Impending space trip doesn't faze teacher

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — The teacher selected to be the first private citizen to fly in the space shuttle confessed Friday that merry-go-rounds make her queasy, but said she has no qualms about her Jan. 23 blastoff. Social studies teacher Christa McAuliffe, who will conduct live televised lessons while orbiting the earth at more than 17,500 mph, said she hopes her historic mission makes people realize that "space is for everybody." During a final visit home for the holidays in New Hampshire's capital city, McAuliffe outlined her lessons, one of which she calls "The Ultimate Field Trip." McAuliffe said the lesson will provide viewers with a glimpse into daily life aboard the shuttle, including a tour of the bathroom and kitchen facilities. "We've had a lot of questions about that," McAuliffe said about the bathroom. "It looks very similar to what we have at home." A second lesson will show the

Beirut rivals to end 'dialogue of bullets'

By David Zenlin
United Press International
BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanon's three main rival militias Friday began final preparations to sign a Syrian-inspired plan aimed at ending 10 years of civil war despite last-minute objections from hard-line critics. "The agreement is ready. The militias will give the nation the New Year's gift it really deserves," state-owned Beirut radio said. Militia sources said the peace package, which calls for an end to a state of war between Lebanon's main armed Christian and Muslim groups and outlines major political reforms, will be signed before the end of the year. "The dialogue of bullets is over," said state-owned Damascus radio. The radio did not announce when representatives of the three militias — the Christian Lebanese Forces, the Shiite Muslim Amal and the Druze Progressive Socialist Party — would sign the peace plan. The accord was initiated Wednesday by militia representatives in Damascus. Militia sources said Amal militia leader Nabih Berri left for Damascus Friday and would be followed by Druze counterpart Walid Jumblatt and their long-time enemy Elie Hobeika — the Christian Lebanese Forces militia chief. The pro-Christian Al Joumhouria newspaper said the accord would be signed within 48 hours and the pro-Syrian Al Sharq

Education crackdown gets money returned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Education Department said it has recovered $11.8 million in misused school funds and won the convictions of 79 people for theft and other crimes involving federal education grants and loans. Department Inspector General James F. Thomas Jr., in a report sent to Congress, said there had been 98 indictments over a six-month period ending Sept. 30. The indictments, he said, involved charges of fraudulent claims of eligibility for student financial aid, embezzlement and theft. In addition, he said, there had been mispending due to poor management practices of colleges, banks, state agencies and local

U.S./World In Brief Judge OKs redistricting plan

CHICAGO — A federal judge on Friday approved redistricting seven of the city's 50 wards to significantly increase their minority population in a move that could shift the balance of power in the strife-torn City Council. However, U.S. District Judge Charles Norgle said he would not rule until Monday on whether to hold special early elections in the redistricted wards or wait for the regularly scheduled elections in 1987. Political observers have speculated that early special elections could give Mayor Harold Washington, the city's first black mayor, the opportunity to consolidate control of the council before he must face re-election, also in 1987. Attorneys for blacks and Hispanics went to court in 1981 to challenge a map drawn that year by the City Council to reflect population shifts found in the 1980 census.

Means fights Sandinistas

WASHINGTON — Militant American Indian leader Russell Means, saying that "Marxists are racists," left for Central America Friday on a mission to bring "warriors" to Nicaragua to join Indians fighting the country's Sandinista government. Means, a Sioux Indian who led the 1973 Wounded Knee uprising in South Dakota, told United Press International as he left for Costa Rica that there will be up to 100 New American Indian Movement members from the United States and Canada in Central America "by the first week of April." Once there, they will help the Costa Rica-based MISURASATA Indian organization and the U.S.-backed Contra rebels battle Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega's Marxist-led government.

Hundreds hunt missing girl

STAPLETON, Ga. — Hundreds of people left holiday celebrations Friday to search a rural Georgia county for two 12-year-old girls who disappeared without a trace last Sunday. Police suspect an abduction. Some 200 volunteers started a yard-by-yard search through the pine woods of Jefferson County in east Georgia, looking for Jessica Barrow and Elizabeth Tanner. It was the fifth day of massive searches by hundreds of volunteers, local police, the Georgia State Patrol, civil defense, and the Air National Guard. Authorities believe the girls were abducted because they have no history of truancy or running away. The two, who were spending time together over the holidays, were last seen riding their bicycles on a dirt road outside Stapleton Sunday. Their bikes tracked out on the dirt road, near the print of a man's shoe and a partial tire tread authorities believe was made by a van or a pickup truck. There were no signs of a struggle or forced kidnapping.

Israelis vow revenge

TEL AVIV, Israel — Israel vowed Friday to "do its duty" and avenge twin terrorist attacks on El Al Israel Airlines check-in counters at crowded airports in Rome and Vienna. Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin said it was not known yet who was behind the bloody attacks early Friday. But a Foreign Ministry spokesman earlier said Israel did not rule out the possibility the Palestine Liberation Organization was responsible. PLO spokesmen in Rome and Tunisia denied any involvement. "Israel will do its duty," said Deputy Prime Minister David Levy. "This organization will not get away without punishment."

Gorbachev cites dangers

MOSCOW — Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev made a New Year appeal Friday to the United States to join Moscow in halting nuclear tests and said an end to the "runaway" arms race in 1986 depends on the superpower arms talks in Geneva. Gorbachev detailed what he sees as the dangers of the coming year to a Kremlin gathering of ambassadors from both East and West. "They include an ongoing, runaway arms race and stubborn attempts by militarist quarters to extend it to outer space," he said in an apparent reference to the Reagan administration's proposed Strategic Defense Initiative, commonly known as "Star Wars."

Three Miami cops face murder charges

By Lea Kips
United Press International
MIAMI — Three members of the Miami police force were charged Thursday with first-degree murder in the drownings of three suspected drug dealers, the latest in a series of scandals to hit the beleaguered department. The drownings occurred during an alleged police raid of more than 300 kilos of cocaine worth up to $20 million. One other officer and two civilians also were arrested in the case. "It is alleged that on July 28 six individuals dressed as police officers entered Jones Boat Yard," said a written statement from Dade County police who arrested the city officers. The individuals approached six other men guarding 300 to 400 kilos of cocaine. The approach caused the six guards to jump into the Miami River, causing the death of three of them, the statement said. Police spokesmen said they did not know what happened to the cocaine. That much uncut cocaine could be worth as much as $20 million on the street. Charged Friday with first-degree murder and various cocaine trafficking charges were Armando Estrada, 26; Roman Rodriguez, 29; and Armando Garcia, 28. Charged with armed cocaine trafficking and aggravated battery was officer Arturo de La Vega, 26. Civilians arrested were Pablo Baez, 43, charged with second-degree murder, and Ruben Ortiz, 32, charged with cocaine trafficking. Police said they were looking for Osvaldo Coella, a former officer who resigned earlier this year. He faces cocaine and aggravated

Consumer group hits year in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A national consumers group Friday graded Congress and the administration on their handling of consumer issues, complaining of a year of virtual inaction and warning that new problems may accompany budget-cutting measures. "Unfortunately, the Gramm-Rudman approach to reducing the deficit is a clumsy, ill-conceived mechanism which may cause many disruptions in — and loss of — crucial government programs," the league said. Consumers already have lost some basic protection, Linda Goldner, executive director of the league, told a news conference. She complained that in recent years, the Environmental Protection Agency's powers have been "seriously eroded" and that the Federal Aviation Administration has been forced to operate without enough inspectors and air traffic

Nuclear plant nears license

WATERFORD — After 15 years of producing electricity, the Millstone 1 nuclear power plant has been designated to receive its permanent operating license from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

NRC action on a so-called "full-term license" for the 660-megawatt plant in Waterford has been repeatedly put on hold due to court battles, changes in regulations and the Three Mile Island accident in Pennsylvania.

Millstone 1 has been operating with a provisional license since 1970. When a full-term license is issued, nothing will change in how the plant is operated, although some say it is important to investors.

AMHERST Mass. (UPI) — The owners of the Lord Jeffrey Inn Friday decided to close the hotel and restaurant after unionized employees rejected a final contract offer in a bitter labor dispute.

Bonding for mill hits snag

By John F. Kirch
Herald Reporter
Prospects for a bond issue that would have allowed a development partnership tax-exempt financing for the conversion of a former Cheney Brothers mill into apartments are dead for 1985.
This morning, the Manchester Redevelopment Agency canceled a meeting scheduled for tonight at which it had planned to approve the structure and rate of up to $12 million in tax-exempt bonds for the conversion of the building on Elm Street into 249 apartments.
Agency Chairwoman Amy Burns said questions raised about the financing of the project would have to be answered before the agency could vote on the bond issue.
"I feel badly about it because I'm in favor of the project," Burns said. "But there's nothing I can do about it. I have to do my job."
The meeting will not be rescheduled for Tuesday, the last day of 1985, Burns said. The date was considered important because of possible changes in the tax code for projects initiated after the new year.
Despite the problem, the attorney who represents the developers said today that the conversion would go forward "one way or the other."
The bonds were being sought by the Silk Mill Associates Limited Partnership to finance the redevelopment of the former Weaving Mill at 91 Elm St. The building is located in the Cheney Historic District, where several such projects are already under way.
The bonds would have been backed by the Federal National Mortgage Association — also known as Fannie Mae — and would have presented no financial risk to the town.
Silk Mill Associates — which comprises David C. Woodbury and Associates Inc. of Manchester and Munro, Jennings and Deig Associates of Farmington — wanted to issue the bonds before Tuesday because of possible changes in the tax-exempt status of the bonds that might be brought on by tax legislation passed in Washington next year. But delays developed in the approval of a mortgage rate for the project, one of the important factors in the bond plan.
Manchester attorney Dominic J. Squatrito, who represents Silk Mill Associates, said the developers were negotiating for a 9 percent mortgage rate, but were offered a rate no lower than 9.4 or 9.5 percent.
The higher mortgage rate would mean a lower net income for the developers. As a result, Fannie Mae, which originally agreed to back up to $12 million worth of bonds, would only guarantee $9.8 million, Squatrito said.
Although the developers said the project could work with only $9.8 million worth of bonds, Burns said the complications in Fannie Mae's

Bird watchers Todd McGrath, left, and Fred McGrath, both of Lyness Street, scan the horizon at the town landfill Saturday during the Audubon Society's annual winter bird count. The father-son team and other Manchester bird watchers counted a record 63 species of birds Saturday — the most of any of the eight area towns included in the count. A bald eagle and an Iceland gull were among the most unusual birds seen at the landfill. Story, more pictures on page 3.

Education bill predicted
Lawmakers see good session

By George Loyne

In spite of rampant election-year politicking, the coming short session of the General Assembly will be a productive one in which bills to increase teachers' salaries and help towns obtain insurance coverage will be passed, area legislators predicted today.
"I think there will be a lot of rhetoric, a lot of proposals and a lot of counterproposals," said state Sen. Carl A. Zinsner, R-Manchester. "But when all is said and done, I think we'll see bills passed on insurance and teacher salaries."
Reps. Elsie L. Swenson, R-Manchester, James R. McCavanagh, D-Manchester, and Peter Fuscas, R-Marlborough, agreed with Zinsner that the short session would be productive. However, Fuscas, whose 55th Assembly District includes Bolton, Andover and part of Manchester, cautioned that election-year politics would slow up the proceedings.
"Every special interest and politician will be trying to buy votes," he said. "The trick is, can you give everybody everything and still avoid a tax increase."
The short session, which will begin Feb. 5 and run until May, differs from regular legislative sessions in that bills can only be proposed by committees. The intent is to limit the number of bills that the General Assembly has to consider.
However, McCavanagh said some legislators will have committees introduce a large number of bills.
"The Reagan administration, however, is predicting much faster growth this year at a rate of around 4 percent. While this is definitely higher than the prediction of most private analysts, some economists share this optimism."

Economy has worst showing in six months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main gauge of future economic activity rose a tiny 0.1 percent in November, the smallest gain since June, the government reported today.
The Commerce Department said the advance for its Index of Leading Indicators was down sharply from the 0.4 percent gains registered in both September and October.
Without a big rise in stock prices during the month, the index would have shown a 0.3 percent decline. The November gain matched a 0.1 percent rise in June and was the weakest change since a 0.5 percent decline in April.
The weak showing surprised many analysts who had been expecting a much better performance given the fact that the stock market hit record highs during the month.
But the slight advance was in line with expectations that the economy will continue growing next year, though at much the same sluggish rate as in 1985.
Many analysts feel that 1986 is shaping up to be a virtual replay of this year with modest growth, continued low inflation and further declines in interest rates.
While few analysts are predicting a recession, they aren't looking for very robust growth, either. One of the reasons for the pessimism is the fact that the economy is now in the fourth year of recovery from the 1981-82 recession, considered old age as recoveries normally go.
Many economists are predicting a modest advance in the gross national product of between 2.5 percent and 3 percent this year. This would be only slightly better than the preliminary estimate that the economy this year grew at a 2.4 percent rate, down sharply from the robust 6.6 percent growth turned in last year.
THE REAGAN administration, however, is predicting much faster growth this year at a rate of around 4 percent. While this is definitely higher than the prediction of most private analysts, some economists share this optimism.
Michael Evans, head of Evans Economics, a Washington forecasting firm, said he believes the GNP will grow 4 percent this year as business investment improves.

Evans and economists in the administration cite the record-setting stock market advance and the big declines in interest rates of recent weeks as evidence that the economy is reviving.
The sharp rise in the stock market was the biggest positive contributor to the rise in the Leading Index for November.
It was one of only four indicators that showed increases for the month. Other indicators which contributed to the rise were net business formation, changes in raw materials prices and manufacturers' orders for consumer goods.
FIVE INDICATORS had a negative effect on the index. The biggest negative influence came from a drop in the level of business and consumer credit followed by speed in filling orders, orders for capital equipment, building permits and weekly unemployment claims.
Two indicators, the average workweek and the money supply, showed no change in November.
The weakness in the November index was evidence, many analysts said, to support their belief that the economy will continue its sluggish growth in the new year.
These analysts contend that consumer and business spending, as well as government budget cuts, will all contribute to weak economic growth.
In other economic news, the National Association of Realtors said 3.43 million homes were sold in November at an annual rate adjusted for seasonal fluctuations, down from 3.65 million in October. That represents a 3.4 percent drop for November.
Last month's rate was 21.2 percent above the 2.83 million-unit rate recorded a year earlier.
Nationwide, the median price of an existing home fell $200 in November to $74,000. That was 3.8 percent above the $71,900 median price reported in November, 1984.

Funeral held in Rome for slain American girl

By Jennifer Parmelee

ROME — A judge today questioned the lone terrorist suspect who survived the bloody attack on Rome's airport that killed 18 people, and family and friends buried the youngest victim, an 11-year-old American girl.
Roman Catholic funeral services were held in Rome for Natasha Simpson, one of five Americans killed in the bloodbath at the Leonardo da Vinci terminal.
The daughter of Associated Press Rome news editor Victor Simpson was slain as her family prepared to fly to the United States for the holidays. Simpson and his 9-year-old son, Michael, were among the wounded.
Pope John Paul II sent Archbishop Justin Regali as his special representative to the funeral to "express his deep sorrow and solidarity."
Simpson has covered the Vatican for 13 years and frequently traveled with John Paul II on his foreign journeys. Also attending the Roman Catholic service at the North American College was U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Rabb.
Three of the Palestinian commandos who staged the Friday massacre at Leonardo da Vinci airport died in a shootout with authorities. Italian police said Sunday the gunmen probably received support from accomplices still at large who were responsible for other attacks in Rome.
La Repubblica, a left-leaning Rome daily, quoted Adm. Fulvio Martini, head of the Italian military secret service agency SISMI, as saying the terrorists had been trained in Iran and had stopped off in Syria before coming to Italy.
Nearly 80 people were injured when the four opened fire with automatic weapons and hurled hand grenades inside the Rome airport terminal, while a near-simultaneous assault near the El Al check-in counter at Vienna's Schwechat airport left three dead.
