Opera/Septima, a modern piece which calls on the musicians to speak as well as play, was performed at Lincoln Center Sunday.

The piece was written by Preston Trombley, 24, formerly of Manchester. Trombley is now a student at Yale where he is studying for an advanced degree in composition.

The piece was performed at Alice Tully Hall in Lincoln Center. It was part of a program put on by the Yale Chamber Orchestra.

The title literally means, "seven people at work," and involving the musicians speaking and clapping as well as playing. Trombley conducted his own composition.

A one-paragraph review of the work appeared in the New York Times yesterday. Written by Daniel Hensman, it said: "Preston Trombley's 'Opera/Septima' had the composer as conductor and several other players playing disjoint line and now and then breaking into a generally unimpressive vocal gabble or clapping hands. The words, one gathered, poked fun at the problems of academic composition, and the work provided its moments of in-group jocularity, if little beyond that."

GOP Primary Would Mean Voting by Paper Ballots

If the disident "Republican Citizens Committee of Manchester" forces an April 16 primary for GOP town committee members, it will have to be by paper ballots, Town Clerk Edward Tombley said today.

Tombley explained that the town's voting machines can accommodate only a maximum of 85 names. If the primary is held, he said, a minimum of 107 town committee candidates will be up for election—the 85 endorsed last Thursday and the 22 (or more) proposed by the splinter group.

The splinter group obtained consent forms Friday, preparatory to obtaining petitions to be filled out and signed.

The state's primary laws require that the committee must field an opposition slate of at least 22 persons—25 per cent of the 85 town committee members endorsed Thursday night.

In addition, it must post a $18 filing fee for each opposition candidate and must obtain a minimum of 5 per cent signatures of all those enrolled. Registrants on the list last November—approximately 432 signatures.

MIRV Deployment Delay Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward W. Brooke has urged Tuesday MIRV deployment to start in June with the Minuteman III land-based missiles.

The continued momentum toward deployment of this potentially destabilizing technology is highly disturbing, Brooke said in a statement. "It could have the most unfortunate consequences for the impending SALT negotiations."

Earlier, in an interview, he said that the announcement of the MIRV deployment date means "the game may well be over of the book."

Brooke's appeal came after Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. disclosed Tuesday a number of delays and setbacks which will start fielding the Minuteman III in June.

Seamans said, adding that "based on tests to date we have high confidence in this system." Previous statements said deployment would occur in late 1970.

The Minuteman III, a replacement for the single warhead Minuteman II intercontinental ballistic missile, will carry three of the MIRV warheads. Three independently-targeted Re-entry Vehicles—each carrying a nuclear warhead—will be launched from a single missile.

Its sea-based partner, the 10-warhead Poseidon, will begin to take over next January from the aging Polaris fleet.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said deployment of the MIRV will complicate the effort to reach an arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union.

He said he is "keeping his fingers crossed and hoping we can come to some agreement."

Brooke also said he fears "the time has passed" for Senate action on Brooke's proposal calling for the United States to take the lead in seeking a moratorium on MIRV testing.

Brooke said he has made continued efforts behind the scenes for action on his proposal, opposing the MIRV.

"I hope there is still grounds for negotiation of meaningful arms limitations," he said. "In my opinion, it does not enhance our chances for success in the Senate."

The administration takes the position that MIRV deployment is necessary for national security and that it will spur the arms talks by strengthening the U.S. position before the Armed Services Committee, which will report on the MIRV.

Gen. John D. Ryan, the Air Force chief of staff, said in his testimony before the Senate that he has made continuous efforts to develop such a MIRV, and we believe they will be successful.

He also said the "Minuteman III possesses improved survivability and penetration capability, payload and accuracy over the older Minuteman systems."

While MIRV stands for multiple independently-targeted re-entry vehicle and means an advanced missile warhead, under development by the United States and the Soviet Union for long-range land and sea-based missiles, with several components each of which can be aimed at a different target.

As Secrecy Ends U.S. Pilots Who Bomb Laos Hope for Eventual Pay Hike

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—More than 300 U.S. pilots based in Laos from bases in Thailand hope the relaxation of official secrecy about their work will eventually mean more money for them.

The pilots are unhappy because although they are largely exempt from the Vietnam income tax, they do not receive the combat pay of $6 a month that is paid to U.S. servicemen in Vietnam and ground troops stationed in Laos.

The pilots at the seven U.S. bases in Thailand also do not get the free postage and customs-free privileges for goods sent home that U.S. forces on the other side of the Mekong River enjoy. And only by special arrangement, can they claim the income tax exemption North Vietnam has been permitted to exchange messages with their families. But the Pathet Lao have not allowed U.S. pilots they held in Laos to write or receive letters.

Each pilot pays the Pathet Lao $600 a month. The pilot or enlisted man flying from Thailand gets that tax waiver only for any month he's in a plane that does not land in Vietnam, even if it doesn't land. Many of them are leaving religious life in ever-increasing numbers. How they cope with the "outside" in an interesting story, one that can only be told by the women themselves.

By EMILIA VILS LOS ANGELES—For 13 years she had been Sister Frederick Ann. Now, as she closed the convent door behind her, she was again Miss Polly Burns.

She had become a nun at 19 now she was 31. Her husband, a high school diploma, she left with a bachelor's degree, a teaching credential and considerable academic work toward a master's.

Getting a job (at a junior high school as a math specialist) was easy. Some of the other problems Polly (not her real name) encountered were not—but they are common to ex-nuns of the three of readjusting to life outside the convent.

"The biggest single problem? Money," said Barbara Linton, a pretty 24-year-old who spent five years as a Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary.

"You have to have an apartment, buy clothes, finance a car. In the convent we had a fleet of four cars, any one of which was available for our use—and the gas paid for. Now I have to find $400 to pay my car insurance."

"Another thing? You have no credit. My mother bought the car and I'm paying him."

Most ex-nuns deny that men or a man had part in their decision to leave the convent. But some disagree. "It was a very real reason for my leaving, a very compelling reason," said Sister

Second Blast Jars Brown Trial Scene

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—A powerful blast, attributed by authorities to a time bomb placed in the ladies room, ripped a huge hole in the Dorchester Courthouse today. Officials sought to determine whether there was any connection with the pending trial of H. Rap Brown, charged with inciting a riot in Cambridge, 1967, or with a car explosion Monday in which two Negroes were killed.

William M. Kunster, attorney for Brown, said he thought the bombing was related to his client's trial, and a state official said he believed it connected to the car explosion.

Preparations for the trial had started Monday 10 miles across Chesapeake Bay in Bel Air. The charges of arson, inciting others to commit arson and to riot arose from a speech and subsequent burning of a Negro section of Cambridge in 1967.

"The 18-year-old brick courthouse is located on a square with a grass court in the middle of town.

A three-man team of Army experts from Ft. Meade inspected the building this morning, as one put it "to check out the other rooms."

Sheriff Irvin Johnson said the device had been planted in the women's rest room on the second floor. He said it evidently was a timed explosive because the building had been locked Tuesday afternoon and the blast was at 12:14 a.m.

Johnson added that a policeman had made a routine check of the building's doors minutes before the explosion. The building was vacant.

"I would say they were occupying the building at the time of the explosion," said a police spokesman.

One of the victims of explosion near Bel Air, Md., Monday night has been identified as Ralph Featherstone, chief of the SNNC program director at the time. (AP Photos)

Working out of the Atlanta office with Rap Brown "featherstone" was recovered and did not know their reason. U.S. Sen. Charles McC. Mathias and Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, Maryland Republican, said they also planned to go to Bel Air.

Investigation continued into the car explosion.

One of the dead was Ralph Featherstone, 31, a friend of Brown and his associate in civil rights campaigns. The second man was unidentified.

John Lewis, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said in Atlanta that he accompanied Featherstone was accompanied by William Payne.

He said Payne had worked for SNNC in Alabama and Mississippi. (See Page Eight)

Attendance Climbs Sharply At Integrated Lamar School

LAMAR, S.C. (AP)—Attendance climbed sharply at Lamar's integrated school today, while 33 white adults marched peacefully near a police line to protest against the reopening of the city's school complex Tuesday.

There was none of the violence that marked imposition of the court-ordered integration March 3.

School officials said 21 pupils reported for classes today, compared with 70 Tuesday. About 1,000 are assigned to the complex, which includes the community's high school and elementary school.

Sister Anita Caspari, president of the secularized Immaculate Heart of Mary (IHM), explains the exodus this way: "Why do sisters leave? There are many reasons as people."

By staying, a sister can help a woman's transformation from a nun to a citizen. The question is how long can she wait and how long the religious community when it has no relation to the world.

"I will women becoming more self-determining. I don't know how many American women, too many educated women, are going to buy the old structure."

Next: Changes inside the convent. Asked the purpose of the protest and what further action was planned, Mrs. Beal replied, "We're just walking. We're just out taking our exercise."

"If I were, chief of the State Enforcement Division, has said, "We will maintain the necessary force here / as long as needed to insure the protection of these children and to prohibit any damage to its property."

A number of Negro pupils were injured during the demonstration three days ago, when the white crowd overran two school buses and clashed with police. (See Page Eight)

Hearing Set on Rt. 5 Relocation

The State Department of Transportation will hold a public hearing tomorrow at the Center School, Chapman St., East Hartford, to present plans for the relocation of Rt. 5 between Governor St. and the vicinity of King St. in East Hartford. The hearing will begin at 4 p.m.

The Department of Transportation said several possible routes have been considered and the one selected would have the least impact on East Hartford residents.

The new road would begin in the vicinity of the intersection of Governor St. and 144. This intersection would be eliminated and replaced by bridging Governor St. over the relocated Rt. 5.

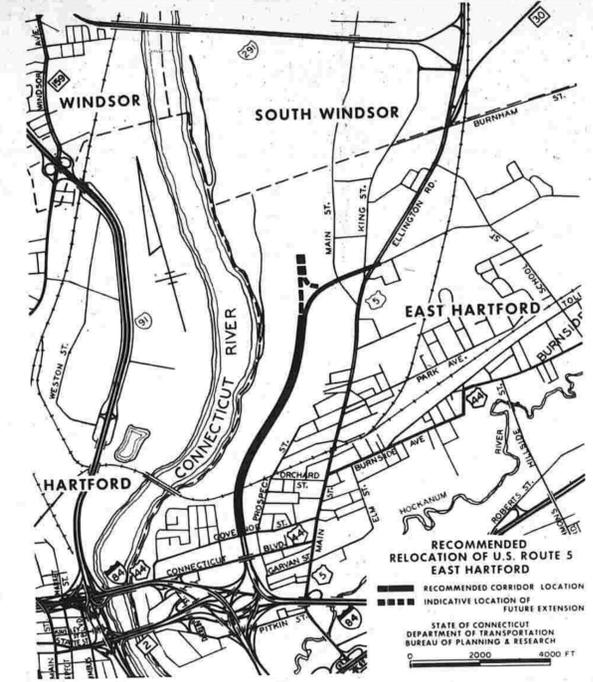

The road would then go northerly through undeveloped land and cross the Penn-Central railroad tracks. North of the railroad, the road would pass just inside the East Hartford dike about 1,000 feet west of the intersection of Prospect St.

The road would then go over the north portion of the dike and pass over the flood plain. Where the road would cross the dike, plans are to allow access to the dike for maintenance and to the flood plain west of the roadway for future recreational and conservation purposes.

From the flood plain the road would turn easterly and cross over Main St. near the Knights of Columbus building, cross over King St. and enter the existing Rt. 5 (Ellington Rd.) opposite Goodwin St.

This section between the flood plain and Goodwin St. would serve as a temporary connector between Ellington Rd. and the relocated Rt. 5 until the road is extended northerly through the flood plain.

Where the road goes through the flood plain, it would probably be elevated, as it must be built above flood level, according to James Resnikoff, chief of planning for the Department of Transportation. Resnikoff gave a "very rough" estimate of the total cost of the relocation as $17 million. He said $8 million has been allocated so far. Resnikoff said the cost of the relocation will probably be borne by the state.

Loyzim's Bid Gets Backing From Democrats

The local Democratic Town Committee last night "wholeheartedly endorsed" the candidacy of Stephen Loyzim in his bid for the 5th Assembly District seat, according to an announcement today by Town Chairman Raymond H. Bradley Sr.

The 5th covers the towns of Andover, Bolton and Coventry, and the seat is now held by Republican Dorothy Miller of Bolton, who announced last week that she will seek re-election.

Loyzim announced early this year his intention to "actively seek" the nomination, and so far no other Democrat in the town district has made a similar announcement. In 1968, Loyzim was up for the nomination, but lost out to Aloysius Abramo, also of Bolton.

Loyzim served four terms in the state legislature during the late 1960's and early 1970's, two of them in leadership positions. He has a long record of activity in local politics as well, now serving on the Democratic Town Committee and as an alternate on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The 5th Assembly District Democratic Convention will be held in June. Local delegates have not yet been announced.

Book Review

TJERINA AND THE CURTAIN By Federico Bickel. University of New Mexico Press, $4.95.

If you are interested in the plight of poor people, the plights of the Establishment, militancy among the minorities or the 20th century Western Establishment, you might enjoy this book.

Rafael Lopez Tjerina led a handful of Chicano Americans of Mexican descent into armed confrontation with the Establishment in a bid to regain the sprawling Southwestern land grants they were stolen by Anglo-Americans.

On June 8, 1967, their campaign culminated in a wild, shooting siege of a dilapidated courthouse in northern Mexico. The story of the raid's aftermath, makes fascinating reading: Mobilization of National Guardsmen with tanks; families of suspected raiders being placed under protective custody for 24 hours in a pasture; behind-the-scenes efforts to cool the situation; and the raid's district attorney on the verge of arresting New Mexico's governor for "aiding and abetting" the fugitives.

Nabokov's book also gives interesting, if one-sided, insights into Tjerina the man, a one-time itinerant preacher, Tjerina told Nabokov, a Santa Fe newspaper at the time was in the raid, of his childhood in Texas, of eating field rats, of working alongside his parents in the fields, of family encounters with the Texas Rangers and of attending a Bible institute near El Paso but not being allowed to graduate "because I had gone out with a girl."

Some of the mystery of the raid might never be answered. The key witness against Tjerina, a jailer shot in the raid, was murdered seven months later and no one ever was charged in the case. Tjerina, a gifted public speaker, served his own defense counsel when brought to trial for the raid. He was acquitted.

Some questions the author might have attempted to answer could leave the reader asking: Does the Alliance, Tjerina's organization, have a valid claim to the land grants? Who will come of the Alliance's role in minority militancy? And are Tjerina's true motives the subject of vigorous debate since he became a public figure—what he says they are?

Jake Boeber Jr.

PUERTO RICAN VOTERS (meaning, in those days, a large part of Italy as well). He has been crowned Emperor in Genoa, and has returned to conduct a feud with Pope Gregory, who for the third time has excommunicated him.

Frederick's goal in this story is to go on a crusade, not as a military man, but as a crusader. He is a crusader in the narrowest sense of the word, and "abhor the people." Warren's court, obviously, shunned this advice, as it broadened political and social equality, enlarged the dominion of law, and centralized government.

Bickel mourns the loss of diversity, the heightened assimilation that resulted from this "majoritarianism." And he charges the court with arbitrariness and, sometimes, distortions of history.

Thus, why was publisher Ralph Giannini's obscenity conviction upheld when others were routinely cut down? Did the 14th Amendment really give Congress open-ended power to upset state voting regulations? Why were new constitutional principles reading: Mobilization of National Guardsmen with tanks; families of suspected raiders being placed under protective custody for 24 hours in a pasture; behind-the-scenes efforts to cool the situation; and the raid's district attorney on the verge of arresting New Mexico's governor for "aiding and abetting" the fugitives.

The Horrible Cruelties Of Busing Come, come! There ought to be something more in public debate on great issues than a swinging of overwhelming emotional tides first in one direction, then in the other.

When the experimental busing of children was first proposed, and inaugurated, and became Project Concern, this was something that was being done not only out of kindness to suburban white youngsters, but also out of kindness to the children themselves. And its purpose was to offer these children benefits and advantages they could not otherwise receive.

Those who conceived and supported and voted for Project Concern were the kind-hearted do-good people, who were willing to do something positive to improve the world they were living in. And those who opposed Project Concern were, of course, harsh and unfeeling characters lacking in charity and humanity, not even capable of kindness to children.

And how does the tide of public expression seem to flow today? It now appears that things like Project Concern have been nothing except heartless plots to use unfortunate children for sociological laboratory experiments, to force them into getting into buses and going to schools where they do not want to go and where they cannot possibly be happy, and where the experience they encounter will turn back the clock for them instead of taking them forward toward their proper destiny in the American dream. When, it is being asked, are we going to stop abusing these children by busing them out of their own familiar ghettos and into our strange suburban schools?

This, it seems to us, is even more nonsense. In reverse, then there was the original claims of some people that experimental and necessarily limited innovations like Project Concern could be the key answer to this nation's racial problems.

We wouldn't dare, in such a tangled world and on such a tangled issue, try to set the world straight.

But we think we know, from things we have heard from Project Concern here in Manchester, that it has brought bright moments and bright hopes and bright new mental and social openings to many of the children involved. On the other hand, it seems quite obvious to us that there could be locales and conditions and proportions in which the effort to resolve the whole problem of school populations by the technique of busing would be pointless and callous and cruel to everybody, no matter how many good intentions might be involved.

There is no one answer. Project Concern is a touch of an answer, because it is one way of sowing seeds of familiarity and tolerance in situations where contact and association between the races would not otherwise be taking place. Wholesale busing could never be any part of an answer. The work that wholesale busing would be attempting to do can only be done, in reality, by washing segregation in its basic areas, which are not the schools, but jobs, neighborhoods and social institutions.

Meanwhile, those who cry out against the savagery of busing children into the suburbs for school had better keep watch on their own credentials in the matter of welcoming adults out to work and live in locations which would eliminate any question of busing any children out of their own neighborhoods.

Farming By Flame

Once the farmer was the measuring image of stability, the character who was set in his ways and slow to experiment and change. That stopped being the case, for any farmer who wanted to survive as a farmer, that is, about fifty years ago. Since that time, the farmer has been forced to change his skills and his practices many times over. Every new development that came along held him at its mercy, for without it he could no longer hope to compete in quantity and quality.

When the new chemical pest killers came along, he had to make himself a DDT farmer.

When weed control agents became the thing, he had to become a chemist in his fields.

Now he is going to have to shift himself into a thing called "thermal agriculture."

Thermal agriculture takes a bottled gas and uses it three ways. It performs weed control by nozzling just enough flame against the weed stems to wilt the growth without burning it up or injuring the crop growing alongside the weed.

And thermal agriculture helps fight pollution and helps the farmer conserve his natural assets by providing a method for drying out manure so it can be handled economically and put back into the fields instead of being allowed to run off into some stream.

The use of the flame avoids all of the possible side effects of chemicals, some of which rob the soil, others of which pose real threats to life necessary to the ecological balance of the countryside.

Tomorrow thermal agriculture may develop some fault which will have to be declared a major objection to its use. Or it may be put out of date by some new technological advance — cultivation and control by laser beams, for instance.

No farmer can afford, these days, to stifle that sentimental nose of the fellow with steady habits and familiar routines. For the moment, he's a thermal agriculturist.

A Moratorium On Complaining

What this country needs, along with a good five-cent dime, is a moratorium on complaining. It might last only for a day but it would be a blessing. Imagine one whole day throughout the nation where nobody would blame his woes on somebody else.

The day of protest has now reached such a pitch that it is a kind of pollution in itself. And with so many groups complaining about so much, it is becoming difficult to sort out the reasonable complaints from the other kind.

What could we do with a day completely free of complaining? There are a number of things. For instance, could remind their followers that racial-cultural antagonisms are among the toughest human problems to solve, but that the progress made in recent years is substantial. Not enough, but measurable and encouraging.

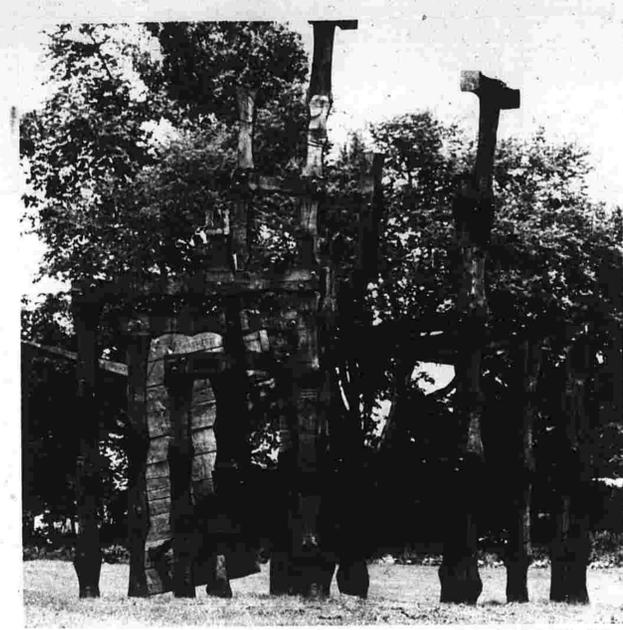

Rebellious students might re-read their college catalogs. Those catalogs, which they supposedly looked over before applying to the schools of their choice, contain the rules by which the institutions are administered. The students might ask themselves why they chose the schools they did if they disapprove of their regulations and customs. And if they are inclined to rebel from the outset, perhaps they should meditate upon their own personalities, backgrounds, and motives.

The antiwar people who show how sincere they are by wrecking draft offices are administering their own self-interest. They are doing it for their own protection. And when civil order is gone, what will be the use of protesting? They will be taken upon by other citizens with other views.

Behind these thoughts is the recognition that American society has serious problems and that all men don't agree on how or even when they should be solved. But our political system was designed exactly to accommodate diverse opinions. Because of this there is small need to be too patient with those of our countrymen who are so impatient to have their own way that they choose to scream and destroy.

In America today we protest too much. We have among us a record number of crybabies. The din of complaining may even be affecting the stability of society, and when society is rocked out of joint, the first casualties are the protections afforded complainers.

A one-day moratorium on complaining, aside from giving editors and writers a day off, would allow us all to get our bearings. And we might find that while we have a long way to go, our position is far better than the distractions of complainers have permitted us to realize.

SCULPTURE, PLAINS OF ABRAHAM, QUEBEC

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans Jr. Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — When top officials of the Nixon administration gathered in the Green Room of the White House last Wednesday to be briefed on the long-awaited executive reorganization plan, some Cabinet members felt their worst fears had been realized.

Two outspoken former Governors—John Volpe, Secretary of Transportation, and George Romney, Secretary of Housing—were among the most vocal critics of the plan. They complained about so much, it is becoming difficult to sort out the reasonable complaints from the other kind.

Black leaders, for instance, could remind their followers that racial-cultural antagonisms are among the toughest human problems to solve, but that the progress made in recent years is substantial. Not enough, but measurable and encouraging.

Rebellious students might re-read their college catalogs. Those catalogs, which they supposedly looked over before applying to the schools of their choice, contain the rules by which the institutions are administered. We value Pollyanna as little as we value violence, and we will blacken the eye of the man who disputes it. Of course dissent is part of our heritage, and so is dissent from dissent. But it would be a kindness to our country if all kinds of dissenters would rest their tents and unclench their fists, if only for a short time.

The complainers might be surprised. They might find that their return to civility will win them allies who appreciate their ideas but can't stand their noise. After all, when one is subjected to a cat's concert, one doesn't throw a fist. One throws a shoe. — NATIONAL OBSERVER

"Keep FISH In Action!"

To the Editor, Several weeks ago, a short notice appeared in "About Town" inviting me to join FISH. It is a volunteer service organization named "FISH." It is for the townspeople that FISH can no longer transport areas because of a lack of volunteer drivers. Last night the coordinating committee of this organization met to decide if FISH will be able to exist at all!

Most such projects flake because there is no real need for them in the first place. However, those who have worked with FISH from its inception two years ago, have seen the calls for help increase daily. There is a great need for FISH in Manchester. But as the need has increased, so have the expenses, while the volunteers have dropped to a small core of determined and dedicated drivers.

I can't believe that Manchester did not FISH! Mostly because it takes so little on each individual's part—one or two days a month, the most anyone is asked to be available, and even less if that's all you can give. Sure you don't get paid and you use your own gas, but the thank you and warm touch as your passenger leaves your car, or the disbelief in an elderly voice that people really care enough to do this for her—that's all the reward anyone needs.

FISH has never made an appeal for funds, because expenses were minimal. But they have now tripled, so churches and organizations with such as asked to consider sponsoring FISH for one month a year. But, money alone will not save FISH. It will be YOU. Please reconsider your own availability—talk with your retired neighbors, or the young mother whose children are along to brighten a day. Talk with your church or club members—but mostly talk to yourself. Only you can love your neighbor enough! Call Mrs. Harry Bechtold, 839 W. Middle Tpke., to keep FISH in action! Tolland Town Panel To Ready Plan On Use of Town Hall, Jail

The appointment of a 10-member bipartisan advisory committee to prepare a comprehensive plan for the use of the town administration building and town hall facilities was approved at a town meeting last Tuesday night.

The committee will be charged with the responsibility for completing a detailed plan for use of the administration building (formerly the state jail), the town hall, the town hall garages and barn as well as the town meeting hall.

The Board of Finance will be acting on a request submitted by the committee to call a town meeting to act on approval of the plan.

The finance board members held a "work session" on the town's financial situation last night. The board will report to the town meeting on Tuesday.

Village Blast Triggered By Bunglers

EDS were found in the basement after the blast.

At least two young women were reported to have fled the townhouse immediately after the blast, and both disappeared. One of them was believed to be Carolyn Wilkerson.

Like Gold, Miss Wilkerson had been arrested several times during antiwar demonstrations. A Catherine Wilkerson was listed among members of an SDS delegation which visited Hanoi in 1967.

As part of their investigation into the home on West 11th, detectives made a flying trip to Woodstock, N.Y., scene of last summer's tumultuous rock musical festival.

There, among the hippy communes that dot the area, they reportedly sought someone who would be the whereabouts of Miss Wilkerson.

In Meriden, N.H., Miss Wilkerson's stepfather, Harlan Leonard, majority leader of the New Hampshire House, said she visited him and her mother, and his farm about a month ago.

He said she was "physically ill and we spent some time back into physical condition."

Legg, former editor of Look and Scribner's magazines, when asked about reports she might be hiding and her mother, said: "You have to consider the possibility."

He said she had dropped her involvement with the Weathermen. He said he was hoping she would try to get in touch with him and her mother and was trying to keep his telephone clear.

"We have hope," he said, "she might call us if she has any way to get to a telephone."

Nixon Orders Quota For Canadian Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — An import quota of 395,000 barrels daily has been imposed on oil shipments from Canada.

The White House said the restrictions are necessary because voluntary controls "have been unworkable."

The daily limits are retroactive to March 1. They will continue for the remainder of the year.

The White House said the flow of oil from Canada "has risen to levels much higher than anticipated" under voluntary control arrangements in effect since 1967.

Two Planes Cuba-Bound At Gunpoint

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A hijacked United Airlines jetliner crew at gunpoint, landed here today, with two planes on board.

The hijacking of the Boeing 727 with 59 passengers and a crew of seven, landed shortly after 10 a.m. and took off here an hour later.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the plane, Flight 381 from Cleveland, Ohio, had been given clearance to Havana. It had been commandeered near Pittsburgh.

In Cartagena, Colombia, Avianca Airlines reported one of its Boeing 727s, with 78 persons aboard, had been hijacked to reach Cuba.

The pilot, Capt. P. E. Gallant, radioed before landing that the hijacker was holding a pilot, a stewardess and other crewmen, and that he had told them that only the plane and its cargo would be permitted near the aircraft.

The plane taxied to the end of a runway, approximately half a mile from the Atlanta Airport terminal building, where it was struck by a truck.

Other planes took off and landed using another runway. The plane landed at 10:30 a.m. and took off for Havana at 11:30 a.m.

The hijacking was in charge of the two men, including the pilot, who said they were normally at first but then the hijacker became violent.

Price said the tone of the crew became friendly, that they wanted to get through with the refueling and get off the ground.

Price said that Gallant told him they had trouble starting the plane and that they were afraid they might have similar trouble here. But all the crew seemed to have no problem.

Classroom Attendance Up in Lamar

The high school principal, Gordon Cole, said he had altered the school schedule in an effort to ease racial tension.

"I have cut the time of classes," he said. "This apparently will work to eliminate the racial tension that I still wonder how much of an education our children are receiving."

Throughout the trouble at Lamar high and elementary schools, the nearby Spaulding school has conducted classes as usual.

Spaulding was an all-Negro school. A federal court has ordered 120 white pupils attend Spaulding, but no whites have reported.

These projects, he said, all carry heads for those who move to homes and build the committee provide a sliding scale based on income.

The proposed school program was also discussed at length. Board members expressed feelings ranging from total approval to total rejection.

Board Chairman Ron Primavera suggested that the school system be reorganized into a "good system" even better.

Primavera offered no answers to Mrs. Rosa's questions. Instead, he commented on her implied indictment of the board's decisions.

Primavera stated his disagreement with the suggested instruction plan. A hearing for probable cause is scheduled Tuesday for David Ring, 39, of Sudds Mill Rd., Ellington, 315, on a charge of failure to pay a reasonable amount of child support.

A substitute bill to the Nixon package was passed quickly by Congress last week which prevented a strike or lockout for 37 days.

The administration proposal was described by Shultz as minimal interference by the government because leaders of all four unions had approved the settlement.

But members of the Sheet Metal Workers International Association, one of the four unions involved, turned the settlement down.

All four unions, including the machinists, electricians and boiler-makers, had initially bargaining on the basis that none would accept a contract which was not ratified by the other.

They reaffirmed this solidarity last week at a nationwide strike last week that was just down by congressional action.

The labor secretary also said he would like congressional hearings on Nixon's permanent settlement on the nationwide national dispute.

"I'm hopeful that they will come to some agreement," Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., said when asked about the panel's plans. "They have plenty of time and I am hopeful."

Other sources, however, could see little light in the dispute between the railroads and four AFL-CIO shopkeepers' unions. There are no talks in progress.

Staggers said his committee has set aside the week beginning March 23 for sessions on the issue if no voluntary agreement is reached.

Labor Secretary George P. Shultz has sought hearings on Nixon's settlement before a nationwide strike develops April 11.

A letter from the Planning and Zoning Commission, which had been invited but could not attend, urged a sewer extension from Norwalk Dr. eastward on Pleasant Valley Rd., if and when that road is reconstructed.

East Haven Man 'Guilty'— State's Biggest Bank Holdup

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—After hearing testimony from two admitted bank robbers, a federal court jury convicted 31-year-old Edward Reed of East Haven of pulling the biggest bank holdup in Connecticut history.

Reed was found guilty Tuesday of robbing the Norwalk branch of the Fairfield County Trust Co. of $108,000 on Jan. 9, 1969. On the basis of the evidence presented during the trial, U.S. District Judge William H. Timbers told the jury, "I do not see how you could have reached any other conclusion."

Arthur Murgo and Ralph Maselli of New Haven, who have been granted immunity from prosecution in return for their cooperation, testified against Reed. They had done so at a previous trial also, but the outcome of that one was different. Reed was acquitted in January of a charge of robbing the Atlantic National Bank in Stamford of $22,000 in December 1968.

Tolland County Superior Court

Helping out the wrong kind of friend was cited as a factor in the alleged criminal involvement of a Vernon man who was sentenced in Tolland County Superior Court yesterday. John McDonald, 24, of 28 Reservoir Rd., Rockville, was sentenced on a three-year probation sentence after pleading guilty to breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony.

Public Defender Donald McDonald said that the defendant's greatest difficulties is not being able to properly assist his associates, and that other than this involvement, McDonald has no record and is supporting his family. His cooperation with the police was also stressed.

Raymond Griffin, 36, of 255 Main St., Ellington, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor violation of the state's liquor laws. He was sentenced to a fine of $50 and costs.

Stamps in the News

By SYD KIBONINE AP NEWSFEATURES Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism—three schools of thought which have influenced Chinese history—are subjects for a trio of new stamps issued by the Republic of China on Taiwan. Honored on the stamps are three men who greatly influenced each religious sect, reports the World Wide Pictorial Agency.

The $1 (Chinese currency) features Hsuan Chuang who began his pilgrimage to India via Central Asia in 629 A.D. Seventeen years later he returned to spread Buddhism in China. The $2 shows Hua Tu, the most famous physician and surgeon in Chinese history. Hua Tu was a proponent of T'ai-chi, which emphasized the harmony and beneficence of nature.

Chu Hsi who established the neo-Confucian orthodoxy is seen on the $4 stamp. Chi Hsi's philosophical speculations have been held in great esteem in China from dynasty to dynasty—and even to the present.

This set of stamps is available at your local dealer or stamp department.

The United Nations Postal Administration says it will issue two more definitive stamps in Swiss denominations on April 17. These stamps must be issued at that time, according to the terms of an agreement between the U.N. and the Swiss postal authorities. The values will be 60 centimes and 10 francs.

The 60 centimes will be the same design as the 21-cent definitive issued at U.N. Headquarters in New York in 1962. The 10-franc will be the same as the $1 definitive issued in New York in 1961. Each however, will be in different colors.

Canada will issue four stamps to commemorate its participation in Expo '70. Each will have a denomination of 25 cents and will represent that country's four pavilions at the World's Fair in Osaka, Japan. The four pavilions have been sponsored by the provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec plus one from the Canadian government.

Three designs will associate the appropriate provincial floral emblems with the Expo '70 symbol—a stylized cherry tree. The fourth stamp bears the legend "Je me souviens" (I remember) to tie in the Expo '70 symbol with that of Canada's centennial year World's Fair, Expo '67.

The four designs on one sheet will be available individually or as a perforated unit.

Four new stamps appear in a booklet used for automatic stamp vending machines issued by Sweden. They consist of a 5-ore and a 10-ore illustrating the Soderala Weatherwane, a 30-ore showing the iron memorial cross found in Eksharad Churchyard, and a 50-ore featuring a 14th century wrought-iron door from Bjorksta Church.

Private groups as well as local and state governmental bodies apply pressure to the Post Office Department and Congress to have stamps issued. The latest campaign is for a stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Hunter College of the City University of New York, the first municipal institution of higher learning to offer free tuition to women.

Million Visitors Expected CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — More than a million overseas visitors are expected to view Japan's Expo '70, the first Asian international exposition.

Hirohito Ueda, director of the Japan National Tourist Organization office in Chicago, said to facilitate a smooth visit, hotel accommodations and local transportation should be booked in advance through an American tour operator.

Judge Nixes Con's Plea For 'Playboy'

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A convict who wanted to read Playboy magazine in prison has been turned down by a federal judge.

Henry Allyn Rogers, 27, who is serving time for indecent assault, among other things, said in his lawsuit that Playboy "takes minds off sex feelings" and helps others from turning to homosexual acts.

But U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal said Monday that prison officials "have wide discretion as to the type of mail and literature which prisoners receive, send and keep."

If the prison was keeping legal papers away from Rogers or curtailing his freedom of religion, the court could interfere, Blumenthal said.

But he added: "The approval or disapproval of a magazine of this type for use in a correctional institution housing inmates of highly varied personalities and mental conditions is one that under the circumstances existing here does not belong to the court."

Rogers, a former resident of Groton, is serving a sentence of 8 to 18 years for kidnaping, injury to a minor and carrying a weapon in a motor vehicle, in addition to the charge of indecent assault.

Doctors Suggest Simple Test For Eclipse Damage

NEW YORK (AP) — Eye doctors have suggested a simple test for persons who fear they may have damaged their eyes by watching Saturday's sun eclipse without adequate protection.

The retina or screen of the eye could have been damaged by direct exposure to the sun's rays without the water-folding pain, the doctors said.

Such damage could leave a permanent blind spot or cells were burned severely enough.

The test was described by Dr. Aaron Barer, an associate professor of ophthalmology at Mt. Sinai School of Medicine and chief of ophthalmology at Elmhurst Hospital.

Cover one eye. With the other, stare at some evenly illuminated bright surface, such as a white shirt or a white wall or even the sky, except where the sun is.

You may have a retina burn if you see a dark spot exactly where you want to look. Greater likelihood of injury is indicated if the dark spot moves when you switch your eyes.

After testing both eyes, persons seeing a dark spot are advised to see a physician. Damage generally occurs in only one eye.

Few cases of eye burns have been reported to hospitals in major cities thus far, an Associated Press survey showed.

Following the 1963 eclipse, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness found 247 cases of retinal burns. However, that eclipse was total only in Maine and part of Alaska. It plus another survey this time when the total eclipse occurred in a more populated area.

Weatherbirds Celebrate Happy 10th Birthday

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — There'll be no candle-lighting but the family of satellites that have provided the world's meteorologists with detailed photographs of the earth's cloud cover and weather patterns every day for the past 10 years celebrates its birthday on April 1.

The first of 20 such satellites, called TIROS I (for television and infrared observation satellite) was launched from Cape Canaveral on April 1, 1960.

Since then the weatherbirds have sent back more than 1.3 million pictures, flown more than five billion miles in space and orbited for the equivalent of more than 28 satellite years.

Called the most successful unmanned space program—because they never have been a failure or misace—the weather satellites beam pictures to 500 receiving sites in 30 nations around the world on a regular daily basis. It was aboard the TIROS weatherbird that a tiny TV camera, which was a predecessor of the one used last year by the moon-landing astronauts, was first used.

The Government of the Indian state of Punjab announced recently that the minimum wage has been raised from $8 to $9.25 a month.

Vernon Two Charter Changes To Get Separate Vote

Two items which proved controversial at a public hearing on proposed charter revisions will probably be posed as separate questions in a referendum next fall.

The Charter Revision Commission agreed last night to recommend that proposed changes concerning the method of choosing for sewer lines and the language of the section on fire departments be voted on separately.

Both items caused considerable discussion at the public hearing held last week, and rather than risk that all of the other proposed changes could be voted down it was felt that the two most controversial items should be posed separately.

In the discussion that preceded this action, Miss Gertrude Fuller, a member of the commission, noted she appreciated the fact that the changes are now written so there could be a change of organization in the future without actual revision by referendum.

The proposed change would eliminate the present mandatory terms of the charter as to separate volunteer fire departments and make the governing board responsible for providing fire protection.

Miss Fuller said she was too happy about leaving the decision in the hands of the voters to check on the possibility of some boards can be "arbitrary," and gave as an example the fact that when a public hearing was held on a proposed ordinance, everyone spoke against it, but the board passed it.

Commission chairman John Dalgie noted the check on the board should come at the polls on election day. George Furber pointed out that there is a recourse to repeal an ordinance if the people feel the board acted arbitrarily.

Another commission member, Thomas Dooley, said most of the people at the hearing agreed that a paid department is a possibility in the future. If the charter is left the way it is, the door is closed to that possibility unless the town goes through the process of amending, he said.

"Grade a Spade," Dooley said he feels that the governing board would not go against the recommendations of the firemen. Dalgie suggested that the present wording be left as it is in the charter.

Dooley said a spade added at the end which would in effect mean the same thing as the proposed change but would not eliminate the present wording.

Dalgie said the proposed wording would mean that governing board has to "net." It has to obtain a fire department," he said.

Peter Durieko then made the motion to adopt the recommendation of the charter as to sewer lines and the language of the section on fire departments. The motion was approved.

Not controversial
Another item that was at first considered as a possible separate question on the referendum was, after discussion, not considered really controversial.

Chamber Resolution Urges Widening of Wilbur Cross

A resolution recommending the widening of the Wilbur Cross Highway (184) especially in the area of the Rockville Area, was approved yesterday by the Board of Finance.

The resolution was made on the suggestion of board member Donald Morganston and was presented by Ralph Lipman, chairman of the committee.

The resolution expresses concern over increased commuter traffic between the three towns of Vernon, Ellington and Hartford.

It further states that the existing conditions are inadequate for the normal communications and detouring traffic to the congested area.

"Since thousands of hours per week are wasted in traffic congestion by the commuters traveling this three-town area alone, the over-all total in needless man-hour losses is obviously considerable," the resolution states.

The resolution further cites the number of daily casualties that occur on the highway while also noting, "We are aware of the enormity and complexity of the remedial measures required to widen and modernize the highway to accommodate traffic demands, current and future."

The resolution, describing the problem as a regional one and requiring regional cooperation for the common good, expresses a pleasure that there is growing recognition on the part of the State Department of Transportation and all concerned that greater efforts are required to provide relief for the problem.

"Since we understand that funding is not now a problem, we specifically recommend that construction be undertaken at once in such areas as will not be affected by planning decisions not fully accomplished in other areas," the resolution reads.

State Sen. Robert Houley of Vernon spoke to the executive board of the chamber last week concerning the widening of the highway in Vernon. Most of the problems seem to be in the town of East Hartford since that town is reluctant to lose any more land for highway purpose.

The proposal is to make the highway through Vernon four lanes in each direction. Houley suggested that the chamber and other groups do as much lobbying as possible on the subject.

Richard Ross, chairman of the annual spring meeting committee, reported his group feels it is time for a change from the usual dinner meeting with a meeting should be something different.

Tentative plans are to hold more of an out-of-town meeting at Ellington Ridge Country Club youngsters. The "Farm" which will be held in the town of Ellington.

The chairman and baby dolls in the board agreed this should be pursued.

Miss Evelyn Parizek, chairman of the Beautification Committee, reported the appointment of chairman for the Beautification Committee.

The chairman and baby dolls in the board agreed this should be pursued.

End To Cold Feet EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) Fifty-year-old John Kennedy solved his chronic problem of cold feet by inventing a pair of electric shoes. Tired of trying to stamp warmth back into his feet, he decided to put his army training as an engineer and his experience as an electrician to work.

The result—electrically heated inner soles for his shoes and boots which look like mini-electric blankets.

A wife runs from the shop to John's trouser leg to the battery in his pocket. An effective gadget, John says, but not for the ladies unless they wear slacks.

Youth Demands More Honesty In Commercials

NEW YORK (AP) — Allen Swift, known as the "man of 1,000 voices" because of the many varied voices he has portrayed in radio and television commercials since 1954, predicts that the generation now coming of age will demand more honest commercials and more serious programming.

Swift, with three members of the younger generation in his own family claims, "Kids today are more aware and discerning in their tastes, as well as serious. They are not likely to be taken in by the high-brow statements in commercials."

As for sex commercials, Swift says that trends in commercials reflect the times. Today's animation and psychedelia effects in commercials are a far cry from the "I'm not a boy, I'm a dog" commercials of the 1950s.

Knicks Clinch Tie in NBA East Division

First Time In 20 Years Celts Missed

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knicks clinched at least a tie for their first division title in 20 years, and watching sadly in the background for the first time in 20 years were the Boston Celtics.

Twenty years ago, it has been that long since Boston has missed the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Last season, the Celtics finished fourth, but went on to win their NBA title in 13 seasons. But when Bill Russell and the Celtics won the 1968-69 season, they were the Boston Celtics.

The last place Detroit Pistons, moving within only 1 1/2 games of Boston, dropped the lead on the once-proved Celtics by losing to the Pistons Tuesday night in Detroit. The loss meant Boston can finish no better than fifth in the eastern division with only the first four teams making the playoffs.

At the same time, the Knicks closed in on the Eastern tie by walloping the Seattle SuperSonics, dropping the lead to Milwaukee despite six games behind by losing to the Atlanta Hawks in Atlanta.

The Celtics' season has been a roller coaster. They were in the lead for the first 10 games, but then fell behind the Lakers for most of the season. They were in the lead for the last 10 games, but then fell behind the Lakers for most of the season.

Haywood Hot And Beasley Mad in ABA

Spencer Haywood was hot and John Beasley was mad.

The result was a spectacular 46-point performance by Denver's Haywood, the super rookie center, but Beasley, spurred by an earlier scuffle, spatred the Dallas Chaparrals to a 124-116 American Basketball Association victory Tuesday night.

In the only ABA contest, Kentucky whipped Miami 126-120.

Beasley went on to score 28 points and hauled in 20 rebounds while Charles Beasley chipped in with 20 points for Dallas, which has played one game less than the other teams.

Two Steps Away from Crown

Can East Catholic High go all the way in the 1970 CIAC Division Basketball Tournament?

Half the answer will be forthcoming tonight. A victory over defending champion Middletown High in the semifinals at Central Connecticut State College is necessary. Action starts at 8:45, which means many will have early dinners or late snacks. Just a tip to anyone planning to attend. Parking facilities are very limited so allow sufficient time if you want to see the full game. A section is guaranteed tomorrow night.

Should East get past the Tigers, the Eagles would move on to the finals Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock against the winner of the Northwest Catholic-South Catholic tilt Tuesday.

All finals will be telecast by Channel 8 in New Haven, 8 Division Friday night at 8, 12 Division Saturday at 1, L Division at 4 the same day and the M Division Saturday night at 8, all night starts at 9.

Each year some claim the talent is thinning out at East but each year a new crop comes up with a winner.

Tonight's game should be a closer with two of the state's best players in action, almost sure bets for All-Star honors, Middletown's star shooting guard Ted Hawkey and East's Tim Kearns, both seniors.

Boston Domination Ended at Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The era really ended when Bill Russell announced his retirement last summer, but now it's official: The Boston Celtics won't be in the National Basketball Association playoffs for the first time in 20 years.

The end for the defending champions has been only a matter of time. Through the first stages of the regular season, it came mathematically Tuesday night in an 115-112 loss and finally the coup de grace was applied by the Detroit Pistons—the only team in the NBA's Eastern Division with a worse record than Boston's.

The Celtics are now 31-43, and even if they should win all their remaining games while fourth place Philadelphia lost its final six contests, the team would still finish ahead of them.

"We had a lot of things happen to us," first year coach Tom Heinsohn said when asked what caused the demise of the Celtics this year. "We lost two great ballplayers and had to go with a whole bunch of new players with no experience. We had a nucleus of veterans, but a couple of fellows were on the old side and we had to use the new guys in case one of the veterans got hurt."

The old champions went down fighting Tuesday night. Trailing by as many as 20 points, the Celtics staged a furious fourth period rally marked by some red-hot shooting. Then suddenly, with about five minutes left, the Detroit lead cut to two points, Boston suddenly went cold.

"We drew closer—I thought we'd pull ahead. We had the press on and we picked off a few," Heinsohn said.

The Celtics' season has been a roller coaster. They were in the lead for the first 10 games, but then fell behind the Lakers for most of the season. They were in the lead for the last 10 games, but then fell behind the Lakers for most of the season.

Fine All-Around Shooting Effort Nets Indians' Win

With the first five shooters in the 180 mark for the first time this season, the Manchester High rifle team notched its 11th win of the season by beating the Bristol Eastern yesterday, 219-85.

After two weeks off in shooting competition, the locals were led by Junior Whitman West (188), and able support in excellent shooting of Jared Stanfield (181), Ernie Williams (182) and Matt Dunfield (180), his finest score of his career. Visiting Bristol's best was last year's state champion, Paul Beigato's mark stands at 11-1.

The locals now eagerly await the return match with power-hitter Rocky High, one of two teams to beat Manchester this season. Match takes place Thursday at the Wadell Range. This should prove a fine tune-up for both teams for the state open.

Surprising Senators Win Fourth, Slugger Howard Signs for $125,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The surprising Washington Senators, who flopped in the spring last year, continued their winning ways Tuesday and received a bigger lift when slugger Frank Howard signed for a reported $125,000.

"Now I know how a manager feels when you play makes twice as much as he does," said Tom Williams after the 6-foot-7, 275-pound Howard, who slugged 48 home runs last year, signed his 1970 contract.

"The contract makes Howard the highest paid player in the American League," said Bob Short, Senators' owner.

After the signing, the Senators, who dropped nine straight games, won their first game since the signing, a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Howard hit a home run in the eighth inning, and Tom Williams hit a double in the ninth to win the game.

The Senators' season has been a roller coaster. They were in the lead for the first 10 games, but then fell behind the Yankees for most of the season. They were in the lead for the last 10 games, but then fell behind the Yankees for most of the season.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, who were in the lead for the first 10 games of the season, were knocked out of the lead by the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

AL Calls Off Meeting With Pilots' Officials

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The league meeting in Tampa Tuesday, the official said, was postponed, Cronin said, because of the illness of Cleveland's star pitcher, Steve Carlton.

The AL president felt that it would be best to wait until Carlton was back in the lineup before meeting with the Pilots' officials.

The meeting was scheduled for Tuesday at the Sheraton Hotel in Tampa. The Pilots' officials were expected to discuss the franchise's future with the league.

Negro Pros Possible Opponents Player Volunteers For Exhibitions

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—South African Gary Player, one of the world's most outstanding professional golfers, returned to the American continent Tuesday to play in exhibitions to benefit the United Negro College Fund.

Player, who is 38, is an exhibition Monday, his first exhibition in this country this year. He will play in a tournament at the University of Florida.

Two Teams Take Stab In NCAA Tournament

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Two teams making their first stab in NCAA tournament competition—California Riverside and St. Joseph's of Indiana—clash today in the opening round of the NCAA college division basketball tournament.

Following the 1967 tournament, Riverside and St. Joseph's were the only teams to make the first round of the tournament.

The tournament will be held at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in Evansville. The first round will be held on Friday, March 13.

Jets for Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—Only formal approval of the National Football League is needed for completion of the sale of the New York Jets, a team official says.

The Jets are being sold to a group of investors led by Steve Wynn. The sale is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Prospectus—Red Schoendienst Has Traded Away Much of the Old Cardinals' Gang

PROSPECTUS—Red Schoendienst has traded away much of the old Cardinals' gang that swept NL in 1967. Cardinals no longer have power up and down batting order. Pitching is strong, as long as Gibson keeps winning. Biggest question, of course, is Rickie Allen. His temperament is a possible, but when he's hot, he's hot. Few in baseball better. Therin lies Cardinals' fate.

Schoendienst—Allen was 20 game last season, for fourth in NL, 127 runs, 10 home runs, 11 RBIs, 11 stolen bases. Allen was 20 game last season, for fourth in NL, 127 runs, 10 home runs, 11 RBIs, 11 stolen bases.

Crying Need for Umpires, Roster Cut Nearly in Half

There's a crying need for baseball umpires.

The active membership of the Baseball Umpires' Association is down to 100, a 50 percent drop from the 200 members who were active in 1967.

The cause of the decline is a combination of factors, including the loss of experienced umpires and the failure to attract new ones.
