NEWINGTON OUSTS MB'S

By Jim Tlerney Manchester Herald

It took only one swing of the bat for Moriarty Brothers' season to come to an abrupt halt. With the score tied. 1-1, with one out in the bottom of the seventh inning during Friday night's Twilight League Playoffs at Moriarty Field. Newington's Willie Gonzales cracked a Dave Bidwell fastball over the centerfield fence for a 2-1 victory.

Newington (28-3-1) remains unbeaten in the double elimination tournament and will meet East Hartford, a 9-0 winner over Mallove's, this morning at 11 at Moriarty Field.

MB's closed out its season at 19-15. Recent East Catholic graduate Marc Mangiafico pitched the complete-game shutout for East Hartford. Both of Moriarty's losses in the tourney came at the hands of Newington, which nipped MB's, 4-3, in 13 innings on Tuesday night. Bidwell allowed eight hits, walked one and struck out six. Newington starter and winner Mike Schweighoffer gave up only two Moriarty hits, walked three (all three issued to cleanup hitter Jeff Johnson) and struck out two. Schweighoffer used to play for the Los Angeles Dodgers' AAA team. 'I knew it was gone," Gonzales, the No. 9 hitter in the lineup who had struck out his previous at bat, said. "I was looking for the fastball in that situation. This time if it was there I was going to hit it."

Newington threatened in the bottom of the first. With runners on first and second, Tom Meucci (3-for-3) singled to centerfield. MB's Ray Gliha uncorked a strike to catcher Jim Schiavone who applied the tag on Bo Ortiz. MB's took a 1-0 lead in the third. Schiavone led off with a double and moved to third base on a Tony Gallucchio sacrifice. Greg Turner then reached on an error by second baseman Dave Rose which scored Schiavone.

Newington tied the game at 1-all in the bottom of the sixth. Meucci knocked in Pete Bartlewski with a single. Newington had runners at the corners with one out. However, Bidwell struck out Gino Caro and got Mike Mangiafico on a force play at second to end

Despite Newington's lack of offense early in the game, Schweighoffer kept the Capitols in this one. "His curveball was working good," Gonzales, a 1980 Bulkeley High of Hartford grad, said of Scweighoffer. "His fastball was working good. He's a great pitcher. You don't play AAA for nothing." Gliha collected the other Moriarty hit, a single in

African leaders meeting

HARARE, Zimbabwe (AP) Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak today told African leaders beginning a four-day summit that the two main guerrilla-backed groups in South Africa should unite in their effort to end white Mubarak, chairman of the Organization of African Unity, challenged the guerrilla-backed African National Congress and the rival Pan Africanist Congress of South Africa to become one liberation organization.

"We stand ready to bring together both organizations in conditions acceptable to their leaders," he told the OAU's ad hoc Committee on Southern Western diplomats, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Mubarak was seeking agreement on a common African policy toward South Africa, possibly modifying some radical demands preconditions for talks with the Pretoria government. Today's summit was scheduled to discuss proposals for a new approach to South Africa's racial policies from the two movements out no details of the written proposals have been released. Seven heads of state of the 13 African leaders normally represented on the committee attended the opening session in Harare. Zimbabwe's President Robert Mugabe said the leaders of South Africa's voteless black majority were ready to engage in serious negotiations with the whitedominated government.

But "they and the people of free Africa must be convinced that the regime is serious about wanting to negotiate," Mugabe said. Mugabe said mediation efforts to end conflicts in the blackgoverned former Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique had made positive progress. But because of "very difficult and delicate conditions" these initiatives needed more backing from the 50-member OAU and other world nations, the Zimbabwean leader said.

The African National Congress, the main guerrilla organization fighting in South Africa, has in the past resisted calls for it to merge with the Pan Africanist Congress to end long standing antagonism between the two groups. Both groups use armed resistance against the white-led government. However, the Pan Africanist Congress favors black self-reliance in the struggle for political rights, while the ANC supports a multiracial approach. Speaking for South African liberation movements, President Zephania Mothopeng of the Pan power led only to "cosmetic" changes to apartheid. "At present, that type negotiation is out," he said. The summit also was expected to consider a proposed U.N. resolution setting a framework for a South African settlement initiative along the lines that guided U.N.-supervised independence elections in Namibia scheduled for November. to that idea.

The governor will have a major obstacle to get over if he runs again: the record-setting tax increases he and the Democraticcontrolled General Assembly approved this year. The most visible of those increases was a jump in the sales tax to 8 percent. O'Neill's strategy has been to accentuate the fact that the state got through six years without any general tax increases at all. With a downturn in the economy, there was no choice but to increase taxes, the argument goes. "People understand they have to pay taxes," the governor said. He also likes to point out that he has governed during good times and bad and that the state has come out the stronger for it. With revenues picking up, there's a good chance that taxes will not have to be boosted next year. There's also a chance there

New chairman for fund

Frank A. Napolitano of Manchester has been succeeded as chairman of TheUConnFund at the University of Connecticut by David P. Marks of Bloomfield, a senior vice president at CIGNA Investments Inc.

Napolitano is a member of the UConn class of 1966. The UConnFund provides funds from parents, alumni, and others to supplement state appropriations that amount to less than half the annual operating budget of the university.

Riley back from Ireland

Margaret Riley of Manchester returned home recently from a five-week stay in Ireland on the Irish American Cultural Institute's 14th annual Irish Way Summer program. The 130 high school students on the tour learned about Irish history and literature, took field trips, and spent a home-stay with a family to gbet a close view of modern Irish life. Riley received scholarhips for the stay from the Wild Geese of Greenwich and the Hanley Memorial Scholar-

Customers of Cox Cable of Greater Hartford can expect to receive surveys on viewer preference by the middle of September. Cox Cable plans to survey its 51,000 customers to decide whether to add the Madison Square Garden channel to programming. MSG recently gained the rights to carry Yankees baseball, previously covered by Sportschannel

Customers will also be asked whether they want the Nashville Network, the Family Channel and other requested channels.

Bank relocating offices

The Savings Bank of Manchester will relocate its branch at the Plaza at Burr Corners by the end of this year. The Burr Corners office will be moved to the other end of the plaza, near Waldbaum's supermarket. It will be accessible from Buckland Street. It will include a platform for lending and new accounts and safe deposit

The bank also will enlarged and renovated its AutoBank at West Middle Turnpike. It will remain open during construction. Work is scheduled to be completed early next year. Also, the bank's office in the Sullivan Avenue Plaza in South Windsor will be moved to a free-standing building at the front of the plaza. The new office will feature a drive-up automatic teller machine.

Hospital plan sparks strong debate in city

HARTFORD (AP) - The medical community here has become sharply divided over the question of whether a proposed $100 million pediatric hospital, a joint venture of the Newington Children's Hospital and Hartford Hospital, is necessary. Arrayed on one side are those who say that the new hospital would raise the quality of pediatric treatment in the region. On the other side are those who feel the proposed hospital would duplicate existing services and waste money that could be better spent on more pressing needs. Under the plan, Newington Children's Hospital, currently in a red-brick building dedicated in 1930, would be moved to a new six-story building across Seymour Street from Hartford. Opponents of the new hospital, including St.

Hospital and the University of Connecticut Health Center's John Dempsey Hospital in Farmington, question whether it would noticeably improve pediatric care. "Let's get real here - look at what we're really getting out of this," said John H. DiLiberti, director of pediatrics at St. Francis. "There will still be an enormous amount of duplication with other hospitals. If you have $100 million to spend, we should look at where that money can really best be

Crancis Hospital and Medical Center, Mount Sinai

The fate of the proposal will be decided by the state Commission on Hospitals and Health Care. which will hold hearings on Newington's certificateof-need application later this year or early next

Newington officials say the new hospital would be able to provide sophisticated services unavailable in the current building. Many complex surgeries cannot be performed there, and even with the hospital's $60 million endowment, expensive high-technology equipment such as magnetic resonance imaging, which uses magnetic and radio waves to produce an advance image of body structures, has not been considered cost-effective "If you are talking about improving the quality of care for children, then a pediatric hospital is a major step in that direction," said Leonard Krassner, a Wallingford pediatrician and presiden of the state chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics. "Putting various services in one

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed. Within 2 days you should notice a

The cost of long-term borrowing is always high so it should be no surprise that the ultimate cost of proposed additions to town hall estimated at $16.5 million increased to an estimated $30 million when the cost of paying off the bonds is included.

That cost would be paid over 22 years for a capital improvement that would last a long time and the cost would diminish annually

Nevertheless the $30 million figure is sobering, especially when you consider that the town is considering another major capital improvement, a new police station.

As some of the town directors observed at a meeting Friday, town officials will have to determine as closely as possible the financial effect of the additions, new police station and, possibly, expanded schools before deciding what to do.

For years the town has struggled with stop-gap measures to accommodate muncipal offices. That has been a source of frustration, not only for town administrators, but also for elected officials and for some citizens who would like to see the space problem solved permanently.

But it may be necessary to continue making do with the present muncipal office space for a few more years or putting up with the present police station for a few more years. It seems clear the town has to establish some pretty firm priorities before making a commitment

The directors have only until Sept. 7 to decide on asking the voters in the Nov. 7 election to approve a bond issue for the additions to the municipal office building.

Voters will be more easily persuaded to vote yes if they have a fairly clear idea of what the total financial burden for capital improvements is likely to be in the next ten years or so.

Those of us who trust in the good sense of the American people had our faith rewarded recently with the announcement that Morton Downey Jr. soon will be but a bad memory. Downey's television show has been canceled by MCA Television because of poor ratings, Put another way, Mort is a victim of the basic decency and sense of fairness of the American people. Having had a year or so of Downey's antics, Americans have given him a decisive thumbs down

Downey was never the all-American patriot his press agents wanted us to believe. He wasn't even a guy with strongly held principles who just went a bit too far sometimes, as his press agents also wanted us

Downey and those behind him were people who smelled a quick buck. They thought there was money to be made appealing to the worst in people. They peddled hatred, prejudice and pettiness, and resorted to the strategem, reminiscent of the Nazis, of singling out vulnerable scapegoats who made easy targets to blame for the very complex problems our society faces. For a while, it was a bit scary to think that maybe the American people would buy into something that malicious. But in the end, the people proved better than that. Americans tuned Downey out in record numbers and when they did, so did his sponsors. Thanks to the people, our airwaves won't be polluted with his venom after Sept. 15.

Tass gets benefit of glasnost

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

MOSCOW - Time was when a story from the Washington bureau of the official Tass news agency would begin: "Yet another falsification has been offered by the White House." Tass is still far from Pulitzer Prize material, but it has taken enormous journalistic strides under glasnost, and Leonid P. Kravchenko is the man with one foot in the party and the other stepping into legitimate journalism. Kravchenko, the director general of the new and improved Tass, ruefully summed up the past as a "credibility problem." We met with him for a rare interview in his modern office on Moscow's Boulevard Ring Road. He is fighting the image of the old days when Tass was perceived only as the mouthpiece of the Central The crash of a pilotless Soviet

The new Tass master called it "a kind of jeweler's work" meticulously figuring out how to tell the story without going too far. He cited the Soviet constitution at one point. It bans "propaganda that instigates national strife." It was one of those neat little Leninist holdover phrases from the Soviet state founder who only abided journalists as "agitators, propagandists and agents of the Kravchenko directs the second biggest news agency in the world, after Reuters. He has more than 8,000 employees who produce a total of 4 million words each day, he said, or the equivalent of 750 newspaper pages. Tass has offices in 113 countries, which is more than Reuters or any other agency. The smallest outposts are manned by at least two people. Even the new Tass is not the information purist that the numbers would imply. The vacuum-like KGB is the destination for much of what Tass gathers in the name of news. In the 1950s, a Soviet defector told U.S. intelligence sources that 80 percent of Tass' personnel were spies, Today, according to our CIA sources, the

Cummings' role hit by Osella

By Alex Girelli Manchester Herald

Tuesday, Aug. 22, 1989

Democratic Town Chairman Theodore R. Cummings should not testify before the Freedom of Information Commission Sept. 13 or be represented by an attorney because he is not named in the complaint, Republican Town Director Ronald Osella said today. Osella said his complaint to the FOI Commission named the chairman of the Board of Directors and the Democratic members of the board as respondents, not the party chairman. Cummings said Monday he will appear at the Sept. 13 hearing or be represented by legal counsel. Osella said Cummings had no now if he wanted to testify.

standing in the case and should have sought to intevene before An FOI hearing officer, Deane C. Avery, has recommended a finding that two gatherings of Democratic town directors with Cummings present were meetings, not caucuses, under the terms of FOI law because a quorum of directors was present along with Cummings and that town business was discussed at the gatherings.

Democrats had argued that the two meetings were caucuses and thus could be held without public notice and public attendance. Avery's recommendation will be presented to the full Freedom, of Information Commission Sept.

13 at 2 p.m. Osella also said the town attorney should not represent the respondents because the town itself is not a respondent. At the Feb. 6 hearing before Avery, Town Attorney John Cooney represented the respondents. Osella also took exception to a comment by Cummings about the objectivity of the Freedom of Information Commission. Cummings said he would like to see the question of whether the party chairman should be permitted to attend caucuses decided by an He said neither Osella not the FOI Commission were impartial.

impartial court. "The FOIC is not supposed to be impartial," Osella said today. He said the FOIC is a watchdog "established to prevent elected officials and party bosses from making back-room deals." Both Cooney and Peter P. DiRosa, Jr. the chairman of the Board of Directors, are unavailable for comment on Avery's recommendation and what action the respondents will take in
