By Maureen Leavitt

To many, the Beethoven Chorus might sound like an elite group which sings only the works of the German composer Ludwig Van Beethoven. Actually, the Beethoven Chorus doesn't sing much of Beethoven's music at all. The group, 25 singers strong, is composed of men who sing a variety of music such as folk, pop and spirituals in four-part harmony. But to sing in this group, members must be retirees. The group was formed in 1975 at Emanuel Lutheran Church. It grew out of a group of music lovers who were members of the Old Guard, a group of retired men who meet at the church every other week. "After the meetings, a few of us used to play around the piano, and we said 'why don't we form a group," recalled James W. McKay Sr., the director of the McKay is a highly respected musician who has lived in Manchester all but two of his 84 years.

Work due to start on addition

By Maureen Leavitt Manchester Herald

Work to build an 800-squarefoot addition to the Housing Authority headquarters at 24 Bluefield Drive, is scheduled to begin Monday, authority Director Carol Shanley said Wednesday during the monthly meeting of the authority.

The addition, which will provide additional office space, will be attached to the south side of the building. A 400-square-foot tool crib will be constructed in the basement of the building. The work will be done by Vertical Builders Inc. of New Britain and is scheduled to be completed in the fall. Shanley

O'Connor ordered Delaney arrested and jailed after he did not appear for hearings on a suit against him brought by Connecticut National Bank. Delaney's license to practice law already has been suspended because of six counts of misconduct, including charges that he enticed clients to invest in various business schemes and failed to repay the money. One of the victims was a 76-year-old woman with severe arthritis who was confined to her home. She has since died.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Newly filed documents detail how Ferdinand Marcos allegedly looted the Philippines, using kickbacks, dummy corporations and war reparations with Japan to amass $5 billion, a newspaper reported

The papers were filed late Tuesday in federal court to amend a 3-year-old lawsuit brought by the Philippine govern-ment, which seeks $50 billion in ment, which seeks $50 billion in damages against the deposed Philippine president and his wife.

The documents portray the couple as sophisticated schemers who ran the Philippines as though it were their own personal enterprise, the Los Angeles Times

The lawsuit accuses the Marcoses of racketeering from 1965 to 1986, illegally transporting stolen money to the United States and laundering investments through associates and front companies. The two were indicted last year in U.S. District Court in New York on similar allegations. The documents provide the most complete public description to date of how the Marcoses amassed their wealth over two decades, said Ronald L. Olsen. He and Alan D. Bersin head a team of lawyers representing the Philip-

WASHINGTON (AP) — The share of first pregnancies beginning out of wedlock has risen sharply in the 1980s and single pregnant women are no longer rushing to the altar, a new Census Bureau study shows.

There has been a significant rise in the share of first births out f wedlock during the last two decades, while the share of women who tie the knot between conception and birth has been on

The census report also found a jump in the birth rate among women in their 30s, noting that most women who had a baby in 1988 were in the work force. you get mixed signals. In Coventry, where a debate is in progress over which of two locations in better for a police station, the police department is arguing for one that would be central and would give the department high visibility. In Manchester, where the town is trying to decide where to put a new station, the police are arguing that a central location is not necessary, that the real need is for easy and quick access along highways and roads to the various parts of town.

High mobility, not high visibility, is what the Manchester Police Department thinks

In Coventry's case there may be economic factors that intervene in the thinking of the police officials. The site they prefer is an existing building that would need $1.2 million worth of renovation. The other site is a proposed addition to the town hall. Only $1.5 million of the total $3.2 million cost of the addition would be for police facilities, but the key figure is the higher one and there may be a fear that taxpayers ultimately would be turned off by it.

Nevertheless, the differences of opinion between the police in the two towns suggests that more study is needed. Somewhere there must be some guidelines on the the topic, some studies of where police stations should be located under what circumstances and why. The Manchester site study committee and the town's Board of Directors should find out more about it and pass the information on to

These days, when so much attention is China's senior leader Deng Xiaoping brought in the loyalist troops to quell the student uprising in Beijing. The troops are commanded by Yang She, who is the nephew of China's ceremonial president and Deng's lifetime ally, Yang Shangkun. Deng has also made some ominous new alliances. He headed the moderate faction that introduced economic reforms to China, but when other reformers, led by Zhao Ziyang, called for political reforms as well, Deng drew the line and turned against Zhao. Deng has now had to form new alliances with hardliners. That puts the hardliners back in control of the government. Now all they have to do is maintain control of the streets.

sheets for major league baseball concluded the handwriting on the sheets is Rose's, several sources have confirmed for the AP The New York Times also reported today that the FBI has determined the slips of paper bear Rose's evidence on the fingerprints, the AP has learned. The betting sheets, if judged authentic by Commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti, would give baseball tangible evidence that the Reds' manager bet on his own team, putting him in jeopardy of a lifetime ban. Rose's lawyers tried to discredit the betting sheets in a lawsuit filed Monday against spectators and said to those standing, "Win, lose or draw, this is the way it's supposed to be."
