeil of Marlborough, N.Y., and Agnes Sables of Manchester; and eight grandchildren.
The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Burke-Fortin Funeral Home, 76 Prospect St., Rockville. Mass will be at 11 a.m. at St. Matthew's Rectory in Tolland. Calling hours are Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Burial will be at St. Bernard's Cemetery in Rockville.

Memorial contributions may be made to the North Central Hospice, 210 Vernon, Conn., 06066.

Ely Moskowitz
Ely Moskowitz, 85, father of Mrs. Robert Karns of 61 Plymouth Lane, Manchester, died Friday at Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, Pa.
A resident of Shamokin, Pa., Mr. Moskowitz was religious editor of the News-Tem, Shamokin, at the time of his death, a position he assumed in his retirement. Before that, he had been a businessman and religious leader.

He leaves two sons, two daughters, 14 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.
Memorial week will be observed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Karns beginning Tuesday. Memorial contributions can be made to Hadassah, care of Mrs. Lillian Sanders, 40 Steep Hollow Lane, Manchester.

Patrick J. Tremarco
Patrick J. Tremarco, 68, of 719 E. Middle Turnpike, died Friday at home. He was the husband of Margaret Coibauer Tremarco.
He was born April 15, 1915, in Yonkers, N.Y., and had been a resident of Manchester for the last 40 years. Before his retirement in 1962, he was with the Hansen and Whitney Co. of Hartford for 39 years.

He was a member of the Manchester Army and Navy Club, and was an avid golfer and bowler. In 1961 he won the Manchester 10-Pin Bowling Tournament.
Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Danton C. Tremarco of Manchester; a daughter, Rose Marie Fowler of Coventry; five brothers, Anthony Trimarco, Gerardo Trimarco, Philip Trimarco and Joseph Trimarco, all of Yonkers, N.Y.; and Alphonse Trimarco of Benton Harbor, Mich.; a sister, Mary Greene of Yonkers, N.Y.; three grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews.

The funeral was this morning at the Watkins Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St., with a mass of resurrection at St. Mary's Church in Coventry. Burial will be in New Cemetery, Coventry. Memorial donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 237 E. Center St., or to Visiting Nurse and Home Care of Manchester Inc., 150 N. Main St.

Edward W. Breen
Edward W. Breen, 67, of 125 Cliffside Drive, died Saturday while on a cruise on the Gulf of Mexico. He was the husband of June Schuetz Breen.
He was born in Rockville and lived in Manchester most of his life. Before retiring, he was employed as director of purchasing for the Arrow Hair Co.

Both teenagers, under age 16, will be referred to juvenile authorities on charges of first-degree larceny.
At 9:25 p.m. Sunday, the shell station was held up again, this time by a short, thin black man with a thin mustache, according to police accounts. The man told attendants he had a weapon but he never showed it, they told police. He escaped with his share of the day's receipts on foot toward Parker Street, police said.
Police would not disclose the total amount of money taken.

Government looms large
Government looms large in the English-speaking world. In the United States, government employs one out of six workers and controls around 37 percent of total spending. In the United Kingdom, it controls nearly 60 percent of expenditures.

The 50-star U.S. flag was raised officially for the first time on July 4, 1960.

He was a World War II Army veteran and a member of the Elks Lodge of East Hartford.
Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Patricia Henghan of New Milford and Heidi Schuetz of Orleans, Mass.; a son, Richard Schuetz of Ann Arbor, Mich.; a brother, Francis Breen of Sarasota, Fla.; a sister, Mabel Loomis of Manchester; and a granddaughter.
The funeral will be Tuesday at 10:15 a.m. at the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., followed by a mass of resurrection at 11 a.m. at St. Bartholomew's Church. Burial will be in East Cemetery. Calling hours are today from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association, 310 Collins St., Hartford.

Thomas Quinn
Thomas Quinn, 85, of 141 Hackmatack St., died Saturday at Rocky Hill Veterans Hospital. He was the husband of Mary A. Peak Quinn.
He was born in Scotland and lived in Manchester the past five years. Before retiring in 1979, he was employed as maintenance manager at the Connecticut Mutual Co. in Hartford. He was a British World War I veteran and a member of the Edith Cavell Command, War Vets, Hartford.

Besides his wife he is survived by a son, Thomas Quinn of Manchester; a daughter, Mary Marion of Middle-town; three brothers, John Quinn in Australia, James Quinn in England and Edward Quinn in Florida; two sisters, Hannah Craig in Australia and Mary Gannon in East Hartford; six grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., followed by a mass of resurrection at the Church of the Assumption at 10 a.m. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery. Calling hours are in St. James Cemetery. Calling hours are today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

William J. Hamill
William J. Hamill, 90, of 692 Prospect St., Westfield, died Saturday at Newtoning Veterans Home and Hospital. He was a former Manchester resident.
He is survived by a sister, Lillian Irwin of Manchester, and two nieces.
The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 p.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester. Burial will be in East Cemetery. Calling hours are from 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to North United Methodist Church, 300 Parker St., Manchester.

Arnold Pine Clarke
Arnold Pine Clarke, 66, of 127 Notch Road, died Sunday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. He was the husband of Esther Wells Clarke.
He was born in Manchester July 6, 1917, the son of the late Arthur and Ethel Arnold Clarke. He lived in Manchester most of his life before moving to Bolton 26 years ago. Before retiring he was employed by Rogers Corp. in Manchester for 42 years.

He is survived by a son, Arthur Clarke of Manchester; two daughters, Linda M. Duplin of Manchester and Prudence A. Clarke at home, and two grandchildren.
The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Watkins Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St. Burial will be in Grove Street Cemetery, Putnam. Calling hours are Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to the Cornerstone Christian School in Manchester or the Diabetes Foundation.

Norris A. Tarbell
COVENTRY - Norris A. Tarbell, 68, of 79 Lakewood Drive, died Saturday at home. He was the husband of Ellen Peckham Tarbell.
He was born in Meddybemps, Maine, Oct. 19, 1915, and had been a resident of Coventry for 40 years. He was a U.S. Marine veteran of World War II. Before retiring he was employed as a precision tool maker and grinder with Colt Industries in West Hartford for 30 years. He was a member of the American Legion of Coventry.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Harold E. Tarbell of Manchester and Alvin R. Tarbell of Rocky Hill; two daughters, Patricia T. Stars of North Haven and Noreen E. Tarbell at home; a brother, Franklin Tarbell of Richmond, Maine; a half-sister, Jean Taylor of Calais, Maine; and three grandchildren.
The funeral will be Tuesday at 11 a.m. from Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St. Burial will be in Calais Cemetery, Calais, Maine. Calling hours are tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. Memorial donations may be made to the American Heart Association.

Atlas in the fog
In today's early-morning fog, passing motorists could barely see Atlas shouldering his globe outside the American Health Fitness Center on West Middle Turnpike.

Atlas in the fog
In today's early-morning fog, passing motorists could barely see Atlas shouldering his globe outside the American Health Fitness Center on West Middle Turnpike.

Bush sees opportunity for thaw in relations

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) - Vice President George Bush said today he saw an opportunity for easing East-West tensions in the death of Soviet leader Yuri Andropov but "it's got to be a two-way street."

"We do think it takes two to thaw," Bush told a news conference at the end of a one-day visit to Luxembourg before heading to Moscow for Andropov's funeral Tuesday. "I will say we go in peace. We recognizing this may be an opportunity for the amelioration of tensions."

"The United States and certainly all our allies want to see a reduction in tension. We also want to see progress on arms reduction," said Bush, who earlier visited the tomb of World War II hero Gen. George Patton.

Asked whether he would specifically suggest a meeting with the new Soviet leader, Bush said, "Our position has been, and the president reiterated in a speech on Saturday, a willingness to meet and the need for dialogue."

"It certainly takes movement on their part. In terms of arms reduction we feel the United States and the Europeans have been flexible."

Heavy clouds foil attempt to look inside St. Helens

SCIENTISTS say they need a firsthand look at the crater of Mount St. Helens before they attempt to determine what's happening inside the volcano.
A spokesperson with the U.S. Geological Survey said Sunday evening that heavy rain prevented scientists from flying over the crater Sunday. They hoped for better weather today.
Three scientists landed outside the crater Friday, a mile from the dome. They observed the dome for only three minutes before clouds shrouded the volcano, said USGS spokesman Steve Branley.
They believed they had spotted a new lava flow in the crater but clouds prevented them from getting close enough to examine the dome.
Since Thursday, seismic instruments have shown a steady cascade of rocks tumbling from the dome, suggesting magma from deep in the earth was breaking the surface and pushing rocks down the side.
The restricted area around Mount St. Helens has been reopened and scientists said Sunday they believe the chance of an explosive eruption at the volcano at Washington volcano has diminished.
The apparent emergence of fresh lava in the crater of the volcano has relieved pressure beneath the mountain, said Chris Trisler, a seismic analyst for the University of Washington geophysics department.
Earthquakes beneath the peak have declined.
However, scientists won't be able to predict what the mountain may do next until they get a closer look at the 80-story lava dome inside the crater, he said.

Change asked on naming prosecutors

HARTFORD (UPI) - The Citizens Crime Commission today issued a report calling for significant changes in the state's prosecutorial system, including how prosecutors are appointed.
The commission, a private organization, urged the state to pass a constitutional amendment creating a non-partisan commission to appoint state prosecutors, removing the authority from the state judiciary.
The report recommended the appointing commission be composed of nine members, with three appointed by the Chief Justice, three by the governor and three by the Legislature.
While an amendment to create such a commission is pending, the report said, an advisory panel with the same composition should be created to establish job-related employment standards and criteria to guide the selection of prosecutors and called for a comprehensive study of the organization and management of the state Division of Criminal Justice by an independent entity.
"There is an ongoing consensus, among legislators, judges defense lawyers and many prosecutors themselves, that the system needs reform," said Richard Blumenthal, chairman of the commission and former U.S. attorney for Connecticut.
Commissioners are the only state in the country which judges select prosecutors, and play so large a role in administering the prosecutorial system," he said.
The report said the recommended measures would enhance the accountability of prosecutors to the public, augment judicial impartiality in both appearance and reality, use the time and to judge more wisely and to increase the effectiveness of the prosecutorial function throughout the state.
The report was based on extensive research and interviews by the commission's staff.
"At a time when crime is such a critical public issue, we need to make our prosecutors more accountable and responsive to the public," Blumenthal said.
"We must eliminate any possibility of undue judicial influence over prosecutors in order to sustain public confidence in the system. We are fortunate to have so many prosecutors of talent and integrity, but the system can be made even more effective by the reforms we recommend today," he said.

Judge says Powers can sue

HARTFORD (UPI) - A federal appeals court has given former state transportation Commissioner Arthur B. Powers another chance to sue prosecutors who handled the corruption case against him.
The decision by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York will allow Powers to pursue allegations prosecutors jeopardized his right to fair trial by using evidence from a secret grand jury to the news media.
Powers was charged with accepting a $1,000 bribe and interfering with a grand jury investigation.
In a plea bargain last April, he pleaded guilty to two counts of hindering prosecution and received a two-year suspended sentence, three years probation and a $1,500 fine. He was ordered to perform 1,270 hours of community service.
Powers filed a civil suit one day before he pleaded guilty, seeking unspecified damages for alleged prosecutorial "misconduct and/or indefiniteness" by Chief State's Attorney Austin McGuigan and the state's chief trial attorney Glenn Coe.
He charged the prosecutors with illegal wiretapping, a breach of a promise of immunity, entrapment, abuse of the grand jury process, failure to grant an evidentiary hearing in state court and improperly leaking information to the press.
U.S. District Judge T.F. Gilroy Daly dismissed the suit, saying there was no basis in law for the action. But the federal appeals court overturned Daly's ruling on one count and referred it back to the lower court for a review.
The appeals court said improper leaking of information constitutes grounds for a suit, even though the accusation is "implausible and unlikely" in this case.
David S. Gohb of Stamford, McGuigan's attorney, said "This is a technical claim here, but as a practitioner, it's impossible for him (Powers) to litigate the matter in a very clear that, as a practical matter, the case is over."

First woman candidate

The first woman presidential candidate proposed at a major political party convention was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine. She was nominated by Sen. George Aiken of Vermont at the 1964 Republican National Convention in San Francisco, Calif.

WANTED LOSE OVERWEIGHT MEN & WOMEN 20, 30, 50, EVEN 100 POUNDS

NO PREPACKAGED FOODS, NO DRUGS, NO GUESSWORK - IT'S FAST, SAFE, SENSIBLE FOR MEN, WOMEN, & TEENAGERS - COUNSEL

Get in shape for your Valentine!
1st week FREE!
No contract to sign!
1st week FREE Diet Pills!
Consultation!
1st week FREE Weigh-ins!
1st week FREE Daily Diet Plans!
Call for your appointment today!
Bring this coupon - not good with any other offer.

375 Vernon Lake, Vernon, CT 06091
(Formerly Vernon Elem. School)
CALL 872-1382
Mon. - Fri. 9 am to 6 pm

SPORTS

Hartford's Risto Siltanen (left) and Edmontonton's Glenn Anderson get sticks tangled as they battled for the puck Sunday on Civic Center ice.

Records snattered as Whalers rout Oilers

HARTFORD - So what else is new? The Edmonton Oilers came to town Sunday afternoon and several scoring records were set. What's new is that it was the Hartford Whalers who did all the scoring.

The Oilers, whose performance this season has been reminiscent of Sherman's behavior on his March to the Sea, met their Waterloo on the Hartford Coliseum ice. The Whalers scored in every conceivable fashion, including four times in one five-minute power play opportunity in the second period, to defeat the Oilers, 11-0.

The Whalers began to do things right - and the Oilers wrong - right from the opening lacing. Oiler defenseman Paul Coffey interfered with Francis in front of without NHL god Wayne Gretzky and linemate Jari Kurri, the Oilers have lost in succession to Washington, the Islanders, Philadelphia Boston and the Whalers. For the five-game trip, the Oilers were outscored 33-9.

Hartford's Ray Neufeld (17) was in the slot area to tip home a drive for the Whalers' sixth goal of the game against Edmontonton. Oiler goalie Grant Fuhr (right) had no chance at stopping Neufeld's tip from in close.

All of a sudden, everything went right," said Francis, who had his highest scoring day since joining the team. "Everything went right. Last night (Saturday), everything went wrong."

Francis' coach, Jack Evans, had similar feelings. "I'm at a total loss to explain this," he said. "They did everything right tonight in preparation to last night when they were everything wrong."

The Whalers began to do things right - and the Oilers wrong - right from the opening lacing. Oiler defenseman Paul Coffey interfered with Francis in front of

Philly rolls to easy win

Philadelphia may be trailing Boston by 6½ games in the Atlantic Division, but the 76ers decided it was time to give the Celtics their comeuppance.

The Sixers rolled to a 109-91 victory Sunday to snap a five-game losing streak, handing the host Celtics their second loss in 14 games.

"We did a good job on defense," said Philadelphia coach Billy Cunningham, who credited his team for its best game in a month. "The only place they hurt us was on the offensive boards. We're pleased, obviously, with winning the game but we can't have any false hopes about turning it on anytime we want to."

Philadelphia, which has defeated the Celtics in three of their five meetings this season, took charge in the third period when Boston hit only 5-of-24 field goal attempts and was limited to 12 points.

"Cleveland could have beaten us today," said the Celtics' Robert Parish, referring to the 18-31 Cavaliers. "But you've got to take the bitter with the sweet. Now we just have to get ready for the next game and we've got to start shooting the ball!"

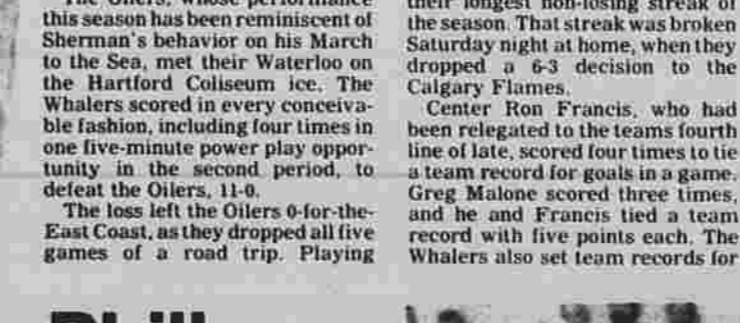

The injury-riddled 76ers did play without All-Star center Moses Malone and sixth man Bobby Jones. Celtics coach K.C. Jones noted Boston also had trouble the last time it played Philadelphia without Malone.

"Maybe their strategy against us is not to play Moses," he said. "In the second half I was just trying to get some scoring going with the lineup changes. We had everything going bad for us at the same time. The shooting has got to be the worst spot. We missed very often."

Julius Erving led the 76ers with 30 points. Andrew Toney had 21 and Sam Williams had 17. Larry Bird led the Celtics with 25 points. Kevin McHale added 22 and Robert Parish 18.

In other games, New Jersey edged Houston 107-103, Milwaukee downed San Diego 107-100 in overtime. Los Angeles routed Atlanta 108-87 and Utah defeated Portland 114-112.

Sixers' Julius Erving (6) flies high over Boston's Larry Bird (33) and Robert Parish as he heads for the hoop in NBA action Sunday at Boston Garden.

Sixers' Julius Erving (6) flies high over Boston's Larry Bird (33) and Robert Parish as he heads for the hoop in NBA action Sunday at Boston Garden.

Cheney wins COC title

HEBRON - Second the past two years, Cheney Tech walked away with all the marbles at Saturday's third annual Walker Oak Conference Wrestling Championships with a team total of 157½ points.

Portland High was second with 132 points followed by host RHAM 126, Rocky Hill 85, Bacon Academy 83 and East Hampton 71½.

Cheney's John Paradis, who won the 129-pound class, was the meet's outstanding wrestler. Cheney won six of the seven classes with Curt Archambault (80), Peter Albert (101), Steve

Fortunes hit low point for UConn hoop squad

HARTFORD - Fortunes of the UConn basketball team are so low, an snake could slip under them.

"Last year was bad," Husky coach Dom Perno spoke of a poor stretch that saw his club drop seven straight, "but right now it's the worst. It's like getting to the top and saying 'hang on, hang on, hang on'."

It almost safe to say Kelley will miss some more games. UConn is slated to return to action Wednesday night at Seton Hall.

The Huskies, 11-10 overall, were still within striking distance of the Redmen at 42-46 with 15:37 left after consecutive hoops by Vernon Giscombe, Tim Coles and Al Frederick.

This is, however, where they self-destructed.

UConn in its next six possessions turned the ball over four times, twice on offensive charges and once on a Chris Mullin steal, and missed two field goal tries. This was in a 37-35 span. And in this span, St. John's, breaking a four-game losing streak of its own, ran off nine unanswered points to sprint to a 56-46 lead with 12:00 remaining.

Mullin, the splendid 6-6 junior out of Brooklyn who'll be in the NBA when he decides to turn pro, led the way. He had five points, a pretty assist and a steal in the sport and all but put the Huskies away by himself. Mullin finished with a career-high 30 points along with four assists, five rebounds, two steals, one blocked shot and zero turnovers in 40 minutes of play. He was 13-for-21 from the floor and was in total control. It looked like the sharp-shooter would never miss. "I feel I'll have a good shot. I should make it," said the soft-spoken New Yorker. And when he misses? "I just look forward to the next shot," he responded.

"He makes you a smart coach," grinned St. John's coach Lou Carnesecca, said Carnesecca with the win became St. John's winningest coach with victory No. 325. He surpassed the legendary Joe Lapchick, his tutor.

Maybe the game's biggest play came with the Huskies trailing 49-56. A steal opened the door for UConn to possibly take the

St. John's (89) - Mullin 13-21, 44-20, Allen 5-7, 34-15, Wenning 9-13, 23-23, Jackson 4-6, 5-7, 13, More 1-3, 10-12, Glass 1-1, 4-6, Stewart 1-2, 0-2, Feigenbaum 0-1, 0-0, Antonelli 0-0, 0, Totals 27-49, 30-84.

UConn (65) - Broxton 23-0-4, Williams 4-7, 4-4, Coles 2-7, 1-5, Kelly 3-6, 7-12, Hobbs 2-7, 2-2, Giscombe 8-14, 0-16, Frederic 3-4, 13-7, Blucher 1-1, 3-3, Henry 0-10-0, Besselink 0-1-0, Thier 0-10-0, Totals 25-54, 15-23, 45.

stopped 28 shots for his second shutout of the season and the first against the Oilers in nearly three years. "I got lucky a couple of times, and we just won the game," Mullin said. "Every team has a bad during the season, and we caught them at a good time right now." The absence of Gretzky certainly helped. "We all know how great a player and competitor Wayne is," Mullin said. "He's a big part of our team. He'll be a big part of any hockey team." "That second period, I was enjoying it so much I didn't want it to end," Evans said. In the third period, Francis and Malone got their final scores, and Bob Crawford got the Whalers' sixth goal. "The explosion raised Malone's goals to 14 and Francis' to 20. Edmonton center Kevin McClellan was sent off for five minutes for flagrant elbowing Turgeon. The Hartford rookie was unconscious for a time, and Evans said later he had a mild concussion and a sore jaw. As soon as Turgeon left the ice, McClellan managed to feel the pain. The Whalers scored four times during the major penalty, with Malone, Ray Neufeld, Francis and Chris Kotsopoulos getting the goals.

Turgeon tipped home the pass to make it 3-0.

Turgeon also figured in the play which led to the beginning of the rout in the second period. Malone scored on a power play a minute-and-a-half into the period and then, at the 8:29 mark, Edmonton center Kevin McClellan was sent off for five minutes for flagrant elbowing Turgeon. The Hartford rookie was unconscious for a time, and Evans said later he had a mild concussion and a sore jaw. As soon as Turgeon left the ice, McClellan managed to feel the pain.

WHALER NOTES - Ed Hedorar sat out the game with a knee injury. Right wing Tony Kurie assisted on four of Hartford's goals. The Whalers, who trail Montreal by 11 points for the final playoff spot in the Adams Division, will play the Canadiens at home Tuesday.

WHALER NOTES - Ed Hedorar sat out the game with a knee injury. Right wing Tony Kurie assisted on four of Hartford's goals. The Whalers, who trail Montreal by 11 points for the final playoff spot in the Adams Division, will play the Canadiens at home Tuesday.

Shell station robbed

Continued from page 1

The driver of the car escaped, but police said they know who he is. Both teenagers, under age 16, will be referred to juvenile authorities on charges of first-degree larceny.

At 9:25 p.m. Sunday, the shell station was held up again, this time by a short, thin black man with a thin mustache, according to police accounts. The man told attendants he had a weapon but he never showed it, they told police. He escaped with his share of the day's receipts on foot toward Parker Street, police said.

Police would not disclose the total amount of money taken.

Government looms large

Government looms large in the English-speaking world. In the United States, government employs one out of six workers and controls around 37 percent of total spending. In the United Kingdom, it controls nearly 60 percent of expenditures.

The 50-star U.S. flag was raised officially for the first time on July 4, 1960.

SPECIAL DINNERS FOR TWO (Mon-Wed Only)

- Veal Parmigiana $10.95
- Baked Bay Scallops $9.95
- Ribeye Steak $12.95

Includes soup, salad, glass beer or wine, potato, vegetable or pasta and bread.

*Special - Large Pizza w/2 items and pitcher Beer $7.95.

La Strada West
471 Hartford Rd. 643-6185

---

DON'T FORGET THAT SPECIAL PERSON IN YOUR LIFE ON VALENTINE'S DAY!

COME IN AND CHOOSE FROM OUR ASSORTMENT OF AZALEAS, CYCLAMEN, BURNING BUSHES, PRIMROSES AND WIDE SELECTION OF HOUSE PLANTS

WHITHAM NURSERY
ROUTE 8 BOLTON 643-7602

Open Daily & Sun. 9 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

"Excellence for 20 years"

WANTED LOSE OVERWEIGHT MEN & WOMEN 20, 30, 50, EVEN 100 POUNDS

NO PREPACKAGED FOODS, NO DRUGS, NO GUESSWORK - IT'S FAST, SAFE, SENSIBLE FOR MEN, WOMEN, & TEENAGERS - COUNSEL

Get in shape for your Valentine!
1st week FREE!
No contract to sign!
1st week FREE Diet Pills!
Consultation!
1st week FREE Weigh-ins!
1st week FREE Daily Diet Plans!
Call for your appointment today!
Bring this coupon - not good with any other offer.

375 Vernon Lake, Vernon, CT 06091
(Formerly Vernon Elem. School)
CALL 872-1382
Mon. - Fri. 9 am to 6 pm

U.S. women 1-2 in giant slalom

By Mike Tully
UPI Sports Writer

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia — Debbie Armstrong and Christine Carruthers survived hair-raising second runs down Jahorina today, giving the United States a thundering success in the opening of the Olympic Alpine competition with gold and silver medals in the women's giant slalom.

It was the best finish ever for United States skiers in Olympic competition and the Americans narrowly missed a clean sweep as Tamara McKinney of Squaw Valley, Calif., finished fourth, just 44-100ths of a second behind Perrine Peleu of France, who won the bronze.

The shocking upset opened the weather-scattered alpine program in spectacular style and came just hours after Kitty and Peter Carruthers ignited the United States' Olympic turnaround Sunday night with a silver medal in the pairs figure skating competition. The Americans had not won a medal in the first six days of the Olympics, which covered 13 events.

Scott Hamilton, the world champion who is favored to take the men's gold medal in figure skating, took the lead in the compulsory today through three figures. Since his strength in free skating, the Denver resident appears right on target for an expected gold medal.

In addition, Judy Blumberg and Michael Seibert sit in bronze position through the original set-pattern of the ice dance, setting up a Valentine's Day date with another medal possibility.

The victory for Armstrong marked the biggest upset of the Games. Armstrong, a 28-year-old slalom specialist from Seattle, was rated no higher than third among the American giant slalom specialists. Second behind Cooper after the first run, Armstrong disintegrated and attacked the course on her second trip, finishing in a total time of 2:20.98 to give the United States its first gold medal of the Games.

Cooper followed immediately afterward and held together through a near fall early in the course to win the silver at 2:21.38. The delighted American women embraced each other at the bottom of the hill for nearly 30 seconds after becoming the first two Americans to win a medal in the same alpine race.

Armstrong, in only her second year on the national team, was the best United States downhill in 1983, placing 16th in the World Cup standings. She was 33rd in the overall World Cup last year and is 22nd this year.

But Armstrong, now the most famous American with that name since Neil walked on the moon, hinted she could be in peak form by placing fifth in the giant slalom at St. Gervais, France, Jan. 29, the last race prior to the Olympics. Cooper was second in that race 8-10ths of a second behind Erika

Hess. Armstrong was runner-up to McKinney in the U.S. National giant slalom at Copper Mountain, Colo., after recovering from a broken leg in 1982.

Cooper enjoyed a sensational campaign in 1982 when she placed third in the overall World Cup standings. At the time, the best finish ever by an American woman. She also captured three medals at the World Championships, another high mark by the United States.

However, a broken bone in her leg cut short her 1983 season by two months, but she still managed to finish 12th overall in the World Cup and 12th in the giant slalom.

Known as "Super Coop" by her teammates, the 5-foot-6, 125-pounder also competed in the 1980 Olympics, finishing seventh in the 1-2-3 giant slalom and eighth in the slalom.

The first run of the first alpine event she staged here was a disaster for the favorites, apart from Cooper. Hess, the World Cup leader, finishing seventh in the slalom first run wiped out her medal chances.

On Sunday night, the Carruthers put on a strong free skating performance to bring the United States its first medal after failure in 13 previous events. Elena Valova and Oleg Vasilev of the Soviet Union won the gold medal in the pairs and two other Soviet skaters, Larissa Selezneva and Oleg Makarov, took the bronze.

"I've never been happier in my life," said Kitty. "I knew even before it started, when I looked at Peter, it was going to be magic. It's the best we've ever skated. It's what we've worked for all our lives."

"It was like a clean runthrough, only more exciting," added Peter, who was asked if he felt the electricity created by the performance. "Feel it. I almost got electrocuted."

Earlier today, Karin Enke and Andrea Schoene of East Germany and Natalia Petrusova of the Soviet Union repeated their 1-2-3 finish in the women's 1,500-meter speedskating Thursday by finishing in the same order in the 1,000 meters today. Enke now has two golds and one silver medal in the three women's events run thus far. Gunder Svane of Sweden won the 15-kilometer cross country, followed by two Finns, Aki Karvonen and Harri Kivimäki. Bill put on a strong free skating performance to bring the United States its first medal after failure in 13 previous events.

But the Eagles couldn't withstand South's final surge and absorbed the seven-point loss.

Lance Hornik led 13 points to pace the Rebels. Carolyn DeSignore led all scorers for East with 19 points. Chris Raffin had 11 rebounds while Liz Palmer had five steals for the Eagles. Sue Wallace and Christy Bearse played well defensively for East along with Cathy Burke and Deb Sulzinski.

SOUTH CATHOLIC (45) — Chi-murr 3 1-1 7, Hornik 4 5-8 13, Intergli 2 2-4 0, Howley 2 2-2 6, Smith 1 2-4 0, Hood 1 0-2, Reilly 1 5-7 1, Ferruccio 0 2-2 1. Totals 14 17-24 45.

EAST CATHOLIC (38) — Barter 3 0-6 6, Burke 1 0-2 2, Wallace 2 1-2 5, Raffin 0 2-2 2, DeSignore 5 3-4 19, Palmer 2 0-1 3, Sulzinski 0 0-0 0. Totals 16 6-9 38.

Indoor Track
MHS unbeaten
The Manchester High indoor track team defeated three opponents in a home meet Saturday night. The team scored 100 points, while the visitors scored 100 points. Manchester 78, St. Paul 51, Rockville 25 and Penney 21. The win improved Manchester's dual meet record to 9-0.

First-place finishers for Manchester included Eli McPolley in the 55-meter dash and 300-meter run, Vinnie Liscomb in the 1000-meter run, John Comeau in the 1500 meters and Mike Barry in the 3000 meters. Manchester's relay team of McPolley, Liscomb, Ken Parrott and Al O'Neil also finished first.

O'Neil was second in the 500 meters. Paul Toland was second at 3000 meters, John Griffin was runner-up in the high jump and Ed Lynch was second at 800 meters.

Griffin, Toland, Parrott, Mike Patalak and Debie Brock were third-place finishers for the Indians.

Liscomb and Lynch will compete in an All-Star meet Tuesday night at Southern Connecticut State University.

Manchester's girls' team competed in a developmental meet against Penney and St. Paul. No score was kept.

Rochelle Parrott, Lisa Bonemant and Becky Costanga were winners for Manchester at 300, 500, and 800 meters respectively.

Second-place finishes were turned in by Sara Berte in the 300 meters, Tami Ross in the 500 meters, Erin Sullivan at 1000 meters and Cheri Kinklestein in the 55-meter dash. Sue Prignano, and MaryAnn Troy took third-place finishes for the Indians.

Manchester's short relay team finished second.

Sports in Brief

Renner wins Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU — Jack Renner would like people to remember him for the 1984 Hawaiian Open tournament — not the much-heralded loss a year earlier to Japan's Isao Aoki. Renner captured the $30,000 first prize Sunday with a tap-in par putt on the second extra hole to a round which brought him back from a three stroke deficit and erased the memory of the spectacular loss to Aoki. Last year, the Japanese golfer holed a dramatic 128-yard wedge shot on the 72nd hole for an eagle 3 to defeat Renner by a stroke.

"This time around, it was a different story with my being back to tie Wayne Levi with a birdie on the final hole of the tournament and then beating him with an 18-inch putt to complete the storybook finish."

"It was behind me when I left here last year," he said of the loss to Aoki. "But for a year, everybody reminded me of it. That was the only problem. It's hard to live down something like that."

Miller wins LPGA event

SARASOTA, Fla. — As Alice Miller stood over a putt on the 17th green Sunday, her mind reverted to the same green a year ago when she missed a similar putt and wound up tied for second in the LPGA Sarasota Classic.

"My mind flashed back to last year and I thought 'If I make this putt I'll win,'" Miller said. She calmly dropped in the 4-footer for a par, then parred the last hole for a final round 69 and the $75,000 Sarasota Classic title with a 72-hole total of eight-under-par 280.

She needed birdies to advance by playing a threesome ahead was veteran Donna Caponi who finished with a total of birdies for a final round 68 and a 72-hole score of 281.

It was the second LPGA victory for the 27-year-old Miller since joining the tour in July 1978. Her first win was in the West Virginia Classic last year.

Connors wins seventh time

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Jimmy Connors was confronted with a bizarre situation enroute to winning an unprecedented seventh U.S. National tennis championship — an unannounced opponent.

"I was put in the position of how do you play someone who is in a coma," Connors remembered. Henri Leconte of France collapsed on the court Sunday and wound up handing the match to Connors 6-3, 4-6, 7-5 by double faulting for an eighth time in the nearly two-hour contest.

The win earned Connors $45,000 in prize money. The match was marred by a scary few minutes in the first game of the final set when 49-year-old Leconte suddenly collapsed on the court.

For almost two minutes, Leconte lay motionless — surrounded by Connors, who had leaped over the net, Association of Tennis Professionals trainer Bill Norris, and an unidentified doctor who jumped on the court from his box seat as the crowd of 4,700 watched in silence.

Stars added to fame

NEW YORK — Pro football stars Lance Alworth, Bob Griese and Joe Greene joined two-time All-Americans Dr. Warren Ameling and Dr. Joseph Romig and six other players named to the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame Sunday.

Yarborough wins pole

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Cale Yarborough maintains 200 mph at Daytona International Speedway isn't safe, but the three-time NASCAR Grand National champion didn't let that stop him from going a record 201.848 mph to win the pole for Sunday's Daytona 500.

MCC pair drops pair

MIDDLETOWN — Manchester Community College basketball team saw its record fall to 2-16 Sunday afternoon, as it dropped an 88-76 decision to Middlesex Community College here at Middletown High.

The loss was MCC's second of the weekend to teams ranked in the top 10 in the New England section of the National Junior College Athletic Association. On Saturday night, MCC lost, 80-56, to the Community College of Rhode Island in Warwick. CCRJ is rated eighth in New England, and Middlesex is sixth.

Against Middlesex, MCC led behind 29-14, but rallied for a 41-41 tie at the half. Steve Emerson had 16 first-half points for the Cougars, including 11-for-11 from the free throw line.

Emerson went to the bench with his fourth personal foul at the 13:17 mark of the second half, and Middlesex began to build a lead. The Middletown school clinched the victory by hitting all eight of its foul shots in the final minute-and-a-half.

Emerson led MCC with 22 points. Ed Tenero had 14, and Winston Brooks scored 13. The win improved Middlesex's record in CCCAA play to 4-2, and its overall mark to 9-7.

On Saturday, the Cougars fell behind 12-21 in the first two minutes and never recovered against CCRJ, who improved its record to 12-5. Brooks led the Cougars with 14 points. Kevin Brophy had seven rebounds.

It is now 2-5 in conference play and 2-16 overall. The Cougars will attempt to snap a seven-game losing streak when they host Hartford UConn Wednesday night at East Catholic High.

CCRJ (80) — Frost 0-0 4, Evora 0-0 16, Dionne 10-20, Watkins 4 1-2 9, Frye 9 0-0 18, Woods 2 0-1 4, Smith 20-0 4, Brady 4 3-11, McDonald 20-0 4. Totals 43 20-41 88.

MCC (78) — Tenero 2 0-4, Porter 3 0-6, Brophy 2 2-4, Carr 1 3-4 5, Emerson 5 0-0 10, Garen 5 1-2 11, Ortolano 0 0-1 0, Brooks 6 4-4 16. Totals 28 10-36.

MIDDLESEX (88) — Hewitt 11 2-3, Smith 5 0-10, Dobbins 8 2-18, Leary 10 6-7, Bragg 5 4-14, Clark 2 0-4, Nedobity 0 1-0, Moses 4 1-1 9, Winborne 2 0-0 4.

MCC (78) — Tenero 7 0-4, Porter 4 1-1, Brophy 4 0-1 8, Carr 1 6-8, Emerson 9 4-4 22, Garen 1 0-2 0, Ortolowski 1 0-2, Brooks 5 1-2 13. Totals 33 14-78.

SPRINGFIELD (73) — Lickenbaugh 2 0-0 4, Tunnera 5 2-11, Lasky 5 2-12, Quinlan 6 0-3 16, Buggins 5 2-12, Russell 10-12, Boyd 3 0-6. Totals 32 9-16 72.

CCRJ (83) — Donnelly 5 2-6 12, Gagnon 0 1-4 1, Sblendorio 6 0-12, Brozovsky 5 2-12, Tucker 6 1-13, Glazier 1 1-2 3. Totals 23 7-15 53.

CCRJ (78) — Anderson 8 0-3 16, Familletti 3 0-3 6, Bourne 4 0-0 16, Quaglia 4 1-1 9, Griffin 0 4-6 22, Rochefort 1 0-2 2, Masterson 0 3-4 3, Powers 2 0-0 4. Totals 35 8-17 78.

MCC (60) — Donnelly 7 8-8 39, Daley 1 0-2, Gagnon 0 0-0, Brozovsky 22-4 6, Sblendorio 0 0-18, Tucker 5 2-2 12, Glazier 0 0-0 0. Totals 25 10-14 60.

SPRINGFIELD (73) — Lickenbaugh 2 0-0 4, Tunnera 5 2-11, Lasky 5 2-12, Quinlan 6 0-3 16, Buggins 5 2-12, Russell 10-12, Boyd 3 0-6. Totals 32 9-16 72.

CCRJ (83) — Donnelly 5 2-6 12, Gagnon 0 1-4 1, Sblendorio 6 0-12, Brozovsky 5 2-12, Tucker 6 1-13, Glazier 1 1-2 3. Totals 23 7-15 53.

CCRJ (78) — Anderson 8 0-3 16, Familletti 3 0-3 6, Bourne 4 0-0 16, Quaglia 4 1-1 9, Griffin 0 4-6 22, Rochefort 1 0-2 2, Masterson 0 3-4 3, Powers 2 0-0 4. Totals 35 8-17 78.

LPI photo

Getting all twisted up and a sore left wrist and elbow, officials said. Neil Bonnett outmaneuvered Cale Yarborough near the finish in his 50-mile Busch Clash.

NHL roundup

Canucks finish strong

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — After a first period in which they were outshot 20-4, Vancouver coach Harry Neale told his team to go out and win one for their goaltender.

Dave "Tiger" Williams listened. The feisty Canuck forward scored the winning goal with 1:56 remaining Sunday night, rallying Vancouver to a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers and making a winner of goalie Richard Brodeur.

"The Flyers came out strong and it was good for us to come back for the victory," Brodeur said.

Dave Williams, Jiri Bubla and Darcy Rota suffered penalties in the first period to stymie Vancouver's offense. But, despite the lopsided shooting advantage, only Tim Kerr scored to give Philadelphia a 1-0 lead.

"We survived the first period, where we were outshot 20-4," Neale said. "That was a miracle. Brodeur did that for us."

"I told the players after the first period that Brodeur has saved us. Now let's get a win for him."

Philadelphia went ahead 2-0 at 2:17 in the second period on a goal by Brian Propp. Vancouver cut the margin to 2-1 on a power play at 5:23 in the second period when Tom Gradin scored on a backhander, but the Flyers got the goal back when Bobby Clarke tapped in Paul Holmgren's shot at 9:44.

Neil Belland scored to pull Vancouver to within 3-2 and Williams drew the visitors even at 17:11 with a 35-footer from the left circle.

Goals by Darryl Sittler and Tim Kerr gave Philadelphia a 3-3 advantage early in the third period. But the Canucks rubbed back to tie the game again on a goal by Lars Molin and a 62-foot slapshot by Rota that bounced off the back boards, rebounded off Flyer goalie Pelle Lindbergh's pads and into the net.

Flyers coach Neale McCammon said he didn't blame Lindbergh for the loss.

"We've lost a lot of games where we had leads and that's a cause of concern and I can't blame goal-tenders for that," he said.

McCammon watched the game from the press box while assistant coach Ted Sator led the bench for the evening, and McCammon said Sator will coach the Flyers next two games.

In other games Calgary downed Chicago 6-4, Hartford blanked Edmonton 11-0, and Detroit tied Winnipeg 2-2 in overtime.

Flames 6, Black Hawks 4 in Chicago. Dan Quinn scored two goals as Calgary outlasted Chicago's wireless streak to five games. The Flames jumped to two-goal leads in the first and second periods and Chicago rallied twice to tie the score before being outplayed.

Red Wings 2, Jets 2. At Winnipeg, Manitoba, John Ogradnick's 41st goal with 20 seconds left in the second period, a 15-footer that beat goalie Doug Sotaert, lifted the Red Wings to a draw. Winnipeg leads the NHL in overtime games with 17.

Fast-starting East trips up Suffield

ENFIELD — Getting out of the gate quickly with control of the game, East Catholic tripped defensive-minded Suffield High, 5-1, in ice hockey action Saturday afternoon here at the Enfield Twins Rink.

"It was a good tune-up for the state tournament because Suffield is one of the finest defensive teams in the state. We worked hard for all our goals. I feel our offense is coming around. Not too many teams have gotten more than three or four goals against that team all year," said East coach Bill Mannix after seeing his skaters improve to 1-3 for the season.

Suffield dips to 8-10 with the loss. The Wildcats must win their final two games of the regular season to qualify for the state tournament.

Two of East's first-period goals were on screened drives in and on the third it scored on a tip-in in front. That's the way you have to beat stellar Suffield goalie Steve Gorman, according to Mannix. "You have to have someone in front of Gorman. If he sees it, he stops it. We didn't score on screaming shots but they were on net and went in."

"I felt we had to control the puck and keep it away from Suffield, otherwise they'll eat you up. And we did. When we scored four goals in the first period, we knew it would be hard for Suffield to come back because we knew they're not an explosive team."

Senior captain Paul Roy started the Eagle scoring at 3:22 of the opening period, scoring from the slot area with assists to Brian Gallahue and defenseman Jason Hanford. Senior right wing Dennis Tullmieri made it 2-0 at 8:35 as he took a trap pass from Roy at the right point and sent a screened drive behind Gorman.

East added two goals in the final 1:14 for the 4-0 bulge. Senior Ken West, on assists from Dave Parent and Dan Raffin, scored a flakey goal, a backhander from just inside the blue line. And with 49 seconds left in the period Tullmieri scored on a rebound of a Roy drive.

There was no scoring in the middle period with Gallahue completing the East scoring at 1:45 of the final stanza. Tullmieri took the original drive with Gallahue jumping on the rebound and depositing home his eighth goal of the season.

The line of Roy-Gallahue-Tullmieri, formed two games ago due to the loss of freshman center Lewis Luster, accounted for four goals and five assists. "They were outstanding," Mannix said of his new threesome. Luster will miss the rest of the season because of being academically ineligible according to East's rule.

Joe Carraro averted the shutout for Suffield with a goal with 2:51 left on an Eagle defensive mistake. Otherwise the Eagles played well in front of goalie Steve Cavallo, who had to make a dozen saves.

"Our defense did a good job. We stood them up well at the blue line," Mannix said.

East's next outing is Wednesday night at 8:30 against Rockville High at the Bolton Ice Palace.

"This is a great day for us," said Coach Eddie Sutton Sunday after his 10th-ranked Razorbacks dropped No. 1 North Carolina from the unbeaten ranks with a 65-64 triumph at Pine Bluff, Ark.

"I don't know if this was the biggest win we've ever had, but this is the first time an Arkansas team has ever beaten a No. 1 team so it has to be very big."

Arkansas beat SMU in Dallas Saturday but the team's scheduled flight home was postponed until Sunday because of a severe storm that still packed a wallop by the morning the fight was over by at least one player was overcome by air sickness.

Charles Balentine provided the winning basket with four seconds remaining as he saved a ball from going out of bounds and then calmly hit a 5-foot shot to snag the Tar Heels' 21-game winning streak. North Carolina had taken its only lead of the second half when All-America guard Michael Jordan sank a 12-foot baseline jumper with 72 seconds left.

After Jordan's basket, Arkansas worked the clock down to 29 seconds and took time out. Alvin Robertson tried to drive down the lane, but he got caught in the air and made an errant pass toward the left baseline. Balentine made a one-handed save to keep the ball from going out of bounds, leaned toward the basket and hit the jumper over All-America forward Sam Perkins.

Arkansas guard Alvin Robertson (left) steals the ball from North Carolina's Steve Hale in second-half action in Pine Bluff, Ark. Arkansas upset the No. 1 ranked Tar Heels, 65-64.

College basketball roundup

Arkansas flying, knocks off UNC

By Ira Kaufman
UPI Sports Writer

Grounded Saturday night, the Arkansas Razorbacks may take a night at 4:30 against Rockville High at the Bolton Ice Palace.

"This is a great day for us," said Coach Eddie Sutton Sunday after his 10th-ranked Razorbacks dropped No. 1 North Carolina from the unbeaten ranks with a 65-64 triumph at Pine Bluff, Ark.

"I don't know if this was the biggest win we've ever had, but this is the first time an Arkansas team has ever beaten a No. 1 team so it has to be very big."

Arkansas beat SMU in Dallas Saturday but the team's scheduled flight home was postponed until Sunday because of a severe storm that still packed a wallop by the morning the fight was over by at least one player was overcome by air sickness.

Charles Balentine provided the winning basket with four seconds remaining as he saved a ball from going out of bounds and then calmly hit a 5-foot shot to snag the Tar Heels' 21-game winning streak. North Carolina had taken its only lead of the second half when All-America guard Michael Jordan sank a 12-foot baseline jumper with 72 seconds left.

After Jordan's basket, Arkansas worked the clock down to 29 seconds and took time out. Alvin Robertson tried to drive down the lane, but he got caught in the air and made an errant pass toward the left baseline. Balentine made a one-handed save to keep the ball from going out of bounds, leaned toward the basket and hit the jumper over All-America forward Sam Perkins.

After two North Carolina timeouts, Steve Hale had an open 18-foot jumper from the left corner at the buzzer, but his shot hit the front rim and bounced away.

"They got the ball underneath somehow," said Tar Heel coach Dean Smith. "In the first half we weren't ready to play — they outthrust us. We played well in the second half. I don't believe losing on the road to a top 20 team is ever an upset."

Balentine scored the last four points for the Razorbacks, 19-4, who built a 10-point lead during the second half but had to survive foul difficulties, including the loss of defensive ace Leroy Sutton on his fifth foul with 18 minutes remaining. Robertson also missed much of the second half after picking up his fourth foul.

Elsewhere Sunday, No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas beat San Jose State 86-78 and No. 8 Illinois trounced Iowa 73-53.

In Saturday's games, No. 2 DePaul nipped Notre Dame 82-54, No. 3 Georgetown clubbed Brigham Young 87-51, No. 4 Houston beat Texas 74-63, No. 6 Tar Heels' 21-game winning streak. North Carolina had taken its only lead of the second half when All-America guard Michael Jordan sank a 12-foot baseline jumper with 72 seconds left.

After Jordan's basket, Arkansas worked the clock down to 29 seconds and took time out. Alvin Robertson tried to drive down the lane, but he got caught in the air and made an errant pass toward the left baseline. Balentine made a one-handed save to keep the ball from going out of bounds, leaned toward the basket and hit the jumper over All-America forward Sam Perkins.

After two North Carolina timeouts, Steve Hale had an open 18-foot jumper from the left corner at the buzzer, but his shot hit the front rim and bounced away.

"They got the ball underneath somehow," said Tar Heel coach Dean Smith. "In the first half we weren't ready to play — they outthrust us. We played well in the second half. I don't believe losing on the road to a top 20 team is ever an upset."

Balentine scored the last four points for the Razorbacks, 19-4, who built a 10-point lead during the second half but had to survive foul difficulties, including the loss of defensive ace Leroy Sutton on his fifth foul with 18 minutes remaining. Robertson also missed much of the second half after picking up his fourth foul.

Sports in Brief

Renner wins Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU — Jack Renner would like people to remember him for the 1984 Hawaiian Open tournament — not the much-heralded loss a year earlier to Japan's Isao Aoki. Renner captured the $30,000 first prize Sunday with a tap-in par putt on the second extra hole to a round which brought him back from a three stroke deficit and erased the memory of the spectacular loss to Aoki. Last year, the Japanese golfer holed a dramatic 128-yard wedge shot on the 72nd hole for an eagle 3 to defeat Renner by a stroke.

"This time around, it was a different story with my being back to tie Wayne Levi with a birdie on the final hole of the tournament and then beating him with an 18-inch putt to complete the storybook finish."

"It was behind me when I left here last year," he said of the loss to Aoki. "But for a year, everybody reminded me of it. That was the only problem. It's hard to live down something like that."

Miller wins LPGA event

SARASOTA, Fla. — As Alice Miller stood over a putt on the 17th green Sunday, her mind reverted to the same green a year ago when she missed a similar putt and wound up tied for second in the LPGA Sarasota Classic.

"My mind flashed back to last year and I thought 'If I make this putt I'll win,'" Miller said. She calmly dropped in the 4-footer for a par, then parred the last hole for a final round 69 and the $75,000 Sarasota Classic title with a 72-hole total of eight-under-par 280.

She needed birdies to advance by playing a threesome ahead was veteran Donna Caponi who finished with a total of birdies for a final round 68 and a 72-hole score of 281.

It was the second LPGA victory for the 27-year-old Miller since joining the tour in July 1978. Her first win was in the West Virginia Classic last year.

Connors wins seventh time

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Jimmy Connors was confronted with a bizarre situation enroute to winning an unprecedented seventh U.S. National tennis championship — an unannounced opponent.

"I was put in the position of how do you play someone who is in a coma," Connors remembered. Henri Leconte of France collapsed on the court Sunday and wound up handing the match to Connors 6-3, 4-6, 7-5 by double faulting for an eighth time in the nearly two-hour contest.

A loving pastime
Herold photo by Richmond

Children at the Sunshine Day Care Center at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Hackmatack Street, put a lot of loving care into making Valentine's that will be given to senior citizens today. The children were given face doilies, red paper hearts, bits of face and yarn and stickers and paste and created their own Valentines. Busy at work, with Hazel Anderson, of the Trinity Fellowship supervising, are, from left, Matthew Yankowich, Michael Wineskiel, Joseph Robinson and Stuart McKechnie.

College Notes

Residents on dean's list

Many Manchester residents have been named to the dean's list of the University of Connecticut for the fall semester. They are:
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Nancy Abbott, 56 Thayer Road, Paige Anthony, 70 Cliffside Drive, Adam Borgida, 173 Grisson Road, Kathleen Carney, 48 Woodhill Road, Alan Escher, 36 Thompson Road, Karen Frost, 11 Denver St., Leslie Gleaser, 124 Broad St., Robert A. Glenn, 162 Green Road, Sandra Gray, 40 Cambridge St., Kristin Henderson, 75 Ledgewood Terrace, Julia Johnson, 75 Congress St., Kevin J. Kean, 70 Henry St., Ruth Kurien, 71 Washington St., Jill Lampson, 86 Starkweather St., Diane Lenhardt and Robert Lenhardt, 23 Candowood Drive.
Also: Diana Lindsay, 69 Tanner St., Julie Lehr, 48 Avondale Road, Patricia McCarthy, 21 Princeton St., Patricia McCann, 37 Sautlers Road, Martin Miller, 289 Fern St., Yan The Nguyen, 83 Laurel St., Barry O'Neill, 456 Spring St., James Prenzetta Jr., 89 Nutmeg Drive, Rhonda Resse, 51 Turnbull Road, Patricia Ramtzen, Downey Drive, Michael Sevidakis, 435 Grisson Road, Matthew Schmid, 38 Camp Meeting Road, Richard J. Spiller, 31 Edison Road, Michael Surb, 149 Sunny Brook Drive, William Vincent, 54 Carpenter Road, and Todd Whitney, 129 Avery St.

Greene in college program

William C. Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Greene, 61 Dale Road, is one of some 83 students at St. Michael's College in Vermont who are working with underprivileged children in the Burlington area. He is a sophomore. The Big Brother-Big Sister program is a student-run campus organization providing companionship for disadvantaged children, ages 5 through 12, in the Burlington area. The students sponsor several events during the school year, for the children.

Three on dean's list

Three Manchester residents have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Tuxis Community College in Farmington. They are: Mohamed Arabi, Kelly A. Smith, and Carolyn Tarca, qualified for distinction.

Resident gets degree

Barbara A. Senna, 29 Pioneer Circle, graduated from Rhode Island College in Providence, last month with a master of arts degree in agency counseling.

Bolton students named

The following Bolton residents have been named to the dean's list at the University of Connecticut:
Gregory Fenton Allen, 3 Lyman St., Christina Richardson, 23 Rosewood Lane, and Michele Tolland Turpinke, Timothy Devalve, 118 Prospect St., Gary Hurley, 40 Montclair Drive, Steven Marchuga, 55 Hamilton Drive, Angelo Morion, 6 Avon St., Chuang Nguyen, 83 Laurel St., Patricia Wojnarowski, 184 Vernon St.
School of Fine Arts: Tracy Lawlor, 75 Bissell St., Amette S. Packard, 69 Durand St., Linda Thill, 433

About Town

Foster homes needed

The Department of Children and Youth Services is seeking foster and adoptive homes for neglected, abused and abandoned children. Adoptive homes are needed for white children over age 10, black and Hispanic children of all ages, sibling groups, and children with physical and emotional problems.
A parents meeting is Feb. 22 from 7 to 10 p.m. at 1800-4th Street Methodist Church, 1226 Main St. Call 1-800-492-6348.

Book lunch planned

The Sisterhood of Temple Beth Shalom and Manchester Chapter of Hadassah will sponsor a book luncheon Tuesday at noon at Temple Beth Shalom, 33 E. Middle Turnpike. Columnist Dick Polman will be the guest speaker.
The topic will be "The Role of the Columnist on a Monopoly Newspaper," dealing with issues pertinent to the Jewish community.
There will be a donation of $3.50 for the luncheon. Babysitting will be provided at a cost of $1 per child. Reservations are required for the luncheon and babysitting. Contact Barbara Yudowitch, 289-7229, Marilyn Kratt, 643-6665, and Eileen Freedman, evenings, 644-2283, for reservations. The luncheon is open to the public.

Compassionate Friends meet

ROCKVILLE — Compassionate Friends, a group of parents of deceased children, will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Rockville General Hospital cafeteria. Brothers and sisters of deceased children will meet at the same time.

Help for overeaters

Overeaters Anonymous will meet Wednesday in the cafeteria meeting room of Manchester Memorial Hospital. Newcomers are welcome at 7:30 p.m. and a general meeting will be held at 8 p.m.
There are no dues, fees or weigh-ins. The group meets each week.

Matrons elect officers

The Past Matrons Association of Temple Church, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Claing, 20 Joan Circle. Officers will be elected.

Parents of disabled meet

A support group for parents and teachers of learning-disabled children will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Bonnie Gearin, 197 Vernon St.

Register for school

Center Nursery School, located at Center Congregational Church, 11 Center St., is accepting registration for September.
The state-licensed school is open to children age 3 to 5. Children may attend two, three or five mornings a week. Call 647-9941 or 742-8754.

Gender gap the topic

The Women's Center at Manchester Community College will sponsor a panel discussion by local female politicians Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the college music room.
Panelists will discuss the gender gap for women in politics. Participants will include State Rep. Elsie Swenson, Manchester Mayor Barbara Weinberg, and town directors Donna Mercier and Eleanor Colman.
A reception will follow the discussion. The event is open to the public.

Learn to lose weight

The Manchester Community College Women's Center and the Community Services division will sponsor two short courses this spring.
A course in developing a personal weight-loss program will meet five Thursdays beginning March 1, 7 to 9 p.m.
A course in budget preparation and personal money management will meet five Tuesdays beginning March 6 from 7 to 8:15 p.m.
Call 646-2127.

Donnelly to direct

Bob Donnelly of Manchester will direct the Jean Kerr comedy "Lunch Hour" produced by the New Britain Repertory Theater. The play, opening Friday, will run through March 3.

Golden Agers convene

The Golden Age Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Manchester Senior Citizens' Center, East Middle Turnpike.

Supermarket Shopper

Writing to companies keeps them on the ball

By Martin Sloane
United Feature
Syndicate

Are companies responsible for the performance of the premiums they send us?
Most thoughtful companies say "yes," and some, like Procter and Gamble, carry this responsibility above and beyond the call of duty. Consider this letter from Karen Reeds of Peconic, N.Y.

"In November 1982 I received two Procter & Gamble Flyer children's riders. Both of my children were thrilled to find them under the Christmas tree.
"Last July, both Fluorid broke in the same spot. After procrastinating for a while, I decided to write to P&G and see if I could get the parts without paying for them. One week later I received a reply.
"To say I was surprised is an understatement. I was thrilled to read that they were sending me two Fluorid Flyer children's riders. One week and two days later the new Fluorid arrived.
"Needless to say, I have two very happy children. Joy and other readers who tips and smart shopping experiences appear in this column receive a free copy of my couponing and refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper. Write to me in care of this newspaper."

Clip 'n' file refunds

Meat, Poultry, Seafood,
Other Main Dishes (File No. 6)

Clip out this file and keep it with similar cash-off coupons — beverage refund offers with beverage coupons, for example. Start collecting the needed proofs of purchase while looking for the required forms at the supermarket, in newspapers and magazines, and when trading with friends. Offers may not be available in all areas of the country. Allow 10 weeks to receive each refund.

The following refund offers are worth $7.37. This week's refund offers have a value of $14.
This offer does not require a refund form:
OSCAR MAYER $1 Refund Offer, 3 Stuart Dr., P.O. Box 1132, Kankakee, IL 60902. Send three and some members of Congress claim, there is no inequity, why then are there now numerous bills in Congress to correct that inequity?"

Susan has the last word in the January issue of Retirement Life:
"Dear Abby: I've based on Notch-Year Babies."
I responded, "If as Social Security officials and some members of Congress claim, there is no inequity, why then are there now numerous bills in Congress to correct that inequity?"

It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

Now in its sixth national season, "Sneak Previews," the "consumer's guide to movies," features critiques from co-hosts Neal Gabler (front) and Jeffrey Lyons.

'Sneak Previews' co-hosts claim TV can't match movies' mystique

By Julianne Hastings
United Press International

NEW YORK — Never let it be said that "Sneak Previews" co-hosts Jeffrey Lyons and Neal Gabler look down their noses at television. Just let it be noted they think Tom Selleck would rather be Robert Redford.

"There's a thrill. It's a ritual. It's special and I don't think you can ever duplicate that experience in your living room, no matter how large the screen."
"The TWO CRITICS felt their job on "Sneak Previews" is to provide information, then show some respect, let their viewers decide for themselves whether they want to see a movie.
"I think what 'Sneak Previews' is doing is providing information for the viewer and not usurping the clips and critiques of the latest motion pictures.
Both movie junkies find time to watch television — which provides a portion of their income — but they don't think it compares to motion pictures. "And from that total package that we present, the viewer can then make a decision I want to see this film or I don't want to see this film."
"We would be only too happy to older people would go more frequently — say their opinions ignored.
"Some people are going to go see a movie whether we like it or not. Some people are going to go to a movie if we say you'd be crazy to go see it. A case in point is "Flashdance." Neither of us liked "Flashdance," but the moment that clip was on — that clip was critical proof."
A LOT OF TV seems to be critic proof.
And like some television, theatrical movies seem to have been made to appeal to a lowest common denominator.
"There are wonderful exceptions, but they've got to make money," Lyons said.
"Everyone blames Hollywood," Gabler said. "But Hollywood is not a charitable institution."
The majority of moviegoers are teenagers, the critics said.
"I don't think Hollywood set out to intentionally construct this demographic for itself," Gabler said.
"You'd see six 'On Golden Pond' a year instead of one," Lyons said. "You'd see 10 'Terms of Endearment.'
Audiences have to start taking some blame, they said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

GABLER, 32, writes a film column for Monthly Detroit and has taught film criticism at the university level. Lyons, 38, is host of CBS Radio's "Lyons Den" and film and theater critic for WGBS Radio and a WEPX-TV, both in New York. They believe there is a mystique about motion picture stars that doesn't exist for TV personalities.
"There is a difference between a Robert Redford and a major television star. We feel it. I hear the gasps from the audience when Robert Redford appears in his new picture. They haven't seen him now for four years," Gabler said.
"When you're a TV star, you're seen every week and at the end of the show they turn you off, they're in their pajamas and they go to bed," Lyons said.
"Redford is seen only every few years and to see him you have to dress up and go out and have dinner. It's a part of a mental process, and there's a mystique about it."
They harrumph at talk that the reason box office is making TV movie debuts — Charlton Heston, Albert Finney, Jane Fonda — is because that's the format of the future and theatrical movies are going to become a luxury of the past.
"It sounds romantic but I think there's something about walking into a movie theater," Gabler said.

Births

Archer, Tamara Lisa, daughter of Frederick Neil and Fatima Buntan Archer of Charter Oak Street, was born Jan. 17 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Her maternal grandparents are Hussein and Elisabeth Bustan of Williamstown. Her paternal grandfather is Mrs. Rosalie Archer.

Carli, Katherine Margaret, daughter of Alfred and Ellen Fradenburgh of Fairfield. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George S. Germain of Woodbridge. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ames of East Hartford.

Marshall, Peter Anthony, son of Eugene and Julie Rasmussen Martelli of 55 S. Alton St., was born Jan. 20 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ange Rasmussen of Stony Brook, N.Y. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Marbell of Branford. He has two sisters, Lisa, 7 and Michelle, 4.

Lehman, Leslie Kathryn, daughter of Walter and Kathryn Smith Lehman of 5 Cook Drive, Bolton, was born Jan. 19 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Her maternal grandfather is the late Leslie Smith of Manchester. Her paternal grandfather is Dr. Harold J. Lehman of Manchester.

Public Records

Liens
Town of Manchester continues lien against property of Raymond F. Healy, 14 Swallowbrook Lane, 662-87.
Town of Manchester continues lien against property of Oliver and Catherine Jenkins, 418 Spring St., 266-89.
Town of Manchester continues lien against property of Oliver and Catherine Jenkins, 418 Spring St., 266-89.
Liens released
Town of Manchester releases lien against property of Ernest and Alice

Advice

The old notch year problem: Will Congress really act?

DEAR READERS: Many retirees have written to urge me to continue to fight for their rights concerning their Social Security benefits (the "notch-year notch").

Susan Noon, legislative assistant of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, wrote in the November issue of Retirement Life, "Dear Abby: I've based on Notch-Year Babies."

I responded, "If as Social Security officials and some members of Congress claim, there is no inequity, why then are there now numerous bills in Congress to correct that inequity?"

Susan has the last word in the January issue of Retirement Life:
"Dear Abby: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill. Doing so can appease a lot of people back home and make them think something is being done on a given problem. But getting serious congressional action on a bill is something else.

DEAR ABBY: You have taught me a lot about life over the years through your column. Perhaps I can share a little something with you from my experience. I call it "Political Lesson No. 1."
It's easy to introduce a bill.

Business In Brief

Rogers profits set record

ROGERS — Rogers Corp., manufacturers of electronic components, reported the highest profits in company history in 1983, up 8 percent over 1982.

The company reported profits of $4.4 million in 1983 which were up sharply from 1982's income of $1 million. The company reported sales of $109.9 million in 1983 compared to $101.7 in 1982.

Carlson joins celebration

MADISON — Robert Carlson, president of United Technologies Corp., will join a celebration for workers who almost lost their sight in an industrial accident, says the state's Society to Prevent Blindness.

Carlson will serve as honorary chairman for the society's "Celebration of Sight" dinner which honors the "Wise Owl Club," whose 250 members prevented blindness by wearing protective eye apparel at work.

The proceeds from the March 10 dinner at the Farmington Marriott Hotel will benefit the society's sight-saving programs.

Plan capacity expanding

DANBURY — The Union Carbide Corp. will substantially increase the capacity of a Louisiana plant which makes polyethylene, a high-strength material used in grocery and shipping sacks, the company said.

The expansion project at the Taft, Louisiana plant will increase the company's ability to make polyethylene from 600 million ton to 700 million tons per year in early 1984, said John Luchinger, Union Carbide's vice president.

Luchinger said the company recently introduced a stronger version of the linear-density polyethylene products made at the plant through a unique Unipol process.

Film sparks office workers' organizing

By Elizabeth Neus United Press International

CLEVELAND — Women have been conditioned to downplay problems such as bad working conditions, but District 925 president Karen Nussbaum believes the office workers she is trying to organize are gradually rejecting that view.

"There's a lot of feeling that 'I'm bothered by this, there must be something wrong with me,'" she said. "Don't look for help or try to work with others to resolve it as a group. It's not in our training." Women have been trained to take the blame, she said.

Nussbaum's union, affiliated with the 675,000-member Service Employees International Union, has been working for the past several years to organize the nation's 20-million office workers.

So far the Cleveland-based union represents only 5,000 people, but Nussbaum said that represented victories in 15 of 16 elections.

"Automation is one of the big concerns we have in addition to pay, promotions and respect," she said. "Our special concerns have to do with health and safety in VDTs (video display terminals) and what happens to jobs themselves."

"The physical problems, such as eye strain and problem pregnancies, may be easier to tackle, she said, although "some people still insist it's not VDTs that cause the eyestrain, it's working at the VDT. It's like saying cars are not dangerous unless you drive them."

Stress is a tremendous problem for VDT operators. A government study showed these workers "have the highest level of stress ever recorded," reflecting low pay, unsupportive bosses and pressure from working on a computer that counts errors and keystrokes.

Even worse, she said, are clusters of abnormal pregnancies among VDT operators. "Only a dozen of these (cluster) sites have been identified. But to the scientists it's very worrisome."

Solutions are "painfully simple," Nussbaum said. "The best solution to the problem of stress is rest breaks, which increase productivity."

Book aims to make Americans fiscal conservatives

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A book backed by a $13 million private investment has come to market with illustrations and text designed to persuade the average American to be a fiscal conservative.

"This is a television age. People want to get information quickly and want to enjoy what they're getting," the book carries the message that individuals and the nation can gain economic security within a free enterprise system that depends on a balanced federal budget and limited government interference.

The richest person in the world is the book depicts as "Uncle Sam" — the United States government. However, it makes clear that Uncle Sam also is heavily in debt and can no longer back all the world's debts.

"If the government goes bankrupt because of its reckless spending, it will affect all of us," the Uncle Sam story says. "We are facing that danger right now even though most of us don't know it."

To gauge the effect of the book, written by Michael Pries and C. Hollis Taylor, UCLA psychology professor Barry Collins was paid to do a study on whether an average reader's economic philosophy would be swayed by the book's messages.

The study indicated subjects tested on their views before and after reading the book gave more conservative replies after reading it.

For example, the statement, "The government is not big enough to help people who are in need," showed an attitude shift of 47 percent toward "strongly disagree," as opposed to "strongly agree," the study said.

Book aims to make Americans fiscal conservatives

Another statement, "The government allows banks to create money out of thin air," elicited an attitude shift of 71 percent toward "strongly agree," the study said.

"An impressive 92 percent of readers re-evaluated their initial, pretest attitudes so as to increase agreement with the book," said Collins of the unpublished study done with a grant from Communications Research.

Copper pennies are actually bronze. A small percentage of zinc added to the copper creates an alloy.

Read Your Ad

Classified advertisements published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

Classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

The Manchester Herald is responsible only for one incorrect insertion.

Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by an additional insertion.

For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

For classified advertisements placed by telephone or a convenience.

Classified..... 643-2711

Table with 4 columns: Notices, Business Opportunities, Real Estate, Financial. Lists various services and their rates.

Table with 4 columns: Rates, Read Your Ad, Classified advertisements, Help Wanted. Details advertising rates and policies.

Notices: Last/Found, Announcements, Auctions, Mortgages, Personal Loans, Insurance, Wanted to Borrow, Employment & Education, Help Wanted.

Real Estate: Homes for Sale, Condos, Commercial, Rental, Services, For Sale, Automotive, Cars/Trucks, Rec Vehicles, Autos for Rent/Lease, Misc. Automotive.

Help Wanted: SERVICE STATION ATTENDANT, LOST - Maroon Hovey, PART TIME - Earn up to $10 per week, CELEBRITY CIPHER, OH NC YUMAPODET XUVU RIWUF, VAWP ET NC NEQUOW, OP XEAKF, RK FEXT PSU PEKUPPU, GKOH YERUYPWT, PREVIOUS SOLUTION, KIT 'N' CARLYLE.

Help Wanted: CHILD CARE, TUTORING CLASSES, REAL ESTATE, CHILL CHASER, SLIMMING STYLE, FULL TIME/PART TIME, CARLA'S PASTA, RECEPTIONIST, WAITRESS, PART TIME DATA ENTRY, NOW HIRING - Offshore Oil Drilling, FULL OR P/T DRIVER, DENTAL RECEPTIONIST/SECRETARY, SUPERINTENDENT, TYPIST, PERSON WITH COMPETENT Clerical Skills, BANNING - Experienced front operator.

CELEBRITY CIPHER advertisement featuring a cartoon character and text about a typing and proofreading service.

cumberland farms advertisement with logo and text describing a retail management career opportunity.

LOOK FOR THE STARS... Look for the CLASSIFIED ADS with STARS; stars help you get better results. Put a star on your ad and see what a difference it makes. Telephone 643-2711, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Homes for Sale, Apartments for Rent, Services Offered, Income Tax Service, Misc. for Sale. Includes listings for real estate and various services.

RETIRED NURSE, WOODWORKING/CARPENTRY, PAINTING AND PAPER HANGING, GEORGE N. CONVERSE, CEILING REPAIR, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE: Sale to the Highest Bidder of Abandoned Miscellaneous Household Goods consisting of Beds, Chairs, Tables, Sofas, Cabinets, Living Room Sets, Kitchen Sets, Bedroom Sets, TVs, Radios, Various Household Goods and Electrical Assorted Hand & Garden Tools.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

CALL 647-9946 TO SUBSCRIBE TODAY! Includes a cartoon character holding a newspaper.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

LEGAL NOTICE, LEGAL NOTICE, LAMB COAT - Excellent condition, STEREO - J.C. Penney brand, BUNKBEDS With Mattresses, HOTPOINT REFRIGERATOR, LARGE THREE CUSHION, FARRAND REMODELING, ANCHOR ELECTRICAL, DESIGN KITCHENS BY J. P. LEWIS, LEON CIESZYNSKI BUILDER, EXCELLENT QUALITY HARDWOOD, SWEDISHICE AUGER, VANITY WITH MIRROR, END ROLL SPECIAL, SKI JACKET - Like new, RCA WHIRLPOOL REFRIGERATOR, MITSUBISHI '81 Block & White Portable Television, 599 BUYS A SUBURBAN COAL-MASTER for use in a cellar.

SAVE YOUR MONEY! DON'T BUY ANY CAR UNTIL YOU ATTEND MORIARTY BROTHERS' SATISFACTION SELL-A-THON. Includes a cartoon character and MARIARTY BROTHERS logo.

BUSINESS

FTC gives conditional OK to Texaco-Getty merger

By Thomas Ferraro
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission gave conditional approval today to what would be the biggest corporate merger in U.S. history — Texaco's planned $10.1 billion takeover of Getty Oil.

By a 4-1 vote, the FTC tentatively approved a consent agreement that requires Texaco "to make certain divestitures and to take other steps to resolve the agency's antitrust concerns," a spokesman said.

The vote by the commissioners was taken at a closed-door meeting and announced by an FTC spokesman.

In announcing the decision, an FTC spokesman read a statement that said in part: "The FTC conditionally approved Texaco Inc.'s $10.1 billion acquisition of Getty Oil Company by provisionally accepting a consent agreement with Texaco."

The Washington Post, quoting FTC officials, reported over the weekend that the proposed divestitures included the sale of two refineries, one on the East Coast and one in the Midwest, and the sale of a Getty-owned oil pipeline in California.

The newspaper said Texaco would also have to guarantee continued daily delivery of approximately 100,000 barrels of crude oil that Getty now supplies to independent marketers in California and the Rocky Mountain states.

Texaco's main goal in seeking to buy Getty is to expand its oil supply.

The FTC's vote was whether to accept the consent accord tentatively or to file suit against the venture now challenged in court by one competitor, Pennzoil Co., and a small Getty distributor in Rhode Island.

Texaco is the nation's third largest oil company. Getty ranks 14th. Many consumer groups concern to whether the merger violated a previous agreement it had to buy Getty. Pennzoil has filed suits in several states, but thus far all but one have been unsuccessful.

Pennzoil's sole remaining suit, seeking $1 billion in damages from Texaco, is awaiting action in a state court in Houston.

A hearing is set for today in U.S. District Court in Providence, R.I., on a suit filed by a small Getty distributor that also seeks to block the acquisition on antitrust grounds.

Getty and Texaco struck their original deal Jan. 6, three days after a preliminary agreement was reached between Pennzoil and Getty.

Under FTC regulations, the

J.C. Penney leads list of real estate owners

... page 3

Roses are red ... and expensive, too

... page 11

Ford makes a comeback

... page 18

Manchester Herald

Manchester, Conn.
Tuesday, Feb. 14, 1984
Single copy: 25¢

Andropov buried; thousands mourn

By John Iams
United Press International

MOSCOW — With a final kiss from the widow and a eulogy from the new Soviet leader calling him a "glorious son of the Communist Party," President Yuri Andropov was buried today in Red Square.

The whole nation came to a halt for five minutes of silence as Andropov, the leader of the Soviet Union for just 15 months, was laid to rest in a tiny cemetery reserved for the most revered Soviet heroes.

Andropov, who died Thursday of kidney failure at the age of 69, was buried following a pageantry-filled state and military funeral service led by Konstantin Chernenko, his former rival and successor as Soviet Communist Party leader.

Hundreds of world leaders, statesmen, members of royalty and dignitaries attended.

Chernenko was scheduled to meet after the funeral with Vice President George Bush. It will be the highest official contact with a Soviet leader since the vice president met Andropov after the funeral of Leonid Brezhnev in November 1982.

Tens of thousands of mourners, some of them weeping, packed Red Square to pay their final respects to Andropov as his coffin was removed from the House of Unions where it had been lying in state for four days. It was placed atop a gun carriage drawn by an armored personnel carrier for the journey to the red marble and granite tomb of Lenin.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko also delivered a eulogy, calling Andropov a man of "boundless dedication to the great cause of communism" and a man who "devoted everything he has to serving the people."

Chernenko, speaking in a lacerating voice and stumbling over some words, used the occasion to touch on foreign policy and Soviet relations with the United States.

Yuri Andropov did a good deal to consolidate the international positions of our country, to increase the Soviet capability and combat might of the country," Chernenko said.

He did this in the cause of peace, Chernenko said. "The Soviet Union will continue its policy of peace, a lasting and just peace for all nations, big and small."

In a hint that the Soviets might be prepared to resume nuclear arms talks with the United States, Chernenko said, "We are also reiterating our readiness for talks, but for honest talks on the basis of equality and equal security."

Chernenko and the 11 other members of the ruling Politburo carried the open casket the final steps from its bier in front of Lenin's Tomb to the cemetery between the mausoleum and the Kremlin wall.

Andropov's daughter, Irina, and son, Igor, walked with the casket but Mrs. Andropov nearly collapsed while viewing the body for a final time before the cortege left the House of Unions.

When the procession reached the grave site, Tatiana Andropov, sobbing uncontrollably, was assisted to the casket, leaned forward and kissed her husband on the forehead.

Palbearers led by Konstantia Chernenko (left center), Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, Prime Minister Nikolai Tikhonov (with armband) and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko carry the coffin bearing President Yuri Andropov across Red Square. Andropov was buried in a cemetery between the Lenin Mausoleum and the Kremlin Wall.

Bush, Chernenko meet

MOSCOW (UPI) — Vice President George Bush met privately with the new Soviet Communist Party leader Konstantin Chernenko today, five hours after the funeral of the late Soviet President Yuri Andropov, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The meeting between Bush and Chernenko was the highest level contact between the two superpowers in more than a year.

The leader of the U.S. delegation arrived shortly afterward at the curatorium that included Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and Assistant Secretary of State Richard Burt.

Chernenko was elected Monday as general secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, succeeding Andropov, his former rival who died last Thursday after 15 months in power.

It was the highest level meeting between a Soviet leader and a top U.S. official since Bush had an hour-long talk with Andropov after Leonid Brezhnev was buried in November 1982. Bush said he came to Andropov's funeral "to symbolize my nation's regard for the people of the Soviet Union and to signify the desire of the United States to continue to work for positive relations between our two countries."

Continuing a conciliatory tone toward the Soviets set by President Reagan last month, Bush said, "The desire for peace and good relations that President Reagan and I have enunciated will survive us as they have Chairman Andropov."

"And they will, I pray, bring us and those who follow us together in common purpose with the Soviet leadership," he said.

The delegation was met at Sheremetyevo airport by U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hartman and Soviet Ambassador to the United States Anatoly Dobrynin. The official motorcade then drove to the House of Unions, where Andropov is lying in state.

Surrounded by a ring of U.S. and Soviet officials, Bush bowed silently in front of the open coffin before expressing his condolences to Andropov's son, Igor, and daughter, Irina.

A Soviet honor guard placed a huge wreath bearing the inscription in Russian, "from the people of the United States," among hundreds of other wreaths in the huge hall.

Bush later met with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl at the German Embassy, a meeting scheduled for Sunday in Bonn but delayed because of the funeral.

Kohl, who said he had an "intense" talk about the arms race and East-West relations earlier Monday with East German Communist Party leader Erich Honecker, also said he hoped to sit down with Chernenko while in Moscow.

Averages are rough guides

Compare itemized deductions

It is no more than common sense to compare, item by item, deductions you're claiming on your 1983 income tax return with the national averages claimed on returns filed in 1982. The following averages, prepared by the Research Institute of America, are rough guides since the averages for each state can vary according to the state's own tax structures. But the averages can be extremely helpful to you for two reasons:

1. While the Internal Revenue Service is close-mouthed about what standards it uses to pick returns for audit, it must use as one factor whether the deductions you claim are abnormally high. Average deductions will be one guide.

If your deductions are above average, you may be a red flag for audit and you'll have to justify all deductions. Can you?

2. If your deductions exceed for medical expenses, you may not be getting the full benefit. You must check your claims. Have you overlooked some items you could legally deduct? Are you aware of the claims you could make? Re-examine the return you're preparing with great care.

The information below is merely from a statistical table. You can use the deductions given to you in the official sales tax table in the instructions to Form 1040 — but you cannot use the numbers from the unofficial table in this column. You can claim only the actual amount you paid.

Note: Most of you should be reporting a lower medical-expense deduction than the average claimed by taxpayers on the returns filed in 1982. This reflects the unfavorable law change on 1983 medical expenses. The new 5 percent "wastage" rule should bar deductions entirely or slash them.

Taxpayers with adjusted gross income (AGI) of $20,000 to $25,000 had on returns filed in 1982 average medical-expense deductions of $766; average deductible taxes of $1,718; average deductible contributions of $676; average interest deductions of $2,887.

With AGI of $25,000 to $30,000, average medical-expense deductions of $672; average deductible taxes of $1,983; average deductible contributions of $697; average interest deductions of $3,122.

With AGI of $30,000 to $40,000, average medical-expense deductions of $667; taxes of $2,496; contributions of $834; interest, $3,483. (These and all following figures are averages or deductions on 1982 returns.)

With AGI of $40,000 to $50,000, medical expenses, $676; taxes, $4,400; interest, $1,567; contributions, $1,567; interest, $5,586.

With AGI of $75,000 to $100,000, medical expenses of $559; taxes of $6,837; contributions of $2,312; interest, $8,342.

With AGI of $100,000 to $200,000, medical expenses, $1,260; taxes $10,013; contributions, $4,807; interest, $12,179.

You will find yourself in these breakdowns! Check your deductions for 1983 against the averages for '82 returns with the warnings heeded. You can use these averages for your own advantage. Do so.

Monsoon — "Monsoon" is a name for seasonal winds (derived from Arabic "mausim," a season). It was first applied to the winds off the Arabian Sea, which blow for six months from southwest and six months from northeast. The term has been extended to similar winds in other parts of the world. Monsoons are strongest on the southern and eastern sides of Asia.

Thermos gearing up

More than 93 million Americans are expected to go picnicking this year, according to a National Park Service survey, so Thermos, one of the largest manufacturers of picnic coolers, is gearing up. Technician Myrella Triana checks the cold retention capability of some of the coolers being produced at the Thermos plant in Norwich.

Import expert helps find official answer

BOSTON (UPI) — Are frog legs fish? While it's unlikely you've given the subject more than a passing thought, Mary Wright makes her living determining the official answer to that and other odd questions.

The "official" answer in Ms. Wright's line of work is what the U.S. Customs Service says. She advises clients importing products into the United States on how to get out of scrapes with Customs and keep their duty fees as low as possible.

An attorney who used to work as an import specialist for the Customs Service, Ms. Wright said many judgments ranging from the esoteric to the downright absurd can have a huge impact on a company and the retail prices of its goods.

There are 10,000 import classifications, among them the one that decides frog legs are, not fish. More predictably, it has been determined that tote bags are not shopping bags, but luggage.

"There are a lot of gray areas, a lot of room for discretion," Ms. Wright said. "In many cases it (the difference) can add up to millions and millions of dollars."

In the unlikely event you might walk into a store to buy a "toy" rat, the length of its tail might have a lot to do with the price. Six inches is the dividing line between the classifications of humorous items and animal figures.

Ms. Wright said "clothing and toys comprise some of the stranger classifications." Customs

ROBERT J. SMITH, inc.
INSURANCE SINCE 1914
649-5241
65 E. Center Street
Manchester, Ct.

INSURANCE SINCE 1914

That type of maneuver is becoming more and more important because quotas are the way the world is going," Ms. Wright said. The prospect of warehousing a product that is turned back on quota "can have a great impact on an importer's cash flow. The technicalities and the timing get very complicated."

Liggett VALENTINE SALE
"We Save You Money!"
404 W. Middle Tpk. At The Parkade
GIFT WRAP FREE

Russell Stover CANDIES

OPIMUM $28 to $90

Fancy Candy $1.95 to $29.50
by SCHRAFFT
RUSSELL STOVER
CANDY CHIFFONARD

Chanel 5 $17 to $50

FINE PERFUMES and FINE COLOGNES

GIANT KISS by HERSEY $2.59 Reg. 3.49

SAVE *10

Norelco ROTARY TRACTOR $3988 Sale Price Reg. $59.95

SAVE *20.

VITAMIN SALE 30%-80% OFF

SAVE *3.00

SAVE *1.50

99¢ Reg. 2.49

OLYMPIC TEAM VITAMIN SAVE 5.28

MYADEC Reg. 11.95 Sale Price 7.99 Last Mfg. Rebate 7.00 FINAL COST 5.99

PLAN 21 oz. SUPER GIANT SIZE $5.99 Reg. 9.99

30 FREE WITH 100

30 FREE WITH 100

ACTIVED TABLETS 24'S $1.39 Reg. 1.95

SAVE ON TAXES AN INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT (IRA) INVESTED WITH MSB IS AN INVESTMENT IN MANCHESTER'S FUTURE. SAVE ON TAXES

- HIGH RATES
- FULLY INSURED
- INVESTED LOCALLY
- CAN BE DEDUCTED FROM YOUR 1983 INCOME

FIXED RATE 10.50%
ANNUAL YIELD 11.231%

OUR INTEREST IS THE GREATER MANCHESTER AREA

MANCHESTER STATE BANK
1041 MAIN ST., MANCHESTER • TEL. 646-4004

Town hall under siege

The Manchester Municipal Building is under siege in anticipation of the battle of the bargains on Saturday, when shoppers are expected to invade Main Street for a Presidents Day sale. The one-day sale should please even the most patriotic of penny-pinchers, as Main Street merchants shoot down prices. The sales promotion, which has become a tradition in town, is being sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association.

Contract sets marriage rules

Catholic teachers must obey church

By Sarah E. Hall
Herald Reporter

At five Catholic high schools in Greater Hartford, a new contract provision requires that teachers obey the marriage laws of their church or risk losing their jobs.

The mandate is one of four "side letters," or additions, to the hotly contested 1983-86 teachers' contract. It was drafted by lawyers for both the Diocesan School Office and the Greater Hartford Catholic Education Association.

It holds special importance for teachers at East Catholic High School in Manchester, where four were fired over the past several years for breach of Catholic marriage laws. The last teacher fired argued before a state arbiter that her marriage to a man of a different faith in a non-Catholic ceremony was not cause for termination of her contract. She lost.

"This has always been a very strong issue between the association and the Diocesan School Office," said Thomas Dickau, union president, in a phone interview Monday. "We feel it may mean violation of a person's civil rights."

He said he knew no teacher the new regulation will affect immediately, but nonetheless, he was alarmed at its implications.

"To a certain degree, it's an invasion of our private lives," he added. "The Diocese of Hartford has to learn to separate the individual away from the school system from the individual in the school system."

Parents entrust their children to us because we are committed to upholding the standards and values of the Catholic faith," the Rev. Henry Frascadore, assistant superintendent for secondary schools, said today.

Frascadore dismissed Dickau's complaint that the administration has, in effect, placed teachers under 24-hour-a-day scrutiny. He said there's no reason to believe the administration would abuse the new rule.

Dickau, however, said the question on many teachers' minds is "What other parts of our private lives could cause the same type of termination?"

He cited the long-standing "rights of citizenship" clause in the existing contract as a "mumbo-jumbo of words which gives us no rights whatsoever."

That clause says the personal life of a school teacher is not grounds for disciplinary action

"except as it may interfere with the teacher's responsibilities to, and/or relationships with students, and/or the school."

The new side letter clears up the one-gray area of teacher marriage and remarriage.

East Catholic Principal William Charbonneau said this morning that it makes sense for the educational arm of the diocese to uphold church teachings.

THE SIDE LETTER reads: "Marriage of a Catholic teacher which is not recognized as valid by the Catholic Church shall constitute due and sufficient cause for termination of the teacher's contract and employment and such termination shall not be subject to arbitration."

Non-Catholic teachers in the Catholic schools are not affected by the new rule, as long as they uphold the marriage laws of their own church, Dickau said.

Impeachment hearings proceed

HARTFORD (UPI) — A special House committee today rejected a last-minute request for dismissal and voted to begin hearings in the first impeachment case in Connecticut history.

Deputy House Speaker Robert Frankel, D-Stratford, co-chairman of the select committee, overruled a request for dismissal by the impeachment proceedings against Hartford Probate Judge James H. Kinsella.

The committee then voted 7-4 to reject another request to delay hearings on whether to recommend Kinsella be impeached until the state Supreme Court rules on a challenge to the constitutionality of the proceedings.

The committee, equally divided between Democrats and Republicans, was created by the House last year to investigate Kinsella's conduct and recommend to the full House if Kinsella should be the first person impeached in Connecticut.

The House voted the investigation after Kinsella was censured by a judicial ethics council for his handling of the $33 million dollar estate of an elderly West Hartford woman.

The committee will recommend to the House whether Kinsella should be impeached. The House will then decide if he will face trial by the Senate and possible removal from office.

As the committee prepared to begin its hearings, Wade made his last-minute effort to have the proceedings dismissed, citing the

Please turn to page 10

Inside Today

20 pages, 2 sections

Advice ..... 7
Area towns ..... 10
Classified ..... 10, 20
Comics ..... 16-19
Entertainment ..... 3
Fiction ..... 12
Golf ..... 12
Obituaries ..... 10
Opinion ..... 4
People talk ..... 2
Sports ..... 18
Television ..... 8
Weather ..... 2

Please turn to page 10