Loss of child is a painful mystery

DEAR ABBY: I was bothered by the following which I recently read in your column: "Confidential to Grieving in Arizona: My heart goes out to you. 'I can think of nothing more unnatural, nothing that leaves God with more explaining to do, than the loss of a child."

Abby, what right do we mortals have to demand an explanation from God? I offer the following from your column in which you respond to a similar situation. It was published 12 years ago, and I think it's much better than the quote by Jean

"DEAR ABBY: My Sunday school teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it. Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car, my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only 2 years old, and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother, but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I

"DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called 'Job' and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and he will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and make your mommy happy

Abby, I saved that because it was such a beautiful and sensitive answer to that young boy who was hurting. Trust your instincts and continue in that way to use your faith. You are so widely read, and your influence so great, that I believe you can make a difference in our country. In essence, yours is a real ministry. God bless you. I'll sign my name, but if you use this, sign me...

M Actor Dennis Quaid is back in Hollywood after taking off a year to travel, get engaged and get clean. "I guess I'm straight all the time. Rather than checking out of the world, I check into the world," Quaid says in the Dec. 10 issue of US magazine. "I'm much crazier than I thought. It's all about how you go through life."

Of his battle with drugs and alcohol, he says: "You have a very hard, fast-paced life, and there's a lot of tension and pressure. And, at the end of the day, you find another way to deal with it. Which is to check out with drugs and booze."

While moviegoers earlier this year saw him in "Postcards from the Edge," Quaid was traveling in Europe and got engaged to actress Meg Ryan. Quaid says his next film, "Come See the Paradise." a movie about the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II, tells an important story. But he doesn't expect it will be a box-office smash. "Certainly everyone would like to do movies that make all the money, but I can't make that my consideration in choosing a role," he said.

Peace activist Dick Gregory began a fast to protest military action in the Persian Gulf and said he'd maintain it until all U.S. troops are returned tion, its cause and the treatment available? DEAR READER: Cryptosporidium is a tiny intestinal parasite that can cause bowel inflammation with diarrhea, abdominal pain, fever and weight loss. The parasite has been identified in outbreaks of diarrhea in day-care centers; also, it is one of the many infectious agents causing diarrhea in international travelers. Cryptosporidium is spread by ingestion: The adult parasites produce cysts that are passed in the stool and can be transferred to new victims by contaminated water, food or direct finger-to-mouth contact.

ment runs its course. However, in patients with immune deficiency, from a variety of causes including AIDS and cancer, the infection can be chronic, leading to profuse, unremitting diarrhea that may be life-threatening. At present, no definitive therapy is available. Treatment is supportive (intravenous replacement of fluids and a

Thoughts

"Shaking Your Family Tree" Whoever loves his brother lives in the light, and there is nothing in him to make him stumble." I John 2:10

The term "brother" in this passage refers to all those we come in contact with. Consider for a moment, however, your biological family members. The holidays can be a wonderful family time - or sometimes a very stressful experience. What have you observed about your family this holiday season? How, and with whom, has Manchester Road Race. At your love been shared? Who still needs the special touch left, a pair of spectators A hostile teen? A scared child? A busy, harried spouse? that only you can provide? An elderly, shut-in relative? perch above the crowd for a Shake your family tree. Who falls out as someone you should, in a deliberate way, share love with today? Notice the scripture. We are reminded that loving has its own positive "consequence." Those who love, live in light, and because they have a lighted path to travel, they will not stumble. Isn't it remarkable how our Heavenly Father prescribes a way of living which is good and helpful for both ourselves and others with whom we come in contact. As you shake your family tree, remember that everyone wins when you practice love.

Duggan misses prize list

Charlie Duggan, who after several attempts broke through and won the 1980 Manchester Road Race, had made the Top 25 prize list a record 22 consecutive times, but failed to continue his streak in Thursday's race. The younger generation made it tougher on Duggan, the former Hartford Public and Springfield College star.

Conway felt picked on

Frank Conway, all of 5-8, spoke of his confrontation with the winner, 6-7 Chris Weber. "His elbows were hitting the top of my head. It was kind of embarrassing," Still more from Conway. "I heard about (Weber) and knew he had a kick. Bit I didn't see him anywhere and then out of the blue he was halfway down Main Street. He was covering ground like you wouldn't believe."

And from the 6-2 Gregorek. "I've never seen a guy that big (as a runner). He's possibly the only guy in a road race who could break the wind for me." Defending not easy task Two-time defending champions haven't fared well in recent years, or in the past for that matter. John Treacy was a two-time champ twice, and lost in 1980 (Charlie Duggan) and '86 (John Doherty). Doherty was unable to defend his championship in '88 (John Gregorek) after winning it twice. The same fate befall Gregorek on Thursday.

"I think John Treacy is right when he said three times in a row is a jinx year," the always pleasant Gregorek said. "I have to agree with him on that. But guys have come back and won it again and I'll be looking forward to it again in the future. I'm pleased I was able to be youngsters sit atop a sign to get a better view there until the very end. I'll give it another shot next

Breagy almost guessed it

Charlie Breagy, always animinated and with an opinion, had some thoughts in the pressroom before Thursday's Manchester Road Race. "Watch out for (Steve) Plasencia. He just ran a 27:47 10K. And Frank Conway, he'll be up there. And Ashley Johnson, he was econd at Falmouth (Road Race). He has a heckuva

How was Breagy's forecasting? Conway was third, wo seconds off the winning time of 21:47. Johnson finished sixth in 22:01 and Plascencia was 10th in 22:17. And Breagy himself? "What was my time. A long time," he answered rhetorically. Breagy finished 24th a year ago, making the prize list. "I was amazed." Only one had to be towed

The police go up and down Main Street before the only one car, however, that had to be towed this year and that's because it had broken down, "People were really good this year," said Manchester Police Lt. Beau Thurnauer, traffic supervisor.

Starters stretched forever

The start line was at St. James Church, across from the Savings Bank of Manchester. But runners started as far back as the Anderson Brothers service station. It took over three minutes for all the runners to cross the start line. The chute system went up in "record time" of 12 minutes, 46 seconds according to Race Director Jim Bal-

Race has become a tradition RHAM High boys' soccer coach Mike Zotta was one of the entrants in Thursday's race. "My first one was in 1977. I used to run for time but now it's a social event. I always meet my family on Pitkin Street. It's become a tradition," he said.

Just like a lot of people,

Suitor had the best job George Suitor, Manchester High School boys' cross country and track coach, said he had the best job of anyone on race day. "I get to start the clock at the finish line and get to watch all the top runners (as they come across)," he said. "It's like I died and went to heaven." Suitor controlled the back-up clock, in case of a malfunction with the primary one. If the primary one works, he has the best job in the house. Just watching the world-class runners come home.

Mueller won't come here

Don't expect to see Liz Mueller of Waterford High, the reigning girls' Connecticut State Open and New England cross country champion, any time soon in Manchester. "She doesn't do road races, period," Jan Merrill-Morin, Mueller's coach, said bluntly.

Burfoot had his race number

Amby Burfoot, who still holds the record for numbers of wins in Manchester (9), ran with his familiar No. 2 for the first time in three years. He forgot it both in 1988 and '89, last year after his car got stuck in a snow bank on his way to Manchester. "They held my number here for me this year," he explained. Burfoot has shunned running with his traditional painter's cap. This was Burfoot's 27th consecutive appearance in Manchester. He has a ways to go to catch Charlie Rob-

Sam Ngtia, 31, of El Paso, Tx., a native of Kenya, didn't like the look of the Highland Street hill before the race, and he wasn't fond of it afterward either. "It's too long," he said before Thursday's race. Ngtia familiarized himself with "Heartbreak Hill" after running it Wednes-

Manchester Road Race Notebook

John Doherty, two-time Manchester Road Race chamnion (1986, '87), and John Treacy, four-time winner and course record-holder, poked a little fun in the direction of this year's 6-7, 160-pound winner Chris Weber at the annual spaghetti dinner Wednesday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main Street.

"I can't wait to see the big tree running up the hill," Doherty joked, referring to Weber. When Treacy took the podium he began by saying, "The first thing I'm going to do tomorrow is tell Weber what Doherty said about him." The crowd at the dinner aughed up the discussion of Weber, who was not present at the dinner. Weber had the last laugh on Thanksgiving Day.

Technique helps override emotions during conflicts

ais. You are in the grocery store, pushing a loaded grocery cart from aisle to aisle, when suddenly another shopper rams your cart with his and shouts, "Watch where you're going, jerk!"

You've got about two seconds decide what to do or say next. Basically there are three courses of action: you could get angry and lash back; apologize for doing nothing wrong; or rationalize with the other person. But only one of these — rationalization — is the best solution, according to Dr. Susan Frampton, director of com-munity health and education at Manchester Memorial Hospital. The hypothetical situation was used by Frampton as an example
