role he played in the BNE failure, also heaped blame on regulators who he says suddenly changed their rules in 1989 to impose strict standards for loan valuation.

After years of rapid growth through mergers and extensive lending in the commercial real estate sector, Bank of New England and other BNE Corp. subsidiaries were declared insolvent Jan. 6 and taken over by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Bankers, federal regulators and lawmakers agree the bank failed primarily because it made excessive investments in the commercial real estate market, which plummeted in the recession.

Dad retorts, "She'll probably have to make one because he'll forget to buy one. She'll be in there [gestures toward the other room] in a panic with construction paper."

Such "sweet-talk" probably would diminish his chances of getting any card — store bought or homemade. But Ocellas noticed the poor timing of the remark and made a quick recovery, changing the subject to his daughter's future.

bill. Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell of Maine, who had vowed to keep the Senate in session until agreement was reached, said Republican senators wanted time to consult with all of their GOP colleagues and make sure there is a full understanding of the issues at stake.

Earlier, after senators offered a series of amendments he said were aimed at squandering more money out of the bill for their states, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., said the overall situation could be summed up in one word — "Flounder!"

"It is an ominous event, and those who think they will get more by being difficult may get nothing," said Moynihan, a principal architect of the legislation.

"And that is, perhaps, what they deserve, in the judgment of this senator," he said.

But other senators said Moynihan was overreacting and that despite some "chipping away" at the bill, its essential elements have been preserved.

They said these include the effort to give states great flexibility in spending half of the money the measure would provide to meet their individual transportation needs.

Town man attempts suicide at jail

MANCHESTER — A Manchester man attempted suicide in a jail cell at the Manchester Police Department Wednesday, the second such incident in six weeks, police said today.

In Wednesday's case, Patrick Nelson Labbee, 37, of 144 Center St., Apt. 9, was jailed on a charge of first-degree arson, three counts of threatening and breach of peace, police said.

Labbee was found on the floor of his jail cell by Officer David K. Lannan, the same officer who had arrested him. One end of his shoelaces were attached to a bar of the jail cell, while the other end of his shoelaces were tied around his neck, police said.

lawmakers. Connolly hedged, refusing to say the bank could have remained solvent had it not been for the sudden regulatory fervor.

He, in fact, agreed with a remark by Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., that "Regulation will always be limited."

"The failings in this situation were overwhelmingly in the private sector," Frank said. "There are limits to what the public sector can do."

"Through the years, examinations found problems — questions about the bank's rating of its risks, asset quality, poor loan underwriting, adequacy of loan losses and, ultimately, some serious management deficiencies," said Committee Chairman Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex.

"None of these triggered enough concern at OCC to sound a general alarm that could have sent examination troops in for a hands-on, on-site inspection of every aspect of the Bank of New England empire," Martin Marasco, national bank examiner for the OCC, acknowledged that he knew BNE was engaged in excessive real estate lending and noted it on reports of three bank reviews he led from 1980 through 1983.

Yeltsin declares Communism dead

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Yeltsin said Friday there was no way to save the Communist system, and his top priority as the Russian republic's first popularly elected president was pressing ahead with radical reforms.

Yeltsin said Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev telephoned him Friday to congratulate him on his election. The two men discussed their future cooperation, he said.

Yeltsin said his top priority was implementing more than 150 laws already passed by the Russian parliament, which make up his plan for radical economic reform.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush said Friday he wants to see the Soviets move toward genuine economic reform before the leaders of the world's wealthiest countries consider a request for a multibillion-dollar aid package.

The heads of the seven industrialized democracies, known as the Group of Seven, will gather in London one month from now to hear Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev explain what he wants from the West.

One plan being circulated was drawn up by a group of Harvard professors and a Soviet reformer with Gorbachev's encouragement. But the Soviet president has never formally endorsed the proposal, which calls for a phased transition to a private economy over a six-year period, supported by $20 billion to $35 billion in Western aid.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

Lazy labelling leaves lady livid

DEAR ABBY: Would you please do all the parents of small children (babies especially) a big favor and tell the manufacturers of infant and toddler clothing to stop labeling the clothes by age (3 to 6 months, 18 months, etc.)? Nothing could be more irrelevant.

Our 4-month-old son is in the 95th percentile for length and weight for his age group. His clothes labels read 12 and 18 months. His pediatrician says he is in all respects normal — just big (every bit of 21 pounds).

DEAR PAT: Your suggestion makes sense. Let's hope the folks who manufacture infant and toddler clothing take note.

DEAR ABBY: What's all the fuss about teen-agers keeping their rooms clean? I'm 50 now, but when I was a kid, my best friend Joe and his brother John shared a bedroom. Abby, that room was a disaster! You couldn't even find their beds. Their mother insisted on only one thing: They keep their door closed! Today, 35 years later, Joe is a highly successful businessman (his income is more than $1 million a year), and his brother is also earning big bucks as a research scientist.

DEAR PHOEOY: The job of a parent is to be a consistent and loving teacher of those less-than-adults who need to learn to survive and thrive. There are just so many things a parent can nag the kids about before they are either resented or tuned out. So the heavy artillery should be saved for the important battles. However, let's define our terms. There is a big difference between neatness and cleanliness. Neatness involves tidiness and orderliness. Cleanliness involves sanitation and hygiene. Cleanliness and sanitation are not ridiculous, nor do they stifle creativity.

PEOPLE

■ Jaime Escalante, the calculus teacher whose coaching of inner-city students inspired the movie "Stand and Deliver," says he is leaving Garfield High School when the school year ends next week.

Escalante cited differences with his colleagues and a desire for "a change of scenery" as reasons for leaving his 17-year post at the East Los Angeles school. He is going to a similar job in Sacramento.

"I am going to teach. That is the only thing I can do," he said.

His successful work with poor Hispanic students at Garfield High was chronicled in the 1988 film.

His students' scores in advanced placement calculus exams in 1982 were so stunning that administrators invalidated the results. Most of the 18 pupils retook the test and again attained passing scores.

Escalante said he will be teaching calculus next fall at Sacramento's Hiram Johnson High School, an ethnically diverse campus where only six students passed the advanced placement calculus test last year.

■ Olympic music star Randy Travis and longtime companion L.B. Hatcher were married last month in Hawaii, an aide said Friday.

They were married May 31 at a home they own in Maui, said Travis spokeswoman Evelyn Hatcher.

Hatcher, 49, is Travis' manager and has often been seen seated next to the 32-year-old singer at national television awards shows.

She has been married once previously. Travis had never been married.

The two acknowledged earlier this year that they have lived together for 12 years.

In a five-year career, Travis has sold more than 12 million records. His hits include "Forever and Ever, Amen" and "Heel Kick Mountain." His latest song, "Point of Light," was inspired by a phrase President Bush used during the 1988 campaign.

■ Olympic track star Wilma Rudolph will be listed in the World Book Encyclopedia for the first time thanks to some indignant elementary school pupils.

Rudolph set world records in the 100-meter and 200-meter races and anchored the winning American 400-meter relay team in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome. She was the first American woman to win three gold medals in the Olympics.

She now lives in Indianapolis, where she established the Wilma Rudolph Foundation to help disadvantaged young people.

A fourth-grade class at Jessup Elementary School in Indiana wanted to do a project on the woman who overcame hours with double pneumonia, scarlet fever, and polio to develop into a championship runner, but found she wasn't listed in the book.

"It wasn't fair. All the other famous people were in there," said Christopher Whipple, 10.

Breath exercises help ex-smokers

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm very frustrated concerning my inability to obtain health information about my chronic bronchitis and emphysema. Six years ago I stopped smoking and expected my lungs to begin improving and reconstructing after a period of time. Is there any recent research and development in this field?

DEAR READER: Chronic bronchitis and emphysema are two interrelated lung disorders. The former may lead to the latter.

Chronic bronchitis means long-standing inflammation of the bronchial passages, the narrow tubes that supply air to lung tissue. This inflammation typically causes repeated coughing, occasional sputum and difficulty breathing. It often results from cigarette smoking and air pollution, and may be aggravated by low-grade bronchial infection. Patients must give up tobacco products and avoid inhaled pollution such as smog and soot. Antibiotics may be necessary to combat infection. After therapy, patients usually experience pronounced improvement in their symptoms. The inflammation is reversible.

When untreated, however, chronic bronchitis can lead to permanent changes in the lungs. Such changes include destruction of alveoli (the tiny air sacs where oxygen and carbon dioxide exchange takes place), leading to lung over-expansion, shortness-of-breath and a chronic oxygen deficiency in the bloodstream. This is called emphysema and, basically, it is incurable. Nonetheless, it can be arrested in its early stages if the underlying chronic bronchitis is successfully treated.

In your case, your cigarette habit evidently caused irreversible and severe lung changes and emphysema. You may have stopped smoking too late to achieve much improvement.

Nevertheless, you can be helped. Special breathing exercises, modification of activity, medicine (such as bronchodilators and antibiotics) to reduce bronchial inflammation, and supplemental oxygen may enable you to lead a long and relatively independent life. Ask your doctor about such options.

At present, there is no breakthrough in the treatment of bronchitis-induced emphysema, which is due to permanent structural abnormalities in the lungs. The most successful method of preventing emphysema is never to have smoked at all. However, even heavy smokers who stop should enjoy a modest improvement in breathlessness because the bronchitis will regress, allowing more air to reach the lungs.

IGNORED UNTIL NOW — Track star Wilma Rudolph won three gold medals in the 1960 Olympics but was not listed in the World Book Encyclopedia as the first woman to do so. But she is now, thanks to the efforts of some fourth-graders in Maryland.

The students collected signatures for a petition and wrote the publisher after their teacher, Irma Thompson, said she told them "there are ways to show their feelings besides getting angry."

Gov. Ann Richards' hair and almost every aspect of her GOP rival, Clayton Williams, were roasted at an annual roast by Independent Action, a liberal non-profit group.

More than 600 people paid $500 a plate Thursday night for the kind of "low-down, big-time, fly-by-night" kind of deal that Texas Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero said is typical of roasts in Texas.

Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., revealed what Richards told Williams on the night she best him in the governor's race: "When defeat is inevitable, you should just shut back, relax and enjoy it."

In his failed campaign for governor last year, Williams likened bad weather to rain and said if it was inevitable, "just relax and enjoy it."

Local team gears up for CF benefit

By NICOLE LOZIER, Manchester Herald

MANCHESTER — Fuss & O'Neill Consulting Engineers is sponsoring a 10-member team in today's sixth annual 1991 Cigna Sports Challenge to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Twenty-nine teams sponsored by Connecticut businesses will attend the event sponsored by Cigna Co's. The event, held at Wesleyan University, will raise $27,000 for the foundation, according to organizers of the event.

The Fuss & O'Neill's team, self-titled "The Haz Mats," will vie for the "Best Dressed" team award with members wearing hazardous waste outfits.

"We love activities," said Patty Gerhart, personnel administrator and team co-captain. "Most of the people on the team are the ones you see involved in everything."

This is the first year the engineering firm has participated in the event, donating $500. Employees raised the remaining $250 needed to participate in the games.

"Hopefully we'll be able to raise more teams in the future," said team member and transportation engineer Bill Viet. "It's great to see other professionals in a non-business atmosphere."

"It's a good cause," said team co-captain Diane Sedar, a secretary for the firm. "It's an event where no follow employee is better."

When asked of their motivation in participating in the event, Dan O'Neill, a transportation engineer said, "We're just out to have a good time."

Volunteer teams have raised an entrance fee of $750 and will participate in basketball shooting, a relay race, obstacle course, tug-of-war and the standing long jump.

"We raised $5,062 our first year with eight teams," said Nicole DiPietro, Special Events Director for the Foundation. According to DiPietro, last year's donations totaled $22,000, also from 29 teams.

"This year we have a lot of new teams," said DiPietro. "Many of last year's teams were unable to participate because of the recession."

Cigna, which is sponsoring four teams this year, is the first company to sponsor the event that had been organized by Cystic Fibrosis.

After the discovery of the Cystic Fibrosis gene in 1989, scientists last year corrected the gene in laboratory dishes. Cystic Fibrosis is the leading genetic killer for children and young adults. The gene attacks the lungs and the digestive system and is always fatal.

School volunteers honored

COVENTRY — On Monday evening, May 20, 1991, the Coventry Board of Education recognized 39 volunteers who have given generously of their time and expertise to the Coventry Public Schools.

The Board of Education is comprised of Patrick Flaherty, Judith Halvorson, Pamela Sewell, Richard Ashley, Constance Lathrop, Paul Manzoni and Kathleen Ryan. Board members and Superintendent Michael Malinowski spoke briefly, each expressing gratitude for the many contributions made by the honorees. This was the sixth year in which the school principals were asked to nominate those citizens who have helped to enhance the educational program.

Present, there is no breakthrough in the treatment of bronchitis-induced emphysema, which is due to permanent structural abnormalities in the lungs. The most successful method of preventing emphysema is never to have smoked at all. However, even heavy smokers who stop should enjoy a modest improvement in breathlessness because the bronchitis will regress, allowing more air to reach the lungs.

BOY STRUCK — Paramedics attend to Ryan Jones, 8, of 118 Maple St., who was struck by a pickup truck Wednesday at the intersection of Maple and Spruce streets.

Three children struck by cars, all within minutes of each other MANCHESTER — Ryan Jones, 8, of 118 Maple St., was struck by a pickup truck Wednesday at the intersection of Maple and Spruce streets when he ran in front of the truck.

Jones was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

No charges were filed against the truck's driver, according to the police report. But it said Jones was verbally warned for reckless use of a highway by a pedestrian. Again, no charges were filed against the driver of the vehicle.

A third accident occurred less than an hour later when Daniel Collins, 11, of 23 Orchard St., rode his bicycle into a car, police reported. Collins, who was not injured, was given a verbal warning for unsafe operation of a vehicle, police reported. Again, the driver was not charged.

A similar accident occurred eight minutes later, when Alicia Bergman, 8, of 32 Hilliard St., ran into the path of an oncoming vehicle on Hilliard Street and was injured, police reported.

The report said she also was given a verbal warning for reckless use of a highway by a pedestrian. Again, no charges were filed against the driver of the vehicle.

MANCHESTER — The Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell Corporation's fourteenth season is in full swing, with about 1,000 in attendance at each of the first two performances already held at the band shell.

On Sunday the Jack D'Johns will present their versatile "up-beat" Band Shell News.

entertainment for the third consecutive year. This group adds new dimensions to both music and comedy, combining the two in an act that appeals to audiences of all ages.

They are a star attraction at exhibitions and fairs all over the United States and in Canada and are sure to receive an enthusiastic welcome back from our Band Shell audience.

They are being sponsored by the Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell Corporation — all performances begin at 7 p.m.

More chicken had to be bought during the festival last year because the tickets were not numbered and more of them were sold than chickens had been purchased before the event.

Tickets for this year's barbecue can be purchased in advance at concerts at the Band Shell, banks on Main Street, and they YWCA on North Main Street. Advance tickets are $6.50. Tickets sold at the celebration are $7, but because there are only 1,000, none may be left by then.

"So get them while they're hot," said Hopstead, referring — of course — to the tickets.

Donations will be solicited during the celebration.

Checks should be made payable to the Manchester Independence Day Celebration and sent to the Manchester State Bank, in care of Vice President Elsie Tartaglia, 1041 Main St., Manchester, Conn. 06040. The checks can also be dropped off at the bank.

that Taylor at a few days before his death on July 9, 1850, according to Greathouse. Mr. Rising was traveling Friday and could not be reached for comment.

Smith said Taylor, 65, did some things that could have contributed to his death.

"He sat out in the boiling sun bare-headed listening to a speech for a couple of hours and possibly suffered mild sunstroke, which wouldn't have been enough to do him in, but then he got back to the White House and ate cherries and cold milk," Smith said.

"The doctors gave him several concoctions and did terrible things to him," Smith said. "I say quite daily in my book if he hadn't had doctors, he would have survived."

Betsy Gist, a historian and friend of Rising who lives in Taylor's boyhood home near the cemetery, believes an anti-slavery position could have been a motive for killing Taylor, who brought California into the union as a free state.

Smith disagrees that the slavery issue would have been a motive.

"He owned 140 slaves but opposed trying to make slave states out of California and New Mexico," Smith said. "He tried to bring both of them in as states with each one making its own decision (on slavery). He didn't care whether it was pro or con."

New Mexico was not admitted to the union until 1912.

Although Taylor is credited with threatening military force when Southern states edged toward secession, Smith noted that Taylor's daughter, Mary, married Confederate President Jefferson Davis.

Smith said he sees nothing disrespectful about opening the crypt, "but I do think it's a waste of time."

Nicholas, along with his second-grade classmates at Powers, wrote to other soldiers during the conflict, and received over 400 replies — but Hill was the first who wrote back to Nicholas, on December 13, 1901.

"That made a big impression with the youngster, and he, along with his classmates, continued to correspond with Hill throughout the duration of the war."

"The effect on Hill was tremendous," he said that the letters sustained him throughout the war," Simonetti says.

On Thursday, Hill came to Nicholas' class, and finally met his 20 penpals.

"He is such a great guy — he wanted to meet the children and the teachers," Simonetti says. "He doesn't have children himself, because he's not married, so he feels like a big brother to them."

On Friday, he spoke to the entire student body to highlight Flag Day festivities at the school.

"It was a very moving assembly," Simonetti says.

During the assembly, Hill presented Nicholas' second-grade class and their teacher, Ms. Patricia Loftus, a plaque honoring them for their steadfast support.

On Friday night Hill's tour of Manchester continued, with a picnic in his honor at the Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell.

On Saturday, says Simonetti, he will give him a tour of downtown Hartford. Then on Sunday, Hill will arrive at Bradley Field, and following that, he will return to Fort Bragg.

Keep those cards, letters coming

WASHINGTON (AP) — The post office is looking for a few good letters.

The U.S. Postal Service announced Friday that it wants to publish a collection of correspondence from the Persian Gulf War and asked Americans to submit photocopies of cards and letters.

"Americans rediscovered the art of letter writing. We want to capture and share the emotions and feelings of our country at war," said Postmaster General Anthony Frank.

The Letters of Desert Storm will include letters between families, as well as a selection of letters from troops in Iraq back to the Civil War.

Anyone with a letter to share should send a copy, along with his name, address and phone number, to Letters of Desert Storm, U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, SW, Washington, D.C., 20266-1991.

If a letter is selected for publication, the person who sent it in will be contacted for permission before the book is issued.

the G-7 on this," Germany, however, has been more generous toward the activists than the United States, and Italy and Canada have been quite supportive. Japan, which has never formally ended World War II hostilities due to a territorial dispute, is least enthusiastic about extending aid to the Koreans.

One administration official said Bush and his subordinates have sought to make clear to the Soviets in numerous recent meetings, both in Washington and Moscow, that the Kremlin's current antireform program won't work and that the Soviets must move toward fundamental economic reform.

"As they do that — and only as they do that — are they going to be able to think about the kinds of stable Western assistance that they are interested in getting," the official said, speaking on condition he not be identified. "But that is not to say they would get it then. But from our point of view, they would and should get more if they're embarking on a serious reform program."

Despite years of reform talk and what critics refer to as halfhearted measures, the Gorbachev regime has yet to come to grips with such fundamental issues as the ownership of private property, lifting of price controls, adopting an anti-inflationary monetary policy and making the Soviet ruble convertible on world currency markets.

The antireform program decreased some price increases, but it relies on such measures as a national ban on strikes and mass demonstrations to try to restore stability. Meanwhile, production is dropping drastically, inflation is rising out of control.

Antique toasters inspire new book

By RUSS MACKENDRICK
Manchester Herald

Who'd have thought that there would be enough variety and pizzazz among bygone bread-coasters to inspire a book?

But yes indeed, there's word of a "Price Guide to Old Electrical Toasters, 1908-1940," by Howard Macdonell. (H.H. Pub's. Revised price list 1988-89).

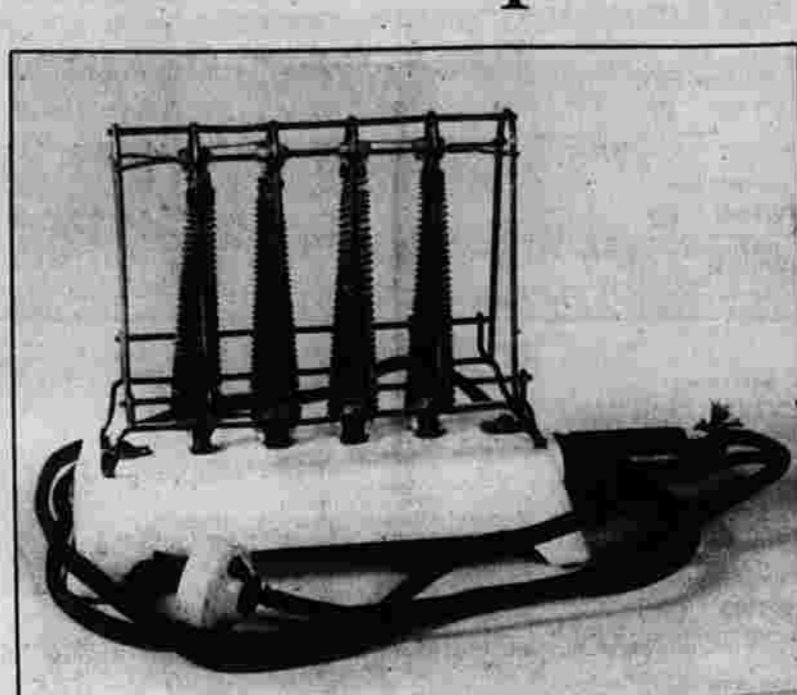

That work is not at hand but some general price guides are available.

helpful. First of all, L.C. Franklin's "Kitchen Collectibles," (pub. 1984), comes up with a photo of the exact same 4-armed item shown here: "General Electric Model D12," made in 1908-09. Porcelain base, unadorned, value $50-$65. "At a recent auction it went to well over $100."

On the same page are three

Author Franklin shows a sampling from some other makers, including a neat swing-out action "couldn't lose an English muffin down in this."

More info on these things can be found in Warman's 4th "Antiques & Collectibles." Here we see the first GE D12 priced at $125. And the proud producers of other manufacturers: Estate Stove Co., Knapp-Monarch, Manning Rowman, Chicago Flexible Shaft Co., Landers, Frary & Clark, et al.

Warman gives a chronology: In 1910 the Armstrong "Perc-O-Toaster," a two plug percolator with a slip-out toast rack in the base, ($60). By 1920-39 flip-flops were all over the place.

The first automatic pop-up (that created a gold mine for cartoonists), was the 1927 Toastmaster made by the Waters Center Co. of Minneapolis. The Model 1-A-1 was a single-slice, Art Deco, with bakelite controls ($80). The final model 1-A-3, coming in 1929, is listed at $35.

In 1938 we got a "Toast-O-Lator" out of Long Island, NY, that added the excitement of a slice of bread walking past a little window as it turned a lucious golden brown ($40).

former Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzhkov, received about 16 percent of the vote. This reported Yeltsin's ally, Gavril Popov and Anatoly Sobchak, were elected mayors of Moscow and Leningrad respectively, each with 65 percent of the vote against Communist opponents.

"The victory turned out to be convincing," he said. "I'm satisfied, but worried about the responsibilities that are going to be laid upon me for the fate of Russia and the rebirth of Russia."

Unlike Yeltsin, Gorbachev has never faced a direct election. Yeltsin said he thought there would be direct elections to the Soviet presidency after a new constitution is adopted.

Despite his promises of a better life, Yeltsin said life will not get better quickly.

"Improvement is possible at the end of 1992," he said. "We should be patient throughout this time."

Yeltsin seems eager to carve out an identity for Russians, separate from the Soviet Union.

"Russia should return to Europe, where it has been for 1,000 years," he said. "Return to Europe was a favorite phrase of Eastern Europeans during the 1989 pro-democracy revolutions that ousted Communist regimes."

Yeltsin said it was too early to say what would come of Gorbachev's invitation to a meeting of the seven industrialized nations, the Group of Seven, next month in London.

In Leningrad, voters approved a non-binding referendum that would drop the name of the Soviet founder and Communist revolutionary leader Vladimir Lenin in favor of the city's czarist name, St. Petersburg. Yeltsin said he supported the choice of the majority vote.

Hard-line newspapers made little attempt to hide their dismay Friday. The conservative Sovietistaysa Rossiya newspaper complained that many voters, unaccustomed to popular elections, didn't understand how to cast their ballots.

United States is significant: 800 owned or franchise stores in its operation to date.

Uniquely, mature adults comprise the large majority of operators of Postal Annex franchises.

Says Lentz: "Our average age of a franchise purchaser is 50 to 55; most are couples who want to invest in a retirement transition from careers in the military, teaching, government, banking, manufacturing and other service fields."

The start-up costs include all equipment, signage, training, franchise fees and a store-of-inventory for immediate sales and income.

Mature adults, particularly, have zeroed in on the transition, rather than retirement, opportunity with Postal Annex. The businesses do have a value if owners want to turn them over, later, to children or grandchildren, or may be sold to return all investment and possible appreciation based on the success of the location, according to Lentz.

Information and a prospectus on the franchise system are available by contacting Jack Lentz, president, Postal Annex, 9050 Friars Road, Suite 400, San Diego, CA 92108.

It's retirement the end or the start of something? For Jack Lentz, the time of retirement meant creating new directions. He has sold the yacht bought early in his career and is in the closet. He and Mary are working together daily and successfully.

He states emphatically: "No, I'm not talking about retirement anymore, at least not for 10 years — or perhaps never."

A Willington firefighter on his way to work had also stopped and applied a tourniquet to the man's arm in an attempt to stop the bleeding, MacDonald said.

Paramedics called for Life Star shortly after arriving at the scene, he said. The helicopter landed in the highway's commuter lane.

A small flatbed truck was also involved in the accident. Apparently, the two trucks collided and the time and what critics refer to as halfhearted measures, the Gorbachev regime has yet to come to grips with such fundamental issues as the ownership of private property, lifting of price controls, adopting an anti-inflationary monetary policy and making the Soviet ruble convertible on world currency markets.

The antireform program decreased some price increases, but it relies on such measures as a national ban on strikes and mass demonstrations to try to restore stability. Meanwhile, production is dropping drastically, inflation is rising out of control.

Prospective franchisees should be able to invest approximately $85,000 — "Our company may carry the financing on a third of that," says Lentz — plus another $25,000 to $30,000 for operating costs.

Pippen signs five-year pact

CHICAGO (AP) — Scottie Pippen has signed an $18 million, five-year contract extension with the Chicago Bulls, a published report said Friday.

The deal was signed in Chicago last week after Game 2 of the NBA Finals, the Chicago Tribune reported.

It had to be signed before midnight of the last game of the NBA Finals in order for the team to use the money available under their 1990-91 salary cap, the Tribune reported. After the finals, any salary agreement comes for the next year.

Bulls officials would neither confirm nor deny the report.

The Bulls had avoided using about $1.6 million of their annual limit on players' salaries, hoping to sign Yugoslav star Toni Kukoc, and Pippen will receive most of that money, the newspaper said.

Guard John Paxson and center Bill Cartwright, both off 30, become free agents and can negotiate with any NBA team without the Bulls having the right to match the offer or to receive compensation if either decides to leave.

White three-hits Locks; Post 102 wins Zone opener

By JIM TIERNEY
Manchester Herald

MANCHESTER — Dave White didn't expect to get the call.

But, after it came, he answered with authority.

White hung up Windsor Locks on three hits as Manchester Legion Post 102 opened its Zone Eight campaign with a 3-0 victory Friday night at Manchester Community College's McCormick Field.

Manchester 1-0 in the Zone and 4-2 overall, which has won three in a row, is back in action today at noon, facing Enfield at Fernald High School in Zone Eight action. Sunday, Post 102 hosts Ellington in a Zone Eight doubleheader, beginning at 7 p.m. at the same venue.

Windsor Locks drops to 0-3 in the Zone, 1-4 overall.

Off Manchester fifth righthander, White walked two and struck out three in his complete game effort. White's counterpart, Dennis Bassett, also went the distance. Bassett, who held Manchester hitless until the fifth inning, walked one and fanned five.

"He (White) wasn't even on the scheduled starter," Manchester coach Bill DiVeyo said. "John Bowes was scheduled to go but he had a 102 fever. So, David got the call. We've got ourselves a big weekend because we play four (games) in three days. David really set a nice tone for us out there today. Fundamental baseball."

White, usually a reliever, was pleased with his outing.

"I had a lot of control," White said. "I had confidence in the team. We're a good team and we knew we'd break through."

The game was scoreless until Post 102 came to bat in the fifth.

Cleanup hitter Jamie Lockwood led off Manchester fifth with a solid single to centerfield, the first hit off Bassett.

With two strikes on him, Frank

In Brief . . .

MCC Relays begin today

MANCHESTER — The 16th annual Manchester Community College New England Relays will begin today with the track and field events at Manchester High School followed by the Four-Mile Road Race Sunday at MCC. Also, a 2.5-mile roadwalk will be held, starting 10 minutes after the road race.

The highlighted track events will be the Christie McCormick Connecticut Mile, scheduled to go off at 12:10 p.m. Also, Maryann Torralva of Clinton will try to break the American record in the 1,500-meter roadwalk set to go off at 12:20 p.m.

Torralva owns the American record in the mile track walk.

Approximately 200 athletes will compete in the track and field portion of the Relays with 400 expected for the Road Race.

The Junior Relays (boys and girls aged 8-13) begin this morning at 9.

Leroy Burrell sets world record

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Burrell, the world's top-ranked sprinter, smashed the world record in the men's 100-meter dash on Friday, clocking 9.90 seconds in the Mobil National Championships.

Burrell's sensational time broke the record of 9.92 set by Carl Lewis during the 1988 Olympics at Seoul, South Korea.

Burrell's previous best was 9.94 in winning the 1989 national championships at Houston.

In winning Friday, Burrell beat Lewis, who finished in 9.93. Dennis Mitchell finished third in 10.00 and earned the third spot on the United States team for the world track and field championships at Tokyo in August.

Payne Stewart leads U.S. Open

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — It seems only fitting that in this, of all the 91 U.S. Opens ever played, the leader should be among the walking wounded.

Payne Stewart, wearing a back brace in deference to an ailment that shelved him for much of the season, slipped into sole control of the lead with a solid 70 Friday as the injury toll continued to mount.

One day after a lightning storm took the life of one man and sent five others to hospitals, two spectators were treated and released from hospitals after the collapse of a stairway leading to bleachers at the ninth green.

With a good night's sleep behind him and no trouble with the herniated disc, Stewart put together a solid, down-the-middle, on-the-green effort that enabled him to reach the tournament halfway point at 137.

Nolan Henke, who shared the first-round lead with Stewart, could not match his almost monotonous string of 10 consecutive pars and slipped into a tie for second at 138 with Corey Pavin and Scott Simpson.

White three-hits Locks; Post 102 wins Zone opener

By JIM TIERNEY

MANCHESTER — Dave White didn't expect to get the call.

But, after it came, he answered with authority.

White hung up Windsor Locks on three hits as Manchester Legion Post 102 opened its Zone Eight campaign with a 3-0 victory Friday night at Manchester Community College's McCormick Field.

Manchester 1-0 in the Zone and 4-2 overall, which has won three in a row, is back in action today at noon, facing Enfield at Fernald High School in Zone Eight action. Sunday, Post 102 hosts Ellington in a Zone Eight doubleheader, beginning at 7 p.m. at the same venue.

Windsor Locks drops to 0-3 in the Zone, 1-4 overall.

Off Manchester fifth righthander, White walked two and struck out three in his complete game effort. White's counterpart, Dennis Bassett, also went the distance. Bassett, who held Manchester hitless until the fifth inning, walked one and fanned five.

"He (White) wasn't even on the scheduled starter," Manchester coach Bill DiVeyo said. "John Bowes was scheduled to go but he had a 102 fever. So, David got the call. We've got ourselves a big weekend because we play four (games) in three days. David really set a nice tone for us out there today. Fundamental baseball."

White, usually a reliever, was pleased with his outing.

"I had a lot of control," White said. "I had confidence in the team. We're a good team and we knew we'd break through."

The game was scoreless until Post 102 came to bat in the fifth.

Cleanup hitter Jamie Lockwood led off Manchester fifth with a solid single to centerfield, the first hit off Bassett.

With two strikes on him, Frank

Gauvain laid down a perfect bunt single to place runners at first and second base with no outs. White followed with another picture-perfect bunt, sacrificing the runners to second and third.

Facing a drawn-in infield, Brian Igoe bounced a single up the middle, scoring Lockwood with the first run of the game. No. 8 hitter Matt Daleasio deposited an RBI-single to rightfield, plating Gauvain with the second run.

No. 9 hitter Kevin Bottomley finished off the scoring by squeezing home Igoe.

"We had to do something," DiVeyo said. "We put everything into that one inning and played that solid defense. I think it's a tribute to the team. We're really not hitting at the top of the order right now."
