Atomic Bomb Given Credit

Churchill Discloses in Commons Plans for Series of Battles Laid

London, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, who guided Great Britain through all but the last days of the war, told Commons today that the atomic bomb "more than any other factor" brought about the sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan.

For the first time, he disclosed that he and President Truman had approved elaborate plans at the Potsdam conference for a series of great battles and landings in Manchuria, the Netherlands East Indies, the Philippines and elsewhere.

"We did not know how long the resistance of Japan would last," he said.

Churchill spoke as leader of the government's Conservative opposition, a position to which he was elected by the July election. He yielded his position as a Big Three leader late in the Potsdam conference to Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Stalin informed of Bomb—Generalissimo Stalin was informed that "we contemplated using an explosive of incomparable power against Japan," he said. "It is this atomic bomb, more than any other factor, that we may ascribe the sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan."

Churchill, in the opposition bench, he told the House of Commons that he had in Great Britain during the last days of the war, and that the atomic bomb in New Mexico were attended by "success beyond all dreams which crowned this war, magnificent victory of our American Allies."

Will Touch Off Debate
Churchill's outline of the opposition's attitude will touch off the traditional debate on the government's program as presented in the king's opening message yesterday.

According to custom Churchill's Laborite successor, Prime Minister Clement Attlee, will reply in support of the program.

The Bank of England and the coal mines were stated as first to be nationalized in the king's speech which according to custom was prepared by the new prime minister and outlined the Laborite program.

Predictions were that the Conservative opposition—badly outnumbered—would avoid an early vote by refraining from proposing any amendments to the king's message, which is the traditional

Campus Note

New York—Ready to sound over the death knell to the Stoppie Joe look on the nation's campuses are junior fashions which combine youth with high-style tailoring.

Out to dress high school and college girls to their serious-minded, growing-up roles, designers come up with "young black" dresses, bean-catcher frocks with picture-book charm, two-piece suits subtly flavored with elegance, casual frocks which are anything but Stoppie Joe.

In America and England

an American name that is the choice of the parents can be given to a child but in France and Germany there is a prescribed list of saints and heroes known in ancient history and babies' names must be taken from that list.

Income Taxes Cut Is Likely After Jan. 1

percentage cut off his taxes than the fellow making $25 a week.

People in the lowest income group would be the ones whose income taxes might be wiped out entirely.

A survey of congressional and other tax authorities today predicted the following picture:

1. No tax reductions are likely on 1945 income. The expected out would be felt first in smaller pay-roll deductions starting Jan. 1. It would not affect the filing of 1945 income tax returns next March 15.

2. Federal taxes on such items as alcoholic beverages, fire, jug, game, jewelry, theater tickets, cannot avoid reduction. The government calls will drop back down automatically to 1942 rates six months after the official termination of wartime controls are crumbling.

3. The coming postwar era will see gasoline coupons and blue ration points in the waste basket.

4. The price of such commodities as wheat, sugar, and other staples will be free.

5. The House Ways and Means committee plans to whip together a tax bill this fall, although there won't be time before Jan. 1 to cover every phase of the subject.

6. The "normal tax"—3 per cent of net income—used to be called the "war-time tax" because it was passed as a wartime measure.

7. The Treasury proposed the "victory tax" in the first place.

8. If the "normal tax" were repealed, what is known as the "war-time tax" would be the only income tax left.

9. A War Tax Would Decrease—A man with a wife and one child, earning $3,000 a year, would see his tax drop from $11 to $24. That's a cut of over 20 per cent.

10. If he earns $4,000, the tax would decrease from $21 to $47—or 15 per cent.

11. If he earns $5,000, the tax would change from $25 to $65—or 16 per cent.

12. On an income of say $10,000, the reduction would be less than 10 per cent.

13. To put it on a weekly basis, a man with a wife and one child, earning up to around $30 a week, would see his withholding tax disappear.

14. If he makes $35 a week, his withholding tax would drop from $1.20 to 60 cents. If he has an income of $50 a week, the tax would decrease from $1.40 to $1.00; income of $70, from $1.60 to $1.10; income of $100, from $1.70 to $1.20.

Truman Moves To Aid Harmony

Japanese surrender is officially signed. That surrender won't be complete until an estimated 2,000,000 Japanese lay down their arms.

Will Not Be Holiday—Designating Sunday as a day of prayer, the president said V-J day would not be a holiday. He added that the people had had enough holidays yesterday and today.

Discouraging foreign affairs generally, the president said there had been talk at the Potsdam meeting in Potsdam of the Korean situation and it was his belief that the Cairo declaration which ultimately would make Korea a free and independent state would be carried out.

There would make Korea a free and independent state would be carried out.

The Maritime Commission said building would be stopped on some ships but that others—far along in construction—would be continued.

Chinese Reds And Guerrilla Forces Clash

Rejection came, at Chiang wanted a reply to an invitation to Gen. Mao Tse-tung, a Communist leader, to confer with him in Chungking.

"We have many international and internal problems awaiting settlement," the generalissimo said in a radio message. "These involve our national welfare. Please do not delay in coming here."

Troops Near Peiping—The Communists issued a communique saying their troops were near Peiping. No other major city was mentioned and the text was not passed by the central government.

It has long been known that Communist forces were actively operating in the area of Peiping. There were no authentic reports of whether any Japanese garrisons had surrendered in that area.

There also was an absence of information from the vital port of Shanghai. Pre-arranged reports indicated that 60 per cent of the Japanese troops in China and their underground were reported to have been raised an Army of more than 2,000,000 regular troops and over 2,000,000 people's militia as well as "huge underground forces."

Nations At Cross-Roads—Snyder, termed the nation at the cross-roads, urged management labor, farmers and government to work together with the same spirit that enabled them to win the war.

"We're shooting at a standard of living for our people as a whole that will be 50 per cent higher than we or any other people have ever had," he declared.

"I believe we are at the threshold of one of the greatest eras that mankind has ever known. It is yours to take hold of. What we do with it is up to us."

How we are at the latest developments.

An unidentified spokesman for the Communist news agency issued a statement referring to Chiang as a "fascist chieftain" and asserting that he understood consisted of troops "serving the Japanese."

"If there still any doubt that danger of civil war is serious," the spokesman said.

Claims People Not Represented—The memorandum said the Communist and puppet soldiers was signed by Gen. Chub Teh, Communist commander, and Gen. Peng Teh, Hsui, deputy commander, who said:

"We consider your order a grave mistake and are compelled to refuse it firmly. Your order is only to the advantage of the Japanese and traitors who have sold out their country."

Even in its formidable array, however, the listing of the Third Fleet's Baptist churches and old-fashioned hayride but couldn't round up enough horses for the day. They hitched up tractors and chugged merrily away.

British to Permit Communist Command to Send Its Own Representatives to Participate in the Surrender of Japan and in the Peace Conference

Meantime, the central government announced two moves to get trusted men in key stations, appointing Vice Admiral Chan Chak as mayor of Canton and Li Shun Liang described as an underground leader, to be mayor of Tsingtau, one of the major north China cities. King George VI conferred knighthood upon one-legged Chan Chak for his cooperation with the British during the battle of Hong Kong.

Chiang issued an order today suspending further conscription for China's Army. The daily communique was not issued yesterday for the first time in months but no formal order has been given.

Evening of Peace
Toward five o'clock in the afternoon the sultry storm clouds blew themselves away.

The sun went lower. Sinking behind the hills to the west, it still cast its golden light on the landscape to the east. The light was still fainter. Into the sky, and now reflecting those lit-of beams, had come light showers of clouds. These now became transparent pink. One of them crossed the path of the first quarter moon. As it moved through the pink, some of the color made the moon itself a light blue. The cloud passed, the pink dissipated, and the moon was again of the twilight. The evening star appeared. The still, light air barely whispered.

We had thought of the moon many times in the past six years. Never looking up at it without the thought that it was also shining down on other people, into the cockpit of cargoes of death, cast down its shadow from homes about to be destroyed. Now it was a moon of peace, in an evening of peace the world over.

In this evening of peace we felt the burden finally lifted from the heart. There was, at last, that quiet, beautiful release from the struggle which we had been trying, during the previous evening and day, to find in the words and actions of man.

But if one could find peace in such an evening, what should one say of the morning that followed, in equally calm and tranquil perfection? Robert Browning said it, a good many years ago: "The year's at the spring, / And day's at the morn, / Morning's at seven, / The hill-side's dew-peared; / The lark's on the wing; / The snail's on the thorn; / 'Tis past, 'tis past, 'tis past, / 'Aids right with the world!"

The First Bounce
Some days before the coming of Japanese surrender, we noted the anxiety of those who feared that this nation might not be prepared to take such a sudden peace. It was feared that Washington policy was not ready to solve the tasks of reconversion. They were worried about the speed with which we could swing into civilian production, with its provision of civilian needs and its provision of civilian jobs. They feared that any sudden plunge into the task of transition would provide us with a terrible and disastrous bump.

Now we are in that sudden plunge, and all our speculation and fears and hopes are being tested in the hot crucible of actual experience. It would be foolhardy to do more than guess how we are going to make out. But it is our guess that the sudden drop into the problems of reconversion is going to result in an immediate bounce, and a good high bounce at that.

Chinese Celebration Nasty
Boise, Idaho—It was "hippi" and 10,000 bang-bangs went off in the next six months. The Chinese organization, led by "Meyer" Louis Blue You, applied the torch to 10,000 fire-trailers the members had saved since their native country about a week ago in 1947. Gov. Charles C. Goffert led the celebrators to the steps of the state capital building for the occasion.

To All Employees
of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and Hamilton Standard Propellers
DIVISIONS OF UNITED AIRCRAFT CORPORATION

The expected heavy cancellations of Government contracts affecting both the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and Hamilton Standard Propellers divisions have already been received. These cancellations require that factory operations in all plants of these divisions remain shut down for a ten-day period in addition to the two-day legal holiday proclaimed by the President of the United States.

The shut-down will permit the taking of complete physical inventories and the establishment of the new, materially reduced production schedules. It is hoped that the inventories can be completed and the new reduced schedules authorized in time to permit the resumption of factory operations by the end of the shut-down period.

Hourly-rated employees in all plants will return to work with the beginning of the first shift on Monday morning, August 27 unless previously notified to the contrary. Hourly-rated employees required to return to work before August 27 will be notified. When operations are resumed they will be on the basis of a 40-hour week in all plants.

Special Notice
The following hourly-rated employees should report to work as indicated:

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft
Hamilton Standard Propellers
All hourly-rated employees of the experimental department report to work on Friday, August 17.

Pay Instructions
Wages for the week ended August 12 for all hourly-rated employees of the Westery and Norwich plants will be paid at those plants on Friday, August 17 between the hours of 9:00 A. M. and 4:00 P. M.

Wages for the week ended August 12 for all hourly-rated employees of all other plants of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft will be paid in accordance with the following schedule:

Wages for the week ended August 12 for all hourly-rated employees of all Hamilton Standard Propellers plants will be received through the mail.

Raising the Curtain on Radar—'Silent Weapon of World War II'

On this Navy Martin "Mariner" the radar is housed in the hump atop the fuselage, called a "radome."

Radar's antenna, which serve both for transmitting and receiving, take various forms. Above is the huge truss-work type on an aircraft carrier.

Anti-aircraft guns are operated by these vertical and horizontal antennas, which automatically hold the guns on their target.

Through a "scope" such as one above, radar observer sees pictures of light on a black screen which give him a picture of objects picked up by the beam.

Direction, range and position of enemy ships and planes are indicated on large duplicate radar screen of Allied ship preparing for combat in China Sea operations, December, 1944.

One of the most closely guarded secrets of the war, second only to the secret of the atomic bomb, has been the development and use of radar.

Tin Collection As Scheduled

Need Just as Great, Now Even If War Is Ended, Chairman Declares

Stuart J. Wasley, chairman of tin salvage operations here, wishes to remind Manchester residents that town-wide collections will take place tomorrow, as scheduled. He makes this statement today because he believes that many think there is no need for tin salvage because the war is ended. "Nothing is further from the truth," said Mr. Wasley this morning. "Remember it will be months before our troops are back in the states and maybe years before they will be out of the Orient. And also remember it may be a long, long time before we start to get tin again from the places occupied by the Japs. We must get the Japs out of there, start operating the mines and then ship the product to this country. In the meantime we must keep up our collections as the need is just as great now as ever before."

"Therefore I ask all residents to put out their tins at the curb early tomorrow morning so that the town trucks can pick them up. Every street in town will be covered."

Meteor Report By Boy Scouts

Green Troop in Astronomy Research for Four Different Nights

Troop No. 91, Boy Scouts of Manchester Green conducted an astronomical observation in conjunction with the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Charles P. Olivier, president of the American Meteor Society requested reliable reports of the meteor display that was due Aug. 10, 11, 12 and 13. Working with Dr. Olivier Troop No. 91 made up a chart and schedule to cover this display and record the weather condition, the exact location, and time and number of meteors observed. The troop stationed themselves on a high hill south of Horan street where a clear view of the heavens could be had with no interference from artificial light and observed from 9:00 p. m. to 2:00 a. m. during the four night display. The greatest number of meteors was recorded on the night of Aug. 11 between 9:00 p. m. to 2:00 a. m. when Troop No. 91 recorded 396 meteors.

The Scouts chart and report have been sent to Dr. Olivier who can, with his observations and the Scouts record, calculate the distance by triangulation method, from the earth to the meteors.

This four night vigil of the Scouts of Troop No. 91 is a real contribution to scientific research and their aid is greatly appreciated by the professors of the University of Pennsylvania. Eugene Speiser, Scoutmaster of the Troop No. 91 wishes to thank the parents for their permission to keep their Scout sons out to that time of night, but considers the results were well worth the necessary loss of sleep.
