

Six More File Damage Claims Against Town

The Manchester town council's office is investigating six more damage notices, all stemming from alleged misdeeds on town streets, to determine liability.

Town Counsel John Shas said that previous damage claims are not guaranteed automatic payments, and that the money paid out by the town varies greatly from that claimed.

Donald F. Mordavsky of 20 Sherwood Circle, and John D. Hickey of 21 Sherwood Circle, in notices filed in the town clerk's office, both claim that they hit potholes in the vicinity of N. Main St. and Tolland Tpk., both on April 1.

Mordavsky states that the front end of his car was thrown out of alignment. He seeks reimbursement but does not name a monetary figure.

Hickey is seeking $29.58 for a new tire and $8 for road service. He states that the tire went flat, damaged beyond repair, after he drove 20 miles, and from Hartford.

William J. Carter of Vernon seeks $147.00, to pay for repairs to the left front fender and left rocker arm of his 1964 car. He stated by his wife March 21 on Wells St., dropped into a culvert, with the result of damage.

Mrs. Joseph J. Lucas, also of Vernon, has presented an $81.46 invoice for parts, $46.50 for labor and $1.06 tax. She claims that her car was damaged when it hit a pothole March 31 on N. Main St.

Ryan Knowles of 197 Maple St. has asked the town to make some kind of an adjustment on a $60.00 bill he paid for two damaged tires and front wheel alignment. Knowles claims the damage was caused March 27, when his car hit a pothole on Regent St. He submitted bills of $6.00 for the alignment and $60.00 for the tires.

John Juselle of 319 Charter Oak St. is seeking a $29.42 reimbursement of $42.50 for a new tire, $14 for a rim and $2.00 sales tax. He claims that his car, while being driven March 21 by his wife, hit a pothole on Hartford Rd., and that the mishap ruined the tire and rim.

Five of the six who filed the claims stated that they were instructed to do so by town employees, following verbal complaints.

Etlinger Named To College Post

Jay M. Etlinger of Norwich, former Manchester controller and former director of administration for the Town of Vernon, has been appointed chairman of the New Haven College Board of Public Administration, School of Business Administration. He had been assistant professor of Political Science at the college.

Etlinger was Manchester controller from August 1969 to February 1969. Before then he was city manager of Norwich and before then was assistant borough manager of Fairwinds.

He left Manchester to become director of finance in Milford. In August 1968, he was named Vernon's director of administration and served in that position until December 1967. In addition to teaching at New Haven College, he taught at UConn's Institute of Public Service for 12 years, on a part-time basis.

Court Cases

A probable cause hearing for David Hildebrand, 21, of 129 Birch St., ended shortly after it got under way yesterday when the state produced a witness to testify against the defendant.

Hildebrand then waived hearing and Judge Bill Craner ordered him bound over to the next criminal session of Hartford County Superior Court under a $1,000 bond.

Hildebrand is facing counts of breaking and entering with criminal intent and larceny over $200, in connection with a hold until the October 20 at Regal Men's Store on Main St.

Countdown Goes Smoothly For Riskiest Lunar Landing

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The countdown proceeded smoothly today as the Apollo 13 astronauts prepared for man's riskiest lunar landing expedition, a search for clues to the origin of the moon and solar system in rugged ancient highlands.

Swigert entered a seat on the mission Friday, less than 24 hours before scheduled lift off, after a remarkable and unprecedented brief medical examination and search for clues to the origin of the moon and solar system in rugged ancient highlands.

James A. Lovell Jr., 42; Fred W. Haise Jr., 34, and late replacement John L. Swigert Jr., 38, awakened at 4:28 a.m. and received the good news that everything was on schedule for the journey away from their home planet.

Swigert entered a seat on the mission Friday, less than 24 hours before scheduled lift off, after a remarkable and unprecedented brief medical examination and search for clues to the origin of the moon and solar system in rugged ancient highlands.

Five miles from the crew quarters, the launch crew pumped thousands of gallons of supercold liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen into the Saturn 5 rocket that was to blast off at 2:13 p.m. EDT.

The astronauts had slept about eight hours. They underwent a brief medical examination and sat down to the traditional launch day breakfast of steak, eggs, toast, coffee and orange juice.

Doctors reported all three in "top shape" for the mission. The disappointed Mattingly did not stay at Cape Kennedy for the launching. He flew to his home near Houston's Manned Spacecraft Center Friday night.

The weatherman forecast cloudy but satisfactory conditions for the planned launch time. The target for man's third lunar mission is the mountainous Fra Mauro region where the astronauts hope to find rocks dating perhaps five billion years to the beginning of the moon.

In the most difficult space maneuver ever attempted, Lovell and Haise are to steer their lunar lander toward a precision touchdown in a narrow valley surrounded by high hills, ridges, craters and rocks as big as automobiles.

The countdown for America's third moon-landing expedition proceeded because Swigert proved in a crash two-day trial that he could move from the Apollo 13 backup team to the first team.

The decision to fly Swigert was made less than 24 hours before the scheduled launching. If Swigert hadn't made it, the launching would have been postponed until May 9 at a cost of at least $800,000.

He got his chance when another backup astronaut, Charles Duke, exposed the prime crewmen, Lovell, Haise and Thomas Mattingly.

Apollo 13 Timetable Highlights

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Here is a timetable of the highlights of the Apollo 13 mission: (Time Eastern Standard)

2:13 p.m.—Launch 4:48 p.m.—Fire out of earth orbit, on route moon. 6:13 p.m.—Pull lunar module from third stage, join it nose-to-nose with command ship.

Tuesday 7:38 p.m.—Fire engine to go into lunar orbit, 60 x 105 miles above surface. 7:59 p.m.—Third stage boosters cranked on moon. 11:08 p.m.—Go into lower orbit, 60 x 83 miles.

Wednesday 5:29 p.m.—Two vehicles separate, James A. Lovell Jr. and Fred W. Haise in lunar lander, now named Aquarius; John L. Swigert Jr. remains in mother ship, now known as Odyssey. 9:55 p.m.—Aquarius lands on moon in Fra Mauro highlands.

Thursday 2:23 a.m.—Lovell, then Haise, and Swigert make any comments, Slayton was asked. "Did he make any comments?" Slayton retorted incredulously. "Yes, but you wouldn't want to write any of them down."

History doesn't record such an event. "As in all cases of this sort we are periodically tuned up for fight or flight as they sleep through the night. It is a perpetual activation of the nervous system to keep an animal that is attacked by a predator.

An impressive argument for this kind of explanation comes from Snyder's own studies with the opossum, a "living fossil" who sleeps as much as 65 percent of the time, a third of that in REM sleep.

"The opossum," Snyder has explained in a scientific paper, "is our witness that this extraordinary periodic central nervous system activation in the midst of sleep came to full flower at an early stage of mammalian evolution."

If REM was invented by nature as a defensive mechanism, one might expect, then, to see more of it among primitive peoples who have not lived through centuries of safety.

Research on sleep has grown from almost nothing 15 years ago to the point where some $2,000,000 a year is being poured in federal grants in an effort to understand it.

Many of the most basic questions are yet to be answered. Scientists still debate whether REM is deep sleep or light sleep. Snyder is of the view it is different enough from both waking and sleep to be considered a third state of existence.

Only a few years ago, scientists believed we had to have REM with its accompanying dreams every night to stay mentally intact. But now, many studies have shown man can be deprived of REM without going berserk. That has not changed the view that there is great importance to these periods when the eyes move rapidly, the heart rate slows, and the brain waves suddenly start to look as though we are wide awake and excited.

Unless there was a fundamental biological reason for these strange interludes, then undoubtedly REM would not appear in all mammals from man down to the primitive opossum.

But without knowing many of the intriguing details about the phenomenon of sleep, scientists have put together empirical evidence that there is a connection between REM and the Apollo flight.

It's there! It's that time again. Speaking of food, don't forget that Monday noon we are serving sandwiches, dessert, and beverages for 40 cents. You can eat them here or take them home with you. This week we're having a special feature, home-made cookies, and a beverage.

Speaking of Wednesday for our arts and crafts, we are going to learn something about chair caning. We're fortunate to have Mrs. Allen Pike, who is well known for her hand on this program.

On behalf of Georgina, Mary, and myself, we wholeheartedly want to thank everyone who volunteered to help us on Wednesday morning.

With the monies collected, we hope to purchase equipment and materials for the Center. We're planning to take a bus load next week to the Senior Center before going to the Senior Center before going to the Senior Center.

It's hard to realize that baseball is already here, and that means we'll be making plans about our recent "Senior Women's" trip to the Senior Center.

There is, unfortunately, an affinity between those who believe in whatever police shooting may be necessary in the streets of Hartford and those who believe that Governor Kirk is entitled to do anything he can, including defying the law itself, in his battle to avoid forced integration of Florida's schools.

To be consistent in our "law and order" principles we would have to be in favor of sending armed police down to corner and perhaps shoot it out with Governor Kirk, and if, in such an encounter, he were hit and wounded, we would have to say that the way for him to have avoided the bullets of the law would have been for him not to be violating the law in the first place.

That kind of consistency is not within the emotional reach of some of us who proclaim ourselves to be "law and order" people. There are always some of us who, in our instinctive feelings and loyalties, put Governor Kirk, the Florida law-breaker, and the Northern police officer who shoots on equal terms, almost as if they were on the same side of the law. But if there is any law both can be on the same side of, it is not a law on the books.

Keep The Fathom

One of the consequences of Britain's progress into the metric system of measurements is going to be the abandonment of the fathom, and this is going to cause more regret than the prospective disappearance of the measurements leading up to a fathom, which are the foot and the yard.

Not only does the word fathom sound more melodic and meaningful than foot or yard, but its origins are somewhat more appealingly picturesque. The model for the foot in measurement was the human foot, and the model for the yard was the length of goods a tailor might stretch down his arm but a fathom was, when it first came into use, the length to which one's arms would open when they were about to entold and enclose an old friend. Then sailors sounding for depth began treating the length of line between their horizontally outstretched hands as their unit of measurement. In its final fruitfulness, the word defined that kind of human comprehension which not only surrounds and embraces a subject but also plunges it to its greatest depths of meaning.

And what is Britain going to get, in however the case of the fathom?

Merely some two and a fraction meters, a meter being, if anybody could ever really care or feel stirred by the knowledge of its derivation, one ten-millionth of the distance on the earth's surface from the pole to the equator.

The one is a rich and warm and meaningful word, resonant of the human usage from which it rose and continually enriching the world; and the meter is chill and austere and very properly and forbiddingly scientific.

Could a Shakespeare, or a sailor, ever really make do, in the midst of a tempest, with a mere scientific calculation?

Liberal Hypocrisy Wins Again

The Senate rejection of Judge G. Harold Carwell as the second Nixon nominee, a decision which he followed up on this side which excused him and Attorney General Mitchell of all responsibility for the calibre of the nominees was a decision of twisted vengeance. When he announced that he would not name another judge from the South he was being unfair to the South in order to be unfair to those members of his own party who, in obvious personal eagerness of conscience, had ended up voting against his nominees.

For the first time in the White House the "new Nixon" image had faded back, for an instant, and an angry and ill-founded bitterness had been revealed. One is sorry, and one begins to wonder whether it is possible, once in the Presidency, to feel that one may have made a mistake.

Being for "Law and Order"

There is, in the news, a wide open trap waiting to test the sincerity of all of those who profess to be "law and order" people.

How do we react to the actions of Governor Claude Kirk of Florida?

Do we approve of what he is doing in his effort to fight off the integration-oriented busting of school children in his state?

The catch in this question is that if we approve of what Governor Kirk is doing, we also approve what, deliberate violation of the due process of law and order. He defies and disobeys a legitimate court decision.

Why should any of us be caught in this trap? The answer is that some of us "law and order" people really mean just our kind of law and order, and that the kind of law and order which appeals to us most is likely to be that kind of law and order which makes sure that certain segments of the population behave themselves properly.

Mission to an Asteroid

By DR. I. M. LEVITT

The Felix Planartrion

The two-year setback of the Mars Viking Project to 1975 plus the deep space in space funds may postpone the manned landing on Mars until the late 1980s. Until that time, the only celestial body on which astronauts can land is the moon. However, it is conceivable that in the late 1970s we might undertake an expedition to an asteroid and, thus, travel much farther into space than the moon, but not as far as the planets.

The one is a rich and warm and meaningful word, resonant of the human usage from which it rose and continually enriching the world; and the meter is chill and austere and very properly and forbiddingly scientific.

Could a Shakespeare, or a sailor, ever really make do, in the midst of a tempest, with a mere scientific calculation?

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

In Connecticut, there is, in New York State, an amazing situation in New York State and that here in Connecticut are too conspicuous to be passed over. In New York State, the Democrats have just held their counterpart to the state convention. Connecticut Democrats will be holding in June, in New York it is called a meeting of the Democratic State Committee. It would normally be expected to reflect the powerful wishes of the party bosses. The ticket selections are subject to challenge in subsequent primary similar to that possible in Connecticut.

When the New York State Committee finished selecting its state ticket the other day, it had violated every routine law in the political book. Instead of presenting the usual League of Nations balanced ticket, which would have included someone to appeal to the Jewish vote, somebody to appeal to the Irish vote, somebody to appeal to the Italian vote, somebody to appeal to the Negro vote, the gathering at Grosinger's had forgotten all about the Irish and the Italian, and appealed to the Catholic vote only through the fact that the Negro it selected as one of its candidates happened to be a Catholic.

In addition to such a grotesque violation of the standard ethnic laws for making up a state ticket, the New York ticket selected as one of its candidates happened to be a Catholic.

The explanation for all this was manifestly simple. The ticket was chosen by a group of men who were not too anxious to give up a standard of traditional rules weren't running the show in New York. The situation defied so many ambitions it slipped out of their control. A full-dressed astronaut, complete with spacesuit and backpack, will weigh less than a walnut. If he jumps up, he will rise hundreds of feet and then slowly fall back to the surface — it will take about 10 minutes to complete the jump. If a 10-ton spacecraft turns over, the astronauts can easily right it, for on the asteroid the spacecraft will weigh but a few pounds.

If a manned landing on an asteroid happens to be too costly in this era of meager space funds, an unmanned landing might be undertaken in much the same manner as the early unmanned moon landings. The spacecraft could collect and return samples to earth. This is conceivable since the Soviet Union was credited with an attempt to land one of its spacecraft on the moon and return samples in July 1969, to date the edge of the spectacular achievement of the Apollo 11. The technology to perform this task is well within our competence.

There is still another possibility. It may be possible to capture a small asteroid and bring it back to the earth. In 1965 I proposed using an asteroid as a celestial Noah's Ark to transport a colony to the stars. The proposal was to bring an asteroid into lunar orbit and there follow it out and introduce the colony to the stars.

Because of numerous collisions, some of these asteroids have had their orbits radically altered and several come quite close to the earth. Whenever one does come close, as did Icarus in June 1968, scare headlines become commonplace.

The most significant feature will be its use as a distant and temporary base before astronauts begin their longer journeys to the planets.

While an unmanned spacecraft could retrieve some asteroid material for transfer to the earth, the capture of an asteroid and its change of orbit to bring it close to the earth could not be conceived without undertaking this difficult mission.

The asteroid chosen must be one that moves in close to the earth so that the energy requirements for the rendezvous are not too excessive. It will also be helpful to choose a small asteroid, again to alleviate the energy requirements.

If a landing is attempted on a small asteroid, the astronaut will be treated to a weird, earthy set of conditions. A full-are graduates of Harvard University and its law school. Blackman has been a judge since 1952, while Cignoux was his initial one in 1957 and the second degree magna cum laude in 1967.

Both Republicans were named to the federal bench during the Eisenhower administration.

Cignoux, who has sat on many federal courts around the country, was one of the judges chosen recently to draw up a new code of judicial ethics for the American Bar Association.

Meanwhile the top Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee has announced his support for the nomination of Cignoux to replace the late Judge Charles W. Clark.

He said this would be "missing out an appointing power" and also would be impracticable.

"Who would you do it with?" he asked.

Several GOP senators suggested after the rejection of Judge Clark that Cignoux be nominated Wednesday that Nixon should consult with them before he submits another name.

Nixon announced Thursday he would turn to a judge from the other section of the country for his third choice. The Senate voted down his choice of Carwell, 51 to 45.

Nixon stirred up a political storm in the Senate by announcing that, as now constituted, he had concluded it would not confirm a judge from the South who is a strict constructionist.

Senators in both parties hotly denied his charge of regional discrimination in the nomination of Judge Carwell, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., of Greenville, S.C.

Two resolutions challenging the regional discrimination charge were introduced in the Senate Friday. They were referred to the Judiciary Committee, where they are expected to die.

The first, offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who voted against Carwell's and Haynsworth's nominations, declared the President's statement was "an assault on the integrity of the Senate."

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., introduced with other votes the nomination of a resolution to put the Senate vote on Carwell as proposed to confirm a qualified nominee from any section of the country.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Carwell was defeated because the Senate received the worst news job of any legislative body in history."

called a lockout against 55,000 union drivers in the Chicago area. The possibility of a general strike Monday in a number of cities is being discussed by the national trucking industry and the contractors union.

Strikes by union locals disaffiliated with terms of a tentative national contract already have tied up trucking operations in several cities and left thousands of persons out of work.

Scattered incidents of violence were reported Friday in parts of the East and the Midwest.

The Chicago lockout, called by five trucking company associations, appeared only partially effective. The associations used the lockout tactic to counter selective strikes against individual companies. The lockout contract signings, by the unions.

A sixth trucking association is planning to join the lockout over the next three hours and the national contract.

Teacher Local 705 and 710 and the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers signed contracts with three supermarket chains Friday—Jewel, Jewel Food, and Jewel Food.

Exalted Ruler Dance Group Really Great

Alfred M. Ritter of 45 Chester Rd. last night was installed as exalted ruler of Manchester Lodge of Elks, in ceremonies at the Elks Home on Hill St. He succeeds Rero P. Corna.

Frank Burgess, past exalted ruler of the New London Lodge of Elks, was the installing officer.

Other elected officers included Robert Kierman, exalted leader knight; John Robert O'Connell, exalted leader; Donald Ziemak, exalted leader; William Legault, exalted leader; William Legault, exalted leader; William Legault, exalted leader.

The modern dance group of the Hartford Ballet Company presented an evening of dance in the contemporary idiom before a large audience at the Millard Auditorium on the U. of H. campus last night. The whole production was under the direction of Ethel Lynn, a Manchester girl who displayed a thorough professional approach and understanding of the art.

Two of the offerings had been on view in previous years, while two of them, both choreographed by Miss Lynn, were new to the group. The first time they were seen for the first time anywhere. "Nowhere A Go Go" was a new piece, and "The Fall" was updated to include present day popular rock numbers.

There were fourteen new pieces which were presented some of them in a new setting.

Mr. Albro's choreography is still a most vital and trenchant presentation of the human condition. He graduated from the Hartford public school system, and during World War II saw service with the Army in five major campaigns in the European Theater of Operations with the Manchester Police Force 1003 and is now assigned as records officer.

One spokesman said the $1.66 figure, if applied nationally, would be one of the most expensive for a device—two to three times the cost of the national to handle in its big cities.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce appealed to the international Teamsters leadership to stop a strike which would go on there for 10 days. The walkout has brought trucking operations to a standstill in the St. Louis area and caused business and industry shut-down in the area.

Detroit Teamster leaders asked that support for the strike in Charlotte and Greensboro, N.C., Friday, but four major trucking companies in the St. Louis area and caused business and industry shut-down in the area.

Chrysler spokesman said the 11,000 workers at the Chrysler plant in Windsor, Mich., were not affected by the strike.

He said this would be "missing out an appointing power" and also would be impracticable.

"Who would you do it with?" he asked.

Nixon announced Thursday he would turn to a judge from the other section of the country for his third choice. The Senate voted down his choice of Carwell, 51 to 45.

Nixon stirred up a political storm in the Senate by announcing that, as now constituted, he had concluded it would not confirm a judge from the South who is a strict constructionist.

Senators in both parties hotly denied his charge of regional discrimination in the nomination of Judge Carwell, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., of Greenville, S.C.

Two resolutions challenging the regional discrimination charge were introduced in the Senate Friday. They were referred to the Judiciary Committee, where they are expected to die.

The first, offered by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who voted against Carwell's and Haynsworth's nominations, declared the President's statement was "an assault on the integrity of the Senate."

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., introduced with other votes the nomination of a resolution to put the Senate vote on Carwell as proposed to confirm a qualified nominee from any section of the country.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Carwell was defeated because the Senate received the worst news job of any legislative body in history."

Teacher Strikes Affect Three States

called a lockout against 55,000 union drivers in the Chicago area. The possibility of a general strike Monday in a number of cities is being discussed by the national trucking industry and the contractors union.

Strikes by union locals disaffiliated with terms of a tentative national contract already have tied up trucking operations in several cities and left thousands of persons out of work.

Scattered incidents of violence were reported Friday in parts of the East and the Midwest.

The Chicago lockout, called by five trucking company associations, appeared only partially effective. The associations used the lockout tactic to counter selective strikes against individual companies. The lockout contract signings, by the unions.

A sixth trucking association is planning to join the lockout over the next three hours and the national contract.

Teacher Local 705 and 710 and the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers signed contracts with three supermarket chains Friday—Jewel, Jewel Food, and Jewel Food.

Union spokesmen said they will close down on Friday with other major chains by Monday. The unions said late Friday they will close down on Friday with other major chains by Monday.

National representatives of both Republicans and Democrats were named to the federal bench during the Eisenhower administration.

Cignoux, who has sat on many federal courts around the country, was one of the judges chosen recently to draw up a new code of judicial ethics for the American Bar Association.

Meanwhile the top Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee has announced his support for the nomination of Cignoux to replace the late Judge Charles W. Clark.

He said this would be "missing out an appointing power" and also would be impracticable.

"Who would you do it with?" he asked.

Several GOP senators suggested after the rejection of Judge Clark that Cignoux be nominated Wednesday that Nixon should consult with them before he submits another name.

Mrs. Pardue Arrested In Escape Plot

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—The wife of John R. Pardue, who is awaiting trial in the Feb. 18 bank robbery and bombings in Danbury, has been arrested in connection with an alleged plot to smuggle a gun to her husband in jail.

Mrs. Pardue, 24, her husband and another inmate of the State Correctional Center are charged with conspiring to smuggle a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver to her husband in jail.

Authorities apparently became suspicious of Mrs. Pardue's activities in the prison and an attempt to slip a gun to her husband was discovered.

Mrs. Pardue is accused of her husband's robbery of the Danbury Savings Bank in Danbury, which was held up on Feb. 18, 1968.

Wallace is charged with first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of a part-time driver in Bridgeport last December.

Mrs. Pardue was arrested later Friday before U.S. Commissioner George Gaden and a $50,000 bond.

Just Plain Case of Robbery

"We wuz robbed" has been a familiar and well-known saying attributed to coaches and followers of athletic teams for years, many of the chants directed at game officials. The above was on the lips of the coach of Manchester when Leo Schultz drove his car to Manchester State to attend his first meeting as a member of the Board of Approved Base-ball Umpires.

Lawrence Welk, Get Thee to North Dakota

By LAWRENCE LAURENT
The Washington Post

CHICAGO — Give Lawrence Welk just one more year on network television. And put down Ed Sullivan for the same sentence.

This is part of the annual forecast made this week by Herb Jacobs, the television industry's most honored prophet. Jacobs has been battling well over 900 in the annual "new season" forecasts he began seven years ago. His success has been good enough for him to expand his TV Stations Inc. Consulting business into a new, bigger company called Tel Com Inc.

Welk and Sullivan will have to go after the 1970-71 season because of the television's new emphasis on programs that appeal to persons under the age of 50. This is the emphasis that led CBS' TV to cancel both "The Jackie Gleason Show" and "The Red Skelton Hour."

The reason Jacobs thinks that Welk is heading out of television is that "enough of his audience have gone to their maker. And its safe to bet, after next season, he'll be back in North Dakota giving polka lessons."

Jacobs predicted a similar fate for Sullivan, whose Sunday night variety show has been a CBS staple for 22 seasons. Jacobs says Sullivan will "continue to lose steam, in audience readings. And I might add that it should be his last year in line with CBS' TV's announced face-lifting policy."

In the Jacobs forecast, NBC will be in first place next January when the TV networks retool for the annual "second season." He says that NBC will have average prime time ratings of 20, followed by CBS' with 18.8 and ABC's 17.2.

In Jacobs' view the most certain hit of next season will be "The Andy Griffith Show" on CBS. Andy is returning, not as the sheriff of Mayberry, but as the head of a co-educational prep school.

Jacobs' forecast is done each year at a breakfast attended by about 300 persons. Attendance is by invitation and the tickets are a prized item, not only because of Jacobs' track record but also because of the crackling one-liners that accompany the predictions.

For example, "...the non-violence kick makes most of the TV schedule seem like benign neglect."

And, "for years 'Lassie' has been lousing up actuary tables that tell us people live longer than dogs."

About ABC-TV's "The Young Rebels" Jacobs said: "(This is actually a 200-year-old version of 'Mod-Squad' that maintains the same racial and sexual balance. The setting is the Revolutionary War, so you may expect teen-age patriots to dump tea instead of pot; harass the British instead of draft boards; use an equal amount of soap and need haircuts; and, appropriately enough, 'Yankee Doodle' is the name of its leader and theme songs."

Jacobs looked at the CBS-TV decision to build a one-hour variety show around comedian Tim Conway and had these comments:

"Conway is direct from his two recent triumphs, 'Sheriff Who?' and 'The Tim Conway Show' (both major failures) which once again proves the old network axiom—if bad is good, worse must be better."

All networks get lumps equally. Of ABC-TV's new "Silent Force," Jacobs commented that the title is apt "because it may never be heard from again." He explained: "This new cops and robbers opus stars Ed Nelson, whom many of you have wanted to forget as the doctor in 'Peyton Place.'"

Jacobs has already seen one episode of "Silent Force" and he said, "The show itself appears to be spliced outtakes from 'Boston Blackie' and 'Martin Kane.'"

If some stations are wondering how to counter ABC-TV's Monday night pro football telecasts, Jacobs has an answer: "Being sympathetic toward husbands, we're suggesting a form of public service—like 'Divorce Court.'"

One of Jacobs' most astringent comments was reserved for the decision to beef up "To Rome With Love" by adding Walter Brennan to the cast. "But don't cheer yet. Our usually reliable overseas contact reports that the show will now be so messed up, even the Mafia is refusing to organize it."

Jacobs sees success for the new "Flip Wilson Show" and an early cancellation for "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." He expects "Dial Hot Line" to be a disaster because "the material is heavy, depressing and mirrors that part of our society that everyone would care to forget—especially in their living rooms."

Feature motion picture, he indicated, will continue to dominate network ratings.

Are TV Ads Unfair to Women?

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a minority of women in this country who would like to slap a sticker onto every television set saying: "This commercial unfair to women."

The ladies of the women's liberation movement are incensed about commercials that extol the virtues of housewifery or cast them as sex symbols.

Donna Keck, writing in "Women, a Journal of Liberation," says, "The dual image of women is projected by television ads. The 'housewife-drudge' is urged to buy detergent, floor wax, furniture polish, food products and other items to make household tasks easier.

"The 'sexmate' on the other hand needs feminine deodorant soap and spray, hair coloring, cosmetics, padded bras and girdles."

Miss Keck's conclusion is that the whole thing is designed to keep women in an inferior position—and to entice them into buying more products.

Some of the commercials are glaringly inane. Even a male is aware that women don't stand around admiring a whiter wash and that there is more to finding happiness than using the mouth-wash for lovers.

Incidentally, many commercials have become quite hip, setting standards for the movies and the rest of television. But the detergent commercials still plod along as they did 20 years ago.

One commercial these women say is antifeminine is that for Silva Thin cigarettes. The guy is always grabbing his cigarette package away from an admiring girl and shoving her into a cabic car or a taxi. Once he dumped her out in the middle of nowhere.

Admitted one advertising representative: "I think that would upset me if I were a lady. It's not at all chivalrous."

Lately, however, the guy has shown a little manners.

When I first saw the new commercial for Tab without cyclamates I thought it was a great take-off on the "Guys and Dolls" type Broadway review.

But one feminist demanded, "What do they mean, 'Tab is good enough for guys now?'"

Another commercial that gets their dander up is Virginia Slims. They ask, "Is this what we've come a long way for? To have our own cigarette?"

Besides the commercials, Miss Keck complains about the image of woman that is perpetuated in the entertainment programs. She is a housewife. She is beautiful. She is not very smart; or she is clever and manipulates her husband. In the meantime, the feminists also are very mad.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING

Armchair adventurers will have an opportunity to hear as well as see just what it's like when a group of mountain climbers ascend a 20,000-foot mountain in "Once Before I Die," NBC-TV's May 5 "G-E Monogram" special. Movie cameras have often been used in mountain climbing expeditions but this is the first time that climbers hauled sound equipment 20,000 feet up the mountain in Afghanistan.

Bob Hope is a pilot and Phyllis Diller his co-pilot in NBC's "The Bob Hope Special" Monday 9-10 p.m.

Here Comes Dinah Shore

CHICAGO (AP) — Dinah Shore asked: "Is anybody here superstitious? I just broke a mirror." She spun around on her heels and wet a finger.

Dinah, blonde, in a white, ruffled gown, was standing in the middle of a crowded reception at the Conrad Hilton Hotel called to celebrate her return to NBC after an absence of seven years.

She will star in a morning show beginning in July called "Dinah's Place." The show, to be seen at 10 a.m. EST Mondays through Fridays, will replace the game show "It Takes Two."

Her producer, Bob Stivers, a large bearded man, explained:

"What it's going to take in its everything interesting to women. Singing, fashions, cooking, gossip, big name guests."

"Every show will have a theme," he said. "It's not really a talk show, although we'll have talk."

Miss Shore was one of the reigning queens of television. Her variety show was a Sunday night fixture on NBC for many years until 1963.

She starred in a special, "Like Hep!" first seen on NBC in April 1969, and seen on CBS last Friday night. Dinah has been a frequent guest on the talk shows and hosted the NBC "Tonight" show twice in 1968.

"What really got me started on this was my cohort duties for a week on the Mike Douglas Show," she said.

"I saw how an operation like that can move without you killing yourself."

Dinah was in Chicago to sing at a Tuesday night banquet of the Broadcast Pioneers at the 48th Annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Why is she coming back after such a long absence?

"I haven't seen anything I haven't done before," she said.

"The field of variety shows—they're wonderful, but there hasn't been a breakthrough in that in years—but this is different," she insisted. "In a weak-headed moment, I said why not?"

Asked what she would be singing in the age of the Grateful Dead and the Jefferson Airplane, Dinah answered: "There are people writing songs today that are within my capabilities. I love all the Beatles' songs."
