Pastor Resumes Review Series

The Rev. Dr. Clifford O. Simpson, pastor of Center Congregational Church, will resume a series of book reviews Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Center Church library.

A year ago, Dr. Simpson began the series which he called "Tuesday Mornings at 10." This year's sessions will be held each Tuesday during October at 10 a.m., and are open to all those interested.

Books to be discussed are "Only One Year" by Svetlana Alkhayeva, daughter of Joseph Stalin, "Zola" by Nancy Mitford, wife of Scott Fitzgerald; "Madam Sarah," on the life of Sarah Bernhardt, by Cornelia Otis Skinner; and "The Kingdom and the Power" by Guy Talbot, which is about the New York Times.

Queen Elizabeth II Lunches with Nixon

CHEQUERS, England (AP) - President and Mrs. Nixon lunched today with Queen Elizabeth II at the country home of Britain's prime ministers - an interlude sandwiched between business conferences with Prime Minister Edward Heath.

It was the first time the sovereign had lunched at the estate, Chequers, and many Britons considered the precedent a special salute to the Nixon.

Several hundred persons stood outside the main entrance to the estate, 30 miles northwest of London, as the queen arrived in her clear-colored Rolls-Royce limousine eight minutes behind schedule. She had broken her vacation at Balmoral, Castle in Scotland to attend the luncheon, and had flown to a nearby Royal Air Force base.

The prime minister told Nixon that under the terms of the agreement that made Chequers available to prime ministers 40 years ago the property is to be used only for rest and recreation.

The president and prime minister conferred on Tuesday, the first day of peace in the Middle East since Vietnam's withdrawal from the country.

The Nixon stopped in Britain for five hours en route from Spain to Ireland, final stop on a two-day European tour.

They had left Communist Yugoslavia on Friday morning, and the queen asked Nixon: "How did you find President Tito?"

"He's 78 but he has the vigor of a man of 50," President Nixon replied.

The queen told the visiting American that her sister, Princess Margaret, had spent a week in Yugoslavia last summer and had reported "it was just marvelous."

The monarch wore a coral wool coat and matching hat and a coral and white print dress.

Nixon had on a peony red two-piece suit with skirt beneath the knee, a white blouse and black mink pillbox hat.

The president sported a gray suit, normally a one of his favorites, and the prime minister wore a pinstriped black suit.

The sun emerged from threatening clouds just as the luncheon party stepped into the garden to walk among blooming red roses surrounded by boxwood hedges.

Nixon and Heath were alone the greater part of their luncheon, but they were joined by Mrs. Margaret Hayes, Nixon's special assistant for national affairs.

Time for a second conference was set for after lunch - a rather full-fledged banquet of fish, salmon, roast sirloin of beef with vegetables, and ice cream with mangoes, strawberries and fruit.

At 10:15 a.m. the president and prime minister were joined by Mrs. Margaret Hayes, Nixon's special assistant for national affairs.

Fists Fly When Jet Fails To

LONDON (AP) - Pilots and four-tiered jets flew at London's Heathrow airport Friday when a jumbo jet failed to take off.

The fracas flared among American passengers who crowded around the plane as it failed to take off.

College Football Stars Killed When Plane Hits Mountain

By CARL B. HILLIARD Associated Press Writer

SILVER PLUME, Colo. (AP) - The cream of the Wichita State University football team, its top athletic officials and some of its most loyal fans were killed Friday when their game-bound plane crashed into a mountainside while trying to cross the Continental Divide.

Twenty-nine persons, 12 of them players, were killed. Eleven others, including nine players, a copilot and a team trainer survived.

The Colorado State Patrol said there was no chance of other survivors among the 40 persons listed as passengers and crew on the twin-engine Martin 404.

The aircraft, dubbed the "Gold Plane" by the team, was one of two taking the squad, its coaching staff and boosters to Coalinga, Utah, for a game today with the Utah State Utes.

The crash, a few minutes after 11 a.m. on Friday, was the second in a series of accidents involving the team's plane.

The "Black Plane," arrived safely with 34 persons, including 23 players and five staff coaches, aboard. The game was called off and the rest of the 11-game season probably will be canceled.

Among those presumed dead were the athletic director, A. C. "Bert" Katzenmeyer, the head football coach, Billie Williams, and Kansas State Rep. Ray King and Wichita banker John Amarrillo.

The list also included Marvin Brown, the team's second leading rusher; Gene Robinson, the team's top receiver; and Ray Coleman of Wichita, a five-year letterman at Kansas State.

Better Diagnosis Than Cure. Some documents manage to be compelling because of the clarity with which they fashion their fact and opinion into public statement.

This certainly goes — particularly on the diagnosis side — for the report of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

As it makes its evaluation of the experience through which we have been passing, as it appraises the situation we now face, former Governor Scranton's Commission, or the author of its report, fashions statement after statement which is convincing and irrefutable in its analysis.

We can muster very little quarrel, as we go through the diagnosis section of the summary of the report, with statements such as the following:

"This crisis has roots in divisions of American society as deep as any since the Civil War. It is not a new crisis."

"We believe it urgent that Americans of all convictions draw back from the brink. We must recognize even our bitter opponents as fellow Americans with rights upon which we cannot morally or legally encroach and as fellow human beings whom we must not club, stone, shoot or bomb."

"We utterly condemn violence. Students who bomb and burn are criminals. Police and National Guardsmen who needlessly shoot or assault students are criminals. All who applaud these criminal acts share in their evil."

"No grievances, philosophy, or political ideas can justify the destruction and killing we have witnessed. There can be no sanctuary or immunity from prosecution on the campus. If our society is to survive, criminal acts by students must be met wherever they occur and wherever their purpose."

"We find ominous and shocking reports that students are leaving in supplies of weapons and that others are preparing to take the law into their hands against protesters and minorities they dislike. There can be no such thing as a society for vigilantes, night-riders, or militants who would bring destruction and death upon their opponents. No one serves the law by breaking it."

"Americans have never shared a single culture, a single philosophy or a single religion. But in most periods of our history, we have shared many common values, common sympathies and a common dedication to a system of government which protects our diversity."

"We are now in grave danger of losing what is common among us through growing intolerance of opposing views on issues and in diversity itself."

"A nation driven to use the weapons of war upon its youth is a nation on the edge of chaos. A nation that has lost the allegiance of part of its youth is a nation that has lost part of its future."

"All Americans must come to see each other not as symbols or stereotypes but as human beings."

"Reconciliation must begin."

the relationship between race, the war in Vietnam. It calls upon all of us in every field to devote ourselves to such ideals, and to refrain from abrasive language and conduct.

And with a flattery noble in purpose but unfair in its assignment of responsibility and performance, the Commission is to place a great special burden on the President himself.

"Only the President," says the Commission, "can offer the compassionate, reconciling moral leadership that can bring the country together again. Only the President has the platform and prestige to urge all Americans, at once to step back from the battle lines into which they are forming."

"Only the President, by example and by instruction, can effectively calm the rhetoric of both public officials and protesters whose words in the past have too often served to divide the country, rather than unite it."

The course of inspirational conduct recommended to the President is beautiful. But the Commission's similar, but slightly less eloquent exhortations to the rest of us are no less important.

There has to be responsive ground, for the good seeds to fall upon and the good example to warm.

One thing the Commission's report does: It makes us all think with alarm over the state into which we have drifted; it makes us all wish there were some answers that could be put down in paper. If, in addition, it makes us wish, quite badly, there were something we ourselves could do, that will be better than just to par for a commiseration.

Toward Understanding. Service on President Nixon's Commission on Campus Unrest has come close to being the most stirring extra-curricular episode in my professional life. And that includes membership on President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals in 1960.

The need of bridging the gap of understanding between the conventional culture and the "new" born largely shared by these people, is very serious indeed. It exists all over the world, but especially in an advanced industrial society like the United States.

The contents of the Scranton commission report are being widely read. I would like to emphasize here some points which I think are of particular importance to people with no partisan political overtones whatever, came to grow together in a very real way.

We nine have all sorts of differences in life experience, in race, in age, in style. But after we had looked at the facts, we had very little difficulty in agreeing, we had followed our own consciences, we had written our report in the exact terms in which it appears. But on the last and final paragraph, we were deeply in accord.

We are all fully in accord in condemning the present state of affairs. We recognize the seriousness of the situation. We are all fully in accord in condemning the present state of affairs. We recognize the seriousness of the situation.

"The crisis, in our view, is one of violence on both sides which must be condemned and prevented — and understanding — which must be awakened."

"The law must be enforced. But as an anti-lunar project which fills its history in its early stages, but, with time instruments and the identification of the first magnitude was achieved and the lunar crater was achieved with magnificent results."

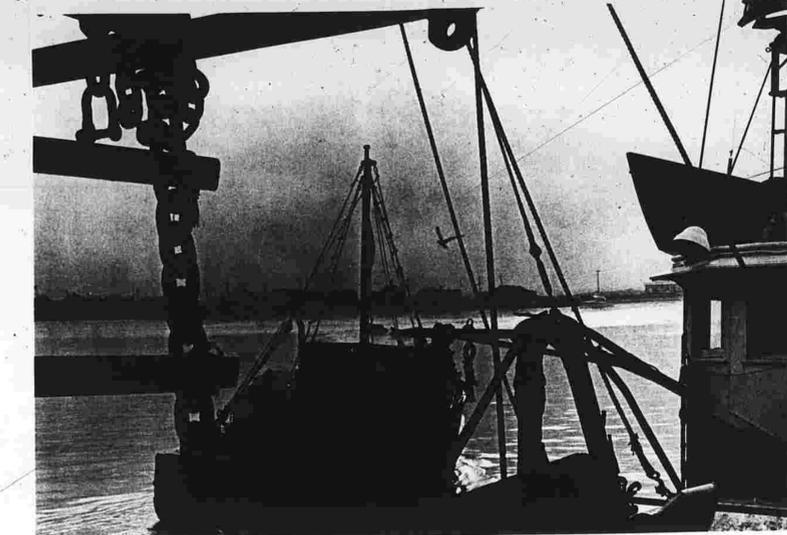

"Curiously, the second plateau has also taken 10 years, but the two plateaus have overlapped. While the first plateau has cost the United States about $20 billion, the second has cost us about $25 billion."

"The third plateau began in 1967 when we launched a planetary flyby past Mars. This will be followed in 1971 by a Mars Orbiter and, finally, in 1973 by the Viking Project — that of putting an Orbiter around Mars and having a soft-lander descend to the surface."

"While these planetary flybys are under way, we will not ignore the moon, which was won so costly in 1972 lunar exploration will begin in earnest and I hope to see a permanent settlement on the moon by 1980."

"The permanent settlement on the moon, established at a cost of about $10 billion, will be able to 'live off' the moon by itself. They will use the water from subsurface sources, or the rocks, to provide not only water but oxygen and hydrogen. The oxygen will be used as an atmosphere and the hydrogen can be used for fuel. Hydroponic gardens and algae ponds may provide some of the food for the lunar pioneers and the necessary materials, such as medicines, plastics, rubber, detergents and so forth, may be synthesized from the basic elements. The moon settlement may be self-sustaining by 1980."

"I learned that the American nation must move toward deeper mutual respect, away from violence, toward respect of planetary flybys, 1973 may also see flights

Wonders of the Universe The Next Steps in Space

By DR. I. M. LEVITT, DIRECTOR The Franklin Institute

The dramatic Apollo moon flights have brought us to the end of one era and the beginning of another in the Space Age. The ease with which the Apollo astronauts accomplish their historic mission means that the departure from the earth to flyby or orbit the planets is not nearly as forbidding as once imagined.

The Space Age today has reached the second of three plateaus on the way toward manned landings on the planets. The first plateau was achieved in 1967 with the successful launching of Sputnik 1. Others — both Russian and American — followed within a few months.

"Later, the Russians started the world with their first manned space flight. Within a few months, man had successfully risen above the atmosphere to orbit the earth."

In 1969 the Russians once more putted a coup; they not only succeeded in hitting the moon but launched a lunar spacecraft which circled the moon to relay to earth the first pictures of the moon's hidden side.

Four and more satellites were launched, and, finally, successful Mars probes were launched — Venus — and Mars by the United States and the Russians launched their first manned space flight. Within a few months, man had successfully risen above the atmosphere to orbit the earth."

"Dear Sir: We are sorry we ran over your lawn. We came today and raked it up the best we could. We won't do it any more."

"The note bore two signatures, which were not disclosed."

Never Again. ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jack Nelson of suburban Olivette found his lawn charred by a nuclear missile when he returned from a recent trip.

When Nelson got home after work Thursday, he found the damage largely repaired and a note on his front door, which would normally have been knocking at the Senate door.

"The purpose of all liberal education is the development of a critical spirit against a background of expanding knowledge."

"The note bore two signatures, which were not disclosed."

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

For at least the three past years, the State Senate at Hartford has been suffering from collective hardening of its arteries. This has no particular reference to the age of the individual senators involved, many of whom were still relatively young in years. It was a malady which reflected their length of service in the Senate.

A fine collection of young hopefuls came into the Senate on the coast tails of the great Ronald Reagan presidential campaign in 1968, and this "Class of 1968" remained, ever after, the nucleus of new leadership in the state's upper chamber.

As their seniority grew, they became not only more experienced, but more cynical, not only more capable, but also more bored. The Senate began to be essentially the same body, year after year, even though there were occasional changes in its membership.

The Senate refined its way of doing business down to the 95 per cent caucus, five per cent public kind of action which required a minimum of performance on the floor.

Within his caucus, the Senate grew more and more reactive under the outside leadership of the party organization itself. A trend which was climaxed in the 1969 session, by the Senate's outright defiance of Governor Branford's proposal to draw the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and U.S. Catholic Conference, in a statement.

"The purpose of all liberal education is the development of a critical spirit against a background of expanding knowledge."

Center Church Scout Troop Opens New Hampshire Camp

A dream came true for Boy Scout Troop 25, sponsored by Center Congregational Church, this past August, with the opening of its own camp, Camp Kirkham, on Dodge Pond in East Lempster, N.H.

The 11-acre site, in southern New Hampshire, about 10 miles from Lake Sunapee, was purchased last year through funds raised from troop families and alumni to replace a Connecticut campsite no longer available.

Through countless hours of hard work by troop members over many months, with adult help, Camp Kirkham was constructed out of the wilderness and is in full operation by mid-August.

The move for a site of its own began last year when it was announced that the troop had rented for several years at the Lake of Isles Scout Reservation in North Johnson, Conn. This would no longer be available because of the Charter Act Council's expansion.

The Dodge Pond site was approved by the troop staff and committee in July of 1969 after a search for an alternate site within a reasonable distance of Manchester, and development of the camp began immediately.

Two groups of Senior Scouts cleared hundreds of trees for the waterfront, campsite area, campus, kitchen and wash hall, and for an access road.

"The Camp Kirkham Corporation was established as a non-profit corporation in the State of New Hampshire, with the following officers: President, Harry S. Malden as president. The other trustees are: Harold Whittey, center, 81 Russell St., 647-9222, from 1 to 9 p.m., Community Y, N. Main St. 8 - 11 p.m., bowling, pool and dancing, open to senior high school students, 830 Main St., 647-9222, from 1 to 9 p.m., The Little Theatre of Manchester, 631 Main St., 647-9222, from 1 to 9 p.m., contact 647-9222 for reservations."

"I had to tell someone," she wrote the chamber, "as I do not want what they represented."

Israeli Scouts. A high school senior program has been the boys' opportunity to live and work with two scouts from Israel.

The first week, Sherry and Dady joined this year-old age group on a Connecticut River camp trip, and the second week they stayed with the entire troop camp.

On three different evenings, films on life in Israel were shown and the scouts had an opportunity to discuss them and ask questions of Sherry and Dady.

During the entire encampment of the Israel flag flew over Camp Kirkham, together with the U.S. and the troop ensign.

John Nikitwig, Elected and Nikiwig, the Troop Honor Scout, near the close of camp, said that the trip was a most enjoyable one.

He later wrote to the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, "These scouts, by their example, and scoutmaster, did the City of Manchester proud. They are, in my estimation, a credit to our community."

"One again, an experienced scoutmaster and a junior scoutmaster, both of whom are staff in the Scout office, are planning to visit the camp in the next few days."

Patrol led by Scoutmaster, Ernest Cook, 212 Main St., 647-9222, 8:30 a.m. - 9 p.m., contact 647-9222 for reservations.

Bonds Slip, Short Term Rates Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Municipal bond prices registered sharp declines the past week while prices of government and corporate issues dipped moderately. The investment banking firm of Salomon Bros. reported Friday.

Although the government sector developed more strength to Treasury bill rates rose a little, after a decline of more than 50 basis points in the previous two weeks. However, several private money market rates continued to decline by as much as 10 to 15 basis points.

Federal funds rose for the first week since early September. Three month Euro-dollar rates were sharply higher.

Prices on seasoned corporate bonds declined a sharp advance the week before which had met with investor resistance. The issue yields rose somewhat, the bulk of the week's numerous issues were negotiated at a ferries, and most sold well.

Recent as well as seasoned issues were lower in price, with deeper discounts showing the sharpest drops.

Andover Annual Town Meeting Scheduled for Monday

The annual town meeting of the town of Andover will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Andover Elementary School. The meeting will elect three persons to the Memorial Day Committee for the next year. Reports of various town officials and boards will be heard and approved.

On the voting agenda will be a change in the name of Old Estate Road No. 2 (running from the intersection of Route 6 and Route 87 to Route 6 east of Bunker Hill Road) to Merritt Valley Road and use of the elementary school as a polling place. Because of the increase in voters, it will now be necessary, according to state law,
to provide the town with three voting machines. The present location of election in the town office building, is not considered adequate in space, especially with the addition of a voting machine.

Two other items, both involving ordinance changes, will be discussed. The town will be asked to adopt an ordinance authorizing the chairman of the Board of Finance, the First Selectman
and the chairman of the Board of Planning and Zoning Commission, to establish a schedule of fees for permits issued under the provisions of the state's building code adopted by Andover, and the Second Selectman, to issue Ordinance, if adopted by Andover, to amend the schedule of fees necessary for the operation of a trailer and truck rental business on their property.

The board granted the following: a permit to allow the operation of a trailer and truck
rental business on their property. The board granted the following: a permit to allow the
operation of a trailer and truck
rental business on their property.

Staff at Cheney Tech Fetes Veteran Director

rector of Cheney Technical School and served in that capacity for five years. In 1963 he was appointed to the position of director of the Hartford National Bank &
Trust Co. at 505 Main St., Hartford.

Mr. Manganello is the only director in the state vocational-technical school system who holds a doctor's degree. His PH.D. in vocational education, awarded in 1960, was earned
at the University of Connecticut.
He received his B.S. degree
from New Britain Teachers College in 1958. Subsequently, he enrolled in summer courses
evening courses and other courses which might be taken in his spare time while he pursued a very busy teaching career.

He received his M.S. degree
from New Britain Teachers Col-

Tolland County Politics Daddario Vows Action On Problems of I-84

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Emilio Daddario promised last night to work with Tolland County State Senator Robert Hoadley "to do something about I-84 together."

promise while addressing last night's theater party sponsored by the Vernon Democratic Town Committee.

The evening had all the trappings of a political rally, although the speeches were limited to Daddario's "I-84" and Hoadley's "I-84." Hoadley, who served as master of ceremonies,
introducing the candidates
attending the function including Second Congressional District candidate John Pickett,
Hoadley county sheriff candidate
Nicholas Pawlik; 4th Assembly
District candidate Thomas Dool
and probable judge candidate
Thomas Rody of Vernon.

Brian Burke one of U.S. Senator Joseph Duffey's aides, represented him and Duffey sent his regards at the event in his schedule of appearances.

Also on hand was State Rep.
Renato Calchera of Stafford and Vernon's present Democratic State Rep. Gerry Allen, as well as Deputy Secretary of State
Stan Hammen.

Turning the various primary caucuses for the creation of day care centers for preschool children to be started by volunteer citizens willing to participate as counselors.

Pickett has also called for the creation of day care centers for thousands of young people. Pickett cited unemployment rates among persons 16 to 21,
the GOP charge that state's problems, particularly budget problems, are caused by their lack of the Republican national policy.

"The major responsibility for managing programming has been placed at the working Youth Opportunity Council on the Republican national policy."

Attacking Agnew's failure to spend considerable time last summer in a full membership worker, his problems and his added Agnew has never met with the success of the membership present high unemployment rates to those in excess of 1968 when he should devote more of his time to working on human problems
rather than throwing out the Republican and never not can do better than us," Daddario stated, "but they don't say how."

Although the other candidates didn't address the party on a formal basis they mingled with the guests outside the theatre and formed a reception line as it became time for the activities to begin.

Weicker Meets Record; Claims Duffey Trailing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —
Republican Congressman Lowell
P. Weicker Jr., claiming "an in-fantesimal edge" so far in the U.S. Senate race, said he was ahead of his Democratic opponent, Sen. Frank Duffey, in his district. Weicker's lead was only "a few percentage points,"
he said.

Weicker, when asked if he was an underdog, answered: "No, doubt about it." He said, however, that preliminary data from a poll he had taken shows him with a slight lead over the Republican Duffey, the Democratic candidate.

A poll commissioned by the Duffey forces showed Duffey 6 percentage points ahead of Weicker.

The time has come to lay the records aside, Weicker said, adding that Duffey's record is "replete with protest, demonstrations and dissent." Weicker asked, who is seeking re-election
as an independent Weicker said.
"I don't think the Dodd situation is that will pose any great threat."

Independent or third-party candidates tend to lose strength as the election approaches Weicker
said.

"My opponent is Duffey," he said. "I think I am, too."

Weicker, speaking at a news conference in the state Capitol, disclaimed all talk about who
he thought was the favorite.
He said, "I don't think he's unpopular."

Weicker indicated, however,
that he believed Duffey had moderated his positions on some issues in order to win votes.
Asked about the possibility of President Nixon's coming to connecticut to campaign for him, Weicker said he wants the President to come.

Weicker said the record is clear that he has disagreed with Nixon and with Vice President
Spiro Agnew on some points, but "we're all members of the same party."

Manchester 'On the Ball' In Hiring Handicapped

"Get on the Ball, Mr. Employer, Hire the Handicapped!"
is the message being played red, black and white posters exhibited in town observance of National Employed the Physically Handicapped Week which starts tomorrow.

The Wapping School PTA will be sponsoring this school observance on Tuesday.
This previously announced observance has been scheduled for that day has been postponed until Nov. 10.

The observance at the meeting will be by Mrs. Alice V. Mc-A.C.B.W., chief psychiatric social worker of the Community Club Guidance Clinic of Manchester. She will discuss the services offered by the clinic and her talks will focus on how a child needs professional help.
The clinic is a member agency
of the Greater Hartford Community Council.

Veron Police Suspect Foul Play In Waite's Death

VERNON, Conn. (AP) — Police say they suspect foul play
in the death of Robert L.
Waite, who was found dead in a wooded area near his home Thursday morning after being missing since Labor Day.

Police Chief James Dwyer said
Friday the case was considered a homicide. He noted that articles of clothing and a small amount of money were found near the body.

An investigation is under way
in an attempt to trace Waite's actions on Labor Day, Dwyer
said.

Waite, 22, who lived in the community of Rockville, died of a fractured skull, according to Dr.
Elliott Gross, the state's chief pathologist. Autopsy tests have not yet been completed.

achievement.

Mrs. Graham, 76, received the award for her company opened its 1970 season at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.
The award is presented by the city and the state.

An academy spokesman said Mrs. Graham would continue as choreographer for the company and will further remain as head of the Martha Graham Dance
School.

MMH Will Close West Driveway

Beginning Monday and continuing through Thursday of next week, the west driveway
at Manchester Memorial Hospital will be closed to traffic,
hospital officials announced.

The driveway, which leads to the boiler room area, will be closed on the right proceeding up Haynes St.

The present emergency route
probably for the next year to 14 months. The present emergency route will be closed to traffic
on Thursday, that driveway
will be reopened and will serve as the route to the emergency room area until further notice.
The change is necessary, hospital officials explain, to allow for the start of construction on the $17 million expansion of the emergency room and physical therapy facilities, which will consist of a 26,800 square foot,
two-level addition.

The addition will be located between the new east wing, nearing completion, and the present emergency room.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
by Eugene Breuer

No member of a church must agree with all the views held by every other member, but when the majority of a denomination adopt a doctrinal or moral position, it is impossible for a member to divorce himself from that position. A recent survey indicates that the views of the American denominations Adam and Eve are discredited by 85%, 86%, 87%, and 88%. The Scriptures as the inspired, inerrant Word of God are rejected by 85%, 86%, 87%, and 88%. Denominational names finished upon request.

You may be a believer in all these Biblical teachings, but if your church has discarded them, you uphold its liberalism by your continued membership. Such aberrations should arouse you to put your whole religious allegiance to an unprecedented Biblical comparison.

Nolan and Ellis Draw Starting Pitching Assignments, Reds Hold Season Edge, 8-4 Managers Not Concerned With Past Performances

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Without a victory against the first two hitters of the month without pressure. The Reds, however, had to go to the final week before wrapping up the season. The Mets won early and Benches, 45; the top two RBI guys, who won 13 and 10, says he's going to challenge the league in a money dispute and might be replaced by minor league pitchers for the best of today's first game of the best of 5 series.

Cincinnati skipper Sparky Anderson is going with Gary Nolan who posted an 18-7 record at Pittsburgh, and Pirates' boss Danny Murtaugh is relying on Dock Ellis, who lost three times

Joe Kapp Didn't Complete Long Bomb For Touchdown But Scores on Paper

NEW YORK (AP) — Sunday game against Baltimore. Joe Kapp, the million dollar holdout in pro football didn't complete a long bomb for a touchdown, but he finally scored on paper.

The star quarterback who led the Minnesota Vikings to the National Football League title last year, surprised everyone in the sport by abruptly ending his contract with the Vikings and signing with the Boston Patriots instead of the Dallas Cowboys.

It's doubtful, but it's possible Kapp might get into Boston's

Five From Town Will Attend Library Confab

Five members of the Manchester Public Library staff will attend the Oct. 7-10 annual conference of the New England Library Association at Wentworth-by-the-Sea, Portsmouth, N.H. More than 1,000 regional librarians are expected to attend. John F. Jackson, head librarian, is Connecticut Library Association representative to the New England Library Association and also chairman of the regional association membership committee. Other department heads attending will be Miss Marion Jessemann, children's room; Mrs. Margaret K. Smith, circulation; Miss Elinor Hashim, reference; and Mrs. Eva Prentice, catalog.

Guest speakers will be Ogden Nash, poet; Lillian Bradshaw, American Library Association president, who will comment on the condition of librarianship in the nation; and Russell Baker, lecturer and columnist of the New York Times.

Discussion topics include reaching the unreachd, participatory management, school library media, the right to read and early childhood, cataloging-in-publication, and bibliography.

A Litter for Lassie

Lassie's litter debuts spectacularly over the CBS television network. The famous collie is involved in a seven-part series featuring her offspring and involving their killer-dog father on Channel 3.

Chasing a TV Tune

Music To Fit The Mood

"We have new film on that fire burning in Manhattan and we need fire music. We're on in five minutes. Suggestion, please!"

"We have nice footage of ducks in Central Park for 'Eleventh Hour News.' We're on in half an hour and we need music. Help!"

She is used to it by now: Phone calls at home, early evening or late at night, from NBC producers or directors in need of instant musical aid. And she is able to tell them, instantly, in most cases, what to use and where to find recordings of it in the record stacks of Music Selection at NBC headquarters in the RCA Building in New York.

The lady with the remarkable ear is Phebe Haas, who has been on duty with Music Selection since 1950.

It's not always "rush!" in Music Selection, though. What happens usually is that a producer of a news documentary, for example, calls and says, "Come look at the rough cut and supply the music." Or the producer of a dramatic show will send the script in advance, asking where the music should go and what it should be.

Time Range

The music she and her colleague, Robert Geissinger, are asked to set up may range from a 10-second spot to a 12-minute "Today" feature, an hour-long new documentary or a 90-minute drama.

First comes the direction as to where the music should go. Then, what the music might be. "It's always the show itself that dictates the kind of music we pick," Mrs. Haas says. "If we can localize the film in time and place, fine. Stravinsky was used for the NBC News documentary 'Bravo Picasso!' Faure and Ravel we used for a recent 'Today' feature on the huge Matisse exhibition in Paris.

"If you can't localize the film in time and place, the music has to be pure mood. With the Dupont Show of the Week, 'Don't Go Upstairs', starring James Daley, we had a strange psychological drama and we decided to use nothing but woodwinds, because you can create and maintain a particular mood."

No Fashions

Vogues or fashions? "There aren't any," says Mrs. Haas. "NBC producers range the gamut and we adapt."

But, she admits: "An awful lot of shows today are on drug addiction. There's no handy springboard for selection, except that we use a more or less contemporary flavor. We are not rock specialists—but we're getting there, because we have to."

For "The Workout," a recent religious dramatic program, Mr. Geissinger scored the show with one composition in many different arrangements. His selection was "Eleanor Rigby," the Beatles' tune, and it was used over and over—"to give the viewpoint of the college-age son in this generation-gap drama," he said.

Director's Mood

Interaction with the director is of major importance, especially on dramatic shows, Mrs. Haas says. Her most chilling job experience—"outside of plain unpleasant temperament"—was with a dramatic script Arthur Penn sent her, without comment, for musical scoring.

"I took it to be a serious Thomas Wolfe 'You Can't Go Home Again' kind of thing, and scored it that way. When Penn came in to hear the music, it was all wrong. The play, it turned out, wasn't meant to be serious, and I had to start over."

Most music used as background, one learns, is orchestral. "Very rarely is vocal music required as background or mood," says Mrs. Haas. "It is obtrusive."

But Geissinger points out that they do use single instruments: "Guitar, oboe, flute — that's about it."

Familiar Tunes

In most cases it is better to use unfamiliar music, according to Mrs. Haas. "You don't distract the viewer that way. If you use familiar music, the viewer might almost remember the title, but not quite, and concentrate on trying to recall the name."

There are times, however,

Puppet Show

Channel 24 this Sunday will present a program of puppetry at 8 p.m. The program was arranged by the UConn Department of Theater. It was arranged from a week-long festival of puppetry at the University in May.

when it is better to have something associated with a subject, she says, because the subject is then immediately established. NBC News' "First Tuesday," for example, recently used "Lara's Theme" from the "Dr. Zhivago" film for a report on American tourists in Siberia.

Limit On Scores

For a feature like the Matisse report on "Today" there is no limitation on the music that can be used, for the report is not going to be repeated.

"Now, but not 10 years ago," Mrs. Haas says, "many programs are sold overseas. Music for any show that is to be repeated must be limited to selections in public domain or that can be negotiated for world-wide rights.

Women On Hope Special

Seventeen comedienne help Bob Hope tell the tale of "the day women took over the network" as he ushers in his 1970-71 series of specials on NBC Television Network's "The Bob Hope Show" Monday, in color at 9 p.m.

Hope opens the program in the kitchen of his home, where reporter Virginia Graham asks for the story of the NBC comedy star's retreat to the home front now that the Women's Liberation Movement has driven him from TV eminence.

He relates for her the story of his TV specials being taken over by emcee Phyllis Diller while a TV executive (Nanette Fabray) rearranges the schedule with a "Bonanza" staffed by "Ma Cartwright" (Kaye Ballard) and her daughters "Hoss" (Jo Anne Worley) and "Little Josie" (Imogene Coca).

Hope tells of the evening news-Brinkley" (Irene Ryan), the (Minnie Pearl) and "Irene cast with "Minnie Humley" lady cab driver who takes him NBC studios (Tottie Fields), his agent who gives him the bad news about employment of men (Ruth Buzzi), the replacement of his dresser and makeup man by two women (Martha Raye and Teresa Redgraves).

The new guard at NBC's gate (Nancy Walker), the new member of the Los Angeles Rams (Zsa Zsa Gabor), his unsuccessful attempt to do TV commercials for a spaghetti company and the final ignominy of being "Your Rabbit Bobby" at a Play-girl Club, where three traveling saleswomen (Shella MacRae, Edie Adams and Connie Stevens) ogle him.

Music for the one-hour color special is by Les Brown and his Band of Renown. The show, produced by Mort Lachman and directed by Dick McDonough, was written by Lachman and Bill Larkin, Lester White and Mel Tolkin, Charles Lee and Gig Henry, Lloyd Turner and Gordon Mitchell, and Ray Parker. Consultant is Norman Sullivan. Bob Hope is executive producer.

rights to perform music on a show once.

This covered the Matisse show with Faure and Ravel, who are protected. But the moment a show is syndicated, that lump sum ceases to exist — you have a needle-drop fee.

Faure and Ravel would be too expensive. So, what you do is use music specially composed for broadcasting libraries."

Composers for these libraries write in the idiom of Ravel or Aaron Copland, say, deliberately for this purpose.

Own Library

NBC Enterprises is engaged now in setting up, under the supervision of Mrs. Haas and Geissinger, its own musical background library, and recently recorded nine hours of music in Europe.

"We got a group of composers in the United States and told them what moods were required," Mrs. Haas says. "Americana, archaeology, sports, marches, non-specified period music, pastoral, industrial, fashion (which has to have a beat so you can walk to it) are just some of them."

"We brought back 18 reels of tape and are selling the service to others, both domestic and foreign broadcasters, as well as using it ourselves."

"This will supplement the many libraries already in existence that are available from different publishers."

Last year Mrs. Haas set up a Music Selection department at NBC's West Coast studios in Burbank.

Emmy Winner

Mrs. Haas, a native New Yorker, graduated from Vassar College with a major in music.
