Nixon Calls For Cut In Paperwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called for a cut-back in executive branch paperwork after noting the cost of shuffling paper in the federal government approaches $10 billion a year.

In a memo to department and agency heads, Nixon put forward a plan for the current budget year that he hopes will save the executive branch $200 million and save off 5 million man-hours of work.

The action affects individuals, businesses and state and local officials who are required to fill out more than 8,000 questionnaires under the Federal Reports Act.

Norman Peterson, an official of the recently-created Office of Management and Budget, told newsmen at the White House Wednesday night the cost of administrative paperwork in the federal government—including the Congress and the courts—totals $10 billion each year.

But he called for a five per cent cutback in the estimated million forms and reports in the federal government budgeted for fiscal year 1971, one out of the federal government budget.

Mr. Peterson said the cutback would be achieved by eliminating unnecessary forms and reports, and by streamlining the reporting process.

Conventry Water Lack Still Plagues Subdivision

Water problems, specifically the lack of water at certain points in the subdivision, are being corrected, according to a report from the subdivision's water committee.

In addition to the water problems, residents of the subdivision are also experiencing difficulties with the sewer system, which is being designed for a comprehensive report from Town Engineer Hayden L. Orsivold Jr.

Tolland School Incinerator, Roads Dominate Joint Town Parley

Although a joint meeting of several town boards last night did not resolve problems discussed at the meeting, it was a giant step toward a solution.

The meeting, called by the Board of Education, was attended by representatives from the Board of Selectmen, Building Board of Education, Palumbo Committee, road supervisor and Board of Finance.

It was prompted by an order from the state that towns must comply with the anti-pollution law by October of this year and the necessity of the school system to take action in this direction. All other problems discussed were related to the school system.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted moderately lower early this afternoon in slow trading.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 2.16 at 722.28.

Declines held a sizable market over advances on the Big Board.

Penn Central Granted Thaw Of $4.5 Million

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge John P. Fullam has ordered nine banks to restore some $4.5 million to accounts of the Penn Central railroad.

The money, which had been frozen by the banks to cover the railroad's debts, is to be used to pay for the railroad's operating expenses.

$1.5 Billion Held Savings In Copter Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress could save taxpayers "over $1.5 billion in unnecessary procurement costs" by killing the Army's Cheyenne helicopter program now despite a $188 million investment in it.

Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said today.

Reds Still Cool But Will Confer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kremlin leadership will hang on to power, but will confer with the Soviet Union still is antagonistic toward the United States but is willing to negotiate specific issues, says a new report prepared by Kremlinologists from Europe and America.

The report was issued Wednesday by the Center for Strategic and International Studies at Georgetown University.

Congresswoman Raps 'Poverty Industry'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Edith Green has charged billions of dollars intended for school children and the poor are being diverted to private research companies more interested in profits than results.

Much of the money goes to private $100-a-day consultants including many former federal officials who make studies which few people read and few heed, says the Oregon Democrat.

In the last five years, Mrs. Green told a news briefing Wednesday, the industrial-education-poverty complex has become a major growth industry.

"Our most enduring monument to poverty has been the creation of a 'poverty industry' which, Mrs. Green said, works against the solution of poverty. If poverty were eliminated, she reasoned, so would be the lucrative jobs of experts studying it.

Problems

Repeating that the joint meeting was not going to solve the problems at the schools, Palumbo cautioned, however, that the problem cannot be ignored. He said the selection have to agree that the additional equipment is needed and then the townspeople have to agree to appropriate the money for it.

Mr. Green, No. 2 Democrat on the House Education and Labor Committee, said she is investigating the practice of hiring consultants from the former high-level officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Office of Education.

"Contracts have been given with outrageous conflict of interest," she charged, comparing the education-poverty consulting field with defense industries which hire retired military officers for ranking positions.

And she ranked the threat of the industrial-education-poverty complex with that of the military-industrial complex which this late President Dwight D. Eisenhower warned of as he left office.

"I had my way I would end all of the contracts with profit-making institutions," Mrs. Green said, because profit more often is the goal rather than solutions to the problem being studied.

Another Jail Delay

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A black civil rights leader, L. Harris, has won another day of imprisonment so he can offer his drug-conviction appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Harris' appeal was denied recently by the state Supreme Court, and as a result Harris went to jail on Monday.

Hoffa Denied

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, imprisoned president of the Teamsters union, has failed for the third time in an attempt to have his conviction for mail and wire fraud and conspiracy overturned.

In the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals denied Wednesday a request by Hoffa, and five others given to have their 1964 convictions reversed.

Quality Counts More Than Time

The statement which Senator J. William Fulbright led off his advocacy of legislation which would guarantee Congress access to national television network time as freely as the President now obtains such access was one of those generalizations which seems, at first glance, to possess an impact which sweeps and smothers all adverse opinion.

"Communication," said the Senator, "is power, and exclusive access to it is a dangerous, unchecked power."

Take this generalization down to cases, however, or let it brush against some other generalizations, and it loses some of its own initial power.

Senator Fulbright is disturbed, in particular, because he thinks President Nixon has, in the last year, been commandeering television in order to sell the country versions and theories of policy which Senator Fulbright happens to think un sound and deceitful.

To Senator Fulbright we would say that he need not, really, worry very much about the persuasive powers of President Nixon, even if he had exclusive television rights all the time.

Senator Fulbright should, perhaps, get an earful of what his fellow Americans are likely to be saying to one another in the aftermath of one of the President's appearances - including, of course, the comment of those who admit that they didn't even listen in.

The good Senator, likewise, should pay attention to the perils of over-exposure which go along with any sphere of "exclusive, unchecked access." It is both a generalization and a Nixonism that unlimited use of any communications medium can backfire on the user.

In summary of the particulars, then, the possibility of President Nixon's over-use of television is not anything worth passing a special law about.

There are some generalizations that might be offered Senator Fulbright, too.

Truth is, perhaps, the greatest of all powers always eventually capable of defeat. In his own right, by its own means, in its own way, any attempted monopoly of channels of communication.

Those who believe they possess the truth, or are in the right, do not have to look for artificial assists or guarantees or advantages for their cause.

It is to turn speech into a President is wrong and a Senator is right on a particular issue, the Senator is going to win even if the President has 30 minutes television time and he has only one.

Senator Fulbright apparently fears the advantage the President gains from being one voice, with unlimited time of his own choosing, in contrast with and in conflict with the Congress, which has many voices and no formal way of claiming time for them. But there are those occasional and impressive times when even Congress speaks with a single voice. It has done so, on some recent occasions, when it was sufficiently impressed by the quality of an argument presented to it. Let Senator Fulbright, as a diligent, anxious voice of democracy, concern himself with the quality of his argument, which has lately seemed to include almost as much automatic special pleading as the President's, rather than with the amount of air time it is going to get.

The prospects are that rock festivals will continue to be held, and that they are not going to be made over into what might be our kind of thing, instead of their own kind of thing.

What, then, does the adult world do in the kind of world it can so imaginatively itself having made, although, in the final honesty, it may have had something to do with shaping it?

Perhaps the main thing we of the adult world have to do is to try to question some of our own absolutes about what is good and what is bad, and to do this in order to be able to submit ourselves and our standards and accomplishments to the judgment of others who do not see us exactly always as we see ourselves.

Which is cleaner, the excrement-laced little pond at Powder Ridge or the movie product to which only adults are admitted?

Which is a greater betrayal of the human decencies, the down-grade drug meanings of an unhappy festival, or the grim mixture of despair and fascination which comes into the faces and minds of those who expose the savage to one another in the field of battle?

Which is the more outrageously dishonest, the adults denouncing the young for abandoning all the good values and seeking outlandish depravities in their place, or the young denouncing the adults for having betrayed in their own handling of the world the very same values they try to preach to the young?

None of these questions, in the clutch, be answered by one selection or the other.

The answer is that, although, the adults don't like to have any of it splinter on them, and although the young don't like to have the adults telling them how to deal with it, we are all in one mess.

The adults, in their mixture of success and failure, are not necessarily much wiser than the young, in their inexperience.

Rock festival next door?

The adult has to learn not to shudder at the mere prospect. The young have to learn that no process can be emboldened and justified merely because it makes older people shudder.

There is enough evil to be undone, enough good still to be tried in this world, for both.

We would do better to try to stop lashing absolutist, exclamatory ultimatums to one another, such as no more festivals, or no more rocks, and start working together.

First, of course, we have to persuade each other that we are each clean enough to get inside the same cause.

Nasser's Risk

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

Washington—Although the U.S. Middle East peace plan has produced only a first faint glimmer of hope for eventual settlement, it has already shattered the harmful illusion of "unity" in both the Arab world and in Israel which sprang into existence as a result of the six-day war of 1967.

The creed of "the public be damned" rarely been more cynically exemplified than in the Arab world. The extremists are citizens of Middlefield got none of the protections they sought, and were technically afforded by the courts, during the past several days - because even when an injunction was issued the businessmen had already moved to prevent the community in search of a best time. The thousands of kids who put out hundreds of dollars for tickets to a big-name program that would run hour after hour were left just as defenseless and unshielded as the lowly people - while their physical health and endurance was far more vigorously tested.

If the festival of mad men and life is to become a standard part of the current American scene - as many young people apparently wish - some adequate ground rules and some genuine sense of public protection as well as of public right must be developed. Greedy, envious, and aggressive people, are, at the moment, exploiting the crowds they entice and the community in search of a best time. The thousands of kids who put out hundreds of dollars for tickets to a big-name program that would run hour after hour were left just as defenseless and unshielded as the lowly people - while their physical health and endurance was far more vigorously tested.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

In reporting on the conventions, we attributed the most genuine enthusiasm on behalf of any individual candidate to that which developed among the followers of the Rev. Joseph Duffey, Democratic challenger for the United States Senate.

In reporting on some of the developments in the primary campaign, we have commented in wearing less obvious sanctimony than that habitually exhibited by the two self-cordoned keepers of the public morality in the Senate party, Republican challenger Rep. Lipton and Democratic incumbent, Tom Dodd.

It has come time to pay a third compliment to Duffey, this one of a more questionable character: It took like political amateurs.

Where Ed Marcus and Al Donahue have seemed to suffer from some slight intellectual embarrassment as they took one view of one world crisis and another view of another, Joe Duffey's alternation between flying like a dove and fighting like a lion have looked as far as Colorado or Montana for jobs, but the demand is pretty small.

As has been demonstrated before, the smartest kind of persuasion is not the one that is to be no politician, to make the most generous of promises, to include within the word of one's mouth what is behind his back, and to make a deal, and, in all this, to trust that people will be drawn to the resultant image without ever questioning or auditing what the image actually does.

It is part of the genuine crusading enthusiasm Duffey has built among his own followers that they are going to follow the image, and not pause to audit or analyze, and that they are going to communicate their enthusiasm to others.

Furthermore, it is part of the standard American political picture in these days that an expression of something new and refreshing and different is so welcome that no one really wants to try to intell issue one doesn't understand anyway in any effort to check the validity of the new crusade.

Even so, in our practiced cynicism, would deliberately question only one of Duffey's campaign touches. We sense how doubtful that John Bailey really asked Joe Duffey for a few votes during the convention struggle. We were, to the contrary, under the impression that Bailey deliberately left a few votes slip toward Duffey, just on the chance that might make Marcus run third, which he did. But if we were to make such a choice between the Duffey and Bailey versions of what went on at the convention, we would have to do it without looking at their faces. Bailey, as everyone can see, is the cynical, practiced political boss, while Duffey, as everyone can see, is the clean and shining-faced Galahad.

A Thought for Today

Council of Churches

Uneasy, uneasy, uneasy— Why? Because—when opportunity gives you the obligation to meet, you are content to meet the demands of the moment, from one day to the next.

Because—ambitious for the good opinion of others, and jealous of the possibility that they may become "vamos," you have lowered yourself to wondering what will happen in the end to what you have done and been.

How does one man behind a facade of great ability, loyalty—and ambition! Bias your uneasiness as a sign that there is still life in you.

Teachers Finding Shortage of Jobs

House Okays $55,000 Limit On Subsidies to Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted a $55,000 per acre cap on subsidy payments to producers of wheat and feed grains.

After defeating a bid to set the limit at $20,000 or less, the House passed by an unexpectedly large 41-vote margin and sent to the Senate Wednesday the omnibus three-year farm bill.

The $55,000 limit on what producers can be paid for growing crops had been written by the House Agriculture Committee and endorsed by President Nixon. Present law sets no ceiling.

The final vote on the bill was 215-171, with Republicans splitting down the middle—88 for and 85 against.

All attempts to change the bill from the form approved by the Agriculture Committee after more than a year's labor have shut out.

"This is purely a coalition bill which has the support of both parties and the administration," Chairman W.R. Poege, D-Tex., told newsmen.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin commented, "Approval of the $55,000 payment ceiling limitation would truly be a program more effective than the lower limitations which were considered."

The overall package was estimated at about $4.5 billion annually—$3.8 billion for the farm income stabilization program.

Bolton School Guidance Director Appointed by Town Board

The Board of Education reports John Paul Flek has been appointed guidance director for the Bolton Schools effective Aug. 1.

Flek resides with his wife, Jeannette, at Tolland. A native of Massachusetts, Flek graduated from Fordham University with a B.S. degree in 1953, earned his masters degree at Fordham in 1959, and is completing his sixth year at Fordham and the University of Hartford this month. His major fields of study are psychology, guidance and counseling. His minor is in philosophy and education. He is completing additional certification as a psychological examiner.

Flek has three years of experience at a high school in Salem, Mass., and also worked for a year and a half as a guidance counselor for Grades 7, 8 and 9 in South Deerfield, Mass.; counselor for Grades 11 and 12 in Coventry. The district fireman, assisted by members of the Women's Auxiliary.

Art Bjork will entertain on the organ and other entertainment will be provided for the children. The dance will be from the Fire Department property, accompanied by their Dalmatian mascot, "Mac," are touring the district streets, selling tickets for the festival.

But Jordan and Lebanon, the two countries that board the commando raiding, have accepted the U.S. plan. Jordan's King Hussein, who signed last month a two-year agreement to the growing power of the commando raiding, is in the Arab world. His willingness to take that risk and let the extremists go their way is a key factor in the Nixon administration's cautious hope that a political settlement may not be utterly impossible.

State Eyes Campus Unrest

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — All morning the presidents of private colleges tried to explain why there had been disorder on their campuses.

And all afternoon the presidents of community colleges and technical schools tried to explain why there had been any disorder on their campuses.

It was another day in the life of the legislative committee studying campus disorders in Connecticut. The committee has heard from educators and students, next Thursday evening in the hall of the House it plans to hear from anyone else who wants to say something on the subject.

The educators, including those from every type of college and university, public and private, all have declined with thanks the idea of having the General Assembly stand them in their efforts to keep the peace.

But the committee members have indicated that their constituents feel the legislature ought to do something to punish disruptive and destructive students.

The public hearing next Thursday promises to be somewhat more emotional than the preceding ones.

Wednesday's hearing took an ironic twist in the afternoon when the administrators of the state's community colleges and technical colleges confessed they had very little to report in the way of campus disorders.

Rep. Rufus Rose, R - Waterford, half-jokingly and half-seriously asked what was wrong with the tech students. Were their noses being mercifully applied to the gridstone?

Similar reasons were advanced by administrators and teachers in the two-year colleges where there are also working students who commute to class. And many of them have been out of school for years and are older than the typical undergraduates at Yale, UConn or Wesleyan.

The contrast between the activism at the major universities and the coolness at the community colleges and technical schools led Sen. Roger Eddy to suggest that maybe a year or two in a job would give college students a more mature attitude and reduce the tendency toward campus confrontations.

Eddy, who raised the question over and over again, got a generally favorable response. Robert A. Rosenbaum, acting president of the state's community colleges, said he thought such a program would be "highly desirable" — but that the paralytic effect of the legislation would be to keep their children to attend their studies and get their degree as quickly as possible, while labor and daughters of tradesmen, industrial personnel, laborers, service persons and lower-level managers," said Frank L. Jus-sen, president of Norwalk Tech, suggesting that the relatively stratified style of the tech students is a simple one: Permissiveness in the raising of children.
 "These kids don't recognize the value of experience any more than I did when I was young," said the 65-year-old lawmaker. "The difference is that when they don't get what they want, they say, 'Well, close the schools down.'"

Nixon Panel Says Avoid Politicians and Militants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American universities must avoid both politicians and militant who try to exploit campuses for their own ends if higher education is to remain meaningful, the President's Commission on Campus Unrest has been told.

Dr. David Gardner, vice chancellor of the University of California at Santa Barbara — scene of some of the spring's worst student rioting — said Wednesday campus unrest cannot be solved by stifling opposing viewpoints.

Instead, he said, "we must do what our country has always done, and that is talk our disagreements through with one another—the alternative is tyranny."

Gardner urged the commission to devote a large segment of its report to the President on attempts to establish communi-

Inspectors Find No Mercury at Hamilton Plant

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The State Department of Water Resources said Wednesday it has turned up no visible or obvious signs of mercury contamination from a plant operated at Broad Brook by the Hamilton Standard Division of the United Aircraft Corp.

Water samples have been sent to the laboratory of the U.S. Geological Survey for conclusive findings, the department said.

The state inspectors said they couldn't find any mercury being used in chemical processes at the plant, and one added: "The only mercury being used is lead monomers, an instrument used to measure physical pressure."

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader had told a U.S. Senate panel that workers at the plant were undergoing "chronic exposure to mercury," but a United Aircraft official later denied it. The company official said the condition cited by Nader had been eliminated several months ago.

Nader's testimony was given to the Senate Environment Subcommittee during hearings on mercury contamination.

Miss Schick will be based in Miami. From there she will fly to many of the cities Eastern serves in 29 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Bermuda, Jamaica, the Bahamas and the Virgin Islands.

She is a graduate of East Catholic High School and Holy Path Junior College, Longmeadow, Mass.

National Campus Strike Is Called

RUGENE, Ore. (AP) — John Prines, a defendant in the Chicago 7 conspiracy trial, repeated Wednesday his call for a strike on every campus across the nation to protest the war in Indochina and the repression of minority groups in the United States.

Prines, on leave of absence from the University of Oregon faculty, said he is totally committed to ending political repression and U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

He spoke at a news conference in Eugene following the announcement Tuesday by university President Robert Clark that Prines will be able to return to his teaching job this fall.

Prines, an assistant professor of chemistry, had been under fire for allegedly advocating disruptive behavior, violence and forceful closure of campuses. But a faculty committee said he did not incite students to action prohibited by law or by the disciplinary code of the Oregon State Board of Higher Education.

Prines was found innocent of the conspiracy charge stemming from disturbances at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. He was found guilty of contempt during the trial, but has appealed.

He said he may request another unpaid leave of absence this fall so he can help free Black Panther leader Bobby Seale, who faces a murder charge in New Haven, Conn.

Contractor Asks 87 More Days To Complete Mayfair Gardens

By WILLIAM COE (Herald Reporter)

An extension of 67 calendar days on the Mayfair Gardens elderly housing project has been requested by the general contractor, the Rocky Marciano Construction Co.

The request was contained in a letter from the contractor to the Manchester Housing Authority, and included a list of 10 items outlining the company's reasons for seeking additional time.

The major items were: "Re-design in kitchen cabinets to accommodate hot water heaters and refrigerators, 21 days; trucking strike causing delays in delivery of folding doors and hot water heaters, 14 days; vandalism and delay replacing stolen hot water heaters, etc., 14 days."

There were also items like these: "Bad weather and hold-ups, 7 days; snow removal, 7 days; additional excavation, backfill and compaction removal of rubbish and debris at Building B4."

Not at Meeting

The letter, dated July 30, was read into last night's meeting of the housing authority by Atty. Vincent Diana, MHA chairman.

The letter did not give a specific completion date, as requested by the MHA at a show-down session with Marciano representatives July 28 over project delays.

No one from the company attended last night's meeting to explain the extension requests.

The 78-unit federally financed housing project, in the North End redevelopment area, is being built by the Marciano Co., a Westwood, N.J., firm under a contract price of $988,000.

Flagged almost from the beginning by a series of delays, the project was due to have been completed June 10 but is still far from being finished.

MHA members last night were unhappy that the contractor was substituting for the walks, Rossetto pointed out. He said he believed Rossetto would be a good answer to solving the walk problems: "It should save work, and make it possible to smooth out the rough spots, and to raise the grades where they are low."

Rossetto noted in his progress report that some interior progress has been apparent since July 29, but that for the most part the work continues to move "pretty slowly."

He said that bathroom tile is now completed in 64 of the 78 living units, that much of the interior painting is done, that 60 hot water units are in, and that kitchen cabinets and sinks are complete in 52 units.

Exterior brickwork is in progress on two of the three buildings still not finished. The community building is now 70 per cent complete, and dry walls are up and ready for taping, Rossetto said.

RED Not Represented

During the discussion, members touched on the possibility of firing the contractor, but Diana said the housing authority could not act without first getting approval from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Her regional officials had been invited to the July 28 meeting, but no one attended, it was pointed out.

Diana also said he has directed that a letter from the MHA be sent to the project tenants notifying them officially of the delay and advising them that a move-in date cannot be given at present.

"It's the people who are waiting that I feel sorry for, and want to make it clear that we will do everything we possibly can to help them," he added.

Gordon Harmon, tenant relations adviser, said that he felt most of those on the list for apartments were aware of the delay and had made interim plans until completion of the project. To date, there have been almost no complaints from the prospective tenants, he reported.

Neighbor Complains

In other business, Diana presented a letter of complaint from Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Sweet of 42 N. School St., whose property abuts the northern side of the housing project.

They said newspaper accounts of MHA's problems with the project had prompted them to write, "to put some of this on record in order to protect our property."

"As property owners adjacent to the project, we have been subjected to many inconveniences in the past couple of years," the Sweets said.

Among these, they charged, the contractor had broken their sanitary sewer lines three separate times, and that the project grade level is higher than their property and has contributed to water runoff onto their land.

They also claim that their sewer cleanout has been damaged over by the contractor, and that a five-foot hole was dug in their lawn for a tree they didn't want.

The MHA decided to send copies of the letter to both the architect and the contractor.

Weiss Seeks Renovation of Saulters Pool

The Town Manager is recommending a $40,000 item in next year's budget (1971-72) for replacing the bathhouse at Saulters Swimming Pool, to be similar to the one at Swanton Pool, for replacing the filter with a modern type, similar to the one recently installed at Verplanck Pool; and for paving the Saulters parking area.

His recommendation follows a petition received last week from 120 signers, citing the "deplorable facilities at Saulters Swimming Pool," and calling on the town to "improve and repair the sanitary conditions and filter system."

Weiss, in a memo to the Board of Directors, states, "This facility (Saulters) apparently was built shortly after World War II, and has far outlived its normal life. Deterioration is such that patching would not produce satisfactory results, as far as the building is concerned, and the filter system should be replaced."

He suggests to the directors that they make a personal inspection of the Saulters facilities, during the current swimming season.

A room by room report of the facility by Michael Zotta, head lifeguard at Saulters, confirms the "dilapidated condition" charge contained in the petition. Zotta's room by room report contains such words as "rusty," "filthy fungus and mold-infested," "health hazard," "smells constantly," "no ventilation," and "unwholesome condition."

NEWTON KNEW?

NEW YORK (AP) — Can't depend on anything remaining unchanged these days, not even something as dependable as "the force of gravity."

Rival theories to determine the present precise pull of gravity are being tested, according to information made known at a recent conference of specialists in relativity held at the Institute for Space Studies operated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Some think gravity is weakening as the universe becomes older, while others feel that the force is becoming gradually stronger.

And then there are those who believe it takes an apple the same length of time to fall from a tree now as it did when Newton was around to record it.

Pact Builds Bridge Linking Bonn, Reds

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet and West German foreign ministers today initiated a new understanding between Bonn and Communist East Europe. The pact includes a renunciation of the use of force against each other and acceptance of present boundaries in Europe, including the Oder-Neisse line between Poland and East Germany. The Oder-Neisse frontier has been a major issue in Western talks since the Western allies refused to accept the 1945 Potsdam agreement on the subject. German sources said the treaty is primarily an acceptance of the realities that have existed in Eastern Europe for many years. They said the real significance of the pact can only be measured by the future development of relations between Bonn and Moscow. West German Foreign Minister Grottel said in a press conference that the pact would open the way to improved relations with other nations of the Soviet bloc as well as with the Soviet Union. Capital Gets Circus Air

WASHINGTON - As chairman of the Committee on Government Operations, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) faced Robert McNamara, an chairman of the permanent investigations subcommittee, he faced Joseph Walsh on organized crime. Thursday, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on federal charters, holidays and celebrations, he faced "Boom Boom," "Billy Lump," "Happy," and "Dynamite," "O'Leary" and "Holo." They had come to the new Senate office building to ask what ever happened to National Clown Week. Leading the sit-down delegation was Bill Bailey (alias "Boom Boom"), formerly of CBS "Big Top" and NBC's "Magie Midway." Bailey wore red and white singlets which matched his big red hair.

Postal Reform Seen Giving Extra Zip To Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress has released its grip on the U.S. mails after nearly two centuries and the Post Office Department will begin to shed its hands. The report said the rise in unemployment affected mostly women over 25 and men under 25. More than two years after a presidential commission recommended it, and more than two years after the legislation was introduced, Congress sent Thursday to President Nixon a bill creating an independent U.S. Postal Service. The White House hailed the occasion as "a landmark day" and a landmark piece of legislation needed to put the mails on a businesslike basis. There also would be a substantial rise in unemployment among white collar professional and clerical workers. The system is so vast and so complex that it has had many years' run for so many years we're not going to turn it around overnight." The Postal Service will receive a 5 percent pay hike for all 350,000 postal workers. It also makes an increase in first-class postage rates from the six-cent rate to an eight-cent stamp-equal bill. The new Postal Service will be run by a nine-man, presidentially-appointed board of governors who will select a postmaster general and deputy postmaster general.

Peace Talks Starting Soon On Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) - The stockpile of U.S. military equipment has been secretly prepared for decades to fight a war against the Soviet Union, more than 100 million tons of munitions, shells, and other weapons, some of which are stored and ready for use at military depots in the United States, West Germany and Oklahoma. "As much as we deplore this small part of America's CBW arsenal, it is never used. There should be one reason that we've learned from history and that to have the capability to retaliate against an enemy, we must have the capability to destroy him. It is not a deterrent, it is a shield. It is not a shield, it is a deterrent. It is not a deterrent, it is a shield." New Viet Plan Seen Speeding GI Pullout

SAIGON (AP) - American officers today disclosed a shift in strategy and said because of it U.S. forces possibly could be withdrawn in the next 11 months. The shift puts South Vietnamese forces in blocking and patrolling roles along the Cambodian and Laotian borders, reducing American units which are being pulled back to the interior of South Vietnam. It was the first shelling of the area in more than a month. Lt. Gen. Michael S. Davidson, commander of American forces in Saigon and the 11 surrounding provinces, said that in his region the national police are moving out into the countryside. The People's Self-Defense Force is being expanded and trained, and the Popular Forces have been expanded and improved. "Hopefully, by the time next June rolls around... the security of the population ought to be in pretty damn good hands so that the regular South Vietnamese army divisions no longer have to concern themselves about the populated areas," Davidson said. Prisoners Cheer, Yell For Music

DANMORRA, N.Y. (AP) - The strains of 17th and 18th century Baroque chamber music echoed through one of New York's toughest prisons Thursday - and 900 gray-suited convicts cheered and applauded. The Philadelphia Baroque Quartet wasn't prepared for the reaction. No one could remember the last time classical music was performed in the 135-year-old Clinton State Prison near the Canadian border. The inmates, whose attention was voluntarily, cheer, clapped and yelled in a manner most orchestras audiences would consider blasphemous. The quartet's fugal, a 21-year-old girl in a minstrel dress, didn't hurt the musicians' respect. Each time Deborah Carter moved stood, or crossed her legs under the bright flowered skirt, cheers erupted from the audience. Miss Carter, violinist Herbert Light, cellist George Harpham and pianist William Smith opened with the Trio Sonata in D Major by Jomelli and went on to pieces by Bach, La Cebra, Eccles, Loddell and Kroll. They had a tough act to follow as the prisoners, who were in the prison population and by their reaction, "they're impressed," he said, looking over the audience. (See Page Eleven)

Peace Talks Starting Soon On Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Navy has agreed to supply Arab and Israeli diplomats today on peace talks procedures. The capability should be understood by the U.S. Navy, which would get underway on the island of Cyprus in about 10 days. Jarring is meeting in New York with the U.N. ambassador from Egypt, Jordan and Israel, whose governments all have accepted the U.S. proposal for a 90-day cease-fire and indirect negotiations with Jarring in Tel Aviv, Israeli officials said. In fact, Jarring said he was working out details of a cease-fire plan, and reliable sources said it could take effect "in a matter of days." "It is a very serious consideration to U.S. suggestion that Egypt and Israel police the cease-fire themselves. But the African Cairo newspaper Al-Sharq said Egypt would turn down the offer. Leading the sit-down delegation was Bill Bailey (alias "Boom Boom"), formerly of CBS "Big Top" and NBC's "Magie Midway." Bailey wore red and white singlets which matched his big red hair. Another clown present was "Holo" Jewawski, a past president of Clowns of America, a clown coalition based in Baltimore. Jewawski wore a torn black suit with a patch on the back. "Official U.S. Taxpayer." "You have a few tags left," Sen. McClellan wryly commented. "We'll have to get them too." The clowns were lobbying for a resolution for National Clown Week, normally Aug. 1 (See Page Nine)

U.S. Ready for Germ Warfare

The stockpile of U.S. military equipment has been secretly prepared for decades to fight a war against the Soviet Union, more than 100 million tons of munitions, shells, and other weapons, some of which are stored and ready for use at military depots in the United States, West Germany and Oklahoma. "As much as we deplore this small part of America's CBW arsenal, it is never used. There should be one reason that we've learned from history and that to have the capability to retaliate against an enemy, we must have the capability to destroy him. It is not a deterrent, it is a shield. It is not a shield, it is a deterrent. It is not a deterrent, it is a shield." The standard U.S. nerve gas is said to be GB, the type now being disposed of, which kills by inhibiting the enzyme which releases muscular contraction. Less than an drop will cause the victim to fall unconscious and die of asphyxiation in minutes. (See Page Eleven)
