Pan Am says Israelis told U.S. of threat

Papers say authorities knew of danger to 103

LONDON (AP) — Pan Am has filed papers in U.S. federal court seeking to prove that Israeli agents warned U.S. authorities of a planned terrorist attack on Flight 103 a day before a bomb blew up the jet, a newspaper reported today.

The Independent said Pan Am and its security firm also were taking action to prove West German police had warned U.S. officials of suspicious activities in the baggage area at Frankfurt 90 minutes before the flight left there.

It said Pan Am believes a videotape exists of the suitcase containing the bomb being loaded in Frankfurt onto the Boeing 727 that flew to London on the first leg of the New York-bound flight.

The newspaper quoted lawyers for families of Flight 103 victims as saying Pan Am was on a "fishing exercise" to try to shift blame for the disaster. The airline has been sued for more than $300 million, the report said.

The Boeing 747 that passengers boarded in London exploded over Lockerbie, Scotland on Dec. 21, killing all 259 people aboard and 11 on the ground. The Independent, a respected London daily, said "subpoenas deposited at the U.S. District Court in Washington" call on the CIA and five other U.S. agencies "to disclose any documents relevant to surveillance by the BKA (West Germany's FBI) of the Pan Am baggage-handling area at Frankfurt, including video recordings made on the evening of 21 December 1988."

It said the papers demand all documents relating to "warnings" from the Israeli secret service Mossad "within the 24-36 hours before December 21, 1988 that Pan Am Flight 103... was the target of a terrorist attack."

The paper gave no other details about the alleged Mossad warning. The Independent report was the first of a warning to U.S. officials that Flight 103 specifically had been targeted.

The British government has admitted it received telephone warnings of a bomb on a U.S. carrier in the weeks prior to Dec. 21, and U.S.

Accident on Rt. 6 leaves driver dead

By Dianna M. Talbot
Manchester Herald

BOLTON — State police are waiting to notify next of kin before releasing the identity of a person who was killed Tuesday night in a traffic accident involving a tractor-trailer truck and a car on Route 6, near the Bolton Ice Palace.

It was the second traffic fatality in this town in less than two weeks. Charles Sowell, 41, of Covington, Tenn., driver of the truck, was eastbound on Route 6 when a car pulled out of a private driveway and tried to head west, according to Glen Warstock of the state police at the Clocktower Mill Apartments.

Instead, the car struck the trailer portion of Sowell's tractor-trailer, causing an accident in which the driver of the car was killed, he said.

The Bolton Volunteer Fire Department and ambulance responded to the accident, which happened at 8:17 p.m., Warstock said. Sowell was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was diagnosed as having no injuries and released.

On Oct. 23, Carmello Torrez, 11, died of injuries sustained in a two-car crash that happened on Interstate 84 the day before. State police have said they will charge the driver of the other car, Thomas C. Flynn, 22, of Braintree, Mass., with manslaughter with a motor vehicle in the accident.

Flynn, whose vehicle struck the Lack of debt bill cancels bond sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds were suspended indefinitely today because of failure to enact legislation raising the federal debt limit, the Treasury Department reported.

"Without new legislation to increase the debt limit, the government lacks authority to issue any new debt obligations," a Treasury statement said. Without the legislation, the government's borrowing authority at midnight dropped from $2.87 trillion to $2.80 trillion.

The House has voted to raise the debt ceiling to $3.1 trillion for the current fiscal year, but Senate legislation has been blocked by a squabble over whether to cut the capital gains tax.

Illing Junior High students learn that it pays to recycle

By Rick Santos
Manchester Herald

An Illing Junior High School teacher has started a paper recycling program that not only helps the environment but also teaches children about the process of recycling.

Illing teacher Mike Saimond said he unintentionally bumped into the idea of involving one of his three middle-grade earth science classes in a recycling project when he made a trip to the Hartford office of the state Department of Environmental Protection during the summer. He had gone there as a representative of the Environmental Committee of the town's Agenda for Tomorrow group.

A pamphlet that explained how businesses could set up a system to recycle "white paper" (also defined as "hard-wood pulps") spurred Saimond to ask DEP officials if a recycling campaign could be done in a school.

"They said the school would be the ideal source," he said. The pamphlet also listed several state scrap paper collectors including Ostrinsky Scrap Dealer Inc.,

Blaze damages apartments

No one injured in stubborn fire

By James F. Henry
Manchester Herald

At least two apartments and a sauna in the Clocktower Mill Apartments on Elm Street were damaged by a fire early today.

The blaze took almost three hours for Town of Manchester firefighters to put out.

Fire and medical officials on the scene said some firefighters were treated for exhaustion but no one was injured.

The building originally was part of the Cheney Bros. silk mills. The building was converted to apartments in the mid 1980s at a cost of almost $8 million. The building contains 185 apartments.

Fire department Capt. Jack Hughes said a preliminary investigation shows the fire started in the area of a sauna above apartment 903 but the cause of the blaze was still unknown at mid-morning.

There was heavy smoke and water damage to apartment 903, and minor fire damage, Hughes said. There was also minor damage to another nearby apartment. Hughes did not know the number of that apartment.

Hughes said that the owners of the building, Simon Konover Associates of West Hartford, is providing space for the residents of the apartments damaged. Hughes said the resident of apartment 903 was not home when the fire started.

Hughes said the department received the alarm at 7:01 a.m. and was on the scene within minutes. He said the fire was extinguished by 10 a.m.

While the fire was being fought, police blocked access to roads in the vicinity of the building on Elm Street and Elm Street. A crowd of about 40 people watched the firefighters work.

Hughes said that the building was not officially evacuated but all of the residents left anyway. Hughes said that four of the Man faces robbery charge

A 34-year-old Enfield man has been arrested and charged with robbery in the March 12 theft of $150 in cash from the Getty gas station on Tolland Turnpike, police reported.

Jay S. Howe, of 95 Tilt St., was arrested Tuesday. In the affidavit for his arrest, Howe told Windsor police in May that he was involved in the robbery, but did not know the name of the gas station and thought it was in Windsor, according to police.

Upon further interviews with Howe, Windsor police determined the location of the incident, which matched a report made to Manchester police about the robbery the night it happened, police reported.

According to the affidavit, Howe came into the Getty station, purchased a can of iced tea, and then demanded the money in the cash register. He had his hand under his jacket causing the cashier to think he had a gun, according to the affidavit.

Before being charged with the crime Tuesday, Howe had been held at the Jennings Road Correctional Center in Hartford since being arrested by Windsor police May 22, police reported.

A pre-trial hearing was held Tuesday in Manchester Superior Court, and it was continued until Friday. He is being held on $5,000 non-surety bond at Jennings.

Thoughts

"Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days you shall labor... but the seventh day is a sabbath to the Lord your God; in it you shall not do any work..."
This is the fourth commandment of God stated in the Bible in Exodus 20:8.

God's plan for human beings is to work six days and rest on the seventh. If this is broken one will be broken in his life.

Think about this.

Anonymous letter claims MPOA opposition to hall

By Dianna M. Talbot
Manchester Herald

An unsigned letter claims the Manchester Property Owners Association is opposed to a $13 million bond proposal to renovate and add to the town hall and Lincoln Center.

The announcement, which could not be confirmed, comes a day after the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce officially said it supported the proposed project.

Nathan G. Agostinelli, co-chairman of a committee formed to promote the project, said, "I am quite shocked" by MPOA's position on the issue. "I'd be interested in knowing how (MPOA) arrived at that decision."

Betty Sadloski, president of MPOA, was out of town and could not be reached for comment. But according to an Oct. 30 press release which contained the organization's name, MPOA based its positions on factors that include present and future financial obligations of the town.

The press release reads: "We recognize the need for expansion but feel this is too elaborate with too much unnecessary space. The MPOA believes in fiscal common sense, therefore we cannot support an expenditure of $13 million to triple the size of the town hall. We feel if the referendum is turned down this time it

No stop sign due despite worry

A resident worried about the lack of an additional stop sign at Irving and Congress streets will not have her fears allayed soon.

Manchester Police Spokesman Gary Wood said Tuesday there would have to be numerous motor vehicle incidents at any location before the police would consider adding a stop sign.

Driver is sought in hit-and-run accident

ANDOVER — Police are searching for the driver of a tractor-trailer truck involved in a hit-and-run accident on Route 6 Tuesday in which a school bus carrying 18 students to RHAM junior and senior high schools in Hebron was scraped and slightly damaged.

No one was hurt in the accident which occurred at about 6:50 a.m., said Trooper Kevin Scery of the state police in Colchester. The school bus was stopped at the time.

The truck driver "just couldn't stop," Scery said. "He was going too fast for the foggy and wet road conditions and couldn't stop in time."

After the accident the driver kept going, Scery said. No third-party witnesses were reported.

Company will reduce hike in request for water rates

By Dianna M. Talbot
Manchester Herald

At least 106 water customers in the Redwood Farms neighborhood off of Hilltown Road would pay about 30 percent more for the service under a new rate plan submitted by Aqua Treatment & Service Co. of Stafford.

The company, which also serves residents in Coventry, on Tuesday offered to reduce its proposed doubling of water bills during a state Department of Public Utility Control public hearing.

The new charges were not made officially available, but the company expects to reduce its originally proposed 96.3 percent rate hike by about 60 percent if the DPUC approves of its latest plan. Thus, customers' water bills would increase by about 30 percent.

For example, if a Redwood Farms customer uses 8,000 gallons of water per month and currently pays $29 for that usage, he or she would pay $38 under the latest plan instead of $57 under the original.

Details of the new plan could involve leasing, instead of purchasing, some equipment needed to improve the water system. A rate hike is needed to help make the water company profitable and to pay for the improvements, John Witzenzeller, president of Aqua Treatment & Service said at the hearing.

Proceedings of the hearing seemed complicated by a lack of public information about the new proposal was evident.

DPUC staff members grilled the water company's officials for details on the company's operation and the hearing proposed rate hike. The hearing will include a dedicated 15,000-gallon supply of water for fighting fires.

Carl Zinsler of 176 Ralph Road, a former Republican state representative, said the original rate-hike proposal is too costly for residents. He suggested that residents join the town water system instead of staying with the private water company, Edward Sullivan of 37 Ralph Road asked why the public hearing was held during the day instead of at night when more residents could attend.

Ed Mochinger, a DPUC hearing officer, said he received no complaints from residents about the hearing time even though announcements of the meeting had been sent out.

Kathleen Adinolfi of 91 Ralph Road asked whether the water company's annual profit margins are public information.

Mochinger answered affirmatively.

Longest surprised by Irish

By Alex Grolli
Manchester Herald

Samuel Longest, who has been asked by Republican Wallace J. Irish Jr. to resign from his campaign staff, said today he was never a member of the staff and would not now support Irish in his bid for a town director seat.

Irish said Friday he would ask Longest, a director of the Eighth Utilities District, to resign from his campaign staff because of a photograph in a political advertisement for Democratic Mayor Peter P. DiRosa Jr. The photo showed Longest and DiRosa in front of a town fire station that has been transferred to district ownership under terms of an agreement worked out with DiRosa and Longest as the chief negotiators.

In a letter to the editor, Longest says, "I was not aware and am quite surprised to learn that I was a member of his staff."

Longest said Irish asked him several weeks ago if he would support him in the election. Longest said he told Irish he would but that there was no mention made of a staff or committee.

Longest was listed in a news release as a member of the Irish campaign committee.

In the letter, Longest said, "Of course under the circumstances and the sensationalism he has created, my support for Mr. Irish's candidacy no longer exists."

Longest said the picture used in the advertisement was taken sometime in late spring or early summer. "I feel proud in having been a part of this treaty between the town and the Eighth and of Mayor DiRosa's help and cooperation," he wrote.

Longest said Tuesday afternoon that he was unaware that he had also been criticized over the picture by Arthur Warrington, a member of the district building committee overseeing renovation of the former Willis garage to district headquarters.

GOP target of complaint

By Rick Santos
Manchester Herald

A Democratic candidate for the Board of Directors said today he will file a complaint with the state Freedom of Information Commission asking that Republican directors be prohibited from meeting with the Republican town chairman in private.

The complaint, filed by Democratic candidate James F. Fogarty, comes less than two months after the Democrats were ordered to cease caucusing with others present because the Democrats are a majority on the Board of Directors.

"I ask that the Republicans specifically be ordered to conform to the same requirements as the Democratic members," the complaint states.

Fogarty said today that he is filing the complaint because newspaper advertisements endorsing Republicans say the GOP has opened town government, yet three Republican directors have admitted to meeting with Republican Town Committee Chairman John Garstke in private.

"I think it's a raw deal," Fogarty said. "GOP directors have said their meetings are not public because the three directors are not a quorum of the board."

Democrats for Coventry council tout record

By Jacqueline Bennett
Manchester Herald

COVENTRY — Democrats running for Town Council seats in the Nov. 7 election say they are committed to carrying on what they call the party's record of progress.

Leading the ticket is incumbent Joan Lewis, who has been the chairwoman for the seven-member council for the past four years that the Democrats have held a majority. She chaired a previous council from 1981-1983 and served on the Board of Education for 10 years, including six years as chair.

The other candidates are incumbent Peter Halvorsen, Lawrence Golden, Frederick Johnson and Carol Hazeckamp.

Lewis, 52, is a real estate administrator for a Vernon law firm. Married with three grown children, she is a lifelong town resident and graduated from Manchester High School in 1955.

Lewis remembered being interested in politics as early as her high school days.

"I was on the Student Council, and I'm on the reunion committee," she said.

Lewis said she hasn't been easy, but the Democrats have struggled to bring progress to this rural community with a growing population.

"This year we brought professional management and financial accountability to the town hall with the hiring of the current town manager," said Lewis.

Though she said the Republicans philosophy to "hold the line" on the budget has made progress an uphill battle, Lewis said that over her years on the Board of Education students' scores on standardized tests went from low to above the national average.

Under her tenure, Lewis said salary levels for some town positions were raised to competitive levels that attracted competent personnel, such as the town planner. She also pointed to funding for revision of the town zoning regulations, the opening of a town tourist center to encourage tourism and economic development and ordinances passed to protect and preserve the life of the town landfill.

Lewis also cited renovations done to some town schools and a new department added to maintain town recreation fields.

Lewis says some criticisms from certain Republicans are based on "ignorance" of what has been done. For example, she said, there has been no delay dealing with the problem of trash disposal.

Lewis said the Solid Waste Management Committee has been active and currently the town is drawing up a recycling plan which must be in place by 1991, under state mandate. Also regional trash-to-energy plants are being reviewed for which is best for the town to join.

Recycling and updating the Town Master Plan of Development currently being revised are two important issues for the coming years, Lewis said.

She counters accusations that taxes have been raised, saying it's the council's responsibility to budget the needs of the town to the voters who ultimately make the budget.

Golden, who is a Hartford attorney, is known as "the singing councilman." Halvorsen often breaks into song during council meetings, which he says at times brings needed levity to some situations.

"It takes the pressure out of the balloon," he said.

Halvorsen also worked his way through Dartmouth College singing in a semi-professional group.

Halvorsen says he believes it is important for the town to develop a 10-year capital improvement plan to ensure all the town's infrastructures, which are "sizeable capital investments," such as roads, schools, bridges, and the town hall.

In addition, Halvorsen says the town's stock of affordable housing needs to be increased.

"Young people in our community are being squeezed out," he said. Halvorsen said he will continue with efforts under way in town since he served on the town's Housing Rehabilitation Committee.

"I review matters, evaluate, make a decision and stand by my position — there is always going to be criticism," said Lewis.

Johnson has served on a number of federal and state task forces over the past 10 years for the protection of aquifers, he said. He believes the quality of Coventry Lake must be maintained.

HAUNTED HIDEAWAY — Count Dracula, played by Scott Tedford of 54 Academy St., chats with a corpse, played by John Hendrie of 51 Elizabeth Drive, at the Halloween Fun Fest at 35 Durant St. Tuesday. The fest, sponsored by Rose and Don Fisch, benefits St. Bridget School.

Halloween is haunted fun for children

Halloween was a spooky but fun affair for visitors to 35 Durant St. Tuesday. Meanwhile, pupils at the Assumption School got in the spirit by dressing up as their favorite characters.

Rose and Don Fisch hosted the Halloween Fun Fest at their 35 Durant St. home for the third consecutive year and dozens of area children visited their favorite monsters Saturday through Tuesday.

A witch greeted everyone and Wolfman was there with some of his friends, including Count Dracula, "Bones," a living skeleton, Mummy Dearest, Dr. Frankenstein, Egor, Dino Woman, "Cat," a wizard and a Flamingo.

A spooky spider also greeted the brave who entered the haunted hideaway at 35 Durant St. All proceeds from the event will benefit St. Bridget School.

Ruling clears way for Aparo death plot trial

HARTFORD (AP) — A Superior Court judge has denied special probation to a teen-ager accused of plotting to kill her mother, expressing doubt about her claims of abuse and questioning the wording of a state law that made her eligible for the program.

Judge Francis R. Quinn's decision Tuesday cleared the way for the trial of Karin Aparo to begin on Nov. 27.

Aparo, 18, is charged with accessory to murder and conspiracy to commit murder. She and her former boyfriend, Dennis Coleman, 21, are accused of plotting to kill the girl's mother, Joyce Aparo. Coleman has admitted to strangling the 47-year-old woman on Aug. 5, 1987, claiming Karin begged him to do it.

State's Attorney John Bailey said the decision can't be appealed. The teen-ager already has appealed her case twice to the state Supreme Court and once to the U.S. Supreme Court. Bailey said the delays have made the case the oldest one in Hartford County.

Karin Aparo's attorney, Hubert J. Santos, argued in a nearly 50-page document filed last month that his client qualified for accelerated rehabilitation, a special probation program that would have kept her out of prison and erased her criminal charges in two years.

Santos contends that the teen-ager is suffering from mental illness caused by physical and mental abuse inflicted by her mother since she was 5. Many of the teen's relatives have supported her claims of abuse.

"This court is concerned about the fact that none involved, who had this knowledge, attempted to rectify the problems," Quinn wrote.

Quinn also said the claims of abuse didn't amount to "good cause."

11 judgeships on hold due to agency lawsuit

HARTFORD (AP) — A suit filed against the General Assembly by the commission that screens potential judges has temporarily halted the judicial selection process, aggravating an already serious backlog, according to the state's chief court administrator.

The General Assembly this year authorized the hiring of 11 more Superior Court judges, but the governor can't make the appointments because he doesn't have a current list of screened candidates for the Judicial Selection Commission.

In its suit, pending in federal court, the commission is challenging a law making changes in the makeup of the panel. The law reduced from six years to three the length of terms of the six members appointed by legislative leaders.

Current commission members felt that change would make the commission members more beholden to the political process, increasing the role of politics in the selection of judges.

Since the suit was filed, the commission has not been meeting and Gov. William W. O'Neill cannot make any judicial nominations, said Howard G. Rifkin, the governor's legal counsel.

"The interests of justice are not being served by this paralysis," Rifkin said.

In a letter to the attorney general, who represents the General Assembly, in the suit, and Jacob D. Zeldin, the commission's lawyer, Chief Court Administrator Aaron Ment urged a quick resolution.

"I urge you, in concert with your clients, to use all of your energies and talents in exploring every possible solution that will enable all vacant judgeships, including the 11 new positions authorized by the General Assembly, to be filled as they become available," Ment wrote.

He cited the "virtual explosion" in the number of drug-related crimes that prompted the request for additional judges in the first place.

"The situation is deteriorating daily. We now expect that more than 200,000 new criminal cases will be added to the dockets this year," Ment wrote. "Further complicating the situation is a 16 percent increase in civil cases filed this year as compared to the preceding year."

In a later interview, Ment said the additional judges are "desperately needed."

He said he hoped there could be an interim solution that will allow the (judicial selection) process to go forward while the merits of the case are debated.

Highway incident leads to shooting
MILFORD (AP) — An argument between two trucks that started after one cut the other off on Interstate 95 ended in an angry confrontation at a rest stop where one of the men took out a gun and fired a single shot into the ground at the feet of the other, police said.

Ronald Hill of Indianapolis, Ind., and William J. Lavalley of Florence, N.J., were arrested Tuesday, shortly after the confrontation Tuesday afternoon on Interstate 95, northbound side of I-95 in Milford, police said.

Police said Lavalley was traveling east from New York when he was cut off by Hill, who would then let him pass. The two drivers began arguing over their CB radio, and Hill invited Lavalley to pull his truck over and settle the matter, police said.

Lavalley and Hill pulled off the road at the rest area, and Lavalley walked over to Hill's truck and hit him in the leg with a stick he was carrying, police said.

Time for a change
The Democrats ruling Manchester through the Board of Directors should be removed from power by the voters. I'm fed up with the Democratic Directors and their bumbling from crisis to crisis.

The "Reevaluation Mess" was a prime example of their ineffectiveness. When you enter the voting booth to choose Directors to oversee the business of our community, we hope you remember this story.

Manchester's taxable property had to be revalued in 1987. State law requires revaluation every 10 years and the last time Manchester did it was in 1971. Lavalley of Manchester town employees to save money. It was done in haste and, in a nutshell, here's what happened:

"The shifty new evaluation, planned to take effect in 1988, had to be junked. It was not only put together in a hurry by outside experts, under a year's emergency extension granted by the State, but it was so flawed that it had to be scrapped."

"In fact, it had to be done over a hurry by outside experts, under a year's emergency extension granted by the State, but it was so flawed that it had to be scrapped. The people in all Manchester town departments responsible for developing their budgets, long expecting the 1988 revaluation to take effect, were thrown into considerable confusion. Millions of dollars had to be burned and many budgetary assumptions rethought when the revaluation was canceled. Do you think that saved any money?"

"From the taxpayer's standpoint, one of the worst things about it was the cliff-hanging uncertainty of the whole revaluation process. New evaluation and assessment figures were announced. So many appeared to unfair that hundreds of appeals against the new assessments were entered. In fact, there were so many they couldn't be handled promptly and this was a major factor leading to dumping the 87-88 revaluation assessment project."

Then there was the "novel" feature of the revaluation carried out under the Democratic leadership — a kind of "yourself" revaluation. (Does your wish you had a voice in setting the assessment on your own property?)

This involved J.C. Penney's nearby new warehouse-store in north Manchester. The town and the company split the $12,500 cost of revaluing that property. This was supposed to save money on the grounds that Penney's would not content an assessment is helped pay for. From so, Penney's argued against the $18.6 million assessment on a building the town market valued at nearly $2 million.

Downright absurd. An assessment of $2 million... less than it already had. Do you think the value of the warehouse-store went down since it was built? Do you think the dispute is saving money?

Why go on? Revaluation became a dirty word in Manchester and the town's handling of it became something of a laughingstock in the Legislature because of the "balloon" it had to approve.

Surely Manchester deserves better government than this. A new team will have nowhere to go but up. Send the present Democratic Directors back to the showers.

Construction spending steady in September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction spending was unchanged in September after surging ahead a month earlier, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said residential, non-residential and government construction spending totaled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $415.6 billion in September.

Total spending had risen 1.5 percent in August after falling 1.8 percent in July and 0.8 percent in June.

The August surge was due to a strong 5.3 percent increase in government building and a 2.9 percent gain in non-residential construction.

The construction industry has been among the sectors of the economy hardest hit by the Federal Reserve's campaign to keep inflation in check.

But the Fed has been easing its grip on the economy and analysts have been looking for a slight pickup in construction spending as interest rates fall.

Fixed-rate mortgages declined from a peak of 11.22 percent in March to 10.16 percent at the end of September, according to the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp.

Residential construction, which accounts for nearly half of construction spending, fell 0.9 percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $191.9 billion.

Single-family construction was off 1.1 percent to $111.5 billion on an annual rate.

The Commerce Department reported earlier that housing starts fell 5.2 percent in September following an even larger 6.2 percent August decline.

Sales of new homes fell 14 percent in September, their steepest decline in nearly eight years, the department reported Tuesday, and a lining the sluggishness in the housing industry.

Apartment construction declined 2.2 percent in September to $22.7 billion on an annual rate.

Non-residential construction, which represents about 20 percent of construction spending, fell 2.6 percent to $99.1 billion on an annual rate.

On the other hand, government building, a volatile sector representing about 20 percent of construction spending, was up 4.3 percent to $88 billion.

The total construction figure was up 1 percent from the level of building a year ago.

Defense orders support sagging manufacturing index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders to U.S. factories for manufactured defense orders, were unchanged in September, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said orders for both durable and non-durable manufactured goods totaled a seasonally adjusted $236.7 billion.

Orders for durable goods — big-ticket items expected to last more than three years — rose 0.2 percent to $127 billion, boosted by a 7.2 percent increase in electrical machinery to $20.8 billion. Non-electrical machinery orders were off 0.7 percent to $22.5 billion.

Transportation equipment orders, on the other hand, fell 4.7 percent to $34.8 billion as declines in auto and non-military aircraft more than offset gains in military aircraft orders.

Shipments of manufactured goods fell 1.6 percent to $234.4 billion, while inventories declined 0.1 percent to $300 million. It was the first decline in inventories since February 1987.

If inventories increase without a corresponding gain in new orders, it could signal production cutbacks in the future as factories attempt to get rid of goods on shelves and backlogs.

Deal would increase minimum wage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation raising the minimum wage to $4.25 an hour by April 1991 is on the fast track in Congress, following a compromise between the Bush administration and Democratic leaders that ended an eight-year stalemate.

The House planned to vote on the proposal today and Senate leaders promised action before Thanksgiving. Barring unforeseen problems, President Bush could sign the bill by then as well, triggering the first minimum wage increase in nine years on April 1, 1990.

The measure would create a new "sub-minimum wage" for teen-agers with little job experience, allowing them to be paid 85 percent of the minimum wage for their first three months in the work force. The lower rate could be extended for another three months if an employer showed that the youths were receiving specific skills training.

This package offers the promise of better wages for the working men and women of this country and gives incentives to create new jobs for our young people," Bush said in a written statement that commented on organized labor and congressional leaders.

"This is a victory for working men and women and I think long overdue," House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said Tuesday after the deal was struck.

Bush sides made significant concessions in an effort to avoid a repeat of Bush's veto of minimum wage legislation earlier this year, which was sustained by the House.

Democrats acknowledged giving ground but said it was necessary to guarantee a boost in the minimum wage, which has been frozen at $3.35 an hour since January 1981 in a stalemate that lasted throughout the Reagan administration. Democrats promised to reconsider the issue before the 1992 presidential and congressional elections.

APL-CIO President Lane Kirkland said organized labor would "welcome the long overdue agreement on the minimum wage" and urged Congress to pass it swiftly.

The compromise would boost the minimum wage to $3.80 on April 1 and provide the final 45-cent increase to $4.25 on April 1, 1991.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said the minimum wage would already be $4.79 an hour if adjusted to account for inflation since 1981.

"That is the measure of how far we have failed the test of fairness to the working poor," Kennedy said. "Our only answer to them is that this is the best compromise we can get from an administration that wanted to give them even less."

The subminimum wage could be paid to any worker age 16 to 19 with less than three months total job experience. Once that threshold was met, the subminimum could be paid for up to an additional three months only when the employer had a training program subject to Labor Department approval.

No worker over age 20 or with six months' work experience could be paid the subminimum wage, and the lower wage would expire in April 1993 unless reauthorized by Congress.

Democrats and labor long have considered such a "training wage" unacceptable.

Baby is saved from wreck that kills mom, relatives

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — A month-old baby was breathing through a ventilator as doctors worked to keep her alive after she was pulled from a car that skidded into a river. Her mother and two grandparents died in the crash.

Samantha Venable's 19-year-old father, Gabriel Rivera, said his baby, who had been submerged 45 minutes in the frigid water, was a "real fighter who's going to make it."

"We were going to get married in December," Rivera, of Kingwood, Texas, said about his baby's mother.

"Now it's just me and the baby. I feel... no, I believe, she will survive."

Dr. Jim Piper said Tuesday the baby's "short-term and long-term outlooks are in grave doubt," but added that she was responding to treatment.

Piper said it would be impossible to estimate whether the infant will suffer long-term brain damage or other problems.

The accident occurred Sunday when the car in which the family was riding skidded off a snow-packed highway near Aspen and plunged 60-feet into the Roaring Fork River.

Doctors and fire crews rappelled down the gorge on Independence Pass to reach the car.

Dr. Steve Ayers, shivering in the water, pulled the baby from the car and said she had "no pulse, no respiration, was blue in color."

The baby's mother, Kay Venable, 19, of Kingwood, died four hours after being pulled from the water. Her parents, Omar Harrison, 64, and his wife, Marjorie, 61, of Houston, also died.

The family was vacationing in Colorado when their car slid off icy Independence Pass into a snow bank. They then hitched a ride with two Aspen teen-agers.

Two more pulled from 1-880 rubble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two more bodies were pulled from the rubble of Interstate 880, and authorities said they did not expect to find any more victims at the earthquake-flattened highway.

The discoveries raised the death toll from the Oct. 17 earthquake to 66.

Forty-one bodies have been recovered at the highway, the most of any single location hit by the quake.

"We have no reason to believe there are any more bodies there," said Alameda County sheriff's Sgt. Jim Knudsen. "We're checking the vehicles for personal belongings."

The 7.1-magnitude quake that spread ruin along a 90-mile swath from Watsonville north to San Francisco and Oakland was the focus of a hearing Tuesday by the state Seismic Safety Commission in San Francisco.

Penguins' Mario Lemieux silent on, off the ice

By The Associated Press

Mario Lemieux still isn't scoring—and now he isn't talking, either. Lemieux finished a distant second to Wayne Gretzky in their first head-to-head showdown of the season Tuesday night.

Lemieux had two assists and a case of lockjaw following the Pittsburgh Penguins' 8-4 loss to the Los Angeles Kings and Gretzky, who had three goals and three assists and even talked Lemieux out of a goal.

"It was a typical Wayne Gretzky game," said Penguins goaltender Wendell Young, who yielded seven goals on 25 shots. "He dominated the game, he dominated me, he dominated everybody on the ice."

Gretzky scored the first two goals a minute apart, one of them short-handed, as the Kings took a 3-1 first-period lead. He completed his 46th career three-goal game at 1:40 of the second period, directing a shot from the top of the slot by Bernie Nicholls, who had two goals and three assists.

Lemieux, a two-time NHL scoring champion off to his worst start since entering the NHL five years ago, was held without a goal for the ninth time in 12 games. He appeared to have scored at 15:34 of the opening period, but Gretzky argued that

NHL Rundup

Pittsburgh was offside and the officials agreed. "We had a goal but then they took it away—unbelievable," Pittsburgh coach Gene Ubriaco said. "They never blew the whistle on the offside call. I don't know why they changed their mind. I've never seen an offside play called after the fact."

Kevin Stevens scored three goals in his last six games. "I'm sure he'll have his 60 or 65 goals at the end of the season," Gretzky said. "It's just noticeable now because it's at the start of the season."

Blues 1, Capitals 1: Washington snipped a club-record scoreless drought but settled for a 1-1 tie when St. Louis' Rod Brind'Amour scored the tying goal on a third-period deflection.

Defenseman Scott Stevens gave the Capitals a 1-0 lead at 15:21 of the second period, ending a stretch of 181 minutes, 15 seconds without a goal. That erased the scoreless string of 1:37 from Oct. 18-23, 1974, the first month the franchise was in existence.

Canadiens 3, Islanders 0: New York remained winless in six home games this season as goaltender Patrick Roy led a solid Montreal defensive effort. Bobby Smith and Ryan Walter scored second-period goals while the Islanders were held to three shots on goal in the period and fell to 0-4-2 at the Nassau Coliseum.

Roy stopped 28 shots for his first shutout of the season and 10th of his career. "I'm sure he'll have his 60 or 65 goals at the end of the season," Gretzky said. "It's just noticeable now because it's at the start of the season."

Smith beat Islanders goalie Mark Fitzpatrick at 1:15 of the second period and Walter scored at 15:02. Chris Chelios scored Montreal's final goal at 4:33 of the third period.

Blackhawks 5, Nordiques 3: Jeremy Roenick scored his first goal of the season and added an assist as Chicago won for the sixth in seven games and tied the late New York Rangers for first place in the overall NHL standings with 19 points.

Roenick, last season's rookie playoff sensation, needed 14 games to get his first of the season on power play at 14:02 of the second period, giving the Blackhawks a 3-2 lead. He then set up Greg Gilbert in the high slot for the decisive goal on a low shot off the post at 12:04 of the third period.

Troy Murray and Denis Savard also scored for Chicago, which got an empty-net goal from Mike Hudson with eight seconds left.

Maple Leafs 6, North Stars 4: Dave Reid's goal, Toronto's third in 81 seconds, broke a 4-4 tie and capped a five-goal second period as Toronto handed Minnesota its first home loss.

Minnesota goalie Jon Casey came out of the net to clear the puck but Toronto's Dave Reid intercepted and fed the net. Just 25 seconds earlier, Tom Kurvers' second goal of the game had tied the score 4-4.

The North Stars, whose 5-0-0 record was their best home start in 19 years, were the last team in the NHL with a perfect home record. Minnesota led three times but Toronto's five-goal second period ended the North Stars' streak.

Canucks 4, Devils 3: Vladimir Krutov and Steve Borek scored third-period goals as Vancouver handed New Jersey its first road defeat in five games.

Borek swept in a loose puck from near the crease at 17:49. Krutov, who missed four games when he returned to Moscow to bring his family to Vancouver, had the game's 3-3 at 7:20 on a spectacular rush with Brian Bradley.

Craig Adams and Bradley also scored for Vancouver. Brendan Shanahan scored twice for New Jersey.

ONE ON ONE — New Jersey's John MacLean (15) and Vancouver's Paul Reinhart fight for position during Tuesday night's game in Vancouver. The Canucks won, 4-3.

Veterans feel the axe hard as NBA clubs reduce rosters

By Bill Barnard

The Associated Press

It was a bad day for former members of Kansas' 1988 NCAA championship team.

Milt Newton and Scooter Barry, who helped the Jayhawks to a surprising victory in the Final Four, were cut by their NBA teams on Tuesday.

Newton was cut by the Los Angeles Lakers, who also put veteran forward Orlando Woolridge on the injured list to get the team at the roster limit of 12. Newton missed most of training camp due to an ankle injury and averaged 3 points in four exhibition games.

The Boston Celtics reduced their roster to 13 players by waiving Barry and forward Dave Popson. Barry, son of former NBA star Rick Barry, played in five exhibition games, scoring six points.

Allen Leavell, Frank Johnson, John Long and Earl Cureton were among the longtime veterans cut Tuesday as NBA teams pared their rosters before Friday's season opener.

Cureton, a member of the 1983 champion Philadelphia 76ers, was dropped by Charlotte, with whom he played all 82 games last season and averaged 6.5 points. Cureton is a nine-year NBA veteran of five teams.

In other roster moves, Tyrone Corbin, expected to start for Minnesota at forward, ended a 25-day holdout that started on Nov. 11, 1989. In free agency, he had the Lakers in mind, but the team's roster was full.

The Miami Heat waived forward Shaky, both of whom played for the team last season. The Heat also cut rookie free agent Kenny Dandridge in reducing their roster to 13 players.

The Chicago Bulls waived three rookies to trim their roster to 13 players. Matt Brust of St. John's, Mike Doktorczyk of California-Irvine and Adrian McKinnon of North Carolina Central were cut.

STORRS — The University of Connecticut men's basketball team plays its first exhibition game tonight at 8 at the Field House in Storrs against Marathon OII, an amateur club team.

UConn scrimmage set in town

The University of Connecticut women's basketball team, which captured the Big East Conference championship a year ago along with an NCAA tournament berth, will hold an intrasquad scrimmage at Manchester High's Clark Arena on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Whalers swing minor deal

HARTFORD (AP) — In a move involving minor league players, the Hartford Whalers have traded Jim Thomson to the New Jersey Devils for right wing Chris Cichoki.

Cichoki, 26, has been playing with the Utica Devils of the American Hockey League. Thomson, a right wing, has been playing with the Whalers' AHL affiliate in Binghamton. The trade was made Tuesday.

Celtics reduce roster to 13

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics on Tuesday reduced their roster to 13 players by waiving guard Scooter Barry and forward Dave Popson.

The two players, invited to training camp as free agents, saw limited action during the Celtics' eight-game exhibition schedule.

The Celtics must make one more roster move to get down to the 12-player limit before opening their regular season Friday night against the Milwaukee Bucks at Boston Garden.

Martina wins her opener

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova solved the powerful serve of Brenda Schultz to win her opening round match 6-1, 6-1 Tuesday in the Virginia Slims of New England tennis tournament.

Second-seeded Gabriela Sabatini and No. 5 seed Pam Shriver also were victors in the second day of opening round action, and they advanced to the quarterfinals.

Navratilova dropped the opening game of her match but had little difficulty thereafter.

Haynes, Lanier among nominees

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Premier pivotmen Elvin Hayes and Bob Lanier were among 16 people nominated for election to the Basketball Hall of Fame, but former NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien asked that his name be withdrawn because he disapproves of the secretive process.

Haynes and Lanier were nominated for the first time, as were players Nate Archibald and Calvin Murphy and former Marquette coach Al McGuire.

Players nominated for possible enshrinement included Earl Monroe, Dave Bing and Walt Bellamy.

Election returns from the 24-member NBA Committee and inductees are announced in February.

Slaughter honored by AFC

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland's Webster Slaughter, who caught four passes, including scoring drives of 80 and 77 yards, in the Browns' 28-17 victory over Houston, was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week.

Slaughter had 184 receiving yards in all, the third straight game he's exceeded the 100-yard plateau.

Senna fined, suspended

PARIS (AP) — Defending world driving champion Ayrton Senna was fined $10,000 and suspended by an auto racing tribunal when the body rejected an appeal of his disqualification in the Japanese Grand Prix.

The ruling virtually assured that the Formula One driving title will go to Frenchman Alain Prost, Senna's bitter rival even though he race for the McLaren-Honda team.

The Brazilian needed to win both the Japanese race last week and the season's final grand prix at the end of the season in Adelaide, Australia, to retain the title he won for the first time last year.

Zimmerer is named NL manager of year

By F.N. D'Alessio
The Associated Press

CHICAGO — So what if the Chicago Cubs to the National League East title before losing to San Francisco in five games in the playoffs, was the near-unanimous choice for NL Manager of the Year in voting announced Tuesday.

"I think it's a great thing to have the writers vote you the Manager of the Year," Zimmer said. "It's a great honor. It's never happened to me before."

He garnered all but one of the 24 first-place votes cast by a panel chosen by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The other first place vote went to San Francisco's Roger Craig. Zimmer's close friend and former teammate.

"You feel like you want to share it with everybody who played a part," Zimmer said. "The players who shared the playing and Jim Frey, who hired me and got criticized for doing it. It just seemed like every move he made helped out the club."

"Jim Frey took a lot of criticism," Zimmer noted, saying that some people accused the general manager of hiring him out of friendship and not because he could do the job.

Zimmer did the job, leading the Cubs into postseason play for only GOING UP — Manchester High's Julie Strider (20) concentrates as she returns a shot during Tuesday's match with East Catholic High at the Eagles' gym.

OVER IT GOES — East Catholic's Stephanie Reichardt puts a shot back over the net during Tuesday's match with Manchester. Reichardt and her Eagle teammates won in three sets.

Red-hot East volleyball sweeps MHS

The East Catholic High girls' volleyball team, off to a slow start in the 1989 campaign, continued its torrid pace Tuesday with a three-set victory over cross-town Manchester High at the Eagles' gym. Scores were 15-9, 15-11 and 15-3.

East, winners of three straight and nine of 10, is now 12-5 for the season. The Eagles wind up their regular season Thursday at home against Fitch High of Groton. Manchester, 1-14, winds up its season today at East Catholic High.

Stephanie Reichardt served well and Jean Cardinale set well for the Eagles.

Stephanie Valade, Ann Marie MacDonald, Jemma

Revego and Truc Nguyen had good efforts for Manchester.

Manchester won the junior varsity match in three hard-fought sets 12-15, 16-14 and 15-11. Sally Kulbaski hit well and Erica Kelley, Donnelle Moszer, Leah Bastarache and Julie Stanfield also played well for the

Hand shuts out East boys

MADISON — Some defensive lapses proved costly as East Catholic High fell, 3-0, to host Hand High Tuesday afternoon in a non-conference boys' soccer make-up class.

Hand goes to 10-3-1 with the win while East is now 2-12-1. East winds up its season today at home against South Windsor High.

Chip Casner had two first-half goals, both on Eagle defensive mistakes as he was left unmarked in front of the goal, for Hand. Chris Puder made the final reading with 10 minutes left in game.

Scott Flood, Pete Maglicic and Dave Toomey played well for East.

Hand's defense was solid, with goalkeeper Steve DeVoe making several key saves.

DeVoe was offered the interim job as Florida's athletic director Bill Ansparger. DeVoe was at Tennessee for 11 seasons before being forced to resign in March.

"I am looking forward to immediately coming down to Gainesville and coaching the Gators," DeVoe said in a statement.

A Florida official said Sloan will be paid a lump sum of $150,000, the amount he would have received under a contract that runs through March 1991.

Sloan informed his players of the decision during an emotional meeting that senior Dwayne Schmitz said showed a side of the coach the players had never seen.

"It doesn't seem fair," the 7-foot-2 star center said.

Sloan leaves Florida for 'good of the school'

GAINESSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Full housecleaning continues in Florida's troubled athletic department with basketball coach Norm Sloan the latest victim of an investigation later joined by the NCAA.

Former Gators star Vernon Maxwell, now with the San Antonio Spurs of the NBA, reportedly told a federal grand jury that Florida coaches made secret payments to him dating back to high school and that some of the money he received in college was used to buy drugs.

Don DeVoe, fired despite leading Tennessee to a 19-11 record last season, was named interim coach. Sloan's resignation was announced Tuesday.

"My retirement might be considered by them (players) as abrupt, but it is in their best interest which they will know in time," Sloan said in a six-paragraph letter to university president Dr. Robert Bryan. "I leave with great honor."

"I regret very much the events that have occurred today," Bryan said. "However, I believe what has occurred is in the best interests of the university's athletic program and the university as a whole."

The coach's retirement came 24 days after Hall gave up control of the football program amid allegations that he violated NCAA rules by paying unauthorized salary supplements to assistant coaches and helped a former player handle a child-support problem.

"I am looking forward to immediately coming down to Gainesville and coaching the Gators," DeVoe said in a statement.

Cool months are peak time to eat delicious oysters

It's oyster time and the shuckin' is easy — in the microwave. All through the cool months of the year are peak time for oysters and the old superstition about never eating them in a month without an "R" has long been disproven. Since refrigeration, and the availability of frozen oysters, they can be enjoyed all year.

Microwave Kitchen

Marge Churchill

Add butter and green onion tops and microwave at high power for 2 minutes. Return bacon, add spinach, parsley, celery salt, pepper and oyster liquor; thicken with bread crumbs. Microwave on high power for 3 minutes.
