Strike in Supplier Plant May Affect Added Thousands

General Motors Workers May Have to Be Laid Off If Dispute At Ohio Electrical Company Not Ended Before Week-End
Detroit, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Idle men for additional thousands in the nation's automobile industry was threatened today by a strike in a small Ohio supplier plant. With approximately 80,000 workers idled in the Detroit area by strikes and related shut-downs reported in industry circles today that some 30,000 General Motors workers have to be laid off if a continuing strike at the Packard Electrical Co., a Detroit supplier, is not ended before the coming week-end.

Granted Board Power to Deal With Disputes

Schwelblich Given Control of War Labor Board, Employment and Manpower Units Bulletin!
Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwelblich, armed with authority to deal with labor disputes, today announced that he has promised to "get right square in the middle" of Detroit's troubled labor situation. He delegated his newly-appointed chief of the U. S. War Labor Board, Edward L. Warren, to study the Detroit situation to determine whether government intervention is required.

Call Meeting On Vet Center

Various Local Groups to Be Invited to Discuss The Proposed Project

Various organizations in town, societies, corporations and business houses, are being invited to send two or more representatives to a meeting to be held in High school assembly hall on Tuesday, Sept. 25 at eight o'clock in the evening for the purpose of explaining and discussing the proposed Veterans' Service Center here. The invitation is being sent out in the form of a letter signed by Russell B. Hathaway, secretary of the Veterans' Center committee.

The letter reads as follows: "There has been much publicity recently about the proposed Veterans' Service Center. The fact that we have over four thousand of our townspeople in the armed service makes it imperative that there be established one central place in Manchester where veterans can go for information, counsel and guidance. Leaders in our state and nation, among whom is Senator Hart of Connecticut, not only advocate veterans' centers but are outspoken in saying that service to veterans is properly a community function. Many towns and cities in this state have already established such centers. The Ways and Means Committee appointed by the Board of Selectmen of this town to assist them in formulating plans for a veterans' center in Manchester has held many meetings and devoted much time and careful study to this problem. It has sought and received excellent advice from men well versed in veterans' affairs and particularly the problem at hand.

"In order that the citizens of Manchester may become familiar with the necessity for a veterans' center and with the many varied services which it will be called on to furnish, a meeting will be held in the Assembly Hall of the Manchester High school at 8 p. m. on September 25th (Tuesday).

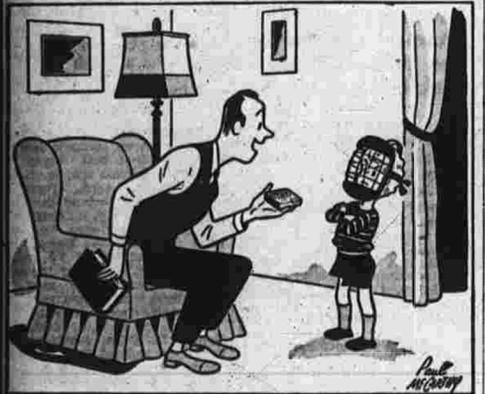

"At this meeting there will be speakers who are thoroughly familiar with veterans' problems and with the excellent work already being accomplished in other communities. Ample opportunity to ask them pertinent questions will be presented.

"In order to disseminate correct information concerning this project throughout the town we request that you arrange to have two or more representatives of your organization attend the meeting. It is hoped that many citizens, particularly from among the families and friends of our people in the service, will attend.

"To establish a veterans' center and furnish service to our veterans is little enough for this community to do in appreciation for their many sacrifices and in memory of those who will not return.

Sincerely yours,
Russell B. Hathaway
Secretary Veterans' Center Committee

The size of the U. S. household grew smaller between 1940 and 1944, the median size shrinking from 3.5 persons in April, 1940, to 3 persons in October, 1944.

"You can take that off now, Son. We've changed to Ex-Lax!"

Yep!—A brighter day has dawned for America's small fry! Youngsters really "go" for that sweet chocolate taste of Ex-Lax. And Mothers know they can trust Ex-Lax because it gets results in such an easy, gentle way. Not too strong, not too mild, Ex-Lax is the "Happy Medium" laxative! As a precaution use only as directed.

Rockville Want to Keep Ration Board

Rockville Is Against Removing Office; Protests Are Being Filed

Rockville, Sept. 19—(Special)—An effort is being made by city and town officials, the Rockville Civic Association, business and political leaders to have the office of the Vernon Ration Board continued here as long as the rationing period exists.

Dr. Martin V. B. Metcalf, chairman of the Vernon Ration Board reported Tuesday that the board would be open to the public for the last time on Thursday. Mayor Raymond E. Huft, The Board of Selectmen and others on Tuesday sent requests to State Director Stanley Crute of the Office of Civil Administration, Hartford, requesting that the local office be continued instead of being consolidated with Manchester. The towns of Ellington and Tolland whose ration offices were also consolidated with Manchester, it was suggested might be served at the Rockville office.

The board will hold its final meeting as a local board next Monday night at which time applications received this week will be considered.

PT Association Organizes
The Northeast Parent Teacher Association has organized for the coming year following its September meeting. The committee chairmen for the year are as follows: Membership, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newmaker; Program, Herman Olson; Ways and Means, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bates; Hospitality, Mrs. W. Aborn; Publicity, Miss Rosetta Casali; Refreshments, Mrs. J. Luetjen; Publication, Mrs. M. Miller; Summer Round Up, Mrs. M. Miller.

Donald Weekes and Rev. F. Dyckman have been elected to serve as auditors for the year and a budget has been outlined by Treasurer Romeo Auclair. To increase membership each month an award of fifty cents will be given to the classroom having most parents represented at each meeting; the money to be used as pupils' desire.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Northeast UTA on October 4th at eight o'clock at the home of President Ralph Snape.

The next regular business meeting will be held at the school on Thursday, October 11 at eight o'clock.

T. Sgt. Klein Wins Honors

Certificate of Merit Is Awarded for Action In European Zone

Tech Sergeant William J. Klein of Manchester, now serving with Company D, Headquarters Command in Berlin, Germany, has been awarded a Certificate of Merit in recognition of conspicuous meritorious and outstanding performance of military duty, during the period 28 February to 8 May 1945.

Sergeant Klein is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Klein of 28 Foley street and husband of the former Miss Muriel Reed, was inducted on Feb. 5, 1944 and served overseas with the 1144 Engineers, Combat Group, 7th Army and was later assigned to the 1st Airborne Army for duty in the Berlin District.

The citation accompanying the Merit award states, "While his unit was in direct support of operations from Lunville, France, to Augsburg, Germany, during the period 28 February to 8 May 1945, Technical Sergeant William J. Klein, by his own initiative, supervised efficiently and solved many administrative problems while undergoing a hasty and continuous reorganization for a special supply mission."

Sergeant Klein is a graduate of Manchester High school and before his induction was factory manager of Folding Boxes Inc., Forest street.

Hirohito Held As Blameless

Ministries as soon as Demobilization is Completed

The premier weathered, without losing his composure, a two-hour press conference with some 50 Allied correspondents who asked sharp, sometimes hostile questions. He did, however, decline to answer some questions. The conference was held in the reception room of his Tokyo, April 18, 1942, said he had charge of home defenses "up to the time the plane was shot down, but thereafter what happened was beyond my province. . . . I am not in a position to tell you who ordered the executions."

He said he "heard reports some American fliers were executed in Japan, but it was not my business to look into such matters. . . . I was one who protested, (against) cruelties to war prisoners) although indirectly, to imperial gentlemen and officials, they said they would think it over."

He doubted that the emperor knew of atrocities and stated that he "was in no position to inform Hirohito thereof during the war."

Replying to a correspondent's statement of the sections of Allied public opinion regard the emperor as a war criminal, the premier replied: "Emperor Not War Criminal"

"I believe firmly that the emperor is not a war criminal. He was deceived by the militarists who were close to him and wasn't told the truth. . . . According to custom here, if the cabinet decides (to start a war) the emperor does not veto the decision."

In Washington, Senator Russell (D., Ga.) introduced a resolution demanding that the emperor be arrested and tried as a war criminal. He denounced Hirohito as a "power seeking tyrant. . . . one of the greatest aggressors of history."

Asked a second time whether the emperor knew in advance of Pearl Harbor, Higashi-Kuni said

Strong Navy Plan Backed

257 Destroyer Escorts, 110 Submarines and Supporting Craft

These figures are set forth in legislation introduced by Vinson and Chairman David Walsh (D., Mass.) of the Senate Naval committee after conferences with Naval leaders.

"We are going to call on Navy officials to explain the need for these requirements," Vinson told a reporter. "And if they do so adequately they'll probably get what they want."

Meanwhile, new demands were heard for similar recommendations from the Army.

Rep. A. L. Miller (R., Neb.) said in an interview "we are entitled to know how big an Army we are planning to maintain." He added that the demobilization controversy could be cleared considerably if the information were available. Others echoed Miller's comment.

Some lawmakers have contended the Army wants to maintain a larger force than necessary.

War department officials have said only that the force will be cut to 2,500,000 men by next July 1, and that the peacetime figure will be below that one.

Diplomatic Attention in London

Diplomatic attention in London was centered on Russia's acknowledged interest in the future of Eritrea, on the Red sea, 2,000 miles from Soviet soil, and in Tripolitania. Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar, said there was some truth to reports Russia might make claims on Tripolitania.

Weighting Mass of Evidence
The Foreign Council of Foreign Ministers, meanwhile, turned to the matter of the Italian-Yugoslav frontier, weighing a mass of evidence presented by both sides, which must be sifted before a draft of the Italian peace treaty is drawn.

Yugoslav Vice Premier Edward Karelj presented a case claiming all Venezia Giulia and the territory west of Italy's 1914 border, reliable reports said. Italian Foreign Minister Alcide de Gasperi said, "Italy wanted as a frontier the Wilson line—something west of the pre-war border—which would give Yugoslavia Fiume, and de Gasperi said, 30 per cent of Italy's coal mines and 12 1/2 per cent of Italy's mercury resources."

The border suggested by former President Wilson and reportedly favored by the United States and

Night School Classes Form

First Registration to Be Held on Friday Evening; Invite Vets

The Manchester Evening School registration will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 21 in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, High school building from 7 to 9 p. m.

Other registration dates will be announced later.

Classes will be organized in all cases where registration warrants it. No class will be started with less than 15 enrollees.

In cases of veterans of World War II, classes may be formed for much smaller groups. This is especially true if diploma or college entrance credits are needed for further education.

Classes that have been offered in the past include cooking, sewing, typing, stenography, English, mathematics, woodworking, chemistry, physics and foreign languages.

Formation of all classes will depend upon the availability of teachers.

Schwollenbach Gains Power Over Disputes

Given Control of Big Wartime Stick; Reluctant to Use All of Power He Now Has

By James Marlow
 Detroit, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Labor Secretary Schwollenbach now in peacetime has more wartime power for settling labor disputes than he had in wartime.

In wartime the labor secretary had no power to settle a dispute. Now President Truman has given him control of the War Labor Board which was the big wartime stick for ending disputes.

Not Likely to Use All Power
 Schwollenbach isn't likely to try to use all his new power. This is why:

1. If a party to a dispute refused to abide by a WLB ruling, the WLB can recommend presidential action. The president can seize a private plant. WLB has that power until six months after the war is officially declared ended. It hasn't been so declared.
2. It is likely to be months before any dispute arising now can go through all the channels and reach the point where plant seizure would be necessary. By that time we'll be far-advanced into peacetime. And seizing private property in peacetime would be pretty hard to justify.
3. Schwollenbach himself says he is reluctant to use all the power he now has.

Background on Authority
 But here's the background on Schwollenbach's new authority. To understand it fully—which means understanding what the government can do in disputes—go back to pre-war days.

In peacetime the government's only agency for settling labor disputes was the U. S. Conciliation service.

The conciliators couldn't step into a dispute unless one of the parties involved asked them in. They had no authority to do anything. They merely tried to get the disputants to see eye-to-eye.

Then came the war. Representatives of management and labor, meeting with President Roosevelt, promised no strikes, and no lockouts of labor in wartime.

But they wanted an agency to settle disputes. Mr. Roosevelt created the War Labor Board, made up of public, labor and management representatives.

No Enforcement Authority
 WLB had no authority to enforce its decisions. It had to depend on a labor-management promise to abide by WLB rulings. But in June, 1943 Congress strengthened WLB by passing the war labor disputes act.

Mainly, it did this:

1. The Conciliation service no longer had to be invited into a dispute. It could step right in.
2. If its efforts failed, the Conciliation service told the secretary of labor. (The service was in the Labor department. WLB was not.) Then the secretary told the WLB.
3. When WLB took the case—and if one of the disputants ignored the WLB decision—WLB recommended action by the president. The president could order a plant seized to enforce WLB's say-so.

(WLB settled 18,000 disputes. There were only 44 cases of seizure for ignoring the board.)

The war ended. WLB members felt that that also ended the no-strike, no-lockout pledge of management and labor. They wanted WLB to fade out. So did Mr. Truman, but gradually.

During the reconversion period, the President said, disputes which threatened a successful change-over to peace could be handled by WLB.

But Schwollenbach stopped referring cases to the board. (Now he can tell the board to take cases.) The board didn't take on cases.

Using Wartime Power
 Now Schwollenbach takes over. You'll note he has told the Conciliation service to step into the Detroit disputes. This is wartime power he's using here.

Six months after the war is officially ended—under the labor disputes act—the Conciliation service must wait to be invited to step into a dispute.

It's possible that after the November conference of labor and management—called by Mr. Truman—some new agency will be set up to succeed WLB.

Plant seizure is not likely to be part of the power of such a new agency.

Refuses to Do More Pickling
 Saint John, N. B.—(AP)—A Pasadena dispatch in a local newspaper quoting a retired missionary as predicting the end of the world next Friday brought an indignant call to the editor tonight. "My wife," said the reader, "refuses to do any more pickling or preserving. She says 'What's the use?'"

Mrs. Leah Ott Sues Husband

Files Attachment After Having Him Arrested At Their Home

Mrs. Leah Ott, wife of Ralph W. Ott of 235 McKee lost no time this morning filing an attachment against her husband for a suit for damages which she declares she suffered when her husband attacked her at their home last night about 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Ott called the police last night and Officer Raymond R. Griffin reported at the house and arrested Ott on charges of assault and breach of the peace.

This morning Constable James Duffy filed attachment on Ott's property on McKee street in the sum of $2,500 damages and costs of suit.

Service was made on Ott before he left the court room where he was endeavoring to raise bail for his release.

The case was continued in court this morning to Saturday's court session.

In the writ Mrs. Ott cites injuries she states were received in last night's domestic fracas on McKee street.

Fined Total of $1,500

Middletown, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Harry A. Silverman, 52, of Deep River, was fined a total of $1,500 and sentenced to a year in jail when he pleaded guilty to selling obscene instruments and to 13 charges of allowing minors to frequent a place where liquor was dispensed. In Middlesex Superior court here yesterday Judge John H. King imposed the jail sentence, to be suspended after 60 days. Eleven other counts were nolle. Silverman was one of several persons arrested in a series of raids by the state police last June.

It is estimated that the U. S. Army used 94 pounds of water-proof paper for every soldier who entered combat.

Prepare Call For Meeting

Selectmen to Meet on Thursday to Agree on All of the Details

The Selectmen will hold their regular bi-monthly meeting Thursday night and they will clean up all matters pending before the annual town meeting on October 1. The board will prepare the call for the annual town meeting which will contain the recommended list of appropriations, special appropriations and acceptance of certain streets by the town.

Voters at the annual election at the state armory will this year vote on three questions, three constitutional amendments concerning the qualification of the Lieutenant-Governor as Governor in case of the death of the Governor, concerning the salary of the members of the General Assembly, concerning the annual, instead of bi-annual session of the General Assembly and a local question, whether all zoning ordinances of the Town and all regulations shall be repealed.

3 Bombers May Set Mark on Long Hop to Capital

Information and comments about members of the crews. Among these, he told how James T. Seaver, Jr., of Bronxville, N. Y., and First Lieutenants Beverly K. Martin of Milwaukee, Ore., and Glenn R. Whately of Canton, Tex., were "bumped" from their posts and wondering what their children, who they had never seen, will be like. At another point he reported that airmen in the three crews had accounted for the destruction of 24 enemy aircraft, probable destruction of 24 and damage of 19 during the war.

The flight passed over Fort St. John, British Columbia, at 10 a. m. e. w. t. This was approximately 375 miles northwest of Edmonton, Canada.

Light icy conditions. The planes reported encountering light icing conditions between 14,000 and 18,000 feet altitude as they crossed the Canadian Rocky mountains.

General Giles, commander of the flight, radioed the base at Nome, Alaska, that he expected to land in Washington at 6 p. m.

"Can see nothing from here that will stop us," he said. "May have to squeeze out a couple of gas cells (tanks) to make it."

Giles added that the three planes, one individually from Japan to home but met for their first rendezvous there at one minute intervals.

To Cross Line Near Duluth. The flight is scheduled to enter the United States near Duluth, Minn. From there the route follows a course near Green Bay, Wis.; Lansing and Detroit, Mich.; Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

A top-notch Army Air Force general commanded each of the B-29 superfortresses which lifted off from the huge Mizutani airport near Sapporo, capital of Hokkaido, beginning at 4:01 p. m. (e. w. t.) yesterday for the expected 2 1/2 hour flight.

The take-off was described as a good one. It was made in clear, mild weather. Forecasts indicated favorable flying conditions all the way to Washington.

General Giles, commander of all Army Air Forces in the Pacific Ocean area, was in charge of the flight. He also headed the 12-man crew of the lead plane. In command of the other planes were Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay and Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell.

The first radio contact with the planes from the American side of the Pacific showed them near the southeast tip of Russia's Kamshatka, six hours after the take-off. Some three hours later they were about 800 miles west of Nome, Alaska.

After about 12 hours in the air at 4:11 a. m. (e. w. t.)—the planes reported they were 18 miles east of Nome. They were right on schedule. The Army had estimated their arrival over Nome at 4 a. m.

Average 238 Miles Hourly. The B-29s were averaging 236 miles an hour.

A previous Army report that they were flying at only 175 mph resulted from a timing error due to communication difficulties.

The Army said the planes should reach White Horse, Canada, at about 3:20 a. m. That would be half-way in something over 16 hours, but the flight was expected to pick up speed as the original gas load of nearly 30 tons lightened.

The giant bombers were stripped of armament and armor to lighten them for the terrific gas load and also to provide for lightly overzoned crews. Each plane had 12 men aboard to permit rotation of duties during the long flight.

The Army apparently was not attempting an official nonstop air distance record. So far as could be learned there were no arrangements for official checkers from either the National Aeronautics Association or the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Connecticut Resident Among Airmen

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A Connecticut resident is one of the group of Army airmen participating in the epic non-stop flight of three B-29s from Japan to Washington.

He is Staff Sgt. Frank Klas, Jr., of Higganum, who is radio operator on Plane No. 2 which is commanded by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay.

Klas, who is 22 years of age, has been in the Army Air Force since 1942 and has been overseas in the Pacific theater for more than 18 months.

Before entering the service he worked with his father, Frank Klas, Sr., as a carpenter.

Party Based On Calendar

Gibbons Assembly Enjoys Novelty Social at St. James's Hall

The Calendar party which opened the season for Gibbons Assembly Catholic Ladies of Columbus, last night, in St. James's hall was a thoroughly enjoyable affair, and brought out an attendance of perhaps 125. Before the program proper, Mrs. Susan McGowan, a member of the committee and pianist for the evening, put on a floor show by her children, Edward and Suzanne, who executed a Bowery dance. Beverly and Barbara Smith, songs and dances; and Constance and Ronald Lamoureux, Gay Ninety numbers. The group joined in a patriotic finale, and received a big hand.

Beautiful Decorations. The twelve tables were tastefully and appropriately decorated to correspond with the months of the year, with a hostess at each table and about ten guests. As each hostess entered, carrying a cake, Mrs. McGowan played a song, and the guests joined in.

Mrs. John Donovan, in evening dress was hostess at the New Year table; Mrs. Bene Maitre in Valentine costume took her place at the February table; Mrs. A. W. ### Considers Grants For Child Centers

Hartford, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The legislative council meeting behind closed doors at the Capitol today considered requests that the state provide grants for child care centers in communities where Federal funds are no longer available or insufficient to meet the need.

Child care centers officials from New Haven and New Britain appeared before the council and asked that state appropriations be included in the agenda for a special session of the Legislature.

Senator Nicholas J. Spellman, council chairman, said the council today's action did not intend at this time to act upon requests of labor organizations for a special session within two weeks.

Senator Spellman could not say when the council would decide to recommend to the governor that a special session be called. Labor leaders at yesterday's hearing asked for special session within two weeks.

Shoe Dealers Get Hearings

Suspension of Right to Deal in Rationed Shoes Recommended

Hartford, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Suspension of their right to deal in rationed shoes ranging from two weeks to six months was recommended in the cases of a number of southern Connecticut dealers who appeared before OPA Hearings Commissioner Charles F. Dunbar of Boston here yesterday.

A six-week suspension was recommended in the case of Herbert L. Lapham manager of the W. T. Grant store, New Haven.

He said the shortage occurred at the beginning of the rationing period "because of confusion" in the interpretation of OPA ruling and inefficient sales help.

A two weeks suspension was recommended in the case of Stephen De Silvo, manager of the W. T. Grant store at Bridgeport, who was charged with having a shortage of 378 pairs of shoes.

Charged With Overage. A suspension for five weeks was recommended in the case of Alexander Sellock, Hartford, charged with an overage of 187 pairs of shoes representing 40 per cent of his allowable total.

A two-month suspension was recommended in the case of Joseph Janowski, of Waterbury, charged with a shortage of approximately 500 pairs of shoes after he had combined the ration accounts of his own store and one operated by his wife.

Police Board Hears 2 Women

Darien, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Police commissioners heard two women witnesses in connection with the suspension of Police Lieut. Amos R. Anderson during a five hour session which adjourned early today until Friday night.

Chas. S. Wendell, chairman of the police commissioners, said no decision had been reached.

Anderson was suspended Aug. 28 by Darien Chief of Police Edward Musgrave. The charges made by the chief against his lieutenant, veteran of 20 years of daring captures of law violators, on the Darien post road, have not been disclosed.

Meanwhile, Max Speke, counsel for Anderson, said today that the lieutenant had applied for retirement at half pay on a disability claim.

Mortensen Will Not Be Candidate

Hartford, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Mayor William H. Mortensen served notice today on the Republican party organization that he "simply would not run" if a move to draft him at the city convention materializes.

The mayor's statement came as a result of rumors asserted today that GOP strategists were planning to nominate him for a second term at the convention, next month, after making a pretense of searching for another candidate.

sary hardship to workers and veterans.

However, the administration seemed certain, on the basis of statements by individual senators and the course of debate, to win these results:

1. Extension of the time of jobless benefits to a top period of 26 weeks in every state. The government would pay the difference, following state rates of payment. These now range from $15 to $25 a week.

2. Extension of jobless benefits to 2,900,000. Federal civil employees and 400,000 maritime workers are not now covered.

3. Federal travel allowances up to $200 to carry a stranded worker home or to a new job.

Bill May Pass Today. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, told reporters there is a good chance the bill will be passed and on its way to the House by tonight.

Barkley is supporting the $25 a week figure. Leader of the fight for it is Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.).

On the schedule for action before a decision is made on Kilgore's $25 proposal is an amendment by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) to return the Employment services to the States.

Lucas told the Senate yesterday he and every other senator had received protests against men drawing unemployment compensation when there were jobs available. He said these complaints stemmed from what he called the divided responsibility of state and Federal governments.

But Barkley called the Employment service job a responsibility of the Federal government — to find jobs now for people it had steered into war work.

65-Cent Minimum Wage Seen Backed

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Representative Norton (D-N.J.) reported today "the impression" that President Truman is agreeable to legislation to provide a 65-cent hourly minimum wage for workers covered by the wage-hour law.

Barkley in the White House, the chairman of the House labor committee said she would introduce such legislation today.

Mrs. Norton told reporters she had not shown the president her bill, but she would have a conference on labor legislation. She added:

"I left with the impression that he is agreeable to it."

Mr. Truman, in his Sept. 6 message to Congress, called for a "substantial increase" in the present 60-cent minimum wage provided by legislation to provide a 65-cent hourly minimum wage for workers covered by the wage-hour law.

To Give New List Of War Criminals

ed by MacArthur on a list of members of the "Black Dragon" society, but it was understood American authorities had taken no action against him, in order to give the Japanese government time to prove its contention that he was not a member.

They described Higashi-Kuni as personally interested in the gradual democratization of Japan, both as a reform step and in compliance with the wishes of General MacArthur, and said Konoze and the others had opposed the premier's attempts to smooth relations between the Japanese and American governments.

Cabinet Criticized By Press. The cabinet has been criticized by the Japanese press for delay in solving pressing problems such as food and housing shortages and increasing unemployment.

The resignation two days ago of Mamoru Shigemitsu as foreign minister was the tipoff that all was not well within the cabinet, the Japanese sources said.

Higashi-Kuni himself said of Shigemitsu that "he was foreign minister during the war, and now we are launched in building a new Japan."

Konoze, Obata and Ogata, the sources recalled, also had been associated with the war-minded segments of the Japanese government since 1937. Konoze as two-time premier.

Meanwhile the American embassy residence got busy suddenly, making preparations for the expected arrival today of Mrs. Douglas MacArthur.

And out in the Pacific the largest carrier task force ever assembled was being formed into special "carrier division 24" to carry back home the victorious draftee army of General MacArthur.

New List To Be Larger. Brig. Gen. Elliot Thorpe, chief of American counter intelligence, said the new list of Japanese wanted for questioning will be much larger than the original one of 47 which began with Hideki Tojo and ranged down through his cabinet.

All but two men of that infamous Japanese cabinet which started the war were on the first list and General Thorpe said their omission "was a clerical error."

concentrated on welfare work. Kuzumi is the only officer; the organization has no presidency.

Smiling mildly at the question, Kuzumi told me through an interpreter that "I haven't seen nor heard of an underground movement" in Japan today.

He said he was unable to supply a list of members' names, since the Black Dragon society was "informal." It required little working cash, and depended upon contributions, he added.

Many Japanese have told me the society blackballed contributions from unwilling donors by threats of terrorism.

Kuzumi said he was "astonished" to learn that the Black Dragon was regarded by Americans and Europeans as a powerful, dangerous organization.

"These rumors probably were based on the fact that the Black Dragon society was the oldest in the country, and was active in the Russo-Japanese war and also in China affairs, United States immigration problems, and disarmament," he added.

"When the war broke out," he said, "it probably made the people in the United States and Europe suspect we had something to do with it."

Not Secret Organization. The Black Dragon is not a secret organization, he insisted: And it met only when it had foreign problems to thresh out. He said he received no pay as chief secretary, although he got some money for doing welfare work, from magazine articles, and from friends' contributions. He lives in one of the better homes in one of Tokyo's better districts.

The most powerful rival of the Black Dragon, he said, was the Toa Dobun-Kai, which he described as an organization "where foreign affairs are studied."

Other similar organizations were started by young, fanatical patriots, he related, but these groups died out because of a lack of sustained interest.

He is maintaining the Black Dragon office nowadays, he explained, because of his interest in new methods of farming. He said he intended to do all he could to spread such innovations in Japanese agriculture.

No, he never has farmed, he said; but a friend sold him on the idea.

Man, Brings that Ace Drummer

Man, brings that Ace Drummer and 30 versatile entertainers to the stage of the State theater, Hartford, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Featured with Gene Krupa and his orchestra are Anita O'Day, charming songstress; Buddy Stewart, "Sentimental Banton"; Tommy Pederson, trombone virtuoso; Charles Venturo on the tenor sax; The Jazz Trio, instrumental specialists; and The Four G-Notes, top-notch harmony swingsters. ### Will Be Glad To Return

Metcalfe, Ill.—(AP)—Aboard ship off Okinawa, Seaman Hugh Rhode of Metcalfe received a summons for jury service back in his home town. "I'll be more than glad to serve if you can arrange for my return," Rhode wrote to Sheriff Allen Bell of Edgar county.

Weddings

Gallo-Valenti. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Valenti of 130 School street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Antoinette M. Valenti, to Salvatore Gallo of this town.

The ceremony was performed September 15 at St. James's church by the rector, Rev. William J. Dunn. The bride attendants were the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bycholski.

The bride wore a purple and orchid dress with orchid corsage and her matron of honor wore rose coral and an orchid corsage.

Following a reception at the Villa Louisa, the couple left for an announced wedding trip, the bride wearing a brown ensemble. On their return they will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

The bride was honored with a number of pre-nuptial parties and gift showers.

100 Injured in Riot

Johannesburg, Sept. 19.—(AP)—One hundred persons were reported injured last night when Nationalist party members, who opposed South Africa's participation in the war, attempted to break up a meeting of ex-servicemen. Police intervened with nightsticks. The veterans had met to demand that the government deal with South African Fascists as war criminals.

Prison Sentence For Fatal Assault

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Raymond Lowe, 44, of Holyoke, was sentenced today to serve two and a half years in state's prison after a Hampden county jury convicted him on a charge of assault on George W. 70, last July.

He died 20 minutes after he was struck with a chair at the home of his daughter, Marion, where Lowe was a boarder. District Attorney Charles R. Alberti at first charged him with manslaughter, but the grand jury returned a charge of assault.

Medical evidence was presented to show that West died of a heart attack.

Draws Line on Feeding Dog

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine Rees kept her agreement to feed her estranged husband, Griffith H. Rees, but she drew the line on feeding his German shepherd dog, Anita. Feeding her own dog, Arna, was about all she felt she could manage from the $200 a month temporary alimony Rees was paying her, she testified in Superior court. The dispute was settled when Mrs. Rees agreed to give her husband breakfast each morning and pay household bills of their common domicile and for

Boyle's COLUMN

By Hal oye
Aboard Battleship Duke of York, En Route to Hong Kong, Sept. 13—(Delayed)—(P)—The top British seadog in the Pacific is a 57-year-old Scottish bachelor who knows his way around with a Russian balalaika as well as on His Majesty's battleships.

He is Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, whose present assignment as commander-in-chief of the first British Pacific fleet in history, with some 400 ships of all types under his command, crowns 42 years of service in the Royal Navy. He began as a 15-year-old "snotty", British Navy slang for midshipman, and may well wind up as Britain's first sea lord, the peak of any regular Navy man's career.

"Tubby," as fellow admirals call the stocky, five foot eight inch Scot, looks like anything but a ruling English seadog. Easygoing, friendly, approachable man with gray hair and light blue eyes that really smile. Perhaps because he has never been married and has no children of his own, he is especially kind to junior officers, who normally lead lives in the British Navy which at best can be compared with that of a plebe at West Point. They idolize him.

Sir Bruce comes from a military family. His father was an Army general and his brother followed the parental footsteps, making life in the Navy automatic for Sir Bruce, for in those days it was customary for such families to give one son to the Army and one to the Navy. If there was a third son, he went into the clergy. When he isn't at sea, this genial pipe-smoking Admiral lives with his aged invalided mother in their modest family home near Hampton palace by the Thames. The home is crowded with souvenirs from his global seafaring.

Ties Exceedingly Close.
Ties between mother and son are exceedingly close and the first thing the British admiral did after Fraser had finished sinking the German battleship Scharnhorst was to send word of the son's victory to his mother, now in her eighties.

The hour of the battle, Dec. 23, 1943, off North cape Norway, in the midst of Arctic darkness, Sir Bruce sent the Admiralty a two word message. It said: "Scharnhorst sunk."

Similarly, when his ship steamed into Sagami bay at the war's end, he messaged cryptically, "The fleet is anchored in Japanese waters."

Diaries Less Terse.
His diaries are less terse, however, than his spoken words. As third sea lord at the start of the war, he organized the construction and repair of all British fleet units. He is recognized as the Royal Navy's premier gunner and a master of navigation and of surface and air coordination, having personally commanded the fleet's first modern aircraft carriers.

One of his greatest feats was the protection of convoys to Russia along the northern route, and he delivered 1,250,000 tons of supplies to the Soviets over the Arctic sea lanes. He climaxed this by a personal visit to Murmansk aboard the first battleships ever to enter that northern port.

Given Hysterical Welcome.
The Russians gave him an hysterical welcome and probably no one but himself recalled that during World War One the Bolsheviks had interned him for eight months after he and his Naval party were seized at Baku while en route to the Caspian sea.

Among other presents showered on the admiral was a balalaika

(triangular Russian guitar) which he learned to play, singing his own accompaniment, but not in public. Gardening and writing are his favorite hobbies, but he almost singlemindedly sticks to the Navy and reads chiefly biographies and Naval histories.

Good Sense of Humor.
He has a good sense of humor and likes social life. He also has a strong Scottish subornness once he has decided on a line of action. He has commanded the British Home fleet and holds many honors from his own and foreign governments. But the most striking thing about him is the loyalty he has instilled in his subordinates. I asked one young lieutenant commander to tell me frankly what he thought of Sir Bruce and he said:

"I would give my life gladly anytime to save him, and I mean it. I wouldn't say that about any other admiral. I like my own life."

Easygoing, Friendly Man.
He is an easygoing, friendly, approachable man with gray hair and light blue eyes that really smile. Perhaps because he has never been married and has no children of his own, he is especially kind to junior officers, who normally lead lives in the British Navy which at best can be compared with that of a plebe at West Point. They idolize him.

Sailor Is Indicted On Murder Charge

New London, Sept. 19—(P)—Conforming to a request made by State Attorney Arthur M. Brown, a New London county grand jury has indicted Pharmacist's Mate 2-c Archie E. Williams, 22, on a charge of second degree murder.

The indictment resulted from the fatal shooting of Fireman 2-c James N. Halstead, 3d, a shipmate of Williams at the Submarine Base here.

Halstead, whose home was in Orlando, Fla., was shot and killed

April 22, while in the company of Williams; 25-year-old wife, Isabelle, a secretary at the New London USO club. She is at liberty under $200 bonds as a material witness. She formerly lived in Orlando, Fla., and is the mother of a four-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Williams, whose home is in Bainbridge Village, Md., will be put to plea late today.

FACTS about the FUR TAX

- The Luxury Tax Law was passed as a temporary wartime emergency measure, to be continued at least SIX MONTHS AFTER the President has officially proclaimed the cessation of hostilities.
- To date, no such official proclamation has been made. No one knows when it will come.
- Even if the proclamation of the cessation of hostilities should come TODAY the tax would still be on for at least SIX MORE MONTHS—that is, until some time NEXT SPRING.
- Remember, this tax is a law, like any other law. Only an Act of Congress can repeal it before the termination date, now provided.

If you need a fur coat now, by all means, BUY IT NOW. It may be a long time before the war tax on furs "comes off".

In the meantime, Montgomery Ward offers you the finest fur values that money can buy. Because we are the nation's largest retailer of popular priced furs, it is possible for us to bring you an unusually large selection of prime quality furs, superior in workmanship and design, at LESS than you'd planned to spend.

Washington Changes

Two young men progressed upward in public service in Washington yesterday, and a "tired old man"—that was what some invidious political campaigners frequently called him—retired.

Today every American should pause for a moment or two in silent homage to the career thus ended—the career of Henry L. Stimson. As Secretary of War he served in President Taft's administration, as Secretary of State under President Hoover, and as Secretary of War again under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman. This fine-fibred American gentleman has created a record of principled, selfless service to his country no other American of this generation has ever equalled. But it was in this last span of years that his service was most remarkable.

He saw, in 1931, the ultimate significance of Japan's aggression into Manchuria, and did his best to have the world's machinery for the protection of peace function then. He saw, again in 1935, that the Spanish Civil War was totalitarian rehearsal for the larger conflict to come, and condemned our refusal to sell weapons to the legitimate government of Spain.

And in 1940, he was so well aware of the national emergency facing us that he courageously accepted, to the tune of cries of traitor from his fellow Republicans, the post of Secretary of War under a Democratic President. He knew that this nation was facing issues more important than those of politics—the issues of survival. As Secretary of War he presided over the creation of the greatest army the world has ever known. He was completely dedicated to only one cause—that of victory. Again and again, columnists and politicians demanded his head. Because they could have no other ground for wanting it, they said it was an old head. Often, some new burst of such criticism of his age found him not at his desk, but on personal tour of the American battlefronts. But the nation knew that one old Stimson was worth twenty younger men.

Now, at 78, he is entitled to retire once more, and it is probable that he will never again be called to the public service. He deserves the reverent plaudits of his fellow countrymen, and if we had our way the story of his life and his public service would be a required part of every study of American history and American citizenship.

The young men moving up in Washington today are Under Secretary of War Robert Patterson, who shares the complete honesty of the man he will succeed as Secretary, and Senator Harold Burton of Ohio, who will succeed Justice Owen Roberts on the Supreme Court.

Both men are Republicans, and their choice reflects credit on the decision of President Truman. It had been expected that he might name a Republican to the Supreme Court, but the elevation of Mr. Patterson was not expected, not only because the President has shown some disposition to return to the ordinary ways of party politics, but because there was a times bitter controversy between Senator Truman of the War Investigating Committee and Under Secretary Patterson. The President, thus raising above both parties and personal feud to commend distinguished honesty and administrative ability in office, as one would for himself and for his country.

Is The Bomb Master?

With all the eagerness of some year old possessing a new toy, we are eager to tow the 25,000 ton Japanese battleship Nagato 500 miles out to sea and then drop an atomic bomb on it. This doesn't mean, of course, that we quite consider the atomic bomb a mere toy. We know it is, instead, the most destructive thing man has ever developed—perhaps the last destructive thing. But it does mean that we do not differentiate greatly between it and the other weapons of the world's past. We have it, and we can't help using it. We are going to test it as we would any other weapon. We are going to test it for its possible use in a new war, and for possible defenses against it.

Some of us civilians may be nervous and squeamish enough to wish that the atomic bomb had never been heard of and to hope that it would never be used again. We civilians may be nervous over the uncharted possibilities of this bomb. We may even suspect that it may take only a certain number of them to derange and upset the atomic system upon which this earth remains an earth instead of an insignificantly sputtering little sun.

from this war. They are forgetting that it does not become an American soldier, stationed among Allied peoples, to take what he wants. They are forgetting that there is a difference between loose women and respectable women the world over. In short, in some cases, their conduct has become libertine and insulting and no credit to American civilization. Though the cases of such conduct may be few, their influence is heavy. Some of the reports from Europe would indicate that we have our values reversed, and are behaving as liberators in Germany, but as conquerors in Belgium and France.

All this is primarily a symptom of the progressive demoralization of men who are impatient to get home, and it seems to point the wisdom of replacing these men with others who haven't seen battle duty and who therefore might not be so reckless in claiming the spoils of war.

the shop days and kept the people supplied with wood in all of his spare time. His sons will be returning soon, all of which served overseas and could find a place in their father's business, and now he must give up his work because of a certain few that claim the noise annoys them. Mr. Fuller carried on his business for the past four years and now that the war is over the people decide that he should stop.

Hasn't a man the right to make an honest living for his family or must he always be picked apart and dictated to? It's understood that Mr. Fuller's case can't be opened again for six months. Are these so-called American citizens going to feed his family until then? Tell me, Manchester voters, can't we help this man out with his business? He is an American citizen and has three sons serving our country for the rights of freedom.

Meet in the South

Editor, The Herald:— I thought I could illustrate to the people of Manchester the way home town boys in the service meet each other both on the home front and overseas. This experience took place on a Naval Repair base, New Orleans, La. I had been on the base for two days, with never the slightest hope of seeing anyone from home.

On the third afternoon at show time, I was sweating out the line and as usual I got my tray and chow. As I went I over to get my knife and fork I happened to look up at the gub who was handing them out. I looked once, twice to be sure, and sure enough there in front of me was a fellow I had known all my life, James Connolly, Etc.

We were both so surprised we couldn't say a word for a couple of seconds. Jim had a handful of knives and forks and when I held out my hand to shake with him, he put everything, knives and forks into mine. He forgot he had them.

We both laughed at that, (this ship rills like hell) and we arranged to spend a liberty together. I had liberty every night because my draft was due to go over seas again, and Jim had mess detail while waiting for his ship. We went ashore one night and had a time not long to be forgotten by either of us. And that was the way it happened folks.

Warren Alcock, AM3C.

Sailor's Story

Editor, The Herald:— I do hope that you'll find space to print this letter. It not only concerns me but other servicemen like myself.

I'm a sailor from Manchester, and I've been in the Navy for 27 months. Most of that time I've spent overseas. According to the Navy point system (which is a laugh) I have a total of thirty points. (I'm single so I don't get ten points for dependent. And yet I'm being sent to the Pacific.)

Many of my sailor-friends and myself believe this to be unfair. (Some of them have 30, 32, 35 and 36 points. Yet, they are also going to the Pacific.) Why should we, with two or more years in service be sent across again? Worst of all is the way the Navy is discharging their men. The Army has stated that they would discharge 6,000,000 men by July of next year. And the Navy (with a little more than 3,000,000 men) is going to take a year to discharge 2,000,000 men. Why? Yes, why? What's the delay?

Why don't those Navy "brass hats" get together and work out things that will be half decent. There's no reason why they can't discharge 2,000,000 men before July of next year.

And most of all, let them think up a better point system. That quarter a point for a month of sea duty is a laugh. Foreign service should be worth twice as much as stateside duty. (The Army thinks so.)

After all, us fellows have done our share in the victory, so why shouldn't we be sent home as quick as possible? We've had our share of sea duty, so why not give the men without sea duty a break.

And if the "brass hats" want to be 20 and 30 year men, that's o. k. with us. But we want to go home; we want to return to our jobs, go to school, college, or settle down, etc. We've had enough of this so-called man's navy.

Speaking for— Plenty of Disgusted Sailors.

Mr. Fuller's Petition

To the Editor, I attended the Zoning Board meeting last Thursday night as I was very much interested in Mr. Fuller's wood business. It certainly is a shame that this man has to give up his business to accommodate a certain bunch of so-called American citizens, when he supplied our townspeople during our greatest shortage of fuel. It happens this is Mr. Fuller's means of supporting his family due to the big lay-offs in the shops, and now he must forget his family to please this certain class of people.

It is said that Mr. Fuller is in a residential section, but as far as I can see it is a business zone, with a dance hall right next door to an dance hall right next door to him, also a garage and a grocery store. All this other business is going on right next to these people that are complaining about Mr. Fuller.

It also has been said that the noise disturbs the chickens so that they can't lay eggs. When the war broke out Mr. Fuller saw three of his sons off to war, two of which were wounded, and he worked in

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON SERVICEMEN'S PROBLEMS

By Douglas Larsen NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington—Here are some questions from GIs who have just returned from overseas:

Q. I will be out of the Army in about two weeks and want to get started back to college for this fall semester if possible. They tell me that getting the Government to send us to school involves a lot of red tape and that I might not be able to make it in time. What do you suggest as the fastest possible method of making application, and do you think I will

Purse Quickly Returned

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Just as Mrs. Minnie E. Wooley was reporting the loss of her purse to railroad officials here yesterday, a fast, east-bound train pulled into the yards, stopped, and delivered the purse to its harried owner. A started Mrs. Wooley learned that Engineer Tom Collins and Fireman N. R. Utler, riding in the cab of a train following the one in which she had been traveling, saw the pocketbook along the railroad right-of-way. They stopped their train, retrieved the purse, and then delivered it to its owner.

Be able to make it for the coming semester?

A. If you meet all the qualifications for the educational benefits there is no reason why you can't get your application approved in time. Go to your nearest Veterans Administration office and fill out and file Veterans Administration Rehabilitation Form 1950, with the Regional Office. The application must be accompanied by a certified photostatic copy of your certificate of discharge or release.

Q. I've been looking around for a job for the last couple of weeks and although there are plenty of openings there isn't anything that just suits me. What unemployment compensation is due me as a vet in case I want to keep looking for a while? A. You can get a maximum weekly allowance of $20 a week while you are unemployed. Depending upon your time in the service, you can get this for a maximum of 52 weeks.

Q. If a veteran is getting an increased pension, or a subsistence allowance for educational purposes, is he eligible to receive readjustment allowances? A. No.

Q. The Government has refused to give me my readjustment allowance because they claim I turned down a good job that was offered to me. Can they do this legally? A. Yes, if they prove you actually did turn down a good job.

Racers Tested This Evening

Contestants in Soap Box Derby to Gather at Center Park Here

The Rotary Club announced today that the final inspection for the Derby racers will begin promptly at 5 o'clock tonight. Everything is in readiness to handle the rest of the contestants and those that do not pass the test will have until Friday night at five o'clock to make the necessary adjustments to their racers. A truck will be at Center park to pick up the cars and transport them to the inspection site. All those that pass the test will be locked up until the day of the race. Prizes are on display at Blish Hardware company. Through the courtesy of Jack Sanson, 20 passes to the State theater will be presented to boys who qualify as prize winners.

Arrangements have been completed to take care of parking and spectators. Parking signs will be installed and snow fences and ropes will be erected to keep spectators off the race course. Cooperation of the crowd is necessary to keep race track clear at all times. Announcement of site will be made in the Herald Thursday. List of entries and their numbers will be made at the same time. A loud speaker system will be installed to keep the crowd informed of the names and numbers of all races. At the end of the races prizes will be donated to the winners at the finish line by Dr. Sheridan, chairman of the Derby and Robert Seeman. A special Rotary Club meeting will be held at Hotel Sheridan 6:30 p. m. Friday evening at that time all committees will be given last minute instructions on their duties the following day, a full attendance is requested.

Do You Know HOW TO SHAVE?

MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushless cream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

TO SHAVE PROPERLY, the first requirement is adequate preparation. Wash your face thoroughly with hot water and ordinary soap to remove the grit, oil and perspiration that ordinarily coats the face, and to soften the hair. Use good hot water—the time required for proper softening decreases rapidly, the hotter your water is. Then rinse the face thoroughly.

Now apply a good shaving soap (rubbing the lather in well with fingertips) or, if you prefer, a brushless cream. These preparations further emulsify the natural oil of the skin and permit the hairs to be wet more thoroughly. Allow from two to three minutes, or even longer for these simple tasks, and your shave will be quicker, easier, and more satisfactory.

AND NOW, the last requirement of a good shave—the blade you use. There are many satisfactory blades on the market, but one is quite unique and offers a great advantage over usual blades. This blade is hollow ground. Usual blades are ground like a jack-knife, like this . The hollow ground blade is . Due to hollow grinding, this blade is not held rigid by the razor guard. The slight "play" at the flexible edge permits the blade to follow facial contours effortlessly without "bearing down". And it's "bearing down" that irritates tender skins and wears out delicate blade edges prematurely.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and—learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

LOVE BRAVES GRAYTON BOMB BY OREN ARNOLD

Delaney Gets Confused The story: Dr. Hale decides to transfer the loaded X-999 to a farmhouse, well out of the city. When the substitute driver sees the armed guards, they the little, heavy he is to transfer the loaded X-999 to a farmhouse, well out of the city.

Unanswered questions in the mind of Mr. Spud Delaney, substitute driver for the Metropolitan Transfer Company, nagged at his curiosity for a full half hour while he edged his truck in and out of the city traffic.

It was past 1 when Spud left the bar, stinging. He was not drunk—he was too smart to get drunk on any driving job—but he wasn't depressed, either. He had a good new cigar, on Red.

Starve and Beat Nazi Prisoners Paris, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The conservative newspaper Figaro, sharply criticizing French treatment of German prisoners, said today that the prisoners were systematically starved and savagely beaten.

Sense and Nonsense

Teacher—Junior, what are the two genders? A fellow—Masculine and feminine. The masculine are divided into temperate and intemperate and the feminine into frigid and torrid.

Editor Blanton of the Sikeston, Mo., Standard, is a frank sort of a fellow. He says he is fond of the members of his line family, but that he seriously objects to the practice of making his home a "hilling station," by his folks.

It was past 1 when Spud left the bar, stinging. He was not drunk—he was too smart to get drunk on any driving job—but he wasn't depressed, either. He had a good new cigar, on Red.
