Congress and Foreign Policy

The efforts of Congress to assert itself in foreign policy express a legitimate and important concern, but the final course urged from the anti-communist Senate won't solve anything. No one has ever doubted Congress' power to rip things into minimum; its problems is to find ways to have a more sustained and more constructive impact.

This disturbing background gives us a queasy feeling about President Nixon's failure to consult Congress prior to sending U.S. forces to Cambodia. We can understand his hesitancy, especially when a Senator recently released on his own initiative a secret memorandum about U.S. intentions. But we think the President would have been wiser to swallow this Congress and its anti-communist feelings before he sent troops to Cambodia.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee deliberated all of one day on its proposal to restrict funds for operations in Cambodia, and the result is about what you would expect. The Senators who voted for it talk of "gray areas" in the war power, of "going further than ever before" in restricting the President, and of not applying to current operations but to future ones, and generally in terms that suggest they have not the least idea what it actually means. It is nothing but a Gulf of Tonkin Resolution in reverse.

Dr. Coleman is a crusader on the civil liberties front; he is an activist in behalf of integration; he is not likely, therefore, all his academic pose and calm and studied effort at objectivity notwithstanding, to be spending his time chortling and citing those statistics or surveys which challenge the directions of his own heart-felt belief.

Similarly, there is no guarantee that those who hear or read Dr. Coleman may not be forming their judgment of his view, and his supporting statistics or surveys, in accord with their own instinctive pre-judgment of the main issue involved.

All these perils of fleshly unreliability having been conceded, we proceed to observe that Dr. Coleman, in his appearance before the Senate's new Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity the other day, made a very straightforward assertion of conclusions which do not fit well with some of the latest directions of the national debate on racial integration and the schools.

What Dr. Coleman says, on the basis of massive study he has made, is that "the most effective educational resource" in any school is the background brought to the school by the children from their home environments.

Dr. Coleman has his studies, and his predictions. Perhaps he should at least be allowed to balance the debate back toward where it should be, which is, in our opinion, in a readiness to consider and accept and put into practice a wide variety of potential answers to America's greatest problem. We don't know of any remedy, including that of improving the schools that are still in the ghettos, we can really afford to discard or neglect.

LAW AND EDUCATION BUILDING, BOSTON UNIVERSITY Photographed by Sylvain Orlan

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

BERKELEY, Cal. — The disruptive road traveled by the University of California at Berkeley since 1964 reached its inevitable destination last week when academic freedom was curtailed in dozens of classrooms — including philosophy.

The deeply disturbing but unpublicized episode in Searle's classroom is steeped in irony. A dynamic young liberal who championed student rebels in Berkeley's 1964 Free Speech Movement, Searle passionately opposes the Vietnam war. But he will not capitulate to the "strike"—specifically, demands by an emotion-drenched rally of 15,000 students and faculty that the university "reconstitute" itself with radical course changes following the Cambodian crisis.

Perhaps the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is unwilling to operate on any such basis, preferring some far more isolationist course. If so, the nation deserves a far more articulate elaboration of precisely what course the Committee would follow, and why. Then any differences could be debated and perhaps resolved, and at least Congress would have discharged its responsibility.

Nothing will be accomplished, though, by fiddling with details and leaving large questions untouched. The way for Congress to assert itself in foreign policy, in short, is for Congress to say something cogent. WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Drug Knowledge Needed

To the Editors: As education chairman of the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Clubs, Junior Membership and as a member of Manchester's Drug Advisory Council, I have decided to write this letter, hoping the townspeople will see the urgent need for drug education and the problems with drugs which we are faced today.

A Thought for Today: This prayer comes from "Bless This Mass and Other Prayers" by The Sorleys. Dear Lord, there are times when I talk too much. There are times when I repeat things which I have no right to repeat. I pass on a story that may not be entirely true or add my own embroidered flourish to a tale in the telling.

The various "schools" of history flourishing over the last fifty years or so have fluctuated from parochialism to internationalism. Neither interpretation of Weiman was satisfied that time. Arvid Weiman was also leader of the South Manchester Military Band. The other brother was Jack Crawford in the band. One played the slide trombone while the other was a bass drummer. As far as I know there was no relationship. I may be one of very few people now living who saw the old Cheney store burn. I was in Portland, Conn., and we moved from Hartford to Manchester in 1927. It was three and a half years old at that time. I must have been about four when I saw the fire. I do not remember anything about the store itself, but I can not forget the blaze we saw from our bathroom window at Spring St., now called Lewis St.

The O.C. mentioned William Howard Taylor who lived at the basement of the building that was recently razed. He had a fluted press and the South Manchester News which he published was probably half filled with boiler plate.

Memories: To the Editor: The Old Codger's story about the Weiman family recalls memories of their many musical talents. At that time local organizations conducted fairs at the old armory on Wells Street. There were booths on the sides where people could take chances on prizes and amusements. The Weiman Brothers were headliners at many of these affairs. They put on a skit with some comedy but mostly music and singing. Axel played the slide trombone with Eric on the bass. Arvid, who married there was a family for dancing. side. Arvid and Charles Johnson who lived on Sunset St., and after he Save and Destroy: There is a growing body of opinion that the ill besetting the American people at the present time may be directly traceable to our involvement in two world wars. Whether or not the United States could have avoided being involved, it is a question that is quite understandable why many of our youth are beset with anxieties. The youth in today's world must learn much more, simply because there is much more for him to know. Our world today, based on materialism, offers little to the idealistic youth. In fact, it is a world in turmoil, a world in which the family unit is constantly threatened, where parental authority has diminished and permissiveness increased, it is quite understandable why many of our youth are beset with anxieties.

Soloists with Civic, Chorale

Ralph Maccaroni, tenor, and Kay Donneted, soprano, are paired with the Choral in Vivaldi's "Gloria," came to Manchester in 1969 from Cincinnati, Ohio. She majored in voice at the Pennsylvania State University where she received her B.S. degree in music education. Mrs. Donneted is a music teacher in the Manchester Public Elementary Schools. She is soprano soloist at the South United Methodist Church. She has sung leading roles in the Gilbert and Sullivan productions the last five years and also portrayed the part of Poppo in this year's production of "Follies."

Young juniors hit the beach: Collections Were Good Today: IN ANY business enterprise, good collections play a vital part in its success. That is doubly true when a young man is in business for himself, for the first time — as is your newspaper carrier. IT GIVES him a real thrill every time he is able to collect his accounts in full, pay for his newspapers, and enjoy 100% profit from his efforts. Yes, it is true, but encourage him more than you may realize, when you have the money ready. Prompt payments by your GOOD collection days for him!

Cronkite Says White House Tried to Discredit War Tale

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS News says the White House conducted an "undercover campaign to discredit" a television story of a combat assault during which a North Vietnamese prisoner was shown being stabbed while lying on a stretcher.

Anderson was not immediately available for comment. In Des Moines, the managing editor of the Register and Tribune said the newspapers began to question the CBS film when a Tribune columnist was in Vietnam interviewing Iowans.

"He then told me about the controversy over the film," said Edward Helms, the managing editor. "And I asked our Washington bureau to look into the matter. They found that the Pentagon was investigating the particular film and had asked CBS for cooperation."

"At no time did our paper do anything more than report what the controversy was," said Helms. "The CBS newscast this evening appeared to answer many of the questions the Pentagon had."

Before his appointment as special presidential counsel, Mollenhuth was in the Washington bureau of Cowles Publications. The Register and Tribune is a unit of Cowles group.

The film was originally run six months ago. Cronkite said it was taken by a Vietnamese photographer employed by CBS News and narrated by correspondent Don Webster, who was on the scene when the incident occurred.

Cronkite called the incident "an atrocity such as occurs from time to time on both sides in any war."

Concluding the broadcast, Cronkite said: "We broadcast the original story in the belief it told something about the nature of the war in Vietnam. What has happened since then tells something about the government and its relations with news media."

Cronkite said the charges had been reported by the Washington Register and Tribune Service. He also said that "columnist Ed. S. Searles had written an article in the Washington Post last week in which he had accused the White House of trying to discredit the CBS film."

Post Office Requests Neat Mailboxes

The Post Office Department is observing Mailbox Improvement Week, the purpose of which is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect the mail from weather and which are neat in appearance, conveniently located and safe to use.

Neat, attractive mailboxes make a significant contribution to the appearance of the countryside and the streets in urban areas.

Mailboxes of the approved traditional or contemporary design are required. The name of the owner must be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door where boxes are grouped.

The Hebron Elementary School held a primary grade assembly this morning on the front lawn around the flagpole as a tribute to the school's new American flag.

The children of Mrs. Natalie Colombaro's third grade class, who organized and lead the program, wrote their own poems to promote national pride in the flag and respect for their country.

ELECTRIC SERVICE INTERRUPTION IN MANCHESTER

There will be an electric service interruption in Manchester on Monday, May 25, 1970.

The interruption will last approximately 90 minutes beginning at 9:00 A.M.

This interruption is a necessary part of HELCO's continuing modernization program to meet increasing customer loads and provide improved service to the community.

We have scheduled this work at a time which we hope will cause our customers the least inconvenience.

A list of the streets affected follows: Andor Road, Anstadi Road, Bathiste Road, Virginia Road, Phillip Road, Kent Road, Wells Street east of Spruce Street.

In case of inclement weather the interruption is planned for the same hours on Tuesday, May 26, 1970.

We thank you for your cooperation and understanding.

The other night, while attending a meeting of town officials, I felt like a canny bar.

So, wending my way to the dump, I dug up a pulled the knob marked Baby Ruth. Out came a package of gum.

Now, I don't have anything against gum. Lots of people like it and lots of people chew it. I still felt like a canny bar, in an attempt to outsmart the machine. I put in another dime and pulled the knob marked Gums. I was certain I'd get Baby Ruth. I didn't. I got an Almond Joy.

Well! By this time I was convinced I was being challenged to a match of wits. I put in another dime, and I pulled the knob marked Almond Joy. I sure I'd get a Baby Ruth this time. I got nothing. The Almond Joy compartment was empty.

I got my time back and tried again. This time, I went about it scientifically. I selected a dime and I didn't want an Almond Joy. I wanted a Baby Ruth.

I put in my dime, closed my eyes, and pulled a knob at random. Lo and behold! I got a Baby Ruth.

I checked to see which knob I had pulled. It was marked EMPLOY!

Lump Sum Payment Voted For Town Taxes Under $100

Local taxpayers owing less than $100 in taxes will have to pay the town the entire amount by Aug. 1, beginning with the 1971 tax payment.

The action was taken at Wednesday night's special town meeting which preceded the annual town meeting.

The amended item was passed after a previous motion to reject the item, made by First Selectman Charles Thifault, was defeated by a 47-40 vote. A recount resulted in its defeat 64-44.

Thifault voiced the opinion that the requirement would cause a strain on the taxpayers of the town.

The Collector Earl Brooks planned most towns require all taxes under $100 be paid at one time, rather than the present $50 minimum in the town row.

The action will not be effective on this year's taxes. Ed LaMonte of Docker Rd. said that the notice being given at this time would be too short.

The other two items on the agenda were unanimously passed without discussion.

It was agreed to accept an old lock and key, formerly used as a cell lock in the Tolland Jail. The town meeting authorized the Board of Selectmen to loan the lock and key to the Tolland Historical Society with the stipulation that it be returned to the town, if the society should dissolve. The lock and key were accepted in memory of the Rev. C.H. Moe.

The final item on the call of the meeting was approval of the item, which will authorize and empower the Board of Selectmen and the town treasurer to borrow funds which may be necessary to meet the running expenses of the town.

Street Signs Ordered
First Selectman Thifault said that arrangements with the state prison for the purchase of street signs made for the town. Hopefully, the town will be able to afford the refinishing and new season will follow the program.

Prof. Hubert Humphrey Would Give Passing Grade for Creative Dissent

By GERRY NELSON
Associated Press Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — After 16 months as a college teacher, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says he's ready to give a passing grade to the vast majority of American students.

By and large, he says, they are an active bunch, full of creative dissent and not willing to let a few "rebels of disorder" speak for all students.

"I think one of the saddest things that's happened in America is that a large number of adults assume that the action and attitude of students is reflected by the antics of a few," Humphrey said.

Humphrey, who will be 69 next Wednesday, talked in an interview with this newspaper as a "politician in residence" at Macalester College and the University of Minnesota, where he has been a part-time teacher of international relations since January 1969.

He is expected to relinquish that role soon and announce as a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from Minnesota, probably on June 1.

Humphrey takes a hard line against any violence on college campuses—whether by students or government authorities.

He does not condone either the killings of students in Ohio and Mississippi, or the student disorders that brought in loaded weapons.

"I think one thing we have to realize is that the use of firearms in civil disturbances is only justified in the most extreme circumstances," he said.

"I also think there's a tendency to overuse our National Guard in circumstances in which they're not fully trained. Now, this is not to justify at all the violence of the students who were throwing things and engaging in obscenities."

Campus anarchists, says Humphrey, amount to a small group who gain followers only when authorities overreact to them.

"In other words, if you keep reminding them that they are a limited number, and if you maintain a sense of firmness but restraint, you deny them the chance to make easy converts."

As a teacher, Humphrey applauds the fact that he has heard complaints that he was hard to reach. To reaction to his role as a professor, he says, he has been among both students and other faculty members.

Humphrey describes himself as a "lightning rod" who tends to attract reactions of various kinds, but his great comfort is that none of his classes has been disrupted by protesters of any sort.

A few weeks ago, some dissidents struck a barbed wire across his office entrance. He was out of the country at the time, and other students cleared it away.

Generally, Humphrey said, his treatment by the faculties has been "marvelous."

Humphrey admits to being an unabashed name-dropper in his lectures. Names like Kierkegaard, Khrushchev and De Gaulle flow endlessly.

"Now, I try to give them in my courses only that which I have experienced myself," Humphrey says. "I do not try to take over the responsibilities of the established, tenured professor."

International name-dropping is by design, he says, to get smart doing it.

His course, he says, are loosely structured so students can write about any facet of his overall subject.

He has cautioned student militants against anarchy with this illustration:

All his students agreed to destruction of life or property," he says. "A college campus ought to be a place that is a safe haven for any idea. It ought to be a place where we can examine the most unorthodox ideas or ideas without fear of reprisal or without fear of intimidation."

That a college campus must have rules of conduct that lend themselves to reason, and to dialogue, and to communication, not to diatribe, and dogma and demagoguery...

"There is no room on these campuses for violence. And those who perpetrate violence are a disorienting people. The only thing that we cannot do is outright violence and the

None Submit Prices For Water Mains

No bids have been received by the town for the construction of a water main in Center St. and for the construction of a water main and a sewer main in Pine St. The improvements are to be done in conjunction with state widening of the Center-Water-Broad-Pine St. intersection.

The deadline for submitting the bids was 11 this morning. A town official said that the bids will be readvertised immediately. The proposal had been mailed to 16 contractors. Four had asked for the plans, but none of them submitted prices today.

The only bidder submitted prices today for furnishing the Police Department with 5,000 pounds of reconditioned, thermoplastic striping for drawing highway lines, and a striping machine, for applying it.

The Minnesota Mining Co. of St. Paul, Minn. quoted a price of $7,437 for the powder, if the order is for at least 5,000 pounds, and $8,700, if purchased in a lesser quantity.

It's price for the striping machine is $588.22, if the town buys 5,000 pounds of the powder and $1,078.44, if it buys the powder in a lesser quantity.

The striping machine includes 100 feet of air hose and an L.P.G. tank with a valve.

Indications are that the town will order 5,000 pounds of the powder.

The liquid powder dries on the pavement within 10 to 15 minutes after contact. Its use eliminates the need for blocking any portion of a street.

LTM Funny With 'Luv'

There's a fine line between comedy and tragedy. A man considers jumping off a bridge because he hasn't been able to find himself in spite of studying yoga, Hobbies, spiritual guidance, and other things. He is reminded of a state of numb acceptance when her husband's marital attention ceases.

These are tragic situations. But when they are caricatured on stage, the real comedy of these situations is revealed. LTM has exhibited a sensitivity for comedy in the past, particularly in his recent presentation of "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running," a funny tragedy (and it happened if there ever was one).

Such was the case last night at the opening of "Luv" at the Little Theatre of Manchester (LTM) at Bailey Auditorium in Manchester High School.

The situations, very probable, were maneuvered at a rapid pace. The usually raucous local audience lost itself in convulsive laughter in episode after episode.

And that's the way it was from start to finish.

Paul Norton interpreted Harry Berlin as a way-out, mixed-up individual with all sorts of kooky phobias. Somewhere along the line he didn't try to fool. He played Harry as a former school buddy from jumping a bridge at the height of despair and convincing Harry that what he has missed out on during his lifetime is love, capital LUV.

All right, so, a schlemel, for Bentley, South, Lower and Weddell Schools in Vernon, Mass., played by Betty Sperry, wife, played by Betty Sperry, in love and Ellen will give him a divorce and she can marry his new girlfriend and they will all live happily ever after.

But, like the tragedy adage, "absence makes the heart grow fonder," marriage of Ellen and Harry to their new partners isn't all what they thought it would be. And they discover that they were really in love with each other all along.

The really pathetic conclusion is that Harry Berlin, who has found contentment at last, with

Weinberg Heads Chamber Group On Parking Plan

The Downtown Committee Parking Environmental Task Force chair, Robert Weinberg, heads a Chamber of Commerce group on Monday meeting at Burton's Main Street. Other members of the Task Force include Irving L. Fayer, building contractor, Philip Harrison, Harrison's Stationers, Warren Howard, realtor and Leo N. Juran, Fairway Home. Also in attendance at the Task Force meeting were the Downtown Committee officers Edward Barsgeon, Burton, Harold E. Gaborry, Wilton's Gift Shop, Salem Nassif, Nease's Camera and Photo and Robert Richman, House & Hale.

The Downtown Committee Parking Environmental Task Force will concern itself in the future months with the Main St. parking plan. The task force will be in relationship to recommendations being proposed for presentation to the Town Board of Directors.

The Downtown Committee Parking Environmental Task Force will also serve as the Downtown Business District's lobbying force in encouraging the Town Board of Directors to use the next two years in programming off-street parking provisions to coordinate with the proposed parking changes.

The Task Force will also coordinate its environmental work with the program of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce City Beautiful Committee.

The Downtown Committee Parking Environmental Task Force is a non-profit organization run by a group of concerned citizens, both of which are subsidiary to the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. The next meeting of the Downtown Parking Environmental Task Force will be on Monday, June 8, at 8:30 p.m., at the Town Board of Directors Company, 64 Main Street.

IOH Day Sunday at High School Pool

Preparing for the annual IOH Day Sunday afternoon at the Manchester High School swimming pool with some 100 members of the swimming team and their families.

Sunday's activities, open to the public from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., mark the end of this year's program.

Receiving the Red Cross beginner award will be Miss Debbie Hearn of 164 Weston Rd. and Steve Pasillo of 42 Edison Rd. The intermediate award, Raymond Phelps of 44 South Hawthorne St., and the swimmer award, Miss Carol Milnes of Rockville.

Refreshments will be served and the traditional torch swim and passing on of the whistles will take place. The IOH, a non-profit organization run by area teen-agers, has been in existence since 1956. (Herald photo by O'Hara)

No Curbs, Poor Streets Major Public Complaints

The lack of curbs on some town streets and the poor condition of some town streets were the principal complaints lodged last night at a Board of Directors' comment session.

The session was managed by Republican Directors David Odgers, Donald Wells and William Dianna. All three commented that the semi-monthly public hearings, now in their fourth year, and supposedly sponsored by the entire Board of Directors, appear mistakenly to be Republican-sponsored, since no Democratic directors seem to be interested.

Last night, a resident of Concord St. complained that no curbing had been installed on his street, even though it had been installed on neighboring streets.

He said that storm water is washing away parts of the lawn on One St.

Two residents of Jord St. complained that no curbs are planned for their street. The storm top recently for the installation of a new sewerage pipe, is scheduled for paving.

The same man complained of the poor condition of Jord St. and complained also that Billew Brook, which runs parallel to the south of the street, is not being cleaned of debris. They recommended that Billard Brook be cleaned now while it is drained of water.

A man complained of the poor condition of Bush Hill Rd. and another complained of poor lighting at W. Middle Tpke. and Alton.

South Church Picnic Sunday

South United Methodist Church School family picnic will be held Sunday from 12:15 to 4:30 p.m. on the campus. In case of rain the event will be postponed until June 13.

Each family is requested to bring a covered dish. Food may be left in the parking lot at 10:30 a.m. before the second church service or may be brought at noon.

Families from the North End of Hartford have been invited.

Mrs. Marjorie M. Ryan, secretary, and Miss Marian Crane, treasurer, will be in charge of these games.

People in charge of games for younger children include Mrs. Walter Staley, Miss Ann O'Brien and Miss Virginia Perkins. Grade 1; Miss Laura Burton and Mrs. Charles Burton, Grade 2; Miss Margaret Saug and Miss Mary Ellen Hevey, Grade 3; Miss Donna Camilleri, vice president; Miss Carole Chapman, secretary; and James K. Sturdy Tudor building has withstood centuries—and fire.

anne hathaway's cottage

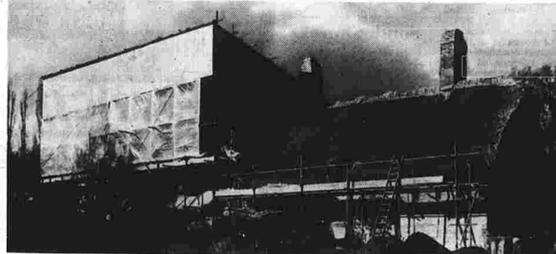

Finished roof, after 12 weeks' work, will have 20-inch-thick thatch of wheat straw weighing 11 tons.

Carpenter with adze works on wall of beams and cleft oak laths.

"The Cottage," as it is known locally, is one of England's most historic buildings; a picturesque Tudor farmhouse just over a mile from the center of Stratford-upon-Avon. It was the early home of Shakespeare's wife, Anne Hathaway (whom he married in 1582), and of the Hathaway family of yeoman farmers. Part of the building dates back to the fifteenth century, and it is a marvelous specimen of early domestic architecture, built of stone, timber, framing, wattle and brick. Inside are original Hathaway furniture and relics, and there are attractive gardens and an orchard. The cottage was bought from the Hathaway family in 1892 by the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust to be preserved as a memorial to the Bard.

The cottage has recently been the object of an unusual repair job, carried out by skilled craftsmen using traditional tools and materials. A section of the cottage was badly damaged by fire late last year. Part of it was open to the public again within two weeks and now the entire building has been painstakingly restored to as near its former state as possible.

Scaffolding and protective coverings are used during 4 months of restoration.

Traditional materials and tools are used in repair of window frames.

The thatcher smooths section of new thatch with comb-like tool known as "leggett."

Hathaway bed has stood here since at least 1600; it must have been built here since it is wider than door.

Car Hits Pole, Four Injured

Four young people were injured, one seriously enough to require hospitalization, after the car in which they were riding failed to round a curve on Wetherell St. and hit a utility pole about 1 1/2 miles north of Coventry, received multiple injuries in the crash and was admitted to special care, but transferred to the intermediate unit later this morning, hospital officials said. His condition was described as satisfactory.

Treated at the hospital emergency room for cuts and bruises and discharged were: Wallace W. Lavo Jr., 23, of 411 Nevers Rd., Wapping; John Stalk, 16, of 1109 Main St., South Windsor; and Miss Virginia Gramacki, 19, of 269 Hillstown Rd.

Police said Laws told them he was heading toward Hillstown Rd. about 2:45 p.m. when he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car.

Damage to the utility pole and the car's front end, estimated a higher speed, however, police said. Laws was charged with reckless driving. His court date is June 8.

Nixon Asserts Economy Heads For Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite another gloomy entry on the condition chart, President Nixon has reassured his confidence that the economy will respond to administration treatment and rally to better health.

In a meeting Thursday with Bernard Lasker, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, Nixon predicted that "present adjustments... will give way to renewed expansion in the coming months," an aide said.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also reported that Nixon had forecast the economy would "turn up in the second half of the year."

Meanwhile, the Labor Department released statistics showing that the average paychecks of the rank and file worker lost 43 cents in purchasing power last month due to inflation.

At the same time, said the department, the 45 million workers gained an average of only 8 cents in weekly pay to $117.88. That's $9.23 per week more than in April of last year, the report noted, but the purchasing power of the dollar has risen 10 percent since then.

Ziegler said Nixon also had said Lasker that administration would continue to support a "continuing expansionist monetary policy by the Federal Reserve."

Lasker had requested the meeting with the President, said Ziegler, to discuss the general economic situation and "the stock market in particular."

The meeting was not particularly prompted by the new figures of the stock market or the Labor Department figures.

The Labor Department report Thursday also noted April's usual sharp increase in construction activity, although it

Arabs Kill Children In Ambush

Casualties at Altairoun were two dead and three women wounded. Twenty-two houses were destroyed.

Casualties and damage at Bint Jbeil were not immediately known.

A spokesman for El Fatah said the guerrilla organization was conducting an investigation into the bus ambush which, he emphasized, "goes against our whole strategy."

The spokesman declared that the ambush provided the Israelis with the pretext for which they have been looking to "depopulate the whole of southern Lebanon."

"They have succeeded in driving out the local inhabitants from the Arkoub and now they will try to do the same along the whole of the southern border," he said.

The spokesman confirmed that there were guerrilla elements in the area of Bint Jbeil. In Amman, the Jordanian Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command announced in a message to President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the Egyptian people that it had ambushed the school bus.

Annual Meeting CRPA Elects Head, Votes Airport Plan

Representatives of the 29-town Capitol Region Planning Agency last night elected Roger Olsen of Enfield as their new chairman and accepted the proposed airport plan for the Capitol Region.

They also adopted the CRPA Natural Resources Committee's recommendations regarding the proposed location of the circumferential 1291 highway in the vicinity of the Metropolitan District Commissioner's reservoir system in West Hartford.

The 1291 report recommends greater reliance on the commuter's use of buses.

The recommendation is based on the elementary theory that the "only significant approach that can be taken toward the reduction of the impact of highways on our environment is to reduce the need for highways."

The airport plan, prepared by Peet, Marwick, and Livingston, was approved without opposition. It calls for the creation of six alternate airports around the area, relieving the general aviation demands on Bradley Field.

The original plan was amended by the CRPA Transportation Committee, placing the decision on the locations of these alternate airports under the jurisdiction of the regional planning agencies and the localities directly involved.

This amendment was prompted by the vocal objections of the residents of Coventry, Tolland and Bolton to both the CRPA public hearing on the plan in Windsor and at the State Transportation Commission hearing in Coventry.

Tomatoes Resist Chill

BEAVERLODGE, Ala. — Plant developing tomatoes that will set fruit at temperatures below 60 degrees have been developed by the Canada Agriculture Research Station at Beaver Lodge. Most commercial varieties won't set fruit when night temperatures fall below 65.

The new tomatoes are only about as big as golf balls; three new varieties should be available from commercial seed suppliers in the adopted report went on 1971.

Although previous reports indicated increasing population and increased preferences for automobile transportation, the CRPA changed its position, acknowledging the only alternative would be a change in people's attitudes about transportation.

The only practical alternative to the use of automobiles in the Capitol Region is more efficient and creative use of buses, the CRPA contends.

In the adopted report went on 1971.

The allocation will allow the Connecticut Research Commission to engage a firm to develop a data processing system which will permit all bill drafting and printing of legislative records to be done by computers.

Finance Commissioner Leo V. Donohue said the new system is expected to streamline the operation of the Assembly and reduce the cost of printing legislative records.

Funds Allocated For Automation At Legislature

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The State Bond Commission Thursday approved an allocation of $95,000 for development of a system for handling all the General Assembly's bills and records by data processing.

Approval of the funds increases the total amount of money the Assembly will be completely automated for the first time in 1971.

The allocation will allow the Connecticut Research Commission to engage a firm to develop a data processing system which will permit all bill drafting and printing of legislative records to be done by computers.

Finance Commissioner Leo V. Donohue said the new system is expected to streamline the operation of the Assembly and reduce the cost of printing legislative records.

Once a firm has been engaged to develop and program the system, a training program will be started to acquaint legislative personnel with the operation in preparation for the actual opening of the legislature.

In other action Thursday, the commission approved a transfer of $150,000 originally earmarked for the extension of runways at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks to the expansion of parking and improvement of the ambulance facilities at the terminal on the school bus. It said three roads hit the bus at close range, destroying it, and that Israeli troops who rushed to pursue the raiders ran into a minefield, suffering more casualties. It said that all the raiders returned safely to their bases.

The General Command is the small group that claimed to have sabotaged the Swissair jetliner that crashed Feb. 21 and then retracted the claim.

Apparently expecting an Israeli air attack, the Lebanese air force sent up Mirage jets over Beirut for protective patrols.

The U.N. Security Council on Tuesday night condemned Israel for a retaliatory sweep in southern Lebanon May 12 in which the Israelis said they killed 30 Arab guerrillas and captured 15. But Israel told the council it would continue to retaliate, that guerrillas attacking in Israel could not find sanctuary in the neighboring Arab countries.

The ambush took place on a main border road near Baram kibbutz about 18 miles east of the Mediterranean. Settlers in the kibbutz heard the firing, then an explosion, and ran to the scene.

"I never saw such a horrible sight in my life," said one. "There was blood everywhere, and children groaning and crying."

The Israeli military command issued this communique: "Eight people were killed and 23 injured in an attack from an ambush on a bus near kibbutz Baram near the Lebanese border in Upper Galilee.

"This morning at about 9 o'clock an attack was effected from an ambush by bazooka and small-arms fire on a bus carrying pupils to school at Moshav Dovav.

"As a result of this attack eight people were killed, including five children, the driver of the bus and two teachers. Twenty-three other pupils were wounded, the majority of them being children."

"In addition to the above mentioned deaths, in special editions reporting the state said the bus had followed the same route daily collecting kibbutz children and taking them to a consolidated school.

"The Israeli raiders hit Fort Safage, 250 miles southeast of Suez and 87 miles south of Sharm el Sheikh, the nearest Israeli-held point on the Sinai Peninsula, a spokesman said.

All Israeli forces returned safely, he reported.

The spokesman gave no further details. Six days ago, Israeli warplanes sank an Egyptian destroyer and a missile boat in the Red Sea south of Safage. That sinking was retaliation for the sinking of an Israeli fishing trawler by Egyptian missiles, the Israeli said.

The ambush of the bus and the killing or wounding of so many children was certain to touch off a public outcry in Israel for vengeance, and it was considered likely that the Israeli armed forces would retaliate with another major raid into southern Lebanon.

The Lebanese government announced that half an hour after the ambush Israeli artillery opened up on the Lebanese border towns of Bint Jbeil and Yaroun near the site, killing one woman, and injuring two women and two children. The Lebanese said their artillery replied, and the dual was continuing three hours later.

A while later, the Lebanese said a third border settlement, Altairoun, two miles from Bint Jbeil, was under fire and the toll had risen to four dead and more than 40 wounded.

In Amman, the Jordanian Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command claimed credit for the ambush baggage facilities at the terminal on the school bus. It said three

War Policy Backed By Jerseyites

WASHINGTON (AP) — A petition signed by 10,000 New Jersey residents in support of President Nixon's Vietnam policy has been presented at the White House.

Turned over to a White House aide Thursday by a small delegation of New Jersey residents, the petition said: "To the President of the United States of America, Richard M. Nixon: We, the undersigned citizens of the United States of America, affirm our support of your and the government of the United States of America in the pursuit of an end to the war in Vietnam, and oppose those who would interfere and give aid and comfort to the enemy government in Hanoi."

Only Three Members Left In Wanapum Indian Tribe

By HILL HILL. The Everett Herald. VANTAGE, Wash. (AP) — The Wanapum Indian tribe was a vanishing people by the time wintered in the huts at Priest Rapids as late as 1882.

Whale Island, now inundated by waters from Priest Rapids Dam, once was covered with some 125 rocks containing Wanapum carvings and paintings depicting hunters, bear paws, sunbursts, deer and circles. Before the island was flooded, Grant County Public Utility District employed the surviving Wanapum to locate the pictures, interpreted among the thousands of boulders. The pictures were marked on a map, numbered and photographed so a record of the past would be preserved.

Recognizing the Wanapum's deep-seated attachment for their river home, the Grant County P.U.D. assisted the remaining tribe in making a transition from the old era to a new one.

Besides providing jobs on the Priest Rapids project, the displaced Wanapum were furnished homes formerly occupied by operators of a small power plant at the Priest Rapids site.

McCormack a Relic Of 'Last Hurrah' Era

By RICHARD L. LYONS
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — John W. McCormack, stepping down as speaker of the House at 78, represents the end of the era of turn-of-the-century politicians in Congress.

McCormack was elected to the House in 1914 and served for 24 years. He was the last speaker of the House to be elected from a district in the Northeast.

SCLC March Nears Tomb Of Dr. King ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A caravan carrying several hundred black demonstrators on the "march against repression" rolled into Atlanta this morning and they began the 54-mile hike to the tomb of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It is the final leg of a 300-mile march through Georgia to protest war and violence, especially on college campuses. Civil rights and antiwar groups are expected to join the march. A large number of demonstrators are expected to arrive in Atlanta on Friday night. The march is being led by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

Police Seek Escapes HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Police were searching early today for three escaped prisoners who knocked open the back door of a police patrol wagon Friday near Bellevue Square and fled. The driver of the vehicle, which was taking 14 prisoners from Circuit Court 14 to the Connecticut Correctional Center on Bayma Street, heard the rear door open. He stopped the wagon and another policeman closed the door before the others had a chance to escape. But four had already jumped out, police said. One of the prisoners, Joseph Rodriguez, was captured and charged with escaping from police custody. Three others are still at large: Richard L. Roane Jr., 22, of no certain address; Harry White, 21, of Hartford; and Willie Jones, 21, of no certain address. Many who were being held on charges of robbery with violence, already was serving time in the state jail when he was brought to Circuit Court on additional charges. Students Step Back for FBI In Jackson JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — About 100 students of Jackson State College, who had blocked removal of evidence from a bullet-riddled dormitory where two youths were killed, stepped aside today with assurances that they would receive the evidence. The students maintained a vigil outside the dormitory for the past several days. The removal of the evidence was a demand for extension of the Voting Rights Act, a demand that 18-year-olds be allowed to vote; and a program of political counteraction against repression. Abernathy also has said SCLC will announce a list of "Ten Most Unwanted Politicians" that the organization hopes to defeat during the 1970 elections.

Israel Seeks U.S. Aid To Stop Soviets JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel wants the United States to take a bigger and firmer role in helping stop the Soviet military buildup in the Middle East. But there are some fears that Washington is too bogged down in Indochina and domestic troubles to help and might already have waited too long. "The American don't have to use the hot line like they did in 1957," one Israeli official said, "but they certainly should make it clear to the Soviets they have gone far enough." But the official added: "We're really afraid Washington isn't getting the message."

Israelis Strike Back Bus Attack Spurs Reprisals From Lebanon to New York The Associated Press Hundreds of civilians in towns liberated by the Palestine Liberation Movement and beat tanks on the Lebanese border to longings about trucks, tanks and guerrilla ambush of an Israeli home. Many complained of lack of adequate shelters or means of defense. One man brandished a World War I rifle and a few others were shouting slogans. The newspaper Le Jour quaterned the mayor of Altarrun and said: "In this town of 8,000 people, there will soon remain only the owls." Lebanese Ambassador Edouard Chorra said in a letter to the United Nations that he deplores the loss of life in the area. Within half an hour after the attack on the bus, he added, Lebanon had received reports that the Israeli army had also sent into action all along attack "by the world community." "This dream has been to have people boating and swimming in the river in 10 years," added the Connecticut Democrat. "Bible's endorsement of the plan following a river-boat journey down the scenic 12-mile 'Gateway Unit' at the southern end of the river, improved its chances of congressional passage. His Senate subcommittee on parks and recreation will have recommended approval of a $68 million bill to create a series of three river-front conservation parks: the Gateway, another in Massachusetts and one along an 83-mile stretch of river that divides New Hampshire and Vermont.

Police Shake Up To Follow Slaying of Panthers in Raid CHICAGO (AP) — A major 22, a Panther leader from Peo-shaek has been announced in the results were made, Hanrahan said to insure protection of the fundamental individual rights of all people and also to protect our police officers from unwarranted harassment. He pointed out, however, that the grand jury ruled that the civil rights of the seven Panthers were not violated. Charges against the seven were dropped by Hanrahan a week before the grand jury against the seven reported his findings. He said there was insufficient evidence to convict them. The man who approved the raid, Richard J. Joliver, chief of the special prosecutions unit, will be demoted to the trial unit, Hanrahan stated. He said Dec. 4 in a search for illegal weapons. Hanrahan said emphatically he would not resign. Civil rights groups had called for his resignation over slurs in the raid which resulted in the deaths of Fred Hampton, 31, Illinois Panther chairman, and Mark Clark,

Southviets Thrust Deep into Cambodia BANGKOK (AP) — Two South Vietnamese tank forces thrust today into Indochina's biggest rubber plantation, the 70-square-mile Chup plantation in eastern Cambodia. About 100 South Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers pushed northward along Highway 15 and westward along Route 7 toward the plantation to smash a crack Viet Cong regiment said to be operating there. The plantation is east of Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city. Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported from the front that Tank Force 218, driving northward toward the plantation's southern edge, killed 12 Khmer Rouge, the Viet Cong's Cambodian allies, and captured 13. To the east of the plantation, 25 other enemy troops were reported killed. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and eight anti-aircraft guns in the southwestern corner of the plantation, officers said. Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the South Vietnamese forces, said intelligence indicated that most of the 272nd Regiment of the Viet Cong 9th Division was on the plantation. A captured North Vietnamese soldier told South Vietnamese interrogators that 2,000 men of the 272nd were there. According to allied intelligence estimates, about 40 per cent of the regiment is made up of North Vietnamese soldiers. "This is a hunting game between my forces and the Communists," said Tri. "If the Communists stand and fight we will destroy them." He added: "Perhaps we can all go swimming in the plantation pool."

Senate Unit Votes Monday On Bill Hiking Mail Rates WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans to vote early next week on whether to modify a provision to curb U.S. military activities in Cambodia. The outcome appears unlikely to settle the issue. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., one of the Republicans opposed to such a curb, said Friday he will vote for an amendment that revises the language in the proposal by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho. Cooper and Church offered the revision because it improves a bid to reach an accommodation with the Communists, he said. The White House feels it falls to go far enough toward upholding President Nixon's authority to protect U.S. troops in Cambodia and Vietnam. Griffin said he would support the revised language Thursday. The Cooper-Church revision is an amendment, which the Senate is likely to approve. But the tally won't reflect the true Senate position on the issue. Republican backing for the revision will camouflage what lawmakers really think. Approval of the revision still leaves open the possibility that administration supporters will move via a series of proposals to give the President the authority he seeks. And there is no indication of an early vote on the Cooper-Church amendment itself. The basic issue is this: The White House is willing to go along with the main prohibition on funds for U.S. forces in Cambodia, provided the President is given explicit authority to take actions to protect American forces in both Vietnam and Cambodia. The Cooper-Church force opposes any such exception, because Nixon ordered the original attack on Cambodia with an announced aim of protecting U.S. forces in Vietnam, and they want to avoid a repetition of the revised language to be voted on Tuesday would let the President to send troops to Cambodia to protect U.S. forces in Vietnam. It would add two elements to the amendment's preamble: A provision making clear the fund cutoff only takes effect after July 1, 1970—the date Nixon encountered several light and

Connecticut River Tour Gives Park Bill a Boost Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, who has fathered the bill to its current stage. "I've got the authorization and the money in five years we'll be doing well," he said, despite hopes the bill would be ready for action in the Senate this year. "My dream has been to have people boating and swimming in the river in 10 years," added the Connecticut Democrat. Both Ribicoff and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., however, expressed disappointment with the progress in riding the Connecticut River to the sea. Kennedy represented Massachusetts among the group of 110 officials and newsmen. Fog delayed his arrival from Washington by plane, and he had to use a motor boat to catch up with the main body aboard the tour-boat Dolly Madison. Another problem, a surprise statement Monday from a National Park Service representative, still was causing ripples, judging from comments by Ribicoff and others. Meeting here, the representative had indicated that the park might include extra roadways and maybe even trailer facilities. Echoing the anger of his earlier "repudiation" of the report, Ribicoff said Friday that the
