Tough rules imposed on sewer work

By Alex Grelli Manchester Herald Directors of the Eighth Utilities District voted Tuesday night to require testing of sewers built for the Pavilions at Buckland Hills and against accepting the lines as public sewers.

The votes came Tuesday night after both governments ordered the Chicago-based Homart Development Co. to stop constructing sewer lines installed without the necessary permit.

The letter makes several references to the need for approvals by the Eighth Utilities District as reported today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. trade deficit widened dramatically to $12.5 billion in November, the largest imbalance in five months, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said the gap between what the United States imports and what it sells overseas was 21.9 percent higher than the October deficit of $10.8 billion.

Bolton GOP picks Morra over Cheney

By Maureen Leavitt Manchester Herald BOLTON — Republicans nominated former Republican Town Chairman Robert R. Morra Tuesday to run for first selectman, passing over incumbent Selectman Douglas T. Cheney.

Cheney did not get the nomination for first selectman, who was nominated to run for selectman. Cheney, a former first selectman, had been endorsed by the town committee for a selectman's seat.

Cheney's former first selectman position was not at the caucus. The caucus also nominated incumbent Carl A. Preuss to run for selectman, even though he was not endorsed by the Republican Town Committee last week.

Zizka proud, sees victory as Democrat

By Maureen Leavitt and Andrew J. Davis Manchester Herald BOLTON — Selectman Michael A. Zizka was nominated Tuesday as the Democratic candidate for first selectman in the May 1 election.

Zizka, 34, said he would concentrate on recreation program funding, education funding and how to handle town growth. He elected first selectman.

Zizka said he thinks he can beat the Republicans' first selectman candidate, Robert R. Morra. He said his four years on the Board of Selectmen, eight years on the Conservation Commission and experience as a land-use and environmental lawyer will weigh in his favor.

Writing for the court today, Justice Harry A. Blackmun said those judges were wrong.

Short-term lease favored with club

By Nancy Concelmion
Manchester Herald

Members of the Board of Directors said Tuesday they want the town to negotiate a short-term lease with the Manchester Country Club for town-owned land on which the club operates its golf course, despite pressure from a 250-member group lobbying for a long-term lease.

Some directors criticized a comment from Wallace J. Irish Jr., head of the lobbying group Friends of Golf, who has said a different Board of Directors could be in power when the current lease expires in 1991.

Members of Friends of Golf have said they want a long-term lease regardless of the decision on the additional holes. The lease would be for the use of town-owned land on which the club operates the golf course. Past efforts by the club to get the town to negotiate a long-term lease have failed.

8th voters to get Willis garage plan

By Alex Girelli
Manchester Herald

Eight Utilities District voters will be asked for their annual meeting May 24, or at a special meeting before that, to approve funding for the conversion of the former Don Willis Garage into district offices.

Plans for conversion of the garage to offices and a meeting room were unveiled at a meeting of the district voters Tuesday night. The directors voted to include the conversion question on the agenda for the annual district meeting.

The committee is made up of "experts" in the housing field. Said Democratic director Mary Ann Handley, who chairs the directors' subcommittee on affordable housing, the subcommittee recommended creation of a larger committee to handle what she called a "very large and very complex" problem.

Schoolyard became a killing field

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Children whose families escaped the horrors of the Vietnam War saw their schoolyard turned into a killing field, the target of a slant gunman armed with a rifle and a pistol bearing the word "victory."

After the massacre at recess, the bodies of three Southeast Asian children were outlined in blue on the playground of Cleveland Elementary School where they died. Two teachers had been dragged by teachers inside to a classroom, but also died. Twenty-nine other pupils were wounded, along with a teacher.

"There was shooting all over... I was scared" said sixth-grader Binh Hoang, who was born in Vietnam in 1975 in the final days of war and had never before heard gunfire. "Everybody was crying in my class." Patrick Edward Purdy, 26, killed himself with a bullet to the head after firing about 60 rounds from a Soviet AK-47 assault rifle at hundreds of youngsters.

"I'm shocked. It's just horrible," said Purdy's grandmother, 63-year-old Julia Chumbley of nearby Lodi. "I don't understand why and I probably won't ever know why. It troubles me to think that such a terrible thing can happen. It's like a nightmare. This sort of thing happens to others, not you, your own grandson."

Purdy, who most recently listed his grandmother's address as home, began his assault shortly before noon when he parked his station wagon behind the school. The car burst into flames in a fire possibly set as a diversion, said Deputy Police Chief Lucian Neely.

Then the 5-foot-11, 140-pound killer, clad in a red and white combat fatigues, a flak jacket and earplugs, entered the campus through a hole in a fence. With the semi-automatic and two handguns and walked to several portable classrooms about 200 yards from the main L-shaped building. He opened fire from the west side of the portable buildings, then moved to the east side and continued spraying the screaming children before turning the rifle on himself.

In some cases, the bullets went through the wood and stucco walls of the main building and came out the other side to land on the front lawn, Neely said.

"There was no apparent motive. 'He was just standing there with a gun, making wide sweeps,'" recalled Lori Mackey, who teaches deaf students in one of the portable classrooms at the school about 10 miles southeast of San Francisco.

"He was not talking, he was not yelling, he was very straight-faced, it did not look like he was really angry," she said. "It was just matter-of-factly."

"There was mass chaos. There were kids running in every direction."

Purdy, who also was known as Patrick West and Eddie Purdy West, had an "extensive criminal record," said Neely.

Many of the crimes were committed in the Los Angeles area and included soliciting for sex and narcotics and weapons violations, Neely said.

The dead children were shops in the schoolyard and two were dragged inside by fleeing teachers, he said.

SHOOTING SCENE — Police check the area around the body of Patrick Edward Purdy, 26, who opened fire in a schoolyard in Stockton, Calif., Tuesday, killing five children and wounding 30 people before committing suicide.

ESCAPED SHOOTING — Margo Lopez comforts her daughter, Monica, 7, after the schoolyard shooting Tuesday in Stockton, Calif.

In Stockton, they later were divorced and his mother retained custody. Purdy began drifting about 10 years ago, crisis-crossing the nation looking for work. His grandmother said. He visited her occasionally and used her address to receive mail.

Neely identified the dead students as Raphael Or, 9, a boy, and girls Ram Chun, 8; Tuy Tran, 6; Sokhim An, 6, and Oun Lim, 8. All were children of refugee families from Southeast Asia. Southeast Asian pupils make up about 10 percent of the school's enrollment of 1,000 pupils in grades kindergarten through 6th grade.

Execution set next Tuesday for Ted Bundy

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Serial killer Ted Bundy's death warrant for murdering a girl was signed minutes after the U.S. Supreme Court rejected his appeal, and the mayor of the slain child's town said the execution would prompt celebrations.

In signing the warrant, Gov. Bob Martinez set the execution for Tuesday for the 1978 rape and murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Diane Leach, who was abducted in Lake City and was found dead in a pig sty.

It was the fourth time the 42-year-old former law student had been scheduled to die in Florida's electric chair. Bundy, whose case was depicted in the television miniseries "The Dolt-erage Stranger" has come within hours of being executed only to win postponement.

His attorneys said after Tuesday's 7-2 high court decision they would pursue further appeal.

Bundy also has been sentenced to death for killing two women in a Florida State University fraternity house in Tallahassee three weeks before Kimberly's murder. He has been linked up to 36 sex murders or disappearances of young women, most in Utah, Colorado and Washington state.

"Justice has been on hold for a decade, and it's about time Ted Bundy paid for his crimes," Martinez said. "I have a strong feeling on Tuesday of next week the state will be able to carry out its duty."

"There'll be a celebration when he dies," said Gerald Witt, mayor of Lake City, a rural town of 11,000 people near the Georgia border. "He has such a terrible criminal record. It's just irremediable."

In Utah, Salt Lake County authorities believe Bundy was a teacher and 17 pupils were ages of five-teen-age girls and think they may have been involved in that of a young woman, Sheriff Pete Hayward said Tuesday that investigators would travel to Florida this weekend to question the 1974 slaying of eight young women, whose murders remain unsolved.

"I can't believe it's finally going to come to an end," said Eleanor Rose, whose daughter, Denise, Naslund, was one of the pupils. The most seriously injured was a 6-year-old boy who was shot in the groin. He was listed in serious condition, but after crisis-crossing the nation looking for work. His grandmother said. He visited her occasionally and used her address to receive mail.

Purzel said Tuesday night. The others either were treated at the scene or at hospitals and released.

Pupils Ramon Billedo III described seeing a schoolmate shot. "I just saw him fall down," he said. "His head hit the ground. The teacher grabbed him and dragged him inside the other classroom."

"The bullets were hitting the walls. Everybody got scared," said another pupil, Roberto Costa.

"The official PAP news agency said today that a majority of the 208-member body had approved the party leadership's stand on trade union and political pluralism. Other details of the proposal, debated for 17 hours until 3 a.m., were not immediately available.

There was no immediate comment from Solidarity chairman Lech Walesa.

But a Solidarity source in Warsaw, demanding anonymity, said Rakowski's proposal to reinstate the only independent labor movement ever allowed in the Soviet bloc appeared at first glance unclear, "unacceptable" or even "laughable."

The source said Solidarity could not function as a free trade union if forced to embrace an ideology and stripped of the right to strike.

In setting the conditions, Ra-kowski said the government needed assurances a legally functioning Solidarity would differ from the movement that used general strike threats as a pressure tactic during its 16-month heyday.

Solidarity activists on Tuesday welcomed the shift in the party's new stance, but said they must proceed with caution because it stems not of good will but necessity.

"The authorities will do whatever that have to do to stay on top. Let's wait and see what they have to say and read the fine print carefully," said Mariel Jan-kowski, a Solidarity leader at Warsaw University.

Polish leader Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski crushed Solidarity in a December 1981 military crackdown, interned thousands of activists and banning the movement the next year.

After a series of strikes last spring and summer demanding higher pay and Solidarity's reinstatement, Jaruzelski agreed to resume contacts with the movement. However, promised negotiations with the opposition were repeatedly delayed over conditions set by both sides.

Walesa has warned that the public mood is reaching the boiling point because of rising prices and annoying consumer shortages.

In the latest sign of tension, a strike for higher pay and legalization of Solidarity on Tuesday shut down the 1,100-worker Pabianice Fabric Works in the textile city of Lodz.

Radicals attack U.S. center

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Radical students carrying sledgehammers attacked and damaged a U.S. cultural center today in Kwangju, hurling firebombs and rocks and attempting to burn down the building, authorities said.

Police in the southern provincial city said about 50 students rushed into the compound yelling anti-American slogans and threw stones and about 50 firebombs. They said about 15 protesters climbed onto the roof and tried to start a fire.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Seoul said one was injured in the attack and the protesters did not get inside the cultural center. He said 30 windows were broken, one official vehicle was damaged and tiles were ripped from the roof when attackers tried to set the building on fire.

Botha suffers mild stroke

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — President P.W. Botha suffered a "mild stroke" today and was admitted to a military hospital, his office announced.

A brief statement said Botha, 73, was in stable condition at No. 2 Military Hospital in the Cape Town suburb of Wynberg. It said no further details would be released immediately.

Dall suffers heart failure

FIGUERAS, Spain (AP) — Surrealist painter Salvador Dall was in stable condition today in the intensive care unit of a Spanish hospital after suffering heart failure, doctors said.

A six-doctor team at Figueras Hospital said the 84-year-old artist was in no immediate health danger.

Dall, a founding member of the surrealist movement, is the last of an outstanding generation of Spanish painters that included Pablo Picasso, who died in 1973, and Joan Miró, who died a decade later.

Volcanoes need watching

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Volcanoes killed more people in the '60s than during the previous 70 years, yet the deadly peaks are inadequately monitored to protect 350 million people who live near their slopes, a geologist says.

"We have to do a better job of studying the volcanoes of the world," said Robert Tilling, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist who coordinated the agency's response to the Mount St. Helens eruption.

"Existing methods of monitoring volcanoes are proving relatively reliable. We just don't do enough of it."

Since A.D. 1000 more than 300,000 people died from volcanic flows—lava, pyroclastic or mud— tsunamis and crust-eruption starvation, Tilling said in a summary of his remarks for today's annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mudflows from Colombia's Nevado del Ruiz killed at least 22,000 people in 1985, while more than 2,000 perished in pyroclastic flows— blasts of hot gas, rock and ash— from Mexico's El Chichon, in 1982. Tilling said. Mount St. Helens left 57 people dead or missing.

No clues in kidnapping Multimillionaire's wife still missing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Multimillionaire Robert Hearin has paid $1 million ransom and spent six anguish-filled months awaiting word on his kidnapped wife, and neighbors say it might be time to accept she'll never return.

"For fear of sounding callous, I don't want to say that. But yet I think as time goes by, people are becoming increasingly despondent about the chances" of solving 75-year-old Annie Hearin's disappearance, Julia Vandell said Tuesday.

Vandell and others in Jackson's posh Woodland Hills neighborhood have been on edge since July 26, when Mrs. Hearin was abducted from her home.

"FBI agents also aren't as optimistic as they were a few months ago."

"We're pursuing leads. New things develop all the time, but nothing at this time looks real promising," said FBI agent Stewart Murphy.

Murphy said he couldn't discuss the case while it's still being investigated, but said police are hoping something will come of Hearin's Sept. 8 offer of a $100,000 reward for information leading to his wife's safe return.

Hearin, 70, who may be the wealthiest man in Mississippi, has shunned publicity most of his life, and his name was virtually unknown until his wife, who he met before World War II, was kidnapped.

At an Aug. 7 news conference he pleaded for her return, and family members were interviewed on a Nov. 9 segment of the NBC television program "Unsolved Mys-

Israel's tough tactics cause uproar Harsher actions ordered against Arab stone-throwers

JERUSALEM (AP) — A new policy of tougher steps against Arab stone-throwers sparked angry debate in Israel, with opposition parties filing no-confidence motions and soldiers complaining bitterly to Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

The new army tactics to battle the Palestinian uprising were instituted Tuesday as the death toll from clashes in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip rose. Three Arabs died Tuesday, he said.

The army radio said the closures would last up to two weeks.

In all, 33 West Bank high schools have been shut this month following rioting. Rabin threatened Tuesday to close more high schools wherever stoning attacks persist.

Five left-wing opposition parties, meanwhile, filed motions of no-confidence in Parliament Tuesday to protest the new army policy.

In an unusual confrontation at an army camp in the West Bank, soldiers from the elite paratrooper brigade lashed out at Shamir, saying they are ashamed of how they have to treat Palestinians and can hardly face their friends and family at home.

Reservists in their late 20s and early 30s rose to tell Shamir they had been forced to beat innocent people to instill fear in them and enforce order.

"I feel that our unity is deteriorating," one soldier said in the nationally televised debate near Nabulus, the largest West Bank city.

"In order to enforce order in the marketplace, we must be brutally violent to innocent people," said a reservist who identified himself only as Totam, a laborer from the northern city of Tiberias.

"When I get up in the morning, I say to myself, 'Now I have to go out and chase somebody...' and when I catch him I look at his hands and see he is a working man, just like me."

Republican

In his acceptance speech, Morra stressed the need for the town to make government more progressive.

"Once we get over the fact that we've made government in Bolton more progressive," Morra said.

He said, if elected, he would better use the position of administrative assistant in town.

He also said he would look into the condition of the town garage, describing it as "our little ghetto."

"I think I can win in fact I know I can win. I'm well known and I appeal across party lines," Morra said.

Although Cheney was disappointed by not getting the vote for first selection he said he was pleased with the nomination for selection.

"I feel good I got on the board," Cheney added.

"The one thing I am against is a piecemeal type of approach. I don't believe it is doing the job. It's not providing leadership," Morra said.

Cheney said he wants to make the town money is well spent. He also mentioned the deteriorating conditions at the town garage, the need to improve town roads, and that the town needs a new rescue truck.

Preuss said he is concerned with the amount of growth the once-small town is experiencing and he would like to help protect the town by adding manpower to the Planning Commission.

Morra, whose father, Richard P. Morra, was Republican first selectman from 1963 to 1975, said the Republicans would be winners.

"I think it's a winning ticket. I'm pleased with it," said Preuss. Both men said they would be planning to meet soon to discuss campaign platforms, tactics and draw up a list of issues affecting the town.

In the contest for Board of Education nominations, Sally Lessard, incumbent James Marshall and Anne Rickards, Republican Town Committee treasurer, were nominated.

Incumbent school board member Michael L. Parsons, who was endorsed last week by the Republican committee, lost his bid for the party nomination.

Parsons said today he is not sure whether he will petition to hold a primary election. A petition, signed by percent of the registered party members, must be filed with the town clerk by Feb. 2 for a March 6 primary.

"I haven't made up my mind," said Parsons, a board member for almost 10 years. "I haven't really thought about it." He said he would decide this week whether to run after talking to other board members.

Republicans can only win two of three seats on the board, under the rules which govern minority-party representation.

Lessard, who is co-chairman of a Parent-Teacher Organization, said, "I really see a need in this town for improvements. I feel I could make a contribution to the board."

Lessard has a degree in elementary education and psychology. She has been a member of area of the shopping mall under construction. Most of the lines are under parking lots but some are under buildings under construction.

Some of the testing would be to determine if the sewers were properly bedded.

Richard Lombardi of Lombardi Associates said the backfill under buildings was inspected by Russell Davidson, who has been hired by the town to inspect building construction.

Davidson is one of two town inspectors on the project. The other is Lewis Cersosimo.

In his letter to Homart, Lozis outlined a future procedure for Cersosimo's role when he observes construction deficiencies. He said it has been agreed that Cersosimo will notify the contractor will stop work. Cersosimo will immediately notify Charles Gleisner or Edward Huppe, Homart's on-site construction managers, in order to limit the amount of corrective work that might be required.

Homart wants portions of the sewers within the road that rings the mall proper to become public sewers, but has agreed to maintain them.

In moving on to accept the sewers as public Tuesday night, District Director Joseph Tripp said the town should be left free to decide later whether they are public sewers if the town takes over jurisdiction.

"The town would take jurisdiction if an agreement between the town and district over fire protection and sewer matters is carried out. It has been approved in principle by the two governments, but still needs formal approvals.

In his letter Lozis said the public or private question is still to be settled.

In a memorandum to the town Board of Directors, General Manager Robert Weiss said Homart has assured town officials "that no further construction will take place unless there are stamped approved plans from the town" and that if there is any concern expressed by the town's inspector of public utilities, the project will be stopped until the concerns can be discussed with Homart representatives.

While the district section Tuesday involved sewer lines within the mall proper, the town is concerned about the location of sewer and water lines along Buckland Hills Drive, the north access road.

Work on utilities there must be completed until Homart verifies the location of the bottom point of a slope on the south side of the rock cut for the road and verifies that the grade of the slope is correct.

Homart would also be required to make mirror or laser tests for alignment of the sewers, pressure tests for leakage, and TV tests for interior deficiencies. The requirements by the district for the interior sewers include the TV inspection, air pressure testing, checking manholes for water tightness, excavating in a least to places to see if the sewers are set in proper bedding and covered with proper backfill, and preparing elevation drawings of the sewers as they were built to determine if they are at proper grades.

citizen in many ways. He'll be tough to beat."

The Charter Revision Commission's proposal to change to a town manager form of government will be a campaign issue, Ziska said. He said he did not agree with Republican statements that the town's administrative assistant could handle the town manager's duties if given more power by the selection. Nor did he agree with Republican criticism of his suggestion to split charter proposals into separate questions.

The selection has not decided whether to split the questions, he said.

"That's baloney. It's incorrect to say that the charter (has to) be presented as all or nothing," he said. "That doesn't serve the voters well."

Ziska said that while the Republicans are criticizing the charter proposal, the Democrats should be commended for bringing the proposal to the voters.

Republican Selectmen Douglas T. Cheney, Carl A. Preuss and Lawrence Converse III voted to reject the charter proposals. Ziska and Democrat Sandra V. Pierog, who is not seeking reelection as first selectman, voted to bring the proposal to referendum.

A 330-signature petition given to selectmen last month will force a referendum within 15 months on the proposed charter, Ziska said. No referendum date has been set.

"Which party made the effort to get the charter to the voters?" Ziska asked.

"The nominating committee did an excellent job," said Henry Kelsey, Democrat town chairman. "We have very good candidates and their backgrounds well qualify them to run."

Kelsey said about 30 Democrats attended Tuesday night's caucus.

Pelletier, 25, said he favors giving the public the opportunity to vote on the charter, but he is not sure whether the Board of Finance should be eliminated.

Pelletier, a certified public accountant, said he would bring business skills to the board to help with the town's fiscal matters. Vetch could not be reached for comment today about his nomination.

Narasimha Reddy and Dennis S. Eslinger were nominated to run for the Board of Education.

John T. Muro, an Democratic incumbent on the school board, decided not to seek reelection. Muro said increased job responsibilities influenced his decision.

Kelsey said the Democrats did not nominate candidates for town clerk or town meeting moderator.

For the Board of Finance, Charles F. Holland, Don L. Palmer Jr. and Beth Harney were nominated. Holland is the only incumbent. Democrats can only elect two members to the finance board.

Richard Hinds, Gwen Erwin and Herbert Dougan Jr., were selected to run for four-year terms on the Planning Commission beginning in 1989, and Michael Wilkinson was nominated to run for a two-year term beginning in 1989.

Ivi J. Cannon, vice chairman of the Democratic Town Committee and registrar of voters, and Marilyn Mooman were nominated to run for Planning Commission alternates for four-year terms beginning in 1989.

Madelena Renya was nominated to run for a four-year term as an alternate beginning in 1989.

Bernard Cunningham was chosen to run for Planning Commission alternate for an unexpired term running from 1989 to 1990.

For four-year terms beginning in 1989 on the Zoning Commission, Democrats nominated Russell Mooman, David Killian and Thomas Marriot. Marian Kelsey was named to run for Zoning Commission alternate for a 1989-93 term.

For the Zoning Board of Appeals, Joel Hoffman and James Rogers were picked to run for four-year terms beginning in 1989. Marjorie Fuller-Supple was nominated to run for a four-year term as a ZBA alternate beginning in 1989. Robert Lessard was nominated to run for a four-year term on the Board of Tax Review beginning in 1989.

This has to be the most perplexing time in college basketball history.

A decade ago, the NCAA Tournament could have been rechristened "the UCLA Invitational," the way the Bruins dominated. No more.

The Big East Conference, for example, shows how crazy life can be. Anyone who might have said that Syracuse after its first five games would be branded as nuts.

Not so nuts.

Syracuse, the preseason coaches' choice along with Georgetown, will occupy the outhouse until at least the end of the week. The one-night Orangemen, who may yet be heard from before the year is out, plummeted into the Big East's basement Monday night with their fourth loss in five conference outings. That fall came much to the delight of University of Connecticut followers.

The Huskies, who looked lost against St. John's and Seton Hall, turned it around just 48 short hours after they fell victim to the Pirates. Incredible.

"I didn't know we were the underdogs," said Junior Tate George, who played small forward one game before returning to point guard against Syracuse. "I knew we were fighting for last place. You know both teams are going to play hard. We just wanted to take a step up."

George gave a lot of credit to senior co-captain Cliff Robinson for having the Huskies mentally prepared for this game. Monday afternoon, Robinson and Phil Gamble had a team meeting, involving the six remaining members of the squad who were there when the Huskies won the NIT championship last March. His words seemed to work magic.

"I never saw (Cliff) so hyper. Sometimes I was just flabbergasted. He kept everything going tonight," George said.

"For us to be good, we have to get Lyman (DePriest) to play defense, and he did and that was really critical. And Phil Gamble and Cliff Robinson acted like seniors can act and have in the past."

UConn coach Jim Calhoun said, "The Robinson and Gamble combined for 45 points and they were on the money from the field, canning 16 of 27 attempts. DePriest played strong defense against Syracuse point guard Sherman Douglas. George controlled UConn's halfcourt offense from his position, and senior Willie McCloud gave Connecticut 34 valuable minutes.

UConn did what it takes to win in the Big East. "You have to realize this is the best conference in the country and you have to keep plugging away until you get a few wins," George said.

It's not to say UConn is ready to crack the Associated Press Top Twenty poll, as it did the first week of December, again. "I'll wake up tomorrow morning feeling better about ourselves," Calhoun said. "But on our board we have the number 16. That's the number of games in this league. As I told the kids, this league is so tough if you're a real good team you'll lose five or six times. "If you're a very good team and make the NCAA tournament, you'll lose maybe eight times. I hate to tell you, but we'll lose again. So is everybody else. (But) it was a great win for us coming at a time when we're playing three of the top 12 teams in the country."

Three Big East clubs are in the Top Twenty. Four more received votes. Only UConn and Boston College didn't receive votes.

UConn's win was unexpected. But then again, nothing should be taken for granted in college basketball. It's that crazy.

Windham hot hand tops Tribe

By Jim Tierney
Manchester Herald

When a team gets a hot shooting hand and gains all the momentum of the game, the prospects of turning the tide seem faint.

The Manchester Indians certainly found this out in their key CCC East clash with the homestanding Windham Whippets Tuesday night.

Following an air-tight first half where the Whippets held only a two-point lead (29-27) at the intermission, they came out in the second half and exhibited a shooting clinic.

Windham, which placed five players in double digits in the first half, shot the ball in the second half and registered an easy 75-55 victory.

The win, the Whippets' fourth in a row after four straight losses to begin the season, pushes them to 3-1 in the CCC East and 4-4 overall. Manchester, which saw its three-game win streak snapped, is 2-1 in the league and 4-4 overall.

Windham, Hartford Public and Rockville share first place in the CCC East at 3-1, while East Hartford and Manchester are 2-1.

Manchester will host South Windsor Friday night at 7:30 at Clarke Arena.

Bob Turner paced the Whippets with 19 points while Rob Haddad (16), Rob Larned (15), Ariel Morales (13) and Pieter VanderHeide (12) were the other double figure scorers.

Windham was 16-of-18 in the pivotal third quarter, including three 3-pointers from Haddad and seven points from Morales. The Whippets were 15 for 17 from the foul line in the second half. Windham, which had a 15-12 lead after the first quarter led, 54-41, after the third stanza.

"They (Windham) hit some open shots," Indian Coach Frank Kinel said. "We missed some chances. They got ahead by 10 and that was it." It was that simple for Windham.

I knew that Haddad and Larned were pretty good shooters, but you hope that they have a fair to poor night. But they shot extremely well." Indian Coach Larned said. "I think Larned and Haddad were the keys to the game. These kids don't forget that Jason Goddard averaged 11 each. Goddard, averaging 18 points a game, managed only a basket in the second half.

"Our guards (Haddad and Larned) have improved 100 percent on getting the ball inside and running the offense," Windham Coach Neil Curland said. "I think Larned and Haddad were the keys to the game. These kids don't forget that Jason Goddard (Goddard) devastated us last year. He killed us. I'm sure the kids felt a little bit of revenge."

Leading by a point, 36-37, four minutes left in the third quarter, Windham went on a 16-4 spurt to end the stanza spearheaded by two Haddad 3-pointers and a three-point play by Turner. The Indians never seriously challenged in the fourth quarter.

"We're just too inconsistent," Kinel said. "You never know what to expect."

They (Manchester) are a scary team," Curland added. "They can score points in a hurry."

Windham also took the Junior Varsity contest, 63-60. Jim Anselmo and Darren Goddard led the young Indians with 14 points apiece.

WINDHAM (75) — Ariel Morales 15 (12), Larned Torres 16 (10), Pieter VanderHeide 12 (8), Bob Turner 15 (11), Rob Haddad 16 (8), Rob Larned 15 (10). MANCHESTER (55) — Cory Goddard 11 (15), Erik Widmer 12 (12), David Fulcher 13 (6), Eric Johnson 6 (6), Cory Goddard 12 (4), DeWain Bura 13 (4), Erik Johnson 6 (6), Cory Goddard 12 (4), DeWain Bura 13 (4), Erik Johnson 6 (6), Cory Goddard 12 (4), DeWain Bura 13 (4), Erik Johnson 6 (6). 3-point goals: W. Haddad, Turner, Morales 2, W. Widmer. Goalkeeping: M. W. Windsor.

Prop. 42 looks doomed

Protest storm in NCAA is growing

By Doug Tucker
The Associated Press

If ever an NCAA rule seemed doomed, it is Proposition 42, the proposal that would strip eligibility from all freshmen athletes who were not high school seniors when they entered college.

The proposal has been defeated in many states, and it is now being considered in only a handful of states.

The NCAA announced on Tuesday that a discussion of the new rule has been added to the agenda of the upcoming meeting of the executive committee of the NCAA, Presidents Commission and the NCAA Administrative Committee, which should please Georgetown basketball coach John Thompson.

Calling Proposition 42 a "tragic mistake," Thompson called attention to his opposition by walking off the court before his team's game against Wake Forest.

Arena location now an issue

By Bill Barnard
The Associated Press

MIAMI — Less than three months into the Miami Heat's first season, questions about the location of Miami Arena are turning into exclamation points.

The NBA game between the Heat and the Phoenix Suns was called off Tuesday night because of rioting outside the arena, which is located in the depressed Overtown section near downtown.

"I don't think the arena should have been put here in the first place," said Joe Wellish, one of the Heat's fans who was among a handful of fans who reacted to the arena's location. "It's a real black eye for the city."

Despite rioting in the area Monday night, a calmer situation Tuesday appeared to clear the way for the Suns-Heat game. Once the sun went down, however, things got ugly outside the arena.

Police Sgt. Bob Webb said about 50 rioters, mostly men in their 20s, threw rocks, fired guns and overturned a van on a street near the arena before dispersing.

Police Chief James Schaffel announced that the game would be played at a later date on the advice of the city manager and chief of police.

Moriarty star killed in crash

WEST HARTFORD — Todd Reynolds, a former star hitter and second baseman for the University of Hartford, died Tuesday from injuries sustained in a car crash two days earlier, school officials said.

Reynolds, 23, of Norfolk, was driving along Route 66 in Hartford when his car veered off the road and struck a utility pole at about 4:45 a.m. Sunday, police said. He had been admitted to Winsted Hospital and was later taken to Hartford Hospital, where he was listed in critical condition until his death.

Reynolds had been honored as the rookie of the year, batting champion and "most versatile" player in the Greater Hartford Twilight League during a banquet on Saturday at the Connecticut House in Manchester. He had dropped off a friend in Manchester who had attended the banquet with him and was on his way to Hartford Hospital, where he was listed in critical condition until his death.

Reynolds batted .493 last summer in helping Moriarty Brothers capture the Greater Hartford Twilight League championship.

"It was a real shocker," said Moriarty Manager Gene Johnson. "He'll be tremendously missed as a person and a ballplayer. He comes from a wonderful family. His mother and father are just terrific people."

"Todd was my kind of player. He always had a dirty uniform, always on the ground. He was a solid kid, a nice kid to have around. He always showed up, always played hard. He always went 120 percent. He loved to play."

Reynolds played the infield, outfield and as a Midgets' pitcher for Moriarty's in his one and only season with the team. "He was a nice, nice kid, a pleasure to have around," said Johnson, who also attended the banquet Saturday at the Connecticut House in Manchester.

A 5-foot-10, 175-pound player, Reynolds had blossomed this spring as a senior for the University

Washington, now an ex-Yankee, signs with Angels

By Ronald Blum
The Associated Press
NEW YORK — Claudi Washington is saying goodbye to the New York Yankees and hello to the California Angels. Alvin Davis, meanwhile, is getting the multimillion-dollar contract he wanted from the Seattle Mariners.

"Believe me I didn't want to go," Washington said. "The Yankees were working for less of me than I had. I had more choice. I would have remained a Yankee."

Washington batted .308 last season, third-best on the Yankees behind Don Mattingly and Dave Winfield. He had 11 homers, 64 runs batted in and 15 stolen bases. Washington, who made $480,000 in each of the last two seasons, will get a $300,000 signing bonus, $875,000 in 1989, $875,000 in 1990 and $875,000 in 1991. The 34-year-old outfielder also can earn an additional $50,000 per year in performance bonuses.

By Nancy Byval
Better Homes and Gardens

Soup is a comfort food, warming to both body and soul. Celebrate January as National Soup Month with one of these easy creamy homemade chowders. Each is ready in 10 minutes or less.

SPEEDY CLAM CHOWDER: In a saucepan cook 4 slices bacon until crisp. Drain, reserving 2 tablespoons drippings. Crumble bacon and set aside. Cook 1/2 cup chopped onion in reserved drippings until tender. Stir in one 10-ounce can condensed cream of potato soup, one 7½-ounce can minced clams (drained), and 1/2 cup milk. Simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes; stir occasionally. Stir in bacon and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 3 servings.

CAULIFLOWER CHOWDER: In a large saucepan combine one 10-ounce package frozen cauliflower and 1/2 cup water. Cover and cook 5 minutes or until tender. Do not drain. Cut up large pieces. Mash all the cauliflower slightly. Stir in two 11½-ounce cans condensed green pea soup, 2 cups milk and 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese. Cook and stir until cheese is melted and soup is heated through. Makes 6 servings.

CHICKEN-CORN CHOWDER: In a large saucepan combine 3 cups hot water and 1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon granules. Bring to boiling. Break 2 ounces noodles slightly while adding to the broth. Return to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Do not drain. Stir in one 10½-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup, 1/2 cup corn, and 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly. Add one 10½-ounce can chicken orzo, 1/2 cup diced cooked chicken, heat through. Makes 4 servings.

SAUSAGE CHOWDER: In a large saucepan bring 1 1/2 cups water to boiling. Add half of a 16-ounce package loose-pack frozen broccoli, cauliflower and carrots and 1 teaspoon dried Italian seasoning. Crushed. Return mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Do not drain. Stir together 1 1/2 cups milk and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Stir into vegetable mixture along with 4 brown-and-serve sausage links cut into bite-size pieces. Cook and stir until mixture is bubbly. Cook and stir 2 minutes more. Tear 2 ounces sliced process Swiss cheese into pieces; stir into chowder until melted. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 3 servings.

Homemade wings much better

By Bonnie Tandy Leblanc
and Carolyn Wymon

TYSON FLYERS GLAZED CHICKEN WING SECTIONS. Roasted, barbecue, Italian Hot, Spicy and Teriyaki. $2.89 to 2.99 per 18-ounce frozen box or 29-ounce refrigerated package.

BONNIE: Wings are the fattiest part of chicken, containing about 50 percent of their calories from fat. Tyson's Flyers have a bit more fat — about 7 percent — which is actually not bad considering they're fried. This is because Tyson fries-these wings, so they're not sitting in oil for a long time.

You could save yourself some calories and lots of sodium by marinating fresh wings in a low-sodium sauce, then baking or broiling them. But eating Tyson's Flyers every once in a while should not be a problem for most people.

CAROLYN: Buffalo chicken wings are the hottest thing in barbeque.

Super Bowl great excuse to throw beer-tasting party

NEW YORK (AP) — The Super Bowl is the big holiday of the New Year — and a great excuse for a super party!

Bon Appetit magazine suggests hosting a beer-tasting party. Stock an array of good beers, and try some "blind tasting" like the wine experts do with the great vintages. Your selection of beers can include:

Canada: Molson Golden Ale, Moosehead Ale, Czechoslovakia: Pilsner Urquell, Denmark: Carlsberg Elephant, England: Bass Pale Ale, Ireland: Guinness Extra Stout, Japan: Kirin Sapporo, Mexico: Bohemia Ale, Corona, Dos Equis, West Germany: St. Pauli Girl, United States: Anchor Liberty Ale, Anchor Steam Beer, Anchor's Our Special Ale, August Schell, Boulder Pale Ale, India Pale Ale, McSorley's Ale, New Amsterdam Amber, Portland Lager, Prior Double Dark, Rolling Rock.

Make your Super Bowl party complete with dishes such as Meat Loaf with Sun-Dried Tomatoes, which can be prepared one day in advance, or Sesame-Maple Chicken Wings, which can be marinated the day before. The recipes are provided by Bon Appetit.

Meat loaf with sun-dried tomatoes

1 pound onion, room temperature
3 tablespoons (or more) fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup corn oil or other vegetable oil
2 1/2 cups sun-dried tomatoes packed in oil, drained (1/4 cup oil reserved) and chopped
3 celery stalks, finely diced
6 garlic cloves, minced
2 teaspoons dried basil, crumbled
2 teaspoons dried oregano, crumbled
2 teaspoons dried thyme, crumbled
3 pounds ground beef (not lean)
2 pounds sweet Italian sausage, casings removed
1 cup minced fresh Italian parsley
4 eggs, beaten to blend

What Buffalo are lacking in meaty volume they make up for in spicy taste. Tyson are an attempt to make Buffalo-like chicken wings for the home, unfortunately, executed by a company with all the bravado of an ostrich. The roasted Italian artificial color (including yellow No. 5) and monosodium glutamate, these chips were cooked in bad-for-you coconut oil (the others are not). Skip this variety. If you do eat chips, I recommend Dirty's no salt.

DIRTY POTATO CHIPS. Regular, no salt, cajun, barbecue, and cheese & jalapeno. $1.59 to 1.79 per 6½-ounce bag.

BONNIE: These potato chips are called dirty because the potatoes are not washed after they're peeled. This keeps the potato starch from being washed away and, according to their manufacturer, makes for tastier, crispier chips.

Leaving the potato starch on makes no big nutritional difference. Like most other potato chips, Dirty's regular and

Great quake sparks shock in Soviet city

By Andrew Yurkovsky Manchester Herald MOSCOW — Nyura Akopyan was teaching in a music school for children in the city of Spitak, Soviet Armenia, when the Dec. 7 earthquake struck.

Yurkovsky was in the capital city of Yerevan, believed she had died. Akopyan was one of 53 Armenians being treated at the Alexander V. Vishnevsky Surgical Institute in Moscow two weeks ago.

In hospitals throughout Moscow, 345 Armenians were being treated for injuries in connection with the earthquake, a spokesman at the headquarters of the Soviet Ministry of Health said.

The Vishnevsky Institute, the largest one devoted to surgical research in the Soviet Union, sent three doctors to Armenia the day of the earthquake.

More than a month after the quake, the collection in Moscow of clothing, food and other items has now practically ended, said Boris V. Iovov, a spokesman for the Soviet Red Cross.

The Soviet press and television are now turning their attention to the rebuilding of the cities destroyed by the earthquake.

Vechernyaya Moskva, Moscow's evening newspaper, recently published a picture showing tents set up in a square in the Armenian city of Leninakan.

Mail builder faces fines on pollution

By Andrew J. Davis and Nancy Conzelmann Manchester Herald The state has ordered the developers of the $70 million mail building in Buckland to correct failed erosion-control measures at the mail site or face fines of up to $1,000 a day.

Mark J. Butts, senior environmental analyst with the Department of Environmental Protection, said today that the Hornum Development Co. of Chicago must stop erosion that is polluting nearby ponds.

Hornum also must submit a report to the DEP on the effects of sediment runoff, Butts said. The DEP issues only six to seven such orders to developers a year, he said.

Finances too tight for new town hall

By Nancy Conzelmann Manchester Herald Members of the Municipal Space Needs Study Committee will recommend that a plan to build a new $13 million municipal building be scrapped in favor of renovating the existing Municipal Building and Lincoln Center.

Committee members, in a 6-0 vote Wednesday, cited the cost of a new building in what is predicted to be a tight budget year and the good condition of the present buildings.

Inflation showed 4.4% gain last year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose 4.4 percent in 1988, the same as a year earlier, as hefty, drought-induced increases for groceries offset stable energy prices, the government said today.

Worry about inflationary pressures precipitated many economists last year, but that pressure has not produced an acceleration in inflation this far.

The 4.4 percent gain in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index matched the 1987 increase, which was the highest since 1981 but was four times the 1.1 percent rise in 1986, a 25-year low.

Baker wins Senate committee's OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, giving an early boost to the incoming Bush administration, voted 14-0 today to recommend that the full Senate confirm James A. Baker III as secretary of state.

The full Senate will act on the nomination later, probably next Wednesday.

Today's committee vote followed two days of hearings in which Baker fielded questions on problem areas around the world and dealt comfortably with foreign policy issues ranging from the momentous to the obscure.
