Gov. Kirk Ordered to Stop Blocking of Desegregation

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Krentzman has reinstated Manatee County school officials and ordered them to desegregate the county's schools.

Kirk contends the Manatee dispute is between the state of Florida and the federal government, not between himself and school officials.

Kirk and Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne were in Bradenton, seat of Manatee County on Florida's Gulf coast about 50 miles south of Tampa, to direct the operation of the schools Monday.

They left after Krentzman issued an order enjoining them from interfering with the school system and requiring Kirk to show cause why he should not be held in civil contempt.

MOST PLAYERS USE ONE FOOLISH RULE. BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD. The average bridge player has only one rule for the play of a suit contract: Draw the trump first, and then look around for an attractive second move.

Both sides vulnerable. Opening lead—Nine of Clubs. Suppose you follow the "rule" with today's hand. You take the king of clubs and draw two rounds of trump with dummy's ace and king. Now you lead a diamond, trying to get to your hand to draw the last missing trump.

There's nothing wrong with drawing trumps except that dummy's ace and king of spades can serve a double purpose. After taking the first trick with the king of clubs, lead a diamond at once.

Steele's nomination was assured yesterday, when his sole opponent, Peter Cashman, withdrew from the race for the congressional seat now held by four-term Democrat William St. Orge of Putnam.

Cashman announced he will seek the State Senate seat from the 20th District. Steele will be named as the possible presence of a sixth candidate.

In his announcement of withdrawal, Cashman stated, "Over a year ago, when I first began to move around the Second Congressional District, I said many times that the very best thing that could happen to the Republican party in eastern Connecticut is the arrival of an early consensus on its candidate for Congress."

Mattingly, Bachelor Astronaut, High on Flying Since Boyhood

By PAUL REICHER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Thomas K. Mattingly II hasn't found the time to take a bride. He's been too busy with his first love—flying.

"There hasn't been any time for the last two years, that's for sure," says Mattingly, a 34-year-old Navy Lieutenant Commander who will be the command module pilot on the Apollo 13 moon trip.

Mattingly, who became the first American bachelor in space on Apollo 13, demonstrates the Apollo 13 practice in dodging questions about any wedding plans.

Asked at a recent news conference if he planned to marry this year:

"I'd be foolish to say no. That would be the surest way to get in trouble," he said. "I think I will pass on that question."

Mattingly, who prefers the nickname "Tom," has a reputation for single-minded dedication to training for space flight.

"Ken is the most conscientious worker I have ever seen," says James A. Lovell Jr., the Apollo 13 commander.

"My only trouble is to get him to slow down a little bit," Mattingly's mother, Mrs. Helen Mattingly, said.

the city refused him a store license. The shop closed after competitor informed wholesalers the youngster was unlicensed.

Mattingly attended high school in Miami where teachers still recall him as an excellent student.

Some of the pranks he pulled are also remembered. He took up the drums and timpani and played in both the school orchestra and band.

Robert Lawrence, then director of the orchestra, recalls he once dummied Mattingly from practice for missing a paper airplane over the musicians as they were playing.

Lawrence recalls telling him, "You aren't going to amount to a damn thing."

"I remember a lot about him," says Lawrence, "especially since the punk became an astronaut."

Mattingly ranked 66th in his high school graduation class of 193. He passed up a scholarship to accept an officer's training scholarship from the Navy.

He entered Auburn where he frequently made the dean's honor list and once was elected student body president.

Recently, he borrowed a telescope and spent hours studying the moon.

The astronaut often visits his parents who still live in his boyhood home in Halesite. When he's at Cape Kennedy he sometimes will fly a space agency T-38 jet into Miami for a visit at home.

His parents follow the astronaut's career closely. Mrs. Mattingly suggested to a biochemist preparing the food for Apollo 13 that he include peanut butter, a favorite for her son. Peanut butter was added to the menu.

Both parents will be at Cape Kennedy for the launch and Mattingly said of his father, "I think he's as excited as I am."

Linda E. Kilburn of Canton will be the guest soloist appearing on the Grand Night of Music sponsored by the Knights of Columbus on April 17 and 18 at the East Catholic High School.

Miss Kilburn, who is majoring in music at the University of Connecticut, will play the saxophone, an instrument which she has studied for 17 years.

She also plays the clarinet, flute and bassoon.

She has performed in 14 amateur musical productions, and has played for three years in the All-State Musical Festival.

On the program that evening will be the Episcopal Chorus, which performed recently at an apartment within sight of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

On his rare evenings at home he often reads and listens to music.

Agostinelli Impressed By Public Suggestions

Mayor Nathan Agostinelli said today that he is impressed by the many useful suggestions being presented at Board of Selectors comment sessions.

He said that two in particular, received yesterday at a two-hour session named by him alone, are being relayed to the manager's office for immediate study.

One complained of junked cars accumulating on and around gasoline stations. Another complained of the pavement conditions on Oakland St. and Hilliard St.

Another complained of the condition of Bush Hill garage and refuse purposes. It was paved fast and when it was paved again, another complained of deteriorated sidewalks in front of his Bolton St. house.

All suggestions and complaints filed at the semi-monthly comment sessions are sent to the appropriate town department for study and answer.

The other suggestion is for making Turkington Dr. (the extension of Alpine St., from Haynes St. to S. Alton St.) either two-way or one-way toward the hospital. He said that the traffic pattern now, one-way from the hospital, does not allow for emergencies.

Agostinelli said that, because of another suggestion made yesterday, he will proclaim one day near the end of the month, "Torch Day," in honor of World War I veterans who plan a tag day then.

All other persons who appear yesterday, all men, also complained.

One complained of junked cars accumulating on and around gasoline stations. Another complained of the pavement conditions on Oakland St. and Hilliard St.

Prospect Bright For Ex-Dictator Of Columbia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—They could have been doing something else last weekend, but 50,000 Colombians filled Bogota's main square to cheer an ex-dictator trying to win the presidency.

That rally for Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla brought the biggest turnout anyone has recorded yet in the campaign for the nation's presidential election April 18.

It also pointed up the fears of officials in the Liberal-Conservative coalition, long dominant, that Rojas at the age of 70 has a good chance to win.

Most of those at the rally were from low and middle-income classes. The retired army general is aiming his campaign toward them. He is promising to solve their social and economic problems. Earlier in the campaign he promised he would see to it, if elected, that every Colombian family had a car.

Experts are bewitched by Rojas' apparent rise at a time when impressive economic and political achievements have earned prestige at home and abroad for the incumbent, Carlos Lleras Restrepo.

The experts ask: How can it be that a man ousted as a dictator in 1957 by a popular movement and the armed forces is now in a position to win the presidency through democratic process? He gained that post previously through a military coup.

Several factors play in Rojas' favor. The Liberal-Conservative coalition's National Front is split. Two splinter candidates are running against the Front's official candidate, Misael Pastrana Borrero, 47, a lawyer, economist and former ambassador to the United States. The votes the two candidates get will weaken Pastrana's chances of victory.

Pastrana has been unable to draw the crowds Rojas has but has forced Pastrana's will win by a small margin.

Lleras has improved things on the economic front but the nation still has a long way to go. The work force of 5 million includes 600,000 unemployed. Salaries are low, and extreme poverty and prosperity exist almost side by side. Lleras is accused of making the rich richer in his economic program.

Moscow's Line Communists have pledged support for Rojas. The splinter candidacy of Belisario Betancur, 47, a moderate leftist, is aimed chiefly at Pastrana. The other dissident candidate, former Foreign Minister Evaristo Saurin, 65, is given no chance of victory but he is expected to take valuable votes from Pastrana in Saurin's native Atlantic coastal province.

Brandt Against Proposals To Cut U.S. Troops in Europe

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Special Correspondent

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — West German Chancellor Willy Brandt says substantial U.S. troop withdrawals from Europe are demanded in some quarters in Washington but he is warning the chances for reducing East-West tensions and negotiating a mutual troop outgo with Russia.

In an interview with the Associated Press shortly before leaving for Washington talks with President Nixon, Brandt said: "... If we are going to try to end out in close contact with each other (within the NATO alliance), if there are possibilities to reduce tensions in Europe between the East and the West, then we might do harm to these activities by introducing the element of unilateral weakening of the Western position."

Brandt also said he thought the U.S. and West Germany should not wait too long to open talks on "burden-sharing" between themselves and among the allies on the cost of maintaining the U.S. forces of 31,000 troops in Europe, stationed at most entirely in West Germany.

He called for the closest consultations among all the NATO allies on European security policy before any troop cut, however small, is made.

Ballooning Season's Start Grounded by Brisk Winds

The official start of the New England Ballooning season, scheduled for this past week, failed to get off the ground due to the brisk winds.

Instead, several balloons from New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts joined their Connecticut counterparts in the Tolland home of Charles MacArthur for a champagne breakfast and flight talk.

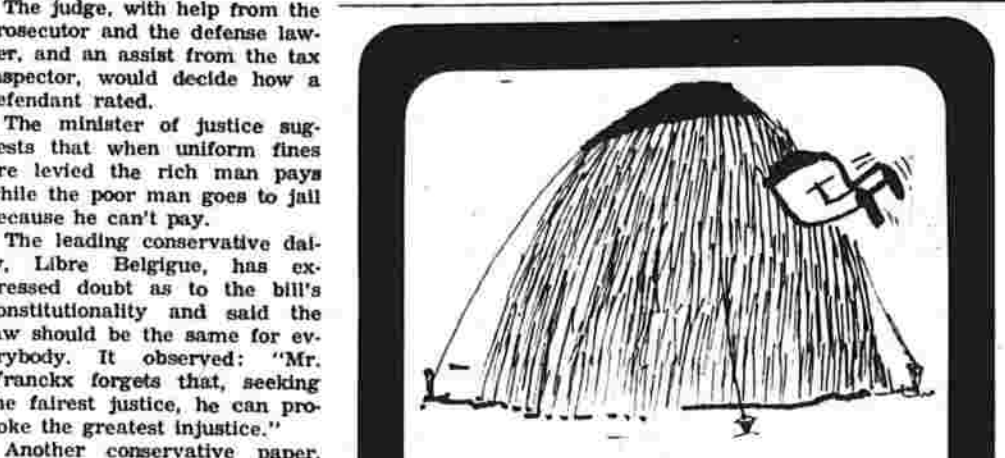

MacArthur is the "rounding father" of the revived sport of hot air ballooning and has received national attention for his efforts.

MacArthur's ultimate goal for the time being is to write a book about hot air ballooning. He has a publisher but has not yet found the time to sit down and write it. The book will likely be partially a "how to" book balanced with the recounting of ballooning experiences as delivered in the inimitable MacArthur style.

Vernon Plea for Drug Therapy Fails, Area Addict Sent to Prison

Information about a new drug treatment program was offered in support of arguments in favor of sending Daniel Speller, 36, of East Hartford back to the Norwich State Hospital instead of prison.

Last summer Speller received a three to seven-year prison sentence for breaking and entering but was sent to the Norwich State Hospital under Public Act 80, which provided that convicted persons could have their sentences suspended and be sent for treatment. Speller escaped shortly thereafter and was arrested for breaking and entering.

Public Defender Donald Caldwell noted that Speller's long record of arrests started after he became drug dependent seven years ago. He said he has a "very heavy 360 a day habit on heroin."

Atty. Caldwell argued that last summer Speller was clearly a candidate for drug treatment, and said, "What the court didn't know then was that the legislature had passed this act but had completely failed to make any plans for its implementation."

He said that defendants sent to Norwich were taken off drugs and simply put in with the rest of the patient population. He told the court, "Speller was told he was going to get help, and he got none," and of his escape, "We should have expected it."

Caldwell then handed Judge Paul J. Driscoll a copy of a recent Manchester Herald article which described a new treatment program at Norwich State Hospital which started in January. Atty. Caldwell asked the judge to read it before deciding Speller's fate, and to consider recommending Speller to Norwich.

He stressed that if Speller were not accepted in the new program he would be returned to the court, "and not allowed to sit around," adding "I am only asking that Speller be going to prison for three to seven years be given the opportunity the court intended to give him last June."

State's Attorney Robert J. Pigeon recommended that Speller serve the original sentence and emphasized that society is entitled to protection. He cited the recent stabbing of an orderly at Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown by two men originally sent to Cheshire by this court. "I don't think we should take another chance," Atty. Pigeon said.

Caldwell, in answer, emphasized that these men had been transferred to Middletown, not

Model Cities Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressman Thomas J. Meskill announced Tuesday a $2.25 million grant has been approved for Hartford by the Housing and Urban Development Department.

The funds will be used for improving conditions in the city.

"I think we need a higher degree of cooperation in cases like this, a higher degree of solidarity among responsible government officials not only to impress upon the terrorists but also to make I teach to weak governments what must be the minimum standards of normal relations."

Irwin Mulls Senate

NORWALK (AP) — Former Congressman Donald J. Irwin said Tuesday he is considering seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

Irwin would become the sixth candidate, along with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, the Rev. Joseph Duffey, of Hartford, State Senate Majority Leader Edward I. Marcus of New Haven, Alphonse J. Donahue of Stamford and Congressman John S. Monagan of Waterbury.

His goal is to create a balloon which will be a replica of the original balloons used a century ago. These balloons would use the latest scientific knowledge, however, to enable them to carry more people more comfortably.

Top priority is being given at center to quiet the propane burner, and a different design for the rip panel and cord which would prevent the chance of the balloon getting hung up in a tree top.

A ride in a hot air balloon is quiet, smooth and graceful, with the exception of the propane burner which heats the air to keep the balloon flying high in the sky.

Kennedy Asks Oil Policy To Meet Needs of People

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says the next few months will show whether the Nixon administration's oil policy is determined by "the whims of the oil industry or the needs of the people."

"If, as now appears to be the case, the administration is not responsive to the needs of the people," the Massachusetts Democrat told a Senate panel Tuesday, "then we in Congress must meet our responsibility and begin to revamp the entire program."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., supporting the oil import task force's call for a tariff to equalize the price of foreign and domestic crude oil, said there must be significant revisions in home heating oil in New England, Kennedy said.

Brooke charged the President has followed a policy of "misalignment" in being unwilling to find ways to lower the cost of fuel oil for New England consumers.

He accused the President of "consciously choosing to ignore the fate of consumers in the Northeast, who are now paying the highest fuel oil rates in the nation."

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., in the Northeast are being forced to pay for "the discredit of import program."

Kennedy said that the President should bring some relief to consumers who are paying "more than $5 billion in artifice in home heating oil imports into the East Coast by three methods:

—He can simply decouple all home heating oil and permit unlimited imports.

—He can abolish the quota on home heating oil and substitute a low tariff.

—He can provide substantial quota allocations of home heating oil to independent deepwater terminal operations, thereby strengthening the competitive position of the independent market.

Nader Report Blasts FDA: Chained to Food Industry

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has permitted itself to be shackled to a chemical and genetic time bomb by the food industry, a report by investigators working under consumer advocate Ralph Nader said today.

Nader's " Raiders" charged the agency with wasting time on senseless campaigns of harassment while the food industry develops techniques "for manipulating the content of food products as dictated by corporate greed and irresponsibility."

"Until the FDA recognizes the need to protect the public interest, there is little incentive provided by the program to apply pesticides sparingly," the report said.

The report, devoted almost entirely to what it termed the "total collapse" of the FDA's food regulation activities, said the agency had in effect reversed procedures for ensuring the safety of food additives.

Instead of following the law requiring additives be safe, the report said the FDA accepts of test manufacturers' industry evidence, allows the chemicals' use and then challenges critical researchers to prove the ingredients unsafe.

In addition, the report said, the agency allows the industry to mask the additives' presence by treating producers from the responsibility of listing ingredients on labels.

Further, the Nader investigators alleged, the FDA's random inspection program allows its lowest priority jobs, taking the position food processes will maintain clean conditions voluntarily.

Yet the agency's own figures show in fiscal 1969 only 39 percent of the establishments inspected were in compliance with sanitary regulations, the report went on.

While this was going on, the FDA continued what the report said was senseless harassment of against the late psychoanalyst Wilhem Reich. The agency destroyed devices Reich claimed could improve health and burned his highly regarded books, the report said, when the time could have been spent on more important tasks.

Reich was also questioned by the investigators when the FDA's attitude toward pesticides and food.

Over a three year period ending in June 1968, the agency inspected 49,816 shipments for pesticide residues in excess of federal tolerances, the investigators said, a total of 0.7 percent.

"With over a 99 per cent chance of going undetected, there is little incentive provided by the program to apply pesticides sparingly," the report said.

The result, said the report, has been deteriorating quality of the nation's food supply, particularly "Nader's Raiders" are young lawyers and law students recruited by Nader to look for possible mutations for future generations.

According to the FDA of ignoring genetic effects of additives permitted on the market could lead to disaster.

"If the ingestion of certain chemicals can cause changes in the genetic structure of human beings, as now tests are now implying, this generation of Americans may be sitting on a nuclear time bomb," said the report.

Typy Waaps
LONDON (AP)—Typy waaps have been on an orgy of child stinging in Britain, a beekeeper revealed.

"Waaps," said beekeeper Nicholas Simmons, "get drunk on pollen and fly into children's faces to feed on it."

"It is when they are that they are at their most dangerous," he said. "They are attracted by flashes of light reflected in the eye and will go for a child's face in a second."

One hospital, dealing with scores of waaps attacks each week, termed 1969 "the year of the big sting."

ETV Cancels Debate By Senate Candidates

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's refusal to participate in a televised debate between the candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination has surprised many Connecticut Educational Television to cancel the debate.

Connecticut ETV Tuesday notified three other contenders of its decision, which was made last month.

A Dodd aide justified the senator's refusal by noting that U.S. Rep. John Moynihan had not been invited to participate in the debates. Moynihan entered the race after the invitations were sent out early last month.

In his letter to Connecticut ETV, Dodd said that the plan for a debate was "unacceptable" because any number of additional candidates for the Senate nomination could enter the field after the debate was held, and because no qualifications are needed for a person to declare his candidacy.

Dodd asked whether additional debates would be scheduled each time another candidate threw his hat in the ring.

"Any 2-year-old could see that this offer was downright silly," the senator said.

Although Dodd found the debate offer unacceptable, his rival, Joseph Duffey of Hartford, said he would accept the offer.

The station is not planning full-scale debates until September and October, after each of New Haven and Alphonse party has chosen its standard-bearer.

Dodd was ready with a statement from the start that his refusal became public. The statement said: "I was not at all surprised to learn that those of my opponents had already accepted this offer, because after hearing and reading what they have said about some of the major issues facing this nation, their failure to understand the folly of this offer is clearly understandable."

Dodd's refusal to debate on television is consistent with his refusal to debate Duffey, Marcus and Donahue in their respective appearances throughout the state.

The three have found themselves debating each other as they searched for delegates at Democratic gatherings.

Dodd has no objections, however, to television appearances in which he is interviewed separately. One of these interviews was recently telecast by ETV (Channel 3, Hartford), scheduled for May 24. WTRC envisioned three minutes composed of 10-second segments in which each candidate will appear separately. The candidates had not yet received their invitations.

Bolton Budget Requests Total $1.5 Million

The town budget requests for 1970-71 total $1,531,189.27, the Board of Finance disclosed last night as it met for the last time before the public hearing on April 14. This sum is all budget requests without any cuts or any revenue deducted from it.

The budget request lists will be available Monday morning in the town clerk's office. The public hearing will be Tuesday at 8 in the Community Hall.

The board also said that two items will be included in the budget for capitol—non-recurring funds. One mill for general use and half a mill apiece for the Fire Department and the Park Commission.

In answer to a letter from State Sen. Robert Houley, discussed the issue the town has incurred while waiting for the state to pay the promised one-half the cost of building and renovating the school.

Mrs. Catherine Peterson, town treasurer, reported to the board that $50,770 had been lost in payment of interest on short term notes while waiting for the grants to go through. Mrs. Peterson said there was no timetable for payment as yet. Sen. Houley has promised the towns involved that he will do his best to correct the situation in the next session of the legislature.

Selectman Richard Morro asked the board to include a new category in the election budget. The new category of $150 will be for the repair and inspection of the voting machines.

Following the public hearing the board will have about one month to complete the budget at work. It hopes to present the budget to a town meeting on May 4.

Kopechne Transcript Aired Soon

EDGEMOUNT, Mass. (AP) — The secret testimony at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car last summer may be made public within a week.

Now that the Dukes County Grand Jury has adjourned a special session called to delve into the accident, and reported Tuesday it had no findings, the way is open for releasing quickly by the inquest transcript and the report of District Court Judge James A. Boyle, who presided over the January inquiry.

In Washington, Kennedy said: "I'm happy this case seems to be coming to a close. I'm relieved as well for everyone who's involved and I hope the transcript of the inquest will be made public as soon as possible."

Kennedy drove his car off the side of a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island into a deep tidal pool last July 18. Miss Kopechne, 28, and a former secretary for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was trapped in the car and drowned.

Kennedy escaped and, after he delayed for some 10 hours in reporting the accident to police, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

He pleaded guilty a week after the crash and was sentenced to two months in jail on the charge. The sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for a year.

The night of the court arraignment, Kennedy went on national television to give his recollection of the accident and express regret for his subsequent actions.

He later testified for two hours at the inquest and upon leaving the court room told newspapermen he was "satisfied that I responded completely to all the questions asked of me both by the district attorney and the court."

Kennedy also said that when questioning was completed, he made an additional statement which he said covered "a couple of points which I thought would be useful."

The Dukes County Grand Jury wound up its two-day session when presiding Judge Wilfred J. Paquet refused to have the inquest transcript and the judge's report brought to the island for inspection of the 10 men and 10 women jurors.

The state Supreme Judicial Court, in a decision last fall on a petition by Kennedy and others who then were prospective witnesses at the inquest, ruled that it must be held in secret, that the transcript and report should be impounded until all prospect of any further criminal prosecutions was ended.

One of the conditions laid down by the court as a prerequisite for release of the papers and that a Superior Court justice could order them made public if the district attorney filed a certificate saying that there was no proposed prosecution in the case.

First Atty. Edmund Davis announced Tuesday when the grand jury adjourned that he would prepare such a certificate immediately and send it to the Suffolk County Court in Boston, where the transcript and report, along with other documents and exhibits from the inquest, are being held.

Judge Paquet has the final say on release of the documents since he is assigned currently as justice of the Suffolk County Court.

'Bash' Given For Birthday Of TurboTrain

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Happy birthday, dear sleek, snappy TurboTrain!

They were birthday cakes and five coffee for passengers aboard the Penn Central's two turbine-powered beauties today as they celebrated their first year in service.

The trains zip back and forth between Boston and New York, offering a striking contrast to its commuter trains that bump in and out of Manhattan. They make the run in three hours and 20 minutes, which is more than half an hour less than conventional trains—and they are no less more than 90 per cent of the time.

According to a survey of passengers under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Transportation, more than 90 per cent of the riders rate the TurboTrains good to excellent in comfort, cleanliness, and courtesy.

"We've been really pleased with the trains," said Penn Central vice president William H. Tucker. "While still experimenting, they are accumulating significant data on public acceptance of new types of railway rail transportation."

Miss Donna Richardson as Eliza Doolittle, the Covent Garden flower girl, chats with Prof. Henry Higgins, played by Richard Franzosa, who changes the Cockney lass into a lady accepted in the best of social circles. Completing the group are William Dombrowski as Eliza's ne'er-do-well but lovable dustman father, Alfred P.; and Ronald Hindle as Col. Pickering, whose friendship for both Eliza and Higgins places him in the middle of the developing hostility between teacher and student. Italian Tax Collectors Back On Job After 114-Day Strike

By DAVID MARABELLA Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Italy's tax collectors returned to work Monday following a 114-day strike that proved a boon for income tax evaders.

The 14,000 employees of the Finance Ministry's tax offices went back to their jobs on the last day for Italians to file their 1969 income tax returns.

The deadline usually is March 31. Because of the strike it was extended this year for the first time since Italy's present chaotic tax system went into effect 19 years ago.

Four million tax declarations awaited the 3,988 inspectors who were back at work Monday.

The work load was one reason for the strike. Part of the settlement, which included higher pay, was a promise by the Finance Ministry to hire more inspectors to lighten the load.

The strike, believed the longest ever in Italy's civil service, hit one of the most troubled and ridiculed corners of the Italian bureaucracy. Workers contend the tax system is discriminatory. While their taxes are deducted regularly from their pay envelopes, professionals and the self-employed who declare their incomes get away with paying a pittance.

The tax collectors' union reports that at least 50,000 Italians should be declaring incomes of over $20,000 a year, but only 570 do so. The union says although 22,000 citizens report they earned $5,000, about 200,000 should.

The National Statistics Institute once made a study of rising income tax returns. It concluded that Italians were the biggest takers with 44 per cent of the total tax revenue is from direct taxes. By comparison, the United States gets 81 per cent of its tax income from direct taxes. Sweden 48 per cent and Britain 39 per cent.

A government fiscal reform bill designed to make taxes more equitable and to streamline collection is to be discussed by Parliament this spring.

because only 22.5 per cent of the total tax revenue is from direct taxes. By comparison, the United States gets 81 per cent of its tax income from direct taxes. Sweden 48 per cent and Britain 39 per cent.

Options have varied regarding the question of combining the two. Some people have stated they feel as separate boards such can act as a check on the other, and others feel it would be best to intertwine the two as many other towns in the state are now doing.

It was suggested by board member James Roche that the proposed change concerning the combining of the Planning Commission and the Zoning Commission may also be controversial and therefore should probably also be listed as a separate question.

HEW 'Grudgingly' Okays Shipment of Lethal War Gas

By BOB HOVON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is going ahead with a massive transfer of lethal war gas to Okinawa, a move that has been "grudgingly" approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"Grudgingly" was the term used by one official describing HEW's clearance of the shipment plan, which has been under review by safety authorities for at least four months.

Pentagon sources say 6,000 to 10,000 tons of munitions will be transported by sea and land when the stock-GH and VX gas types as well as mustard gas—leave Okinawa in the near future.

Defense Department announcement Monday said HEW "has no recommendation to July by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird to transfer the chemical weapons back to the states to remain in the active chemical warfare inventory."

One reason for the transfer is Okinawa's reversion to Japanese control in coming months.

The July movement order also came only a few days after disclosure that 23 U.S. soldiers and an American civilian had been exposed to poisonous gas on Okinawa. No one was seriously injured but the July incident created a diplomatic problem.

The Army is proposing strict safety and security measures, including armed guards traveling with the war chemicals during movement and at various points along the shipping route.

Officers say the Army held briefings after the incident to HEW officials and others involved in the proposed shipment to explain safety measures. And hundreds of questions were answered on paper.

Still, HEW officials seemed uncertain about their role, military men said.

"They never had a problem like this before," one official said. "Finally, HEW took the position that the law does not say it has to approve the plan—just review them."

So, HEW reviewed them, and then let the plan go with practically no comment.

Washington and Oregon state agencies will be called upon now to outline their capabilities for dealing with such eventualities as possible development of a munitions freight car during shipment.

Members of Congress from Washington and Oregon will be briefed this week before any chemicals are moved, the Pentagon said.

Protected Postmen

LONDON (AP)—British postmen are to be protected against robbers this winter—by headlights.

The men will have new two-woman buses fitted to their uniforms.

It will be a case of dipped lights to read addresses and switching to main beam to pick out house numbers, door-step numbers and so on.

"They never had a problem like this before," one official said. "Finally, HEW took the position that the law does not say it has to approve the plan—just review them."

$3.85 Million Paid in Town In Sales Tax

Over $3.85 million was collected in state sales taxes in Manchester last year. The figures have been released from the State Tax Department, research division. They are based on a sales tax of 3 1/2 per cent for the first half of the year and 6 per cent during the second half.

The Tax Department said additional state grants to the towns and cities "are a must if home owners are not to be faced out of their homes by skyrocketing real estate taxes."

The Department pointed out that because of shopping done in other towns by Manchester residents and vice versa, the figures may not be truly indicative of taxable buying done by the residents of the community; but, the fact that many large shopping centers are located in Manchester and several surrounding towns follows: Manchester, $3,853,800; Andover, $15,000; Bolton, $10,000; Columbia, $63,312; Coventry, $76,831; Eastington, $126,000; Glastonbury, $80,000; Hartford, $18,000; Hallowell, $15,000; Marlborough, $58,709; Tolland, $43,778; Vernon, $1,744,423.

Probable cause was found after a hearing for Philip Rose, 26, of 41 Maplewood Ave., Storrs, charged with indecent assault. The complainant, Ruth Roberts of South St., Rockville, testified for the state. Rose is being held under $1,000 bond.

Richard Kent, 39, of 771 South St., Rockville, was bound over on a charge of risk of injury to children. A charge of indecent assault was nolle prosequi. He is free on $500 bond.

Leo Mitterschiller Jr., 25, of 14 Cedar Swamp Rd., Coventry, was fined $200 on a charge of driving under suspension, second offense.

Vernon Mitchell, 50, of Rt. 14, Tolland, was fined $50 on a charge of reckless driving substituted for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs.

Other fines levied in court yesterday included: Edward Nielsen, 18, Vernon, failure to observe state traffic control signs, $25, and operating with unsafe tires, $10, remitted; Larry H. Martin, 19, Easton Rd., Tolland, unnecessary action with a motor vehicle, $15; Diane Michael, 21, 26 Ward St., Rockville, failure to grant half the highway, $15, and Ronald Strano, 19, 10 Allan Dr., Vernon, failure to drive in correct lane, $15.

Funds for GOP Primary Appropriated by Board

The Manchester Board of Directors last night voted the funds needed for the April 16 Start program, to be financed primarily for GOP town committee members. They approved a $9,000 appropriation for the "Handicapped Divergent Work Experience Program," to be operated at Belmont Junior High School through June 30, and to be financed by an equal grant.

Board of Education — $2,100 for a similar program to August 31 in summer school, and to be financed by an equal grant.

Board of Education — $2,100 for a "Handicapped Divergent Work Experience Program," to be operated at Belmont Junior High School through June 30, and to be financed by an equal grant.

Board of Education — $2,000 for a similar program to August 31 in summer school, and to be financed by an equal grant.

Board of Education — $1,378 for a "Retarded Program for Retarded Children with Emotional Problems," for the period to August 31, and to be financed by an equal grant.

Board of Education — $3,628 for extension of a remedial program, providing teacher aides for paraplegics, and to be financed by an equal grant.

In two other financial actions last night, the board approved a $1,800 transfer to the Cemetery Account, to pay for mowing and trimming contracts; and a $250 transfer to the Social Security Account, to cover a deficit.

In the $1,800 transfer, $1,000 is from the Treasurer's Account and $800 from the Police Account. In the $250 transfer, the sum comes from the Employee Insurance Account.

The board adopted a resolution which authorizes the manager to acquire parcels needed for the Parker-Oakland connector. The resolution provides for condemnation proceedings in the event they are necessary. The town holds signed agreements from all adjoining property owners, donating the land needed for the road. However, one unincorporated property owner has yet to donate his land.

Police Log

ACCIDENTS

T. Linde Pearson, 66, of 22 Chester Dr., was issued a written warning for driving after drinking yesterday afternoon. Police said he made a right turn from Carol Dr. onto Center St., striking the left rear of a car stopped in a line of traffic. Driver of the other car was identified as David W. Barrows of 82 Linnwood Dr.

Kathleen Paudel, 17, of 77 Kennedy Rd., the driver of a car that struck a pedestrian on Vernon St. Saturday night, did not operate her vehicle properly, according to police investigators. However, following inspection of the car, she was issued a written warning for defective brakes and obscured vision. The pedestrian, William Maynes of Brookville Rd., Vernon, escaped serious injury.

More vandalism has been reported at Oxford School on Wadwell Rd. Three windows were found broken yesterday morning and the top panel of a door in the south wing was cracked. Another glass breakage incident had been reported over the weekend.

Someone lit a fire in a pile of leaves at the rear of 452 W. Middle Tpk. yesterday afternoon. The fire destroyed the front tires of two bicycles before being extinguished by a neighbor.

Experiment To Test Theory On High School Roof Leak

That hardly perennial among school maintenance problems, the high school roof, is soon to undergo a controlled experiment, following inspection of the roof and removal of some ceiling tiles by a joint committee of the Town Building Committee (TBC) and Board of Education a few weeks ago.

The theory was presented at last night's TBC meeting that water is seeping through faults in the area of the overhang. Then it is being introduced into the interior through the tube slab roof construction.

The plan is to build a dike or dam at one of the obvious faults, introduce controlled amounts of water at that point, and observe the consequences. If results bear out the theory, the committee feels it will have to be tested.

85 per cent of the leaking problem lies in the area chosen for the experiment faces E. Middle Tpk. It is also planned to repair expansion joints by the same method applied to others all over the roof, by building a watertight curbing which will permit the joints to function as intended.

Last night, Roy Conyers of the Board of Education pointed out there are definite cracks in the brick construction, caused by settling, which will have to be fixed.

Keith Moderator For GOP Primary

Atty. W. David Keith has been named chief moderator of the April 16 primary for Republican voters committee members. He will make his headquarters in Voting District 1, Wadwell School on Broad St.

GOP Registrar of Voters Fred Peck, in announcing Keith's appointment, announced also the moderators for the other voting districts.

District 2, Robertson School on N. School St.—Mary Jane Crandall.

District 3, Buckley School on Vernon St.—Beverly Malone.

District 4, Yorkland School on Ocklet St.—Atty. Paul Martz.

District 5, North Hill School on Spruce St.—Barbara Murray.

District 6, the West Side Room on Cedar St.—Beverly Malone.

District 7, Yorkland School on Ocklet St.—Atty. Paul Martz.

Atty. Keith, Mrs. Crandall, Mrs. Malone and Atty. Martz represent the Republican Town Committee, whose 86 members, endorsed March 2, are being challenged by a 77-member slate of the Republican Citizens Committee of Manchester. Bowers, Hjarns and Mrs. Murray represent the challenge group.

Peck said that the primary, estimated to cost about $6,000, will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the Elias Clark, 9 N. Park St., Rockville. Guest speakers on the program will be Mrs. Curtis and Karen Viter, seniors at Manchester High School.

Miss Cuite, an American field service student from Hornaby, Australia, is the guest of the family of Mr. and Mrs. James Kolbe of 281 Henry St. In June she will return to her home in a northern suburb of Sydney.

Book Review

ON HIS OWN: Robert F. Kennedy and Milton Eisenhower. By William Bradford Huie. Doubleday, $7.95.

Both of the authors were friends of the late Sen. Kennedy, served on his staff and joined the ranks of his political associates. They tell in this book of his bid for the presidency.

By the very nature of things, the chapters on political maneuvering are more engrossing than those which deal with Kennedy's Senate career. But the author has included, in considerable detail, RFK's political views, as well as a painstaking review of his gradually developing opinions on Vietnam.

The political races are described from a behind-the-scenes position, beginning with the 1964 election. But of course the most attention is focused on 1968, with a play-by-play account of Kennedy's swing from agonized indecision to his belated decision to run.

There also is a chapter on Kennedy and President Lyndon B. Johnson, analyzing the factors which made it more or less inevitable that the two men could not get along. The authors do not attempt to place any blame for this situation but treat it as an unfortunate development for both men.

The book contains a good many passages on RFK's personality, his beliefs, the causes he championed and the way his mind worked.

The authors obviously admired RFK a great deal, but they do not go so far as to picture him as flawless. They have performed a service by looking at length their observations of the many facets of Kennedy's last four years. Future biographers will have to take this work into account.

Miles A. Smith

THE FARM BOY AND THE ANGEL: By Carl Carmer. Doubleday, $6.95.

Historian, poet, novelist and anthropologist Carmer offers in this book a review for the general reader of the whole story of the Mormon church (formally known as the Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints).

Carmer, as an experienced chronicler, is careful to remain as objective as possible. A non-Mormon (or Gentle, as the Mormons would say) he said he was visited by the angel Moroni and eventually was given a set of golden plates which he translated into the Book of Mormon. Carmer has explored carefully the strange background of the period and place.

There also is a documented account of the Mormon migration to Nauvoo, Ill., the general opposition of nearby residents, and the murder of Joseph Smith by a mob, followed by the story of the Mormons' long trek to Utah under the leadership of Brigham Young. The author examines the Mormon principle of plural wives, later abandoned; the economic power of the church and its missionary efforts.

Carmer's account is much more illuminating about prophet Joseph Smith than it is about Brigham Young, for many long years the Mormon leader, or the church's later years.

Of course this is not, nor is it intended to be, a definitive study of the Mormon story. It is a summary for the general reader, prepared by an experienced writer who communicates well.

After Oil Spill: Beach Takes On the Look Of Coalfields

ARICHAET, N.S. (AP) — The tanker Arrow, which went aground and broke in two in early February, has left a permanent calling card on a hundred or more miles of shoreline in Chedoke Bay.

The shore has been blackened between the low and high-tide marks. Seen from a distance, rocks along the shore look like coal.

Oil on the rocky beaches is expected to harden into a rock-like coating.

"The oil that is on the beach, the cliff edges, is there to stay," says Dr. P. D. McTeggart-Cowan of Canada's National Science Council.

He adds that effects on marine life in this area are not all in, but "the lobsters are all well and healthy."

Marine biologists with diving gear have found that the oil does not extend below the low-tide mark.

The oil aboard the Arrow was of the bunker C type, and this turns to a sticky emulsion in the bay's cold water. More than two million gallons spilled into the bay. About 80,000 gallons have been pumped from the sunken wreck, and an equal amount is still to be pumped up. The Transport Department expects the job to be finished in two weeks.

The most successful cleanup device tested so far is mechanical, basically a conveyor belt with toweling attached. The towels sweep oil up from the water's surface and the globules and oil fall off at the top into a barge. The machine can be used only on water. To be really successful, a spill must be reached before it spreads to the beaches.

Dr. Harold Bletcher of Ottawa, vice chairman of the Defense Research Board and one of several scientists studying the Arrow spill, said the canvas conveyor can fill a 40-gallon drum in about a minute. One machine is in operation and two more are to be built.

Lone Man in Supermarket Learns It's No Man's Land

By HAL BOYER

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the little ordeals for a lone man in a supermarket is to find a woman who is likely to reply in stentorian tones.

"Are you trying to get fresh with me, young man? I've a good mind to slap your face. It's getting so a girl can't say anywhere anymore."

If he needs for the nearest checkout counter, half a dozen women elbow him out of the way. They show him no mercy, they yield him no quarter.

But their chief educational weapon in reducing him to a quivering jelly is the wire pushcart. After he has gone less than 50 feet into the store he feels like a squirrel on a thimble during the rush hour.

They hold to the exact center of the roadway and crowd him head on, sending half of his own groceries flying. They lean in and elbow him on the turns. They smash into him from behind every time he pauses to select an item.

They elbow him, harry him, stare at him, glare at him, and every time he opens his mouth to apologize, they hawl him out there. When he finally limps out, he finds he's bleeding from half a dozen puncture cuts and his legs are bruised from ankles to knees.

"I spent two years in the insane asylum, but I never saw a battlefield quite like that," said one man, recalling his first visit to a supermarket. "I kept looking for a foxhole to hide in, but there wasn't any. I would have surrendered, but the women shoppers in that store didn't seem to want to take any male prisoners alive."

A man is fairly safe if he accompanies his wife to the supermarket—the other ladies recognize him by a feminine hand and he turns to meet the smiling alone ought to get a combat medal for each trip he makes. And a government disability pension if he loses a full year.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — On an individual effort to handle his own investment portfolio in these days of depressed markets, economic impediments and a rather cool reception from the financially distressed brokerage fraternity?

This is one of the most fundamental issues affecting the multimillion-dollar securities market as a whole, and the role actively they account of the 26 million stockholders who place their faith and funds in American corporations.

Some institutions, mainly mutual funds, have in recent years promoted and publicized the notion that the ordinary small investor of a few thousand dollars can hold his own in a market place of professionals.

Little question about it: They do have a point. Small investors caught in the whirling of professional institutions during stock market declines, which consist mainly of a sudden diminishment of assets.

The small investor doesn't have the time, the intelligence, the knowledge, the research, the know-how to handle his own account, according to the investment pros. Best that he give his money to a fund for professional management.

Now one of the largest distributors of funds, Vance, Sanders & Co., offers what it suggests is documented evidence that the ordinary investor cannot afford to handle his portfolio in terms of cost either.

Its promotional literature states: "Anybody who thinks he can save money by supplying his own investment expertise, rather than delegating the job to professionals in a management, might do a little informal cost analysis."

An hour a day, it states, would seem to be a reasonable amount of time to devote to portfolio supervision. Next it calculates that the one hour he takes from the regular eight-hour business day.

This would mean, according to Vance, Sanders reasoning, that 12.5 per cent of a person's working day would be devoted to supervision of the investment program and that, therefore, the true cost would be 12.5 per cent of salary.

For a person with a $10,000 income, therefore, this mutual fund distributor maintains that the cost is $1,250 a year. For a $30,000-a-year worker, the equivalent cost would be $3,750.

The curious thing about this reasoning is that it assumes the time spent in handling the account should be written off as time expended rather than as time invested. Does any self-employed man, such as a plumber, deduct a per hour service fee from his own salary? No. Apply the reasoning to the time spent on grocery shopping middle.

Seasoning Town

MAGNOLIA, Ky. (AP) — This community isn't very large but it has more than its share of time-pressed men. A family named Salt lives at one end of town, while the Peppers live at the other end and the Lemonis in the time spent on grocery shopping middle.

Thai Court Sentences GI to Death

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Thai court today sentenced an American Air Force sergeant to death for the murder of his 16-month-old adopted Thai daughter.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Sgt. Eugene M. Walker, 34, of Florida, was the first American known to be executed in Thailand for a crime committed in Thailand.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Walker's lawyer had appealed the sentence to a higher court.

Walker was attached to the 42nd U.S. Air Force dispensary at Udorn airbase.

He was found guilty in Udorn provincial court of first degree murder. The death sentence in Thailand is usually carried out by firing squad.

Walker was arrested by Thai police on Jan. 1969, in his rented house in Udorn after the mutilated body of the child was found in a room in the house.

The child was described as the daughter of an American GI and a Thai woman. Walker had adopted the child in August 1968. Walker was held in Thai custody and the trial began Oct. 9, 1969.

The Embassy spokesman said that, since no status of force agreement exists between Thailand and the United States, Walker had to stand trial in a Thai court.

A staff officer of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff's office attended the hearing along with the U.S. consul in Udorn and a U.S. sergeant, the Embassy spokesman said, adjoining the big Thai-U.S. airbase in northeast Thailand near the Laotian border.

The Thai court ordered Walker held without bail pending the appeal.

Shortly after he was charged, Walker was brought to Bangkok for psychiatric examination. The results of the examination were not brought out in court. The Thai defense counsel was believed to be reserving the medical report for the appeal.

The Udorn courtroom was packed for Monday's sentencing.

The last person to be executed by firing squad in Thailand was in 1967. Numerous death sentences have been passed since that time, but they were commuted because the offenders confessed to the crime in appeals to higher courts, a customary procedure in Thailand.

Three Indicted In Fraud File Innocent Plea

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Three New York men charged with using Hartford paper and drug company to defraud eight other companies in a $500,000 fraud in U.S. District Court.

Pleading innocent to the fraud charges, the men were Judge T. Emmet Clarke were Neil Broderick of Brooklyn, N.Y., Irving Coleman of Brooklyn, N.Y., and James DiPalco, 44, of Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Also charged in the case but not scheduled to appear in federal court until April 30 were George Lapadula and Irving Galt, both of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The indictment charges that the men were part of a "scheme" to create credit with the other companies in stock purchases, then to sell out and collect on the merchandise but for the other businesses could collect the money due.

U.S. Atty. F. Mac Buckley said that five men bought the Williams-Kate Co. in 1967 and used the firm's past "good" reputation to their advantage. He also charged that the five men forced the company's customers to pay off quickly by attaching their property to the debt.

Houk Satisfied with Performance of Yankees

RSox Win First for Kasko

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Kasko's managerial debut was a success and he "felt pretty good," Ralph Houk was quoted as saying today. Houk, Yankees manager, said he was "pleased with the performance of the team."

Kasko, the respected former major league infielder, took over the Yankees before a Yankee season opener Tuesday with a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Houk, who has managed the Yankees since 1963, was quoted as saying he was "pleased with the performance of the team."
