(Come on, Ma! Dig that boot out of the attic, have the sound-post set up again, stick some strings on it, wash the low-hair, and drop me a line. That goes, Mrs. Gruber, I'm glad you did. This was the "come on" which appeared in The Herald and started the whole thing. The whole thing, in the beginning, was a heterogeneous group of players of stringed instruments, horns and wood instruments, and tympans. And the "come on" was the invitation of John Gruber, music critic for The Herald.

Sheinwold on Bridge

DON'T LET OPPONENTS SWITCH TO BEST SUIT.
 By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you've enrolled yourself in our little post-graduate course in the art of not losing, you're ready for one of the misadventures of Miserable Milton. The poor fellow wins a fine once only when it makes no difference. When it does make a difference, he shouldn't have taken the finesse to begin with.

Neither side vulnerable. Opening lead — Two of Spades. West led the deuce of spades, and Miserable Milton joyfully tried a finesse with dummy's queen. You must give the poor fellow credit for one thing: He's always happy to try a finesse.

East won with the king of spades and first back the jack of hearts. Milton really had to try this finesse, but of course it lost. Back came a heart to the ace, and Milton now had to try the club finesse. Milton was really miserable when this lost, especially when East peeled off the rest of the hearts to collect a two-trick penalty.

Good Odds
 "The odds are 7 to 1 against losing three finesse in the same hand," said Milton. "I'm sure you'll manage to lose them all."

Of course you've noticed that M.M. should not have taken the spade finesse at the first trick. He is sure of his game if he puts the ace of spades, enters his hand with a diamond and leads the queen of clubs for a finesse.

East takes the king of clubs and returns the jack of hearts. South is sure of one spade, one heart, three diamonds and four clubs even though the heart finesse loses.

If you're playing the same sort of hand in a match — point duplicate tournament, you have to take the spade finesse at the first trick. The odds are very good that this finesse won't cost you the game, and overtricks are very important in tournament play.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's Chancellor Roger W. Heyns said the militant movements which have been running out of steam.

Heyns said that the radical left student movement was weakened by splits in its ranks. "I think students are growing more sophisticated and that the university administration is more sensitive to students," he said.

Heyns denied that he plans to resign, a persistent rumor which he left on a recent three-month leave. Heyns, 52, took his present post four years ago after serving as vice president at the University of Michigan.

"I came back from a successful vacation in Europe, refreshed and enthusiastic. I have no intention of resigning," he stated.

Heyns said university productivity across the nation are vacant because of growing pressures from both the conservatives and radicals.

Doctor Calls Drug A Potent Aphrodisiac

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Georgetown University neurologist disclosed today unexpected evidence that the experimental drug L-dopa can be a powerful sex stimulant that might prove to be a long-sought medical weapon against female frigidity and male impotence.

L-dopa already has been hailed as a possible breakthrough against crippling Parkinson's disease, but Dr. William E. O'Malley said it also looks like "a true aphrodisiac" that could benefit hundreds of thousands of people throughout the world.

O'Malley said in an interview the drug has demonstrated powers of giving some men "the vigor and 'fire' more sexual than the average 20-year-old man."

And he added, while predominantly affecting men, it also has induced "hypersexuality" that is, a marked increase in sexuality, in certain women.

He reported that the unexpected findings have been discerned as a side-effect in about 2 per cent of the patients being given the drug for Parkinson's disease—the so-called "shaking palsy" mainly known since Biblical times.

He told of one male patient, about 60, who hadn't been sexually active for at least six years, who started chasing nurses after being treated with L-dopa for quite awhile.

O'Malley said the evidence of increased sexuality in certain patients with this disease—which ordinarily tends to depress sexual activity—is so dramatic that studies appear warranted to explore possibilities for using L-dopa as a treatment for female frigidity and male impotence.

Frigidity is the incapacity of certain females for normal pleasure in sexual intercourse. Male impotence, which is much less common than female frigidity, is the inability of certain males to perform the sexual act.

"At least 20 other investigators throughout the country had had him privately they had noted similar hypersexuality in at least once a day, some of some of their L-dopa treated patients," O'Malley said. He added: "Contrast that with the average, normal male, aged 20, who has intercourse only about three to five times a week."

And he said some woman patients in the age range of 40 to 50—became hypersexual as a side-effect of L-dopa treatment.

O'Malley's disclosure on L-dopa marks the second time in recent weeks that scientists have reported the discovery of apparent sporadic chemicals later date of the possible, controlled use of L-dopa as a treatment for rigidity and impotence.

In a recent report in the technical journal Science, a team of researchers of the National Heart and Lung Institute said markedly increased sexual activity was induced in male rats and rabbits by injecting them with a drug "p-Chlorophenylalanine," called PCPA for short.

The synthetic compound, developed some years ago in Germany, has previously been used in experimental clinical investigations because of its ability to reduce the levels of a natural brain chemical called serotonin. Excesses of the latter may be harmful.

Connecticut was admitted to the union on Jan. 9, 1788, as the fifth state.

Comment Session
A 8:30 to 8:30 Board of Directors comment session is scheduled for tomorrow night, in the town clerk's office in the Municipal Building.

The public hearing is for town residents who wish to file suggestions or complaints on any subject within the board's jurisdiction.

The sessions, now in their third year, are held on the first Thursday and third Thursday of each month.

Hebron New Date Sought On Town Budget

The Board of Finance voted at its meeting Monday evening to recommend that the town change the date of the annual budget meeting to the first Monday in May rather than the first Monday in June.

If the change is approved at a town meeting, to be called shortly, the board will ask that all budget requests be turned in before the first day of April.

There will be no preliminary budget hearings. The board will meet April 12 to discuss the budgets and have the budgets prepared and ready for an April 12 public hearing.

In other business the board voted to approve only $440 of a $1,100 bill presented by the town auditor.

The auditor explained that additional work was required because of two new accounts, the cafeteria and the Ammon Fire Department, and that the loss of the town treasurer presented an additional problem.

However, the Board of Finance felt that the bill was entirely out of line.

Students graduating from eighth grade in June from public, private, and parochial schools of Manchester, East Hartford, Glastonbury, and South Windsor are eligible to take the examination.

The test will take approximately 2½ hours, with the remaining time being used to complete information forms.

Examinees must report to the school auditorium before 8:30 a.m. to receive room assignments and pay the fee for testing materials.

The examinations are necessary to satisfy state statutes under the Heart and Hygiene Law for insurance comprehensive purposes.

All freshmen must have this certification on file with Chief Griffin to be able to collect on any insurance claims.

If there are any questions, freshmen may contact either Chief Griffin or Harvey Desruisseaux.

EDMONTON, Ont. (AP) — Textbooks no longer of use to school boards across Canada are being shipped to underdeveloped countries. A distribution center here has 10,000 books being prepared for a shipment to Kenya and Uganda.

O'Malley told of the new findings in an interview prior to the opening of a one-day symposium on "The Pharmacology of L-dopa," being sponsored by Georgetown University School of Medicine with the financial support of Eaton Laboratories, Norwich, N.Y., one of the American manufacturers of L-dopa.

He said in a few instances the sexual side-effects of L-dopa have proved to be an extreme problem, requiring that some patients be taken off the drug.

One such case he related was that of a male Parkinson's patient about 60 years old.

"He had been virtually paralyzed for many years," he said, "and had had no sex activity for about six or eight years."

"But, after treatment with L-dopa for a certain period of time, he started chasing his nurse when she'd come into his room."

"It was so bad, that nurses started going into his room two at a time, as a precaution—but less common than female frigidity, is the inability of certain males to perform the sexual act."

"We've also had some male patients in their states and severities who hadn't had sexual intercourse for five years—but had had him privately they had noted similar hypersexuality in at least once a day, some of some of their L-dopa treated patients," O'Malley said. He added: "Contrast that with the aver-

Applications Run High For Admission to MCC

Applications for full admission to Manchester Community College are running high, with interest in the circles, where a number of applicants has applied for admission to a few of the same comparable January programs.

Kuhnly minimizes the influence of recent interim campus announcements on the sharp increase in applications. The State Commission for Higher Education, State Board of Trustees for Regional Community Colleges have acted in a constant contact with high school guidance personnel, and the good relations engendered by this communication.

Counselors, he said, have been advising students planning to attend MCC to submit early applications to assure admission under the college's space-available policy.

Another reason for the jump in applications, he feels, is the nation's top interest in the variety of programs offered, with special emphasis on career orientation among the 28 curricula.

He noted that current applications reflect an across-the-board

Archaeological Digs Indicate Civilization Born in Thailand

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Archaeologists have discovered evidence that a civilization was spawned in the rich Tigris-Euphrates valley. Police unearthed from two little-known diggings indicate that the Thais were both farming and using bronze for weapons and tools 1,000 years before the Chinese.

The engagement of Miss Marcia Fraser Glenny of Coventry to Electronics Technician Lt. C. Blair James VanCamp of Manchester has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Glenny of Glenwood Farms, Silver St. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. VanCamp of 1063 E. Middle Type.

The Miss Glenny, a graduate of Northampton (Mass.) School for Girls and the University of Connecticut, is a research assistant in the Department of Medicine and Pediatric Specialties at the University of Connecticut, School of Medicine, Newington.

Mr. VanCamp, a 1964 graduate of Manchester High School, is serving as a reactor operator in the U.S. Navy Submarine Service aboard the USS Ethan Allen. He is stationed in New London.

The wedding is planned for May 16.

Alcoholism is family disease. Alcoholism has been called "the family disease" because every member of the family is affected by it, according to the National Council on Alcoholism, sponsors of January's Alcoholism Information Month.

Nowadays, there are fellowship groups available for all the members of an afflicted family: AA for the alcoholic parent; Alateen for the teen-age children, and Al-Anon for the non-drinking parent.

The NCA says that men are less likely to join Al-Anon—and more likely to walk out on their alcoholic spouses than women are. It's much easier for a husband to pack up and leave an alcoholic wife. A man doesn't have the tendency to mother and sympathize with his mate that a woman does.

Dr. Wilhelm G. Soltman II, a University of Hawaii archaeologist, said that domesticated seeds, found in Spirit Cave near the Burmese border in northern Thailand, are the oldest found by modern man—and that these contradict history book theories that the Near East's "Fertile Crescent" gave birth to agriculture.

The real surprise in the finds," Soltman said, "is that until now the Southeast Asian area has been regarded as unimportant in civilization's progress."

It had been thought that this area borrowed their technology from the Chinese and Indians. Now it looks like it may be just the opposite.

Chester Gorman, then a University of Hawaii graduate student, discovered the Spirit Cave in 1965. In a lower level of the cave diggings Gorman found pebble tools, flake, grinding stones, pottery—and the seeds.

The seeds were peas, beans and root plants. Early Near East agriculturists primarily grew cereal grains, such as wheat and oats.

The earliest agriculture development in the Fertile Crescent area is about 9,000 years ago," Gorman said, adding that Spirit Cave is believed to have been occupied as long as 12,500 years ago.

At another digging, in the burial grounds of the prehistoric village of Nea Noh. This is in northeast Thailand, graduate student Donn Bayard found an encrusted bronze tool.

"It shows metallurgy was a skill of these people some 2,000 years before traditional theories give them credit for it," Bayard said.

His find, an axe with a socket for a handle, is the oldest known tool of its kind—and seems to found evidence that Nea Noh. The villagers were the first people in Asia to grow rice—between 3,500 and 2,500 B.C. This was long before rice was grown in China or India.

The theory that seed cultivation first developed in Southeast Asia is not a new one. It was postulated in 1901 by Europe's Aweilke Morgan, and again in 1962 by geographer Carl Sauer of the University of California at Berkeley.

"They postulated what we are finding," Soltman said. "We're bringing in empiricism (knowledge by observation and experiment) to support their theories."

proving that the Thais were using bronze 1,000 years before the Chinese.

"The Thais" Bayard said, "developed a sophisticated form of molding bronze by 2,500 B.C. While this does not preclude the development of bronze in the Near East, it's significant because the Thais used a split mold."

The split mold comprises two halves of sandstone which are bound together and filled with molten bronze. It offered far more variety of tool and weapon design than the flat mold that was prominent at the same time in the Near East.

Fire Damages Laurel St. Home Cellar
A two-family duplex home at 10-12 Laurel St. was moderately damaged when a fire broke out in the cellar yesterday at 4:35 p.m. Town firefighters said the fire was confined to the basement. The duplex is occupied by Mrs. John W. Silver, of 12 Laurel St., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stearns, at 10 Laurel St. Firemen said the fire started in the basement of the two children, both of whom were all right, according to firemen. Both families were able to remain in the house last night, firemen said. Here, a heap of debris sits on a table in the basement. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Vernon Expansion Proposed On Non-Graded Classes

Because the non-graded Heart Drive fund drive classes, starting three years ago in the elementary schools, will open in Vernon on Friday and run for one week, chairman Frank Walliet has announced the Board of Education is being asked to expand the program to a third elementary school next fall.

The program has been tested in the Maple Street and North-east Schools and the curriculum committee of the board is now recommending that it be expanded to include the Skinner Road School.

The program takes in Grades 1 through 3 in reading and arithmetic classes. These two subjects were agreed on because they are considered the basic academic areas of P.T.O. will meet tomorrow at the primary years. It was felt 7:30 p.m. at the school with the that, generally, skills in these two areas do not vary greatly in the primary grades.

The Board of Education Control Commission. Both men agreed the non-graded program would remove rigid grade lines and divide the curriculum into learning levels in the two subject areas chosen.

Throughout the program, the emphasis has been on "flexibility." It is designed with each child's growth in mind. It allows each child to progress at his own rate of speed.

Joseph Belle, principal of the Northeast School, explained that the program holds great advantages to children of all abilities. He cited as another advantage the fact that fewer hard drugs such as LSD and discipline problems exist in the classroom.

About 2,000 of the school dis- cause the children are not working with frustrating material and they are functioning on a level at which they are comfortable.

Andrew Managetta, principal of the Maple Street School, explained the difference between what appears to be the regular grade class struc- ture of the 1,000 seniors in our system and the steady stream of one in the regular classes every- thing is blocked off and certain accomplishments have to be conducted the survey.

This is one school official said he be- not true, he noted, of the non-graded system where a steady stream of progress is made all along the line.

"The kids in our community have a lot of free time and implementing this program at Skinner Road at a special meet- ings to be held next Monday.

Cut Your Own Taxes 3

Exemption Still $600

By RAY DE CRANE — By the first day of this year, you may claim four exemption credits. An additional $600 exemption on your income tax return.

The additional exemption for a wife or a husband who is blind, age or blindness, though, does not apply to your dependents.

In general, five conditions must be met before a dependent can claim an exemption. If you are filing a joint return and if each of you was 64 or older furnished more than one-half of the total support for the year.

Two. The person supported must be one of the taxpayer's dependent children or a member of the taxpayer's household.

Three. The dependent's gross income must be less than $600. This gross income test does not apply to your children who are full-time students or who are under 19.

Four. The dependent must be a United States citizen, or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone or the Republic of Panama.

Five. If married, the dependent must not have filed a joint return with his wife or her husband.

Some typical questions and answers will help illustrate some common problems which arise over these rules.

Q: My son, who is 20, is a college student. He earned $1,200 last year from an after-school and summer-time job. How much must I have contributed toward his support before claiming him as a dependent?

A: The amount that you must contribute must not exceed his earnings, but the amount spent in his own support. If he saved $600 of his $1,200 income, he would have spent $600 in his own support. That is the key amount you must more than offset with your own contributions.

Q: My mother, who had a total of $700 from taxable dividends and bank interest, lives in our home. We spent $1,200 in her behalf last year, including her medical expenses. May we claim her as a dependent?

A: No, the gross income test rules out. Since you did furnish more than half of her support, however, you can list her medical expenses paid by you as a possible medical deduction. Include them with your own medical expenses.

Q: My daughter, 21, was in college last year. She had no income and my wife and I paid all her expenses, including tuition. She was married at Thanksgiving time. May we list her as a dependent?

A: You may, if she does not file a joint return with her husband or is not listed as an exemption on his separate return.

Q: My wife died last June. She would have been 65 in September. May I claim two exemptions for her on my return?

A: Just one; she was not 65 at the time of death. The status at the time of death is the controlling factor.

CREDIT WAY OF LIFE
Fraught with Hazards

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the fact that the law now requires interest rates on consumer loans to be stated as clearly as possible, the suspicion exists that many buyers still are unaware of the implications of the credit age.

Clearly, credit as a way of life is not only firmly established but growing relentlessly, both in total amount and as a percentage of disposable income. Close to $120 billion is outstanding, not including home mortgages.

A proper understanding of credit may not be developing simultaneously, however. The falling seems to be shared by both borrower and lender.

A survey by the Federal Reserve Board in July 1969 showed considerable confusion among heads of households about the interest rates they paid on automobile loans, department store credit and even home mortgages.

Since then the Truth-in-Lending Law has gone into effect, requiring that lenders state the dollar amount of finance charges and the interest as a percentage. But can anyone easily understand the charges on installment credit?

Compounding the confusion is the sometimes incredible state of credit bookkeeping. Holders of some credit cards find it almost impossible to get errors corrected. And in some stores the situation is as poor.

Consider, for example, the problem involved in a payment made but not recorded promptly by the creditor. The creditor includes the amount on the next bill, along with an interest charge. Some users of credit suspect that the much touted efficiencies of credit are not so real as advertised. They prefer instead to pay cash, seek a discount and keep their own records.

In Montebello, Calif., the editor of "Western Milk & Ice Cream," a Mr. Henry Adam Morse, complains: "Establishments accept credit cards willingly, waiting 30 days for their money less part of their profit, but when one offers cash and asks for a discount it produces a financial crisis that requires calling the manager."

Several years ago Morse printed up some "Discount-For-Cash" cards and sent them to friends. Soon he was getting orders from all over the country for cards at three for $1, although they cost him only one cent to print.

So heavy were the orders, he says, that "for awhile I thought I had discovered perpetual motion." What he had discovered were individuals of similar sympathies.

Another problem of the credit age is the proliferation of bank credit cards that seem to appear in the mail as regularly as "cents-off" coupons. Although almost casually offered, these cards are an A-1 claim on the lendable funds of the dispensing bank.

A customer might apply to a bank for $500 in credit to purchase furniture and be turned down because of tight money. If he has the bank's credit card, however, he can buy that furniture without a question being asked.

It is for this reason that some financial figures feel that the government's attempt to dampen the inflationary psychology are not producing the expected results and that a more

Sen. McCarthy Departs Paris After Viet Talks

PARIS (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., flew to London today after a three-day visit to Paris during which he met the leaders of the American, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations at the Paris peace talks.

McCarthy spent 4 1/2 hours Tuesday in what an aide called "cordial and informative conversations" with Xuan Thuy, North Vietnam's chief delegate. He talked Monday with Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong.

A spokesman said McCarthy will make a "full, confidential statement on his talks with Xuan Thuy after his return to the United States" although not immediately.

The North Vietnamese delegation said in a statement that Xuan Thuy "appreciated the good faith of Sen. McCarthy and expressed the wish to see the U.S. government put an end to the war in Vietnam in a short while, to reach a truly peaceful solution to the Vietnamese problem."

Xuan Thuy also expressed to McCarthy, the statement said, his appreciation of the efforts by antiwar forces in the United States.

New Abortion Law Attacked in Colorado

By LOUDON KELLY Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — Nearly three years ago Colorado became the first state to liberalize its law governing legal abortions under approved medical conditions.

Since then more than 1,000 women have had Colorado operations to end pregnancies. But now the law is under attack from some legislators, doctors and other authorities who favored it at the time it became effective April 29, 1967.

"We tried to change a cruel, outdated, inhuman law," said State Rep. Richard Lamm of Denver, who led the fight for the abortion bill. "And what we got was a cruel, outdated, inhuman law."

Lamm said 19 of every 20 women who seek a legal abortion in Colorado are refused.

"We force them either to have the baby or to have an illegal abortion," he said.

"It's a tragedy that won't end until we either eliminate all laws on abortion and make it a private matter between a woman and her physician or pass a law which says simply that the

Major International Effort Cited to Stem Drug Abuse

GENEVA (AP) — The United States called Monday for bold new international action to stem the worldwide abuse of mind-altering drugs, a spreading scourge among the youth of the rich from the traditional narcotics—opium, cannabis and cocaine—into the synthetic drugs, such as amphetamines, barbiturates, and other tranquilizers, and in some cases, with little therapeutic use. All in all there are some 6,000 such drugs, relatively easy to obtain.

John E. Ingersoll, director of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, told a meeting of the U.N. Narcotics Commission there is no more critical domestic problem in the United States than drug abuse, and other countries have similar difficulties.

"Statistics virtually cry out for a major international effort to combat growing supplies of drugs," he said. "The drug traffic in trade... We need bold new initiatives if we are to contain the groups of amphetamines which dissolved in water and injected intravenously are more dangerous and harmful than heroin and other 'hard' narcotics. Users are hopelessly addicted. The mind-destroying effect emergency conference of the work more rapidly, and even slight overdoses can lead to death."

He was addressing the opening meeting of a three-week international conference of psychiatrists, psychologists, and other mental health professionals. These are mainly amphetamines—stimulants—and barbiturates—tranquilizers—both heavy punishment for offenders.

The Same Troops, Seen Differently

These South Korean troops who have been fighting in South Vietnam are posing to have trouble reconciling the difference in the press notices they have received at various stages in the war. When they first appeared in Vietnam, and for a long time afterward, they were our noble and loyal allies, fighting in South Vietnam, for the same kind of freedom we had helped them defend, previously, in South Korea.

Lately, these same troops have been labeled professional mercenaries, a title based on the fact that our government pays South Korea for their services, which means that American dollars may have had as much as American principles to do with the fact they are fighting in South Vietnam.

These same South Korean troops speedily achieved a reputation for their behavior in South Vietnam. There were no troops in the action, not even our own, whom American hawk columnists admitted more than the South Koreans. They fought with more savagery than anybody else; they gave no quarter; and when they pacified a place or territory, they really pacified it.

Now all this has been turned around. The battle savagery of the South Korean troops and their strategy for pacifying a piece of territory have turned into new additions to the list of atrocities in the war. Whereas American units may have selected an occasional village for target practice, or have indulged in some occasionally needless slaughter of civilians, the South Koreans, by the stories now beginning to appear, had a routine of scattering death to civilians, either as warning or reprisal.

Obviously, in this interim, the South Korean troops themselves have not changed.

What has changed is the way the world looks at the war in which they are engaged.

Yesterday's top fighting spirit and military efficiency has become today's atrocity.

This, so long as it stays this way for all wars and all the hurrying of men's sensitivities down toward the estate of the beast, is quite all right.

Fusion Now, White House Later?

"This puts the kind of non-partisan, fusion, coalition cast to the government that I'd really like to see," said Mayor John Lindsay after he had appointed a fairly distinguished Democrat to join a Republican and a Liberal party member on his staff of Deputy Mayors.

The Democrat was Robert M. Morgenthau, the United States Attorney who was so reluctant to give his resignation to President Nixon so a Republican could take over, in accordance with the normal rules of politics.

One could, of course, accept Mayor Lindsay's statement at face value, and assume that he is happy because he is having such fantastic luck finding good men from all parties to join a fusion administration of New York City.

But it is more fun to speculate that perhaps part of Mayor Lindsay's good cheer over the Morgenthau appointment came from the fact that Morgenthau had just been a spectacular victim of politics as usual by the Republican now in the White House.

Since Morgenthau has also been considered, and could still be considered, a possible candidate for Governor of New York, Mayor Lindsay may find a double joy in him, first as a laund to the Republican in the White House, second as a threat to the Republican at Albany.

Finally, by extending the hand of fellowship and appointment to such a distinguished Democrat, Mayor Lindsay adds a little more warmth to the speculation that he himself may be gradually assuming a posture which will, in time, reveal itself as one of standing for the Democratic nomination for President in 1972.

The key question, for any who think any such possibility is out of this world, is to ask whom the Democrats have, for potential 1972 standardbearer, who is better than the Republican Mayor of New York.

Assaulting The Aristocracy

From a political-social-cultural viewpoint, the most arresting news of the past year was the advent of Sen. Agnew. An understanding of this phenomenon almost certainly will tell us a good deal about this juncture in time, if not indeed about a dawning era.

All the more so because the Vice President unites such intense passion among both his supporters and his critics. Dr. Gallup tells us Mr. Agnew now ranks behind Richard Nixon and Billy Graham, among the nation's most admired men. This popularity among the masses, though, is mirrored by the apposite convulsions among the elite. No doubt the elite generally views the Vice President the way a general of our does, as rallying "the redneck" against "the thinking people."

Take away the loaded phraseology and he is not far wrong. Indeed, the phraseology is unconvincingly revealing. The heart of the Agnew phenomenon is precisely that a class has sprung up in this century that considers itself uniquely qualified ("the thinking people"), and is quite willing to dismiss the ordinary American with only contempt ("the rednecks"). Mr. Agnew has merely supplied a focus for the inevitable reaction to this arrogance.

Mr. Agnew's targets—the media, war protesters, rebellious youth—are representatives of a class that has enjoyed unusual moral and cultural authority through the 1960s. Seldom before has such influence been wielded by the highbrows, the intellectual, beautiful people - Eastern - liberal elite. Yet how well have the members of this elite discharged this authority? What has been the record of their deeds?

Oh, the highbrows can write off the war as one to a Texan, conveniently ignore from whom he inherited it, and from whom he took advice. But the elite policies were followed, insofar as practically possible, in such domestic programs as the new economics and the war on poverty. Has the economy been well managed? Have the cities prospered?

Even more telling are the results in the many fields where moral authority is exercised directly, without the dilution of the political process. Whose theology culminates in the death of God? Whose artistic advice culminates in pornography? Whose moral advice culminates in "anything goes" with sex and drugs? Whose children seek the universities?

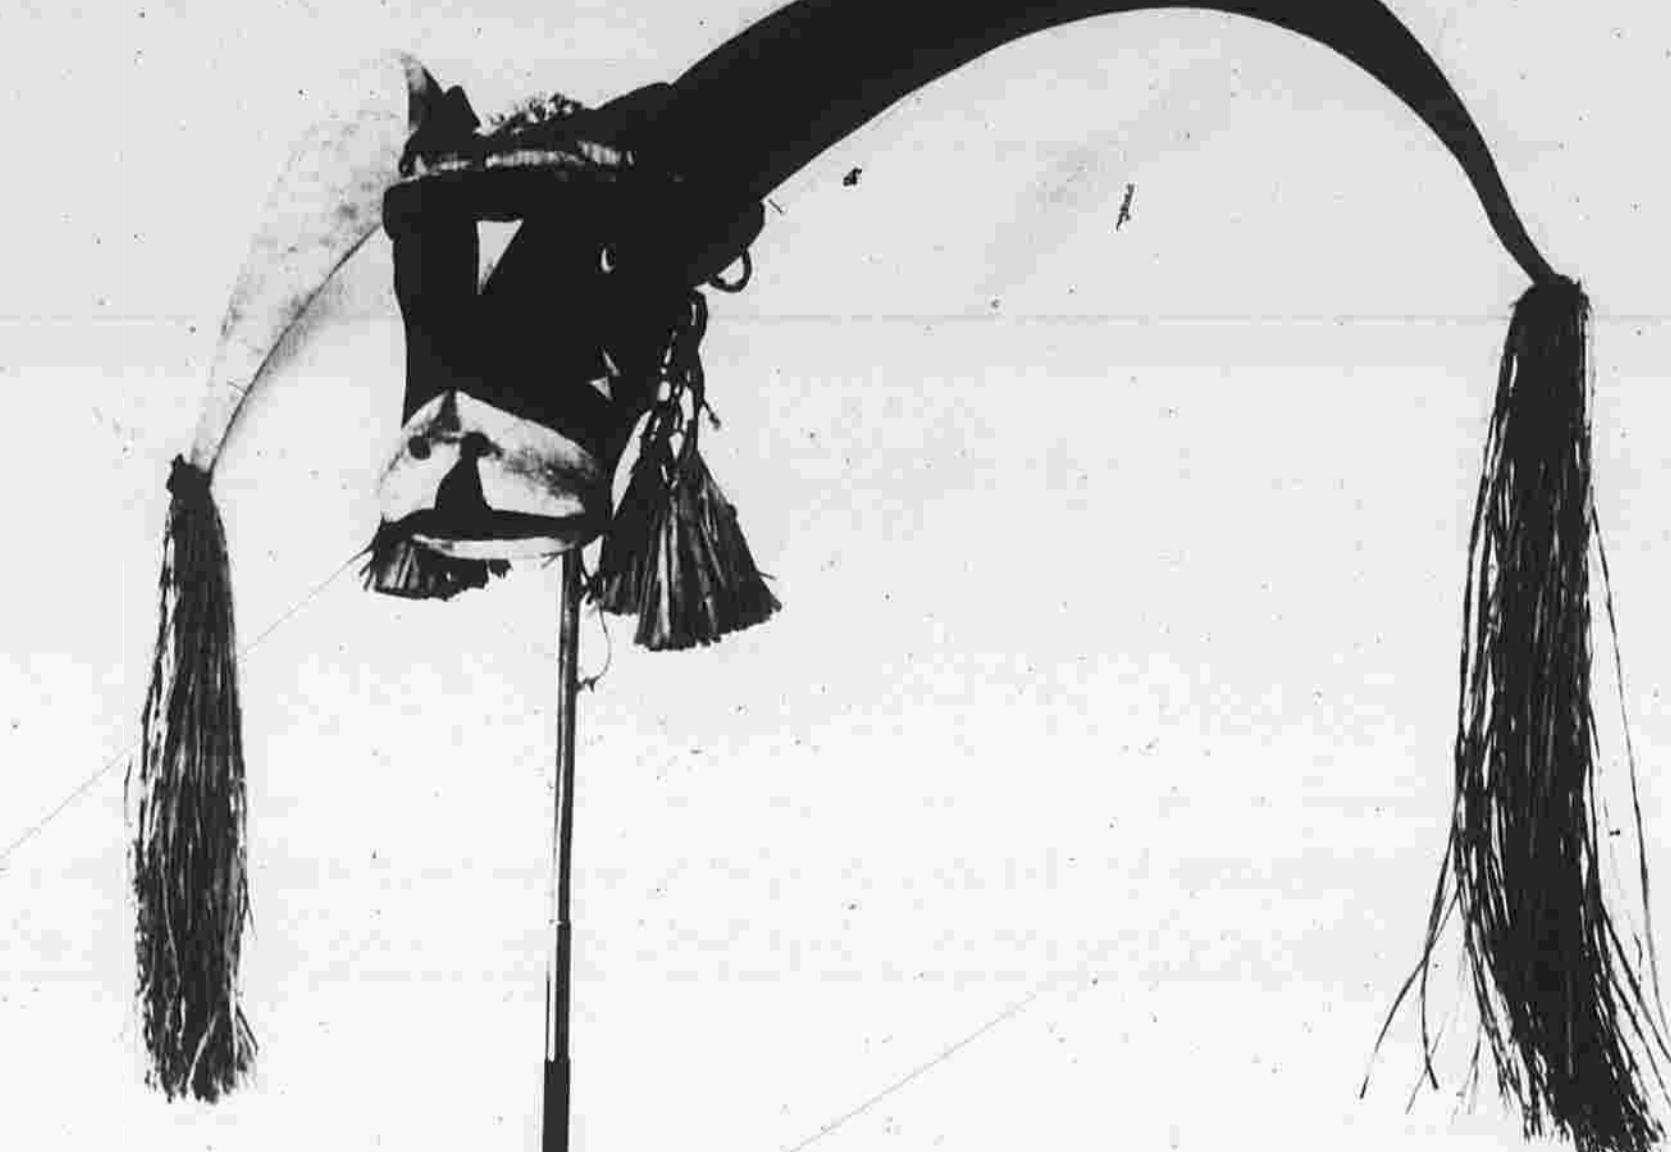

Coupled with this record has been the contemptuous approach so well described to a Harper's reporter by A. I. Hayslav: "When the PDA from a prestige university try to impose on the natives a sophisticated culture, they're like Parisian intellectuals trying to bring enlightenment to Algeria, and they despise the cultural forms of Algeria which they don't respect or understand. If the teachers are successful, the Algerian wants to become a Puritan, and looks down on the culture from which he sprang."

"And as soon as the American college student is successfully propagandized by the American intellectual, he looks down on the mainstream of American culture—the American Legion, the Grange, the Rotary, the Lions Club—because he's all wrapped up in Beckett, Camus, Pound, but the American Legion and the Rotary Club have just as much importance in a democracy as the New York Review of Books. Damn right more, maybe."

Naturally all this has left a raw nerve in the body politic, and quite justifiably so. Raw nerves nearly always have a potential for danger, and at the extremes this one spills over into outright hatred of the highbrow. It could turn into a period of nasty anti-intellectualism, as part-time highbrows ourselves, we hope the Vice President starts to give this a little thought. But it is far better the nerve be touched by him than by, say, George Wallace. If history is a guide, as such feelings are incorporated into the two-party mainstream, their worst excesses usually are pared away from their legitimate core.

In this case that core is substantial. Moral authority used both badly and arrogantly by the prevailing elite. The battle is over whether that authority should now be withdrawn, and Mr. Agnew has placed himself at the vortex. He deals with politics on the grand scale, raising an issue transcending that of who should hold office. He raises the issue of who shall allocate the status and rewards this society provides, who shall have prerogative to separate the good guys from the bad guys, who shall decide which is the thinking person and which the redneck.

That is why Spiro Agnew attracts such intense feelings. He has held of that most primal political cause, the assault on the prerogatives of a veiled aristocracy. And it is an assault this particular aristocracy has brought upon itself—WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — The hard political fact that President Nixon has no intention of radically driving down consumer oil prices became clear last month when Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell put in a surprising — and highly significant — appearance at one of the last meetings of the Presidential task force on oil imports.

Mitchell is not a member of the task force and had not attended previous meetings even as an observer. But his representative at the meeting — Richard W. McLaren, Assistant Attorney General for oil — had strongly made his presence felt. An old-fashioned Republican trust-buster in the Teddy Roosevelt tradition, McLaren vehemently opposed oil import quotas on principle. Any industry subsidy, he reasoned, should come directly from the Treasury, not indirectly from the consumer's pocket.

Outraged by McLaren and fearful that the task force would recommend dramatically increased imports (and hence lower prices), oil moguls appealed to McLaren's boss, Mitchell. The result was Mitchell's surprise appearance at the early December task force meeting.

Mitchell, the Cabinet's strong and silent man, was characteristically laconic. In contrast to McLaren's boldness, Mitchell urged extreme caution. "Don't put the President in the box," he said cryptically.

Mitchell's caution may not press specific recommendations on the task force. But to a man, those present put this interpretation on his remarks: Don't go overboard on a radical oil import policy that would force Mr. Nixon either to repudiate his own task force or alienate his longtime political supporters in the oil industry. Nor was there much doubt that Mitchell's brief appearance had undercut all chance that the task force chairman, Secretary of Labor George Shultz, could push through a pro-consumer recommendation.

Soon thereafter, the task force sent the White House a still secret report now awaiting Presidential approval. By admitting slightly higher oil imports, the report is not everything oil producers anticipated from their legitimate supporters, Mr. Nixon for President. The two most vigorous oil partisans on the task force, Secretary of the Interior Walter Hekel and Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, have actually sent dissenting reports to the White House.

Nevertheless, oil lobbyists can breathe a sigh of relief, considering their apprehensions of a still higher oil price. At the time, the non-political professional staff of the task force talked about junking the present quota system in favor of a low tariff to reduce oil prices drastically. Staff economists then contemplated imports large enough to reduce the present domestic price of $3.30 a barrel (at the South Louisiana wellhead) to $1.80-$2.00.

With campaign funds this year would have been furious. Accordingly, the Nixon administration's apparent decision to end its massive oil import study with minor changes to McLaren's boldness, is implicit dismissal of the increasingly Democratic Northeast and a reward for the increasingly Republican South.

As such, it bears the same relationship to the public mood, the Massachusetts senators have lined up against Mr. Nixon on every possible occasion. Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is blamed by the White House for most of

Left Beacon Hill to become Secretary of Transportation. Sargent has stayed studiously independent of the national administration without forcing an open race with the Nixon team. Alone among Republican governors, he addressed last fall's Moratorium, but his speech implied a plea not to "lose faith in the President."

More important, he has wooed and seemingly won independent support by his actions. In his first bout with the Democratic legislative last year, he wangled a long-needed reorganization of the archaic state government and enough new taxes to avoid an election-year request for higher levies. In restating the executive departments, he has been notably free of partisanship and the 20-man legislature — a reform that is popular with the voters but which the Democratic leaders of that body appear determined to block.

He has, in short, stripped the Democrats of their favorite line, and since they are in their usual state squabble, with four prospective candidates threatening to make a hash of the convention and primary, Sargent now looks a clear favorite for election to a full four-year term.

In the other statewide and congressional races the prospect is for a standoff between the parties. And that appears to be the case elsewhere in the east. Republicans are not going to beat the nationally-important eastern Democrats who come up this year, like Kennedy or Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, but neither are they likely to lose their own major leaders from the region, like Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York or Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

There may be some swapping of marginal seats in states like Connecticut and Vermont, but on balance — again, barring a recession — the guess is that the line up of political strength will be little changed from the present, when Republicans have seven of the ten governorships and 12 of the 20 Senate seats and 44 of the 100 House districts in the northeast corner of the country. Lawyers Dispute Discharges Of Antiwar Activist Soldiers

By FRED R. HOFFMAN
An Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil liberties lawyers are moving to overturn undesirable discharges meted out by the Army to soldiers engaging in antiwar activities.

These lawyers say a soldier cannot be given a less than honorable discharge because of his political views—that the discharge must be based on a man's military record.

Sources in the military movement charged for some time the Army is embarked on a path to prune political troublemakers from its ranks by discharging them on undesirable discharges.

Asked about this, the Army denied flatly such instructions had been sent to commanders.

David Rein, a lawyer for two ex-soldiers who received undesirable discharges, said he believes there is any directive from Army headquarters that speaks of "a general notion that this is a way to handle the situation without making too big a fuss."

An undesirable discharge can be a serious blight on a man's future, often barring his chances for a good job in civilian life.

The 31 Civil Liberties Defense Committee of New York has charged that:

"By giving undesirable discharges to antiwar activists, the Army has admitted that it refuses to allow GI's the same rights as civilians."

This committee, whose honorary chairman is Lord Bertinotti Russell, describes its purpose as defending the constitutional rights of American citizens in uniform. It has obtained legal counsel for servicemen who claim the rights of Catholic Women by military superior.

Nobody is certain how many soldiers have been put out of the Army with undesirable discharges after overtly demonstrating antiwar and politically radical views.

However, a number of cases have come into the open. Hein says he is preparing appeals seeking honorable discharges for former Pvt. Joseph P. Cole and Eugene J. Rucker, formerly stationed at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Sen. Mansfield: This Election Year a Time For Honey, Not Vinegar

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says this election year for his party may be "the time for honey rather than vinegar."

"As an example, he had a few words of praise for President Nixon."

"He's done a pretty good job. I think, in the first year, all things considered. At least he's got us going the other way in Vietnam, with troops coming out, not fast enough, but coming out."

Manfield said he hopes the Democrats can get a victory in the 1970 election year.

"There are ways and ways to operate in an election year," said the tanned Montana senator, just back from a vacation at a Florida retreat. "Maybe this is the time for honey rather than vinegar."

Manfield's comments come, however, as Senate Democrats prepare to battle President Nixon on a matter they see as a possible major issue in the 1970 elections—the question of priorities.

Council Speaker

The Rev. Robert W. Cronin, pastor of St. Maurice's Church in Bolton, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Manchester Council of Catholic Women tomorrow at 8 p.m. at St. Bartholomew's School. His topic: "Place of the Church in 1970." The event is open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Anthony Pirotonio, chairman of the council, will preside.

Three Inmates Killed by Shots Fired by Guard

SOLEDAID, Calif. (AP) — Three inmates were fatally wounded by shots fired by a guard Tuesday at the Soladid Correctional Facility.

The men, who died of wounds in the prison hospital, were W.D. Nolen, 26, Alameda County; Cleveland Edwards, 21, Riverside, Calif.; and Alvin Miller, 23, Los Angeles.

Hospitalized with lacerations and a groin wound was Billy D. Harris, 24, Santa Clara County. Sgt. C.J. Fitzharris said Harris and another prisoner had been thrown to the ground and were being bound by 14 men.

The guard—not identified—said he feared the two men would be killed, and shouted an order to disperse, Fitzharris said.

When his repeated commands were ignored, the guard fired from his tower about 40 yards away, Fitzharris said.

Prison officials said the men involved were from the maximum security section of the prison, which houses the most quarrelsome of the 4,000 inmates.

The three killed were all serving life sentences—Nolen and Miller for robbery and Edwards for battery over a peace officer.

The Economy: Public Mood Measurements Indicate Downward Trend

By JOHN CUNIFF
The Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the mental and emotional disposition prevails the act, whether in sports, crime, business or any other human endeavor, literally thousands of individuals are engaged every day in mood measurement.

Most of these researchers have little to do with mental health clinics, for they are interested in mood as not psychology but economics more strongly than a Presidential act.

It is because of these mood surveys, in fact, that most economic forecasters feel confident economic expansion will slow in the first half of 1970 as it did in 1969.

Among the measurements they use in arriving at this conclusion are these:

The Index of Consumer Sentiment, maintained by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, has fallen to the lowest point reached just prior to the 1957-1958 recession.

In the fourth quarter of 1969 it dropped to 79.7 from 86.1 in February. The base, or 100, is pegged to February 1967.

Past studies have shown, despite understanding that when the consumer is in a cautious or depressed mood he doesn't spend his money. A lot of merchants discovered this during Christmas week. A lot may not learn the hard way.

The CES shows that it isn't only the obsession of money that leads to consumer spending. Equally important is the consumer's attitude toward a wide range of economic, social and seasonal events.

—The Sales Optimism Index, maintained by Dun and Bradstreet, is especially gloomy. This index measures the percent of businessmen expecting sales gains, minus those expecting decreases. It's near a seven year low of 49.

For the first three months of this year, the 1,492 executives polled by D&B reported a distinctly unfavorable business climate. Money will be tight, they fear, and consumers' spending likely will be down.

The Help Wanted Advertising Index, a production of the National Industrial Conference Board, took a sharp drop in the latest measurement, made in November. It fell five points to 222, based on 1967-1969 measurement.

This index is a measurement of how active employers are in seeking workers, and has an accurate record. Although the unemployment rate remains at 3.4 per cent, it could very well bring to rise soon if the HWA is still a valid measure.

—Purchasing agent polls. These are conducted by the National Association of Purchasing Management, Inc. and they, too, point downward. If industry is slowing the rate of purchase, the pools show, economic sluggishness will follow.

—Investor Confidence Index, conducted by Sindlinger & Co., is still quite low although tending to point upward in recent weeks. The index, which tends to precede stock price movements by a week or more, now reads about 820.

The ICI relates to the Dow Jones Industrial Average which, if the ICI is accurate, should rise somewhat in the next few weeks, or at least not fall sharply.

The measure is produced from surveys of confidence among those people considered to be active individual stock market investors: male managers of businesses, proprietors and officers.

—Least too much faith be placed in any of these, however, it is best to remember that, like the Japanese Comet Comes To View In Southern U.S.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The newest comet—discovered in the first half of 1970—is now coming into view over the Southern United States.

The Tago-Sato-Kosaka comet, which reached the peak of its brilliance Dec. 21, is now visible over the southern hemisphere. It will likely be seen without the use of binoculars by residents of southern states beginning Jan. 18 or 19 and progress northward for about two weeks until it fades out of sight.

Dr. Brian Marsden of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said, authorizing Fort McClellan group which has named itself the War-VIA-C's United Against the GI's in Vietnam.

Meanwhile, an Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board is preparing to hear charges against an off-post coffee house maintained by antiwar civilians in Tacoma, Wash., near the Army's Fort Lewis and the Air Force's McCord Air Force Base.

The hearing, scheduled for the next Oct. 10, 1969—the name night a 17-year-old boy, Kohzo Kosaka, saw it.

It will appear as bright on the West Coast as in the East, and will be more easily visible in areas not affected by the glow of city lights near major bases.

Pentagon officials disclaimed a knowledge of any Washington nuclear arsenal by a directed offensive against the local commanders are responsible for such matters.

White House Asks Memos On Hiring of Non-GOP's

By DON OBERDORFER
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The White House has ordered 175 writers to submit reasons in memos why they should hire non-GOP's as federal consultants.

The White House memorandum, signed by Special Assistant to the President Harry S. Fleming, was dispatched on Dec. 23 following a meeting on the topic with political contact men in various federal agencies.

"All persons you intend to employ must be first submitted to this office for clearance," it reads. "A non-Republican is submitted for clearance, his clearance form must be accompanied by a written justification for his being hired."

The memorandum said that Fleming said Tuesday that despite the broad language of the memorandum, it was intended to apply only to consultants who are being hired as a first step toward giving them permanent jobs. He said that if personnel officers have been informed verbally of the limited application of the new order.

According to the personnel officers of the White House, public members of Congress from an applicant's home state are asked for clearance of full-time non-career appointments. If it is a "high-level" appointment, GOP Capitol Hill leaders and state and local party workers have been vocally unhappy at the scarcity of available full-time non-career appointments.

White House Deputy Counsel Harry Dent has promised the GOP faithful a strong voice in the appointment of non-GOP's to advisory boards and commissions in the White House.

Three men on each of the advisory boards would run $6,000 or more a year.

George Furbush suggested that the commission add a section to the charter which would allow the town to consolidate the departments and make changes in the future, if it wishes.

Admitted Monday: Judith Hilliard, West Rd., Ellington; Leonard Gagnon, Meriden Dr., Vernon; Jeanne Yoxall, Ash Rd., Wapping; Linda Spigelman, Sulpice Lake Rd., Ellington; Robert Foss, Sprague Ln., Tolland; Josephine Soucier, Mett Rd., Tolland; Catherine Salmons, Kowley Rd., Ellington; Eunice Schorham, Warehouse Point; Gary Bunton, Park West Dr., Rockville; Margaret DeFarge, Earl St., Rockville; Shirley Bogli, Grand Ave., Rockville; and Madeline Marsh, Hoffman Rd., Ellington.

Discharged Monday: Bruce Cheney, Eaton Rd., Tolland; Cassius Switzer, Vernon Ave., Rockville; Earl Driel, Union St., Rockville; Virginia Pabush, Hillside Dr., Ellington; William Neff, Tolland Ave., Rockville; Albert J. Discovery Rd., Vernon; Hilda Shores, Prospect St., Coventry; Ruth Roth, Skinner Rd., Vernon; and Margaret Harger, Franklin St., Rockville.

White House Asks Memos On Hiring of Non-GOP's

Consultants to U.S. agencies who range from general advisers to highly skilled specialists with medical and scientific skills to have not usually been subject to White House political clearance.

In most cases, consultants and experts are limited by law to no more than 30 days of work per year on the federal payroll.

Civil Service Commission reports indicate that 1,791 consultants and experts were hired by federal agencies during the three months ending last Sept. 30, the last period for which data is available.

Fleming said Tuesday that no prospective consultants have yet been submitted to his office for clearance under the recent order. He would be "critical" to the White House clearance process of all parties' non-career consultants, he said.

"There are many who are recommended that be removed from (L.E. newspaper stories) of an individual's candidacy in administrative jobs. He said that if personnel officers have been informed verbally of the limited application of the new order.

Bolton Sign-Up Tonight For Basketball (Women Only)

Everything is set for the boys in Bolton, but that's going to stop. There will be a basketball sign-up tonight for women only. Girls and women from high school freshman up are asked to come to the Community Center, Hall between 7 and 8 tonight to register for practice, which will probably be held Thursday night in the high school gym.

The program for men and boys is already under way, and Mrs. Muro hopes to see a sharply disengaged Mrs. Durieko noting that she would never approve consolidating the departments unless a vote was taken among the members of the present two departments and a substantial majority approved.

Another commission member, Thomas Bennet, also disagreed with Durieko. He said the two chiefs were working hand and hand now and that they feel the time is right for consolidating. He will propose the consolidation of the two departments. He also cited the amount of money it would cost the town to consolidate and have a paid department. He said it would be necessary to have three officers with at least two of

Campus Violence Declining

HOUSTON (AP) — Violence on college campuses has declined, college presidents at the Association of American Colleges meeting here believe.

"The atmosphere is altogether different at this meeting," one college executive noted. "Last year we talked about how low to control demonstrations. This year we're back to talking about money."

San Francisco State College President Samuel I. Hayakawa, whose school was hard hit by demonstrations and student strikes last year, said the student point toward quieter times.

"It's now quieted and is trailing off," he said, when asked the prospects for more violence.

Improved communications between students, faculty and administration, plus concrete action on many student demands are credited with the cooling off. "There's more talking between the students and the administration now than ever before," said one college president.

Asked if this communications improvement would have helped ease the violence which struck the campus in Massachusetts, a real "booth it."

Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, president of Barnington, Vt. College, proposed that students be given a direct voice in the selection of college presidents. This, he said, would make the presidents more responsive to the students. He also advocated allowing college presidents to take stands on sensitive issues.

Dr. Samuel E. Stumpf, president of Cornell College in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, said violence came because students were demanding more quality in their education, but that their teachers were "more interested in their own careers and less in the welfare of the students."

Tanker Safe, Seek Reasons For Flooding

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The captain of the tanker SS Connecticut which was stricken during a storm 180 miles off the Central California coast says maritime investigators are trying to determine what caused the vessel to take on so much water.

Another question: Can the Connecticut be repaired without removing its cargo of 8.8 million gallons of jet aircraft fuel?

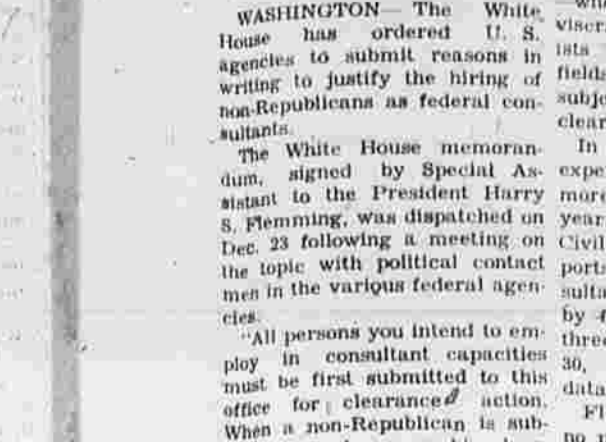

The tanker, owned by the Ogden Shipping Co. of New York City, limped into Los Angeles harbor Tuesday under tugboat power.

The captain, Ernest Ayres, told newsmen he never considered the 676-ton ship in serious trouble and never thought of abandoning her. Of the 808 he sent last Thursday night, Ayres said: "I thought we needed assistance."

He said the Connecticut, en route to Japan, lost power after taking on more than 20 feet of water in her propeller shaft alley and up to seven feet in the engine room. Pumping operations, with Coast Guard help, kept her afloat.

The ship carried 39 seamen and the captain's wife, who had signed on as a librarian at a salary of a penny a month.

Policemen To Be Promoted, Lannon To Head Training

Four Manchester policemen will be promoted on Jan. 25, according to an announcement by Police Chief James M. Reardon.

The four are: Lt. Robert L. Lannon, Sgt. Walter R. Casella Jr., Det. Raymond A. Mazzone, and Patrolman Robert L. Hennequin.

Lt. Lannon's promotion will be his reassignment as lieutenant in charge of training, Chief Reardon said. Lt. Lannon will be responsible for the training of all police officers with emphasis in the areas of traffic and public safety.

Lt. Lannon lives at 400 Lake St., Bolton with his wife and three children.

Sgt. Walter R. Casella Jr. will be promoted to lieutenant. Casella joined the force in 1955 and is the son of former police Capt. Walter R. Casella.

Det. Raymond A. Mazzone will be promoted to sergeant. He joined the police department in 1962 and was promoted to the rank of detective in 1967.

Patrolman Robert L. Hennequin will be promoted to detective. He lives at 60 Deerfield Dr. with his wife and children.

College Costs Rising in U.S. (Continued from Page One) demic fees at six state colleges and universities, said the higher rates were enacted to meet a legislative requirement that fees should come close to covering 25 per cent of the schools' operating expenses.

Tuition at the same schools went up $120 to $461 a year for residents and $250 to $1,061 for nonresidents.

Most of the schools surveyed said they would not reduce scholarship aid in proportion to fee increases.

"We do everything possible to keep aided students," said a spokesman for Stanford University in California. "No one is carried away because of financial hardship."

Tuition for three academic quarters at Stanford will go from $2,145 to $2,400 next fall. A spokesman said the increase "is to keep Stanford's tuition in line with other comparable universities."

A Colgate University spokesman said that Hamilton, N.Y., said it was school policy that no student be dropped for financial reasons. He said aid would increase to meet tuition up to $13,000 for the current academic year.

Chicago has estimated that students will spend about $4,200 for tuition and fees during this year. A spokesman said there seemed to be a pattern of increases every two years, but warned the boost could become an annual event.

Robert Pantzer, president of the University of Montana, agreed. He said it must be assumed that the cost to the student of attending a college or university will increase year by year.

The Rev. Alvin Hemmen, president of St. Benedict's College in Atchison, Kan., also predicted equally bleak outlook. "We must keep our tuition in relation to the economy. It is tied directly to the cost of living."

Bureaucracy Battle Delays Biafran Aid
Continued from Page One after promising to take them there. There was no explanation for the delay.

Father Tony Hannon, a 53-year-old Irish missionary who left Biafra Sunday, said in Dublin that without immediate aid at least 100,000 people in eastern Biafra will die within a week.

"They have been cut off from food and medical supplies for at least three weeks," he said on his last day in Biafra, the roads were closed with tens of thousands of fleeing refugees and Biafran soldiers.

He said he saw some looting and fighting over food, but that it was not widespread. "The Biafran resistance just sort of disintegrated," said the priest.

They seemed to run out of everything at the same time—including gasoline. A commander told him that even if he had a reserve battalion he couldn't get it to the front, because there was no gas.

There was hardly any fighting to keep the Nigerians back after they started moving. "Even while refugees were streaming toward territory still held by Biafra," he added, "the word was getting back that civilians being held in the lines in the southeast sector were being well treated by the Nigerians."

TRAVELS WITH MY AUNT by Graham Greene. Viking, $4.95.

In this novel, Greene has delineated a practically unforgettable old dame whose whole life has been full of spice. At the same time he has transformed a middle-aged, fussy-dreamy man into a reasonable facsimile of a rapacious. The whole business is highly comic, full of jokes and eccentricities.

The tale's teller is Henry Pulling, who at the beginning is a bachelor, a bachelor pushing years in Western mood, with his dabbles growing in early retirement. At his mother's funeral, Henry meets his 75-year-old Aunt Augusta, and the fun begins.

Aunt Augusta, who always has been a great traveler, gets into a bit of a tangle with her nephew, but she shakes him up by telling him that his supposed mother was only a stand-in for his real mother.

The adventuring of Augusta and Henry involves some sally characters. Among them are an American girl with a psychotic inclination, who's supposed to be a C.I.A. agent; and someone named Visconti, who in the past has had some strange dealings with Nazis and Fascists, and has been on Interpol's wanted list for many years.

While Aunt Augusta spins Henry around, she remembers the Great War, and it doesn't lack in color. She has been a real swinger all her life. So finally everything winds up in a crazy old house down in the south of France, where the smuggler's haven, and there are some final commotions that turn good old Henry into quite a character.

Greene's novel is a journey into the bizarre corners of his progress of the Enlightenment without at times choosing the most comfortable path of moral fervor. But after all, this was not exactly a period of ethical values.

If you have a very special friend who deserves a very special gift, there is no better way to send this art-size book to him or her, even if it does cost $30. For even at today's high prices, it's worth every penny.

THE TIME OF OUR LIVES: The Epic Story of the World as It Was by Mortimer Adler, Holt, Rinehart, $7.95.

The liveliest and most topical of Adler's books is at the back, a brief section from pages 200 to 284. His new for today is this: a good time to be alive, and that we have a good society to live in.

We are in the midst of the 20th century revolution, he asserts, in which for the first time, man dares to think of eliminating war, class distinctions, poverty, and class distinctions.

Once the historian leaves the area of making old building blocks for other historians and addresses himself to the general reader, says Catton, he has to "face the fact that he is engaged in the literary art of being a historian."

THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY. Edited by Alfred Cobban. McGraw-Hill, $8.

This book is a delight for the eye and a feast for the inquiring mind. It contains a good many 18th-century, and the author's fascinating century in human history. How could it fail, written by a group of 18th-century scholars, belonging to that breed which seems to produce the most professional surveys.

More Hearings Planned
Directors Hear Many Defend Angle Parking

There will be no decision made on removing angle parking from Downtown Main St. until the proposal is discussed thoroughly, at meetings called specifically for that purpose, Mayor Agostinelli said last night.

His remarks followed a public hearing on the proposal last night, when Police Chief James Reardon explained it and everyone who spoke opposed it.

Public meetings, to discuss the proposal, will be held Feb. 10 and Feb. 17, both at 8 p.m., in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Last night's meeting of the Board of Directors, adjourned from its Jan. 6 session, attracted a capacity crowd. If over-200 people are indicated for the Feb. 10 and 17 meetings, they may be moved to a school.

Invited to the meetings will be all interested and involved persons, including representatives of the state Highway Department.

The suggestion for the meeting came from Philip Harrison, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, himself a Main St. businessman.

"The proposal," Harrison said, "comes at no surprise to the people downtown. Although I, myself, am not too happy about it, I believe it is inevitable. They are for walking, not for coming eventually."

He requested the meetings "because of the interest and because of the many who want to speak pro and con on the subject."

Except for Chief Reardon's "pro" explanation of the proposal, all of the discussion last night was "con."

Declaring himself, for the record, as opposed to the removal of angle parking was David Comins, chairman of the Manchester Parking Authority.

"I haven't met one merchant who is for the idea," Comins said.

He recommended more study. "I believe we can solve the Main St. problem ourselves, in the 18 months before the Rt. 8 opens," he said.

The State Highway Department, following a study of Downtown Main St., state highway, has notified Chief Reardon that it is ready to install a computerized traffic-control system. The installation, he said, is dependent on removal of the angle parking.

Reardon said that there are 33 parking stalls on Downtown Main St. — 172 on the east side and 141 on the west side. For every one that goes to parallel parking, another stall will be lost, he explained.

The existing lights, Reardon said, cannot be repaired nor synchronized, and must be replaced.

The entire cost, at $18,000 an intersection, would be paid by hour parking rule on Main St., he said.

He recommended that a meter

Hansen Has Role In 'Happy Fella'

John Hansen of 124 Oxford St. will play the role of Joey in the Mark Twain Masquers' production of Frank Loesser's "The Most Happy Fella," which opens tomorrow at the Avery Theatre of the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford.

Hansen, who is a former president of the Masquers, was voted the Kimball Cup in 1967 by the group's subscribers for his performance of "Queenie" in Arthur Miller's "After the Fall."

He has played leading roles in several Masquer productions, including "A Taste of Honey" and "The Old Couple." Off-stage, he is a design project engineer for Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft.

Loesser's musical drama, which will be presented through Sunday Feb. 15 from Jan. 22 to Jan. 21, concerns an elderly Italian vineyard owner who falls in love with a waitress and courts her by mail. Hansen, as the farm-hand Joey, will sing "Joey, Joey," and "Don't Cry."

Tickets may be reserved by calling the theatre box office between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. and after 7 on performance nights.

Parkade Days Are Here Again

More than 30 members of the East Catholic High School Girls Leaders Club gave a one-hour exhibition of tumbling and modern dance at Dowers School this afternoon under the supervision of Mrs. Joann Brown, director of girls' physical education at ECHS.

As similar presentation will be given at Buckley School on Friday at 1:30 p.m.

The club consists of 40 junior and senior girls who are elected each year by present members and the director. Membership requirements are athletic ability, appearance, deportment, leadership, and a passing grade in all courses.

Merger Pact Canceled

HELI-COLL, N.Y. (AP) — Helix-Coll, Inc., said Tuesday it has canceled its previously reached agreement in principle to merge with Heli-Coll Corp. of New Haven.

Heli-Coll had said Monday that further negotiations with Helix-Coll were being terminated because MITE had controlling interest in Heli-Coll and had opposed the Garlock merger.

Funds Appropriated For Many Projects

The Board of Directors last night approved a $20,526 expenditure for effecting heating improvements in the old Trade School Building on School St., now being used by the Board of Education.

The sum is the balance left from the bond issue, plus added appropriations, for heating improvements to Bennett Junior High School and Nathan Hale School. In addition to a $66,000 bond issue approved in 1968 for the heating improvements, the Board of Directors, last year, approved added appropriations totaling $17,646.

The work in the old Trade School building will be done by the contractor for the original work, the Jack Lipman Co.

The board, in other financial business, allocated $4,000 for copying repairs in the two new wings of Mary Cheney Library, $2,500 for added text costs for the redesigned Olcott St.-W. Center St.-Hartford Rd. intersection, $5,000 for the town's one-third cost of new traffic signals at Center and Adams Sts., $1,000 for remodeling basement space in the Hist. of Records and $25,000 for a new fire truck.

Town Manager Robert Weiss and Library Board chairman William Buckley both recommended that bids be waived for the library job, and that it be given to the T. P. Atkin Co. of Tolland Tpk.

"The problem," Weiss explained, "is to get bidders on small jobs and to get the work started at once."

It was the T. P. Atkin Co. which inspected the problem in the library and came up with the estimated cost.

Burton Pearl, an official of the Manchester Property Owners Association, said that his group is against the elimination of competitive bids.

Weiss, asked to place the blame for the library problem, replied, "I cannot comment. I wasn't here when it was constructed."

"The addition was built to specs," he said, adding, "The architect recalls that it was a cost-saving measure. He says that he had discussed it with those in authority at the time, but he has nothing in writing."

Director William FitzGerald remarked, "We should be more careful of our selection of clerks-of-the-works and contractors, in the future."

The $7,240 for the Olcott St.-W. Center St.-Hartford Rd. intersection is in addition to $61,722 previously allocated. Weiss explained that the added costs resulted from a change in the storm-sewer design.

The new traffic signals at Adams and Center Sts. will include a walk-phase.

The Hall of Records basement space will serve as an office for the Manchester Federal Credit Union, now housed in the old Spruce St. firehouse.

The $19,000 allocation for the fire truck was only a formality. The board, after a public hearing on Jan. 6, had approved the purchase.

Plans for a nativity scene in the North End became hopeful last night when the Nativity Scene Committee treasurer, Charles Pirie, reported $1,586.13 remaining in the treasury.

The money is left over from donations toward the new 21-piece nativity scene in Center Park which cost $3,700.77. This bill has been paid in full. The remaining total reported by Pirie includes a last minute contribution of $137.50 from Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus.

Committee Chairman William Stevenson said they are planning the North End scene "to fit in appropriately" with a projected memorial for the late Victor Swanson, former president of the 5th District. The memorial would be part of a one-acre landscaped site in Robertson Park at the corner of N. School and the relocated N. Main Sts.

Stevenson said they would keep in touch with the Robertson Park Committee's plans while making their own for the scene. Stevenson also said that the North End scene would be "smaller" than the one in Center Park though similar in design.

The committee also made plans last night for a "Communitarian Ecumenical Sing" next fall on the first Sunday in November. Their next meeting will be on April 14.

The waters of sprawling Lake Baikal, 300 miles from Bratsk, Siberia, are home to a thousand species of plants and animals found nowhere else in the world.

Today a trailer Tomorrow an office

For the time being, Hartford National's newest Manchester office is a trailer. As a matter of fact, it's a specially equipped trailer located at 27 Hilliard St. just off its intersection with Main. That's because our permanent new office is coming later. But in the meantime, the big blue trailer offers virtually all the services of the other three Hartford National offices in Manchester. And it's open Monday through Friday from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M.

Why use a trailer? Because we didn't think you should have to wait for another convenient place to bank.

So North Manchester, our staff is waiting! Come today to our trailer. Tomorrow, our office.

Battle Against Immorality Half Won - Half Lost in L.A.

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — Guardians of the city's morals at five Los Angeles theaters have scored a partial victory in their battle against allegedly salacious entertainment. Last week they won a court order to prevent the showing of "Oh! Calcutta" out of business, warned that the picture would be a public exhibition.

uphill they say, because the U.S. Supreme Court in recent years has ruled out most of the traditional pornography laws the city's method of providing lines on when the law intervenes in the area of artistic expression. George Francell, a lawyer in the Los Angeles city attorney's office, said thousands of complaints about "Oh! Calcutta" had been received during the months it was shown prior to the seizure. "We did nothing because we did not have the expert testimony with which to substantiate our case," he said.

Sidewalks Near Schools Familiar Plea to Board

Confronted last night by a mile of sidewalks on Keeney dramatic, eloquent, and at times fearful plea for sidewalks in the vicinity of Keeney St. and Prospect St., from Keeney St. to McCann Dr. School, the Manchester Board of Directors was caught with its frustrations showing.

A survey of several years ago estimated that the cost of the sidewalks in the vicinity of Keeney St. to McCann Dr. would be $20,000. Town Manager Robert Weiss estimated it at $275,000.

Agostinelli instructed Weiss to prepare estimated costs, and to place the request on the agenda as a public hearing item, at a future meeting, possibly in February.

Agostinelli instructed him to check into the possibility of stationing a school crossing guard at Keeney and Hackmatack Sts. as an alternate request by the petitioners.

Director William Fitzgerald expressed the board's frustration when he asked, "Where do we start?"

Mayor Nathan Agostinelli remarked, and Fitzgerald agreed, "Possibly, it might be advisable to put it out for referendum, as a bonding item for all needed sidewalks."

Agostinelli is a Republican. Fitzgerald is a Democrat. The Republicans have been against bonding for roads and sidewalk construction and repair. The Democrats have been for it.

The request for sidewalks in the vicinity of Keeney St. School came from four Keeney PTA members. Armed with pictures and a map, they asked for 2 1/2

For Weed-Killing: Border Commission Suddenly Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tiny agency that has worked for years in obscurity trying to keep the U.S.-Canadian border clear of weeds and heavy undergrowth has found itself part of the growing controversy over environmental control.

For 18 years, the International Boundary Commission of the United States and Canada routinely used government-approved chemicals to help clear sections of the border.

Then, last October, Sen. Gaylord A. Nelson, D-Wis., wrote the State Department to question the practice of using a chemical he said is also a defoliant in Vietnam.

In his letter to the State Department, Nelson said 800 to 1,000 miles along the border had been sprayed, and although the chemical would not directly harm fish and wildlife, there is an intrusion into the balance of nature.

Conservationists and other critics suddenly discovered the commission, touching off a brick telephone and mail business for the six persons in the office.

Up in Vermont, where a commission spokesman said no problems were encountered last summer in getting landowners' permission to work the border, a legislator wants a state investigation.

Mrs. Marie Sheehy, administrative officer for the border commission on 247 square miles in the United States, she added.

Mrs. Sheehy said the chemical is similar to that used as a defoliant "by utility, highway, nursery and agriculture departments in nearby areas."

The 20-foot strip along the border—half of it on the American side—"is a demilitarized zone, it is becoming more parklike because the growth is so low."

"Since the 1925 treaty, we've been maintaining the entire boundary—5,526 miles—and we spray only the extremely wooded areas. We've used Department of Agriculture-approved chemicals that are widely used commercially for control of undesirable growth," she said.

"We have always taken all precautions—we haven't had one legitimate complaint in 45 years," she added.

high carbon monoxide blood levels and coronary artery disease were demonstrated.

Of the 1,000 studied, 58 had atherosclerotic heart disease, where deposits accumulate in the arteries. All 58 were smokers.

The study was conducted by Dr. Astrup said the evidence indicates that the carbon monoxide makes the walls of the blood vessels more permeable, thus allowing an increased flow of fats through the walls. He said, "I am working with drugs now that might counter this effect. As large molecules of these fats pass through the walls to the lymph system, and back to the blood, some end up depositing in the blood vessels. If the walls were more permeable because of the carbon monoxide, the greater flow means a greater chance of fat depositing in the blood vessels."

Dr. Astrup also said that if it is correct that only 10 per cent

PTA Will Sell Learning Aids

The Keeney St. School PTA library committee invites students, parents, and friends to attend a learning festival to be held in the school library Friday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Mrs. James Evans, Mrs. John Hanley, and Mrs. Robert Giola are chairmen.

Students will be able to browse and purchase educational materials on Friday and Monday between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to purchase books for the school library. On display will be magnifiers and viewers, simple science experiments, dinosaurs, magnets and in the blood vessels. Weicker, Dodd Agree: Mideast Policy Is Wrong

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—U.S. Rep. Lowell Weicker Jr. and U.S. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd agree that the U.S. has made mistakes in its policy toward the Middle East and should continue strongly support Israel.

Weicker said this policy had the effect of "rewarding Arab intransigence and making essential face negotiations unnecessary in the Arab mind."

Builders Sign Pact to Provide Jobs to Blacks

CHICAGO (AP)—An agreement giving blacks more jobs in the building trades in Chicago has been signed by leaders for the construction industry, labor unions and a coalition of civil rights groups.

Under terms of the agreement announced Monday, 600 blacks will be given construction jobs, 1,000 immediately as qualified workers, 1,000 for on-the-job training, 1,000 for journeyman training and 1,000 in pre-apprenticeship training programs.

The agreement includes a five-year goal of providing jobs to minority group members in numbers proportional to their share of the general population. The 1960 census gave Chicago's population as 2,550,404, of whom 25 per cent were black.

Maloney Lacks Ninth Defeat on Indians

By DEAN YOST

There is no doubt about it, the better team won last night at the Clarke Arena as powerful Maloney High of Meriden trounced Manchester High 81-55. With the win, Maloney upped its season mark to 8-1, their only defeat came in a double overtime win with undefeated Windham High. Manchester dropped to 6-4 in OCHL play.

It's hard to believe that the smaller Manchester five nearly dominated play in the first two quarters. They were able to break the Spartans' pregame possession. They had the open court for Kansas City when queried after the game.

At the end of the first quarter the Indians led 17-15 in a slugfest. The game was tied at 20-20 at the end of the second quarter. Maloney jumped off to an early lead but the consistent shooting of the Torro of St. Louis who is expected to be the Cardinals' No. 1 pitcher at first base... Buddy Jeanette, long-time pro star, is the new head coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the ABA.

Land Sale To Top Notch Approved by Directors

The Board of Directors approved the sale last night of the 87,000 North and shopping center site to Top Notch Food, Inc., of East Hartford.

The proposal of Top Notch for the property—a 4.2 acre tract at the southwest corner of Main and the new N. Main Sts.—was accepted last October by the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA) over two other bidders.

Top Notch plans a single masonry and steel retail building of 44,000 square feet. Half of the space in the building would be used by Top Notch for a supermarket and the rest rented out to other tenants.

The disposition agreement, including a declaration of restrictions on the property's use was unanimously approved by the board.

'Atrocities' Seen Facing Biafrans

GENEVA (AP)—Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu charged today that Biafrans are unprepared to face the world press.

The Biafran leader said from a secret hideout that Biafrans are unprepared to face the world press.

"I repeat the aims of Biafrans are genocidal—the test that Biafrans are unprepared to face the world press.

Ojukwu also appealed for the world to help Biafrans whom he described as starving and exhausted after an unsuccessful fight for independence from Nigeria.

Ojukwu said Biafrans are unprepared to face the world press. He said Biafrans are unprepared to face the world press.

Biafran Chief Vows to Help Unite Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The leader of conquered Biafra signed an unconditional surrender today and pledged his support for a united Nigeria.

Gen. Philip Effiong signed the document formally ending Biafra's 32-month secession and then embraced Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, leader of Nigeria, Effiong took over Biafra's leadership over the weekend after Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, who had led the secessionist province since the start of the Nigerian civil war.

The Nigerian government had rejected aid from four white governments and all private agencies that had helped Biafra. But Effiong said he would accept aid from friendly governments for immediate relief.

Effiong signed the terms of surrender document accepting the present 12-state structure of Nigeria.

The Nigerian aid ban affected the governments of France, Portugal, Rhodesia and South Africa as well as such groups as Caritas, the Roman Catholic relief agency, Joint Church Aid, and the French and Nordic Red Cross organizations.

Even so, the president of the Vatican-run Caritas was asked to organize aid for Biafrans after his arrival from Rome to organize aid for Biafrans.

The government said nothing about the four black African governments that recognized Biafra as an independent state: Zambia, Tanzania, Gabon and the Ivory Coast.

The government also put the person non grata tag on "all Biafrans."

FBI Captures Louis Cofone

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—South of eight days in the strangling of one Connecticut housewife and the abduction of another Louis Cofone was captured today in the New Orleans suburb of Metairie early today.

22 Convicts Flee Prison in Alabama

ATMORE, Ala. (AP)—Twenty-two convicts serving long terms broke out of the new Alabama State Prison early today, officials said.

The unit, where murderers and other long-term prisoners are confined, was opened last month and is the nation's newest and most modern maximum security prison unit.

Acting Prison Commissioner James T. Hagan Jr. said three of the escapees were caught inside the prison grounds a few hours after the break, which occurred at 1 a.m. Two more were picked up less than a mile away and the other two between two and three miles away.

State troopers, using bloodhounds and other officers pressed the hunt for other escapees, and Deputy Warden M. A. Daniels said "We've got hot leads on the others."

Hagan, who is directing the search, said the 22 cut through an exterior dormitory door and three five separate fences to reach freedom.

The final break was through a fence near the prison exercise yard at the rear of the prison. The type of cutting tool used was not determined.

Tower guards fired at the fleeing men, but there was no indication any were hit.

The state Department of Correction said Cofone had a good record in state prison and qualified for parole after serving 10 years. He was released last July 23, when he reported regularly to his parole officer in Bridgeport.

The rape of a New Canaan school teacher resulted in a reformatory sentence for Cofone in the fall of 1966, and he escaped from the reformatory in Chester in 1969
