Congress hears telemarketing pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal prisoner, whose company defrauded consumers in telephone sales pitches, told a House hearing on Friday how he did it. He said he listened carefully to a former assistant police chief who was one of the firm's victims. Both men testified on separate panels and did not confront each other. Smooth-talking inmate Thomas Newberry gave his old sales pitch. He promised "customers" in the hearing room a home entertainment system and a $500 rebate check - if they purchased products such as ball point pens for $496.12.

Deficit reaches record in May

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government posted a record $53.55 billion deficit in May, wiping out a surplus in April and surpassing the previous monthly high set 14 months ago, the Treasury said Friday. The May imbalance boosted the gap for the first eight months of fiscal 1991 to $175.0 billion, up from $151.49 billion during the same period last year. Revenues so far this year totaled $68.51 billion, up 2.9 percent from the first eight months of fiscal 1990. Outlays totaled $86.51 billion, 5.3 percent more than was spent during the same period in fiscal 1990. The Bush administration projects the deficit will be less than $300 billion in fiscal 1991, although it would break the previous yearly record of $221.1 billion set in fiscal 1986. The deficit totaled $220.4 billion in fiscal 1990. Revenues in May totaled $63.56 billion, down from $69.21 billion in May 1990. Revenues totaled $140.38 billion during April as the income tax filing deadline arrived. Income taxes in May totaled $20.0 billion, down from $77.77 billion a month earlier.

Panel seeks board's view on treasurer

By BRIAN M. TROTTER Manchester Herald

MANCHESTER - The Charter Revision Commission will ask several members of the Board of Directors to appear before the commission to clarify their recommendations on the structure of the town treasurer's office. Last week, the Republican members of the board asked the commission to reconsider its recommendation that the town retain its system of having a part-time, elected treasurer. Director Ronald Oesella said Manchester is large enough to need a full-time employee.

But Thursday, charter commission members said they did not understand why the Republicans referred the issue back to them before the hearing. Stephen T. Penty, vice chairman of the commission, said he had an agreement with the treasurer's office. "If such an agreement was reached April 2, that leaves you with the question 'Why is this back before us?'" said Stephen T. Penty, vice chairman of the commission. Commission member A. Paul Berte said the commission should invite Oesella and Democrat Stephen...

Court clothes exotic dancers

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) - Customers at JR's Kitty Kat Lounge won't be seeing anything they haven't seen before - the one-time nude dancers have been wearing G-string and pasties for months. The U.S. Supreme Court on Friday upheld an Indiana public indecency law challenged by the Kitty Kat. The law bans nude dancing in bars and other adult-only establishments. The court ruled that the law doesn't violate First Amendment protection of speech and expression when applied to dancers in bar-room-style dancing. Dixie, a nude dancer at Tops 'N Tails in Atlanta, was unconvincing. "If we're going to go nude, I think that should be fine. I mean, it's our own bodies, and we should be able to display it how, who, when and how long we want to," she said. "When they start telling you that you can't do something with your own body, that's just getting out of control. What happens to your own individuality?"

St. Joseph County Prosecutor Michael P. Barnes, who was a defendant in the lawsuit, said it was "inconceivable to think the framers of the Constitution would apply to nude dancing." But Dixie said the attempt at regulation could have a larger effect. "We're making a lot of good things happen. I mean, people come on Bolton High School is small. But, our graduates go onto prestigious schools," the honor student said. "Good things do come in small packages."

Bolton: small but spirited high

By SCOTT B. BREDE Manchester Herald

BOLTON - When Sara Jane Hathaway entered Bolton High School four years ago she questioned her math skills. But, through her teachers' tutoring, Hathaway conquered decimals, coins, and even logarithms. "Here, I am not student No. 228. I am Sara Jane Hathaway," she told the 78 other members of her graduating class Friday night. "Bolton High School is small. But, our graduates go onto prestigious schools," the honor student said. "Good things do come in small packages."

The small size of the graduating class was not reflected in the numbers of family members and friends who attended the school's 21st graduation ceremony. Hundreds of people gathered on the lawn behind the school to witness the event. Anna Marie DeBald, another honor student, expressed a similar message in her address. "Because we come from a small school, our friends know us almost as well as we know ourselves," DeBald said. Please see BOLTON, page 6.

Blumenthal seeks state high court ruling

BRIDGEPORT (AP) - Attorney General Richard Blumenthal on Friday asked that a hearing on the constitutionality of the Bridgeport Financial Review Board be moved to the state Supreme Court. At issue is whether the review board, created by state law three years ago, has authority over the city's finances. It is one of several legal questions that have come up since Bridgeport filed for federal bankruptcy protection June 6. The state has asked that the bankruptcy petition be blocked on several grounds, including that the city could not file the petition because the review board had forbid such action.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Alan H.W. Shiff had scheduled a hearing for Wednesday on the review board issue. He made no decision Friday on the state's motions, but both sides are scheduled to meet with Shiff on Monday. "We feel that it's an issue of critical importance to all of Connecticut... because it concerns the relationship between the state government and its municipalities," Blumenthal said. Shiff raised the question of the board's constitutionality last Wednesday, when he asked attorneys for the state and the city to address the issue, Blumenthal said. The attorney general said the issue would eventually reach the state Supreme Court anyway, and acting on it now would help resolve it more quickly. But Richard Zesler, an attorney for the city, said the move was an attempt to delay the bankruptcy case. "These last-minute attempts to transfer will undoubtedly cause some delay in the proceedings," he said. "We'd like to get this thing done as soon as possible."

The city has viewed the review board's status in Bridgeport as uncertain since immediately after the bankruptcy filing. On June 7, the panel approved its own $319 million budget. Bridgeport after concluding the city's budget was unneeded.

Fire guts shop

By RICK SANTOS and SCOTT B. BREDE Manchester Herald

BOLTON - Volunteer firefighters from Bolton and several surrounding towns battled the scorching heat for more than three hours Friday as flash fire ran rampant through the Bolton Auto Body shop on Route 6. No injuries resulted from the blaze. But the fire, which began at about 2 p.m., left the building's interior almost completely gutted, said Bolton Fire Chief James Preuss. Between 40 to 45 volunteer fire fighters from Bolton, North Coventry, Hebron, Andover, Columbia and Vernon fought the fire.

Dairy protest melts

By MELISSA B. ROBINSON Herald Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON - A threatened protest of the annual Capitol Hill ice cream party failed to come off Thursday when Ben Cohen of the Vermont-based Ben and Jerry's Homemade Inc. called in sick. Cohen was to show up at the bash - where free dishes of ice cream, root beer floats, and sundae were handed out to thousands of lawmakers, congressional staffers and guests - to ask his fellow milk processors to voluntarily pay farmers more for their milk. Ben & Jerry's earlier this year started paying farmers more than the market price for milk. Cohen, the chief executive officer of the highly...

Agents behead China drug ring

By SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -

"The head of the dragon" was sliced from an Asian drug ring with the arrest of four people and the seizure of more than half a ton of pure heroin, the largest such haul in U.S. history, federal agents said Friday. The seizure, valued at up to $4 billion, roughly equaled a month's supply for the nation's 500,000 estimated addicts, said Carol Halle, commissioner of the U.S. Customs Commissioner. "We know that the amount of heroin coming into the United States is on the increase," Halle said at a news conference, adding that cocaine smuggling had not diminished.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

She's shattered by shyster sham

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend moved in with me six months before our wedding date. I bought my dress and my mother's, and started making plans for our wedding. Two weeks later, my boyfriend said he wanted to postpone our wedding for another year. A month later, he came home and said, "I'm moving out. I don't want to live with you anymore, and I have also decided I don't want to get married."

I was very upset about his change of mind because I really love him. Then I told myself, "It is better to find out now that I can't depend on him," but my heart was broken anyway.

Three months later he came over and said he still loves me and wants to move back in with me again. Abby, I still love him, but I am wondering if I should let him move back.

Please help me make a decision. My wedding dress is still in the box. My family says I should forget him.

DEAR HURTING: Don't let him move back in with you. And while you are "still hurting," don't let him back into your life. Please get professional counseling (your local mental health association is in your phone book). Through counseling, you will find out why you still "love" a man who has treated you so shabbily.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently lost our cat that we raised from a tiny kitten. We had "Sadie" for 15 years, and because we never had any children, Sadie was our "baby." If we knew how old in human years Sadie would be, perhaps we could deal with her death much better. Please help us. We are both finding this loss hard to get over.

NBC's durable "The Cosby Show" will start its eighth and final season this fall. Then Bill Cosby will try something completely different — a new daily version of Cosmo Marx's "You Bet Your Life" game show.

But his new show, which he'll host, won't be on a network, Cosby spokesman David Brokaw said Friday. It will be sold in syndication to television stations, with a planned start in the fall of 1992, Brokaw said.

The show will be produced by Cosby and the Carney-Werner Company, which makes his NBC series. The company said Cosby will search the U.S. for contestants and has expressed a desire to take the new show on the road.

The new version of "You Bet Your Life" is designed for the time period just before the networks start their prime time programming. It will air Mondays through Fridays.

With Marx as its host, the series began on radio in 1947. It was on NBC-TV from 1950 to 1961, and contestants won money by correctly answering questions on history and other topics, or by happening to say the daily secret word.

Kevin Costner invited a dying teenager to a sneak preview of "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves" when he heard the boy was eager to see his movie but didn't expect to live until opening night.

Sean Dunlap, 14, said he was looking forward to the movie "but it wasn't opening until June 14 and he wouldn't be there," said his mother, Karen. The boy has muscle cancer for 11 years.

Country music crooner Rodney Bond, a Vietnam-era Navy veteran, is singing his heart out to keep the USS Lexington in Florida after the historic aircraft carrier is decommissioned.

Bond and his band, Country Connection, have recorded "The Ballad of the Lady Lee" and are offering half the proceeds from sales of their $10 album to a Pensacola-based foundation bidding to turn the ship into a floating museum.

Bond also offered to give fund-raising concerts for the project.

Pensacola, the Lexington's home port for 29 years, is in competition with Mobile, Ala., Corpus Christi, Texas, and Quincy, Mass., for the carrier after it is retired in November.

Exercise helps psoriasis a little

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently read a pamphlet written by a doctor stating that psoriasis is normally caused by liver dysfunction and can usually be cured by exercise, diet and herbal tablets. My question is not whether this really helps me, but whether it can be harmful.

The list of Democratic measures subject to veto threats is long, and getting longer, part of a veto strategy the White House tries to use as more than a last resort.

Bush seeks to make the veto an offensive weapon, too, to seek compromise, demand concessions and try to get his own way.

WASHINGTON — Seeking Republican reinforcements, President Bush complains that he's reduced to "playing defense" in Congress. That means vetoing.

Puppetry masters confer

WATERFORD (AP) — A green monster dances, a purple man plays the saxophone and a string of other fuzzy, floppy creatures bounce and sing. But don't call this mere child's play.

Puppeteers from around the country are at the Eugene O'Neill Theater Center this week for the National Puppetry Conference, billed as the first instructional conference where professionals can come to develop their skills.

"This is the vanguard of the puppet world," Brad Breuer of New York City said as he cradled a 2-foot New Guinea man with fluffy blue hair on his right arm. "We're studying with the best."

The 21 students spent much of the last week learning to play to the camera, some in hopes of making the jump from puppet theater to the more lucrative world of television and film.

"It's very hard to make a living as a live puppeteer," said Jane Henson, the widow of Muppeteer Jim Henson, and a member of the O'Neill Center's board of trustees.

"Television is such a different medium, and if these people do it then they will have a better chance at succeeding."

The students are working with Muppets, the creatures invented by Jim Henson that blend the movements of marionettes and hand-held puppets. Students built their own Muppets in workshops taught by professional Muppet designers during the 10-day convention, which ends Monday.

"When you see Kermit the Frog, you never think about how he works," Laughlin said. "You just know it's Kermit."

Drums, bagpipes to sound at shell

The Manchester Biennial Band Shell Corp. will spotlight a variety of programs this weekend. Tonight, the Nathan Hale Fire and Drum Corps will simulate an 18th century environment with music, dress and drill of colonial days. Accompanying the corp will be their marching band.

Highlanders, St. Patrick's Pipe Band and the Manchester Pipe Band. There will be performances by each band both on stage and off in addition to selections by the massed bands.

On Monday, the Spinners Band and the "Special Delivery Singers" will be featured. Enjoy the musical selections and sounds of "Get Happy," "My Fair Lady" melody and other tunes and join in the sing-along of familiar airs. The evening is sponsored by Ashford Lifecare Community, a rain date for this event is Friday.

The Sphinx Temple Shrine Concert Band will be under the spotlight on Tuesday. The program is dedicated to the memory of Hal Turkington, long-time band member, and is sponsored by the Manchester Biennial Band Shell Corp. Sphinx Temple Band was organized in 1899 and has been in continuous existence. The band is one of hundreds of Shrine Units throughout North America that perform to support the nineteen Shrine orthopedic hospital and three burns institutes, where care is provided without cost to the patients. The concert will begin at 7:00 p.m. and consist of a variety of music from military marches to "rock."

Come back to the Band Shell on Wednesday to a fantastic performance by "Dan-a-tion," a 40s-to-90s Jazz Band. There is no better place to relax, stay cool and be entertained in a cultural atmosphere than the Band Shell in Manchester. Admission to the Band Shell is free; however, free will donations are accepted. Bring chairs to the Band Shell. DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm female, age 41 and have an embarrassing problem. I urinate constantly and can't seem to hold my urine any length of time at all. It seems or cough is a disaster. I've been checked for bladder infections, and one doctor even used a catheter to take urine. What's my problem?

DEAR READER: I believe you are suffering from a common female disorder called "stress incontinence." This physical affliction results from a weakness at the bladder opening, often after childbirth. A urologist should be able to diagnose your problem and, if necessary, refer you to a gynecologist for possible surgery to correct the weakness.

Stress incontinence is not a health hazard but, as you have discovered, it is an embarrassing annoyance.

Fatal count mounts in Sri Lanka attack

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — A suicide car bomb attack at the army's anti-guerrilla warfare center killed scores of people Friday, military officials said. They blamed Tamil rebels for the attack.

Up to 60 people, including 20 civilians, died in the explosion at the heavily fortified Joint Operations Command in the heart of Colombo, officials said. The government reported 20 dead, mostly soldiers, and more than 50 injured.

Two men in a van with more than 150 pounds of plastic explosives tried to drive into the base at about 10 a.m., said Walter Fernando, a deputy secretary in the defense ministry.

When guards barred their way, the men detonated the charge, instantly killing the two men and at least six soldiers, Fernando said. The blast blew the roof off the sprawling colonial-style building and heavily damaged military barracks across the street.

It damaged 50 houses and 20 cars, and sent hundreds of people screaming through the residential neighborhood.

The U.S. Embassy said all 20,000 military family members have now left Subic. The naval base's population swelled by nearly 15,000 when the Air Force evacuated troops and dependents from Clark after the nearby volcano began erupting for the first time in more than 600 years.

An Air Force spokesman, Maj. Wayne Crist, also announced that at least 268 people have been killed in two weeks of eruptions by the 4,795-foot volcano.

DePold said there are three categories that students can fall in once they graduate from high school: those who strive to make a difference, those who accept the world as it is and those who have a negative impact on society. "Our challenge is to fit into this first category," she said. "We all have the potential of making a difference in this world." Valdeletrian Rebecca Lyn Carrier recalled a night in January when she was filling out her college applications. Carrier said she remembered walking into her family room and finding out that a war in the Persian Gulf had begun. "Suddenly, all I really wanted was to spend time with my family," she said.

The day after the war began, Carrier said she noticed that everyone at school was a lot sicker to each other. She urged her classmates to recall those days in January and use them as a guideline for their lives. Board of Education Chairman James Marshall recalled an experience he had with one of the graduates who lives in his neighborhood. "In all the years that he has been my neighbor, I've never seen him walk to school," Marshall said, pointing out that the student, a hockey player, never seemed to

Antigua-Barbuda is another tiny Caribbean member of the UN with a zillion stamps. Part of a recent issue of bird pictures is given here, mainly to showcase the "Blue-headed Euphonia." The $4 value. How many euphonias do you see around? (Euphonia, Johnny, it means a beautiful chirp.) The set is made up of eight stamps and two souvenir sheets. It may be obtained from the Inter-Governmental Philatelic Corp., 460 West 34th Street, New York, NY 10001. That $4 would be about $1.50 out money. It shows an ice-breaker doing duty in

Eight-run first lifts Newman over Capitols

Newington went to work against Newman starter Doug Pettio. Three hits, two walks and a fielder's choice produced three runs in the last of the first as Pettio continually pitched behind in the count. The damage might have been worse, but the first baseman Steve Choinier made a fine play corraling a grounder off the bat of Dave Rose and throwing out a runner at second base. "Nothing comes easy to this team," Johnson said. "Every game is a thrill with these guys. But, we don't quit either." Newington showed no signs of quitting, tallying single runs in the first five innings to cut the gap to 8-5. However, the Capitols squandered several scoring opportunities while stranding nine runners through the first five innings. Meanwhile, the Newman bats fell silent after the first inning. Commission members were split on the directors' recommendation that the commission rescind its proposal to double the directors' salaries. "They've got to be out of their minds to run for this job to begin with," said Beverly Malone, who supported the raises. "No amount of money will properly compensate them for this."

Red Sox edge Athletics, 3-2

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Bolton struggled through seven-plus innings and Luis Rivera hit in the park-home Friday night as the Boston Red Sox edged the Oakland Athletics 3-2. Bolton (7-4) allowed 10 hits, including Jose Canseco's seventh homer in 10 games and Rickey Henderson's four consecutive singles, but was tough in the clutch. After Canseco led off the eighth with his 16th homer and Harold Baines doubled, Jeff Reardon replaced Bolton. Terry Steinbach beat out a bunt single but Reardon struck out Mark McGwire and got Ernest Riles to ground into Boston's fourth double play. Reardon then retired the side in order for his 19th save. Oakland starter Mike Moore (8-6) pitched a complete-game six-inning, but walked seven and struck out only one as the A's lost for the sixth time in eight games on their current road swing. The Red Sox jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning after Jody Reed walked and Wade Boggs singled. Jack Clark knocked in Reed with an opposite-field double and Mike Greenwell beat out an infield single, driving in Boggs. The A's got one run back in the third on Henderson's single and Dave Henderson's looping double to right. With two outs in the sixth, Boston made it 3-1 as Rivera sliced a fly ball about 300 feet to right. Canseco bobbled, but couldn't make the catch, and the ball bounced to the warning rack. Central Ct. hoop coach resigns

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — Mike Brown resigned as Central Connecticut State coach on Friday to return to Seton Hall as an assistant coach. Brown said he decided last week to resign because he wanted to live in New York near his ailing mother. Brown, who was hired before the 1988-89 season, returns to the post he left at Seton Hall. He was a Pizza assistant from 1982-83 through the 1987-88 season and was credited with helping to recruit some of the players who helped turn Seton Hall into a Big East power. Brown posted a 20-64 record in three seasons at Central, but said he was under no pressure to resign. "I didn't experience the success I would have liked, and I'm disappointed in my own inability to do what I thought we could do, but there was no pressure," he said. The Blue Devils' record steadily declined under Brown. They went 10-18, 6-22 and 4-24. Judith Davidson, director of athletics, said a nationwide search will be conducted to find a replacement. A search committee is being formed, she said.

Red Sox edge Athletics, 3-2

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Bolton struggled through seven-plus innings and Luis Rivera hit in the park-home Friday night as the Boston Red Sox edged the Oakland Athletics 3-2. Bolton (7-4) allowed 10 hits, including Jose Canseco's seventh homer in 10 games and Rickey Henderson's four consecutive singles, but was tough in the clutch. After Canseco led off the eighth with his 16th homer and Harold Baines doubled, Jeff Reardon replaced Bolton. Terry Steinbach beat out a bunt single but Reardon struck out Mark McGwire and got Ernest Riles to ground into Boston's fourth double play. Reardon then retired the side in order for his 19th save. Oakland starter Mike Moore (8-6) pitched a complete-game six-inning, but walked seven and struck out only one as the A's lost for the sixth time in eight games on their current road swing. The Red Sox jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning after Jody Reed walked and Wade Boggs singled. Jack Clark knocked in Reed with an opposite-field double and Mike Greenwell beat out an infield single, driving in Boggs. The A's got one run back in the third on Henderson's single and Dave Henderson's looping double to right. With two outs in the sixth, Boston made it 3-1 as Rivera sliced a fly ball about 300 feet to right. Canseco bobbled, but couldn't make the catch, and the ball bounced to the warning rack. Canseco retrieved the ball and

Nighthawks for sale
NEW HAVEN (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings are negotiating the sale of their American Hockey League affiliate, the New Haven Nighthawks, to a private investor, according to a published report. The New Haven Register on Friday quoted sources as saying the potential buyer has a history of sports franchise acquisition and is not from New Haven. The Kings bought the Nighthawks from New Haven developer Joel Schiavone before the 1989-90 season. New Haven was the 12th in attendance in the 15-team AHL in 1990-91, averaging only about 3,000 fans a game.
