Police Roundup

Man faces mischief charge

Manchester police said they arrested Daniel H. Trueman, 40, of 866 Center St., on charges of criminal mischief, breach of peace, and failure to submit to fingerprint identification.

He will be arraigned on Oct. 30 in Manchester Superior Court.

According to the police report, an officer was leaving the department when he heard yelling and vulgar language coming from Princeton Street, next to the department. While the officer was walking there he heard glass breaking and then found Trueman in the vicinity, according to the report.

Police said Trueman struggled while he was being arrested. He was brought to the Manchester Memorial Hospital emergency room for a medical examination and was later taken to the police department, where he refused to submit to fingerprinting, police said.

He was held on $500 cash bail.

Man arrested in tool theft

Police said they arrested a Coventry man Tuesday on a charge that he stole tools from a fellow employee at Lynch Toyota.

Jeffrey S. Miller, 20, turned himself in to the Manchester Police Department on Tuesday at 10 p.m., according to a police report.

Police said Miller attempted to sell the tools to a tool salesman who was off part of a $300 debt to the salesman. The salesman originally agreed, but retracted his offer after he heard the tools were stolen, police said.

Miller was released on $1,000 non-surety bond on Tuesday, and will appear at Manchester Superior Court charged with third-degree larceny on Monday.

Thoughts

The Bible says "My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:19)

Life is filled not only with expectations but also very real needs. The apostle Paul is teaching in this text that whatever the nature and scope of the needs you have God will supply it for you through the creation, which he jointly created with Christ, His Son. He has the capability of supplying all the needs you have through His Son. The ultimate need of salvation and eternal life. He also provides through His Son, Christ Jesus our Lord, and your personal acceptance of Him into your life. Look to Christ Jesus, you will find there is no disappointment in Him. He doesn't give us all our desires, because we can want so much, but he does give us all our needs and fills them to overflowing.

'Spectacular' plan for Coventry tract wins state support

By Alex Girelli
Manchester Herald

Therius Werkhoven, Republican minority leader on the Board of Directors and a candidate for reelection, has disavowed remarks made by a fellow candidate, J. Russell Smyth about the future of Center Springs Park.

Smyth, meanwhile, has written a letter which appears in today's Herald apologizing to residents who live near the park. He had said at a press conference that the park should be left to the drug addicts who frequent it.

In the letter Smyth said, "... if elected, (I) will push for increased police protection in the residential areas adjacent to the park."

Werkhoven, who said he was speaking for the rest of the Republican candidates for the Board of Directors, said Smyth's earlier comments were "off the top of his head, off the cuff, and out of context."

He said the Democrats used crisis management to provide a new home for the Recreation Department. The department was displaced from the former Highland Park School building when it was reopened as a school.

In news conferences, both Werkhoven and Democratic Director Stephen T. Cassano have outlined plans for studies and measures they say are needed to restore the park.

In a written statement, Werkhoven said, "There is work to be done in the park area to make it safe for all the residents of the town and every effort should be made to restore its beauty as it was in past years."

Werkhoven repeated his criticism of the location of a new lodge built in the park. He said it is too far from Center Springs Pond, which he hopes can be restored as a skating area.

And Werkhoven said that for the past 18 years the Democratic administration has done nothing to restore the park except to tune the building of the lodge in an election year.

A REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF MANCHESTER

For many years the Town of Manchester and Eighth District squabbled over fire protection and sewer service in the North End of Town. During the past year, Manchester Mayor Peter DiRosa and Eighth District Director Sam Longest, worked hard to reach an agreement which the Town and District Directors unanimously approved. Thus, we felt we had put an end to the lawsuits and bickering which have gone on for so many years. Finally, we thought we had peace in our town.

This agreement is an example of the far sighted leadership which we believe the Democrats have given Manchester:

- No more fighting over fire stations and who fights the fire.
- No more fighting over who puts what sewer line where; the boundaries are set.
- No more raiding each others territory. The law was changed.

But now, some Republican candidates running for the Board of Directors are attempting to undermine the agreement. They seek votes by trying to again divide the Town and the District. Why risk the return to constant fighting? THE DEMOCRATS support the agreement and the peace in our community which it represents. The Republicans would have us return to a time of suspicion, doubt and hostility. Don't let it happen!!!

Crews begin clearing wreckage

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Crews began assembling heavy equipment today to clear tons of twisted, blackened rubble at a plastics plant, where a series of explosions and fire may have killed up to 25 workers, officials said.

Two bodies have been recovered. Mites of charred strings of pipe from Monday's accident were piled haphazardly around the Phillips Petroleum Co. plant. Some buildings are gone, and eight giant reactors now look like huge, smashed tin cans. "Any employee in that wreckage probably didn't survive," said Jere Smith, Phillips' director of public relations, looking at the scene.

Twenty-two workers remained missing and believed to be entombed, he said. But late Tuesday, officials at the company's Bartlesville, Okla., headquarters released a list of 19 missing Phillips employees and said four contract workers also were missing. Officials could not immediately explain the discrepancy.

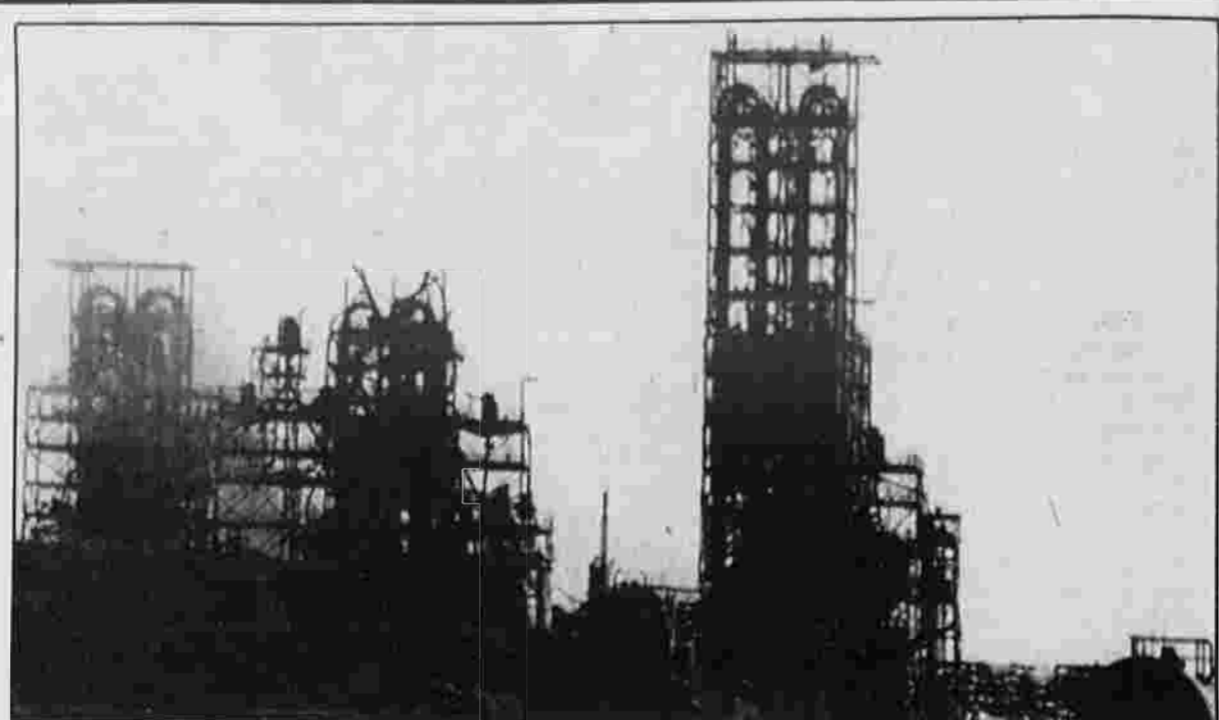

The plant's emergency alarm system had been tested and was problem-free hours before the explosions, said Greg Derrick, a Phillips spokesman in Bartlesville. Smith said officials were mobilizing heavy cranes and bulldozers to remove the wreckage. The effort would proceed slowly as crews look for victims while removing debris, he said.

"The devastation in the plant is a whole lot more extensive than we thought," said Harris County Sheriff Johnny Klevenhagen. "Some of the buildings are gone. There's nothing there. Others are crushed in, flattened."

Francis relatives gathered and scanned lists of known survivors. Many held a vigil outside the complex, which produces 4.5 million pounds a day of plastics used in milk jugs and grocery sacks.

Mary De La Vergne, 38, found the name of her common-law husband, Cipriana Rodriguez, 43, on the list of missing workers.

"I had just taken him lunch," said Ms. De La Vergne, dressed in black. "I heard the explosion when I was going back home."

Shiites reissue demand for release of comrades

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Kidnappers holding at least two Americans have again issued their demand for the release of 15 Shiite Muslim comrades jailed in Kuwait for bombing the U.S. and French embassies.

A statement from Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, was delivered Tuesday to the independent newspaper Al-Nahar and a Western news agency in Beirut.

The agency's copy was accompanied by an instant photograph of American hostage Terry Anderson, who has been held the longest of the 18 Western hostages. Anderson, abducted March 16, 1985, is chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press.

"We renew our firm emphasis on the need to free our struggling brethren from the jails of the collaborating Kuwaiti regime, and declare that the Mujahideen (Holy Warriors) shall not rest until they see their brethren free," said the statement, typewritten in Arabic.

The photograph of Anderson was similar to one released by Islamic Jihad on Nov. 4, 1988, with the last statement from the group, showing Anderson about to cut a birthday cake.

No cake was visible in the latest picture, a close-up of a slightly different angle that shows Anderson from the waist up, mustached and smiling, wearing glasses and a yellow T-shirt. In the background is what appears to be the same blue curtain.

Anderson turns 42 on Friday. It will be his fifth birthday in captivity. Islamic Jihad also holds Thomas Sutherland, 57, of Fort Collins, Colo., who was acting dean of agriculture at American University of Beirut when he was abducted June 9, 1985.

The Shiite Muslims in Kuwait were convicted on terrorist charges stemming from the 1983 embassy bombings, in which at least five people were killed and 86 wounded. Three have been condemned to death, but the sentences have not been carried out. Kuwait has refused previous demands to release the prisoners.

With the statement delivered to Al-Nahar were two pictures of the U.S. Marine base and the French paratrooper headquarters in Beirut that were attacked with truck bombs Oct. 23, 1983.

Sentencing Day Bakker: 45 years, $500,000 fine

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A judge sent evangelist Jim Bakker directly to jail to start a 45-year sentence for defrauding followers of millions of dollars, saying people were "sick of being saps for money-grubbing preachers."

U.S. District Judge Robert Potter on Tuesday also fined the defrocked PTL founder $500,000, concluding that Bakker had continued to milk the faithful even after his conviction for oversteering membership in a Christian vacation retreat.

The 49-year-old television evangelist left the courtroom in leg irons and handcuffs on his way to federal prison in Alabama. Depending on the outcome of an appeal, he will serve at least 10 years before being eligible for parole.

Prosecutors said the man who founded the once mighty PTL religious empire raised thousands of dollars since his Oct. 5th conviction and needed to be imprisoned to stop him from using TV and the mails to raise more.

"He's able to walk out of this courtroom today and continue to perpetuate this fraud," Assistant U.S. Attorney Jerry Miller told the judge. "He hasn't repented."

Potter read a letter that Bakker and his wife, Tammy Faye, mailed last month from their new TV ministry in Orlando, Fla., asking 300 supporters to send in $1,000 apiece to alleviate a financial crisis.

"Those of us who do have a religion are sick of being saps for money-grubbing preachers and priests," Potter said. "Worst of all, it appears that Mr. Bakker feels he was deserving of his gains from the little people who sent in their savings."

Potter refrained from ordering Bakker to make restitution to his victims, saying that issue needed to be resolved in bankruptcy court.

Bakker's fall from power began in 1987 with revelations about a sexual encounter with former church secretary Jessica Hahn, who received hush money, leading to the unraveling of the ministry.

"I'm deeply sorry for those I have hurt," Bakker said before sentencing. "I have sinned. But never in my life did I intend to defraud anyone."

Prosecutors didn't accept his apology. "This man is a con man, a common criminal," said Miller. "He's ready, willing and able to pick it up where he left it off. He's ready to go back to the bench."

Warden Don Southerland said Bakker was to spend the night in a cell with another inmate, and remain there a few weeks before being assigned to another institution.

Zsa Zsa: 3 days and a lecture

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The law slapped back at Zsa Zsa Gabor with a three-day jail term for sleeping a policeman after a circuslike case that left the actress unrepentant and her husband fuming.

"Yes, I'm upset," said Miss Gabor's eighth husband, Frederick von Anhalt, as he stormed down the steps of the courthouse after Tuesday's sentencing. "I will ask the court if I can go to jail instead of my wife."

Miss Gabor, a one-time Hungarian beauty queen believed to be in her mid-60s to early 70s, snickered, smiled and made quips as Beverly Hills Municipal Judge Charles Rubin announced the sentence, peppering his statements with rebukes and warnings.

"Now you laugh," the judge said, before lecturing Miss Gabor about the 25,000 Americans who die yearly in alcohol-related accidents. Among Miss Gabor's misdemeanor convictions was driving with an open container of alcohol.

"The law applies to everyone, whether they are rich or poor and whether they are famous or not," Rubin said before sentencing her. "In the absence of extremely mitigating circumstances... if you strike a cop, you go to jail."

Along with the jail term, the judge ordered Miss Gabor to pay $12,937.50 in fines and restitution and to perform 120 hours of community service in a women's homeless shelter, where she may not talk about her case or give media interviews. Miss Gabor, who returned home after the verdict, was given until Dec. 29 to complete the jail sentence.

She also was ordered to be interviewed by a psychiatrist and to refrain from driving until the gas her real age on her driver's license. During the trial, Miss Gabor claimed the license was stolen and altered by someone else.

The judge repeatedly attacked Miss Gabor's demeanor inside and outside of court, saying she was "milking this case for publicity" at the expense of the taxpayers who paid for the trial.

"She has demonstrated an attitude continually of contempt for law and order and these proceedings, without a hint of remorse or contrition of any kind," the judge said. "And that is very relevant to sentencing."

As Miss Gabor left the courtroom, she disputed the judge's contention that she not only slipped a police officer, but the American people by her statements out of court that the United States was worse than the Soviet Union or Nazi Germany.

"I'm a very good American. I love America," she said. "Why should I slap the face of America?"

NATO gives Soviet pledge a cautious endorsement

VILAMOURA, Portugal (AP) — NATO defense ministers today welcomed Soviet promises to cut its powerful military forces but urged the Kremlin to do more to slash its tactical nuclear weapons.

U.S. Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and other ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization also applauded in their final statement Moscow's pledge to remove a disputed radar station in Siberia.

Cheney cautioned that the Soviet Union remains a powerful military force and said "there is great uncertainty about how events will unfold in the Soviet Union."

Wrapping up two days of nuclear strategy talks on the southern Portuguese coast, the officials said they "looked forward to the prompt and full implementation of this commitment."

After the meeting, Cheney was to fly to London for talks with British officials on the European leg of a three-week foreign tour.

In the final statement, the ministers said they "were encouraged by the changes underway in the Soviet Union and some of its allies."

"Nevertheless, we recognized the broader income range of buyers."

The national median price for an existing single-family home fell from August to September by $1,400 to $93,400. This was still 5.5 percent higher than a median price home sold for a year ago.

The median is the point at which half the homes sell for more and half for less.

Analysts attributed the one-month price drop in part to the fact that the market shifts in September away from larger families with children to smaller households looking for smaller houses.

Regionally, the sales advanced was paced by a 12.7 percent increase in the West, where homes were sold at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 620,000 units in September.

The 52-year-old career politician replaced Erich Honecker last week as party leader. East Germany's supreme leadership post, and promised "a new course" for the country that young skilled workers have been leaving by the tens of thousands.

The state-run ADN news agency reported Tuesday that when the Communist Party's governing Central Committee begins its next session Nov. 8, it will consider reform proposals including a more liberal travel law.

ADN said the party's ruling Politburo would propose a system under which every citizen could get a passport and be allowed to travel "to all nations and West Berlin."

It said the Politburo would call for an end to the current requirements that family members stay behind as Though Roberts was open with his comments about the incident Tuesday, he said he didn't tell his mother about it until Monday night. He said he had a hard time going to sleep Sunday, and a little bit of trouble on Monday.

Police have charged the driver of the other car, Thomas C. Flynn, 22, of Braintree, Mass., with second-degree assault with a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and reckless driving. State police in Colchester said Tuesday they will also seek a charge of manslaughter with a motor vehicle against Flynn.

SAVE MONEY EVERY TIME YOU SHOWER ... or Wash Clothes or Dishes

Whatever the demand for hot water in your home, new energy efficient water heating equipment delivers plenty of it ... and saves you money, too.

If your water heater is showing to go, it's important to choose an energy-efficient water heater ... such as an A.O. Smith energy-saver.

You should also make certain that the size of the heater will fit your family's needs. (Normally, a 40-gallon water heater is adequate for most families.)

And, in addition, you can reduce your water heater's energy consumption by 15% to 20%.

Maximum useable hot water ... at optimum energy savings ... and lower operating costs ... what more could you ask for in a hot water heater.

If you would like more information about the energy saving advantages of a new water heater, call your local plumbing and heating contractor or Irving Fryar.

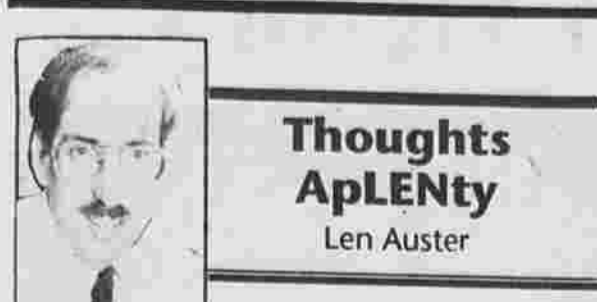

Already this season, Fryar has struggled at wide receiver and Eason has been demoted from starting quarterback to fourth-stringer. On Tuesday, less than two months after Fryar was cut, the Patriots put Dupard on waivers with little explanation.

World Series is really not life and death

How meaningful is the 1989 World Series going to be if you listen to the players, who are anxious to get it over, not very much.

"Numb. Everyone is just numb," Brett Butler, outfielder with the San Francisco Giants, said on Monday. "The enthusiasm is not there anymore."

"We still want to win, but let's get it over with. The most valuable player, the good things, the bad things that happen on the field, it doesn't matter. All of that, I think is trivial. When people think of the 1989 World Series, they're not going to remember who won. They're going to remember who survived," Butler said.

Giants catcher Terry Kennedy observed, "It's getting a little hard every day we don't play. Hopefully, the intensity will return. I can't say it will be the same though."

Don Robinson, who was going to be the starting pitcher for San Francisco in Game 3 eight days ago before the devastating earthquake struck, said this past Tuesday all he wants to do is return home to Florida to see his new home.

The Oakland A's, who lead the series 2-0, have already said they won't break out the champagne and will keep the celebration very low-key if they do indeed go on to win it all.

Clearly, the 1989 World Series has been altered. It is, however, important that the series be completed, albeit devoid of its spectacle and glamour. Franklin Delano Roosevelt made sure the World Series was contested during World War II, and so, too, should this go on.

Baseball commissioner Fay Vincent, who has been on the job less than two months after the death of long-time friend A. Bartlett Giamatti, must be again commended for the way he's conducted himself during the crisis.

Vincent, maybe more than anyone, realizes the World Series' value and where it lays in proportion to the terrible tragedy that struck the Bay Area. Baseball is only a game, Vincent has said many times, and does not need to take precedent over other activities. The clean up the No. 1 priority; that plus getting people's lives back into relative order.

Yes, baseball is important, and Vincent has done and said the right things to keep everything in perspective. To continue the World Series will be good catharsis for those in the Bay Area. They need an outlet, which baseball will provide.

Baseball would have been terribly in error if it had forced itself back into the forefront. But, again, Vincent was magnificent. "We are only guests in the Bay Area," he's said several times.

All sports, baseball included, run into trouble when fans see the action on the field as life and death. It is not. The earthquake shook everyone back to that reality. When fans lose sight of that, that's when they and the games they grown individuals play hit a snag.

The 1989 World Series, indeed, is one both players and fans are going to recall for a long, long time. The circumstances are not the best, but as the earthquake that left at least 59 dead and billions of dollars in damage behind, there are things that can be a whole lot worse.

Whalers resume play tonight against Quebec

HARTFORD — The Hartford Whalers will try to get back on track tonight when they host the Quebec Nordiques at 7:30 (SportsChannel) at the Civic Center.

Hartford (3-6-1) is 1-4-1 in its last six games and has scored only 13 goals. Quebec (3-4-1) will start Ron Tugnait in goal while Mike Liut will be in goal for the Whalers. This will be Liut's sixth start. The Whalers are coming off a 3-2 loss in Montreal Monday night.

First-year Whaler coach Rick Ley won't stand for the inconsistency shown by his club.

"If they don't put out, I don't care about them," Ley said. "If they do, I'll do anything for them."

The all-time leading Whaler killer, Peter Stastny, guides the Nordiques. Stastny, who has scored 111 points in 65 games versus the Whalers, was named the NHL player-of-the-week last week after scoring his 1,000th career point. Stastny is in a three-way tie for the NHL scoring lead with 18 points.

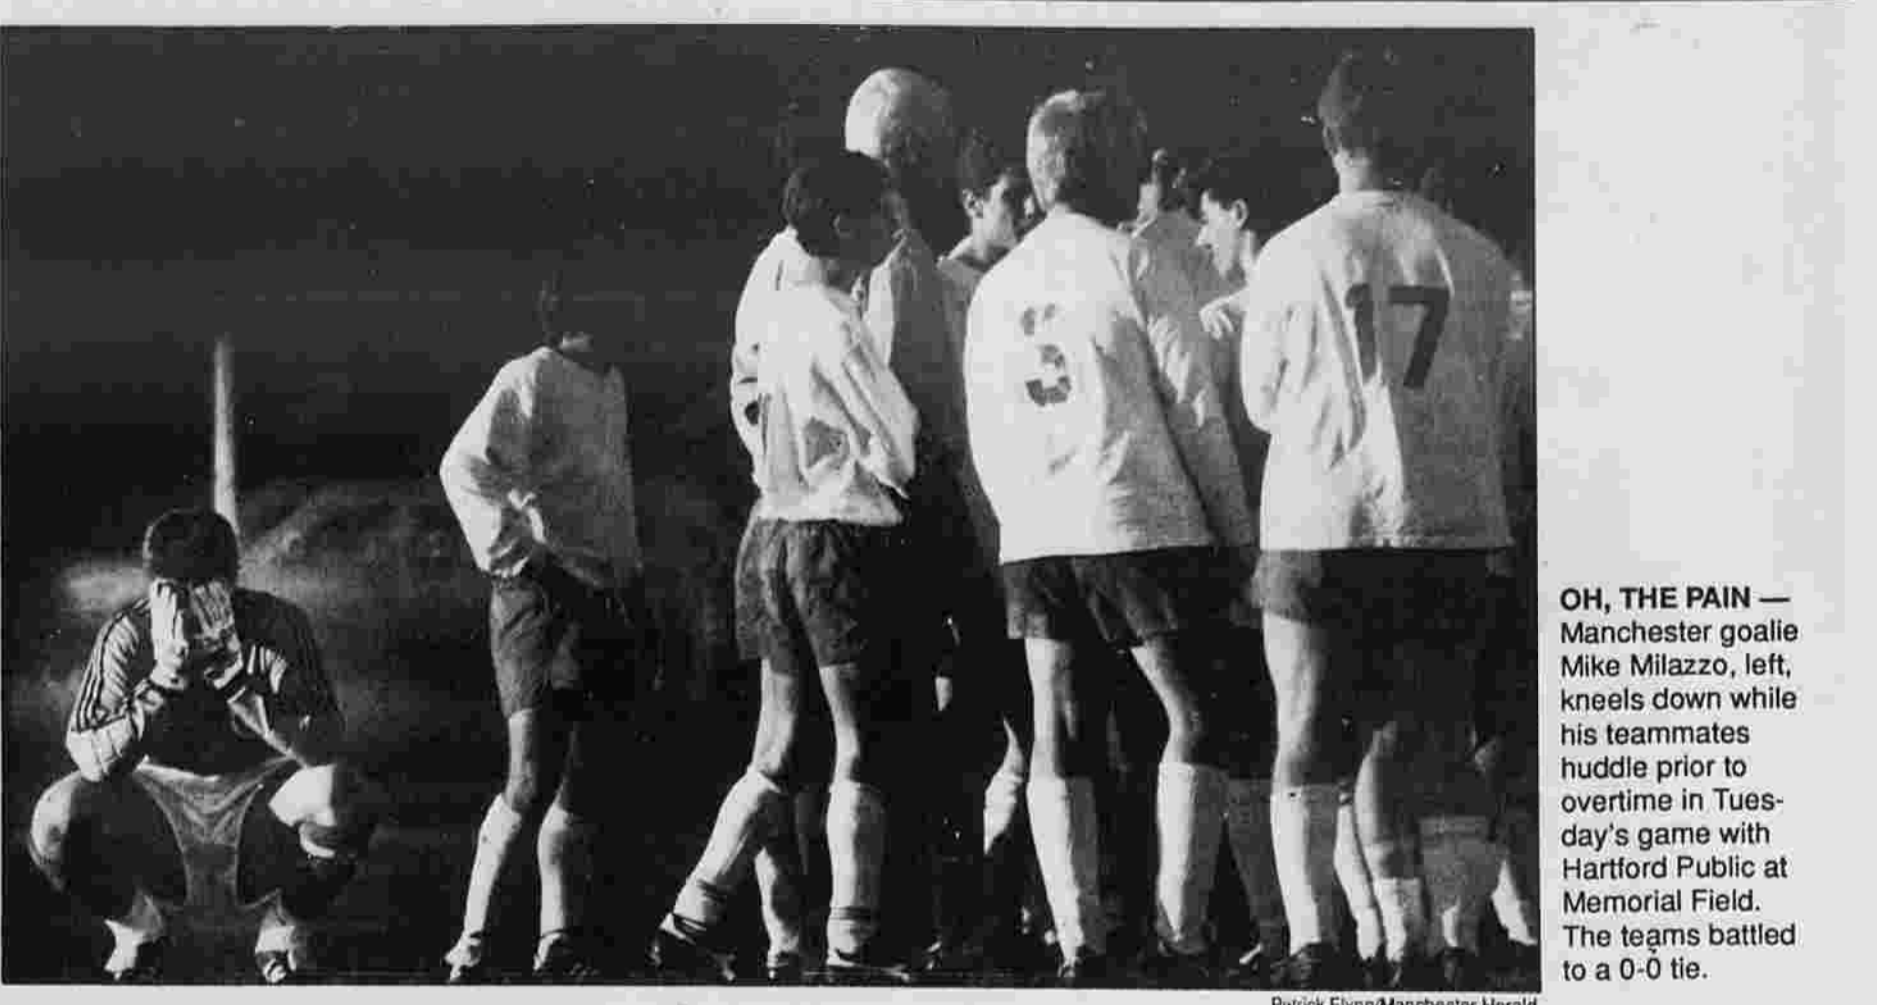

Dupard released

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Getting picked on the first round of the NFL draft is no guarantee of professional success. Certainly not with the New England Patriots.

Just ask Reggie Dupard, Trevor Matich, Tony Eason or Irving Fryar.

Already this season, Fryar has struggled at wide receiver and Eason has been demoted from starting quarterback to fourth-stringer. On Tuesday, less than two months after Fryar was cut, the Patriots put Dupard on waivers with little explanation.

Intense battle yields 0-0 deadlock

MHS, Public chasing No. 1 East Hartford

By Jim Tierney
Manchester Herald

In a must-win situation, both the Manchester High and Hartford Public boys soccer teams' play reflected that premise.

Intensity was the name of this game for 90 minutes, including two five-minute overtime sessions, as the Indians and Owls battled to a 0-0 tie in a pivotal CCC East match-up Tuesday afternoon at Memorial Field.

Manchester and Public are tied for second in the CCC East at 7-2-2 while first-place East Hartford, a 6-0 winner over Enfield, is 8-1-2. Both the Indians and Owls have four games remaining, including one each versus East Hartford.

Manchester, the defending CCC East champ, will be at Enfield High Friday at 5:30 p.m. With the tie, Manchester (7-3-2 overall) qualified for the state tournament. Public is 8-2-2 overall.

"I thought it was a real, good intense game," Manchester coach Bill McCarthy said. "Both teams knew they had to win. They (Public) lost yesterday to Enfield in a heartbreaker and we lost last Tuesday to Windham. We couldn't afford to lose the game. We didn't want to lose ground on the front-runner."

Public outshot Manchester, 18-16, while both goalies — Mike Milazzo (16 saves) of Manchester and Public's Buono Chanhavong (13 saves) — performed very well. Both defenses consistently stiffened in each side's final third.

"Both teams were torn between trying to score and keeping the other team from scoring," Public coach Steve Kaszay said. "It was a good game. As time went down, the game got much more intense. Both teams did a good job of keeping their composure. All three teams (Manchester, Public, East Hartford) are even. It (the league title) is a tossup."

At 7:08 of the first half, Manchester's Nigel Cooper made a nice run and blasted a 20-yarder saved by Chanhavong. Three minutes later, Milazzo made a nice save on a left-footed shot from Heriberto Quintana.

At 8:22 of the second half, the Indians' Peter Giansante broke through the Owl defense on the left side and watched his shot curve wide right of the goal. Milazzo countered by making a fine save of a well-struck, slicing 18-yarder by Ashton Holder.

Public defeated Manchester, 3-2, on Sept. 29.

Pitchers appear to have edge on idle batters

By Ronald Blum
The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — The manacles have tightened. The timing has been lost. But who has been hurt more by the 11-day World Series layoff, hitters or pitchers?

"You'd think the pitchers would be on top. That's what you always hear," said Scott Garretts, the San Francisco Giants' scheduled starter in Friday's Game 3.

"I think the pitching will be the closest thing to normal this weekend," Oakland Athletics manager Tony La Russa said. "But baseball being baseball, the score Friday night will probably be 10-9."

Conventional baseball wisdom says pitchers are ahead of hitters at the start of spring training. That's what some players think will be the case this weekend.

"The pitchers are throwing." Oakland's Mark McGwire said. "Banning practices isn't anything close to a game situation. But, pitchers definitely have the advantage in the World Series, anyway. You can't see them. You don't know their tendencies."

Oakland pitching coach Dave Duncan said his staff has done a lot of work, either in batting practice or on the sidelines.

"At this point in the season, you don't have to throw 130 pitches to stay in shape," Duncan said. "Physically, I'm not worried in the least about our guys being ready Friday."

Brett Butler of the Giants said timing is the key and that hitters lose it faster than pitchers.

"It's harder for batters to get back in the groove," he said. "We both have to get our timing back but it's more difficult for us to do it."

Candy Maldonado of the Giants thought pitchers would have an additional edge.

"They'll be more rested," he said. "But sometimes too much rest is not so good for pitchers because they feel too strong and they tend to overheat."

Dave Stewart, who threw a five-hit shutout in Oakland's victory in Game 1, will start Game 3. He's not worried about having too much rest.

"I think the rest does me good. It makes me stronger," he said. "I'm not worried about overworking. It just means picking up your concentration a little better."

Jose Canseco of the A's thought the mental layoff would play as big a role as the physical layoff.

"There's no intensity left," he said. "I think with the earthquake, it all went away. Most of the guys just want to play and get out of here."

San Francisco's batters didn't do much against Stewart in Game 1 or against Mike Moore in Game 2. Maldonado hopes the layoff has shaken up the team.

"This could really work for our big hitters," he said, "because it might give them time to relax and make adjustments."

Will Clark was bothered by a sore leg and Kevin Mitchell by a sore wrist. Don Robinson, Mike La Coss and Garretts were among the pitchers with nagging aches when the Series was interrupted.

La Russa agreed with Canseco that the physical part isn't the primary concern.

"The important thing is between the ears," he said. "Mentally, you want to stay sharp."

Dooman leads Bolton to victory

BOLTON — Five goals from Cliff Dooman, three on penalty kicks, powered Bolton High to a 5-1 win over Parkside High Tuesday in Charter Oak Conference boys' soccer action.

The win keeps the Bulldogs atop the COC East at 7-1, 10-1 overall. The Highlanders are now 1-7 in the COC West, 1-9 overall. Bolton's next game is a big COC battle at Bolton with Coventry High on Friday at 3:30 p.m. The Bulldogs then host COC West leading Rocky Hill High Saturday at 2 p.m.

Bolton kept the pressure on Portland, and it resulted in the violations. "We kept the ball down in the (penalty) area a lot. Cliff keeps the ball down in the area so the officials had no choice," Bolton coach Ray Boyd said. "We had three penalty kicks and could have had more," Boyd continued.

Dooman's first goal came at the 24-second mark, assisted by Stefan Reischerstorfer. Dooman made it 2-0 at 5:59 with his first penalty kick. Dooman, assisted by J.J. Hall, made it 3-0 at 14:05 before Marc Tweedskbury got the lone goal for Portland.

Dooman added two more penalty kicks, 85 seconds apart, in the second half. The five goals gives Dooman a team-high 15 for the season.

Dooman, Hall and Ed Bogan turned in solid efforts for Bolton.

Dooman: 5 goals, 3 penalties; Hall: 1 goal, 1 penalty; Bogan: 1 goal, 1 penalty; Reischerstorfer: 1 goal, 1 penalty; Tweedskbury: 1 goal, 1 penalty.

Coventry shuts out Bacon

COVENTRY — Scoring four early goals, Coventry High boys' soccer coach Bob Plaster had the luxury of giving his starters plenty of rest as the Patriots blanked Bacon Academy, 5-0, Tuesday in COC action.

The Patriots are now 6-1-2 in the COC East Division and 7-2-3 overall. The victory clinches a state tournament berth for Coventry. The Patriots were back in action today at home with a makeup tilt at 3:30 p.m. against RHAM High.

Bacon goes to 0-8, 0-10 with the loss.

Jeff Rheault scored his team-leading ninth goal of the year with the game only 49 seconds old. John Vincent (5:34), Pat Bradley (10:12) and Doug Roberto (18:33) made it 4-0, enabling Plaster to utilize his bench for a good stretch.

Steve Poulin made it 5-0 at 1:23 of the second half. "I used the starters to begin the second half. But after Steve scored I said the heck with it and pulled them," Plaster said. The bench finished up, totaling about 50 minutes of action in all.

Coventry outshot the clueless Bobcats, 37-2. "It was one-sided," Plaster said. "But I'd still like to see the guys finish a little better."

"We had some unbelievably open shots. We worked the ball nicely against what pressure they did give us. But once we were in the goal area we couldn't finish off."

John and Paul Krakowski, and Wade Ulanawiz played well for the Patriots.

Jays' Key undergoes surgery

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Jimmy Key underwent arthroscopic surgery for a small tear of the rotator cuff and a Toronto Blue Jays spokesman said the left-hander would be released from the hospital and able to start rehabilitation immediately.

Spokesman Howard Starkman said that Key should be able to start throwing by the new year and is expected to be back in the starting rotation when the Jays open the season in April.

"Too Tall" will get start

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson has allowed Cowboys fans to override one of his decisions.

The team's switchboard was flooded Tuesday with more than 200 calls from people unhappy with the announcement that defensive lineman Ed "Too Tall" Jones had lost his starting job after 15 seasons.

Taken aback by the reaction, Johnson compromised. "OK, we'll start him. If that's what the fans want, we'll keep Ed in there," the first-year coach said. "They want to see him start 200 consecutive games, so we'll do it."

But Cowboys fans wanting to see Jones played had better be on time for Sunday's game against the Phoenix Cardinals.

Jones, 38, will play the first several plays at left defensive end before giving way to rookie Tony Tolbert, who is expected to play a majority of the game.

Penguins trade Rod Buskas

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rod Buskas, a defenseman who is one of only nine players in Pittsburgh Penguins' history to play in more than 400 career games, was traded Tuesday to the Vancouver Canucks for a sixth-round draft pick.

Buskas had not dressed for any of the Penguins' eight games this season after asking general manager Tony Esposito to trade him, saying he didn't have a future with the team.

Last weekend, Buskas was ordered by Esposito not to practice with the team while trade talks continued.

Buskas, 28, played in 428 games in eight Penguins' seasons, scoring 18 goals with 48 assists and 946 penalty minutes. He had one goal and five assists for six points in 52 games last season.

Steffi Graf routs Garrone

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Top-ranked Steffi Graf gave up just one point in the first five games and went on to beat Laura Garrone 6-0, 6-0 in the first round of a women's tennis tournament Tuesday.

Graf allowed her Italian opponent only 15 points in the match, which lasted just 34 minutes. Garrone, ranked 83rd in the world, hit only one winner in the entire match, a cross-court backhand in the second game of the second set.

State leaders want explanation

HARTFORD (AP) — State Consumer Counsel James F. Mehan and acting Attorney General Clarine Nardi Riddle want the National Hockey League and the National Basketball Association to explain game black-out rules that deprive Connecticut viewers of regional games.

Cliff Dooman scores for Bolton High.

SANDWICHED — Manchester High's Brian Sardo (12) and Nigel Cooper (10) sandwich a Hartford Public player during Tuesday's game at Memorial Field. The CCC East Division foes battled to a 0-0 tie.

"The girls have handled their success well. We have respect for every opponent we play as teams continue to play us as hard as they can," he continued.

RHAM booters blank Cheney

Four goals in a span of 2:37 broke open a tight affair as RHAM High applied the whitewash brush to Cheney Tech, 6-0, Tuesday afternoon in COC East boys' soccer action.

The Sachems, still in contention for the COC East title, are 5-3-1 in division play, 7-3-2 overall. The loss drops the Technicians to 2-7 in the COC East, 2-9-1 overall.

RHAM had a lustrous 1-0 lead through almost 60 minutes of play with Scott Healy getting the lone goal. But then the Sachems exploded in a big way with Todd Machowski (19:56), Greg Young (20:17), Machowski (21:14) and Des Conroy (22:33) trifling the back of the net.

"We played fairly well for 60 minutes," Cheney coach Frank Niederweiser said. "They (RHAM) had a lot of shots but weren't on target. Then we just totally collapsed. Every mistake we made, they scored on."

RHAM's standout player, Cheney, 26-5, Justin Koblisch, Bob Goulet, Kettaphone Kenoy and freshman goalkeeper Chris Daigle, who had a dozen saves, had solid efforts for Cheney.

East girls deadlock Leydard

The East Catholic High and Loydian High girls' soccer teams battled to a 0-0 stalemate Tuesday afternoon in non-conference play at the Eagles' field off New State Road.

East is now 1-8-3 while Loydian goes to 6-1-4. East's next game is Friday at home against ACC for Mercy High of Middletown.

"It was a very physical game. Both team had opportunities to score and couldn't put it in. Marking was tight and both goalies played well," East coach Ron Palmer said.

Both White, Cindy Larson and Lynn Gentilcore at stopper played well for East.

MHS swimmers remain perfect

The Manchester High girls swim team posted an 86-71 win over E.O. Smith of Tolland Tuesday. The victory keeps the Indians unbeaten at 8-0 while Smith falls to 2-8. Manchester will host Enfield High Friday at 3:30 p.m.

Katelyn Lindstrom was a double winner (200 individual medley and 100 breaststroke) for the Indians while other winners were Andrea Gulliksen, Kerri Lindland, Lauren Hickey, Wendy Cook and Melissa Myers. Stacey Windish, Colleen Thompson, Laura Sines and Erin Sheehan also swam well for Manchester.

Mahorn arrives in Italy

VERONA, Italy (AP) — Rick Mahorn, who has refused to report to the expansion Minnesota Timberwolves, arrived here Tuesday to discuss playing in Italy.

Mahorn, who played with the NBA champion Detroit Pistons last season, is scheduled to begin formal talks Wednesday with officials of Glaxo Verona.

Timberwolves president Bob Stein has reportedly said he will consider a lawsuit if another team signs Mahorn while he is under contract with the Wolves.

Minnesota acquired the forward through the expansion draft when the Pistons left him unprotected. Mahorn is under a two-year contract but has refused to report to training camp without having his contract renegotiated.

NBC, World Cup in jeopardy

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — NBC's chances of televising the 1994 World Cup may be in jeopardy Tuesday, a Swiss broadcaster said.

Guido Topagni, a spokesman for the International Soccer Federation (FIFA), said the group will reaffirm its position at a meeting Wednesday with officials of the U.S. Soccer Federation.

"We will press for competitive bidding," he said.

The USFS is reported to already have an agreement with NBC, but Topagni said he did not know whether it had been signed.

An NBC spokesman, Doug Kelly, said the network was "declining comment" on the matter.

Missouri's Jones arrested

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Adrian Jones, star defensive back for Missouri, was arrested early Tuesday for drunk driving and speeding, police said.

The event is sponsored by the Manchester High girls' basketball team.

Miami will have No. 1 QB back

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Second-ranked Miami will have an extra Erickson on the sidelines again on Saturday when the Hurricanes visit No. 9 Florida State.

"As always, Dennis Erickson will handle the coaching," Erick Erickson, who began the season as the No. 1 quarterback, will probably be reduced to offering encouragement to his backup, Gino Torretta. Erickson's quarterback has been out for a month with a broken finger on his right hand.

"Craig is not ready," the coach said Tuesday. "He went out and threw today a little bit, and his hand is sore. I'd be surprised if he's available for any duty at all. Right now he can't even take a snap."

Statistically, Miami loses little with Torretta, a reshir freshman, in the lineup. He is the fourth-ranked passer in the country, completing almost 64 percent of his passes. The injured Erickson, by comparison, is ranked 44th, completing just over 50 percent.

But Torretta rang up an impressive number against Cincinnati and San Jose State, teams hardly in the caliber of Saturday's opponent.

"I don't think he's ready? I sure as heck hope so," the coach said. "I think he is."

The Hurricanes' first-year coach said he learned last March about the intensity of the Miami-Florida State series.

Oilers, Islanders in state of transition

NHL Roundup

By Ken Rappaport
The Associated Press

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — The Edmonton Oilers and New York Islanders, teams that dominated the NHL in the 1980s with four Stanley Cups apiece, are in a state of transition these days.

And it showed Tuesday night when they played to a 3-3 tie at the Nassau Coliseum.

"The third period was a good sign for us," Oilers coach John Muckler said. "I felt we played well enough to win the game. But you still have to be happy with a tie, the way we came back."

Muckler could be excused if he was willing to settle for a tie. His new-look team, with injuries and new additions, is just an echo of the powerful Oilers teams of the past.

"It's tough to fit all the parts together, with everything that's happened to us," Muckler said. "We have a lot of young players here and we're missing some key people."

Since opening the season with two victories, the Oilers have been a team adrift, with but one win in seven games (4-4-2). An appendectomy to star goaltender Grant Fuhr was just the start of their troubles, which culminated in a 3-3 tie at the Nassau Coliseum.

Edmonton's Jarri Kurri scored the first of his two goals to tie the game in the second period. Pat Lafontaine and Lauer gave the Islanders a 3-1 lead, but the Oilers came back to tie in the third-period goals by Kurri and Gielinas.

The Blackhawks 5, Red Wings 3; Troy Murray scored three goals and set up a fourth as Chicago won its third straight game.

The Blackhawks (6-4-1) moved into first place in the Norris Division with their fourth victory against one defeat and a tie in six games.

Murray's third goal of the game and eighth of the season came on a power play 6:57 into the final period and sealed a Detroit comeback bid.

GETTING IT COVERED — Islander goalie Glenn Healy dives to stop a shot as Gilles Thibautau tries to hold back Edmonton's Martin Gelinias (20) during their game Tuesday night at the Nassau Coliseum. The teams skated to a 3-3 tie.

There were some bright moments for the Islanders, though. Dave Chyzowski, their No. 1 draft pick of 1988, scored his first NHL goal on a power play for a 1-0 lead in the first period.

Edmonton's Jarri Kurri scored the first of his two goals to tie the game in the second period. Pat Lafontaine and Lauer gave the Islanders a 3-1 lead, but the Oilers came back to tie in the third-period goals by Kurri and Gielinas.

The Flyers broke an 0-3-1 slump while St. Louis remained winless in its last three games. Despite the victory, the Flyers still have the worst record in the NHL.

Tim Kerr, Murray Craven, Rick Tocchet and Mike Bullard also connected for Philadelphia. Former Flyer Peter Zavel had the only goal for the Blues when he scored an unguarded net as goalie Ken Wregget attempted to clear the puck around the boards. It deflected off defenseman Mark Howe's skate to Zavel.

Stones, A's both want Coliseum

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The top teams in baseball and the top group in rock 'n' roll want the same thing: the Oakland Coliseum next week.

The Rolling Stones are scheduled to play the Coliseum Nov. 4-5 and played Candlestick Park on their last tour, would not be permitted to interfere with the World Series schedule, but it takes four days to build the huge stage, the largest ever for a rock concert.

The concerts themselves don't interfere with the revised World Series schedule, but it takes four days to build the huge stage, the largest ever for a rock concert.

Bill Graham Presents, the promoter of the concerts, said its use of the stadium starting Monday, and that the Stones needed the time to erect the stage.

Graham suggested the World Series skip the off day between Games 5 and 6 next Tuesday and end the Series on Tuesday at the latest.

Alderson said he didn't know what would happen — except that the A's had the right to the building.

"Bill Graham's company is very resourceful," he said. "I'm sure they'll work something out. It might mean a delay of a day or so in holding the concerts."

"It's also possible they may be able to move in the stadium starting Sunday," he said, referring to the possibility that Oakland, which has a 2-0 lead in the Series, might sweep the San Francisco Giants.

"Maybe we can be the opening act," joked Sandy Alderson, Oakland's vice president for baseball operations.

Alderson said the Stones, who are under contract with the Oakland Athletics, would not be permitted to interfere with the World Series schedule, but it takes four days to build the huge stage, the largest ever for a rock concert.

Sunday Silence, Easy Goer to meet in Breeder's Cup

By Brian Murphy
The Associated Press
HALLANDALE, Fla. — A Triple Crown remnant that should determine the Horse of the Year is shaping up on Sunday Silence and Easy Goer join 99 other horses seeking spots in next month's Breeders' Cup races.

Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner Sunday Silence and Belmont Stakes champion Easy Goer high-light the field eight entries early for the $3 million, 1 1/4-mile Breeders' Cup Classic for 3-year-olds and up on Nov. 4 at Gulfstream Park. Pre-entries were announced Tuesday for the seven Breeders' Cup races, the richest single day in thoroughbred racing. The event is expected to draw a record 50,000 to Gulfstream, about 15 miles north of Miami.

Easy Goer's eight-length victory in the Belmont spoiled Sunday Silence's bid to become the first Triple Crown winner since Affirmed in 1975.

Easy Goer took that victory to start a five-race winning streak, including the Jockey Club Gold Cup in Miami.

Final entries and post positions will be drawn Nov. 1, when the last entry payments are due. The field for each race will be limited to 14 entrants, with the first nine earning starting positions under a points system based on performances in North American stakes races. The other five spots will be decided

Dear Abby

Kids must learn how to play apart

DEAR ABBY: A mother signed "Frustrated" asked, "It is rude to invite only my child's playmate, even though there are three children in his family?"

You replied, "It's not rude to invite only your child's playmate — regardless of how many siblings he has."

As a teacher, I think your answer was right on target. We do our children a disservice when we fail to teach them that they are not a package deal, but individuals, with separate friends, interests, activities and lives.

Life isn't always fair or equal, but invitations usually balance out. If one child is consistently excluded, it may be because he has a problem (behavior, personality, etc.) If so, perhaps the parents need to give the child more time doing special things and let that child choose a special friend for an outing.

HELEN MOLLES, SEAL BEACH, CALIF.
DEAR HELEN: I agree. Brothers and sisters who are close in age easily become a "package deal," because it's more convenient for parents to send all the kids over to the "Joneses" than to make separate plans for each child. But it's worth the extra effort to help a child develop as an individual.

DEAR ABBY: The next time I read about all these women asking where are all the good men, I'd like to be on the side of the head to wake them up! People can be so blind that they can't see the forest for the trees. In all the singles ads, women are looking for tall, athletic professionals with the spending power of Donald Trump. These women are looking for the wrong things in a man — that's why they keep getting rejected.

So, the next time you go looking for "Mister Right," he might not be tall, he might wear a blue collar and carry a lunch pail instead of a briefcase, he might not have as much hair or be as trim as your dream man, but don't turn your nose. You could be passing up the sweetest guy in the world!

Let's not judge a man by his height, collar or what he carries his lunch in. You could make yourself — and some nice guy — happy, too.

As the old adage says: SINGLE AND SHORT IN MINNEAPOLIS
DEAR SINGLE AND SHORT: Right on! The world is full of towering midgits and "giants" from the eyebrows up. Women, give a little guy a break. You could get the prize (and surprise) of your life. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: You almost scored a direct hit. The name of the person who invented the flush toilet was not "John" — it was Thomas Crapper. (Really?) He lived in Chelsea, England.

DEAR ABBY: You can find the story of this invention in Mr. Crapper's biography titled "Flushed With Pride."

As to the term "John" came from, I'm afraid you'll have to come up with another explanation.

Paul plays Beatles songs again

ROME (AP) — Paul McCartney says his better relations with former Beatle John Lennon have improved. Those songs are wonderful memories for me and that is why I'm playing them again," he told reporters Tuesday before his Rome concert, part of a world tour promoting his latest album "Flowers in the Dirt."

Those songs include "Can't Buy Me Love," "Eleanor Rigby," "Back in the USSR," "Hey Jude" and "Yesterday," which he called his favorite.

High school senior named parade queen
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school senior will preside as queen of the 101st Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day.

Yasmine Begum Delawari said Tuesday after she was named by Don W. Fodde, president of the Tournament of Roses Association.

Delawari, a Pasadena area resident, was chosen from seven finalists who constitute the tournament's royal court. The queen and six attendants were chosen from more than 800 applicants following four interviews, said Kristin Mabry Tranquada, a tournament spokeswoman.

National Hockey League's all-time scoring champion, Ed Snider, was named Tuesday as the 1989-90 season's "Hockey Legend."

Snider, 62, has scored 101 goals and 225 points in 1,017 NHL games. He played for the New York Rangers, Philadelphia Flyers and Pittsburgh Penguins.

Snider's career highlights include being named NHL MVP in 1975 and 1976, and being named to the NHL All-Star team four times.

Baby-boomers hit middle age

The impatient generation of baby-boomers is moving into middle age. The first of them will reach age 50 by the middle of the next decade. They're willing to spend, and merchants intend to accommodate them. But just how they'll spend is a question retailing experts are still trying to figure out.

"Today's consumers are not predictable," says Prof. Eleanor G. Gray of the University of Virginia's School of Business. "We once could study the demographics — background, education, lifestyle — and tell us how and what they would buy. Not so today. Consumers now have no set shopping habits."

Baby-boomers heavily impact the market because there are so many of them — 70 million.

"They always have been involved in appreciating life, showing more awareness of themselves and of other people than did their parents. They're entering the age when spending is largest, the time for buying houses and supporting children, not all are affluent, but they emulate the life style of the 'yuppies' and are willing to spend for it," says May.

Many grew up in a decent annual salary amount to what they now earn each month. They spend more for automobiles than their parents spent for their homes.

"The baby-boomers are getting older, and the same marketing pressures that caused us to aim for them when they were young are causing us to move our focus, to stay with them," says an executive of BBDO advertising agency.

Growing up in an age of rapid technological progress, the boomers have embraced modern conveniences. Why fast delivery has become an important industry, overnight delivery services that began to serve business as a hurry now used more and more to deliver merchandise from retailers to consumers.

To baby-boomers, instant delivery is not a luxury, it is something they expect and demand. Companies that can't guarantee delivery within a day or two will have trouble competing. If you're a baby boomer, many of your purchases are likely to be luxury items. A survey by Backer Spiro/Popper/Bea Worldwide advertising agency notes that baby boomers opt for high quality, although at a much higher cost, almost every time.

Direct marketing has been nurtured by the baby-boomer's taste for upscale merchandise and is having an impact on "brick and mortar" retailing, says Bill Reiss, chairman of C.W. Reiss and Associates of Columbus, Ohio. His is a leading market research firm serving consumer-goods manufacturers and retailers.

It's now called "from-the-bottle retailing," says Reiss, and includes not just direct mail and catalog sales, but the telephone, radio and television. It's also shopping by computer.

"Fury plans like Avon and Tupperware, have started a comeback — but in offices, not homes," according to Reiss. Also these methods accommodate the time pressures of today's shoppers.

Allowing for inflation, sales by department and specialty stores are growing a healthy 4 percent a year, says Reiss. Richard Hodgson, economist of the national Retail Merchants Association.

Direct marketing is growing twice as fast, says Reiss, but it still is a fraction of total retail sales because it started from a low base. Richard Hodgson, economist of the national Retail Merchants Association.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Sick cornea is puzzling problem

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed with a sick cornea. I often get the feeling something is in my eye. One eye doctor suggested I postpone cataract surgery to give my eye surgeons time to accumulate experience with a possible complication. Since my doctor practices in a small town, he can't have much experience with my problem. What can I do?

DEAR READER: The cornea, the clear covering over the front of the eye, is richly supplied with nerves. Therefore, a corneal abrasion (scratch), speck of dust or infection can often be very uncomfortable. Your cornea may be too dry (from lack of tears) or, if you wear contact lenses, they may be improperly fitted. Also, you could have a chronic virus infection of the cornea that needs treatment.

Cataracts are caused by clouding of the lens, the portion of the eye behind the cornea that focuses light on the retina. Many eye specialists are proficient at performing cataract surgery. If you need a cataract operation, you should have it done. The procedure is safe and can be performed quickly under local anesthesia by a qualified ophthalmologist.

I am unclear about your eye difficulty. From your description, you seem to have two conditions: an irritated cornea and a cataract. Ask your doctor to refer you to an ophthalmologist for a second opinion. You may have to travel several miles from your town, but good vision is important and the trip would be a small price to pay to preserve your sight.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health report "Medical Scenarios." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: The areas around my husband's eyes get very dark when he is tired. Why is this?

DEAR READER: Fatigue-induced darkening around the eyes is due to pooling of blood in the tissues. I do not know why this happens or why some people have a tendency to develop black circles under their eyes. The reaction is apt to run in families and is not a health hazard.

The Associated Press
NEW YORK — In a case of cable spoofing, the USA Network tonight is presenting "The Holywood Detective," a sly comedy about a once-famous TV detective who falls on hard times. It stars Terry Savalas.

Savalas, of course, didn't fall on hard times when CBS axed his "Kojak" series in 1978. He's even returning to television Nov. 4 as the tough New York cop in a new "Kojak," part of ABC's "Saturday Mystery" series.

But USA's movie does make you think, particularly at one point when a reporter asks Savalas' faded TV detective, middle-aged actor Harry Bell, the name and network of his TV series.

But he also is aware, he needs money. Bills are piling up, his stove was repossessed, and he hasn't even a plate on which to warm his dinner: a can of tomatoes. Still, he remains a man, even with child tallies.

A funny moment, Savalas is wonderful in it and throughout the film. He plays a previously unseen comic side, showing a name who made millions eight years ago as a TV detective but hasn't worked in 12 years.

DEAR DR. GOTT: The areas around my husband's eyes get very dark when he is tired. Why is this?

DEAR READER: Fatigue-induced darkening around the eyes is due to pooling of blood in the tissues. I do not know why this happens or why some people have a tendency to develop black circles under their eyes. The reaction is apt to run in families and is not a health hazard.

Quailbush said the path will be along the perimeter of the hill on which the mall is built. Along the path will be points at which scenic views of Manchester and the surrounding towns will be offered.

The Homat Development Co. of Chicago is the senior partner in the mall at Buckland Hills Partnership, which is building the $70 million project.

Quailbush said most of the remaining work on the building itself will be done to the interior. Most of the remaining outdoor work will involve landscaping. Large
