Hockanum tests canoeists, delights viewers

By John F. Kirch

Steve Chase sat on his 17-foot aluminum canoe Sunday afternoon, drinking a cold Budweiser and wiping the sweat from his forehead. Although he didn't know it at the time, Chase and his partner, Larry Bates, had finished sixth in their class in the 11th annual Hockanum River Canoe Race.

But as both rested at the finish line behind the Powder Mill shopping plaza in East Hartford, their 1:18:41 finishing time was not the most important part of this sunny, warm day. Having fun and drinking a beer was.

"I'm tired," Chase said, still panting. "Your mouth gets so dry, it's incredible," he said, taking another sip of cold beer.

CHASE WAS AMONG the 228 people in 114 canoes who took part in this year's race, making the event the second largest in its history.

About 1,000 people watched the race, cheering and yelling advice to unsuspecting canoeists approaching rough spots on the river. And there were plenty of rough spots.

The Hockanum River's tight bends and strong currents make it a hard river to race, canoeists agreed.

"My shoulders, everything is stiff," said racer Lloyd Parker. "But it's fun. I love it. People are watching you, cheering you on. They stand there helping you. There's a lot of good people out there. When possible you take their advice. But sometimes you make a wrong turn and you say, 'Forget it.'"

Hinckley still poses threat, feds warn

By James Rowley
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr., seeking court permission for an unescorted visit to his family, is being branded as dangerous by prosecutors, while his lawyers argue the government is focusing only on the past.

Psychiatrists at St. Elizabeths Hospital, where Hinckley is being held, say a one-day Easter visit would be therapeutic for Hinckley, who was acquitted by reason of insanity of charges he tried to assassinate President Reagan in 1981.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker scheduled a hearing today to consider testimony from psychiatrists and evidence from federal prosecutors who contend Hinckley is a continued threat to Reagan's safety.

The government, citing letters Hinckley wrote discussing plans to escape from St. Elizabeths, disputes the hospital's conclusion that Hinckley poses no danger.

"If psychiatry was capable of predicting Mr. Hinckley's future dangerousness, there would never have been the need for a trial in this case," prosecutors said in court papers that noted Hinckley's extensive history of mental illness.

Hinckley shot and wounded Reagan, presidential press secretary James S. Brady, a Secret Service agent and a city policeman outside a downtown hotel March 30, 1981. He was committed to St. Elizabeths in 1982 after his trial before Parker.

Hinckley's attorneys said in court papers that the government "remains focused on the past, simply retelling Mr. Hinckley's past acts."

They said psychiatric evidence of a substantial improvement in Hinckley's mental condition "far outweighs the single factor of past acts."

Hinckley gradually has been given more and more privileges, including the right to move unescorted in the grounds to and from his hospital job, they argued.

But the government, citing letters Hinckley wrote, argues, "Hinckley's history of dangerous and unpredictable conduct did not cease upon his admission to the hospital."

Prosecutors cite letters Hinckley wrote discussing plans to escape from the hospital, including a 1982 letter to a friend asking her to mail him a gun to facilitate an escape.

The letter, apparently written to

Penny Lynn Bailey of Chicago, also asked her to kill actress Jodie Foster or hijack an airplane to force his release.

Ms. Bailey was charged in 1984 with threatening to kill one of her former teachers. When she was arrested, the FBI said Ms. Bailey had offered to kill Miss Foster for Hinckley.

Prosecutors say Hinckley shot Reagan in an attempt to impress Miss Foster, for whom he had an obsessive love.

Another Hinckley letter was written to a fellow patient described by prosecutors as a convicted felon "notorious for his escape attempts."

The government also cited Hinckley's recently expressed desire to go live with a woman who once killed her sleeping 16-year-old daughter with a shotgun.

Chapter 11 bid angers Pennzoil

Texaco largest company to file

By Rick Gladstone
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Texaco Inc. became the biggest U.S. company ever to file for bankruptcy protection in a move it blamed on Pennzoil Co.'s "greed" for trying to collect an $11.1 billion judgment from a battle over Getty Oil Co.

Texaco said its filing Sunday under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code would prevent its devastation while it appeals the judgment. The action drew an angry response, however, from Pennzoil, which now faces a complex fight to collect from a company 18 times its size.

Stock prices of both companies tumbled today. Orders to sell companies' stocks swamped the New York Stock Exchange when it opened, causing trading in the two stocks to be temporarily delayed. Once trading began, Texaco's stock fell $3.12 1/2 a share to $28.75, and Pennzoil's stock plunged $12.75 a share to $79.50.

Analysts said Texaco's move could pressure both companies to settle their bitter dispute, in which Pennzoil accused Texaco of illegally interfering in a planned merger between Pennzoil and Getty in 1984.

Baine P. Kerr, chairman of Pennzoil's executive committee, accused Texaco of arrogant, improper behavior.

Texaco president James W. Kinnear said Pennzoil had "budged Texaco with unreasonable demands" and "placed its own greed above any consideration of fundamental fairness or the public welfare."

Texaco, the country's third-largest oil company, remains solvent, analysts said, and its day-to-day operations should be unaffected. But the filing gives Texaco a reprieve from creditors, freezes Pennzoil's attempts to seize Texaco assets and places Texaco under strict supervision of a federal court.

"This was a most difficult, painful and wrenching decision for me and the other members of Texaco's board of directors," Kinnear, the company's chief executive officer, told a New York news conference.

"However, we had no choice in the matter," he said. "We were, quite simply, forced to make a Chapter 11 filing because Pennzoil has rejected any reasonable basis for settling the absurd $11.1 billion Texas judgment."

Texaco and Pennzoil have been fighting in Texas and federal courts since a Houston jury agreed that Texaco unfairly acquired Getty and awarded Pennzoil a record $10.5 billion damages.

The Texas Court of Appeals cut the award by $2 billion, but with interest Texaco owes $11.1 billion. Last week the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Texas law requires Texaco to post a bond in that amount while it appeals the judgment.

A hearing on the bond had been scheduled today in a Texas appellate court in Houston, but the hearing was postponed because of the bankruptcy filing.

Kinnear said uncertainty over the outcome of the dispute has frightened Texaco customers, lenders and suppliers, making it difficult for the company to arrange credit and conduct business.

Texaco's stock value eroded while Pennzoil's stock soared in recent days because of the dispute. On Friday, Texaco dropped 37 1/2 cents a share to $31.87 1/2, and Pennzoil jumped $5.25 to $92.25.

Texaco acknowledged that it purposely announced before financial markets opened today that the company had filed the Chapter 11 petition in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in White Plains, where Texaco is headquartered.

Kerr, of the Houston-based Pennzoil, said he was surprised and annoyed.

"It shows in my judgment an arrogance and disregard for the whole judicial process and an attempt to use the bankruptcy laws improperly," Kerr said.

Anti-smoking bills move to legislature

HARTFORD — Two anti-smoking bills may be voted on this week by the General Assembly, including one that would ban smoking in restaurants in Connecticut.

Meanwhile, the Government Administration and Elections Committee faces a Wednesday deadline for reporting out bills to the full legislature. The committee is expected to act on proposed absentee-ballot reforms.

One smoking bill, already endorsed by the Public Health Committee and ready for action by the Senate, would ban smoking in restaurants except in rooms used for private parties and in bar areas where no food is served.

Current state law requires restaurants with seating capacities of 75 or more to set aside no-smoking sections.

Meanwhile, the House could act on a bill that would ban the sale of cigarettes to anyone 18 years of age or younger.

Man fatally shoots neighbor

NEW HAVEN — A 19-year-old man arrested and charged with the fatal shooting of a neighbor was being held on a $50,000 bond. Ernest Bradshaw was charged with first-degree manslaughter in the death of 21-year-old Joseph Wilmont, who lived across the street from him in the Newhallville section of the city, said New Haven Police Commander John Maher.

Bradshaw, who was scheduled to be arraigned today at the New Haven Superior Court, was being held in the State Correctional Facility, said Sargeant John Lehr.

Wilmont was shot once in the chest during a dispute Saturday and died in the emergency room at Yale-New Haven Hospital a short time later, Maher said, declining to release further details of the death.

U.S. 'overmilitarized,' governor says

NEW HAVEN — Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste expressed concern Sunday in an appearance at Yale over what he called the "overmilitarization" of U.S. foreign policy.

But his comment came in response to a question during a panel discussion, and he brushed aside suggestions by reporters that he was making a venture into the 1988 national presidential arena.

Celeste was the main speaker at the inaugural Chester Bowles lecture series at Yale's law school, where he shared the platform with scholars and officials who included P.K. Kaul, the Indian ambassador to the United States.

Bowles, who died last year, was ambassador to India under Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy. Celeste was an aide to Bowles in India in the early 1960s and, like the former ambassador, is an alumnus of Yale.

Celeste, after devoting most of his prepared comments to economic ties between India and the U.S., was asked to describe what effects the political climate might have on India.

Indicating he was not expecting the question, the governor said "You have asked me a tough one."

Record students apply at Yale

NEW HAVEN — Yale University has accepted 2,183 high school seniors for admission this fall to the class of 1991, the Ivy League school said.

A record number of 13,057 seniors from around the country and abroad sought admission to Yale — a 4.2 percent increase over last year — with the vast majority coming from California and New York states.

Yale said a record number of minority students applied and were accepted for the freshman class. Admission was offered to 623 minority students, or 28.5 percent of the total compared with 24.7 percent last year.

Yale officials say they expect 60 percent of the 1,225 male and 958 female students offered admission to accept. The class will number about 1,300 students.

For 1987-88, tuition, room and board at Yale cost $17,020. About 42 percent of current Yale students receive financial aid from the university. Next year, Yale will spend $13.2 million on financial aid — a 12 percent increase over 1986-87.

Two face court in Wells Fargo

HARTFORD — How long is too long? That's the legal question that is to be taken up Tuesday by a panel of three judges of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a case involving two defendants in the Wells Fargo robbery case who have been held without bond since their arrests August 30, 1985.

The case involves Filibereto Ojeda-Rios, 53, and Juan E. Segarra III, 36, the only two of 16 defendants who have not been allowed to post bond for freedom pending trial on charges in that $7 million robbery at the West Hartford Wells Fargo, on Sept. 12, 1985.

Fourteen of the defendants in the case have been freed on bonds as high as $1 million. Nine of the defendants had been held without bond until late last year when the appeals court said that despite evidence some would flee prosecution, U.S. District Judge T. Emmet Clarke must release at least two of the defendants on bail.

"Detention without trial is the hallmark of repressive regimes," said one defense lawyer, William Kunstler of New York City.

Mob attacks New Haven cops

NEW HAVEN — Two city police officers investigating a car crime were attacked by about 20 people throwing rocks and bottles, authorities said.

Five people were arrested after the melee on Sunday afternoon, authorities said.

Police said a fight broke out between the drivers of two cars involved in an accident. The officers' efforts to stop the fight drew a crowd of about 100, and about 20 people started throwing rocks, bottles, sticks and an empty 55-gallon drum, authorities said.

One of the officers was bitten on the hand and the other was struck in the back with the drum, police said.

The names of the officers were not released, police spokesman Sgt. James Sorrentino said today.

Fumes send 13 to hospitals

WATERBURY — Thirteen people sought treatment for breathing problems and burning eyes, noses and throats after being exposed to fumes from a mysterious chemical left on a city street, authorities said.

Dr. Adrienne LeBailly of the Waterbury Health Department said residue of white powder found on Plaza Avenue Sunday night was being analyzed today.

It appeared to be "some type of water-reactive material" because it gave off fumes after firefighters began washing it away, she said.

The victims, who included 12 residents of Plaza Avenue apartments and a firefighter, were treated and released from Waterbury hospitals, LeBailly said.

Police search for I-95 sniper

WESTPORT — Police are still searching for the sniper who opened fire on a section of Interstate 95, striking two vehicles and slightly injuring one man.

State police spokesman Sgt. Daniel Lewis said the first shot shattered the windshield of a northbound pickup truck near exit 18 at about 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

The truck's 30-year-old driver, whose name was not available, suffered minor cuts from the flying glass and was treated and released from Norwalk Hospital, Lewis said.

Shortly after, a car was struck by a bullet on its right side as it traveled south toward New York City, he said.

The highway was closed for about half an hour while state police, Westport police and Norwalk police searched the area, Lewis said.

State police took both vehicles to the Westport barracks for further examination, he said.

Five lose lives over weekend

By The Associated Press

A Milford police officer was killed, two people died in a Glastonbury fire and two men died in separate motorcycle accidents over the weekend in Connecticut, authorities reported.

Officer Daniel Scott Wasson, 25, was found lying on the side of the Boston Post Road in Milford at 2:45 a.m. Sunday by a passing motorist. Milford Police Officer Art Godbout said. Wasson was wounded in the chest and was pronounced dead at Yale-New Haven Hospital shortly after 3 a.m., he said.

"Naturally everybody's a little shook up and it's hard to describe how everybody feels," Godbout said. It was the first killing of a member of his department in the line of duty.

About eight hours later Milford police arrested Thomas A. Hoyesen, 33, whose last known address was in Bridgeport, and charged him with capital felony murder, Godbout said. Hoyesen was scheduled to be arraigned in Derby Superior Court on Monday and was being held on $500,000 bond.

Hoyesen was first detained by Bridgeport police shortly after the shooting, said Bridgeport Police Lt. Philip Napolitano. Hoyesen fitted a description Milford police had put out after the shooting and three officers detained him by arresting him on outstanding motor vehicle

Absentee ballot bill faces committee

By Judd Everhart

The Associated Press

HARTFORD — After three months of haggling, a legislative committee is to vote on a bill calling for sweeping changes in the way absentee ballots are handled.

The bill grew out of the scandal in Waterbury's gubernatorial delegate primary last year when supporters of Gov. William A. O'Neill and former Congressman Toby Moffett. Ten people were arrested on charges stemming from absentee ballot fraud in that election, which O'Neill's supporters won by 43 votes.

The Government Administration and Elections Committee has a deadline of Wednesday for acting on the measure, which was put together after the Program Review and Reform Commission issued a series of recommendations on absentee voting in the wake of the Waterbury case.

Lawmakers have sought to balance the need to tighten the absentee ballot process against the desire not to make it so restrictive that legitimate absentee ballot voters are discouraged from voting.

The main "reform" bill would: —keep confidential the list of people requesting absentee ballots.

—bar town clerks from giving absentee ballot applications to campaign workers.

—require a judicial hearing when there are at least 50 absentee ballots cast in an election and those

Man says he was molested as youth

DARIEN (AP) — A 56-year-old Darien man who is facing nearly 200 counts of sexually abusing teen-age boys claims he was molested himself 43 years ago, according to a published report.

A copyright story based on an interview with John Davis appeared in Sunday editions of The Advocate of Stamford. His attorney, William Bluelich Jr., said he was allowing the newspaper interview in the hopes that the public would better understand the nature of Davis' condition.

Prosecutors in state Superior Court in Stamford would not comment on the issues of the pending case. The names of the victims are confidential and the files have been ordered sealed by a judge.

Davis said doctors at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore, where he has been admitted, have diagnosed him as suffering from ephesiphilia, a sexual attraction to teen-age boys.

Like many pedophiles — those who are physically or sexually attracted to children — Davis says he is a former victim. He was 13 when he says he was molested by an 18-year-old man in Darien.

"Apparently, it is a trigger mechanism for this kind of illness," Davis said last week. "Apparently it was traumatic, but I don't believe I treated it as such at that time."

He said that he had no other sexual experience until he was married. Davis said he had been happily married for 25 years and lives in Darien, first working in advertising and then as a salesman.

Davis was a homeowner, assistant scout leader and volunteer firefighter. About eight years ago, he said he started having sexual fantasies about young boys.

"As near as I can read, I began to bury those thoughts, feelings, emotions, as not being appropriate," Davis said. "That built up more stress."

But as time went on, Davis said, "I knew, finally, that something had built up inside and I had to let it out."

Pedophiles are often former victims, according to special agent Kenneth Lanning of the FBI's Academy of Behavioral Sciences Unit in Quantico, Va.

Vulnerable children are frequently targeted, Lanning said. "It may get to the point where the child is willing to trade sex for affection," he added.

Davis said he has trouble remembering exactly what he did. He said his recall has been aided by therapy.

"I realize what I did was terribly wrong ... Looking back, I realize how devastating it was to my family and the victims as well. I don't think I saw it that way at the time," he said.

Dr. Fred Berlin, who runs the Bisexual Psychohermoneal Clinic at Johns Hopkins, said Davis may not yet have fully realized the impact of his actions.

"It's important to have him see more clearly the problems that are a result of his behavior," Berlin said last week. "Some people are attracted sexually to kids and the person feels it is improper, and it is a tremendous conflict. Others simply don't see it."

"I think he falls into the latter category. He didn't see it as something causing harm to other people."

Since Feb. 24, Davis has been receiving two shots per week of Depo-Provera, a drug that reduces the level of male hormones in the blood system. He also participates in group and individual therapy sessions.

The drug, while legal, is considered experimental when treating sex offenders. In men, the drug lowers the level of testosterone, the hormone that controls sexual drive.

But many long-term side effects are unknown, Berlin said. Davis said the drug is working, that he has no fantasies and no sexual urges.

But he also said that he believes that the program is not a cure. "It is a very, very positive way of helping me control the urges," he said. Bluelich said he is trying to get the court to grant continued treatment for his client and a "relatively short period of incarceration."

He said prosecutors have made a plea bargain offer of a long jail term, so long that it would be an effective life sentence for Davis. State's Attorney Eugene Callahan and his assistant, Bruce Hudock, would not discuss the case.

Bluelich would not allow Davis to answer specific questions about the allegations. "John hasn't admitted anything at this point," Bluelich said. "Obviously, in going for help, he realizes there is a problem. Specific acts, however, may not be sustained in court."

Bluelich has filed a motion to dismiss about half the charges, claiming the statute of limitations has expired, and says there "is an element of consent" in some of the same cases.

Chief State's Attorney John Kelly would not talk about Davis specifically, but agreed to talk in general about sexual misconduct cases.

"I don't dispute the fact that much criminal behavior results from a number of outside influences, such as alcohol, drugs, mental illness," Kelly said. "But that is not an excuse for that type of behavior, nor is it a good reason to escape incarceration."

Phony bills mailed out

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A company soliciting subscriptions for TV Guide magazine last month sent mailings that looked like bills to 80,000 homes in Connecticut and other states, and payment checks from duped recipients are rolling in, federal prosecutors said.

At an emergency hearing requested by the U.S. Attorney's Office here Friday, a federal judge issued a restraining order against two businessmen, Milton and Wade McKee, and a California-based subscription agent, Publishers Agency.

"The company's scheme is lucrative. Defendants are currently receiving an average of 500 pieces of mail per day," said a motion asking for the restraining order.

"Possible income from these mailings could exceed $15,000 per day." The computer-printed bills, sent to homes along the East Coast, list a return address in Largo where the payments are to be mailed.

The U.S. Postal Service has received complaints from residents in New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, New York and Connecticut, according to court papers.

Town takes a hosing on sale of land

When an ordinary person buys a piece of property, he or she generally has 60 days to find the financing to clinch the deal. So why did the town of Manchester give a Rhode Island firm two years to clinch its deal to buy 7.7 acres of town land near Union Pond?

The $315,625 that the Rhode Island firm offered in 1985 was considerably higher than the other offers submitted at the time. The offer struck the town as being surprisingly favorable, because it was nearly twice the then-appraised price.

But the value of that $315,625 has decreased — and the value of the land has increased — in the two years that the town gave the buyer to get its act together.

The Board of Directors voted last week to go forward with the sale, even though a couple of directors had reservations about it and some members of the public objected.

One reason to proceed was that the town might have had an obligation to honor its commitment.

But circumstances have almost certainly changed.

Director "Dutch" Fogarty offered an opinion that may be shared by many taxpayers. "We may be taking a hosing on this," Fogarty said, before inexplicably lending his "yes" vote to the deal.

The town needs to take a hard look at its real estate selling practices.

One of the flaws in the two-year-old land deal was that the town asked for proposals instead of requiring bids as provided for in the Town Charter.

The more serious flaw, of course, was that no time limit was set on how long the town would hold to the price.

Even an ordinary seller would not have taken such a hosing on a questionable, two-year-old deal.

More good news for Cheney Hall

The desire of the Manchester Symphony Orchestra to use Cheney Hall for its concert performances is another harbinger of success in the effort to make the hall the community cultural center it has been in the past.

A couple of things are encouraging about the orchestra's bid now to use the hall as its home. One is that the orchestra put itself on record early, even to the point of suggesting a schedule for the 1987-88 season, which is unrealistic because the interior renovation of the hall can hardly be completed in time.

The early bid indicates there is a sense of competition for using the hall, which in turn will encourage contributions to the funds needed to complete the renovation.

More good news lies in the reason the orchestra gives for wanting to use the hall — its outstanding acoustics.

Many modern buildings, particularly those not specially designed for performances, have faulty acoustics. Good hearing is something to look forward to as progress is made on the renovation.

100 million units, no room for the poor

BOSTON — If the United States now boasts of having 100 million housing units, why can't Hazel Word find a suitable, affordable apartment for herself and her three young children?

Because her family, like thousands of others throughout the country, relies upon the federal-state welfare system for its income — but the monthly checks are grossly inadequate compared with the cost of rental housing.

In recent years, an increasing proportion of the nation's poor — including many who work — have become homeless because the low-income housing they once relied upon has been demolished by real estate promoters with plans for more lucrative developments.

"Rooming houses are always first to be plucked off by developers. They've been decimated," says Katherine Malner, executive director of the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless.

The number of rooming houses in Boston's South End has shriveled from 25,000 in 1950 to 250 today, she adds.

"There are two-parent families out there earning $20,000 a year who are homeless," says Dorothy Stevens, president of the Massachusetts Coalition for Basic Human Needs.

AT THE SAME TIME, the Census Bureau in Washington proudly proclaims that the country now has 100 million housing units.

"The goal of having a home and suitable living environment for every family is part of America's psyche," says Census Bureau Director John G.

King holiday long overdue

To the Editor:

I am responding to a letter which appeared in the April 8 edition.

Ruth Bayer is obviously blaming the King holiday because she can't cash checks that arrive on Fridays that national holidays also fall on.

She feels that "a small group of voters" are being appeased. I am so upset that she feels that this bill is stupid when it is not.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday was made national holiday, holidays fell on Fridays, thus we had to wait until the following Monday.

Ms. Bayer should stop blaming the King holiday for her not being able to cash a check. Do like the rest of us that have been waiting until Monday and stop blaming that particular national holiday that was long overdue.

Time to revise law on day care

To the Editor:

Does the state realize the need for good, quality day care?

I recently had an anonymous complaint of a violation of the state's family day-care laws placed against my day care.

The parents of the children who are forced to leave have called the 13 other licensed homes in Bolton. There are no openings, only waiting lists. The people who are finding it the hardest are those who work part time. Three hours per day of day care is hard to find.

It was part-time children who put my day care over the limit of six. I felt the pressure of the parents and chose to accommodate their needs.

A license to operate a day-care home does not confer the ability to take care of six children nor does it limit the ability of some people to take care of more than six children. My mother raised nine children with no license and handled it just fine. On the other hand, there are people for whom the six-child maximum is far too

Keane. "The United States can rightfully take pride in being among the world's leaders in providing safe and reasonably priced housing for its people."

In Massachusetts, however, advocacy groups for the poor often compelling evidence that "reasonably priced housing" is not available to uncoupled thousands of people.

In a 1985 civil suit, those organizations noted that one of Massachusetts' basic welfare statutes (enacted often were forced to surrender their children to orphanages) requires that payments to poor families be sufficient "to enable such parents to bring up such child or children property in his or her own home."

AN UNEMPLOYED SINGLE PARENT with two children in Massachusetts (where welfare benefits are more generous than in many other states) qualifies for $478 to $491 in monthly payments.

She adds: "You know what I dream about? About cooking dinner at home for my kids."

Republicans squirmed over highway vote

WASHINGTON — Two Republican senators braved the wrath of their constituents to make impromptu pleas for President Reagan in his dramatic but futile effort to sustain his veto of the $87.5 billion highway bill. Their impromptu eloquence in the closed, last-minute caucus of Republican members didn't change the minds of any of the 13 GOP rebels, but it surely made them squirm.

Perhaps it was the historic surroundings that inspired Sens. Robert Dole of Kansas and Pete Domenici of New Mexico. The meeting was held in the opulent old Senate chamber that once rang with the heated arguments of Daniel Webster, Henry Clay and John C. Calhoun. The vaulted, painstakingly restored, semi-circular room was the scene of Senate debates from 1810 to 1859, and the subjects that drew such memorable sparks were basic and important: the direction the young republic would take and whether the Union would survive at all.

In such a setting, even an $87.5 billion bill was historical small potatoes — or, more accurately, pork. But the tension was as great in its own way as it was during the debates over slavery and states' rights. No one present was moved to emulate Sen. John Paul when he asked about the riot that disrupted his Mass in Santiago park on April 3, during which rock-throwing demonstrators battled police using tear gas and water cannons.

THE PRESSURE on the recalcitrant 13 was enormous, according to one of the rebels. He said the tug of loyalty to president and party vs. the demands of his constituents made him feel split in two. "It was an extremely charged atmosphere," he said. "When he spoke to the president, he said, he was more nervous than at any time 'since high school.'"

With Vice President Bush in the elegantly caped Senate presiding chair, minority leader Dole led the debate, low-keyed but forceful. "This issue has been totally politicized," he said, "I hope we can help the president."

Reminding his colleagues that President Reagan is responsible for the Republican Party's return to health and respectability, Dole said, "He picked a lot of us off the street. He made us chairmen and leaders."

Then Reagan spoke, calmly, not threatening — and without notes. "I didn't veto the bill to make a point," he said. "I vetoed a bad bill." He emphasized his support for an alternative, scaled-down version and concluded with a plaintive question: "How far can I go laying into Democrats if we can't stand together on this one?"

THREE SENATORS took their turns at the podium to tell the president, without rancor, that there was no way they could vote to sustain his veto. Pete Wilson of California was protesting a whopping $640 million appropriation for construction in his state. Arlen Specter was determined to save $670 million for Pennsylvania. Sen. Larry Pressler, whose state of South Dakota got only $81 million, told Reagan he sincerely believed the bill was a good one.

Then Pete Domenici of New Mexico rose. Pausing for effect, he looked directly at the president and said: "You're too nice." He turned to the president's chief of staff, Howard Baker, once a popular colleague, and repeated: "You're too nice."

Domenici had plenty of reason to vote against the bill. The $87.5 billion limit, repeated by the bill, was anathema to his constituents. (In fact, New Mexico became the first state to raise the limit to 65 cents, within hours after the highway bill's passage allowed it to do so without losing federal road funds.)

But Domenici was supporting the president instead, and he told the president — and the 13 rebels — why. "No one else will say it, but I will," he said. "They owe it to you."

U.S./World In Brief

Nakasone's party suffers setbacks

TOKYO — Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone's party failed to win two key governorships and suffered setbacks in local assembly elections in what was widely viewed as a protest vote against plans for a 5 percent sales tax.

Nakasone vowed today to go ahead with his tax reform plans, which also include cuts in corporate and personal income taxes. But the opposition said the voting Sunday showed people rejected the sales tax.

The issue dominated the campaign, with many candidates of the governing Liberal Democratic Party trying to distance themselves from the tax proposal. Nakasone was conspicuously absent from campaigning for his party's candidates.

The Socialist and Communist parties both scored large gains in prefectural assemblies in Sunday's election, the first nationwide balloting since Nakasone's party won a landslide victory in parliamentary elections last July.

China, Portugal sign Macao accord

BEIJING — China and Portugal signed an agreement Monday that will return Macao to Chinese sovereignty on Dec. 20, 1999. The accord was signed at the Great Hall of the People by Portuguese Prime Minister Anibal Cavaco Silva and Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang.

The two nations concluded nine months of negotiations in March with an agreement that Macao, like neighboring Hong Kong, will retain local autonomy and keep its capitalist system for 50 years after returning to Chinese control.

Britain and China decided in 1984 that Hong Kong will revert to China in 1997.

Cavaco Silva, in a speech following the signing, pledged that "Portugal will do everything in order to maintain the stability and to promote the economic development of the territory and of its population" during the transition to Chinese control.

Pope condemns violence in Chile

ROME — Pope John Paul II, returning from a two-week pilgrimage to South America, today condemned the violence that broke out between police and leftist demonstrators during a Mass in Chile.

He called the clash, in which about 200 people were injured, a "brutal action," and added, "one cannot remain indifferent to such a show of violence."

The pope was questioned by Chilean and Argentine journalists at a 15-hour flight from Buenos Aires, Argentina, the final stop on a trip that also took him to Uruguay and Chile.

The Aerolineas Argentinas Boeing 747 landed at Rome's Ciampino Airport early this afternoon.

John Paul was asked about the riot that disrupted his Mass in Santiago park on April 3, during which rock-throwing demonstrators battled police using tear gas and water cannons.

Mona Lisa may conceal 2nd portrait

MURRAY HILL, N.J. — A researcher who raised some eyebrows with the theory that Leonardo da Vinci was his own model for the Mona Lisa now says a portrait of an Italian noblewoman exists beneath the masterpiece.

Computer analysis of an X-ray of the artwork found that da Vinci had painted the Mona Lisa over a portrait of Isabella of Aragon, a duchess in the royal court of Milan, said Lillian Schwartz of Bell Laboratories here.

Da Vinci probably chose not to finish the portrait of Isabella because her husband died a mysterious death and her duchy was stolen from her, Schwartz said Sunday. "It wasn't politically wise for him to finish this," she said.

Da Vinci drew a sketch of Isabella that is identified and reproduced in Robert Payne's book, "Leonardo," Schwartz said in an interview.

Schwartz is an artist-in-residence at Bell Labs, where she uses computers to create new technologies.

Reagan says Baby M decision right

MANCHESTER, N.H. — President Reagan says he supports changing U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission rules so nuclear power plants like Seabrook can't be blocked by officials in neighboring states.

In an interview with the New Hampshire Sunday News, Reagan also said he believes a New Jersey court decision awarding custody of the infant known as Baby M to her father was the right one because "an agreement had been reached" by the principals in the surrogate mother case.

Reagan called the case a tragedy and said the whole issue of surrogate parenting needs to be studied.

Asked why he supports the decision, the president replied: "Well, an agreement had been reached... The agreement was violated by one party. The individual who had made the arrangement could not have a child at will and has had them and it just seemed to me that it was wrong for her to turn them around and make the decision she did."

Residents think nuke disaster likely

BOSTON — Half of New Hampshire residents queried said a life-threatening accident is likely if the Seabrook nuclear plant goes into operation, and 77 percent doubted that evacuation of the surrounding area is feasible, according to a poll published Sunday.

But 76 percent of New Hampshire residents contacted said they expected the plant will be licensed anyway. The Boston Sunday Globe reported.

The poll was conducted for the Globe by Professor Gary Orren of the John F. Kennedy School of Government and Peter Lemieux, lecturer in political science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It was based on random telephone interviews from March 19 to March 27 with 1,009 adult residents of New Hampshire. The margin of error was 3 percent.

Crime rate falls slightly in 1986

WASHINGTON — The overall crime level edged downward last year, with declines in assaults, personal thefts and household larcenies, even though rapes, robberies and burglaries increased, a new federal report said.

The survey issued Sunday by the Bureau of Justice Statistics showed nearly 34.3 million crimes were committed in 1986, down 1.0 percent from 34.9 million the previous year. The crime count for 1985 had been the lowest in the history of the survey, which began in 1973.

Hart to announce presidential bid

By Carl Millard
The Associated Press

DENVER — Gary Hart, buoyed by strong name recognition and the confidence of a front-runner but still saddled with a million-dollar debt, sets out today for the Democratic presidential nomination that eluded him four years ago.

Hart, 56, scheduled two announcements, one at spectacular Red Rocks amphitheater west of Denver, a natural rock formation favored by concert artists in the summertime, and the other on the 16th Street Mall in downtown Denver.

"Gary wrote the speech himself," campaign director Bill Dixon said. "He didn't want it written by a committee. Gary feels it's his own stand up and talk about why he wants to be president, without a text, he shouldn't run."

Dixon said Hart originally wanted to address reporters on the front lawn of his home at Troubesome Gulch, west of Denver, but that was told there were to be 162 reporters present, and that stands for television cameras and photographers were necessary, he said.

Hart, who swapped leads with former Vice President Walter

GARY HART
1984 debt lingers

Mondale until shortly before the August 1984 Democratic National Convention in San Francisco, has managed to pay off all but about $1.3 million of a campaign debt of nearly $5 million.

At a reception Sunday night, Dixon told reporters, "That debt will be paid before the American public begins counting its ballots" in the current campaign.

Hart's collection effort will continue a policy from his 1984 campaign.

"We're going to pay our debt and we're going to do it without one cent of special-interest action committee money," Hart said in February.

That was the policy that put his effort heavily in the red and crumpled some Democratic irritation with him several months ago in Iowa.

Now, Hart faces challenges from at least seven Democratic challengers, none of them espousing the same no-PAC position.

They include Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, 53; Illinois Gov. Paul Simon, 58; Sen. Joseph Biden of Delaware, 46; the Rev. Jesse Jackson, 45; Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., 39; former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, 46; and Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt, 46.

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, 40, reportedly is considering a bid.

Hart's effort has collected little support so far from the Washington establishment in Congress, but campaign staff members point out that two other eventually successful candidates, Ronald Reagan and John F. Kennedy, had little support early in their tries.

Hart's slogan at the start of his political career in 1974 was, "They've had their turn, now it's our turn."

The slogan helped unseat Peter Dominick, Colorado's respected Republican U.S. senator, in an election fired by Watergate (Dominick had termed it "insignificant") and allegations that Dominick somehow had been involved in the "haunting" of milk cooperative contributions to the 1972 Nixon campaign.

Such allegations never were proven, but Hart's drive plus a high voter turnout fueled by Watergate and Dominick's declining health gave Hart a 146,000-vote margin.

Six years later, he won a second term, defeating Colorado Secretary of State Mary Estelle Buchanan by about 28,000 votes.

It was an unexpected achievement for a man who, as a youth in Ottawa, Kan., had little political and no personality at all for the political game.

In a 1983 interview with The Associated Press, Hart said he once believed "politics was something other people did."

Gift to minor entails major moves

QUESTION: Over the years I have purchased securities for my son in gift to minors act form. All are registered in my name, as custodian for his name, under the gift to minors act of the state in which we live. I have been unable to find out exactly what must be done when my son becomes a legal adult. Must all the securities then be promptly registered in his name alone? Are there any exceptions, such as a note that matures a few months after his birthday? ANSWER: The gift to minors acts of all 50 states and the District of Columbia require that all custodial property must be turned over to the former minor when he or she reaches the age of majority.

ANSWER: I have $5,000 to invest toward my 6-year-old granddaughter's college education costs. I know nothing about stocks or bonds and would be afraid to buy them. Any investment I make must be risk-free. I was lucky to buy a $10,000 Series EE, U.S. Savings Bond for another granddaughter last year, before the rates went down. What do you suggest? ANSWER: Another EE bond. Even though the guaranteed annual interest rate on those bonds dropped from 7.5 to 6 percent on EE bonds issued after October 1986, the present guaranteed rate is a pretty good deal.

U.S. narrows targets of planned tariff

By Tom Roun The Associated Press WASHINGTON - The Reagan administration, steadfastly insisting it will impose sanctions on Japanese electronics products by week's end, is narrowing the list of targeted items from $1.7 billion to $300 million. Public hearings begin today on the proposed sanctions, which are being levied in a dispute over sales of semiconductors, or computer chips. Japanese companies are expected to state their case for why the tariffs should not take effect.

Job and income security top list of UAW worries as talks near

By Janet Braunstein The Associated Press CHICAGO - Job and income security are among the main concerns facing the United Auto Workers union as contract talks with the nation's two top automakers near. UAW President Owen Bieber says. In a speech Sunday before about 3,000 delegates at a four-day strategy convention here, Bieber outlined six concerns but stressed the loss of U.S. jobs as the main threat facing autoworkers and all workers employed in the industrial sector. For the next three days, delegates will hone Bieber's six-point guidelines that negotiators will use in drawing up the union's demands during contract talks at General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. (Chevrolet Celebrity and its clones in other GM divisions) he said. Increases in base wages and a return of regular annual raises based on increases in productivity as well as a restructuring of the formula that gave workers no share of GM's $2.9 billion in 1986 profits. Workers at General Motors and Ford have not had an increase in their base wages since 1984. In their last contracts were negotiated, Bieber said. Sweetening of early retirement programs so older workers will be encouraged to leave and make way for younger workers. Reduction of overtime and overall working time per worker to create more jobs, a call which might unshackle among workers who can credit large amounts of overtime for their comfortable lives. And increasing corporate accountability through increased U.S. investment.

Dollar hits new low against yen

LONDON (AP) - The dollar fell against most major currencies in early European trading today after hitting a new record low in Tokyo. Gold prices continued rising strongly, boosted by the weak dollar. In Tokyo, where trading ends before it begins in Europe, the dollar dipped to 141.85 Japanese yen before recovering slightly to close at 142.50 yen, unchanged from Friday. The 142.50 level was the dollar's lowest closing rate against the yen since modern exchange rates were set in the late 1940s. Later, in London, the dollar slipped further and was quoted at 142.40 yen. Tokyo traders said the Bank of Japan bought dollars to try to prop up the American currency. But because the bank has intervened become daily this month, the psychological impact was limited, traders said. On Friday, the dollar continued its decline after officials from seven major industrialized nations, including America and Japan, held an inconclusive meeting. They agreed merely that exchange rates were "broadly consistent with economic fundamentals." Dollar rates at mid-morning, compared with late Friday: 1.9052 West German marks, down from 1.8105. 1.4950 Swiss francs, down from 1.5007. 6.0000 French francs, down from 6.0325. 2.0366 Dutch guilders, down from 2.0420. 1,288.25 Italian lire, down from 1,291.50. And 1.3025 Canadian dollars, up from 1.3022. In London, the British pound was quoted at $1.624, compared with $1.6270 late Friday. Gold opened in London at a bid price of $433.30 a troy ounce, compared with $432 on Friday, when gold rose nearly $10. The metal continued rising today and at mid-morning London's five major bullion dealers fixed a recommended price of $436.50. In Zurich, the bid price was $435.75, up from $432 late Friday.

Price of gasoline on the increase

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The average retail price of gasoline was 6 cents higher this month than last April, and an industry analyst predicts prices will continue to rise. "This continues the overall rise in prices since they bottomed out last November," Tribby Lundberg, publisher of the Lundberg Survey, said Sunday. She said the trend was sparked by rising wholesale costs. Prices may also go up because May is the start of seasonal gasoline consumption increases, Mr. Lundberg said. "Gasoline prices for summer would logically be stronger than for winter months" because people do more driving, she said. Gasoline prices surged an average of 1.69 cents per gallon over the past two weeks, she said. The average retail price, while higher than last year, was 24 cents lower than the cost for April 1985, Mr. Lundberg pointed out.

Shultz arrives for talks

By Barry Schwed, The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today met Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze for two rounds of talks and a working lunch on roadblocks to a treaty that would remove hundreds of missiles from Europe and on promoting religious freedom.

Shultz also complained about the "pattern of intrusiveness and hostility" America says is caused by Soviet espionage dropping at the U.S. Embassy.

No details of Shultz's talks on the first day of his three-day visit were immediately available.

A special van, free of listening devices, was flown to Moscow for Shultz to confer with his advisers and to communicate with Washington security.

Shultz shook hands warmly with Shevardnadze at the foreign minister's guest house, Alexander Tolstoy Park, where they met in the morning, worked through lunch, then began a second round of talks after Shultz consulted with U.S. arms control advisers.

Shultz's delegation includes Paul H. Nitze, his senior arms control specialist; Richard N. Perle, the hard-line assistant secretary of defense; and Jack P. Matlock Jr., the new U.S. ambassador.

Tonight, Shultz arranged to attend a Passover seder at the U.S. Embassy at the end of the Jewish holiday after midnight. Shultz planned to attend for about 30 minutes the celebration of freedom from slavery in Pharaonic Egypt.

Among those invited were Vladimir Slepak, Josef Begun, Alexander Lerner and other prominent Jews who repeatedly have been denied permission to emigrate.

Shultz was carrying a photograph of Slepak's grandson in the United States to present to the Jewish activist, who has been trying to emigrate for 17 years.

He also brought with him crates of Passover wine and matzo, the unleavened bread Jews eat as a reminder of their wandering in the desert before reaching ancient Israel.

Shultz hopes to clear a major obstacle to a U.S.-Soviet treaty in the mid-1980s by resolving the issue of nuclear missiles: the presence in East Germany, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union of 150 short-range missiles.

The United States and its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies want the right to match the short-range missiles.

In two recent speeches, Gorbachev offered to negotiate a solution to the short-range missile issue while the two sides complete an agreement to eliminate medium-range missiles from Europe.

He thinks it's some degree of movement, it's somewhat different," said a senior U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity. "But we certainly haven't achieved closure. There is a lot of work to be done."

The official stressed that the Soviet edge in the 550- to 600-mile short-range missiles was a serious problem for America. West European allies and that the allies must be consulted on any cuts.

Of all the nuclear arms control issues under negotiation, an agreement to rid Europe of hundreds of medium-range missiles in the 600- to 3,000-mile range is the closest to completion.

Manchester woman at pie-bake contest

By Nancy Poppo, Herald Reporter

Sixty-year-old Esther Armstrong of Wetherell Street felt like a youngster Sunday as she competed for the title of champion apple pie baker of New England at a contest in West Brookfield, Mass.

That's because across the table from Armstrong stood the team of Louise Wald, 105, and Tilly Botwell, 101, both residents of the Quabog Nursing Home in West Brookfield.

"Competed with them, I was just a novice baker," said Armstrong, who uses a rolling pin that was handmade for her mother's bridal shower in 1923.

When the grand prizes — including a silver serving tray and a pewter apple — were handed to the older women, the other bakers were pleased.

"They tried and lost last year's contest," said Armstrong. "We were all glad they won this year."

Armstrong, the two winners and eight other New England bakers were the finalists in a contest at the 282-year-old Salem Cross Inn, where baking is done in an antique brick beehive oven.

They were among 400 people submitting recipes to the judges. Preliminary bake-offs were in March. At that time, both Armstrong and Charlotte Granville of Deer Run Trail were chosen as finalists.

The grand champion round was held Sunday at 2 p.m. beneath the glare of television lights. "That's the only part that gave me a problem," said Armstrong. "Generally it was a lovely experience, although of course, it was a little nerve-racking. I wasn't expecting to be on television."

Although she went home without a grand prize, Armstrong said that all contestants were treated to a historic tour and a prime rib dinner — without apple pie.

Tobacco Road author dies at 83

PARADISE VALLEY, Ariz. (AP) — Erskine Caldwell, whose coarse depictions of rural Southern life outraged many but sold 10 million books, was in a long time ago, but he seemed comforted by thoughts of an afterlife as he neared death, his widow says.

The 83-year-old Georgia native best known for the novels "Tobacco Road" and "God's Little Acre" died here Saturday of lung cancer.

Virginia Caldwell, wife of 39 years, said Sunday that as Caldwell's strength ebbed, "I was telling him, 'I truly believe there is a Heaven, and with the good you have done... with your writing, that you're going to be there.'"

Caldwell, a minister's son, won notoriety with what were considered by some to be profane and blasphemous books.

An A-Mize-ing shot decides the Masters

By Ed Sheerer, The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Larry Mize, the hometown boy, needed a miracle shot to realize his childhood fantasy.

It came on a chip from the right side of the green, about 140 feet from the flag.

It bounced on the fringe, hopped onto the green and rolled, finally hitting the pin and dropping into the cup.

"It was like a dream come true," Mize said.

It gave him the title in the 51st Masters golf tournament on the second hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday and left Australian Greg Norman, the game's greatest player, wondering, "Why me?"

"It was the toughest loss I ever had. I can't believe it went in," Norman said.

"I guess it wasn't meant to be," Norman had challenged for all four major championships last year, leading each after three rounds.

But he was able to win only one, the British Open.

Another miracle shot beat him out of the 1986 PGA title when Bob Tway holed out from a sand trap on the final hole.

Mize also had another foreign giant to contend with in the playoff, but Steve Balkester, the dashing Spaniard and two-time winner of this prestigious event, bowed out.

Whalers can't handle homebound Quebec

By Ed Sheerer, The Associated Press

QUEBEC (AP) — It's amazing what a weekend at home can do for a team.

Led by Michel Goulet's three goals, the Quebec Nordiques evened their NHL Adams Division semifinal playoff series at two wins each Sunday night by beating the Hartford Whalers 4-1.

The Whalers came into the two weekend games in Quebec with the momentum generated by a pair of home-ice wins. But they were unable to cope with Goulet and a suddenly revived Quebec squad.

"We dominated them in every facet of the two games," said Goulet, who scored three for Quebec goals Sunday and two on Saturday. "We've been playing really good hockey lately. That's the news for the Whalers."

Evans, whose club was limited to a first-period goal by defenseman Dana Murzyn, reluctantly agreed. "We had momentum coming up here after our two wins but we couldn't win one here so now we'll have to wait and see," Evans said.

Although Quebec failed to win in Hartford this season, the Nordiques are confident about returning to the Civic Center for Game 5 Tuesday night.

Earlier, hospital officials had denied that Mantle was there, although a source told The Associated Press that he was a patient.

"It is a joke!" a hospital official asked several times when asked earlier if Mantle was at the hospital.

Mantle, 58, starred for the Yankees from 1961-68 and was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1974.

Mantle won the American League Triple Crown in 1956 and led the AL in home runs four times, ending his career with 536 — third highest in history at the time. He hit a record 18 homers in the 12 World Series he participated in and was selected to play in 20 All-Star games. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1956, 1957 and 1962.

Stanley baffles Blue Jay hitters

By Dave O'Hara, The Associated Press

BOSTON — For several years American League hitters complained that Bob Stanley of the Boston Red Sox had one of the nastiest pitches in baseball.

Then came the crackdown against use of the illegal spitball, forcing some pitchers to clean up their act rather than risk suspension.

Now returned to the starting pitching rotation after six years in the bullpen, Stanley has a new pitch — which is baffling even him.

"I threw mostly fork balls, even though I really don't know what it's supposed to do," the big right-hander said Sunday after winning his first game as a starter since he left the Red Sox in 1981.

"It's exciting just to win at home."

With Don Baylor breaking out in a 6-15 slump and driving in five runs with two homers and Dave Henderson hitting a two-run homer, Stanley collected his 101st major league victory.

He allowed just seven hits, including five in the third and fourth innings when he had to work out of jams, struck out two and walked two in eight innings. Then, after throwing 118 pitches, he turned the mound over to Calvin Schiraldi to mop up in the ninth.

"This is one of the most gratifying moments of my career," said Stanley, a favorite whipping boy of hometown critics since he signed a $1 million a year contract as a reliever in 1984. "It's exciting just to win at home."

"I'd like to have gone nine, but I ran out of gas. I got a little tired, maybe from running over to first so much to cover if he needed on ground balls. I must have run over there 10 times."

Stanley, who hadn't started at home since a 5-1 loss on Sept. 1, 1981, credited watching Bruce Hurst's two-hit 2-0 shutout against Toronto Friday for helping him.

"I moved the ball around," he said. "I watched Bruce Hurst the other day and he didn't throw one ball in the strike zone. That's what I tried to do."

"I made some good pitches, but actually I did just what you're supposed to do when you get excited. I won the ball game."

Innocent run in the sixth saves East victory

There's no such thing as having too many runs. East Catholic found that out Saturday as a seemingly unimportant marker in the bottom of the sixth inning proved to be the difference in a 10-6 decision over Fairfield Prep in All Connecticut Conference baseball action at MCC's McCormick Field.

"Thank God he did it," East Coach Jim Fenders said of first baseman Barry's pinch hit RBI single in the sixth that scored Kris DeRoehn who had doubled. "We were really feeling the heat at 7. That gave us a little more breathing room."

The Eagles, 2-0, who were to resume play today at South Catholic High at Hyland Park in Hartford at 3:45 p.m., were coasting after three innings with a 9-0 lead. Winning pitcher Pat Merritt (1-0), aided his own cause with a two-run triple off the left field fence in the opening inning. Singles by Andy Klopfer and Mike Deliano and an RBI single from Kevin Riggs were highlights of a two-run second frame and then only two runs. Riggs slapped RBI singles in a four-run third stanza.

H.S. Roundup

NEWINGTON — There was improvement over the opener, a 7-1 loss to East Catholic, but Manchester High couldn't find the winning formula in Game 2 of the '87 baseball season Saturday as it fell to host Newington High, 8-4.

The Indians used four pitchers and they combined to issue 13 walks to Newington batters. "Our pitching hasn't had the control we've needed so far," said Manchester Coach Don Race. "And then we had errors in critical times. We've got a lot of runs. And then we only had four hits so we're not making a lot of opportunities for ourselves," he added.

Manchester High's Jon Roe slides in head first with the run over Fairfield Prep while the Indians fell to Newington, 8-4.

Newington owned a slim 4-4 lead going into the bottom of the sixth when it scored three times on some walks, three hits and two costly Manchester miscues. "We missed at least one double play opportunity then," Race recalled.

Jon Roe collected two hits for Manchester, which had only one against East. With Aris Leonard and Mike Charter each adding one safety. Starting pitcher Joe Casey worked 3 1/3 innings overall, issuing seven walks. Jim Kiteck issued two walks and Scott Aronson gave four free rides to first in 2 2/3 innings.

D.J. Hopkins was the starting and winning pitcher for Newington, 1-0. "We improved over the East game, but we still need improvement," Race said.

Manchester's next game is its CCC East Division opener at Windham High School Tuesday at 3:45 p.m.

"I was pleased by my starting players. We were very aggressive on the bases," said Bolton Coach Ginny Koback.

Michelle Bardee played well defensively at first base for Bolton. Lee Brendle was the winning pitcher.

Bolton's next game is Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at Ellington High School.

Track

MHS does well

NEW BRITAIN — The Manchester High boys' track team gave a very good account of itself Friday at Saturday's Eastern Connecticut Coaches Association Spring Relay Meet at Willow Brook Park in New Britain.

The Indians' 4 x 1500-meter relay of Dana Dieterle, Bob Dickson, Sean Toland and Tom Lyon took first place with a time of 17:38.4. The Indian trio of Brian Brophy, Chuck Rose and Chris Friday won the 4 x 400-meter relay with a school-record time of 12:25.2. Todd Liscomb was fourth in 10:30.7. Craig Hempstead sixth (10:39) and Tim Almond 12th (11:17) in the 3200-meter run held Friday.

The 4 x 800 relay of Liscomb, Hempstead, Jeff DeJoanna and Mike Sears was fourth in 8:47.7. The 4 x 200 relay of Tom Lyon, Dwayne Albert, Steve Gallacher and Brian Brophy was eighth in 4:51. While the distance medley of Dieterle, DeJoanna, Lyon and Sean German was fourth in 11:25.2.

The sprint medley of Brophy, Smith, Albert and Gallacher sailed down the track with a 3:44.1 clocking. Joe Mallard was fifth in the triple jump for the Indians with a 41-foot, 4-inch effort.

"We had a great two days," Sutor said. "I thought every one had good performances, especially this early in the year."

Bolton triumphs

EAST GRANBY — The margin of victory was impressive as Bolton High girls' softball team opened its '87 campaign with a 20-5 victory over East Granby High Saturday during the opening game of the season.

Both teams were in the lead during the fourth quarter as the Bulls outscored the Pacers 3-1 in the final period. Indiana hit only four of 19 fourth-quarter shots after narrowing an 18-point deficit to 85-82 halftime. The Clippers, who have lost 19 consecutive games in Portland, got no closer than five points in the second half.

Prep 0-1 crawled back with two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and four runs in the sixth. Sophomore Kevin Greene, who was the opening-day winning pitcher for the Eagles, was their most effective hurler this day. He went the final two innings to a save.

He walked one and struck out two. "Merritt was good for three innings but lost it in the fourth," Fenders said. Merritt yielded three runs, one earned. He walked three and fanned one.

The top and bottom of the Eagle order was productive. Biggs was 3-for-4 with two RBIs and two runs scored while Nos. 8 and 9 batters Klopfer and Deliano each contributed two hits in a 13-hit attack. "Everyone contributed offensively," Fenders said.

Coventry triumphs

COVENTRY Getting some offense, Coventry High evened its record at 1-1 with an 11-8 non-conference victory over Tolland High Saturday morning.

Man's next game is Tuesday at 11 a.m. at East Hampton High.

Bolton beaten — Seven runs in the second inning proved to be more than enough as host East Granby High topped Bolton High, 27-6, in varsity baseball action Saturday morning.

Tom Sawyer's three-run homer keyed the seven-run inning for the Crusaders, 1-1.

Andy Massey and Jim Dreesley each had two hits and Massey and Drew Pinto each had two RBIs for Bolton, 0-1. Pinto played well defensively behind the plate and Glenn Dube pitched effectively for the Bulldogs.

"We're showing signs of being able to score some runs, which is great. But we have to play better defense and our pitchers can't continue to walk this many (18). The total for the game is totally unacceptable," said Bolton Coach John Jenkins.

The Indians' 4 x 1500-meter relay of Dana Dieterle, Bob Dickson, Sean Toland and Tom Lyon took first place with a time of 17:38.4. The Indian trio of Brian Brophy, Chuck Rose and Chris Friday won the 4 x 400-meter relay with a school-record time of 12:25.2. Todd Liscomb was fourth in 10:30.7. Craig Hempstead sixth (10:39) and Tim Almond 12th (11:17) in the 3200-meter run held Friday.

Mets run into fowl conditions against Atlanta

By Dick Brinster The Associated Press

With LaGuardia Airport less than a mile away and other smaller aviation facilities in the immediate area, there's plenty of traffic in the sky over New York's Shea Stadium.

Fortunately, all the planes got where they were going Sunday. The same can't be said for a solitary dove, however. It was the lone victim of a mid-air collision with a batted ball.

The Atlanta Braves were leading 2-1 when Dion James, leading off the top of the third inning, hit a fly ball toward left fielder Kevin McReynolds. But the ball hit the bird and both dropped dead in short left field as James eased into second with a double.

NL Roundup

It was, according to the Elias Sports Bureau, the first bird hit by a batted ball in major-league history. Eric Davis, now with Cincinnati, hit one as a minor leaguer in 1981. That ball was caught.

Murphy also hit another homer and drove in five runs as Atlanta won for the fourth time in five games.

"It's very satisfying to come in here and win two of three," said Murphy, who hadn't homered in 44 at-bats dating back to last year until his post-bird homer.

Randy O'Neal, making his first NL start after being obtained in the off-season from Detroit, was the winning pitcher. Bob Ojeda, 1-1, took the loss.

Len Dykstra and Gary Carter homered for the Mets.

Mets' shortstop Rafael Santana (left) holds up the dead dove that was hit by Atlanta's Dion James on fly out. The bizarre occurrence gave James a double. Second base umpire Frank Pulli jokes with James on second base about the incident. The Braves beat the Mets, 12-4.

San Diego's Steve Garvey was 1-for-15 without an extra-base hit coming in. But his 38-year-old first baseman, who hit a three-run homer in the first inning to give Larry Brown his first managerial victory, wasn't worried.

"After 17 1/2 years, you learn patience is a virtue. You stay calm," Garvey said.

The victory was San Diego's first after five losses, the Los Angeles 7, San Francisco 5, San Diego 5, Cincinnati 2, Philadelphia 2, Chicago 8 in 10 innings; Houston 1, Montreal 0, and Pittsburgh 7 St. Louis 4.

"I've never seen anything like it in 41 years in baseball," Atlanta Manager Chuck Tanner said.

"Only in New York," Nettles added.

James said he was confused.

"The moment I hit the bird, it seemed everything went out of my mind. I just saw the bird and I didn't know what had happened until it stopped on second and saw Mets shortstop Rafael Santana picking up the dead dove. 'A bounce here, a bounce there. It was just our day.'"

Murphy, then Leon Durham tied the game with a homer into the upper deck in right field at Veterans Stadium.

"That wasn't a struggle," Phillies Manager John Felske said. "It was a heart attack."

But he survived when Glenn Wilson hit a bases-loaded single off loser Lee Smith through a draw-in infield to score Jim Sauerel from third base in the 10th. That gave Philadelphia its first victory after four losses.

Astros 1, Expos 0

With a one-run lead, Houston did the obvious, and reliever Dave Stieb did as he became almost automatic for him — save another game for the unbeaten Astros.

"I haven't had the consistent velocity that I have now in the past," said Smith, who saved his fourth game for the 4-0 Astros.

Stieb and catcher had two hits and drove in the only run in the fifth inning for the Astros, off to the best start in their 28-year history. Left-hander Bob Knepper, high limited winless Montreal to six hits over 7 1/3 innings.

Bob Schra 0-1, took the loss for Montreal, 0-5.

"We had our chances to win this one," Montreal Manager Buck Rodgers said. "But we just couldn't get the hit."

Pirates 7, Cardinals 4

Pittsburgh resembled the Lumber Company of the 1970s with Jim Morrison homering and driving in three runs. John Cangelosi getting both hits and scoring three times and former Cardinal Andy Van Slyke adding a pair of run-scoring singles in an 11-run attack.

Morrison has seven hits, three of them homers, and has driven in five runs in the four-game series, which concludes today. Morrison looked like an easy winner as it took the field with an 8-5 lead in the ninth inning.

But winning pitcher Steve Bedrosian got a two-out, two-run homer to pinch-hitter Jerry

Sun sets on Phoenix in race for playoff berth

By Bill Barnard The Associated Press

The sun is setting on the race for the NBA playoff spots.

Phoenix, ninth in the Western Conference, delayed the clinching of a post-season berth by winning seven consecutive games, but the streak was broken by a 119-104 loss Sunday night to the Los Angeles Lakers, who won their 10th straight.

The defeat clinched a spot in the Western Conference playoffs for the Seattle SuperSonics and, with three games remaining, put Denver within one victory of another loss by the Suns of clinching the eighth and final berth.

NBA Roundup

The Eastern Conference's eight playoff teams were determined earlier.

The Suns had won two overtime games during their seven-game winning streak, but they fell short down the stretch after cutting a 17-point deficit to three in the fourth period.

"We've come from behind a lot during the winning streak, and it's because we've executed well in the end of games," said Walter Davis, who hit 16 of 21 field-goal attempts and scored 34 points. "Tonight, in the last few minutes, we didn't get good shots and we just didn't execute."

"I thought we were a little flat for some reason," Phoenix interim Coach Dick Van Arsdale said. "I told the team to keep their heads up. We have three more to go. We should try to win those and cap off an awfully good run we've had lately."

Lakers 17-4, closing the gap to 102-98 on a three-point play with 4:43 left by Larry Nance, who had 24 points, eight rebounds and seven assists.

The Lakers then scored the next nine points over the next 3:13, taking a 111-98 lead.

Bulls 148, Pacers 95 — Michael Jordan scored 33 points, his sixth performance over the 50 mark this season, as Chicago pulled within a half-game of Indiana in the race for the seventh playoff position in the Eastern Conference.

Jordan now has 40 or more points in 35 games this season and needs 87 in his last three games to become the second player ever to finish with 3,000 in one year. He had 13 straight during one stretch of the fourth quarter as the Bulls outscored the Pacers 31-15 in the final period.

Indiana hit only four of 19 fourth-quarter shots after narrowing an 18-point deficit to 85-82 halftime. The Clippers, who have lost 19 consecutive games in Portland, got no closer than five points in the second half.

Atlanta won its first Central Division title since 1980 as Dominique Wilkins scored 17 of his 19 points in the first half against New Jersey.

The Hawks' victory, their sixth straight, was virtually assured at halftime as they grabbed a 68-42 lead after the first two periods.

Wilkins played just eight minutes in the second half as Hawks Coach Mike Fratello used his reserves extensively. Midway through the first period, Wilkins scored seven points in a 13-4 spurt that sparked Atlanta to a 23-15 lead.

Orlando Woolridge and Mike Gminski each had 13 points for the Magic.

Portland handed Los Angeles its 10th consecutive loss as Kiki Vandeweghe scored 29 points and broke the team's single-season scoring record.

Vandeweghe has 2,049 points this season, eclipsing the previous mark of 2,031 held by Geoff Petrie.

Bird helps Celtics hold off the Knicks

By Howard Ulman The Associated Press

BOSTON — A big lead doesn't mean much if Boston has it. An opponent's comeback doesn't mean much if the Celtics have Larry Bird.

As they have done several times this season, the defending NBA champions lost control of a game they should have won easily Sunday. But Bird made sure they didn't lose the game.

He scored a season-high 47 points. More importantly, he had nine points in the final six minutes after New York had whittled a 70-42 third-quarter deficit down to 99-95. Seven of those points came in an 11-0 run that made the score 112-97 and was the final thrust toward a 119-104 victory over the Knicks that stopped Boston's three-game losing streak, its longest since a four-game slide in November 1983.

"I can't think of a word to use to describe him," Knicks Coach Bob Hill said of Bird. "He's incredible, unbelievable, fantastic, all of those wrapped into one."

Bird tied his career high of 22 field goals and took a season high 34 shots. He also had seven rebounds, eight assists and four steals.

All that nearly wasn't enough. "We showed a very high level of intensity in the first half, but in the second half we slacked off," Boston Coach K.C. Jones said. "It seems like we've done that before."

"We play 2 1/4 quarters of good basketball and then we tend to let up and think that it's over, that it's done."

Despite never leading in the game, Hill had some things to celebrate.

Forward Bernard King played well in his second game since returning from a serious knee injury after a two-year layoff caused by a serious right knee injury.

"Whatever he can do, that's what we're looking for," Hill said. "I don't think we can afford to put any pressure on him."

Boston had its own injury problems Sunday. Forward Kevin McHale missed the game with an injured right ankle. Darren Davis started in his place and scored a season high 14 points and handed out seven assists.

"Without Kevin, we're not as strong inside so we're going to have a little more movement to the ball," Davis said.

The Celtics moved the ball well with 26 assists, 42 and 40 assists for the game.

"When the Celtics get their passing game going, they're the most dangerous team in the league," King said.

Bird and Robert Parish, who had 23 points and 17 rebounds, were missing two games with an elbow problem, scored four points each as Boston took a 6-0 lead. It grew to 20-5 with a 10-0 run in which Bird scored six.

"Our fastbreak is very effective and when we get going like today, we can't be stopped," Bird said.

When the lead reached 85-74, though, it got smaller rapidly. New York got the next 15 points to close the gap to 95-80. Gerald Wilkins, who led the Knicks with 21 points, had six in that stretch.

New York had a small, speedy lineup in the game when it rallied.

"Using the quick lineup was obviously to our advantage," Hill said. "That's the way we beat them in New York" 129-120 on March 31.

But, in the end, Bird and company mounted one final push to secure their 27th consecutive home victory.

"Losing a lead like that is not a good sign," Bird said. "But if we keep winning, that's good enough for me."

New York's Bernard King (30) drives on Boston's Robert Parish in their NBA game Sunday at Boston Garden. King had 20 points in his second game back but the Celtics won, 119-107.

Brewers very offensive early in the season

By Ben Walker The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Brewers hoped their young pitchers could carry them this year. But it's their offense that has them off to their best start ever.

"I've got to be happy with the way the guys are swinging the bats so far," Manager Tom Trebelhorn said Sunday after the unbeaten Brewers downed the Texas Rangers 7-5 in 12 innings.

Rookie B.J. Surhoff's two-out, two-run single in the 12th gave Milwaukee its sixth straight victory. In the first week of the season, the Brewers have scored 46 runs. Last year, they ranked 12th among the 14 American League teams in runs scored.

Milwaukee, whose previous best start was a 7-0 win in 1978, didn't get its advantage off, but we got the big hit when we needed it," Trebelhorn said.

Ron Guldry expects to be a Yankee again

By Philip Drvold The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, La. — Ron Guldry, one of six premier free agents unable to find a new team, says chances are he'll return to the New York Yankees in May rather than waste his time waiting for a late-season call from another team.

"That's probably the only place I'll have a chance to go unless you just wait until the end of the season when somebody needs somebody to come in and pitch," Guldry said Saturday before pitching an inning and playing center field for the Red team during the University of Southwestern Louisiana's Old-Timers Game.

"But I don't feel like wasting my time at home or with somebody else."

"I'm sure that come May 1, we're going to sit at dinner and have some serious talks. The chances of me going back are greater than of me not going back," he said.

Guldry was trapped in a sort of baseball limbo after he and the Yankees failed to come to terms and he became a free agent. He has not received an offer from any major-league club, so Guldry's spending April in Louisiana was the first time in 16 years. If he and the Yankees can get together, he can ## Miloslav Mecir, of Czechoslovakia, takes aim on a ball hit by John McEnroe in their WCT championship match Sunday in Dallas. Mecir won, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Mecir makes McEnroe pay

DALLAS (AP) — Miloslav Mecir went on a shopping spree Saturday at a Dallas sporting goods store. On Sunday, he more than made enough money to pay for it.

Mecir, who bought his first softball, glove and bat — items not readily found in his native Czechoslovakia — picked up a $200.00 paycheck after beating John McEnroe 6-0, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 in the World Championship Tennis Finals on Sunday.

Mecir won $112,000 for the Lipton International crown in Key Biscayne, Fla. in February. That victory was more important to Mecir because it was his first over countryman Ivan Lendl, the top-ranked player in the world.

Mecir won $112,000 for the Lipton International crown in Key Biscayne, Fla. in February. That victory was more important to Mecir because it was his first over countryman Ivan Lendl, the top-ranked player in the world.

Mecir beat the comeback-minded McEnroe in every phase of the game. He broke McEnroe's serve 10 times, was successful on 78 percent of his first serves, compared to 64 percent for McEnroe, and had 36 unforced errors to 51 for his opponent.

"I was returning quite well and wasn't missing as much as he was," said Mecir, who answers questions cautiously. "I don't know how much better I can play."

Mecir also was able to keep his concentration while McEnroe engaged in a running battle with their umpire Gerry Armstrong. In the third set McEnroe threatened to walk off the court when Armstrong would not overrule a line call. Armstrong assented. McEnroe, a one-point penalty for an "audible obscenity."

"It's not very nice to play in such an atmosphere," said Mecir, who ranked fifth in the world. "Sometimes it looks like he's going to do it (argue) again, then he starts to play. I try to behave like my parents taught me."

The incident may have been more of a distraction to McEnroe, who usually raises the level of his game

Graf cops Family Circle crown

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Steffi Graf says she still doesn't feel at ease on clay, but her discomfort has not stopped her from winning two straight Family Circle Magazine Cup tennis tournaments.

"I'm still not patient enough," she said. "I still don't feel at ease on clay, but her discomfort has not stopped her from winning two straight Family Circle Magazine Cup tennis tournaments."

Graf, who beat Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria 6-2, 4-6, 7-5 to Sunday to capture the 10th annual tournament, "I still think I'm not very in the clay yet because I sometimes play hardcourt tennis, not just clay courts."

"I'm not patient enough. It's still not the best I can do." Graf said. "I'm not patient enough. It's still not the best I can do."

LPGA event to Okamoto

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Ayako Okamoto rallied over the final nine holes to overcome a charge by Betsy King Sunday and win by one stroke the $200,000 Kyocera Golf Classic.

The native of Tokyo, who led all four days, shot a final-round, 6-under-par 69 to finish at 275, 15-under-par, to earn the $300,000 winner's purse in the tournament played over the Bernardo Heights Country Club course.

King, after birdies on the first three holes Sunday, shot a final-round, 4-under-par 69 to finish at 276. Patty Sheehan finished third six shots further back at 282, shooting a final-round 73.

Penny Hammel finished fourth at 285 by shooting 73 Sunday.

Pat Bradley, who began the day tied with King for second, shot a final-round 75 to finish tied for fifth with Amy Alcott, Sally Quinlan and Lauri Rinker, who had a closing 69.

Okamoto began the tournament's final day three shots ahead of King and Pat Bradley, but King shot a 6-under-par 36 on the front nine Sunday to take a two-shot lead at 14-under. King birdied the first three holes and carded six birdies on the front nine.

However, King stumbled with back-to-back bogeys on the tenth and eleventh holes, allowing Okamoto to gain a share of the lead at 18-under.

After both Okamoto and King carded birdies on the par-4 13th hole, King bogeyed the 15th hole and Okamoto parred the final three holes for the victory.

Tomorrow starts the next tournament... and I'll have to do better."

Graf, who is unbeaten in 17 matches in 1987, used her powerful but sometimes erratic forehand to beat Maleeva, who lost to Graf in the semifinals 6-4, 7-5 (7-5) to advance to the final.

Graf, who downed Chris Evert Lloyd 6-4, 7-5 to win the 1986 tournament, is now 4-0 against Maleeva during her career and has lost just two of 12 sets to her.

The match was played from the baseline. Maleeva came to the net 10 times, Graf 10 times. But Maleeva said she made a tactical error by not mixing up her shots more.

Sports in Brief

Guerrero wins Checker 200
PHOENIX, Ariz. — Roberto Guerrero, starting last in the field, overcame a stop-and-go penalty and overpowered the rest of the field Sunday to win the Checker 200 Indy-car race at Phoenix International Raceway.

Guerrero, whose best previous finish was second place in the 1984 Indianapolis 500 and twice last season, beat defending CART-PPG Indy-car champion and 1986 Indy winner Bobby Rahal to finish line by a solid 8.62 seconds.

Mario Andretti, who had won the pole for the second straight year, led in the early going, with Michael Andretti, his son, staying with him. But both had handling problems and faded in the second half of the race.

Prost takes Brazilian Grand Prix
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Two-time world champion Alain Prost of France, driving a McLaren-TAG, won the Brazilian Formula One Grand Prix on Sunday, the first race of the 1987 season.

Brazil's Nelson Piquet was second in a Williams-Honda, and Prost's teammate, Stefan Johansson of Sweden, was third in the other McLaren-TAG.

It was Prost's fourth victory in the Brazilian Grand Prix, tying him for most wins with former Argentine driver Carlos Reutemann. Prost won the race in 1985, 1984 and 1982.

The victory was the 28th of Prost's career, leaving him one short of Jackie Stewart's all-time record of 27 wins.

Earnhardt cops Valdeyale 500
BRISTOL, Tenn. — In the middle of his record-setting victory in the Valdeyale 500 stock car race, Dale Earnhardt decided to get away from it all.

"I took a nap," he said. "Really, I laid down in the van and took a nap."

Earnhardt's snooze came during an 87-minute rain delay in Sunday's Winston Cup race. When the showers forced NASCAR officials to halt the 500-lap event on lap 265, Earnhardt was in seventh place.

After the skies cleared, and after he had napped, the hard-driving Earnhardt got back in his Chevrolet, pushed it to the front of the pack and held off a late charge by Richard Petty.
