

SCOREBOARD

Baseball

Team	W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	57	43	.567
Boston	56	44	.560
California	52	48	.520
Chicago	49	51	.490
Cincinnati	48	52	.480
Cleveland	47	53	.470
Colorado	46	54	.460
Detroit	45	55	.450
Florida	44	56	.440
Los Angeles	43	57	.430
Minnesota	42	58	.420
Montreal	41	59	.410
New York	40	60	.400
Oakland	39	61	.390
Pittsburgh	38	62	.380
San Diego	37	63	.370
Seattle	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
Tampa Bay	34	66	.340
Texas	33	67	.330
Toronto	32	68	.320
Washington	31	69	.310
White Sox	30	70	.300
Yankees	29	71	.290

American League standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
Seattle	42	22	.656
Seattle	41	23	.641
Seattle	40	24	.625
Seattle	39	25	.610
Seattle	38	26	.594
Seattle	37	27	.578
Seattle	36	28	.562
Seattle	35	29	.547
Seattle	34	30	.531
Seattle	33	31	.516
Seattle	32	32	.500
Seattle	31	33	.485
Seattle	30	34	.469
Seattle	29	35	.454
Seattle	28	36	.438
Seattle	27	37	.423
Seattle	26	38	.407
Seattle	25	39	.392
Seattle	24	40	.376
Seattle	23	41	.361
Seattle	22	42	.345
Seattle	21	43	.330
Seattle	20	44	.314
Seattle	19	45	.299
Seattle	18	46	.283
Seattle	17	47	.268
Seattle	16	48	.252
Seattle	15	49	.237
Seattle	14	50	.221
Seattle	13	51	.206
Seattle	12	52	.190
Seattle	11	53	.175
Seattle	10	54	.159
Seattle	9	55	.143
Seattle	8	56	.128
Seattle	7	57	.112
Seattle	6	58	.097
Seattle	5	59	.081
Seattle	4	60	.066
Seattle	3	61	.050
Seattle	2	62	.035
Seattle	1	63	.020

National League standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	52	48	.520
St. Louis	51	49	.510
St. Louis	50	50	.500
St. Louis	49	51	.490
St. Louis	48	52	.480
St. Louis	47	53	.470
St. Louis	46	54	.460
St. Louis	45	55	.450
St. Louis	44	56	.440
St. Louis	43	57	.430
St. Louis	42	58	.420
St. Louis	41	59	.410
St. Louis	40	60	.400
St. Louis	39	61	.390
St. Louis	38	62	.380
St. Louis	37	63	.370
St. Louis	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
St. Louis	34	66	.340
St. Louis	33	67	.330
St. Louis	32	68	.320
St. Louis	31	69	.310
St. Louis	30	70	.300
St. Louis	29	71	.290
St. Louis	28	72	.280
St. Louis	27	73	.270
St. Louis	26	74	.260
St. Louis	25	75	.250
St. Louis	24	76	.240
St. Louis	23	77	.230
St. Louis	22	78	.220
St. Louis	21	79	.210
St. Louis	20	80	.200
St. Louis	19	81	.190
St. Louis	18	82	.180
St. Louis	17	83	.170
St. Louis	16	84	.160
St. Louis	15	85	.150
St. Louis	14	86	.140
St. Louis	13	87	.130
St. Louis	12	88	.120
St. Louis	11	89	.110
St. Louis	10	90	.100
St. Louis	9	91	.090
St. Louis	8	92	.080
St. Louis	7	93	.070
St. Louis	6	94	.060
St. Louis	5	95	.050
St. Louis	4	96	.040
St. Louis	3	97	.030
St. Louis	2	98	.020
St. Louis	1	99	.010

Baseball (Continued)

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	52	48	.520
St. Louis	51	49	.510
St. Louis	50	50	.500
St. Louis	49	51	.490
St. Louis	48	52	.480
St. Louis	47	53	.470
St. Louis	46	54	.460
St. Louis	45	55	.450
St. Louis	44	56	.440
St. Louis	43	57	.430
St. Louis	42	58	.420
St. Louis	41	59	.410
St. Louis	40	60	.400
St. Louis	39	61	.390
St. Louis	38	62	.380
St. Louis	37	63	.370
St. Louis	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
St. Louis	34	66	.340
St. Louis	33	67	.330
St. Louis	32	68	.320
St. Louis	31	69	.310
St. Louis	30	70	.300
St. Louis	29	71	.290
St. Louis	28	72	.280
St. Louis	27	73	.270
St. Louis	26	74	.260
St. Louis	25	75	.250
St. Louis	24	76	.240
St. Louis	23	77	.230
St. Louis	22	78	.220
St. Louis	21	79	.210
St. Louis	20	80	.200
St. Louis	19	81	.190
St. Louis	18	82	.180
St. Louis	17	83	.170
St. Louis	16	84	.160
St. Louis	15	85	.150
St. Louis	14	86	.140
St. Louis	13	87	.130
St. Louis	12	88	.120
St. Louis	11	89	.110
St. Louis	10	90	.100
St. Louis	9	91	.090
St. Louis	8	92	.080
St. Louis	7	93	.070
St. Louis	6	94	.060
St. Louis	5	95	.050
St. Louis	4	96	.040
St. Louis	3	97	.030
St. Louis	2	98	.020
St. Louis	1	99	.010

Baseball (Continued)

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	52	48	.520
St. Louis	51	49	.510
St. Louis	50	50	.500
St. Louis	49	51	.490
St. Louis	48	52	.480
St. Louis	47	53	.470
St. Louis	46	54	.460
St. Louis	45	55	.450
St. Louis	44	56	.440
St. Louis	43	57	.430
St. Louis	42	58	.420
St. Louis	41	59	.410
St. Louis	40	60	.400
St. Louis	39	61	.390
St. Louis	38	62	.380
St. Louis	37	63	.370
St. Louis	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
St. Louis	34	66	.340
St. Louis	33	67	.330
St. Louis	32	68	.320
St. Louis	31	69	.310
St. Louis	30	70	.300
St. Louis	29	71	.290
St. Louis	28	72	.280
St. Louis	27	73	.270
St. Louis	26	74	.260
St. Louis	25	75	.250
St. Louis	24	76	.240
St. Louis	23	77	.230
St. Louis	22	78	.220
St. Louis	21	79	.210
St. Louis	20	80	.200
St. Louis	19	81	.190
St. Louis	18	82	.180
St. Louis	17	83	.170
St. Louis	16	84	.160
St. Louis	15	85	.150
St. Louis	14	86	.140
St. Louis	13	87	.130
St. Louis	12	88	.120
St. Louis	11	89	.110
St. Louis	10	90	.100
St. Louis	9	91	.090
St. Louis	8	92	.080
St. Louis	7	93	.070
St. Louis	6	94	.060
St. Louis	5	95	.050
St. Louis	4	96	.040
St. Louis	3	97	.030
St. Louis	2	98	.020
St. Louis	1	99	.010

Baseball (Continued)

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	52	48	.520
St. Louis	51	49	.510
St. Louis	50	50	.500
St. Louis	49	51	.490
St. Louis	48	52	.480
St. Louis	47	53	.470
St. Louis	46	54	.460
St. Louis	45	55	.450
St. Louis	44	56	.440
St. Louis	43	57	.430
St. Louis	42	58	.420
St. Louis	41	59	.410
St. Louis	40	60	.400
St. Louis	39	61	.390
St. Louis	38	62	.380
St. Louis	37	63	.370
St. Louis	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
St. Louis	34	66	.340
St. Louis	33	67	.330
St. Louis	32	68	.320
St. Louis	31	69	.310
St. Louis	30	70	.300
St. Louis	29	71	.290
St. Louis	28	72	.280
St. Louis	27	73	.270
St. Louis	26	74	.260
St. Louis	25	75	.250
St. Louis	24	76	.240
St. Louis	23	77	.230
St. Louis	22	78	.220
St. Louis	21	79	.210
St. Louis	20	80	.200
St. Louis	19	81	.190
St. Louis	18	82	.180
St. Louis	17	83	.170
St. Louis	16	84	.160
St. Louis	15	85	.150
St. Louis	14	86	.140
St. Louis	13	87	.130
St. Louis	12	88	.120
St. Louis	11	89	.110
St. Louis	10	90	.100
St. Louis	9	91	.090
St. Louis	8	92	.080
St. Louis	7	93	.070
St. Louis	6	94	.060
St. Louis	5	95	.050
St. Louis	4	96	.040
St. Louis	3	97	.030
St. Louis	2	98	.020
St. Louis	1	99	.010

Baseball (Continued)

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis	52	48	.520
St. Louis	51	49	.510
St. Louis	50	50	.500
St. Louis	49	51	.490
St. Louis	48	52	.480
St. Louis	47	53	.470
St. Louis	46	54	.460
St. Louis	45	55	.450
St. Louis	44	56	.440
St. Louis	43	57	.430
St. Louis	42	58	.420
St. Louis	41	59	.410
St. Louis	40	60	.400
St. Louis	39	61	.390
St. Louis	38	62	.380
St. Louis	37	63	.370
St. Louis	36	64	.360
St. Louis	35	65	.350
St. Louis	34	66	.340
St. Louis	33	67	.330
St. Louis	32	68	.320
St. Louis	31	69	.310
St. Louis	30	70	.300
St. Louis	29	71	.290
St. Louis	28	72	.280
St. Louis	27	73	.270
St. Louis	26	74	.260
St. Louis	25	75	.250
St. Louis	24	76	.240
St. Louis	23	77	.230
St. Louis	22	78	.220
St. Louis	21	79	.210
St. Louis	20	80	.200
St. Louis	19	81	.190
St. Louis	18	82	.180
St. Louis	17	83	.170
St. Louis	16	84	.160
St. Louis	15	85	.150
St. Louis	14	86	.140
St. Louis	13	87	.130
St. Louis	12	88	.120
St. Louis	11	89	.110
St. Louis	10	90	.100
St. Louis	9	91	.090
St. Louis	8	92	.080
St. Louis	7	93	.070
St. Louis	6	94	.060
St. Louis	5	95	.050
St. Louis	4	96	.040
St. Louis	3	97	.030
St. Louis	2	98	.020
St. Louis	1	99	.010

Baseball (Continued)

Team	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis

MANION/WORLD

Suspect in Fla. slayings wanted in sexual attack

By RON WORD
The Associated Press

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — A leading suspect in the slaying deaths of five college students is wanted on charges he followed a woman, put a knife to her throat and tore her blouse two years ago, authorities said.

Investigators on Tuesday also revisited the off-campus sites of last month's slayings with a laser device to search for evidence.

As most students returned from the Labor Day weekend, police again warned that the killer may still be in their midst.

A memorial service for the slain students — four from the University of Florida and a fifth from Santa Fe Community College — was scheduled for today at the university. Scholarship winners in their memorials were to be announced.

The Indian River County Sheriff's Office filed armed burglary and attempted sexual battery charges Tuesday against Edward Lewis Humphrey after a 27-year-old woman identified him from his newspaper picture as the man who attacked her. Humphrey is in jail on $1 million on charges of beating up his grandmother. Police said he lived briefly this summer at an apartment complex and a dormitory where three of the slaying victims lived and is one of eight suspects.

According to the police report on the 1988 incident in Indian County, the woman said a man followed her into her home near Vero Beach, tore her blouse and held a hunting knife to her throat. She said she got away and called police.

"Similarities from the 1988 incident, compiled with the knowledge that Humphrey was being looked at by the task force in Gainesville, prompted the sheriff's office to notify authorities in Gainesville," the sheriff's office said. Sheriff's spokeswoman Theresa Woodson did not specify the similarities.

Also Tuesday, police said the serial killer stalks trim brunettes, slipping into their off-campus apartments through windows or doors.

He killed four women and a man in three attacks, mutilating three of the victims.

Prosecutors said would fight an effort to lower Humphrey's bail.

"I'm not saying he's the killer, but the fact is that some things have surfaced in that investigation that convince us he is a serious danger to the community," said Michael Hunt, assistant state attorney.

Investigators have taken Humphrey's fingerprints and footprints, samples of his blood and his psychiatric records.

His Gainesville apartment remained sealed as a search continued on the grounds around it. Police confirmed that Stephen Michael Bates, a Lakeland short-order cook, was another suspect. He has been held on a $100,000 bail since his Aug. 29 arrest in an unrelated assault case. Palm County authorities said they doubt Bates, 30, is the killer, but his fingerprints have been sent to the task force.

Also Tuesday, Michael West, a forensic specialist from Hattiesburg, Miss., arrived with a sophisticated laser device to be used in the investigation. West, whose specialty is matching bite marks to teeth, is a dentist and a deputy coroner. Investigators did not say they hope the laser will help them find.

The Associated Press

ALLENDE MOURNED — A man is comforted by a friend as he lays crying over a vehicle carrying the coffin of Chilean President Salvador Allende in Santiago. At right, a young woman tosses a flower. Allende was buried in a massive funeral on Tuesday, 17 years after his death in a bloody 1973 military coup.

Increased small-car use could cause more deaths

By DAVID BRISQOE
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A push to put Americans into smaller cars as a way of reducing dependence on foreign oil could raise the death toll on the nation's highways, a safety research group said today.

The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety said death rates in U.S.-made cars are coming closer to those for Japanese autos as new models are built closer to the same size. Japanese cars, on average, are getting larger while American cars are getting smaller.

And, an institute study concluded, fatalities in 10 of 11 General Motors models increased after smaller models of the cars were produced.

The institute, which is financed by auto insurance companies, researches a wide range of highway safety issues.

Institute President Brian O'Neill said there are ways to save more fuel without making cars smaller, including engine changes that put less importance on power and speed and measures that relieve urban congestion.

Cars get their best mileage traveling at 40 miles per hour, the institute said. A car that achieves more than 30 miles per gallon on the highway can slip to below 20 mpg at higher speeds and to less than 10 mpg crawling through a traffic jam.

"I'm as good an environmentalist as the next guy, but I believe we have to look at the complete picture," O'Neill said.

He said the safety benefits of larger cars and the need to make vehicles safer often are ignored in the debate over fuel conservation.

Concern over U.S. dependence on foreign oil, coupled with continuing concern for the environment, is expected to give new life to legislation that would toughen fuel economy standards for the auto industry. One proposal would require automakers to increase fuel economy 20 percent in passenger cars by 1995 and 40 percent by 2001. Carmakers say that to achieve such standards, cars will have to be smaller.

Smaller cars are more prone to rollovers and damage that can injure occupants, the institute said, pointing to previous studies by its engineers and others.

Among evidence cited in the institute report are:

—Based on an analysis of death rates and fuel ratings for 47 four-door cars, on average, for every one mile-per-gallon improvement in fuel economy, there is a 3.9 percent increase in the death rate.

—The frequency of damage claims for small, two-door cars is 35 percent higher than for large two-door cars.

Miss., bemoaned the resistance among the military brass toward deploying reserves.

"I love the old generals and admirals, but they still go with active forces before they go with reservists," he told reporters.

Montgomery, a longtime supporter of the National Guard and Reserves, also said the current situation provides an ideal opportunity for evaluating the Reserves.

"There's no shooting war. Let's find out if you can mobilize and see how many will show up," said Montgomery, who toured Bahrain, Egypt and Saudi Arabia in the House delegation.

The more than 9,000 reservists called to active duty following Iraq's invasion of Kuwait last month have largely confined to support roles, backing up active-duty combat forces in the Gulf area. More than 100,000 U.S. servicemen and women are serving on land or sea in the region.

A member of a delegation of senators arriving home from a Persian Gulf tour Tuesday afternoon joined the House members' concern over the reservists.

The Wall Street Journal quoted

IRAQ INVADERS: A SPECIAL REPORT

More Westerners fly from Iraq

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Several hundred more Westerners fled from Iraq President Saddam Hussein's human shield, headed home today after arriving in Jordan aboard three Iraqi Airways jets.

The last group, about 175 altogether including 25 Americans, flew to London early today on a Virgin Atlantic jetliner Boeing 747 that had brought 40 tons of relief supplies to Jordan for desperate Asian refugees. Most had arrived on an American-chartered Iraqi Airways jet.

"Great. I feel great," said George Issa, a young American in a football jersey who had muscled his way past a platoon of cameramen.

Earlier, another 135 passengers, mostly West Germans, transferred to a Lufthansa flight after living in a West German-chartered Iraqi Airways flight from Baghdad.

A British woman with two children arrived on the scheduled Iraqi Airways flight from Baghdad in the afternoon. Most of the passengers on board were Arab nationalists.

"I never saw an angry man in Iraq," said Sheila Russell, an British mother, who said she left reluctantly because her husband had to stay behind.

Georgia Rose, also British, said she was sad at having to go. She cradled her 6-month-old daughter, Jamada, in her arms and held the hand of Sheharazade, 2. "I left because when you have the opportunity to leave, and Margaret Thatcher is saying what she is saying, I felt it was my duty to take the children out."

British Prime Minister Thatcher, like President Bush, has said that the presence of hostages at strategic sites should not limit military options.

Taleb Sabah, a teenager from Davenport, Iowa, said he couldn't get out soon enough.

"Kissal was being held," he said. "You go to sleep to bombing, and you wake up to it. It is like living Vietnam all over again. There are lots of dead people. They throw them in the trash."

Branson's jumbo left with 200 empty seats because of a bureaucratic tangle by officials of a country he did not name. He was pleased, he admitted to reporters, who learned he meant Egypt.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said last week he would allow Western women and children to leave, but not the men. More than 700 Western detainees — women, children and a few ailing men — left aboard two Iraqi Airways flights on Saturday. Some evacuees also have traveled across the desert to Jordan.

But the departures of others have been complicated by Iraq's refusal to allow foreign airlines to land in Baghdad and by long delays in processing exit permits. About 11,000 Westerners are now believed stranded in Kuwait and Iraq.

Westerner heads across the desert in buses hoping they too would be freed from Iraq.

The Associated Press

HOME AT LAST — Dr. Masood Mirza talks with his niece, Masooma Hydari, age 6, at his home in Manhasat Hills, Long Island. Mirza, his daughter Sayyeda, middle, and wife, Nasreen, right, were held in Baghdad since Iraq invaded Kuwait one month ago. The trio was released last week along with 47 other Americans.

Some say a single bullet could resolve Gulf crisis

By MIKE FEINSLIBER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State James A. Baker III is the latest administration official to suggest that the United States would consider Saddam Hussein's departure from Kuwait as a condition for a cease-fire, but he said he would not say whether he would support the idea.

"I don't think an American could possibly kill Saddam Hussein and survive, so you'd end up hiring someone else and who knows what they might do," Turner said. "They might kill 5,000 people to get Hussein. It's a very chancy thing."

Richard Helms, another ex-CIA chief, said, "When push comes to shove, Americans don't believe in having America assassinate foreign leaders. They want somebody else to pull the trigger."

And William Colby, who also once ran the agency, said that Bush clearly hopes the economic squeeze on Iraq will become so severe that within the country "people will get the idea, 'we've got to get rid of this guy.'"

Once before — in the Panama invasion that resulted in the arrest of Manuel Noriega — Bush suggested that the people themselves remove the Panamanian military leaders plotted a coup and sought American help, signals got crossed and the attempt failed.

Early in the crisis, Bush himself said he hoped the Iraqi people would "do something," unless Saddam

Troops sweat, wait

IN SAUDI ARABIA (AP) — The U.S. Marines call their patch of the Saudi Arabian desert "the twilight zone."

The sector south of the border with occupied Kuwait is home to venomous scorpions, snakes like carpet vipers and beet that's almost unbearable. The men never know the exact temperature, and perhaps that's a blessing.

"We don't know what day, what month, what time it is," said Lance Cpl. Eddie Zazueta, 21, of Los Angeles. "I think maybe I was supposed to get out last year. This is the Twilight Zone."

Under a pounding sun, Zazueta and his fellow Marines patrol the Arabian landscape in their "heavy gun" — a transport vehicle with a 50-caliber machine gun on the roof — just across from a region that's been bristling with Iraqi troops since Sept. 2.

The man on gun watch wakes the others up around 5 a.m.

"You usually just stretch them in the legs," said Sgt. Thomas Hixson, 23, of Kingston, Tenn., the section leader for two vehicles in the platoons. Riding with him are Zazueta and Lance Cpl. John Doyle, 24, of Tulsa, Okla.

Alert for any attack, Hixson sets reveille an hour before the time ordered for the whole 2nd Battalion of the 7th Marine Expeditionary Brigade.

Some men have suffered nasty scorpion stings early in the morning as they groped for their toilet kits. A day in the clinic and they are back on the line.

The morning "bath" is perfunctory but important: a nearby army unit that skipped it came down with body lice and dysentery. Hixson showers back at the base about every 10 days.

Breakfast is a banana, apple, orange or an MRE — "meal-ready-to-eat." Frankfurters are the favorite, someone else and who knows what they might do, Turner said. "They might kill 5,000 people to get Hussein. It's a very chancy thing."

At 7 a.m. it's 85 degrees. An hour later, it's 97. By noon it's approaching 120 degrees and the heavy guns create an inferno of heat until 5 p.m.

Sleep at midday is impossible because of the heat.

"We talk about John Wayne-kind stuff. What to do if we're attacked," said Hixson.

"We pray for war," said Zazueta. "They banner about getting rid of Iraq. President Saddam Hussein."

"We just want to go kick him, get him out and get home," said Hixson. Mail is important.

"I just got divorced, but I wish my ex would write me. I gotta get a girlfriend."

North prosecutor asks for another decision

By JAMES ROWLEY
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Iran-Contrat prosecutor Lawrence E. Walsh wants a federal appeals court to reconsider its split decision that set aside three felony convictions against former White House aide Oliver L. North.

Calling the 2-1 decision "unprecedented and unprecedented," the independent counsel asked the three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia to rehear the case. Walsh also suggested a rehearing by all 12 members of the court.

The tardy would petition charged that Circuit Judges Laurence Silberman and David Sentelle used faulty logic and a plain misreading of the "record" in the case to set aside North's convictions. Over the dissent of Chief Judge Patricia Wald, the two appeals judges ordered a hearing to determine if oral witnesses were influenced by the testimony of North's lawyer in his investigation.

Walsh called the panel's order "an unwarranted extension of use immunity protection" that was "procedurally unjustified" because he took special precautions to make sure that prosecutors were not exposed to North's testimony. Trial witnesses were instructed by U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell to testify only from their personal knowledge. The prohibitions against prosecuting based on North's immunized testimony "do not extend to the independent conduct of third-party witnesses, particularly witnesses who testify on the basis of personal knowledge," Walsh said in the petition.

To conduct the hearing according to the appellate panel's instructions, Gesell would have to conduct the psychological processes of each witness, many of whom are irrelevant to the conviction," Walsh said.

The standards the appellate court set for a "witness by witness" hearing would make "virtually impossible" the criminal prosecution of a person who provides public immunized testimony," Walsh said, quoting from Wald's dissent.

Tax cut would favor wealthy

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — One percent of American families would save an average $19,599 from a proposed capital gains tax cut while 80 percent would face higher taxes to pay for the benefits, according to a private analysis released today.

The four-fifths of American families whose incomes are below $61,000 would receive an average capital gains tax benefit of only $30, according to the study by Citizens for Tax Justice, a coalition of labor, public interest and citizens groups.

"Since most families own no capital assets other than their homes, most actually would get no capital gains tax break at all," it said. These people "would face higher taxes to pay for the cost of this enormous new loophole for the very wealthy."

Those whose incomes place them in the top 1 percent would get an average tax cut of $19,599, it said.

The Washington-based Citizens for Tax Justice describes itself as a non-profit, non-partisan coalition working for fairer taxes at the federal, state and local levels.

Capital gains are profits from the sale of stock, real estate and other investments. They now are taxed at the same rates that apply to wages and other income.

President Bush has made cutting the tax a top priority, contending such a reduction is needed to keep the economy growing. His administration has pressed for a reduction during this year's budget negotiations with members of Congress. The talks are due to resume this week.

The administration has never denied that the wealthiest taxpayers would be the biggest beneficiaries of a capital gains tax cut. But it contends that the proposed tax cut would spur investment and create jobs.

The Treasury has projected the cut would raise tax collections every year and by $1.5 billion over the 1990-95 period. However, the congressional Joint Committee on Taxation has estimated annual revenue losses after the first two years and losses totaling $11.4 billion for 1990-95.

The Congressional Budget Office last week said a capital gains tax reduction "could not be counted on" to give a significant boost to American economic growth.

"It is unlikely that the increase in income would generate enough additional tax revenue" to offset losses to the Treasury, it said.

Citizens for Tax Justice said middle-class Americans would not benefit from a capital gains tax cut because their incomes come mainly from salaries and wages, not from stock portfolios or real estate holdings.

Dentist with AIDS writes letters to former patients

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A dentist believed to have given a patient AIDS during a tooth extraction has sent others he once treated a warning letter suggesting they get tested for the virus.

"I am sorry I cannot tell you this face to face, but I am dying of this disease," wrote Dr. David J. Acer of Stuart. "I am very close to the end."

The Centers for Disease Control last month reported that a 21-year-old woman contracted AIDS during a dental visit, the nation's first known instance of a health professional apparently giving the disease to a patient.

The agency did not identify the dentist or the patient and said it was not clear how the virus was transmitted.

unlisted, could not be reached for comment. While HRS never publicly confirmed that the dentist in the CDC report practiced in Florida, the agency said it had the ability to track down patients and urge them to take an AIDS test.

But under state confidentiality laws, HRS would be prevented from telling the patients that their connection to the dentist had prompted the advice.

Acer said he consulted experts after testing positive for the AIDS virus and was assured he could continue practicing.

The letter does not say whether Acer knew he had AIDS or how he was infected. Acer said he stopped when he got AIDS-related cancer.

The agency did not identify Acer, whose telephone number is

Two reasons why we should be your car repair choice.

The skills of our professional people and the most effective repair equipment help us repair your damaged vehicle in the best possible way. For uninitiated body damage, we use the Chief EZ Liner II to accurately and quickly repair your car to manufacturer's specifications.

Our skilled craftsmen take professional care in finishing and painting your car to complete the job to your satisfaction. Because we know you take pride in your car, we take pride in our work.

See all the reasons why you can trust your vehicle repair to us. Stop in or call.

LOANER & RENTAL VEHICLES AVAILABLE IN MOST CASES

LYNCH COLLISION CENTER
500 WEST CENTER STREET, MANCHESTER, CT 0646-4321

Now at MANCHESTER DRUG & SURGICAL SUPPLY
717 Main Street
every Thursday between the hours of 10:30AM and 1:00PM a Beltone Hearing Aid Specialist will be on hand to service any make and model hearing aid at no charge.
Free in-home hearing tests can also be arranged at your convenience.

Beltone 50 YEARS
CELEBRATING THE SOUNDS OF LIFE

Going Out of Business
SAVINGS UP TO 60% OFF OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF 14K GOLD AND STERLING JEWELRY
Town & Country Jewelry
Broad Street, Parkade — Manchester
(located near front door of Marshalls)
646-3608
Mon-Wed & Sat 10-6 · Thurs & Fri 10-9 · Sun 12-5

STAN SAYS: SEE US FIRST, BUT SEE US LAST, YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU DID!

Two reasons why we should be your car repair choice.

STAN OZIMEK
BODY SHOP MANAGER
LOANER & RENTAL VEHICLES AVAILABLE IN MOST CASES

LYNCH COLLISION CENTER
500 WEST CENTER STREET, MANCHESTER, CT 0646-4321

Beverly Bollino Burton
DANCE STUDIO
63 Linden St., Manchester
Directors: Beverly & Lee Burton

Classes For Children and Adults in Classical Ballet, Tap, Jazz, Acrobatic-Tumbling

Social Ballroom Dance Classes
For Adults and Teens
-Foxtrot -Swing -Cha-Cha -Waltz -Polka -Rock -Disco -Rhumba

REGISTER AT STUDIO
Wednesday, September 5;
Thursday, September 6
3 to 7 PM

Members of Dance Masters of America, Inc., Dance Teachers' Club of CT and Dance Educators of America, Inc. and certified by test to teach. Students have won titles of Jr. Mr. Dance of CT, Miss Manchester, 1st runner up in Mr. Dance of CT and trophies for ballet, tap and jazz in DM of A competitions. Mrs. Burton has been Area 1 Vice President of DM of A for 3 years and has judged and taught for that organization throughout the country and Canada. She is past president of DTC CT and both are presently on the board of directors. They have choreographed for UConn, MCC and The Little Theatre of Manchester. Both are on the faculty at Manchester Community College.

FOR INFORMATION CALL 647-1083

Hey Mom!
1/2 price shoe sale!
5 days only!

Buy one pair at the regular price, get the second at half price.* Offer good on all men's, women's and kid's shoes in the store! Hurry in for best selection.

September 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

SAM & LIBBY • LIFE STRIDE • DEXTER • NATURALIZER • LA GEAR
9 WEST • HUSH PUPPIES • ETIENNE AIGNER • CANDIES • REEBOK WESTIES • STRIDE RITE • MORE!

Where smart kids bring their moms.

Prague's SHOES

Provisions at Buckland Hill, Manchester, (1 Manchester Parkade, Manchester, CT) • Tri-City Shopping Center, Vernon, CT
Fox Run Mall, Glastonbury, CT

STEP 1

FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

10000

OPINION

Open Forum

Budget concerns

To the Editor:
In her recent letter, Dorothy Wilnot warns that the appointment of (yet another) Coventry Charter Revision Commission is a plot to rescind the right to adjourn the town meeting to referendum.

Knowing something of the dreary business of partisan politics, I do not deny the possibility. But is Mrs. Wilnot pleased that again this year Coventry has to waste thousands of dollars paying interest because no budget was passed? Why not begin the budget process sooner to allow for several referendums?

Mrs. Wilnot blames the council for presenting three budgets that were voted down, yet each one received several hundred yes votes. And this council was duly elected by Coventry voters.

A few years ago the Coventry Taxpayers Association ran on a platform of no tax increase and received a severe thrashing at the polls. If times have changed so much, then they owe it to the people of Coventry to run again on such a platform and try to win the voters' confidence.

On a historical note, Mrs. Wilnot has done a complete about face in now citing "home rule" as the basis for adjourning the town meeting to referendum under Connecticut General Statute 7-7. Personally, I find her original argument of several years ago, appealing to the principle of home rule as justification for superseding 7-7 and not allowing a referendum, far more convincing. The principle of home rule is unnecessary if town law does not differ from state law.

If a Charter Revision Commission is appointed, I feel strongly that it should enhance the referendum process by clarifying the "no" votes. Once the council presents its budget, voters at the town meeting can approve it or lower it, but not raise it, but at least at a town meeting, voters can explain themselves.

The impersonal referendum ballot offers only a "yes" or "no" choice. Those who think the budget is not high enough have no way to express that opinion; a "yes" vote approves a budget they think inadequate, while a "no" vote is interpreted as a desire to lower the budget even further.

Before the nearly automatic referendum vote cut the heart out of the town meeting as a forum for voters to exchange views, I heard parents voice their frustration with inadequate education budgets. Though many were struggling to stretch incomes from young careers to meet the heavy expenses of growing families, they were willing to pay the price for what they valued — investment in their children's futures. These voters too have a right to be heard.

Hlanche Bouchard
450 Hemlock Point Drive
Coventry

Town Hall expansion

To the Editor:
I believe that the Town Hall expansion is much overdue for the following reasons:

1. The State has lost all patience with our inadequate walk storage for Town records.
2. Many areas, especially the Print Shop and Registrar's Office, are unsafe for town staff should a fire occur.

3. Meeting and conference facilities are totally inadequate. (Our Child Care Study Group once interrupted an employment interview. The staff told me that they had been moved several times during the interview.)

4. A more efficient work place will save taxpayers money in the long run. We are now making a capital investment which will benefit us for many years. A handful of people who oppose this sensible plan are no doubt sincere in their opposition. But they receive publicity far in excess of their numbers.

Rejection of this plan will trigger a series of half measures for years to come. We taxpayers will pay even more for less.

We will finally have a demoralized staff and an inadequate physical plant for the same or even more money.
Joseph Hachey
91 Diane Drive
Manchester

Letters policy

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers. Letters should be no more than two double-spaced typewritten pages. The Herald reserves the right to edit letters for any reason, including length, taste and style. The Herald tries to publish all letters, but the decision of the editor is final. Writers may be limited to one letter per month. All letters must be signed, and writers must include their address and a telephone number for verification. Mail letters to Open Forum, Box 591, Manchester 06040.

Berry's World

"I've got to go to the bathroom."

MEANWHILE, SOMEWHERE IN A LOS ANGELES STUDIO, PLANS ARE ALREADY BEING MADE FOR MOVIES ON THE MIDEAST EXPERIENCE

A touchy situation at home

By MIKE FEINSILBER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — For George Bush, the easy part is over. So far, he has only had to cope with Saddam Hussein. Congress is back in town next week.

The president got a glimpse of the shape of things to come if he checked on what was said afterward by the 170 members of Congress who interrupted their vacations for a presidential update on the Persian Gulf showdown.

Bush appealed for bipartisan support, and he got it, effusively. But there was an uneasy undertone after the session that suggested criticism is lurking — especially if the deployment turns into a stalemate.

Stalemate is the best Bush can hope for — it beats war — while he waits for the international quarantine of Iraq to work.

But American public opinion is not so good at waiting.

Not if the price of gasoline keeps rising and the economy keeps sinking.

Not if television carries pictures of Kuwaitis on the French Riviera driving to rallies in their Mercedes-Benz automobiles to cheer on the American boys.

Not if American women soldiers — on full television display in soldierly roles for the first time — run afoul of cultural differences in a Saudi society that gives women scant status and no equality.

Bush can stand the heat from Congress, but if the American people turn against this enterprise they can ultimately end it. That was Vietnam's lesson for policymakers.

Rejection of this plan will trigger a series of half measures for years to come. We taxpayers will pay even more for less.

We will finally have a demoralized staff and an inadequate physical plant for the same or even more money.
Joseph Hachey
91 Diane Drive
Manchester

Real men and real women

In a recent issue of USA Weekend, Christopher Kimball, publisher of Men magazine, which will debut early next year, offers women a deal.

"In the '90s... women will stop asking 'Why can't a man be more like a woman?' and let men wear boxer shorts, get their hair cut by real barbers, not hairdressers; wear sturdy, mainstream clothes including socks you can't see through; and drink Scotch on the rocks instead of blush wines.

"In return," he continues, "men will not be condescending and, with a deep sense of relief and satisfaction at all concerned, act like real men again. That includes opening doors for women; acting like Mel Gibson, not Pee-wee Herman; sending flowers, without occasion, to her office; splitting the wood; carrying out the garbage; and OK, sharing the diapers and dishes as long as women are prepared to share the economic support of the family."

Chris, if you really mean it, it's a deal. My only question is where on earth did you get the idea that women like those skimmy bottoms you say replaced boxer shorts, to see you wearing flimsy clothes, or for you to get your hair styled in unisex salons? Just who among my gender have you been talking to, anyway?

It wasn't women who put you out of boxer shorts, it was the men's fashion industry and those of you who were silly enough to buy something you weren't comfortable in. Flimsy clothes? Some culprits. Personally, the first adjective that pops to mind when I see those clothes is "cream puff."

And one of my least favorite things to see a man wearing is a neck full of gold chains, a fashion detestable that is ruining the sexy necks of half a league of

Soviet navy edges into Syrian port

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA

WASHINGTON — The Syrian port of Tartus on the Mediterranean Sea has been busy lately with dockings and goings of Soviet warships, anxious to get as close as possible to the Iraqi crisis without getting in it.

The flurry of activity underscores a secret agreement between the Soviet Union and Syria to turn part of the port at Tartus into a Soviet naval base, which is off limits to Syrians. It gives the Soviets one base in the Mediterranean while the United States has none.

The provocation by Iraqi strongman Saddam Hussein has left the Soviets in a quandary about how to use their port at Tartus.

The Soviet Union voted for the United Nations embargo against Iraq, but has not pledged its ships to enforce that embargo.

Central Intelligence Agency sources tell us that the Soviets don't want to appear aggressive in the region, particularly since Iraq has been their ally for many years and they hope the Iraqis will let bygones be bygones when the crisis is over.

But CIA reports say there has been a bumper crop of Soviet naval ships in the Mediterranean since the port at Tartus was opened to them last year.

The Soviets have another reason to stick close to Tartus. They said to encourage a closer relationship with Syrian leader Hafez Assad, a longtime enemy of Saddam Hussein. Syria has been the Soviet Union's closest ally in the Middle East, but Assad had come to doubt Moscow's fidelity.

Assad has seen the number of Soviet military advisers in Syria drop from a high of 6,000 in 1982 to about 2,500 currently. So he flew to Moscow in April for a three-day private session with Mikhail Gorbachev.

Gorbachev said he was as friendly as ever with Syria, but couldn't afford to subsidize Syria's insatiable appetite for weapons and didn't see the need for Syria to reach strategic parity with Israel.

Classified CIA reports show that Syria already owns the Soviet Union S-15 fighter planes, which would be able to drop Syrian chemical weapons on Israel.

The Soviets are willing to risk an escalation of hostilities by giving Syria the planes because the Syrians give access to Tartus in return. Ever since Egypt kicked the Soviet bases out of their last Mediterranean naval base at Alexandria in 1976, the Soviets have been desperate to find and keep a base in the region.

More important was the reducing its non-performing assets, the analysts said. That in turn depends on whether the New England economy recovers soon.

They were so anxious, our sources say, that they have forgiven more than $1 billion in Syria's military debt. The Soviet Union has also forgiven more than $1 billion in Syria's civilian debt.

Several Soviet ships, including a submarine tender, are stationed there permanently and the base may become the largest permanent Soviet naval base outside of the USSR.

The visiting warships this summer, including an aircraft carrier, are from the Soviet Black Sea Fleet and the submarines are from the Northern Fleet.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Sixth Fleet has no place in the Mediterranean to call home, although it regularly uses Naples, Italy. The closest thing the U.S. has to an official port is Rota, Spain, which is just outside the Mediterranean near Gibraltar.

Colombian drug traffickers have found a friend in Saddam Hussein. The drug cartels know that a buildup of U.S. forces in the Persian Gulf will mean less radar and tracking equipment left to be used against drug traffic in this hemisphere. That spells trouble for both the U.S. and Colombian drug enforcement officers who have worked for years to build up a system of surveillance. The drug dealers won't let any grass grow under their feet while U.S. resources are focused temporarily elsewhere.

The Interior Department apparently doesn't have a head for interior decorating. An Inspector General's investigation says the department trades valuable works of art, Indian rugs, baskets and artifacts like so much government issue. Interior employees have been walking on Navajo rugs worth thousands of dollars, putting trash and poted plants in priceless baskets and "losing" paintings by pricey Western artists. Apparently the spirit of James Watt lives on — "use it, abuse it and throw it away."

As I said, I don't know who you've been talking to, but I am one of my women friends just wish we could be a little more "downright childish," wish that the culture hadn't forced it almost completely out of us by the time we reached adulthood, rather than wanting you to be less that way.

There's only one place where we part company, Chris, and that's on the subject

Teenage Wasteland

Source: Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. NEA GRAPHICS

BUSINESS

BNE sells bank

By ARLENE LEVINSON
The Associated Press

BOSTON — A subsidiary of a Scottish banking group agreed to buy most of Bank of New England Corp.'s Rhode Island operation for $75 million, buying a little hope for the troubled bank's prospects.

The deal will sell most of the best of Bank of New England-Old Colony assets to the Citizens Financial Group of Providence, R.I. Citizens is a subsidiary of The Royal Bank of Scotland Group, a financial services holding company.

Selling off its Rhode Island interests is the latest major move in Bank of New England's efforts to boost its capital and restructure its operation.

This sale virtually completes our program to downsize the company and to concentrate our efforts on our strong franchises in Connecticut, Maine and Massachusetts," BNE chairman and chief officer Lawrence K. Fish said Tuesday in a prepared statement.

"It happens to fit our franchise well," said Kenneth E. Hogberg, chief financial officer of Citizens, in an interview from Providence. "We think the franchise will continue to carry a lot of value."

With the disposal of the Rhode Island subsidiary, Bank of New England will be left with three major subsidiaries: Maine National Bank, Connecticut Bank and Trust and Bank of New England. They employ about 14,000 people, a bank spokesman said.

The bank has been shedding assets and its work force since it came under increased government scrutiny when the region's economy began to slide and the real estate market exposed piles of bad loans.

The bank lost more than $1 billion in 1989. It has lost $46.6 million in the first quarter that ended March 31 and more than $30 million in the second quarter of this year.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday that spending on residential, non-residential and government buildings totalled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $442.2 billion.

Chrysler Corp., struggling with sagging sales and high incentive costs, has increased its target for a cost-cutting program to $2.5 billion. In July 1989, Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca announced plans to trim $1 billion from the automaker's $26 billion yearly budget by the end of 1990. Chrysler has cut about 2,500 of its 28,700 white-collar jobs since last October, spokesman Steve Harris said Tuesday.

Since the cost-cutting plans were announced, executives have raised the target twice, first to $1.5 billion by the end of this year, and now to $2.5 billion by next June. Iacocca said in an interview with The Wall Street Journal.

Fujitsu, Japan's largest computer maker, announced a powerful new mainframe computer it says is the fastest in the world.

The news Tuesday came a day before rival IBM is expected to announce its new top-of-the-line models. Both companies are depending on their new-generation mainframes to maintain their technological and competitive leadership in high-end computers.

International Business Machines Corp. has refused to release details of its new computer line before its announcement scheduled for Wednesday.

Chrysler Corp., struggling with sagging sales and high incentive costs, has increased its target for a cost-cutting program to $2.5 billion. In July 1989, Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca announced plans to trim $1 billion from the automaker's $26 billion yearly budget by the end of 1990. Chrysler has cut about 2,500 of its 28,700 white-collar jobs since last October, spokesman Steve Harris said Tuesday.

Since the cost-cutting plans were announced, executives have raised the target twice, first to $1.5 billion by the end of this year, and now to $2.5 billion by next June. Iacocca said in an interview with The Wall Street Journal.

Fujitsu, Japan's largest computer maker, announced a powerful new mainframe computer it says is the fastest in the world.

The news Tuesday came a day before rival IBM is expected to announce its new top-of-the-line models. Both companies are depending on their new-generation mainframes to maintain their technological and competitive leadership in high-end computers.

International Business Machines Corp. has refused to release details of its new computer line before its announcement scheduled for Wednesday.

Chrysler Corp., struggling with sagging sales and high incentive costs, has increased its target for a cost-cutting program to $2.5 billion. In July 1989, Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca announced plans to trim $1 billion from the automaker's $26 billion yearly budget by the end of 1990. Chrysler has cut about 2,500 of its 28,700 white-collar jobs since last October, spokesman Steve Harris said Tuesday.

In Brief . . .

The productivity of American workers improved for the first time in more than a year, climbing in the second quarter at an annual rate of 1.5 percent, the government said.

The rise in non-farm productivity — defined as output per hour of work — was the first increase since productivity climbed 0.5 percent in the final three months of 1988, the Labor Department said Tuesday.

NORDSTROM'S DEBUT — Customers take a look around the newest Nordstrom's Department Store in Paramus, N.J. The opening of the store marks the faded retailer's first foray into the fiercely competitive Northeast market.

Back to School Sale

Back to School Sale
5th thru 10th
$599

EASY LIVING INC., THE FUTON STORE

COLLEGIATE SALE
ENDS SEPTEMBER 30

Take Advantage of Our Store Lay Away Plan
Buy At Sale Prices
Pick-Up Merchandise When Needed

SOPIA'S PLAZA II
Route 5 Exit 45 Off I-91 N.S. 122 Prospect Hill Road East Windsor, CT 06088
Mon, Tues, Wed & Sat 10-6 Thurs & Fri 10-8 Sun 12-4 (203) 292-1919

Give us 4 weeks and we'll give you a great deal in return.

What's also simple is the food plan itself, because with Weight Watchers, you get to eat the foods you want — when you want. It's our most livable, effective way to lose weight, ever.

So hurry and join Weight Watchers. That way, you'll be able to spend four weeks learning how to lose weight. Then spend your registration fee any way you want.

Weight Watchers
Safe, sensible weight loss for 27 years.

- Join for $29 at these convenient times and locations:
- EAST HARTFORD: First Congregational Church, 637 Main Street, *Wed: 10 am - 4:45 pm & 7 pm
- MANCHESTER: Second Congregational Church, 385 N. Main St, *Mon: 4:45 pm & 7 pm *Wed: 4:45 pm & 7 pm
- Community Baptist Church, 645 E. Center Street, *Tues: 6 pm *Thurs: 4:30 am
- SOUTH WINDSOR: Wapping Community Church, 1720 Ellington Rd, *Thurs: 4:45 pm & 7 pm
- Knights of Columbus Hall, 1831 Main Street, *Mon: 7 pm

Back to School Sale
5th thru 10th
$599

The CRYSTAL BALL tells us the...
WAITERS RACE
IS COMING SEPTEMBER 6th, 3:30 P.M.

RACE STARTS at the...
MANCHESTER HERALD
WAITERS RACE SPONSORED by the...
MANCHESTER HERALD

10000
FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

Bennett cites victories in year-old drug war

By CAROLYN SKORNECK
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — One year after President Bush delivered a nationally televised speech laying out his drug war strategy, his chief lieutenant in that war says some of the battles are being won.

"We think that overall, in many ways, progress is being made," said national drug policy director William J. Bennett. "Things are significantly better, by lots of measures. Things are certainly not getting worse."

Bush and Bennett were marking the anniversary of the drug speech today by releasing a white paper on the drug war.

In an interview Tuesday, Bennett contrasted the current drug picture with the situation when he took office 18 months ago.

At the time, he recalled, people said his job was "impossible. Mission Impossible, Figurehead. Nothing can happen."

Instead, Bennett said, "The government actually can get some things done if it is given the right equipment, the right direction and the command of the president, and we made some progress."

However, he said, this is no time to let up and stop pursuing the drug strategy that stresses tough enforcement of drug laws when violated by either traffickers or users as well as increased spending on treatment and education.

"There's plenty more to do," Bennett said. "There are some places that are not getting better."

The announcement of the drug strategy last Sept. 5 was Bush's first prime-time television speech. In it, the president said he wanted "to make our streets and neighborhoods safe." He referred to people being "mugged on the way home from work by crack gangs" and children dodging bullets as they went to school.

In the past year, thanks in large part to Colombia's crackdown on the cocaine cartels that was strongly supported by the United States, the supply of cocaine to this country has decreased.

But instead of making the streets of America safer, Bennett said Tuesday, the cocaine shortage increased the violence because of greater competition among drug dealers. "There will be the same number of dogs fighting over a smaller number of bones," he said.

Asked whether the American people might be wondering just what the drug war is all about if battles won cause more violence, Bennett said "the violence fuels the national interest and the interest of citizens, but it isn't the only thing that fuels their interest."

"I think the largest part of the concern that people have is how it will affect their children," he said. "This is the nastiest in the first instance a fear on the part of most parents that their children will get shot in gang warfare on the street but rather than their kids will get into drugs and be harmed by it."

The high level of violence is not always connected to the drug trade, he said. He noted that the murder rate has declined in some cities — Detroit, Dallas, San Francisco and San Diego — which are "not necessarily the same cities where we're seeing the greatest progress in the war on drugs."

But instead of making the streets of America safer, Bennett said Tuesday, the cocaine shortage increased the violence because of greater competition among drug dealers. "There will be the same number of dogs fighting over a smaller number of bones," he said.

Asked whether the American people might be wondering just what the drug war is all about if battles won cause more violence, Bennett said "the violence fuels the national interest and the interest of citizens, but it isn't the only thing that fuels their interest."

"I think the largest part of the concern that people have is how it will affect their children," he said. "This is the nastiest in the first instance a fear on the part of most parents that their children will get shot in gang warfare on the street but rather than their kids will get into drugs and be harmed by it."

The high level of violence is not always connected to the drug trade, he said. He noted that the murder rate has declined in some cities — Detroit, Dallas, San Francisco and San Diego — which are "not necessarily the same cities where we're seeing the greatest progress in the war on drugs."

But instead of making the streets of America safer, Bennett said Tuesday, the cocaine shortage increased the violence because of greater competition among drug dealers. "There will be the same number of dogs fighting over a smaller number of bones," he said.

Asked whether the American people might be wondering just what the drug war is all about if battles won cause more violence, Bennett said "the violence fuels the national interest and the interest of citizens, but it isn't the only thing that fuels their interest."

"I think the largest part of the concern that people have is how it will affect their children," he said. "This is the nastiest in the first instance a fear on the part of most parents that their children will get shot in gang warfare on the street but rather than their kids will get into drugs and be harmed by it."

The high level of violence is not always connected to the drug trade, he said. He noted that the murder rate has declined in some cities — Detroit, Dallas, San Francisco and San Diego — which are "not necessarily the same cities where we're seeing the greatest progress in the war on drugs."

But instead of making the streets of America safer, Bennett said Tuesday, the cocaine shortage increased the violence because of greater competition among drug dealers. "There will be the same number of dogs fighting over a smaller number of bones," he said.

Asked whether the American people might be wondering just what the drug war is all about if battles won cause more violence, Bennett said "the violence fuels the national interest and the interest of citizens, but it isn't the only thing that fuels their interest."

VISITING WITH CHILDREN — South African President F.W. de Klerk and his wife, Marieke, visit young patients at the Baragwanath Hospital Tuesday during a tour of Soweto. De Klerk visited the area of recent faction fighting which has left more than 575 people dead.

N. Korea makes demands

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The rival Koreas today held their highest level meeting to date, and North Korea demanded that South Korea immediately release jailed dissidents and halt a joint military exercise with the United States.

For its part, South Korea proposed mutual recognition, free travel and gradual arms reductions. The Communist north and capitalist south never formally recognized each other after the division of Korea in 1945.

Across town, about 1,000 radical students yelling "U.S. troops get out!" hurled rocks and firebombs at riot police who blocked them from marching off the campus at Seoul National University and fired tear gas to disperse them.

Several people were injured and at least five students were arrested. South Korean Prime Minister Kang Young-hoon, the first to speak at the opening session, had no opportunity to respond directly to the demands of the Communist north.

But the Seoul government has already said that the issues are internal matters.

The north also demanded that South Korea cease efforts to seek a seat in the United Nations, saying that would perpetuate the division of the peninsula.

After each side made its statement, the formal meeting was adjourned, as scheduled. A second meeting was to be held Thursday behind closed doors.

It was unclear whether the future of the talks would be jeopardized by the north's demands, but North Korean Prime Minister Kim Il-sung strongly indicated that progress in other areas would be unlikely unless the demands were met. He stopped short of calling them conditions.

"We view these as very urgent, very serious matters... directly connected with the future fate of this conference," the North Korean premier said.

The south opened the talks with a proposal based on its conviction that mutual confidence-building measures must precede unification talks.

North Korea has taken the view that confidence between the two sides will come only after arms cuts and unification are complete. "Should the substance of both sides persist in confrontational and hostile attitudes, inter-Korean relations will never be improved," Kang said.

Several people were injured and at least five students were arrested. South Korean Prime Minister Kang Young-hoon, the first to speak at the opening session, had no opportunity to respond directly to the demands of the Communist north.

But the Seoul government has already said that the issues are internal matters.

The north also demanded that South Korea cease efforts to seek a seat in the United Nations, saying that would perpetuate the division of the peninsula.

After each side made its statement, the formal meeting was adjourned, as scheduled. A second meeting was to be held Thursday behind closed doors.

It was unclear whether the future of the talks would be jeopardized by the north's demands, but North Korean Prime Minister Kim Il-sung strongly indicated that progress in other areas would be unlikely unless the demands were met. He stopped short of calling them conditions.

"We view these as very urgent, very serious matters... directly connected with the future fate of this conference," the North Korean premier said.

The south opened the talks with a proposal based on its conviction that mutual confidence-building measures must precede unification talks.

North Korea has taken the view that confidence between the two sides will come only after arms cuts and unification are complete. "Should the substance of both sides persist in confrontational and hostile attitudes, inter-Korean relations will never be improved," Kang said.

Several people were injured and at least five students were arrested. South Korean Prime Minister Kang Young-hoon, the first to speak at the opening session, had no opportunity to respond directly to the demands of the Communist north.

But the Seoul government has already said that the issues are internal matters.

FEAST FEST WAITER'S RACE

sponsored by
The Manchester Herald
Thursday, September 6th
3:30pm ~ Main Street

Here are some of the waiters and waitresses who will run in the 1990 Feast Fest Waiter's Race. Who do you think will win.

Name: DANIEL N. COKASH
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: MANCHESTER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Name: CCI CAIN
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: THREE PENNY PUB

Name: JOY ANDERSON
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: THREE PENNY PUB

Name: PENNY FONGEMIE
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: MANCHESTER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Name: MELISSA MCGEE
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: MARC, INC.

Name: KENNETH EDBERG
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: MARC, INC.

Name: KIMBERLY J. BACKIEL
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: HUNGRY TIGER CAFE

Name: TIMOTHY MELROY
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: MANCHESTER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Name: PHIL BENITO
Town: MANCHESTER
Restaurant: JUST FOR LICKS YOGURT SHOPPE

MANCHESTER, CT

Be Sure to Come and Cheer for your Favorite Waiter or Waitress!

Unrest looms over Nicaragua

By DORALISA PILARTE
The Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Widows, orphans and disabled people from Nicaragua's civil war occupying the state-run TV station rejected a government offer Tuesday to negotiate pension demands if they first left the building.

The station returned to the air Tuesday afternoon although the dispute continued.

"Not one step back!" chanted about 200 people in front of the National Television System master control building when they heard the government offer.

The slogan, a standby of the leftist Sandinistas, pointed up the tension between the conservative government of President Violeta Barrios de Chamorro and the Sandinistas. The confrontation raised the possibility of a public sector strike similar to those that crippled the nation in May and July.

About 70 people — survivors and war wounded, including those in wheelchairs — invaded the TV station Monday evening, broadcast a short message before the transmission signal was cut off, and locked themselves inside the building.

By Tuesday, someone had placed a small red-and-black Sandinista flag on the roof.

Fernando Lopez, national coordinator of the Organization of Handicapped Revolutionaries, led the takeover.

"During the 10 1/2 years of Sandinista government, our pensions were re-evaluated 35 times, and during the last four months of this government the pensions have been devaluated 35 times," he said.

Lopez sat in his wheelchair Tuesday under a banyan tree across the street from the TV building, chanting with reporters.

The station returned to the air by transmitting directly from its downtown studios to transmission facilities, bypassing a master control unit occupied by the protesters.

"While the negotiations between the government and the wounded continue, enjoy our programming," the station's press chief Luis Mora told viewers.

However, a civil war veteran in the master control unit told The Associated Press that negotiations had not yet begun.

Police had cordoned off the area but were mostly gone Tuesday. They confiscated three pistols.

The Sandinistas, defeated in Feb. 25 elections by Mrs. Chamorro coalition, had governed since overthrowing the Somoza family dictatorship in 1979. The Sandinistas later fought a nine-year civil war with U.S.-backed Contra rebels in which 30,000 people were killed.

Lopez said the Chamorro government offered pension increases ranging from $3.35 to $22 a month. But weekly devaluations quickly erode pay increases.

"I told them it was a mockery to us," Lopez said. "They said they would get back to us, and nothing happened. That's why we took this over."

"It is our company policy not to take a company policy not to take on these sorts of issues. This is taking a position and an anti-position," he said.

"Obviously, this was pointed out to us and frankly we feel we did a mistake. All we can do is just withdraw it from the stores," he said.

Michigan United Conservation Clubs, a sportsmen's group, was among those criticizing Penney last week for carrying the clothing.

Penney bought the "Environmental Protection Department" line of clothing from a New York company, H. Cotler Co.

The head of the company, Howard Cotler, was in a meeting Tuesday and did not immediately return a telephone call seeking comment.

A card attached to each shirt in the line shows a sketch of a bird hunter aiming a shotgun over which a large red "X" has been marked. Under that are the words: "Absolutely No Hunting of Wild and HELPING HAND — A riot policeman helps people injured in renewed black-on-black faction fighting which has left many dead in townships around Johannesburg.

Penney pulls anti-hunting garb

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A line of boys' clothes that carry an anti-hunting message is being yanked from the shelves at J.C. Penney Co. Inc.'s 1,330 stores, the company said.

Duncan Muir, public relations manager for the Dallas-based retailer, said it took the step after complaints about the clothes nationwide.

"It is our company policy not to take a company policy not to take on these sorts of issues. This is taking a position and an anti-position," he said.

"Obviously, this was pointed out to us and frankly we feel we did a mistake. All we can do is just withdraw it from the stores," he said.

Michigan United Conservation Clubs, a sportsmen's group, was among those criticizing Penney last week for carrying the clothing.

Penney bought the "Environmental Protection Department" line of clothing from a New York company, H. Cotler Co.

The head of the company, Howard Cotler, was in a meeting Tuesday and did not immediately return a telephone call seeking comment.

A card attached to each shirt in the line shows a sketch of a bird hunter aiming a shotgun over which a large red "X" has been marked. Under that are the words: "Absolutely No Hunting of Wild and Free Animals While Wearing This Garment."

A similar message is stitched into an inside panel of the garment.

Pants have a larger card with the message: "Wild life protected by man surround the world with pure thoughts." Tags in the clothes indicate it was made in Hong Kong.

In a letter to the National Rifle Association last week, Cotler said the anti-hunting message was a marketing tool that had been discontinued.

He wrote that his company "neither condemns nor supports anti-gun or anti-hunting legislation" and it was trying to appeal to the environmental awareness of young people.

Ten paintings of the Creuse valley in central France include one loaned by Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Paul Hayes Tucker, associate professor of art at the University of Massachusetts, spent four years assembling the exhibition from five continents and said Monet's paintings of the 1890s were "perhaps the grandest incarnation of his art."

"They have been collected from all over the world with immense difficulties and I believe we won't be able to see them together again in our lifetime," said academy president Roger de Grey.

The show, with some changes, opened at Boston Museum of Fine Arts in February and was later seen at the Art Institute of Chicago.

Monet exhibit opening

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Academy of Arts in Piccadilly opens an exhibition of 94 works by Monet on Friday, hoping to draw at least a half million visitors over three months — more than for any other show in its 222-year history.

Receipts at that level would bring in up to $5.5 million, which could be used for its current huge renovation.

The works in the new exhibition, "Monet in the 90s: The Series Paintings," are among the most beautiful and intriguing that Monet did in his long life. He was 86 when he died in 1926 at his home in Giverny near Paris.

In the 1890s, he created series of paintings of the same subjects in different weather and light, exhibiting each group as it was completed.

Among the subjects in the show are 11 views of grainstacks, 20 of poplar trees, 10 of Rouen cathedral, seven of misty mornings on the Seine river, 15 of the Normandy coast, four of the Thames and five of the Japanese-style bridge over Monet's waterlily pond.

Ten paintings of the Creuse valley in central France include one loaned by Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Paul Hayes Tucker, associate professor of art at the University of Massachusetts, spent four years assembling the exhibition from five continents and said Monet's paintings of the 1890s were "perhaps the grandest incarnation of his art."

"They have been collected from all over the world with immense difficulties and I believe we won't be able to see them together again in our lifetime," said academy president Roger de Grey.

The show, with some changes, opened at Boston Museum of Fine Arts in February and was later seen at the Art Institute of Chicago.

Where can you save on domestics?

- 26.19 valance
blouse valance, floral ribbon pattern, 70 x 15 in. 6.99
- 44.99 drapes
lined pole-top draperies, match above valance, 88 x 84 in. 29.99
- 20.99-22.49 tiers
privacy tiers, of semi-sheer voile, 80 x 45 in., 80 x 36 in. 9.99
- 24.99 drapes
rod pocket draperies include tiebacks, 84 x 63 in. 14.99
- $46-$48 drapes
pinch pleated draperies have textured elegance, 50 x 84 in., 50 x 63 in. 25.99
- 67.49 priscillas
lace-trimmed edges, crested bow tiebacks, 150 x 84 in. 34.99
- Large floral striped pole-top panels, with petite french ruffle trim
 - 150 80 x 84 in. 19.99
 - 165 120 x 84 in. 29.99
 - 181 164 x 84 in. 39.99
- 59.99 queen comforter
patchwork comforter has country look floral design 39.99
- $115 queen comforter
quilted comforter has box design, of high sheen chintz 59.99
- 42.99-$68 furniture covers
choose from various styles and colors 6.99
- $68-$140 furniture covers
as assortment of designs and sizes 9.99

- 184 drapes
pinch pleated draperies, of softly textured fabric, 75 x 84 in. NOW 39.99
- 138 valance
partition valance is trimmed with lace, 82 x 10 in. NOW 9.99

The JCPenney Catalog OUTLET STORE

of course.
It's something else!

1361 Tolland Turnpike, Manchester, Connecticut
Located in The Manchester Catalog Distribution Center

Register and Dance with the RICHARD RASLEY Dance Studio
159 Main Street, Rt. 31, Coventry
Tel. 742-9766 742-6886

Classes Resume September 17
Tap ★ Ballet ★ Pointe
Jazz ★ Acrobatics
Kinderdance for 3-4 Year Olds

- Family and Multiple Class Rates
- Professionally Equipped Studio with Mirrors and Barres
- A Qualified Staff
- Special Emphasis on Dance for Boys
- Adult Tap and Jazz Classes

Register At The Studio On
Wed., Thurs. & Fri., Sept. 12, 13 and 14 from 2 until 7 PM and Sat., Sept. 15 from 10 AM until 2 PM.
Or by phone at any time
742-9766 or 742-6886

Member: Dance Teachers Club of Conn., Dance Masters of America, Certified by test to teach thru D.M.A. Past president --Dance Teachers Club of Conn. and currently serving on their Board of Directors.
Students are dancing professionally on Broadway, Reno, Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe and in the movies. 32 years of teaching experience in the Coventry area.

"A Professional School -- A Truly Professional Teacher"

Member Greater Willimantic Chamber of Commerce

FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA
1990

Fest

Another new addition to the Feast Fest will be a food bank sponsored by People's Bank. Feast patrons are encouraged to donate non-perishable food items, including canned juices, tuna, soup and canned pasta. All donations will be given to the Emergency Pantry, a local food bank sponsored by the Manchester Area Conference of Churches.

The first 100 donors to the food bank each day will be given two free tickets good for food and drink at the fest. The tickets normally sell for 60 cents each.

Making its fifth appearance at the Feast Fest is the Royal Ice Cream Co. Owner Jim Orselli says his company will be serving 16 of its 27 flavors at the event.

Last year, Orselli said, the company dished out about 3,300 servings of ice cream, about 325 gallons worth. The big sellers included Peanut Butter Cup, Heath Bar Crunch and Turtle, a calorie-filled concoction of vanilla ice cream, caramel, chocolate lace and pecans. The event will get underway Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. with the fifth annual Water Race, which is sponsored by the Manchester Herald. The event requires writers and waitresses to run from the Herald's building on Brainerd Place down Main Street to the fest site. The catch is they must cover the course while carrying a tray with plastic wine glasses and performing various stunts along the way.

Debate

generate $600 million more a year in state revenue. He said taxpayers want spending cuts, not tax increases, to balance the budget.

Cibes noted his plan would reduce the tax burden for about half the state's residents, those making $35,000 a year or less. The rest would pay only slightly more.

Cibes said his plan would invigorate the state's troubled economy by stimulating businesses and encouraging companies to stay in Connecticut. Further, he said, residents would be able to deduct their state income taxes on their federal tax returns.

Morrison won the Democratic Party endorsement at the July convention. Cibes is the challenger. Morrison noted that Cibes, as co-chairman of the General Assembly's tax-writing Finance Committee, was "the architect and engineer" of last year's record-setting $1 billion tax increase.

He said other cost-saving measures should be explored before taxes are considered. "We will squeeze dollars harder," Morrison said. "Tax increases are a last resort."

Cibes said the tax increases had only been approved after the General Assembly and the O'Neill administration reduced proposed spending increases by $300 million. "There was no alternative in the end" other than tax increases, he said.

Programs vital to Democrats — social services and education — had been saved, Cibes said, "and I don't apologize for that at all."

Cibes said there are few savings to be made in government spending, despite the popular perception that the state's $7 billion budget is bloated.

He called tax reform "a mechanism of invigorating the private sector of the economy" and said to Morrison: "You fundamentally misconceive the necessity of tax reform. I'm telling people what they need to hear: the truth."

Morrison called for an immediate hiring freeze in state government, although the O'Neill administration has effectively done that, replacing only those workers who leave state service whose jobs are deemed critical.

He said voters are still wondering where the state's surpluses of the 1980s went and said that, "while times were good, nobody was watching out for the deteriorating business climate."

On other issues: —Morrison said he would oppose further increases in education spending until results improve in areas like mastery testing. Cibes displayed surprise at that comment, saying that would only shift the burden to cities and towns, which are already strapped and subject to taxpayer revolts.

"We can't pass the buck forever," Cibes said. —Both candidates called for wider use of criminal sentences that don't include jail time, such as community service and restitution. —Cibes and Morrison called for more affordable housing, but neither provided a specific plan.

Virus linked to fatigue

From Page 1

PHILADELPHIA — Researchers are intrigued by a report linking a virus to chronic fatigue syndrome, but say more study is needed before the cause of the mysterious debilitating illness is known.

A study released Tuesday said evidence of a type of virus known as a retrovirus was found in the blood of 23 of 30 victims of the syndrome. Many of their healthy relatives also showed evidence of the virus, suggesting it is contagious, the researchers said.

"It's very interesting and it definitely needs to be followed up," said Ann Schluenderberg, chief of the virology branch of the National Institutes of Health. She said a more direct cause-and-effect must be established.

After the council's first three budget plans were rejected by referendums, the members voted in July to establish 38.85-mill tax rate needed to support the unapproved budget. The tax rate last year was 37 mills.

While Town Attorney Schwelb maintains the council has the authority to establish the tax rate if voters do not approve a budget within a specified time, the Republicans say the council's actions show disregard for the will of the majority.

"It comes down to the right of the citizens to decide how much they're going to be taxed," Bouchard said. Bouchard wants last year's mill rate in place until the budget can be resolved, which he says will not be long enough to cause any problems.

The council's $154 million budget. The suit seeks an injunction to prevent the town from implementing the new tax rate and nullify the vote which established it.

The findings mean hope for treatment for those who suffer from the syndrome, and vindication for those who were told the symptoms were all in their heads.

"It's very encouraging, very important," said Mary Grambs, director of the Chronic Fatigue Immune Dysfunction Syndrome Foundation in San Francisco. "This is the first time anything has been published, but the information and suspicion has been very clear for a while," she said.

The foundation — one of four national groups dedicated to the illness — estimates 3 to 10 million Americans are afflicted.

The disease starts with flu-like symptoms and can develop into overwhelming fatigue and depression. Other symptoms include muscle and joint pain, headaches, fever, sore throat, memory lapses and depression.

Because the symptoms mimic those of many other diseases, it is often misdiagnosed, she said. "It's so critical that this disease is recognized by the government and medical community so it can be aggressively researched, so people who have it can be validated, and not told they're crazy," she said.

Because it was widely reported among well-educated women in their 30s and 40s, the syndrome was dubbed "yuppie flu."

The new findings were presented Tuesday at a neuroepidemiology conference in Kyoto, Japan, by Elaine DeFries of the Wistar Institute in Philadelphia, Dr. Paul Cheney of Charlotte, N.C., and Dr. David Bell of Lymington, N.Y.

"There are things about it that make it not at all implausible — just more has to be done," she said. The findings mean hope for treatment for those who suffer from the syndrome, and vindication for those who were told the symptoms were all in their heads.

"This is an extremely tricky area," he said. "It would not be hard to make a mistake." DeFries herself told The Chronicle Observer: "I don't think any of us understands what this thing is, or how it's transmitted or what the role of this agent is in this disease. Certainly the studies have to be replicated."

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

Gene

From Page 1

work better and the bad gene work less well," said Prockop. Researchers started studying the Ohio family, which was not identified, after a physician referred them to Moskowitz.

Three generations of the family, starting with the father in the first generation, suffer from osteoarthritis. In the second generation, three brothers and one sister out of seven children had the disease. Three in this group underwent joint replacement surgery. And in the third generation, there were five with arthritis. For some in the family, the disease symptoms appeared at age 16.

Using a tissue sample from one family member with arthritis, the scientists isolated the gene II gene and found that it was mutated. They then checked that gene in the other family members and found it was defective in the nine who were affected with arthritis, but not in 10 others.

Tests were conducted on 57 unrelated individuals without arthritis and the defective gene was not found. Prockop said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Gene

work better and the bad gene work less well," said Prockop. Researchers started studying the Ohio family, which was not identified, after a physician referred them to Moskowitz.

Three generations of the family, starting with the father in the first generation, suffer from osteoarthritis. In the second generation, three brothers and one sister out of seven children had the disease. Three in this group underwent joint replacement surgery. And in the third generation, there were five with arthritis. For some in the family, the disease symptoms appeared at age 16.

Using a tissue sample from one family member with arthritis, the scientists isolated the gene II gene and found that it was mutated. They then checked that gene in the other family members and found it was defective in the nine who were affected with arthritis, but not in 10 others.

Tests were conducted on 57 unrelated individuals without arthritis and the defective gene was not found. Prockop said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

John D. Stobo, a Johns Hopkins University medical professor who is president of the American College of Rheumatologists, said the discovery "provides real hope that a cure will be forthcoming."

Dr. Arthur I. Grayzel, senior vice president of the Arthritis Foundation, said the new research "has the potential for helping change the concept of osteoarthritis from a disease that is the inevitable consequence of aging to a disease that has a specific cause in different people."

The research was supported in part by National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases, one of the National Institutes of Health.

Prockop said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

Moskowitz said that in expanded studies 10 families with several generations of arthritis have been examined and the faulty gene has been found in three of the groups. This suggests that the gene found in the Ohio family is not the only one underlying arthritis.

DeFries said it is now possible to identify the gene from tissue samples within four weeks and his laboratory hopes to develop tests that can make a genetic diagnosis within two days. This would enable members of a family where arthritis is common to determine if they are susceptible to the disease.

LOCAL/REGIONAL

Manchester Herald

Section 2, Page 9
Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1990

Manchester ■ Coventry ■ Andover ■ Bolton ■ Hebron

High school welcomes Soviets at reception

By JACQUELINE BENNET
Manchester Herald

COVENTRY — State and local officials turned out Tuesday night to welcome visiting Soviet students at a reception held in their honor at Coventry High School.

"I bring you greetings from the state of Connecticut," said 35th District State Sen. Marie Herbst (D-Vernon). "We welcome you in the spirit of peace."

Also attending was 8th District Rep. Edith Prague (D-Columbia), who encouraged the young people to build peaceful relations by "developing lasting friendships."

According to Prague, the 13 students are from Moscow and will be staying with 24 host families including Dziecik's and Coventry Grammar School principal Mary Piazza.

With their English teacher, Mary Takavins of Moscow, acting as a translator, some of the students spoke in interviews about why they wanted to visit the United States and what they hoped to see.

Maxim Osipov, 13, said he came because he wanted to meet new people and said he was looking forward to visiting some of the "big cities" like Boston and New York.

The group's agenda includes trips to Boston, Sturbridge Village, Riverside Park and the Big E Eastern States Exposition in Massachusetts, Mystic Aquarium, New York and schools in town.

Coventry — State and local officials turned out Tuesday night to welcome visiting Soviet students at a reception held in their honor at Coventry High School.

"I bring you greetings from the state of Connecticut," said 35th District State Sen. Marie Herbst (D-Vernon). "We welcome you in the spirit of peace."

Also attending was 8th District Rep. Edith Prague (D-Columbia), who encouraged the young people to build peaceful relations by "developing lasting friendships."

According to Prague, the 13 students are from Moscow and will be staying with 24 host families including Dziecik's and Coventry Grammar School principal Mary Piazza.

With their English teacher, Mary Takavins of Moscow, acting as a translator, some of the students spoke in interviews about why they wanted to visit the United States and what they hoped to see.

Maxim Osipov, 13, said he came because he wanted to meet new people and said he was looking forward to visiting some of the "big cities" like Boston and New York.

The group's agenda includes trips to Boston, Sturbridge Village, Riverside Park and the Big E Eastern States Exposition in Massachusetts, Mystic Aquarium, New York and schools in town.

Coventry — State and local officials turned out Tuesday night to welcome visiting Soviet students at a reception held in their honor at Coventry High School.

DEP to investigate water skiing course

By JACQUELINE BENNET
Manchester Herald

COVENTRY — An officer from the state Department of Environmental Protection told the Town Council Tuesday that complaints from residents have prompted an investigation of the new water ski slalom course at Coventry Lake and that the state will now renew a permit for it without a public hearing.

DEP Officer Reginald Stark appeared unexpectedly at the meeting at the Town Office Building and had to be added to the agenda.

"I was sent up to investigate last week," Stark said. "My supervisor said a permit will not be renewed until the DEP has a hearing of its own."

The slalom course was approved by the council on a trial basis early in the summer following a request from a local water skiing club.

Council member Harvey Barrette is also a member of the water ski club, but by a resident's request, he abstained from the vote on the course.

Joan Lewis, council chairwoman, told Stark the council fully intended to review the course and hold another public hearing of its own.

Stark said a combined local and state hearing could be set up. That is likely to be set for early October.

Lake area resident Mary Ann Hansen said the course is "too early, too loud and not safe," she said.

Hansen asked if any council members had been over to observe the course. They said they had not, so she invited them to come see it.

"Essentially they are taking over the entire lake every Saturday and Sunday morning," she said.

Stark said later that, "I don't think the general public realized it would not just be the actual dimensions of the course, the skiing area takes more of the lake than some people understand."

Stark said later that, "I don't think the general public realized it would not just be the actual dimensions of the course, the skiing area takes more of the lake than some people understand."

Stark said later that, "I don't think the general public realized it would not just be the actual dimensions of the course, the skiing area takes more of the lake than some people understand."

Stark said later that, "I don't think the general public realized it would not just be the actual dimensions of the course, the skiing area takes more of the lake than some people understand."

Stark said later that, "I don't think the general public realized it would not just be the actual dimensions of the course, the skiing area takes more of the lake than some people understand."

Company gives opportunities to handicapped

By SCOTT BREDE
Manchester Herald

MANCHESTER — At little after dawn each morning, Kathy Allen leaves her Oak Street apartment and takes a 10-minute bus ride to arrive bright and early for work at 6:30 a.m.

This is a morning ritual millions of other American workers perform, except that the 47-year-old Manchester resident, who is employed at McDonald's on Tolland Turnpike, is a person with mental retardation.

Allen, who handles the clean-up of the restaurant's dining room, said it took a few weeks to get accustomed to the early hours, but after entering her fourth year of employment at the fast food chain, she enjoys the early rise.

"The whole morning glow [of customers] knows me," Allen said. "They say 'Good morning, Kathy. How are you doing today?'"

Although she has worked at other jobs in the past, Allen said that her current position is her favorite. "You couldn't work with a better crew," she said. "I am going into the hospital [next week] to have hip surgery. I told my friends here, and they all wish me good luck," Allen said.

Allen is one of four employees at that particular McDonald's with a mental disability, and just one of the more than 130 people around the Manchester area who have found jobs through the help of MARC Inc., the Manchester Association for

Weicker finance probe unlikely

By JOHN DIAMOND
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Lowell P. Weicker violated a Senate rule by keeping money left over from his 1988 Senate campaign, but little, besides heat from his gubernatorial opponents, is likely to come of it.

A legal expert in campaign finance laws and a spokesman for the vice chairman of the Senate ethics committee both said Tuesday that Weicker's decision to keep $11,634 left over from his successful Senate campaign was a violation of Senate rules.

But Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., the ethics committee vice chairman, said through a spokesman that no investigation was necessary because Weicker donated the money to charity.

"From our standpoint he made a mistake. He made it whole and the book is closed on it," said Rudman spokesman Robert Stevenson. "It's Sen. Rudman's feeling that there was an error. It's been corrected and there would be no need for any additional action."

Stevenson said Weicker's "error" was in assuming that House and Senate rules regarding the keeping of left over campaign money are the same. The House, at the time of Weicker's departure from the Senate last year, allowed members to keep left over money. But a Senate rule dating to 1977 — when Weicker was in the Senate — prohibits keeping the funds.

A Washington-based expert in campaign finance law who is neutral in the government's race said Weicker clearly violated the Senate rule despite the existence of a more lenient federal law.

"Generally, when there is a conflict between the law and the rule, the stricter provision will take effect," said the expert, who asked to remain anonymous. "I'd say Weicker's opponent has a good argument of saying he's not subject to the ethical guideline by transferring the campaign funds."

The rule states that "no contribution... shall be converted to the personal use of any member or any former member."

Weicker is running for governor of Connecticut as an independent and has taken heavy criticism from Democratic opponent Bruce Marrisson for keeping the campaign funds. The current flap marks the second time in as many weeks that Weicker has come under fire over his personal finances. Pressure from Morrison, a congressman from Hamden, Conn., forced Weicker last week to release his financial records.

In addition to criticism from Morrison, Weicker also came under attack by Connecticut GOP Chairman Richard Foley Tuesday. Foley said that by writing out a check to charity after the matter was made public, Weicker had, in effect, "pleaded guilty... in the court of public opinion."

Republican John Rowland, a congressman from Waterbury, Conn., is also running for governor.

Weicker campaign spokeswoman Alice Meelan said Weicker stood by his earlier statement that federal election law allowed members to keep left over contributions once they retire while Senate rules prohibit it. Peter Gold, co-chairman of the Weicker campaign, said the federal law superseded the Senate rule. Weicker said he made the donation so that his opponents could not "traffic in confusion."

The campaign finance expert said there is almost no chance the Senate would investigate Weicker because there is little the Senate can do to punish a former member.

Senate rules apply to "the conduct of individuals in the performance of their duties as members of the Senate." And in the floor debate that preceded the passage of the Senate rule in 1977, several members questioned whether the Senate could do anything about a former member who violated it.

In fact, the House, in 1870, censured two members in a bribery case even though they had already resigned.

And in 1982, the Senate Ethics Committee began an investigation of New Jersey Democrat Harrison Williams shortly after he resigned from the Senate. Williams was on the verge of expulsion for his involvement in the ABC-AM bribery program. After he left office the committee investigated a charge that he kept campaign money for personal use. That probe concluded when the charges were judged to be unfounded.

Welfare cases cut 75 percent

By PETER VILES
The Associated Press

HARTFORD — State social workers have moved more than 1,000 families out of welfare motels since March, reducing the number of families in the costly and unpopular housing program by 75 percent, a report to the Legislature shows.

"It's at least one encouraging development in light of our continuing budget problems," said Rep. Joe Courtney, D-Vernon, said Tuesday. "This is one of the areas that was hemorrhaging the most, and according to the numbers, it has been brought under control."

"In addition, we've relieved some people of a pretty terrible existence."

The reduction of the welfare motel program was noted in a comprehensive plan to prevent homelessness submitted by state housing and welfare officials to legislative leaders Friday.

In submitting the plan, state officials said the number of families staying in welfare motels dropped from 1,436 in March to 348 on Aug. 1.

Chaudette Beaulieu, a spokeswoman for the Department of Income Maintenance, said another 28 families were moved out of motels in the first two weeks of August, leaving the caseload at 320 on Aug. 15.

The plan to prevent homelessness, as well as the reduced reliance on welfare motels, were required under a law passed by the Legislature this spring. Lawmakers were moving to cut the increasingly unpopular emergency housing program, which had grown from a cost of $6.3 million in fiscal year 1988 to $29.9 million in fiscal year 1990.

Under the emergency housing program, the state pays rents of up to $80 per night — or $2,400 per month — to house families in motels and other temporary shelters.

The Legislature increased state funding for rental assistance to enable poor families to find apartments, tightened eligibility for the emergency housing program, and ordered the agencies that run the WORKERS STRIKE — Workers at the University of Bridgeport walk the picket line Tuesday, protesting a cut in wages.

Hundreds of professors, workers strike at college

By JANET L. CAPPIELLO
The Associated Press

BRIDGEPORT — University of Bridgeport officials say fall semester classes will begin tonight as scheduled with replacement workers substituting for striking faculty members and other campus workers if necessary.

Faculty members and other campus workers set up picket lines at the University Tuesday but the administration has vowed not to let the strike disrupt the class schedule.

University President Janet Greenwood said at a news conference that the school had hired replacement workers — including faculty — to keep the university "fully operational."

It was unclear how long the strike would last, and each side has accused the other of an unwillingness to negotiate. Constance Young, vice president of the UB chapter of the American Association of University Professors said picketing would continue today.

About 175 faculty members, librarians and counselors are represented by the AAUP.

An additional 240 campus workers, including clerical, maintenance and cafeteria workers, are represented by Local 1199 of the New England Health Care Employees and Local 153 of the Office and Professional Employees International Union.

The faculty's current three-year contract expired Thursday. Contracts for the other two unions expired in June and July.

The call to strike came at 12:01 a.m. EDT Saturday, but was delayed during the weekend, when maintenance and cafeteria workers stayed on the job as students moved in.

"They're going to have to deal with us eventually," said Pete Costello, a striking economics professor. "In an attempt to slash $3 million from the faculty budget, the administration has proposed cutting salaries by up to 30 percent, eliminating the university's pension contributions, and increasing faculty contributions to health benefits, said John Sabatelli, an attorney negotiating for the administration.

The school has asked members of the other two unions to take a 4 percent pay cut, and began taking that money out of their paychecks despite unions' claims that the negotiations had not ended.

Administration officials said the pay cuts are necessary to balance the university's budget and save the struggling school from financial ruin.

"The economy in general in Connecticut and New England is not good," said Greenwood, who has been president three years. "Hard times demand hard decisions."

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

Calling card suspect charged

MIDDLETOWN (AP) —

Authorities continued their roundup of suspects in the state calling card scam Tuesday, arresting a fifth suspect after he appeared in Middlesex Superior on an unrelated drug charge.

Alphonso Johnson, 23, of New Jersey, was one of three suspects authorities threatened to extradite to Connecticut. Authorities said Johnson, his wife, Elizabeth Lawrence-Johnson and his twin brother Alonzo Johnson had promised twice to surrender to police but never did.

Four suspects, including the son and a niece of Hartford State Senator Frank D. Barrows, have been arraigned in the case so far.

Prosecutors allege that the seven illegally used a state credit card to make more than $6,100 in telephone calls. Police are investigating whether the scam may have been connected to drug-related activities because of the calls were made to Columbia.

Alphonso Johnson, a former Wesleyan University student, faces second-degree larceny and conspiracy to commit larceny in the credit card scam.

He pleaded innocent Tuesday at his arraignment to the unrelated charges of possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia and refusing to submit to fingerprinting.

Authorities believe, Frank D. Barrows Jr., 21, obtained the calling-card number of a former state Department of Public Works employee, and then distributed it to his friends and his cousin, Alton Alston, 21. Both have been arraigned on second-degree larceny and conspiracy to commit larceny charges.

Also arraigned on similar charges in the incident were Nialah Byrd, 18, of New York City, a student who has been president three years, "Hard times demand hard decisions."

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

She said employees who are unhappy with the situation should leave the university.

RECORD

About Town

Residents eligible for checkup
Visiting Nurse and Community Health of Eastern Connecticut will hold office hours at the Coventry Town Hall tomorrow from 10 to 11 a.m. All residents of the town served are eligible to attend and receive blood pressure checks, flu tests, and health guidance. For further information, please call Visiting Nurse and Community Health of Eastern Connecticut at 423-1651.

Swedish sing-a-long
Scandia Lodge #23 Vasa Order of America will have a meeting Thursday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Emanuel Lutheran Church. Following the meeting there will be a Swedish sing-a-long led by Richard Berggren. Refreshments will be served.

MCC offers canoeing course
The Division of Continuing Education at Manchester Community College is offering a course on Flatwater Canoeing. The course will be held on Wednesday from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. and Saturday (raindate Sunday) from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The course fee is $42. Instructors Tom Whitehill and Jim Hanrahan are experienced canoeists and certified instructors. For additional information, contact the Division of Continuing Education at 647-6242.

AART trip schedule
The CT North East Chapter #604, American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Wednesday, Sept. 5, at 1:30 p.m. at Concordia Lutheran Church, 40 Pitkin St., Manchester, preceded by a social hour from 12:45 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sept. 27-30, Niagara Falls — Toronto. Cost: $279 twin, $269 triple, $339 single. This trip is now open to non-members. Oct. 24: White's Resort, Westport, Mass., for a Halloween Party. Cost: $28. Nov. 23-24: attend a Christmas Party at Beacon Motel, Lincoln, N.H. Cost: $108 per person twin, $128 single. Dec. 14: an exceptional trip, first to Revay's Greenhouses, East Windsor, and a chat with the Talking Tree, then to Salem Cross Inn for lunch, with choice of baked sword or chicken pot pie; then to the Christmas Barn in Spencer, Mass. for last minute browsing; then to Killington to Christmas Wonderland — two acres of 30,000 lights and mechanical animals. On the ride home there will be carol singing, Christmas punch and cookies. Cost: $29. Send all reservations to Eileen Dalton, 75 Brent Road, Manchester 06040. A $50 deposit must accompany all reservations for overnight trips. Make checks payable to Conn. N.E. Chapter #604, AARP.

Coventry welcomes Soviet Union
The Coventry Town Council and the Board of Education will jointly host a reception for guests from the Soviet Union today in the courtyard of Coventry High School from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Light refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Bolton women's club announcement
The Bolton Women's Club will induct new members at the Pot Luck Supper to be held Sept. 12 at 6:30 p.m. at Herrick Park. All current members are asked to bring a food item. The club meets every second Thursday of the month from September to May. The business meeting is followed by an educational or social program. Club members are expected to participate in the standing Committees, and in the club's annual events, such as the Halloween Party for Bolton Children, the Christmas Auction and the Seniors Luncheon in March. If you are interested in joining the Bolton Women's Club, more information may be obtained by calling Julie Cohen at 643-4040.

Hebron Fair this weekend
Hebron will hold its annual Hebron Harvest Fair from Thursday, Sept. 6 through Sunday, Sept. 9. On Thursday at 8 p.m., the Hebron Harvest Fair presents the Northeast area finals of the True Value/QMC Truck Country Show-down. The fair also offers a farm tractor pull on Thursday, a horse pull on Friday, a pony pull on Saturday evening, and an oxen pull on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for senior citizens, and free to children 12 and under. There is plenty of free parking. The fair opens at 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday 9 a.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m. on Sunday. Lions Fairgrounds, Route 85, Hebron. For additional information, please contact: John Sibun, John Sibun Associates Inc., Hebron 06248. Telephone: 238-0248.

Lottery
Here are Tuesday's lottery results from around New England:
Connecticut
Daily: 7-4-7; Play 4: 2-4-7-4; Lottor: 6-24-28-33-35-38
Massachusetts
Daily: 4-4-5-5
Northern New England
Pick Three: 1-0-8; Pick Four: 1-4-9-6
Rhode Island
Daily: 8-0-2-9; Lot-O-Bucks: 4-11-13-15-26

Weather
REGIONAL Weather
Thursday, Sept. 6
AAR Weather Bureau for daytime conditions and high temperatures
Boston 72°; Hartford 72°; New York 72°; Philadelphia 72°; Pittsburgh 68°; Washington 72°; Atlanta 72°; Miami 72°; Dallas 72°; Chicago 72°; Denver 72°; Salt Lake 72°; San Francisco 72°; Los Angeles 72°; Honolulu 72°

Partly sunny
The weather tonight in the greater Manchester area: partly cloudy, low 55 to 60. Light variable wind, Wednesday, partly sunny, high 80 to 85. Outlook Friday, partly cloudy with a chance of showers. High 80 to 85.

Car accident victim stable
A Colechester man who was critically injured in a one-car accident Friday night in Hebron was listed in stable condition Monday at Hartford Hospital, according to a spokeswoman there.

The man, Robert Atkins, 27, of 72 Gill St., was flown to the hospital by Lifesaver helicopter, after the car he was in crashed into a tree on Jones Street in Hebron. State police are investigating the accident, which they suspect may have been the result of drunk driving. No charges have been filed against Atkins or the other occupant of the vehicle, Donald Layman.

Layman, 26, of 446 Old Colchester Road, Salem, admitted to police that he was drunk, Trooper Tim Nolan said Friday. But Layman, who owns the car, said he was not driving when the accident occurred — just after 8 p.m.

However, Nolan said he could not determine who was driving by the location of the victims' bodies after the crash.

Layman was thrown from the vehicle. He was taken by ambulance to Bakus Hospital in Norwich, where he was treated for minor injuries.

Atkins was trapped on the floor of the vehicle and had to be removed by firemen.

Man charged with assault
A Hebron man faces charges of assaulting a police officer after an incident early Sunday morning, in which he allegedly elbowed an officer in the head as the officer tried to place handcuffs on him.

The man, Lance E. Jeroszko, 20, of 25 Brighton Road, Hebron, had been apprehended after police caught him drinking beer in the street, near the intersection of Cooper and Summer streets, according to police reports.

After first telling police that he was 21 (the minimum age to legally drink), Jeroszko then told them his date of birth was Oct. 24, 1969, the report said.

When police tried to handcuff Jeroszko, he elbowed one officer in the head, and tried to run, the report said. It stated further that during a scuffle that followed, he scratched another officer with his fingernails.

One officer had six-inch scratches on his arm, and the other complained of injuries to his head, arm, and knee, the report said. He also lost his $25 watch, which came off his wrist during the scuffle.

Obituaries

Albertis Freeman Jackson
Albertis Freeman Jackson, 39, Hartford, father of Montreal Jackson of Manchester and Hartford (Sept. 1) at Hartford Hospital. He was a lifelong resident of Hartford, and a U.S. Marine Corps veteran of the Vietnam conflict.

He is survived by his wife, Linda (Williams) Jackson; four other sons, Keith, Trelly, Tremaine and Lavar, all of Hartford; a daughter, Dionne of Hartford; his mother, Mary Jackson-Baskerville of Hartford; maternal grandmother, Elsie Sharp of Windsor Locks; a sister, Ernestine of Hartford; a brother, Ernest, of Hartford; a sister, Dwayne, of Hartford; a sister, Marvin, of Hartford; a sister, seven aunts, six uncles, and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral service will be Friday, 10 a.m., at the Henry L. Faqua Funeral Chapel, 1087 Main St., Hartford. Burial: Soldier's Field, Wilson, Calling hours Thursday, 7 to 8 p.m. at the chapel.

Bruce Masi
Bruce Masi, 34, husband of Peggy Agny (Grubinger) Masi, of 546 Wehler St., Manchester, died Saturday (Sept. 2) in University Hospital, Bookhaven, N.Y. He was born in Hartford, son of Thomas A. and Phyllis (Barone) Masi, and lived in Windsor Locks for most of his life, moving to Manchester a year ago. He was president and owner of the Brewer Electric Co., Enfield.

Besides his wife and parents, he is survived by a daughter, Amanda Masi of Manchester; a son, Eric Masi of Manchester; a brother, Thomas Masi of Wilbraham, Mass.; and a sister, Elaine Klett of Middletown, N.J.

There will be a memorial Mass, Windsor Locks, at St. Mary's Church, Windsor Locks, at 10 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 7, at the convenience of the family. There are no calling hours. Kania Funeral Home, 105 Oak St., Windsor Locks, has charge of the arrangements.

Mary (Hayes) Rivard
Mary (Hayes) Rivard, 77, of East Orange, Fla., formerly of Manchester, died Monday (Sept. 3)

in Florida. She was the wife of Glenn C. Rivard. Born in Manchester, she lived most of her life here.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Arthur J. Rivard of Manchester; a daughter, Mary Lynn Frazier of Florida; a brother, John Hayes of Melbourne, Fla.; a sister, Helen Veitch of Bolton; and two grandchildren.

Funeral service will be Saturday, 8:30 a.m., from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 West Center St., Manchester, followed by a mass, 9 a.m., at the Church of the Assumption. Burial will be in the St. James Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday, 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Card of Thanks
The family of Keith R. Pierson wish to thank the friends, relatives and neighbors for expressing their kindness and sympathy during our recent loss.

Joan and Scott

Deaths Elsewhere
Irene Dunne
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Irene Dunne, the alluring star of Hollywood tear-jerkers, musicals and screwball comedies in the 1930s and '40s, such as "Snow White" and "I Remember Mama," died Tuesday at age 88.

Miss Dunne, who died of heart failure at her home, was among the most sought after and highest paid stars during her Hollywood heyday, appearing opposite such leading men as William Powell, Cary Grant, and Charles Boyer.

She was famous for her comic timing in such comedies as "The Awful Truth" and "My Favorite Wife." She sang in such musicals as "Roberta" and "Show Boat" and acted in the tear-jerkers "Magnificent Obsession" and "Back Street."

Miss Dunne was nominated for Oscar five times, for "Cimarron," 1930, "Theodora Goes Wild," 1936, "The Awful Truth," 1937, "Love Affair," 1939, and "I Remember Mama," 1948.

Miss Dunne married a dentist, Francis Griffin, in 1928. He died in 1965.

Newton Griffin
NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence A. Cremin, a Pulitzer Prize-winning historian who spent 23 years writing an definitive trilogy on American public education, died Tuesday of a heart attack at age 64.

Cremin was president of Teachers College at Columbia University from 1974 to 1984 and was a profes-

Public Meetings

The following meetings are scheduled for today:

MANCHESTER
Planning and Zoning Commission, Lincoln Center hearing room, 7 p.m.
Hockanum River Linear Park Commission, Lincoln Center gold room, 7:30 p.m.
Library Board, Whison Library, 7:30 p.m.

ANDOVER
Public Safety Building Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.

BOLTON
Soccer Committee, Community Hall, 7 p.m.

COVENTRY
Parks and Recreation, Patriots Park, 7:30 p.m.
Republican Town Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.
Town Hall Building Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.
School Building Committee, Capt. Nathan Hale School, 7:30 p.m.
Board of Education Transportation Committee, Coventry High School, 7:30 p.m.

HEBRON
Hebron Historical District, Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.
Amston Lake/Hebron Tax District, Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Today In History
Today is Wednesday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1990. There are 117 days left in the year.

Today's Birthdays
Composer John Cage is 78. The president of the Motion Picture Association of America, Jack Valenti, is 69. Former Federal Reserve Board chairman Paul Volcker is 63. Comedian-actor Bob Newhart is 61. U.S. Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., is 54. Actor William Devane is 51. Actress Raquel Welch is 50. "Cathy" cartoonist Cathy Guiseppe is 40.

Today's Highlight in History
On Sept. 5, 1905, the Treaty of Portsmouth ending the Russo-Japanese War was signed in New Hampshire. President Theodore Roosevelt having mediated the settlement.

On this date:
In 1698, Russia's Peter the Great imposed a tax on beards.
In 1774, the first Continental Congress assembled in Philadelphia.
In 1836, Sam Houston was elected president of the Republic of Texas.

Thoughts
Keeping the time
Once upon a time Hans Richter was conducting at a concert, a man in the front row of the audience persisted in tapping his foot. The conductor endured this for some time and then turned to the audience and looked at the offender with a steady eye.

"I am sorry to trouble you," he said icily. "But I cannot always keep time with your foot."

Most of us have the same trouble with us. So often we pray and tell God what He is to do, but how much more important to be seeking to keep in step with his plans for our lives.

The Apostle Paul writing in the New Testament indicated that he found the people in the church in Galatia were looking to God to endorse their steps rather than following his steps. Paul's counsel therefore was: "Those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the sinful nature with its passions and desires. Since we live by the Spirit, let us keep in step with the Spirit. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit brothers. Amen." (Galatians 5:24, 25, 6:18)

They also suggested a pellet gun, maces, fireworks, scales, rolling papers, roach clips, and a bong, the report said.

Rawson, held on a $5,000 bond, and Farmer, held on a $1,000 bond, are scheduled to appear Monday in Superior Court in Manchester.

Car accident victim stable
A Colechester man who was critically injured in a one-car accident Friday night in Hebron was listed in stable condition Monday at Hartford Hospital, according to a spokeswoman there.

The man, Robert Atkins, 27, of 72 Gill St., was flown to the hospital by Lifesaver helicopter, after the car he was in crashed into a tree on Jones Street in Hebron. State police are investigating the accident, which they suspect may have been the result of drunk driving. No charges have been filed against Atkins or the other occupant of the vehicle, Donald Layman.

Layman, 26, of 446 Old Colchester Road, Salem, admitted to police that he was drunk, Trooper Tim Nolan said Friday. But Layman, who owns the car, said he was not driving when the accident occurred — just after 8 p.m.

However, Nolan said he could not determine who was driving by the location of the victims' bodies after the crash.

Layman was thrown from the vehicle. He was taken by ambulance to Bakus Hospital in Norwich, where he was treated for minor injuries.

Public Meetings

The following meetings are scheduled for today:

MANCHESTER
Planning and Zoning Commission, Lincoln Center hearing room, 7 p.m.
Hockanum River Linear Park Commission, Lincoln Center gold room, 7:30 p.m.
Library Board, Whison Library, 7:30 p.m.

ANDOVER
Public Safety Building Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.

BOLTON
Soccer Committee, Community Hall, 7 p.m.

COVENTRY
Parks and Recreation, Patriots Park, 7:30 p.m.
Republican Town Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.
Town Hall Building Committee, Town Office Building, 7:30 p.m.
School Building Committee, Capt. Nathan Hale School, 7:30 p.m.
Board of Education Transportation Committee, Coventry High School, 7:30 p.m.

HEBRON
Hebron Historical District, Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.
Amston Lake/Hebron Tax District, Town Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Today In History
Today is Wednesday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1990. There are 117 days left in the year.

Today's Birthdays
Composer John Cage is 78. The president of the Motion Picture Association of America, Jack Valenti, is 69. Former Federal Reserve Board chairman Paul Volcker is 63. Comedian-actor Bob Newhart is 61. U.S. Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., is 54. Actor William Devane is 51. Actress Raquel Welch is 50. "Cathy" cartoonist Cathy Guiseppe is 40.

Today's Highlight in History
On Sept. 5, 1905, the Treaty of Portsmouth ending the Russo-Japanese War was signed in New Hampshire. President Theodore Roosevelt having mediated the settlement.

On this date:
In 1698, Russia's Peter the Great imposed a tax on beards.
In 1774, the first Continental Congress assembled in Philadelphia.
In 1836, Sam Houston was elected president of the Republic of Texas.

Thoughts
Keeping the time
Once upon a time Hans Richter was conducting at a concert, a man in the front row of the audience persisted in tapping his foot. The conductor endured this for some time and then turned to the audience and looked at the offender with a steady eye.

"I am sorry to trouble you," he said icily. "But I cannot always keep time with your foot."

Most of us have the same trouble with us. So often we pray and tell God what He is to do, but how much more important to be seeking to keep in step with his plans for our lives.

The Apostle Paul writing in the New Testament indicated that he found the people in the church in Galatia were looking to God to endorse their steps rather than following his steps. Paul's counsel therefore was: "Those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the sinful nature with its passions and desires. Since we live by the Spirit, let us keep in step with the Spirit. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit brothers. Amen." (Galatians 5:24, 25, 6:18)

They also suggested a pellet gun, maces, fireworks, scales, rolling papers, roach clips, and a bong, the report said.

Rawson, held on a $5,000 bond, and Farmer, held on a

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Passport endorsement
5 Saver
10 Germ
12 Express to 13 Street
14 Actress
15 Wife
16 Buffalo
18 Black bread
19 Snapping
20 Contact
21 Healer
22 Healer
23 Healer
24 Healer
25 Healer
26 Healer
27 Healer
28 Healer
29 Healer
30 Healer
31 Healer
32 Healer
33 Healer
34 Healer
35 Healer

DOWN

1 Type of
2 Healer
3 Healer
4 Healer
5 Healer
6 Healer
7 Healer
8 Healer
9 Healer
10 Healer
11 Healer
12 Healer
13 Healer
14 Healer
15 Healer
16 Healer
17 Healer
18 Healer
19 Healer
20 Healer
21 Healer
22 Healer
23 Healer
24 Healer
25 Healer
26 Healer
27 Healer
28 Healer
29 Healer
30 Healer
31 Healer
32 Healer
33 Healer
34 Healer
35 Healer

CELEBRITY CIPHER

Celebrity Cipher: Scramble the letters in the circles to form the names of celebrities. Each letter stands for a different celebrity. Today's clue: "Who?"

L X L S T Z N R I
I Q I Y G W S L R C L P
U Y I Z L W I Z D L W S L Z
A I J E I T F L R C W N G M
X Y N P T
V T Y A N T W N Y G O T Y T W
S T Y A T Y Z . . . X Y T R F

J L R T W Y T

PREVIOUS SOLUTION: "To profit from good advice requires more wisdom than to give it." — Clurton Collins.

THE NEW BREED

"No, not new wallpaper—just more Post-it Notes than I know what to do with."

"These motifs are the rarest. They fly from Harry's wallet when he spends money."

Answer here: EVASU, HUBOG, GLENET, THROCC.

FOOD

simply SUPER snacks

treasure-filled brownie drops

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup fruit bits
1 cup grape jelly or strawberry jam

Heat oven to 350°. In large mixer bowl beat butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla until creamy. Combine flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; gradually add to butter mixture, beating until well blended. Refrigerate dough until firm enough to handle. Shape dough into 1/2 inch balls; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Gently press thumb down to form an indentation in center of each ball. Mix fruit bits with jelly; place 1 teaspoon of mixture into indentation of each ball. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until set. Cool slightly; remove from cookie sheet to wire rack. Cool completely. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

naturally sweet snack bars

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup white grape juice
2 cups rolled oats, toasted*
1/2 cup fruit bits
1/2 cup chopped toasted pecans*
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup mashed banana (1 small, ripe banana)
1/2 cup strawberry jam (optional)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease 9-inch square baking pan. In small saucepan over low heat melt butter in grape juice. In large bowl stir together oats, fruit bits, pecans and cinnamon. Pour juice mixture over oat mixture. Add egg and banana; stir until well blended. Press mixture into prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until edges are golden brown. Immediately spread jam over top, if desired. Cool slightly; cut into squares. Makes 16 bars.

chocolate oatmeal cookies

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Heat oven to 350°. In large mixer bowl beat butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Combine flour, cocoa, baking soda and salt; add to butter mixture, mixing well. With spoon, stir in oats and nuts. (Batter will be stiff.) Drop by rounded tablespoons onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 11 to 12 minutes, or until set; cookies will be slightly moist in center. Do not overbake. Cool 1 minute; remove from cookie sheet to wire rack. Cool completely. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

jam-striped cocoa bars

1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Peanut Butter Frosting (recipe follows)
1/2 cup grape jelly

Heat oven to 350°. Grease 13x9x2-inch baking pan. In medium saucepan over low heat melt butter; add cocoa, stirring until smooth. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Add sugar, vanilla, and eggs; beat with spoon until well blended. Add flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Spread batter into prepared pan. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until top is dry and wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Spread Peanut Butter Frosting over top. With end of spoon handle score diagonal ridges in frosting about 1/2 inches apart. Heat jelly until melted; spoon into ridges. Allow to set until jelly is set. Cut into bars. Makes about 3 dozen bars.

fruited honey nut log

1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
1 1/2 cups (6 oz. package) fruit bits

In large bowl blend honey and peanut butter. Gradually add dry milk, mixing well. Mix in fruit bits. Shape into one large log or 18 small logs. Wrap tightly; store in refrigerator. To serve large log, cut into slices. Makes 18 servings.

peanut butter frosting

1/2 cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons milk
1 cup peanut butter chips
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup powdered sugar

In small saucepan combine butter, milk, and peanut butter chips. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth. Stir in vanilla. In small mixer bowl combine hot mixture with powdered sugar; beat until thickened. Use immediately.

FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
 CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA
 10000

GARDEN HARVEST CHICKEN PIE

Hot meat pies make good meals

Food is fashion, and as hemlines rise and fall, so such tried-and-true family favorites as hot pies are back on the culinary scene. Today's mini skin is not identical to those that trends 20 years ago. Nor are today's pies exactly what grandmother served — except for their flaky Crisco crusts.

Chefs who are practitioners of new American Cuisine are elevating hot pies with nostalgia as part of the return of comfort foods, yet the pies of today are lighter than those of the past. Main meal pies, stressing nutritious vegetables and carbohydrates, are consistent with two important contemporary food trends — increasing consumption of vegetables and complex carbohydrates and speeding up cooking time.

Although we write that something is "as American as apple pie," the French might claim their tart tatin as older. And while Mary King's "sarech" leftovers, and feed a crowd most economically. The Garden Harvest Chicken Pie calls for only two cups of cubed chicken — a great way to use up what was left on last night's roasting chicken, or even cut from leftover fried chicken. The same is true for the amount of ham listed in the Potato Patch Pie, and the expense of Tuna Pot Pie is low, considering it serves eight.

While these recipes, developed in the Crisco Kitchens, produced delicious, home-tested results, the recipes should be used as guidelines rather than strict rules.

Each serving: About 440 calories, 21 g. fat, 27mg cholesterol, 340 mg sodium.

Menus

Senior Citizens

The following lunches will be served at Mayfair Gardens and Westhill Gardens complexes.

Monday: Cranberry juice, roast turkey with gravy, sweet potatoes, turnips, cranberry sauce, dinner roll, chocolate marshmallow pudding.

Tuesday: Apple juice, Swedish meatballs, noodles, green beans, tossed salad with dressing, Italian bread, fresh fruit.

Wednesday: Cream of broccoli soup, breaded pork steak with broth, garden blend rice, peas, wheat bread, cinnamon applesauce.

Thursday: Orange-pineapple juice, oven-fried chicken, mashed potatoes, carrots, eye bread, hard-boiled eggs.

Friday: V-8 juice, fish, baked potatoes, mixed vegetables, wheat bread, tartar sauce, Mandarin oranges with pineapple.

Manchester elementary schools

Monday: Beefburger or cheeseburger on roll, corn niblets, choice of fruit, milk.

Tuesday: French toast or waffles, sausage patty, juice, choice of fruit, milk.

Wednesday: Chicken nuggets, buttered noodles, glazed carrots, fruit, milk.

Thursday: Hot dog on roll or toasted cheese sandwich, potato rounds, fruit, dessert, milk.

Friday: Pizza, tossed salad, fruit, milk.

Manchester junior high schools

Monday: Tomato soup, toasted cheese sandwich, potato chips or quick pick bar, choice of fruit, milk.

Tuesday: Baconburger on roll, corn niblets or salad bar, fruit, milk.

Wednesday: Chicken nuggets, buttered noodles, glazed carrots or salad bar, fruit, milk.

Thursday: Footlong hot dog on roll, potato rounds, sauerkraut or salad bar, fruit, milk.

Friday: French bread pizza, tossed salad or deli bar, fruit, milk.

Meals on Wheels

The hot noon meal is listed first and the cool evening meal, second.

Monday: Boneless pork loin with gravy, baked potato, squash; Chicken sandwich, fruit, milk.

Tuesday: Roast turkey with stuffing and gravy, whipped potato, peas; Egg salad sandwich, fruit, milk.

Wednesday: Shells with meat-sauce, wax beans, peas; Turkey sandwich, fruit, milk.

Thursday: Baked meatloaf, whipped potato, carrots; Chicken salad sandwich, fruit, milk.

Friday: Baked haddock, whipped potato, spinach; Tuna salad sandwich, fruit, milk.

Manchester High & ROTC

Monday: Tomato soup, toasted cheese sandwich, potato chips, choice of fruit, milk.

Tuesday: Baconburger on roll, corn niblets, choice of fruit, milk.

Wednesday: Chicken nuggets, buttered noodles, glazed carrots, choice of fruit, milk.

Thursday: Footlong hot dog on roll, potato rounds, sauerkraut, choice of fruit, milk.

Friday: French bread pizza, tossed salad, choice of fruit, milk.

In Brief . . .

Eat healthy booklet

NEW YORK (AP) — "Eat Healthy America" is a collection of recipes from Mazola corn oil. The 36-page booklet features the winning recipes from Mazola's Heart-Healthy Recipe Contest for registered dietitians.

Among the recipes: Fish 'n Veggie Bundles, Texas Meatloaf, Roasted Garlic Potatoes, French Coffee Cake and Brownie Bites. Also included is an eating plan based on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Daily Food Choices.

For a copy, send your name, address and zip code to: Mazola F.A.C.T.S., Department EHA-MC, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

Rice bran booklet

NEW YORK (AP) — "Discover Rice Bran," written by the U.S.A. Rice Council, highlights the nutritional value of rice bran and describes how it can be part of a low-cholesterol meal plan.

Featured recipes include Peach and Blueberry Crisp and Stuffed Chicken Breasts. Nutrition information is included for each recipe.

For a copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: The U.S.A. Rice Council, Department R.B., Box 740121, Houston, TX 77274.

Manwich recipes

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest edition of "Dinnerme Dramas" from the makers of Manwich Sloppy Joe Sauce features recipes for Cincinnati Chili, Psycheck Pot Roast and Roast Pot Pie.

Inspired by teen-age mystery novels of 1950s, "The Mystery of the Missing Sloppy Joe" chronicles the adventures of young investigator Joe, whose nationwide search leads him to a surprising discovery about his favorite sandwich.

The 16-page booklet contains 26 recipes. For a copy, send your name, address and zip code to: Manwich Dinnerme Dramas, Box 8581, Clinton, IA 52736.

Thee diet shoppe

NEW YORK (AP) — "Thee Diet Shoppe" catalog features low-calorie, gourmet products including chocolate mousse, cheesecake mix and instant puddings. For a copy, send your name, address and zip code to: Thee Diet Shoppe, Box 1343, Northbrook, IL 60062-1343.

Welcome Home

SPACIOUS CAPE WITH ATTACHED IN-LAW SUITE OR PROFESSIONAL OFFICE BOLTON

CALL FOR PRIVATE SHOWING

DRASTICALLY REDUCED FOR QUICK SALE . . .

$399,900

Lovely, well-kept 4 bedroom home in a private setting with gorgeous views of hills and valleys, yet convenient to I-384. Attached 3 car garage and separate entrance 1,000 sq. ft. in-law apartment or office space.

- New Center Island Kitchen
- Hardwood Floors
- Paddle Fans
- 3 Fireplaces
- 1.57 Acre Lot
- 1st Floor Family Room

This home has everything you've always wanted and More!

OFFICE HOURS: DAILY 9 AM TO 8 PM; SATURDAY 9 AM TO 5 PM

D.W. FISH Better Homes & Gardens REALTY COMPANY
220 HARTFORD TPKE. • VERNON 871-1400 243 MAIN STREET • MANCHESTER 643-1591

Jackson & Jackson Real Estate

647-8400

168 Main Street, Manchester

A REAL CHARMER!!!

This 7 room Colonial on Olcott Dr. in Manchester, offers both convenience and character! 3 bedrooms, full baths, 1st floor laundry, large master bedroom with F.P., living room F.P., 2nd Amp. side and enclosed side porch. Beautiful horse shoe st. near everything! Asking $164,900.

BRAND NEW LISTING!!!

Long-time owners have lovingly cared for this spacious 8 room Raised Ranch on Ashbrook Dr. in Coventry. 1.3 bath, den, rm. and laundry on lower level, wall to wall carpeting throughout. Wonderful back lot surrounds very private above ground pool. Offered at $166,900.

BRAND NEW LISTING!!!

Charming 4 room Colonial on Francis St. in E. Hartford presents a "tip back in time" to all who enjoy! Offers 3 bedrooms, hardwood floors, 1 1/2 bath, fireplace and a 2 car det. garage. Lots of woods and is as clean as a whistle. You won't want to miss out on this one! Asking $119,900.

OFFICE HOURS: DAILY 9 AM TO 8 PM; SATURDAY 9 AM TO 5 PM

D.W. FISH Better Homes & Gardens REALTY COMPANY
220 HARTFORD TPKE. • VERNON 871-1400 243 MAIN STREET • MANCHESTER 643-1591

TASTEFULLY DECORATED

COVENTRY $154,900

Spacious and well maintained home on a beautiful, naturally enclosed country lot. Completely remodeled lower level, new tile floors and above ground pool with custom deck.

SHARP RANCH WITH APT.

SOUTH WINDSOR $182,500

SUPER "low" Apt. in lower level without full windows in only one of the highlights in this home is first floor bedroom. Also features remodeled kitchen with center island. A rare find!

BEAUTIFUL CONTEMPORARY COLONIAL

MANCHESTER $249,900

Many nice features in this UAR built home including spacious 3 year old 1st floor family room with island and a new state patio in the well landscaped, fenced yard.

PASSIVE SOLAR CONTEMPORARY

BOLTON $325,000

Gorgeous energy efficient home on 5 acres! Highlights include custom kitchen with island and oak cabinets, sunroom with spiral staircase, great room w/2nd fireplace and MORE!!!

Quick toppings improve potatoes

When the need for a quick meal arises, these trendy accompaniments for the common potato are a welcome scenario.

You can feel good about these cool-weather potato meals or snacks because the wholesome tuber in combination with the dairy products used to top them are a nutritional gold mine.

Basic Microwave Potato

1 medium-size baking potato

Scrub potato. Pierce in several places with tip of a fork. Place on paper towel. Place in microwave oven. Microwave on High (100%) 2 minutes. Turn potato over; microwave 2 to 3 minutes more, or until tender when pierced with a fork. Let stand covered with a dish 5 minutes. Serve, topped with one of the following toppings.

Serving size, 1 potato; calories, 189; protein 4 g.; fat, 0 g.; carbhydrate, 44 g.; calcium, 10 mg.; riboflavin (B2), .04 mg.

Bacon Buttermilk Topping

Yield: 2 cups

1/2 cup raw broccoli flowerettes

1/2 cup dairy sour cream

1/2 cup buttermilk

2 tablespoons chopped red pepper

2 slices bacon, cooked, drained, crumbled

1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients. Spoon onto hot baked potato. (Store, covered, in refrigerator up to 5 days.)

Serving size: 1/4 cup topping (potato not included); calories, 48; protein, 2 g.; fat 4 g.; carbohydrate, 2 g.; calcium 34 mg.; riboflavin (B2), .03 mg.

Tomato Blue Cheese Topping

Yield: 2 1/2 cups

1 cup cottage cheese

g.; calcium, 69 mg.; riboflavin (B2), .10 mg.

Mexican Cheese Topping

Yield: 2 cups

2 1/2 cup barbanzo beans, rinsed and drained

1/2 cup dairy sour cream

1/2 cup prepared mild OR hot salsa

1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese

1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Combine all ingredients. Spoon onto hot baked potato. (Store, covered, in refrigerator up to 5 days.)

*NOTE: If using dry packed sun dried tomatoes, soak them in boiling water 5 minutes; drain, then chop.

Serving size, 1/4 cup topping (potato not included); calories, 89; protein 4 g.; fat 6 g.; carbohydrate 6 g.; calcium 81 mg.; riboflavin (B2), .07 mg.

1/2 cup lowfat plain yogurt

1/2 cup chili sauce

1/2 cup (2 ounces) crumbled Blue Cheese

1/2 cup chopped sun dried tomatoes*

3 tablespoons minced green pepper

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Beat cottage cheese in a small mixer bowl on high speed of mixer until almost smooth, about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients until well combined. Spoon onto hot baked potato. (Store, covered, in refrigerator up to 5 days.)

The Best HOME BUYS AROUND

Anne Miller REAL ESTATE

985 Main Street
Manchester, CT 06040
(203) 647-8000

3 FAMILY INVESTMENT HERE!

$149,900

2 Family 4-4 rooms, each unit plus a 1 bedroom home on same lot. Outside newly painted, made in need of a small location to paint, wallpaper, and update. But at this price you can afford to do it. Walk downtown with this baby and call now to see.

COMMERCIAL INVESTMENT PROPERTY

Buy this business zone 2 family — live on 1 floor and rent other. Use 2 car garage for retail or service business. Great location, 200' frontage on 2 main roads, and Buckland Hill nearby. Owner will help with financing!

THE LASSY HAS A CLASSY CHASSY!

$225,000

Tastefully decorated and spacious 7-8 rooms. Living space has different levels making this a unique home. This prestigious home has 3 fireplaces, sliding glass doors to beautifully landscaped private tree lot. We'll love it Call now!!!

MALLARD VIEW

OPEN 1-4 PM
WEEKDAYS & SUNDAYS
Ranches
Townhouses
NO ASSOCIATION FEES

MANCHESTER'S BEST NEW HOME VALUE

Change your lifestyle to 1-floor living in these 3 BR 2 bath single family attached homes. Full basement, courtyard, covered rear porch, 1st floor laundry, appliances, skylights, art garage. Set on a cul-de-sac near the new mall $150's. Also 3 br 1 1/2 bath townhouses with garages $143,900. DIR., Tollard Park or No. Main to Union to Rossetto Dr.

JUST LISTED!

Spacious Colonial Cape located in the 8th District. 3 bedrooms, first floor family room, 3 year old Timberline roof plus newer oversized 2 car garage. $142's.

GREAT PRICE! ONLY $125,900

Magnificent 6 room, 3 bedroom Colonial with 1 1/2 baths and a beautiful remodeled kitchen. Handmade Stone and Marble "We Selling Houses"

1st In Service

Blanchard/Rossetto

REAL ESTATE 646-2482 FREE MARKET ANALYSIS

Just Starting Out? START HERE!

STRANO REAL ESTATE COMPANY

360 NORTH MAIN STREET
MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT 06040

361-6471 (OFF.)
361-6421 (RES.)

POSSIBLE OWNER FINANCING

OWNERS VERY ANXIOUS TO SELL

PHILIPS REAL ESTATE

742-1450 647-8120

Vernon Village Rte. 31
3466 N Main St., Coventry

1 YR BUYER PROTECTION AVAILABLE

UNIQUE HISTORIC 1865 HOME

High scenic location, perennial garden, marvelous in setting in kitchen, 1 yr Buyer Protection Appliances, large front porch. VERNON, $106,875.

NEARLY 6 ACRES — 16x32 in-ground Subira pool, quiet country road, spacious design, screen porch, skylight, appliances, ceiling fans, 6-panel doors. COVENTRY, $179,000.

LAND LAND LAND LAND LAND

Burke Lane 1-1/2 wooded lots. Coventry $54,875 & Up. Unbelievable low price. Highlights 1-2 Acres. Coventry $50,000 & Up. Owner financing on selected lots with as little as 10% down. Special program for builders — Build Now — Pay later! Ask for the CONTEMPORARY RANCH — New home 90% finished. Bay window, skylight in LR, 2 walk in closets. In MBF, exceptionally large basement and apt., 2 car garage. COVENTRY, $179,850

U&R REALTY CO.

643-2692

Robert D. Murdock, Realtor

MANCHESTER

Price reduced on this lovely 2 yr. old U&R Ranch. Cathedral ceiling family room, large living room, formal dining room, oversized kitchen, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. Beautiful landscaped yard.

$269,000

SOUTH WINDSOR

Incomparable 7 room 4 yr. old Contemporary, 1st floor family room with floor to ceiling stone fireplace, oversized dining room, 3 bedrooms, central air. Owners anxious!

$269,900

STRANO REAL ESTATE COMPANY

360 NORTH MAIN STREET
MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT 06040

361-6471 (OFF.)
361-6421 (RES.)

POSSIBLE OWNER FINANCING

OWNERS VERY ANXIOUS TO SELL

Lovely 6 room Colonial with 3 bedrooms (1 unfinished), 2 full baths & 1 1/2 sun of property. Many renovations, inc. kitchen, carpeting, Andersen windows, siding, roof, front porch & newer appliances. Asking, $145,900.

COVENTRY

Aluminum sided, fully appointed, 9 room Colonial with 4 bedrooms, 1 full & 2 half baths, 1st floor family room. In-ground pool, beautifully landscaped lot with fenced back yard. 2 car garage. Priced to sell quickly! $195,000.

VERNON

RE/MAX

RE/MAX east of the river
197 East Center St., Manchester, Ct 06040 (800) 544-4932

(203) 647-1419
Barbara Weinberg
Res. 643-0844

Beautiful Colonial with all hardwood floors. All new paint and kitchen, new and full bath. Move in condition. $140,000. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Highland Park Estates

Colonial style Cape. Hardwood floors, granite counter, fireplace, full bath. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Home to Treasure

Spacious new from the large living room of new owner. Hardwood floors, large living dining room with 2 zone fireplace. 2 1/2 baths. Full bar quality kitchen. 6 year old roof. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Tree and Lot of Green Space

Make the most of your acreage in Highland Street. A chance to see a great place to live. Large living room & dining area provide room for single family gathering. Asking in the $20's. Call Barbara Weinberg.

Historic stone-front Cape offers generous living spaces. fireplace, porch, deck, a personality-plus home. Now $289,900! Call Linda Brown.

SOLD

RE/MAX

RE/MAX east of the river
197 East Center St., Manchester, Ct 06040 (800) 544-4932

(203) 647-1419
Barbara Weinberg
Res. 643-0844

Beautiful Colonial with all hardwood floors. All new paint and kitchen, new and full bath. Move in condition. $140,000. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Highland Park Estates

Colonial style Cape. Hardwood floors, granite counter, fireplace, full bath. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Home to Treasure

Spacious new from the large living room of new owner. Hardwood floors, large living dining room with 2 zone fireplace. 2 1/2 baths. Full bar quality kitchen. 6 year old roof. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Tree and Lot of Green Space

Make the most of your acreage in Highland Street. A chance to see a great place to live. Large living room & dining area provide room for single family gathering. Asking in the $20's. Call Barbara Weinberg.

Historic stone-front Cape offers generous living spaces. fireplace, porch, deck, a personality-plus home. Now $289,900! Call Linda Brown.

RE/MAX

RE/MAX east of the river
197 East Center St., Manchester, Ct 06040 (800) 544-4932

(203) 647-1419
Barbara Weinberg
Res. 643-0844

Beautiful Colonial with all hardwood floors. All new paint and kitchen, new and full bath. Move in condition. $140,000. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Highland Park Estates

Colonial style Cape. Hardwood floors, granite counter, fireplace, full bath. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Home to Treasure

Spacious new from the large living room of new owner. Hardwood floors, large living dining room with 2 zone fireplace. 2 1/2 baths. Full bar quality kitchen. 6 year old roof. Call Anne C. Dunham on page 502 640-6446-61.

Tree and Lot of Green Space

Make the most of your acreage in Highland Street. A chance to see a great place to live. Large living room & dining area provide room for single family gathering. Asking in the $20's. Call Barbara Weinberg.

Historic stone-front Cape offers generous living spaces. fireplace, porch, deck, a personality-plus home. Now $289,900! Call Linda Brown.

SHEETS

FILMED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

10000

FOCUS

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

Keep quiet about child in harness

DEAR ABBY: Will you please do me a big favor and print the following message in your column: If you see someone in a shopping mall—or on the street—and this person has a child on the end of a leash, please keep your mouth shut!

I am the mother of two very active boys. They are 13 months apart; the oldest is 4-1/2. I have nobody to leave them with, so when I go shopping, I take them with me, and yes, I put them in harnesses for their own safety and my peace of mind.

Every time I take the kids out in public with their harnesses on, I get dirty looks and nasty comments from strangers who say, "Those ain't dogs, lady—they're children!" Maybe if you put this in your column, people will realize that I keep my kids on a leash because I love them—not because I'm mean.

A LOVING MOM IN DURHAM, N.C.
DEAR MOM: Here's your letter. Don't worry about dirty looks or nasty comments. I wonder how many people reading this with they had had their kiddies on a leash when they broke away from them and ran into the street in the middle of traffic.

DEAR ABBY: We just received an invitation to the wedding of a friend's daughter. It was addressed to "Tom and Mary Jones." Included was a response card to fill in: "Number of People Attending?"

Would it be proper to write in "3" to include our grown daughter who lives at home part time due to a job situation? I think she will be very disappointed if we don't include her.

MRS. JONES
DEAR MRS. JONES: It would be improper to include your daughter—or to write "3" on your response card, since only you and your husband were invited. And I wish response cards would not ask the number of people attending. It is often mistaken for an invitation to include children or others who were not expressly invited.

Bottom line: Only those whose names are on the envelope are invited, so do not put anyone on the spot by phoning to ask, "Are the children included?"

People are eating them up! For Abby's favorite recipe, send a self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054. (Postage is included.)

TV Tonight

- 6:00PM (3) (8) News (C)
- (8) Who's the Boss? (C)
- (11) Happy Days Part 3 of 3
- 20 Mama's Family
- 22 30 Rock (C)
- 23 48 Hours (C)
- 24 48 Hours (C)
- 25 48 Hours (C)
- 26 48 Hours (C)
- 27 48 Hours (C)
- 28 48 Hours (C)
- 29 48 Hours (C)
- 30 48 Hours (C)
- 31 48 Hours (C)
- 32 48 Hours (C)
- 33 48 Hours (C)
- 34 48 Hours (C)
- 35 48 Hours (C)
- 36 48 Hours (C)
- 37 48 Hours (C)
- 38 48 Hours (C)
- 39 48 Hours (C)
- 40 48 Hours (C)
- 41 48 Hours (C)
- 42 48 Hours (C)
- 43 48 Hours (C)
- 44 48 Hours (C)
- 45 48 Hours (C)
- 46 48 Hours (C)
- 47 48 Hours (C)
- 48 48 Hours (C)
- 49 48 Hours (C)
- 50 48 Hours (C)
- 51 48 Hours (C)
- 52 48 Hours (C)
- 53 48 Hours (C)
- 54 48 Hours (C)
- 55 48 Hours (C)
- 56 48 Hours (C)
- 57 48 Hours (C)
- 58 48 Hours (C)
- 59 48 Hours (C)
- 60 48 Hours (C)

PEOPLE

■ A congressman and a team of researchers plan to visit Christie Brinkley to see if the cover girl has figured out a way to fight Lyme disease.

Brinkley believes the guinea hens she is raising are eating the deer ticks on the Long Island estate she shares with her husband, singer Billy Joel. The ticks carry Lyme disease, which causes a variety of symptoms and can be fatal.

Rep. George Hochbrucker quickly seized the (photo) opportunity when Brinkley told the Democrat the tick population dropped after she let the hens wander.

He said researchers will study whether the birds can tell the difference between dog ticks and deer ticks. They will also try to determine if the deer tick population is lower on the celebrity property than at neighbors' homes.

The hens are used in Africa to keep ticks out of barnyards, Hochbrucker said.

■ Lou Diamond Phillips of "La Bamba" and "Young Guns II" was hospitalized over the weekend because of bleeding from a tonsillectomy, his spokesman says.

The 28-year-old actor was taken by paramedics to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center on Thursday after losing blood while eating at a restaurant, Eddie Michaels said Tuesday.

"He had a tonsillectomy about two weeks ago, and this was what they call residual bleeding," said Michaels. "He actually lost a lot of blood. But he got a transfusion and is doing fine right now."

Phillips was released from the hospital Monday.

■ Seems someone at the Miss America Pageant still can't come to grips with Vanessa Williams.

Miss Williams, who was stripped of her 1984 crown after made photographs of her were published in Penthouse magazine, is named on the back page of this year's program, along with all winners since the first contest in 1921.

Her reign from Sept. 17, 1983, to July 23, 1984, is listed, as is runner-up Suzette Charles—from July 23 to Sept. 15, 1984.

But in a separate section detailing the accomplishments of the past 10 winners, the achievements and name of Miss Williams are absent.

The singer has met success with such hits as "Dreamin'" and "The Right Stuff."

■ Gov. Buddy Roemer and his wife, Pat, have divorced.

"Sometimes bad things happen to good people," the couple said in a statement.

Mrs. Roemer, 36, was 10-year-old, but the governor, 46, was 1 when the divorce was granted Tuesday.

The Roemers, who have a 10-year-old son, married in 1973 and had been separated for a year.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Diagnosing causes of dizziness

DEAR DR. GOTT: I understand extreme dizziness can be caused by the blood pressure rising too high or falling too low. When this occurs, is it dangerous or even fatal if nitroglycerin pills are taken?

DEAR READER: Dizziness has many meanings to a doctor: lightheadedness, unsteadiness, faintness, whirling, spinning and a vague feeling of uneasiness, to mention a few.

A rapid rise in blood pressure usually causes no symptoms, unless the pressure rises to very high levels (above 200 systolic, for example), in which case, patients may experience headache or a "tight" sensation in the head.

When the blood pressure suddenly falls, patients often complain of being lightheaded and faint. Hypertensives who are taking medication may suffer from this when they stand quickly or sit up because the medicine blocks the reflex blood pressure rise that forces blood to the brain against gravity. This is called orthostatic hypotension and is also common in the elderly.

Also, people with heart disease sometimes feel weak and faint when they abruptly change position because the pulse may not increase to compensate for the movement, and the brain is temporarily deprived of oxygen.

Nitroglycerin, a drug for treating angina, can reduce blood pressure and slow the heartbeat, leading to lightheadedness. To my knowledge, nitroglycerin pills are not dangerous when taken by patients who are already experiencing symptoms of angina—unless the medicine is being inappropriately used to counteract chest pain.

However, because the causes of dizziness are so varied, the prudent patient should work with a physician to discover the reason for the symptom.

People who suffer repeated episodes of lightheadedness, faintness or unsteadiness should check with their doctors—especially if they are taking drugs for hypertension or heart ailments. Patients with attacks of vertigo (whirling or spinning) should be examined by an ear, nose and throat specialist because of the possibility of an inner-ear disturbance.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Healy Report "Medical Specialties." Older readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

FIRST PRELIMINARY WINNERS

Miss Texas Suzanne Lawrence, left, and Miss Colorado Karrie Lynn Mitchell pose with their trophies from the first night of preliminary competition at the Miss America Pageant Tuesday night, Miss Texas claimed the talent competition, and Miss Colorado the swimsuit competition.

"Although our marriage of 16 years has ended, we remain friends, viewing each other with respect, love and honor," they said.

■ Jerry Lewis will return to Hollywood next Labor Day with his Muscular Dystrophy Association telethon after raising a record amount in pledges this year.

Association officials said the 21-1/2-hour show, which ended Monday, raised $4.1 million to fight 40 neuromuscular diseases that kill and cripple thousands each year, most of them young people. Last year's tally was $4.2 million.

■ Italian maestro Claudio Abbado has signed a seven-year contract with the Berlin Philharmonic, succeeding the late Herbert von Karajan.

Abbado, 57, was picked last October by orchestra members to succeed von Karajan, who died in July 1989.

Orchestra spokesman Helge Gruenewald declined to say how much Abbado will be paid under the contract signed Tuesday, but the newspaper Der Tagesspiegel said the maestro will receive salary and benefits totaling $500,000 per year.

■ 50 Years Ago Today

15 Old Couple

16 Synchrotron Research

22 30 Rock News

24 48 Hours (C) News

26 48 Hours (C) News

JAKE & THE FATMAN

William Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

Will Conrad stars in 'Jake & the Fatman'.

STAR TRAILS—The silhouette of the giant Anglo-Australian Observatory at Siding Springs, Australia, is seen against a background of star trails. The 12 meter eye of the giant wide-angle telescope plays a central role in the search for the tenth planet believed by astronomers to lie at the boundaries of the solar system. The six small circles at left are the pointers of the Southern Cross. The picture was made by time exposure on a tripod.

WWII American Japanese face conflict of homelands

EDITORS NOTE:—They were Americans who served in the Japanese army in China, recalls being confused and haunted by his mother's admonition not to shame the family name.

By MICHAEL HIRSH
The Associated Press

TOKYO—Forty-five years ago, Shigeo Yamada was an officer of the Japanese Imperial Navy slinging to the wreckage of his cruiser in the murky waters off Okinawa.

Like his comrades, Yamada was bitter over his fate at the hands of U.S. dive bombers. But there was a difference.

Born into an Idaho farming family, Yamada was one of hundreds of Japanese-Americans who, because of ties to their ancestral homeland, found themselves in Japan when the war broke out and were drafted into the Japanese armed forces.

After Japan's surrender in August 1945, the U.S. government stripped the Japanese-Americans—most of them the second generation of Nisei of their American citizenship, but some were restored later.

Yamada, a longtime Tokyo resident, says he could legally recover his citizenship by serving in the military.

"But I don't consciously feel it's my right. I did take arms against the country of my birth," says the 69-year-old sales executive.

"It was a dilemma in my mind, but what else could you do? There was nothing I could do other than fight for the country and get thrown into jail."

The issue of divided loyalties in the war was first raised after Japan's raid on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. Along the West Coast of the United States, 120,000 Japanese-Americans were herded off to internment camps in what the American Civil Liberties Union called the worst wholesale violation of civil rights in the nation's history.

U.S. officials at the time claimed the loyalty of the internees was suspect. But the Japanese-Americans stoutly maintained their patriotism, and many fought bravely for the U.S. side.

In 1989, Congress approved more than $1 billion in reparations to the families of the internees.

Several Japanese-Americans interviewed in Japan recently said they had few complaints about fighting for Japan, whether because of blood ties or simply an unwillingness to make trouble.

But clearly, for many, dual heritage posed the dilemma of dual identities. Had circumstances been different, they likely would have fought for the United States, some said.

James Yoshida, a Seattle native

Three American films profile Black singer Josephine Baker

By DEBORAH HASTINGS
The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Singer Josephine Baker was black, danced naked and reviled in her sexuality. From the 1920s until she died 15 years ago, most Americans shunned her.

Yet Europeans loved the performer and her skin color, and found little risk in her blatant exposure of it. When Baker was permitted toward the end of her life, Princess Grace of Monaco cared for her.

Suddenly, eight decades after her birth, she now is the focus of three American films. But it hardly denotes a surge in social consciousness. The story of these movies is mostly about money, big-name stars and razzing to capitalize on a very marketable story—and how that process escalates once someone makes the first move.

Home Box Office has the only completed version: "The Josephine Baker Story" will debut on the pay cable channel in February 1991. The HBO version, starting relative unknown Lynn Whitfield, cost $8 million and is the most expensive movie ever made by the 18-year-old network.

In March, rival media mogul Ted Turner promised to finance "a major announcement" during a press conference held the day after the Academy Awards.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

For now, Turner is content to have all project credibility on Ross's shoulders. "Until we have a wonderful script, we really just have to bank on Diana and I think she's pretty bankable," said Linda Berman, TNT's head of development.

Howard Rosenberg, one of the producers on the big-screen Sandollar, Turner giddily presented singer-actress Diana Ross and proclaimed the former Supreme leader would be the executive producer and star of a three-hour cable movie about Baker for Turner Network

Television.

Almost six months later, the project has no script, no director, no shooting schedule and no casting outside of Ross.

Dolly Parton's Sandollar company is planning a $20 million feature film covering one year in Baker's life. The project will be directed by Hugh Hudson, whose 1981 "Chariots of Fire" won the Oscar for Best Picture. But this big-screen version has no finished script and no release date.

Although the latter two versions are far behind HBO's ambitious schedule, make no mistake about the intent of all three filmmakers. Not one has contended shoving the network. All claim theirs is the best.

HBO cites the mammoth scope of its film, which covered Baker's life from age 19 to 68, employed 6,000 extras and shot for nine weeks on 100 locations in Hungary. It is produced by David Putnam and directed by Brian Gibson, who also won the Emmy-winning "Murders Among Us: The Simon Wiesenthal Story" for HBO.

SHIP AHOY — Captain Rod Florence of Brisbane proves there is more to boating than meets the eye, when testing his ability on his radio-controlled cruiser in the display pool at the Brisbane Boat Show.

Program unveiled to slim Pittsburgh

By JEFFREY BAIR
The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — An effort is under way to get people in the Iron City to stop eating like steelworkers. The state has joined 100 companies and two drug store chains in sponsoring the Pittsburgh Commonwealth Health Challenge, which will offer some 52,000 workers and other members of the public a 10-week analysis of their eating habits.

Organizers hope to turn people away from an artery-clogging legacy of pies, kibitzas, gyros and other high-fat ethnic dishes that sustained generations of robust steelworkers.

"Our parents developed high-fat kinds of foods when they were young in the steel mills," said Donna Donati, the program's executive director. "They used to work very hard, burn those calories off."

"But we're eating the same foods they ate when they hung their clothes outside on the line, rather than what we do, sitting around in our high-fat ethnic dishes that sustained generations of robust steelworkers."

"It's really personal. It will hit them right on the head," Ms. Donati said.

Pennsylvania had 266.8 heart disease deaths per 100,000 people in 1986, the most recent year available, said Dr. Lewis Kuller of the University of Pittsburgh's school of public health. The national average was 246.6 deaths per 100,000.

Most southwestern Pennsylvania residents are ignorant of the dangers of cholesterol and fat, researchers said.

"Most of them don't have the foggiest idea what they're doing to themselves," Kuller said. "It's so simple, too. People can reduce cholesterol in their food through simple changes and substitutions."

Where Do I Sign?

Starting June 21, we will be running a special advertising page or pages giving you information on all types of specialty businesses.

HERE'S MY CARD.....

4 Thursdays for $65.00 NEVER BEFORE HAVE WE OFFERED SUCH A FANTASTIC RATE AS THIS!!

Call the Classified Department and ask for Lee Ann, for more details & copy deadlines. 643-2711

11 HELP WANTED

THE BEST PROGRAM FOR THE 90's

ASSISTANT STORE MANAGER

- * 40 HOUR WORK WEEK
- * EXCELLENT WAGES
- * RAPID ADVANCEMENT
- * OVER 100 STORES
- * OUTSTANDING BENEFITS

Apply in person Friday, Sept. 7th, 10AM-5PM at:

KAYBEET STORES PAVILION @ BUCKLAND HILLS INTERSTATE 81A, BUCKLAND STREET MANCHESTER CT

E.O.E. A Division of M&M Corp. MF

21 HOMES FOR SALE

COMMERCIAL INVESTMENT PROPERTY

$225,000. Buy this business zoned 2 family-home on 1 floor and rent other. Use 2 car garage for retail or service business. Great location, 200' frontage on 100' deep lot. Buckland Mall nearby. Owner will help with financing! Anne Miller Real Estate 647-8000

CONTEMPORARY L-RANCH

2,300 square feet. View of Hemlock Brook. Southern Exposure, 10 performance windows, 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths. Expansive, expandable, foundation is CONCRETE. NORTH COVENTRY 646-5225

CONWAY ROAD

Great starter. Large fireplace living room. Country kitchen. Small den. Ice or play room. 3 bedrooms. Large 12x24 deck. 2nd floor has most attractive. Asking $137,000. Call Barbara Weinberg at Re/Max East Of The River 647-1419

21 HOMES FOR SALE

21 HOMES FOR SALE

LYDALL ESTATES MANCHESTER

OPEN 1-4 P.M. SATURDAYS

Introducing Manchester's newest neighborhood where SUPERIOR BUILDERS has combined quality craftsmanship and years of experience with a wide range of unique house features. All styles and sizes are available to choose from, pick one of ours starting at $299,900 or design your own.

SPECIAL FINANCING AVAILABLE

Fixed Rate Mortgage Starting at 5% Under Current Market Rates. DIRECTIONS: I-84 to Exit #56 Tunnel Rd., left to Lake St., to Lygal St.

D.F. REALE, INC. REAL ESTATE 175 Main St., Manchester 643-6073

NOW HIRING AGENTS

23 LOTS & LAND FOR SALE

LAND FOR SALE: Almost 1/2 acre, 140 X 100 ft. Corner lot. Business B2 zoned. 643-5153.

32 APARTMENTS FOR RENT

MANCHESTER-Kitchen privileges. Busline. Parking. Quiet. 647-3813 after 7pm. $30 weekly.

31 ROOMS FOR RENT

MANCHESTER-2 & 3 bedroom apartments. Close to churches, schools, and stores. Near busline. Call 645-8201.

32 APARTMENTS FOR RENT

MANCHESTER-1 bedroom. Heat, hot water, carpeting, all appliances. 647-1595.

MANCHESTER-2 bedroom

Townhouse. All appliances. Heat & hot water, carpeting, air conditioning. 649-5249.

MANCHESTER- Main Street

Call 529-7858 or 563-4438.

MANCHESTER- 2 room flat

1st floor. Appliances. Move in condition. $585. Inquire at 643-4862.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING TOWN OF BOLTON, CONNECTICUT 08032

The Inland Wetlands Commission of Andover, Connecticut will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, September 10, 1990 at 1:30 p.m. in the Town Office Building, at 17 School Road on the following:

Changes to Application Fees for the Inland Wetlands Commission. Dated at Andover this 26th day of August, 1990.

WETLANDS COMMISSION John England, Chairman

On show: museum and gallery shows and exhibits

- By The Associated Press
- BALTIMORE
 - Art: "A Spectrum of Innovation: Color in American Printmaking, 1890-1960." Through Sept. 23.
 - Alhany Museum of Art: "Portraits and Prospect: British and Irish Drawings and Watercolors From the Collection of the Ulster Museum, Belfast." Sept. 11-Oct. 28.
 - High Museum of Art: "French Ceramics: 23 pieces from 'Lorraine.'" Nov. 23-Jan. 6, 1991.
 - Walters Art Gallery: "Flemish Illuminations in the 15th Century: High Art in the Lowlands." Through Sept. 30.
 - Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum: "Boston's Mrs. Gardner." Through Sept. 16.
 - Terra Museum of American Art: "Morgan Russell: A Retrospective." Through Sept. 9.
 - BOSTON
 - Walters Art Gallery: "Flemish Illuminations in the 15th Century: High Art in the Lowlands." Through Sept. 30.
 - CHICAGO
 - Terra Museum of American Art: "Morgan Russell: A Retrospective." Through Sept. 9.
 - FORT WORTH, Texas
 - Amor Center Museum: "A Spectrum of Innovation: Color in American Printmaking, 1890-1960." Through Sept. 23.
 - HOLISTON
 - Museum of Fine Arts: "Color, Form and Line: Spanish Colonial and Native American Art." Through Oct. 7.
 - "The Pen and the Sword: Winslow Homer, Thomas Nast and the American Civil War." Through Feb. 3, 1991.
 - "Picasso, Braque, Gris, Leger: Douglas Cooper Collecting Cubism." Oct. 14-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - Los Angeles County Museum of Art: "Masterpieces of Impressionism and Post Impressionism: The Art of the Impressionist." Through Nov. 11.
 - Treasuries From the Fitzwilliam: "The Increase of Learning and Other Great Objects of the Noble Foundation." Through Sept. 8.
 - "Die Brucke Woodcut: Selections from the Robert Goei Ribband Center for German Expressionist Studies." Through Oct. 7.
 - "Antiquities From the Collection of Varya and Hans Cohn." Through Nov. 14.
 - Museum of Contemporary Art: "Tim Rollins + K.O.S." Through Sept. 9.
 - Museum of the Norman Simon: "Works From the Norman Simon Museum." Through Sept. 9.
 - "The Decisive Years: 1945-1960." Through Nov. 18.
 - MOCA: "Temporary Contemporary: 'Perceptual Investigations: Light and Space Works in the Permanent Collection.'" Through January 1991.
 - MALIBU, Calif.
 - J. Paul Getty Museum, Malibu: "William de Staël in California." Through Sept. 9.
 - "Man Ray's Fashion Photography 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Art Into Life: Russian Constructivism 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Bargoyne Diller." Sept. 14-Nov. 25.
 - Whitney Museum of American Art: "Hans Hofmann." Through Sept. 16.
 - "Bargoyne Diller." Sept. 14-Nov. 25.
 - MINNEAPOLIS
 - Walker Art Center: "Mark Tansey: An Art Source." Dec. 2-Feb. 3, 1991.
 - "Art Into Life: Russian Constructivism 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Man Ray's Fashion Photography 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Bargoyne Diller." Sept. 14-Nov. 25.
 - MIDLAND GALLERIES
 - "Jack Levine: An Overview 1900-1990." Oct. 11-Nov. 24.
 - The New Gallery: "Michael Paoletti: Sculpture-Painting." Through Sept. 28.
 - Whitney Museum of American Art at Equitable Center: "Recent Work by Ed Shillman, Alvin, Peter Cox, Frank In Gilliam, Bruno Zupan and others." Sept. 14-Oct. 14.
 - Washington Gallery: "Harry Holtzman: Drawings 1930-Sculpture 1980s." Sept. 18-Dec. 26.
 - "David Smith: Paintings Through Sculpture." Oct. 30-Dec. 3.
 - "Francis Melcher: A Retrospective Exhibition." Sept. 11-Nov. 4.
 - "French Drawings From Poussin to Seurat." Nov. 12-Jan. 20, 1991.
 - "Sargent to Mondrian: 100 Years of American and European Art." Nov. 2-Dec. 15.
 - PASADENA, Calif.
 - Norton Simon Museum: "Vincent van Gogh: Painter, Printmaker and Collector." Indefinitely.
 - "Sources and Inspiration in Rembrandt's Etchings." Indefinitely.
 - "Six Centuries of Portraiture From the Permanent Collection." Indefinitely.
 - BROOKLYN MUSEUM
 - "In Pursuit of the Spiritual: Oceanic Art." Through Oct. 29.
 - NEW YORK
 - "The Power to Heal: Ancient Arts of the City of New York." Through Oct. 29.
 - International Center of Photography: "Weston's Westons: Portraits and Nudes." Through Sept. 9.
 - "Arnold Eagle's New York: The '30s and '40s." Through Sept. 9.
 - "Man Ray's Fashion Photography 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Art Into Life: Russian Constructivism 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Bargoyne Diller." Sept. 14-Nov. 25.
 - NEW YORK
 - "The Power to Heal: Ancient Arts of the City of New York." Through Oct. 29.
 - International Center of Photography: "Weston's Westons: Portraits and Nudes." Through Sept. 9.
 - "Arnold Eagle's New York: The '30s and '40s." Through Sept. 9.
 - "Man Ray's Fashion Photography 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Art Into Life: Russian Constructivism 1914-1932." Oct. 3-Dec. 30, 1991.
 - "Bargoyne Diller." Sept. 14-Nov. 25.
 - PARIS 1889: American Artists at the Universal Exposition. Sept. 5-Nov. 15.
 - Robert Rauschenberg: "The Silkscreen Paintings, 1962-1964." Dec. 7-March 17, 1991.
 - Whitney Museum of American Art at Equitable Center: "Recent Work by Ed Shillman, Alvin, Peter Cox, Frank In Gilliam, Bruno Zupan and others." Sept. 14-Oct. 14.
 - Washington Gallery: "Harry Holtzman: Drawings 1930-Sculpture 1980s." Sept. 18-Dec. 26.
 - "David Smith: Paintings Through Sculpture." Oct. 30-Dec. 3.
 - "Francis Melcher: A Retrospective Exhibition." Sept. 11-Nov. 4.
 - "French Drawings From Poussin to Seurat." Nov. 12-Jan. 20, 1991.
 - "Sargent to Mondrian: 100 Years of American and European Art." Nov. 2-Dec. 15.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING 643-2711

Notices

Lost Found	01	Real Estate	01
Personals	01	Real Estate	02
Announcements	02	Real Estate	03
Articles	03	Real Estate	04
Financial	04	Real Estate	05

Let A Specialist Do It!

Child Care	51	Roofing/Siding	57
Cleaning Services	52	Furniture	58
Landscaping	53	Flowers	59
Bookkeeping/Income Tax	54	TV/Service and Tone	60
Corporate/Remodeling	55	Gardening	61
Wanted to Buy/Sell	56	Good Things to Eat	62
Auto Sales	57	Fuel Oil/Coal/Firewood	63
Auto Repairs	58	Garage	64
Auto Washes	59	Office/Retail Equipment	65
Auto Detailing	60	Recreational Equipment	66
Auto Leasing	61	Boats and Marine Equipment	67
Auto Financing	62	Wanted to Buy/Sell	68

Merchandise

Holiday Seasonal	71	Music and Tapes	84
Antiques and Collectibles	72	Cameras and Photo Equipment	85
Clothing	73	Pets and Supplies	86
Furniture	74	Books	87
TV/Service and Tone	75	Top Sales	88
Gardening	76	Wanted to Buy/Sell	89
Good Things to Eat	77	Automotive	90
Fuel Oil/Coal/Firewood	78	Cars for Sale	91
Garage	79	Trucks/Vans for Sale	92
Office/Retail Equipment	80	Auto Services	93
Recreational Equipment	81	Motorcycles/Mopeds	94
Boats and Marine Equipment	82	Auto Leasing	95
Wanted to Buy/Sell	83	Miscellaneous Automotive	96

RATES: 1 to 6 days: 90 cents per line per day.
7 to 19 days: 70 cents per line per day.
20 to 25 days: 60 cents per line per day.
26 or more days: 50 cents per line per day.
Minimum charge: 4 lines.

DEADLINES: For classified advertisements to be published Tuesday through Saturday, the deadline is noon on the day before publication. For advertisements to be published Monday, the deadline is 2:30 p.m. on Friday.

NOTICES

As a condition precedent to the placement of any advertising in this Manchester Herald, Advertiser hereby agrees to protect, indemnify and hold harmless the Manchester Herald, its officers and employees against any and all liability, loss or expense including attorneys' fees, arising from claims of unfair trade practices, infringement of trademark, trade names or patents, violation of rights of privacy and misrepresentation of copyright and proprietary rights, unfair competition, libel and slander, which may result from the publication of any advertisement in this Manchester Herald by advertiser, including advertisements in any free distribution publications published by the Manchester Herald.

1 LOST AND FOUND

FOUNDED YOUNG FOUND: Various items. Myrtle St. area. Needs to be notified. 643-4270.

5 FINANCIAL

ALL TYPES OF LOANS: $5000 AND UP. Whatever your situation is we can help you. Call 215-978-3533.

10 PART TIME HELP WANTED

DAY WAITRESS: Tues-Fri. 10:30-5:00. Reply if person of call Bolton Pizza 270 West Street, Bolton, 647-1279.

DEMONSTRATE DECOR & MORE

Toys, gifts, FREE. $3.00. 4-11. 742-8919. Call collect.

Special Wishes

Why Send A Card? Make your own personal wishes to that special person in your life on special days, such as birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, etc. For more information, call 643-2711.

Special Limited Introductory Rate 60¢ a line!

For an extra cost of $50 you may also get your choice of birthday cake, heart, star, teddy bear, etc. (available in quantities of 10 or more orders!)

10 PART TIME HELP WANTED

WOMAN NEEDED: 4 days weekly to care for my elderly mother. Call Anne 646-7826.

11 HELP WANTED

LPN to assist with busy oncology practice. Part time Monday-Thursday. Approximately 10am-3pm. Experience helpful. Call 646-0534 between 10am-3pm.

MANCHESTER: secretary for one man law office. Short-hand & word processing a must. 646-2425.

LEGAL NOTICE

There will be a Republican Caucus for the purpose of adopting new members to the local Republican Town Committee. Held September 11, 7PM at Hemlock Park in Bolton.

DRIVER & ODD JOB

Person required by local machine shop. Call 228-8425.

FUEL OIL SALES PERSON

residential for further information call Michael at 289-8167.

LAW OFFICE RECEPTIONIST

answer telephones, light typing, run errands. Good call. 643-2501-9-50m.

11 HELP WANTED

A CAREER National Wholesale Jewelry Co.

seeks Representative for local area. No direct sales, wholesale only. $40,000 per year. 713-982-9885.

GAFFERIA WORKER

College grad. Must be able to transport food to Habon Elengay Hwy. School. Call 228-9458 Mary Kolier for more details.

DRIVER & ODD JOB

Person required by local machine shop. Call 228-8425.

FUEL OIL SALES PERSON

residential for further information call Michael at 289-8167.

LAW OFFICE RECEPTIONIST

answer telephones, light typing, run errands. Good call. 643-2501-9-50m.

SECRETARY to trial lawyer

Will train in legal rings. Full time benefits. 643-4226.

11 HELP WANTED

LEGAL SECRETARY FOR

trial lawyer. Experience helpful. Full time benefits. 527-4226.

11 HELP WANTED

THE DEADLINE FOR

CANCELING AN AD IS 12 NOON THE DAY BEFORE MONDAY-FRIDAY. AFTERNOON BY 2:30 PM FOR MONDAY'S ISSUE. THANK YOU FOR YOUR COOPERATION!!!

PLACING AN AD

in classified ads is the best way to get your ad for maximum response.

WE DELIVER

For Home Delivery Call 647-9946 Monday to Friday 9 to 6

You Could Be Earning While The Kids Are Learning.

They're back to school, and you could be back to earning money in a friendly, flexible retail environment.

We need people in several different positions, some with customer contact, some behind the scenes. You'll work with people like you who are responsible, detail-oriented and take pride in doing a job you love.

Hours are flexible. Ready to start? Just call or apply in person at:

YOUR NEAREST BRADLEES STORE:

Bradlees

an Sears Company, Franchise #1

11 HELP WANTED

3 FAMILY INVESTMENT

HERE! $148,900. 2 family 4+4 rooms in each unit plus 1 bedroom home on same lot. Outside newly painted, inside in need of a handyman to aprit, wallpaper, and update, but at this price you can afford to do it. Walk downtown with this baby and call now to see. Anne Miller Real Estate 647-8000

45 SAINT PAUL DRIVE

Beautiful Colonial with all hardwood floors. All new paint and kitchen. One and a half baths. Move in condition. $149,000. Call Linda Doremus at Re/Max East Of The River 647-1419. Paper 509-8400 or 646-4611.

57 WHITNEY ROAD

Listing Charming 4 bedroom Colonial brick Cape with Columbia Lake rights. $175,000. Call Barbara Weinberg at Re/Max East Of The River for details. 647-1419.

REAL CHARMER!

7 room Colonial on Conway Road. Call Barbara Weinberg at Re/Max East Of The River 647-1419.

GREAT PRICED!

Only $125,900. Magnificent 6 room, 3 bedroom Colonial with 1 1/2 baths and a beautiful remodeled kitchen. Hardwood floors and marble! Hurry! We're Selling Houses! Blanchard & Rossetto, 646-2482.

FERGUSON ROAD

Only $249,900 buys quality in every nook and cranny. 4 bedrooms plus fireplace. Family room, fireplace, large rec. room & large rec. room. Lots of house that is immaculate and charming! Call Barbara Weinberg at Re/Max East Of The River 647-1419.

22 CONDOMINIUMS FOR SALE

MALLARD VIEW Open 1-4 pm weekdays. Flashes, Townhouses. No Association Fees. Manufactured. Best home value. Change your destiny to 1 floor living. 1st floor master bedroom, 1 1/2 bath, full basement, courtyard, covered parking. 1st floor living area on a cul-de-sac near the new mall. $165,000. Call 643-1500. 1 1/2 bath townhouses with garage. $143,900. Dr. Toland Tpk. or North Main St. to Union to Rossetto Dr. "We're Selling Houses" Blanchard & Rossetto, 646-2482.

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING BOARD OF DIRECTORS TOWN OF MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors, Town of Manchester, Connecticut, will hold a Public Hearing on Tuesday, September 11, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. to consider and act on the following:

- Approval to Education Special Projects - Fund 41 - Youth Employment. To be financed by interest earnings of the Municipal Employment Fund.
- Approval to General Fund, TRANSFER to Sanitation Fund 1 - $1,538,530. To be financed from Fund Balance resulting from Landfill Fees already collected.
- An Ordinance authorizing the purchase of the following premises located on the following:
- Approval to purchase of water mains in the area of Toland Tpk. between North Main Street and Union Street.
- Approval and allocation to Capital Improvement Reserve Fund B-1217 for improvements to:
- Approval to Special Grant - Fund 81 - existing Account #71, Drug Investigation - $7,599.69 to be financed by forfeiture payments already received.
- Authorize construction of water mains in the area of Toland Tpk. between North Main Street and Union Street.
- Authorize construction of sanitary sewers in the area of Toland Tpk. between Jefferson Street and Damming Street.

All public meetings of the Town of Manchester are held at locations which are accessible to handicapped citizens. In addition, handicapped individuals requesting auxiliary aid to attend public meetings should contact the person whose name appears on the agenda of the meeting so that appropriate arrangements can be made.

William J. Irish, Jr. Secretary, Board of Directors

Dated at Manchester, Connecticut this 30th day of August 1990 010-09

FILED BY THE PROFESSIONALS AT
CREST INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES, CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA

STARTUP

McEnroe in new role as New York's favorite son

By BOB GREENE
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — When he was king, John McEnroe was a feisty, combative genius, a target for scorn from the U.S. Open crowd. Now, the native son has returned, this time to a hero's welcome.

McEnroe is old for a tennis player and showing only flashes of the artistry that made him the best in the world. The victories now are less frequent, the championships a memory.

But he is now the elder statesman and fan favorite.

"It's certainly nice at this point because there is only a limited amount of time that I'll be playing here," McEnroe said.

Tonight, he faces David Wheaton, at 21 the future of American tennis as much as McEnroe is the past, in a quarterfinal match between two unseeded players. And Wheaton knows about the Louis Armstrong Stadium crowd.

"Most of the people will be for him," Wheaton said. "That's understandable since he's the past, and obviously he's had a sterling career."

Like eight U.S. Open titles, four in singles and four in doubles.

"I might go out there and he beat me in straight sets," Wheaton said. "I might beat him in an unbelievable match."

"I'm obviously looking forward to it. It is the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open."

Another men's quarterfinal pairing today sees three-time champion Ivan Lendl, the No. 3 seed, against

No. 12 Pete Sampras.

In early women's quarterfinal matches today, top-seeded Steffi Graf played No. 12 Jana Novotna and No. 4 Zina Garrison took on No. 6 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario.

"I wanted to get to the quarterfinals of a Grand Slam at the beginning of the year. I did it right away at Australia. Then I was looking to do something better."

Although he knows the crowd will be rooting for the native son, Wheaton isn't worried.

"I'm not playing the crowd. I'm playing McEnroe," he said.

As far as playing before 20,000 fans?

"That doesn't really bother me," Wheaton said. "I'm not out there counting heads."

Fernandez trailed the first two sets but won the third, 6-4, in the fourth round. Fernandez began peppering the lines and gained her second Grand Slam semifinal berth this year. She reached the Australian Open final in January.

Against Maleeva-Fragniere, Fernandez, always comfortable from the baseline, began taking the net more and more, putting away winning volleys. She was at the net 35 times to just 18 by Maleeva-Fragniere.

Fernandez, helped by several close line calls, broke Meskhi twice and took a 4-2 lead in the second set.

"Now I can understand the feelings of John McEnroe," Olga Morozova, Meskhi's coach and interpreter, said, referring to the officiating. "They played an unbelievable match, so close to the lines. And to lose like that..."

"She felt it was her match. That's why she's so upset."

the fourth round of the Australian Open in January before falling to Stefan Edberg.

"I had some goals set," Wheaton said. "I wanted to get to the quarterfinals of a Grand Slam at the beginning of the year. I did it right away at Australia. Then I was looking to do something better."

Although he knows the crowd will be rooting for the native son, Wheaton isn't worried.

"I'm not playing the crowd. I'm playing McEnroe," he said.

As far as playing before 20,000 fans?

"That doesn't really bother me," Wheaton said. "I'm not out there counting heads."

Fernandez trailed the first two sets but won the third, 6-4, in the fourth round. Fernandez began peppering the lines and gained her second Grand Slam semifinal berth this year. She reached the Australian Open final in January.

Against Maleeva-Fragniere, Fernandez, always comfortable from the baseline, began taking the net more and more, putting away winning volleys. She was at the net 35 times to just 18 by Maleeva-Fragniere.

Fernandez, helped by several close line calls, broke Meskhi twice and took a 4-2 lead in the second set.

"Now I can understand the feelings of John McEnroe," Olga Morozova, Meskhi's coach and interpreter, said, referring to the officiating. "They played an unbelievable match, so close to the lines. And to lose like that..."

"She felt it was her match. That's why she's so upset."

WINNER — Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina rattles a fist in victory after defeating Leila Meskhi of the Soviet Union in the U.S. Open tennis championships in New York Tuesday night. Sabatini won 7-6, 6-4 to advance to the women's singles semifinals.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

In Brief . . .

Fame tickets now on sale

MANCHESTER — Tickets for the 11th annual Manchester Sports Hall of Fame induction dinner on Sept. 21 at the Army and Navy Club are now on sale at public headquarters from deputy chief Bud Minor and at the main branch of the Savings Bank of Manchester from Dick Carter. Tickets are also available from the following committee members: Tom Kelley, Ernie Dowd, Bob Digan, Jim Balsamo, John Johnston, Dave White, Andy Vincens, Dee Rem Zotta, Ron Stominsky, Dr. Joseph Massaro, Steve Cassano and Nate Agostinelli.

Tickets are $15 apiece. Five former local athletes will be inducted to the shrine.

Police hold softball tourney

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Police Athletic League will be hosting its second annual Silk City Fall Softball Classic on Friday through Sunday, at Fitzgerald Field.

The tournament will consist of area police departments. The championship game is scheduled for Sunday with a celebrity game between Gordie Howe and the Hartford Whalers Alumni Team vs. The Media All-Stars scheduled Sunday at noon.

The tournament benefits the UConn Children's Cancer Fund, the charity of both the Hartford Whalers and the Manchester Police Athletic League.

Lavery on SUNY squad

MANCHESTER — Heather Lavery, a 1989 Manchester High graduate, is a member of the SUNY Stony Brook Division 1 women's soccer team that opens its season on Saturday against the University of Hartford in West Hartford.

Lavery was a captain of the 1989 MHS girls' soccer team.

Giants sign Dave Duerson

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Combine a chance meeting in a New Jersey bar, a frank injury to Adrian White and Mike Dickie's preference for young players and what emerges is Dave Duerson in a New York Giants uniform.

The Giants on Tuesday signed Duerson and essentially handed him the job of replacing the injured White at strong safety.

Getting him to Giants Stadium was not so easy, and the tale starts late Saturday night. That's when Ken Valdiseri, the Chicago Bears' director of marketing and communications, ran into Bill Parcells in a local restaurant after the Giants' exhibit ion game with Cleveland.

At the time, Parcells was a man in need of a safety. White had been injured hours earlier and would be lost for the season. Seeing Valdiseri, Parcells decided to ask about Duerson, who had been cut by the Bears earlier that week.

"He'd fit anybody's style," Parcells said. "I obviously thought he was an excellent player. He can fill an obvious void created by an unfortunate circumstance."

AL Roundup

The Detroit bullpen now has pitched 17 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run.

"The thing people don't realize is that we're not bad," Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said. "If we hadn't gotten off to such an awful start, we'd be in the hunt right now."

The Tigers were 11-22 after an 8-3 loss to the Blue Jays on May 14. Since then they have played at a 55-48 pace, seven games over .500.

"If we'd stayed even in the early going, you'd have to believe we'd be right in the thick of it," Anderson said. "Look at our record over the last 100 games or so."

No matter where the Tigers finish, it will be a remarkable turnaround for a team that lost 103 games last season.

"After last season, losing so many games, we'd just like to win all we can," said Mike Hemminger, who worked the final two innings for the 30th save. "It'd be a real big boost for us if we could finish second."

The series concludes tonight with Detroit right-hander Clay Parker (3-1) working against Blue Jays left-hander David Wells (9-4).

Toronto's problem Tuesday was pitching — sort of. Three Blue Jays pitchers held Detroit to just four hits but allowed 10 walks, and two of the walked batters scored.

"I don't think anybody likes the walks," Gaston said. "Boston is going to be tough to catch. But you've got to take one day at a time. You can't think in bunches."

White Sox 6, Royals 3: Jack McDowell won his sixth straight decision and record-breaking reliever Bobby Thigpen notched his 48th save as Chicago beat Kansas City.

Dan Pasqua had two hits and three RBIs and Lance Johnson had two hits and scored three runs to key the Chicago offense.

McDowell (12-6) gave six hits, struck out two and walked four in 7 2/3 innings. McDowell's last loss was a 9-5 decision in Boston on Aug. 1. He is 6-0 in nine starts at home since California beat him 4-1 June 18.

Thigpen, who broke Dave Righetti's major league save record with his 47th Monday, pitched the last 1 1/3

MCC soccer to display international flavor

By LEN AUSTER
Manchester Herald

MANCHESTER — There will be an international flavor, and a European style of play, with the Manchester Community College men's soccer team when it takes the field for the 1990 season that was to open today in Stors at the Connecticut Soccer Stadium against the UConn subsidiary.

Players from Ireland (David Guy), South Africa (Garoth Dano), Jamaica (Marc Thewell) and Vietnam (Tuan Nguyen) will dot the Cougar lineup. "We have a lot of different styles," first-year Manchester High graduate David Stephenson will be the outside midfielders with Javier Moya out of E.O. Smith joining Salafia and Thewell along the backline. Chip Segar, out of Rockville High will be in goal.

"I'm scrumming the other day against Trinity and won 2-1. We looked good in the middlefield," Gustafson said. "We have only two or three true fullbacks. The others are transplanted from the middlefield, but they're picking things up very quickly."

"I'm looking for big things," Gustafson said, "and for us to make the Region XXI tournament."

Schedule: Sept. 5 UConn subs-varsity A, 8-9 Cougar Classic, 12 Brown subs-varsity A, 15 Becker JC H 1 p.m., 19 Mount Ida A, 22 Wesleyan subs-varsity H 1 p.m., 24 Greenfield A, 26 Springfield A, 29 Dean A 1 p.m.

Oct. 3 Holyoke A, 6 New Hampshire Technical A, 11 Berkshire A, 13 Mass Bay H 2 p.m., 17 Mitchell H, 20 Rhode Island H 1 p.m., 22 Southern subs-varsity A 7 p.m., 25 Massachusetts 3 p.m. 27-28 Region XXI Tournament.

Cougar Classic schedule: Sept. 8 SUNY at Farmingdale vs. Dean Junior College at 11 a.m., and Champlain College vs. MCC at 1 p.m. Sept. 9 — Consolation game at 11 a.m., Championship game at 1 p.m.

Blue Jays starting to hear Tiger footsteps

DETROIT (AP) — The Toronto Blue Jays are playing like a team that hears footsteps. Tiger paws, to be exact.

Alan Trammell's two-run double Tuesday night lifted Detroit to a 3-1 victory over Toronto and pulled the Tigers to within four games of the second-place Blue Jays.

"The Tigers are playing pretty good right now," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "They're on a hot streak while we've been up and down."

The Blue Jays begin 6 1/2 games behind the Boston Red Sox in the American League East, even though the Red Sox lost to the Oakland Athletics.

"It's kind of hard to say what's wrong with our guys," Gaston said. "I don't know if they're tight. I can't get in

White, umpires settle dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — National League president Bill White and the umpires peacefully settled their dispute with help from Commissioner Fay Vincent, agreeing to set a policy for breaking up fights that will not single out umpire Joe West.

White, Vincent and umpires' chief Richie Phillips met in New York. White had threatened to resign unless Vincent backed his authority, and the NL president left the meeting still in power.

The trouble began last month when West and the Philadelphia Phillies ran into problems. West had physically thrown Phillies pitcher Dennis Cook to the ground during a recent fight involving the New York Mets and later ejected Van Hayes during a game against Los Angeles.

White said he told West that he alone should not touch players while stopping fights, and that West did not handle the Hayes' ejection properly.

Cities bid for NL clubs

NEW YORK (AP) — At least 10 cities submitted bids for the National League's two new expansion teams before Tuesday's deadline, as well as a unique proposal for a franchise that would play in four cities.

Eighteen groups said they gave the NL plans along with $100,000 application fees, including three groups each from Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla.

Denver, Phoenix and Washington submitted two bids each. Also handing in proposals were Buffalo, N.Y.; Charlotte, N.C.; Nashville, Tenn.; Orlando, Fla. and Sacramento, Calif.

The new clubs, which cost $95 million each, will not begin play until 1993. The NL will select a short list of finalist cities by Dec. 31 and will pick the two new clubs by Sept. 30, 1991. It will be the first expansion by the NL since 1969 and the first in the major leagues since 1977.

Yankee exec sues Vincent

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball was dragged into the federal courts again when a New York Yankees executive sued Fay Vincent and accused the commissioner of trying to run him and George Steinbrenner out of the game.

Leonard L. Kleinman, executive vice president and chief operating executive of the Yankees, made the allegation in a $22 million lawsuit against Vincent and John M. Dowd, the commissioner's special counsel, who directed an investigation of Steinbrenner's dealings with gambler Howard Spira.

Kleinman accused Vincent of framing him and Steinbrenner on charges they acted against the best interests of baseball and of covering up ex-Yankees outfielder Dave Winfield's involvement with Spira.

The lawsuit in Manhattan's federal court seeks to stop Vincent from holding a hearing Thursday to determine possible disciplinary action against Kleinman.

Don't Monkey Around... Try Our Pay-By-Mail Program...

It makes paying your subscription easier on you. Instead of paying your carrier every 2 weeks, you can simply write a check for 3 months, 6 months or a full year... drop it in the mail. Then you can forget about having ready cash to pay your carrier, answering the door when it's inconvenient or being at home to pay your bill.

Simply complete the coupon below and send it to us... if you would like more information on our Pay-By-Mail program call the Circulation Department, 647-9946. After initial payment and prior to expiration, you will be billed.

I would like to pay by mail for my Manchester Herald subscription. Please begin my pay-by-mail subscription on

Enclosed please find payment for Carrier Delivery

3 months $23.10 6 months $46.20 1 year $92.40

Senior Citizens: 3 months $21.56 6 months $43.12 1 year $86.24

Optional carrier tip may be included with your payment / Tip Amount _____

Motor Route Delivery: Coventry, Andover, Bolton - $27.30, 3 months

Name _____

Address _____ Apt. _____

City _____ Zip _____ Phone _____

MAKE IT EASY ON YOURSELF...PAY-BY-MAIL

The Manchester Herald

P.O. Box 591 - Manchester, CT 06040

YOU'RE KIDDING — Cleveland's Sandy Alomar (15) jumps in the air in disbelief as home plate umpire Larry Young rules that Alomar was tagged out by Texas catcher Geno Petralli in the fourth inning of their game Tuesday night in Arlington, Texas.

By The Associated Press

innings after McDowell gave up a two-run double to Danny Taraballi in the eighth.

Martinez 7, Orioles 2: Ken Griffey, Sr. got three hits, including a three-run double, as Seattle beat Baltimore.

It was the first three-hit game of the season for the 40-year-old Griffey, who has an on-base percentage of .579 since joining the Mariners on Aug. 29 after spending most of the season with Cincinnati.

Seattle, which was four out of five, 4-0 with Griffey and his son, Ken, Jr., in the lineup, Ken, Jr. also knocked in a run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Seattle, which was four out of five, 4-0 with Griffey and his son, Ken, Jr., in the lineup, Ken, Jr. also knocked in a run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Baltimore lost its fifth straight game for the fifth time this season. The Orioles have lost 10 of 11 and 21 of 28.

Indiana 7, Rangers 5: Cory Snyder and Carlos Baerz bounced as the Indians rapped out 13 hits and broke their eight-game losing streak.

Sergio Valdez (3-5), recalled on Aug. 22 from Colorado Springs, scattered six hits and struck out four career-high seven batters over seven-plus innings before needing relief help from Doug Jones.

Twins 7, Brewers 1: Gary Gaetti and Pedro Munoz had four hits each in a 19-hit Minnesota attack as the Twins won their eighth game.

The Twins had at least one hit in each of the first seven innings and stranded 17 runners.

White, umpires settle dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — National League president Bill White and the umpires peacefully settled their dispute with help from Commissioner Fay Vincent, agreeing to set a policy for breaking up fights that will not single out umpire Joe West.

White, Vincent and umpires' chief Richie Phillips met in New York. White had threatened to resign unless Vincent backed his authority, and the NL president left the meeting still in power.

The trouble began last month when West and the Philadelphia Phillies ran into problems. West had physically thrown Phillies pitcher Dennis Cook to the ground during a recent fight involving the New York Mets and later ejected Van Hayes during a game against Los Angeles.

White said he told West that he alone should not touch players while stopping fights, and that West did not handle the Hayes' ejection properly.

Canadiens deal for Turgeon

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens continued to clean house with two trades, one of them involving local favorite Claude Lemieux.

Lemieux, a hard-driving right wing who is known as one of the peskiest players in the NHL, was sent to the New Jersey Devils for left wing Sylvain Turgeon, who scored 30 goals last season.

In a second trade later in the day, the Canadiens sent Craig Ludwig to the New York Islanders for Gerald DiDuck in a swap of defencemen.

The double-barreled trades continued a trend during the off-season for the Canadiens, who have dealt off such Forum favorites as Chris Chelios and Bobby Smith.

Albany ties up Britton

NEW YORK (AP) — Daren Eby had four RBIs as the Akron-Canton Indians beat the London Tigers 8-4 to take a 2-0 lead in their semifinal best-of-five Eastern League playoff series.

In other playoff action Tuesday, Vince Phillips rapped a bases-loaded double in the fifth inning to lead the Albany Yankees to a 9-1 victory over the New Britain Red Sox, tying their semifinal playoff series at one game apiece.

Albany scored first in the third on an RBI groundout by Dave Silvestri. Don Sparks and Pat Kelly added RBI singles in the fourth to make it 3-0.

After the Red Sox made it 3-1 in the fifth on Juan Pardo's run-scoring single, Phillips cleared the bases in the home half of the inning with a double for a 6-1 Albany lead.

Winning pitcher Andy Cook went six innings to get the victory. He struck out eight while giving up one run on four hits.

Tom Fisher took the loss.

Games 3 and 4 of the best-of-5 series will be played at New Britain today and Thursday.

In Brief . . .

Giants pickup Cavanaugh

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Quarterback Carmelo Martinez, who Doughty acquired for three prospects after he misinterpreted the waiver rules, capped Pittsburgh's comeback from an early 5-0 deficit with a game-tying two-run homer and the Pirates went on to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 11-7 Tuesday night. Pittsburgh reclaimed first place in the National League East from New York.

"I've been traded four times, so sooner or later you're going to have to face your old club," Martinez said. "Anytime you go to a new team, you want to show them you can play. It was like a challenge to me. This is a good team here... it's awesome. You can never get too far ahead of this club."

After the Phillies claimed two of the Pirates' top

Pirates begin big series ahead of Mets

By The Associated Press

General manager Larry Doughty's goof may turn out to be a gift for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Carmelo Martinez, who Doughty acquired for three prospects after he misinterpreted the waiver rules, capped Pittsburgh's comeback from an early 5-0 deficit with a game-tying two-run homer and the Pirates went on to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 11-7 Tuesday night. Pittsburgh reclaimed first place in the National League East from New York.

"I've been traded four times, so sooner or later you're going to have to face your old club," Martinez said. "Anytime you go to a new team, you want to show them you can play. It was like a challenge to me. This is a good team here... it's awesome. You can never get too far ahead of this club."

After the Phillies claimed two of the Pirates' top

MAKES IT — Carmelo Martinez (35) of the Pirates slides home as Philadelphia catcher Darren Daulton can't handle an errant throw from rightfielder Dale Murphy during the second inning Tuesday night's game in Pittsburgh. The Pirates rallied for an 11-7 win, taking first place in the NL East from the New York Mets who lost in St. Louis.

NL Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — National League president Bill White and the umpires peacefully settled their dispute with help from Commissioner Fay Vincent, agreeing to set a policy for breaking up fights that will not single out umpire Joe West.

White, Vincent and umpires' chief Richie Phillips met in New York. White had threatened to resign unless Vincent backed his authority, and the NL president left the meeting still in power.

The trouble began last month when West and the Philadelphia Phillies ran into problems. West had physically thrown Phillies pitcher Dennis Cook to the ground during a recent fight involving the New York Mets and later ejected Van Hayes during a game against Los Angeles.

White said he told West that he alone should not touch players while stopping fights, and that West did not handle the Hayes' ejection properly.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth inning, only his second RBI since Aug. 8, drove in the only run.

Sid Fernandez (9-11) held St. Louis to three hits in seven innings but two of them came in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled with one out for the Cardinals' first hit. He was off and running when Penitton ripped a grounder down the left-field line.

Magrane (9-15) gave up three hits in five innings before leaving with stiffness in his left shoulder. In his three victories over the Mets, he has given up one run in 20 1/3 innings.

two relievers, beat New York for the third time in less than six weeks and ended the Mets' seven-game winning streak. Magrane, Omar Olivares and Lee Smith combined on a five-hitter and Terry Penitton's double in the fourth