Crisis of Confidence Trapping Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The financial situation on Wall Street, financial capital of the world, is not one to inspire confidence. Some observers, in fact, speak of a crisis of investor confidence.

Red ink is smeared on brokerage house books. For a while it looked as if such problems affected fringe operators only. But now it is very clear that the establishment itself is in serious trouble.

Bache & Co., second largest brokerage house in the country, lost $2.7 million in the 12 months ending January 31. Francis I. DuPont & Co., another giant, lost $7.1 million before taxes.

Goodbody & Co. held its losses to less than $1 million but now must consider consolidating some of its 106 branches after its accountants noted that last year's dismal performance followed a shadow in 1970.

Other firms are precariously balanced between profit and loss and are desperately seeking an increase in commissions. One company, Kleiner Bell, simply withdrew from selling stocks.

Stonewall Inc. has apparently averted a capital crisis through the infusion of $17.5 million by some Oklahoma investors. But other firms may not be so lucky.

Gregory & Son is being liquidated because of problems with insufficient capital to conduct its affairs. Two other firms, Amott Baker & Co. and Pickard & Co., also are being liquidated.

Another big firm, McDonnell & Co., soon will be in the same situation, having already announced that it was giving up the ghost amid financial, book-keeping and personal problems.

Charter Marchal Press has announced that the Memphis of Eather will be held at special Purim services Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 10 a.m.

The Sunday morning services will be preceded by a Purim Masquerade at 10 a.m. During the masquerade the children will march through the sanctuary of the synagogue dressed up as the characters of the Purim story.

Following the Sunday services, a carnival will be held in the recreation hall, sponsored by the youth group. It will feature games, booths and a hot dog lunch served by the sisterhood.

On Monday, Dr. Lini S. May will deliver the fourth lecture of the adult education lecture series of Great Jewish Personalities.

Democrat Rules In House Under Review of Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reform-minded House Democrats, presenting their challenge against an aging leadership, yesterday approved a study they hope will lead to a change in the seniority system.

However, a last-minute change ordered by Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma will keep the study committee from making any recommendations until next Jan. 1.

Sponsors of the original resolution had hoped to get a report back by June in order to keep up the pressure for change.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, one of the leaders in the reform movement, said many of his colleagues will feel the change in date "defanged the resolution."

He said they had hoped the committee's report would be available in time for discussion and planning before the House organizes next year. The resolution as adopted has the report coming at the time of organization.

He noted, however, that the substitute specifically calls for a study of the seniority system, which was not mentioned by name in the original proposal.

There was no roll call vote on the resolution, which was approved by a standing vote of about 150 to 40.

The complaint of most liberals against the seniority system is that it puts old men in charge of the committees, but that it puts in old men who are opposed to Democratic party programs.

Sports Figures Say Athletics Puts Them on the Ball Politically

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Sam Huff says he doesn't see much difference in calling defensive signals for the Washington Redskins football team while throwing his weight around in the halls of Congress.

"Either way, it's largely a committee matter," explained the 235-pound retired linebacker, now busy campaigning for the 1st District congressional seat in his native West Virginia.

"On the football field, the 11 men are a committee and on defense I was the leader. Congress is made up of a lot of committee men. It's a question of getting along with people, pulling together and getting the job done."

Huff, a Democrat, found support in his former team's Giants teammate, Andy Robustelli of Stamford, Conn., who is being urged to seek Republican nomination for governor or lieutenant governor of Connecticut.

"Sports are closely related to every phase of life, and particularly politics," said the 220-pound defensive end, who quit playing five years ago to become a travel and marketing specialist.

Huff and Robustelli are two in a wave of prominent sports personalities who are finding that an athletic background is a good starting point for a political career, such as Hollywood figures and screen stars.

Exploits on the athletic field may introduce you more quickly to the voters than they won't get you elected or keep you in office, most of the politically minded sports figures say.

"It opens the doors," says Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mitchell, former pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates who is seeking his second term as Republican congressman from the 8th District in North Carolina.

"But people are not going to vote for you or support you just because you're an athlete. You have to stand on the issues. You have to convince the people that you can do the job."

Pardues Face 115 Years In Bombings at Danbury

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The bomb blast at the police station in Danbury, Conn., that killed three officers and injured 26 persons and destroyed the Danbury Savings Bank and a car will face up to 115 years in prison.

During the 10-minute reign of terror, the bank also was robbed of about $28,000. The indictments were the culmination of an investigation that covered many states.

The indictments were the culmination of an investigation that covered many states. Thurl Emmet Christie, 62, of Danbury, was charged with the Danbury Police and Chief William Asst. U.S. Atty. J. Daniel Tobin of the Danbury Police Department.

John Pardue was second named in the indictments on state charges. In connection with the explosion, the grand jury indicted Pardue, a Washington, D.C., resident, who was charged that the defendants had set off the explosion in Danbury, Conn., to cause a riot.

Court Cases

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. and the superintendent of its Chicago plant were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on charges of polluting Lake Michigan.

The firm was charged with five counts of pollution. Charles Kay, superintendent of the company's South Works plant in Chicago, was accused of aiding and abetting in the deposit of solid wastes into the lake.

The company declined to comment until it received official notification of the indictment.

The indictment alleges that on several occasions between Sept. 29 and Oct. 19, 1969, Kay, who was charged with iron oxide and other blast furnace waste solids from the steel manufacturing process into the lake.

Such discharges are barred under a federal law prohibiting navigable waters. U.S. Steel received a maximum fine of $25,000 for each violation.

The indictments represent the second time this year that U.S. Steel has been charged with polluting waters in the Lake Michigan basin.

The Justice Department filed a suit against the firm and another company in Hammond, Ind., Feb. 18. It contained charges that the firm was polluting the water in the Lake Michigan basin.

The response was indelible, says Vice Principal Charles K. Lynn of 47 Green Rd. There were no witnesses and the drivers gave conflicting stories, but it appeared that Oliva went over the center line, police said. Court date March 30.

Strike Halts Stamford Mail Service
 orded the picket lines when they were scheduled to start work at 5 a.m.

A spokesman for Branch 60 said the strike was due to "demands" which started at $4,000 a year and advance only $8,400 after 22 years of work. Congress has promised to raise that to $10,000 a year. The new recruits got disillusioned after a month or two and quit, the spokesman said.

Those who have followed Hayes' progression from a wildcat coffee-free and some coonant relief will be in charge of the exhibit. Mrs. Eugene Blackwell of Manchester is among the many Trinity alumnae who have volunteered to benefit the college building fund. Tickets will be on sale at the door. The piece was designed to last after it tries to apply the colors.

More than 100 items will be on display: Metal sculpture, painted and unpainted; drawings (watercolor) and paintings; prints and gouaches; ceramic plaques, small relief and tile. Hayes' mail promised to wear. The piece was designed to last after it tries to apply the colors.

Official Disputes State's Claim On Marine Lab

WASHINGTON (AP) — The main building of the U.S. Marine Biology Laboratory located in Milford, Conn., will not revert back to the state if a federal official said Wednesday...

He disputed a claim by Gov. John Dempsey of Connecticut that the state should have the lab and surrounding property because of a clause in the deed signed by the federal government...

The section of the laboratory property which was taken from the state in 1937 houses only an older laboratory building and some shorefront property, Smith said...

The federal official added that "other aspects of the research program are being taken up by various state laboratories interested in oysters and their culture. But other segments of the program can best be described as 'services' which, in the present budgetary climate, must be left to industry to provide for itself."

The voice of warning that Israel will still have to fight for peace. And this is the voice Israel hears 24 hours a day while she waits and guards against the next war. To keep this guard demands all her energy, all her resources, all her money and all her strong citizens. Which leaves little or nothing for other vital needs. Except you. Little or nothing to cope with the problems faced by 300,000 needy immigrants who have poured into the country in recent years. Little or nothing to build hospitals for the sick, the handicapped and the aged. Little or nothing to counsel, train and educate a generation of newcomers who can build their future if only they are able to find productive places in society. These human needs have historically been met by people who care. Now, as the screams for the next war drown out a call for help, you, through the United Jewish Appeal, must try to hear that call. And you must answer. Give to the Israel Emergency Fund.

MHA Releases List Of Housing Eligibility

The Manchester Housing Authority voted last night to make public its long waiting list of persons eligible to enter its low-rent housing. There are more than 165 names on the list arranged in a first come, first served order. The first person on the list is John MacArthur, 43, who has been eligible since May 1.

The first come, first served arrangement is a new and somewhat controversial policy with the Housing Authority. The Housing Authority change was made on December 3, 1969 by a 2-2 vote. Before the first come rule, applicants were admitted on the basis of need. This put the MHA in the position of sitting in judgment on each application and caused many angry phone calls to MHA members from persons who were denied admission and who had been eligible for years.

The admissions debate has been going on since at least the summer of 1967 when the MHA received a directive from the federal government (HUD) which said that admissions should be on a first come first served basis.

Some confusion about the interpretation of the wording in the HUD directive led to a committee which was formed in December of 1967 to study the HUD directive and to decide on a policy to be reached. At that time John E. Cronin was chairman of the MHA.

The admissions policy came up again in December of 1969. The newly-elected chairman, Atty. Vincent L. Dianna, appointed Mrs. Katherine Thompson of the MHA to head another committee to study and review the admissions procedure.

At that meeting Dianna said most of the HUD ideas did not seem to be a first come basis. Finally in December 1969 the policy was changed to a first come first served. The vote fell along strict party lines with Republicans, Democrats, Cronin and Mastrogiacomo voting in favor, and Democrats, Cronin and Mastrogiacomo voting in opposition.

When the 76-unit Mayfair Gardens, in the North End redevelopment area, opened in the early summer, the first 76 people on the list will be offered apartments. The number still on the waiting list, up to date as of yesterday follows. The names appear in order of eligibility.

Hausman Finds Action of GOP Within Bylaws

State GOP Chairman Howard Hausman has ruled that the Manchester Republican Town Committee acted legally and within the provisions of its bylaws, when it endorsed an 85-member town committee on March 5.

He was asked for an interpretation because of a Jan. 12 action by the committee. On that date, it amended its bylaws, reducing its 100-member committee to 85. However, the committee waited to March 10 to file the bylaws change with the secretary of the state's office. Changes in town committee rules become effective 30 days after they are filed with the state. On that basis, the change would become effective in early May. It was filed with the Manchester town clerk's office on Feb. 8.

Hausman, in a letter to GOP town chairman M. Adler Dole, stated that the committee acted legally, even under the old rules.

He explained that the old rule, calling for a town committee of not more than 100 members, gave the committee the option of fixing the number to be elected, provided it wouldn't exceed 100.

"By endorsing 85," he said, "the town committee effectively fixed the number at 85. Accordingly, it is my opinion that the number of town committee members to be chosen at the forthcoming primary, if there is one, is 85."

The new Republican Citizens Committee of Manchester now is circulating petitions with 27 opposition candidates for the town committee. If the petitions are certified by March 26, an April 16 townwide Republican primary will be held.

South Windsor Sharkevich Girl, Escapee, Returned to Niantic Prison

NIANTIC, Conn. (AP)—Convicted killer Elizabeth Ann Sharkevich is back in prison today after being arrested in New York City, where she was living on welfare payments.

The 22-year-old South Windsor woman, who had been sentenced in 1965 to between 10 and 15 years in prison in the ambush slaying of her mother, had been receiving every two weeks $109 in welfare from New York City since December, state police said.

Miss Sharkevich had become ill late in November and in December, state police said, and entered a New York hospital for two weeks.

Arrested with her was Terry Smith, the third woman living in the apartment, who was charged with harboring a fugitive. State police said she may be returned to Connecticut to face a similar charge here in connection with the flight of the two women to New York.

Bird in Formal Dress Takes Holiday Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A last penguin has been reunited with his owner after taking a gawk-like many a week in California. Miss Sharkevich walked away from the minimum-security prison during the night. Because of a reduction in her manhandling sentence by the State Pardons Board, she would have been eligible for parole next month.

She is charged with escaping from a state institution and theft of a motor vehicle. Miss Gonzalez also is charged with aiding in her escape and stealing a car.

The vehicle they used was abandoned in East Hartford, police said, and they were allegedly stayed about a week. They were believed to have delivered throughout the state in Meriden and Stamford.

Nixon Bids To Aid Poor In College

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns says the tight money supply is easing, but refuses to confirm reports the chances of a recession are nil.

Burns told the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee to look at the Federal Reserve's weekly money supply report to see if it is a sign of a recession. He said the economy in the hands of the public and bank demand deposits are increasing.

But he contradicted a recent statement by House Minority Leader Gerald Ford that the chances for a recession are "nil" and that inflation has been defeated by detentions to suppress it.

"I don't think the problem of inflation is at an end," Burns said. "Nor can I say there is no danger of a recession."

In discussing the current economic situation, Burns declined to state specific actions taken or planned by the board to force interest rates downward.

"All I can tell you, senator, is that we have not been idle at the Federal Reserve Board," he said.

Some members of Congress and others have urged that the church office and other backed programs be denied preferential treatment.

Nixon estimated that in fiscal 1972, the program he is seeking would add $40 million to the present level of federal spending to support higher education.

"If our goal is to be met," he said, "there must be comparable growth in the investment of other public and private agencies."

Traffic Banned On Fifth Avenue For Earth Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor John V. Lindsay has banned all automobiles from Fifth Avenue on Saturday for Earth Day.

In the city's fashionable main street, in support of a national "Earth Day" protest of pollution.

A 48-block stretch of the Manhattan avenue will be closed to vehicles from noon until 2 p.m. so that "one of the most beautiful scenic views in the city will become for this one day, at least, a pedestrian mall for our citizens to enjoy," Lindsay said Wednesday.

The mayor also announced the closing of Madison's 14th Street from 2nd to 7th avenues between noon and midnight as part of the protest.

Many business groups expressed dismay and shock at the plan. The Environmental Action Coalition, an organization of about 1,000 businesses, called the move "a very bad precedent" and said it was "absolutely opposed to it."

"Earth Day" began as a student movement. Students plan teach-ins April 22 at colleges and demonstrations against polluters of the environment in hundreds of communities.

Lindsay said 14th Street "was decided upon to dramatize the environmental problem of urban areas" because it is the most striking symbol of these problems: Power plants, changing neighborhoods and other aspects of the environment.

A spokesman for the Environmental Action Coalition said the group would demonstrate at the power plant on 14th Street and against the General Motors Building on Fifth Avenue, the said the companies were among those most responsible for the city's air pollution.

Mailmen Draft Boards Close to Avert Shutdown by the New Mobe

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—United Brotherhood of Carriers also called today to avert a confrontation with a full and impartial congressional investigation of the reasons behind the strike, which the unions and service departments are calling a service disruption.

The penalty for striking the government is a year and a day in jail, a $1,000 fine, dismissal or any combination of the three. Several New Jersey postal employees were suspended without pay last year following a wildcat walkout that was never officially sanctioned.

Officials in New York City drew up contingency plans including a plan to lock up on street mail boxes that can't be collected by supervisory personnel and stores mail to make sure it isn't stolen.

International mail that normally moves through Boston was being rerouted through Washington, Baltimore, New York and other cities.

Most congressional leaders refused to comment publicly on the New York situation for fear it would jeopardize negotiations with the unions, but chairman Gale McGee (D-Wyo.) said he would support a postal pay raise.

The members of "Woman's Strike for Peace" were gone to protest alleged political repression by the Nixon administration. Most had arrived on an special train from New York and Philadelphia.

In Durham, N.C., 60 young demonstrators marched through the rain from the Duke University campus to a downtown draft board office.

The New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam is sponsoring the nationwide demonstrations.

Money Loosens; Recession Still Could Come

Opposition Small At Hearing on C-DAP

(By WILLIAM COPE)
A public hearing on Manchester's C-DAP (Community Development Action Plan) program last night attracted about 50 persons to Highland Park School, the majority C-DAP participants, but encountered little controversy.

The session, sponsored by the House of Representatives' Legislative Subcommittee on the Department of Community Affairs, produced a hearing mainly among the committee members, town officials and local C-DAP participants, who aired their views on benefits and problems with the Manchester C-DAP - now about seven months old.

Of a total of eight who spoke, three were opposed to C-DAP on philosophical grounds. None of the three is a participant in the program.

The meeting was called by Francis Mahoney of Manchester, state representative for the 16th District and a member of the legislative subcommittee, which is charged with overseeing C-DAP and the Department of Community Affairs.

It was chaired by State Rep. Philip Mettler Jr. of Hamden. Mettler said following the discussion that he felt the session accomplished its purpose - to give the committee feedback on C-DAP from the "grass roots" level.

He said the meeting was the fourth information-gathering session by his group and the second of the most attended. Previous meetings had been held at Elm Street, Manchester and in the home of a C-DAP participant.

Among listeners in the audience last night were Leroy Jones, C-DAP district director; Eugene Puzospek, C-DAP district director; Horace Brown of Manchester, director of the Office of State Planning; Adler Dobkin, Manchester GOP Town Committee chairman; and Donald Genovesi, state representative from Manchester's 16th District.

Town Manager Robert Wesol, who led off the discussion, noted that Manchester endorsed C-DAP "enthusiastically" and asked rhetorically, "Where do we go after the initial spurt? How do we pay for the things we're going to fall far short of our expectations?"

The state opposition speaker, James E. Chase, said he feared that in accepting C-DAP the people would be giving up their rights of decision to the Department of Community Affairs and Commissioner James J. O'Connor.

The state (DCA) can change a plan, appropriate or not appropriate funds as it sees fit and I can't buy into the idea that one man or a small group of men can plan more favorably than the voters of the town. There's a lot of political patronage in it (C-DAP) and I'm disgusted," Chase charged.

Mrs. Peter Sudolick, long a critic of C-DAP, told the legislators that Manchester's program, which questioned entering the program were unable to get legislative approval, and that the directors themselves were hesitant "about the whole thing," she said they were pressured into starting a plan.

"Why force us into something we can't pay for? There is no doubt that C-DAP means regionalization," she charged. J. Eric Potter, Manchester's town planner, who spoke next, said he was convinced C-DAP is worthwhile and that Manchester "has a tremendous program" underway.

But he questioned whether the Department of Community Affairs was "aiming too high" by seeking to get citizens to take responsibility for planning all areas of their future.

DCA should give more "physical" help to the local C-DAP people, rather than playing an advisory role - and also let the towns concentrate on future planning areas they consider most important, Potter suggested.

In answer to a request by the committee, Potter agreed to supply it with a list of skills he would like to see provided from the state level.

Glenn Cole, a member of Manchester C-DAP's education task force, said he was convinced of the validity of planning "before the Megalopolis overtakes us," but noted that he was concerned whether task force goals and objectives can be translated into reality.

"We're not down to a 'hard' program by a long way yet," he said. "We still have to get realistic things identified through a long sorting out process."

Lyman B. Hoops, Manchester's C-DAP agency chairman, thanked the "courtesy of the state as a leader in the U.S. in putting forth a program like this."

But he said the two-year C-DAP planning timetable should "definitely be more flexible, especially during the initial phase."

A lot of "wheel-spinning" occurs before task forces begin to get down to work on their own goals and objectives," he said.

Senate Panel Okays Tarr In Draft Post

(By WILLIAM COPE)
WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Armed Services Committee today approved the nomination of Curtis W. Tarr to be the nation's third Selective Service director.

The approval, which sends Tarr's name to the Senate for confirmation, came after a hearing in which Tarr expressed reservations about the feasibility of the all-volunteer army.

Tarr, 45, a former college president, declared he believes most students and occupational deferments from the draft should be abolished.

He appeared before the Senate Armed Services Committee confirmation hearing at which he expressed reservations about the feasibility of the all-volunteer army.

Tarr said he has no intention of following either the military or the administrative methods of the Selective Service System.

Nader Slams Merger Of ITT-Hartford Fire

(By WILLIAM COPE)
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) - Consumer advocate Ralph Nader today slammed the proposed merger of ITT Hartford Fire Insurance Co. and Hartford Fire Insurance Co. as a "monopolistic" move.

Nader said the merger would create a "monopolistic" fire insurance company. He said the merger would be "antithetical to the public interest."

Quick as Jackrabbits, Marquette Offers Tough Defense for Tigers

NEW YORK (AP)—If Pete Maravich had his troubles against lightly regarded Georgetown and Oklahoma, how will he do when confronted with another press, put on this time by Jackrabbits and cobras?

No, it's not wicker, although it might turn out to be a mystery to Maravich and Louisiana State in one of tonight's ball semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament.

The Tigers, 23-8, must face eight-ranked Marquette, the tourney favorite with its 10th ranking, in the consolation game, which will be played at 8 p.m. EST.

"They jump like jackrabbits and they're as quick as cobras," said Madison Square Garden, Maravich's father, describing the Warriors. "If we were to do the last two games, they'll run us out of court."

Prass referred mostly to the play of his son, a three-time All-American who fell far below his 44.6 point a game average with games of 20 and 37, and also threw away the ball a number of times, although making five and nine assists for a total of 34.

St. John's best Army 54-44 in a small war earlier this season and Leo Carmeseca, coach of the Redmen, wants this one as a farewell gift—he is leaving after the tournament to coach the New York State of the American Basketball Association.

However, instead of emotion, Carmeseca will rely on 6-10 Bill Pauls and sharp-shooting Joe DeFre to cut down the Odele. Although the Cadets are little known individually with a roster more than 6-8 Carmeseca knows he is in trouble.

All-American Lanier Out of Bonnies' Tilt Jacksonville Holds Slight Edge in NCAA Hoop Finals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coach John Wooden, UCLA says he believes Jacksonville University has a slight edge in the NCAA basketball finals but he also wouldn't bet against his Bruins.

In fact, Wooden, whose teams have won five out of the last seven basketball titles, says only one of the four in the final time in the NCAA championship, UCLA, which has won the title six times, has a slight edge in the eastern final scheduled to tip off at 7:40 p.m. EST.

UCLA, which has won 22 straight victories in NCAA tournament play, takes on New Mexico State in the western final, which is scheduled to begin 9 p.m. EST.

The winners of the two games meet Saturday at 4 p.m. EST on national television (NBC) for the NBA championship.

St. Bonaventure lost 1-0 to white St. Bonaventure in the first round of the NCAA basketball championship. Wooden said he isn't looking for a repeat of the 1967-68 season, but would like to have a 7-foot center for St. Bonaventure, who led his team to the title last year before going to the Milwaukee Bucks, if he should meet Jacksonville in the final.

UCLA's roster includes the Dolphins' 7-foot-2 Art Gilmore, 7-foot Pembroke's Barry Hill, and 6-foot-10 Joe McIntyre.

His primary worry, however, is New Mexico State, which will be looking for revenge. UCLA defeated the Amundt's Aggies, as they like to be called, in the first round of the western regional the last two years.

Joe Williams, UCLA's coach, said he hasn't looked beyond the Bruins and St. Bonaventure, which has no "real" NBA players, but he is a long distance telephone hook.

Pistons Get Big Prize For Defeats

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Pistons have three games left to play in the National Basketball Association, with a big prize for losing them—namely the NBA lottery draft on Monday.

The Eastern Division won the top pick in the No. 1 selection Wednesday in a ceremony at NBA headquarters here.

Detroit is currently in the Eastern Division cellar, two games behind sixth-place Boston.

The draft will be conducted here Monday with Lander, the strapping 7-foot-11, 275-pound center for St. Bonaventure and Pete Maravich of Louisiana State among the top choices.

Commissioner Walter Kennedy flipped the coin with representatives from San Diego, San Francisco, Detroit and Boston to determine who will get the first pick in the draft.

Royals Improve, No Serious Threat

FORT MEYERS, Fla.—Best job of any expansion team in the major leagues in 1969 was turned in by the Kansas City Royals, a fourth place finish in the American League's Western Division.

Royals finished ahead of long-established Chicago and newcomer Seattle.

"We hope to improve 20 percent," said manager Charlie Metro said.

"The players are all talking about how the Mets are an expansion team, turned in a miracle in winning last year. I try to remind them that the Mets are more than a year older than we are and we are only our second year," he cautioned.

"I'd be the last guy in the world to tell them they couldn't win."

"I believe that you should build a team with pitching and good defense first. Our pitching was good last year, and our defense is improved, too," he said on a history, quick fly in.

Livelier X-15 Baseball Runs Wild For Football Score Spring Games

NEW YORK (AP)—They used the livelier X-15 baseball in spring training against Wednesday and most of the pitchers weren't exactly thrilled with the experiment.

But the new wrinkle didn't mean a thing to old pros Hoyt Wilhelm and Bob Veale. They produced by Mike Lum's pinch runner, who hit just two hits and striking out five.

Both Wilhelm and Veale hurled five scoreless innings in the Pirates' victory, allowing only one run and striking out 11.

Veale also worked five innings in the Pirates' victory, allowing only one run and striking out 11.

MB's Top West Sides, Jets Lose Again

Two completely different lashed with 14 field goals and 22 jets started to cut into Anaheim's lead in the second quarter.

In the opener, powerful Morarty had an easy night posting a 19-40 victory over the West Sides. The Jets, still looking for a return to the win No. 1 came close in the first quarter, but were held off by the Jets' defense.

Morarty's wanted no time in 13 to the potent offense.

Behind Tom Main's 21 points, the Jets scored 47 points in the second quarter, leading to the second quarter. The winners had a hard time of it during the second half.

Slow Starting Black Hawks Move Closer to Idle Brains

NEW YORK (AP)—For a team that started the season in reverse, the Chicago Black Hawks certainly shifted into high gear at the right time.

The Hawks, scoring in first place in the National Hockey League's East Division, stretched their unbeaten string to eight games with a 7-4 victory over Toronto Wednesday night as Bobby Hull exploded for two goals and three assists.

That moved Chicago within one point of idle Boston and kept the Hawks on a roll in the first place Detroit, which won four straight games, including a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

New York, which slipped to fourth during a three-game win streak, ended the dry spell with a 2-0 victory over Pittsburgh while Montreal, first in the East, lost to Oakland 2-1.

Chicago started the season without Hull and lost six of its first eight games, picking up only three of a possible 18 points in that stretch with one victory.

But Hull straightened out his differences with the front office, and the Hawks exploded his way out of an early slump and Chicago began reversing the trend.

The Hawks' lead in the division is now 12 points over the second-place Bruins.

Chamber Endorses LWV Housing Policy

The Chamber of Commerce has given its support to recommendations of the League of Women Voters that Manchester should recognize its responsibility to provide low and moderate income housing to help solve the national housing shortage.

The LWV report made the recommendations in a report called "Housing in Manchester, a study, conclusion and recommendations." The report calls on Manchester to start to think of itself as part of the Greater Hartford region and to assume its share of responsibility.

The town Board of Directors Feb. 3 and passed it on to the Manchester Housing Authority for its comments. The MHA officially received the report at its March 4 meeting and will discuss it at a later meeting.

Morrell HAM...

MORRELL FULLY COOKED

Ham is the kind you serve when you want to serve something special. The Morrell ham is offered for your Easter eating pleasure, is hockless, shankless, skinless. The round half is almost boneless.

FULLY COOKED or ready to eat?

The difference here is very simple. A Ready-to-Eat Ham, despite its name, isn't ready to eat. It still needs to be baked before you bake or fry it.

When you see the words "FULLY COOKED" on the ham it means what it says. The ham is fully cooked... smoked to a 148 degree temperature. At the same time, if you want to bake or fry it, you can.

OUR MORRELL HAM, in the famous blue wrapper, is "FULLY COOKED" and as delicious a waste-free ham as you can buy. We are taking orders for Easter on this fine ham.

We are selling ready to eat Hams from Tobin FIRST PRIZE... the short shank Ham for those who want to use the shank for pea soup... and the shankless, hockless for those who prefer it. Our Dubuque fully boned fleur de lels is a mighty fine ham, too.

So much for Easter Ham... now to get back to this week... Friday and Saturday. Slacks are on sale and our low price of 99c lb. continues on boneless smoked butts (daisy hams).

National Economy At Stake in Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winston M. Blount said today failure to bring the postal strike to an immediate halt will have a devastating effect on the national economy.

Blount made the comment after urging the leaders of the two largest postal unions to accept "all the influence at their command" to halt the spreading employee walkouts.

Blount's appeal was made to James H. Badmeyer, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and Francis S. Filbey, head of the United Federation of Postal Clerks.

The administration and Congress have said the striking workers must return to work before there will be any prospect of meeting their demands for increased pay.

The only thing that can be done for the postal workers is to go back to work and start moving the mail, Postmaster General Blount said today.

Blount's appeal was made to James H. Badmeyer, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and Francis S. Filbey, head of the United Federation of Postal Clerks.

Blount said the striking workers must return to work before there will be any prospect of meeting their demands for increased pay.

Wildcat Mail Strike Spreads Westward

NEW YORK (AP) — A wildcat strike of mail carriers that has halted mail deliveries throughout the metropolitan area is spreading westward today—as far as St. Paul, Minn., and Chicago.

Among the new outbreaks today were walkouts in Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, and Milwaukee.

At the strike spread, the mushrooming effects on government and industry reached across the nation. For example, mail piled up everywhere, affecting 30 million people.

Stockbrokers, manufacturers, mail order houses and others with nationwide business sought alternatives for alternate ways of making deliveries, communicating with clients or meeting payrolls.

Planes and trucks were enlisted to carry special bulk lots of mail. Telephone, telegraph and messenger services were heavily burdened by the lack of mail service.

Union leaders from all over the country were summoned to Washington by the National Association of Letter Carriers for a summit conference.

Among those in Washington was Gus Johnson, head of the Manhattan-Bronx letter carriers local which set off the strike and has defied a federal back-to-work court order.

National union leaders hinted that the branch leaders should be asked to support a threat of a nationwide strike by the Carriers unless Congress meets their pay demands by mid-April.

Congressional leaders continued to say however, they would not be pressured into a postal pay raise.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said today that he would not be pressured into a postal pay raise.

The Weather

Cloudy, not as cold tonight with rain likely. Low 25 to 40. Tomorrow rain ending by noon. High in the Sunday's outlook: fair, reasonable.

Walkout Affects All Walks of Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Effects of the spreading postal strike to "it was only from the letters mailed from uncoordinated areas and to some extent economic or emotional hardship. For a very limited time, it was a business opportunity."

For the businessmen and the letter carriers, the strike offered a business opportunity. "It's very lonely by being in a strange country," he said.

For some utilities, however, says few are dealing in other forms of mail delivery or communications, the strike offered a business opportunity.

Manufacturers of clothing and little firms alike—those in the prospect of being business because rush orders for their merchandise lay buried in post offices.

For those with loved ones or relatives in distant places the strike meant the end of a hardship of uncertainty and doubt.

—Dennis Fyler, 22, said he was of mind depressed on receiving three weekly letters from her husband in Vietnam.

Strike Hits Most Connecticut Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Walkouts by mail carriers in Washington, D.C. before taking most of the large cities of Connecticut. In some communities, supervisors were going around picketing, and the flow of mail at these post offices was only to open was meager.

The only major city post office open today was in Bridgeport. In Hartford, state officials assured people doing business with the state that a procedure for manual delivery of important letters and checks.

The New Haven Post Office closed after it reported only 19 in the walkout strike in New Haven and surrounding towns. Virtually all other employees of the major cities and towns of Connecticut as strike votes were taken by branches of the National Association of Letter Carriers. In cases where post offices were picketed by NALC members, they were honoring the strike and refusing to work.

In Greenwich, the strike was on at a branch post office in Cox Co. but the letter carriers at the main Greenwich post office voted Thursday night to honor the strike.

In New London, Bridgeport and Willimantic, however, postal services were slower to be in operation today. In Bridgeport, a meeting of the letter carriers' union was put off so the vote was taken Thursday night.

Recreation costs were up one-tenth of one per cent for the month and 5.7 per cent for the year. The only major price category to remain unchanged in February was transportation, which was still 4.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The Labor Department's Consumer Price Index rose five-tenths of one per cent in February to 132.5, meaning it costs $13.25 for every $10 worth of living costs in the 197-59 base period.

Strike Impact Hits Town Tomorrow

Manchester and area post offices were expecting to feel the first serious impact of the nationwide postal strike when the 2 p.m. de-mustering national mail delivery and subsequent deliveries of the receipt of this morning's mail.

Other towns, including South Windsor and Vernon, which are also served from the Hartford office, had not felt any appreciable decline in activity as of this morning. The Vernon postmaster said his men were in the process of delivering mail to the South Windsor depot.

Postmaster said today that he would not be pressured into a postal pay raise. Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said today that he would not be pressured into a postal pay raise.

Blount's appeal was made to James H. Badmeyer, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and Francis S. Filbey, head of the United Federation of Postal Clerks.

Blount said the striking workers must return to work before there will be any prospect of meeting their demands for increased pay.

U.S. Military Officials Hope Cambodian Rulers Cut Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military officials are hopeful the new regime in Cambodia will recognize the United States as a major partner for the United States and South Vietnam as a result of the overthrow of the former Prince Norodom Sihanouk, officials indicated.

U.S. officials also are hopeful the Cambodian rulers will permit U.S. and South Vietnamese troops to cross the border and supply the North Vietnamese with arms and ammunition were landed, mostly from Communist North Vietnam.

Actually, U.S. officials long have said that this war was waged on Cambodia, and that the North Vietnamese army trucks and driven to points near the South Vietnamese border and turned over to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird sought to avoid any overt forecast of benefits from the turn of events in Cambodia, but he told a news conference Thursday.
