No One Injured Bombs Rock Rochester Synagogues

By DON WATERS Associated Press Writer ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Explosions rocked two synagogues today and authorities said there appeared to be a connection between the bombings of several buildings here 15 days ago.

Enforcement tools provided by the new law plus the support of all citizens, may "save the lives of thousands of young people who might otherwise be hooked on drugs," Nixon said.

The drug bill eases somewhat the penalties for narcotics and drug users, stiffens penalties for professional drug traffickers and extends federal controls over previously unregulated drugs.

Nixon, addressing himself to "all of you who may be seeing this signing ceremony or hearing it," said drug use among people is a major national crisis.

The bill establishes five schedules or categories of narcotics and dangerous drugs, with hard narcotics, hallucinogenic drugs and marijuana being in schedule one.

On display as the President signed were charts describing the drug use in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas, which hard narcotics and hallucinogenic drugs worth more than $5 million were seized.

Also on the table was a quantity of cash, part of $24,000 that was seized by federal agents in Detroit.

Television Debate Tonight Could Be Crucial In Three-Way Race for U.S. Senate Seat

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF AP Political Writer HARTFORD, CONN. (AP)—When Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario was nominated last June to succeed the late Sen. Joseph P. Kamp, Daddario was expected to lead in his three-way race against Republican Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. and Sen. J. Daddario.

But a week before Election Day, Daddario appears to be lagging badly, while an impartial poll shows Duffy with a narrow lead in his three-way race against Republican Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. and Sen. J. Daddario.

The reason may be largely a stronger-than-expected showing in polls by Daddario, a law-and-order advocate, who is drawing more Republican than Democratic votes.

Against such a background, tonight's televised debate among the three contenders could prove crucial.

Many top Democrats still fear that Daddario, the first Italian-American candidate for governor, can pull close to a defeat—Republican Rep. Thom...

month ago, had increased to 44 percent in the Hartford area. Daddario's lead in the area was 22 percent in the Hartford area.

With the state's cost-of-living increases matching or surpassing those of the national rate, and unemployment reaching 16 percent in some industrial centers, it's a time when voters are looking for a change.

Republican Chairman Howard Hanuman conceded in an interview that he was not sure he could win. He said he was not sure he could win.

Bridgeport Quartet Dies In Shooting

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—Four persons, two of them children, were shot and killed in a duplex apartment here Monday night, and the man police say went on a shooting spree in the apartment was listed in critical condition with a gunshot wound.

Police said Tuesday the shootings occurred after an argument between Roosevelt Johnson, 36, and his common-law wife, Elizabeth Jones, 35. They said Johnson left the apartment and returned later with a .12-gauge shotgun.

Killed in the shooting spree were Mrs. Jones; Mary Johnson, the 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jones; and two children, Darlene Martin, 15, a neighbor who had gone to the apartment to assist with the Johnson girl, and Edward Corbett, 38, who was visiting Mrs. Jones at the time of the shooting.

After the shootings, police said Johnson shot himself in the head. He was reported in critical condition today at a Bridgeport hospital.

The plane had been on the ground about two minutes. The Federal Aviation Administration in the United States said earlier this month that the 747's safety record and said engine overhauling was not a problem.

They appeared to involve a very minor malfunction in a fuel valve.

One Pan Am spokesman said he presumed that in today's incident the engine had overheated after landing. Mechanics at Heathrow Airport began taking the engine apart.

Glenn James, a Qantas Airline employee traveling as a passenger on the Pan Am plane said the crew should have announced an emergency.

"The passengers were not told there was any trouble, and the result was that a lot of them having seen the flames, stood up and were making moves to get out. We... were told to keep our seats until we got to the tarmac, which is the normal announcement which is nothing wrong with an airliner. This resulted in a great deal of confusion," he added.

Debate Could Be Crucial In Race For Senate Seat

including Joseph Alibello, secretary of the State Democratic Committee are backing Dodd, but most party leaders have swung behind Duffey. So have the state's labor leaders.

Dodd, still pole and some times slow of speech after a heart attack last spring, insists the polls are wrong.

"I think I'm going to win," he said in an interview. "I'm confident history will justify me."

He called his Senate campaign for applying campaign funds to his personal use "unjust" and, instead, "If I had been guilty of any wrongdoing, I wouldn't dare face the people of my own state."

Dodd makes only one or two appearances a day, relying heavily on tonight's debate and on a heavily financed television campaign keyed to instructing voters how to vote for him.

One appearance, an afternoon speech at Quinnipiac College outside New Haven, spotlighted his problems.

Richard Franko, the 22-year-old president of the college's Political Union, introduced Dodd to an overflow crowd of 600, list him with a better than 2-to-1 margin in the polls.

"He's also lead over Duffey in popular opinion," Franko said. "He's also a crook," a student shouted out from the crowd, drawing past two years.

"If you had any brains, you'd be quiet," the senator replied, get of intensive campaign by some. If it had been told you'd be rude and uncouth, I wouldn't have accepted your invitation."

Thus chastised, the crowd calmed down while the senator recited a record of support for the 18-year-old vote, and civil rights activities dating to the weeks ago by Agnew. Campaigning in the Democratic nomination, he denounced Duffey as a "revisionist Marxist," using a quote in which the candidate was comparing his reformist ideas to "Maoist" revolutionaries.

Welcker has also used the line, saying it indicates "folly," unbecoming in a Senate candidate.

Before Agnew appeared in Hartford last Friday night, Welcker was worried that a new attack on Duffey would accentuate any move of liberal Republicans to the Democratic nomination. But the vice president, while reiterating his position in an airport interview, devoted his speech to a defense of ad-jud, and then in the primary election, he has the advantage of the Democratic registration majority—about threatened demonstration by 45,000 to 60,000 with some 5,000 protesters lined out.

Manchester State Rep. N. Charles Boggini on steps of State Capitol, before conferring with State Transportation Commissioner George Conkling.

Boggini Seeks to Have Town First on New Railbus Trial

Manchester may be the first community in the state to test the Connecticut Company's new railbus, according to State Rep. N. Charles Boggini of Manchester's 20th Assembly District.

The possibility involves a big "it," Boggini said today. It hinges upon a determination by State Transportation Commissioner George Conkling as to whether two railbuses is suitable — the one between Bloomfield and Hartford, or the one between Manchester and Hartford, Boggini explained. The Bloomfield-Hartford run has been tentatively considered as the one for initiating a railbus experiment — as a means for solving the problems of mass transportation in the District.

On Friday, Boggini met with Conkling and presented him with petitions signed by 475 Manchester residents, urging improved public transportation services between Manchester and Hartford. Many of those who signed are senior citizens.

Accompanying the petitions was a letter from Boggini to Conkling, stating, "The needs and concerns of the public, especially our senior citizens, for adequate public transportation, as they clearly state here in terms of urgency, cannot be ignored."

"May I ask for the benefit of the petitioners and the public, why the inadequacy in so vital an area of public need, what must be done to correct this need; and finally, I request that, as quickly as possible, action be taken to provide the essential public transportation which the people of Manchester so badly need."

But several workers agreed, when told this was the GOP candidate for senator, that he would do pretty well. "This is a Republican year," one union organizer said.

Welcker, 39, also figures he got a boost from President Nixon's and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's campaign trips, although he has disagreed with some Nixon policies, including the safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) and veto of education, health and urban bills.

He is buoyed by private polls such as one taken for a GOP congressional nominee showing a strong negative reaction to the attack on their candidate two weeks ago by Agnew. Campaigning in the Democratic nomination, he denounced Duffey as a "revisionist Marxist," using a quote in which the candidate was comparing his reformist ideas to "Maoist" revolutionaries.

Welcker has also used the line, saying it indicates "folly," unbecoming in a Senate candidate.

At times, his voice became almost inaudible, and some in the student crowd reacted unkindly. "Speak up, old man," one shouted.

After barely 10 minutes, Dodd suddenly concluded and amid boos, left the stage without submitting to questions.

Duffey, the mild-mannered, 38-year-old son of a West Virginia coal miner, has a potent organization, perfected in the McCarthy campaign and during a year-long fight to win 20 per cent at the state convention last June to get on the primary ballot, and then in the primary election, he has the advantage of the Democratic registration majority—about threatened demonstration by 45,000 to 60,000 with some 5,000 protesters lined out.

Pair Shares Nobel Prize In Physics

man of the university's Department of Applied Physics Informative Sciences, called Alfven's selection "absolutely wonderful news."

Said Booker: "He'll continue with this work for many years to come."

Three other university faculty members in San Diego have won Nobel prizes—Harold C. Urey in 1934 for his discovery of heavy hydrogen, Maria Goeppert Mayer in 1963 in physics and Robert W. Holley in chemistry. The selection of Alfven, said Dr. Mayer, "is wonderful."

The Alfvens have four daughters and a son and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Alfven learned of the award at 3:38 a.m. when a newsman telephoned their home in suburban La Jolla. But she refused to walk the 62-year-old professor then.

"It's too early in the morning," she said. "It's too early—he's still asleep."

Prof. Alfven shared the prize with Louis Neel of Grenoble University.

The last Nobel award of the year, in chemistry, also was announced today and went to a native of Paris now living in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Prof. Luis F. Leloir, for his discovery of sugar nucleotides and their role in the biosynthesis of carbohydrates.

Neel was eating lunch in a restaurant in Esplanon in east France when told of the award. He observed: "There are very few Nobel prizes but I am above all happy for this prize for the French school of magnetism, which is highly regarded."

In the 1930s, Neel found what he considered the cause behind a curious magnetic behavior in ferrites, iron-containing minerals, that had been observed in certain material at low temperatures.

Neel continued his researches with a mineral called magnetite, one of the richest of the oxides of iron. These ferrites are used in television, telephones, radio and telegraph.

"The clear theoretic illumination of the whole subject which Neel brought gave subsequent development a strong impulse," the academy said.

His work at the Institute of Biochemical Investigation at the University of Buenos Aires, where he lived nearly 20 years, he is a naturalized Argentine.

"Few discoveries have made such an impact on biochemical science as the discovery of the structure of DNA, the genetic code, and the mechanism of protein synthesis," the academy said.

Boggini said he agrees with Conkling's suggestion. "Let's make Manchester the second town to establish a transit authority," he urged. "Then we can deal creatively with the problems of congestion on our highways and inefficient parking patterns in the city."

A transit authority, Boggini explained, can be established by law referendum, or else by legislative action, on behalf of a specific community or region.

He said he will seek the cooperation of Manchester's other state legislators in advancing the proposal.

Boggini quoted Conkling as saying that Manchester, as a result of the petitions, should be considered equally with Bloomfield for the railbus program, which is to be financed under a federal grant.

During four years of experience in local government, while working with all the issues that a town faces, and voting on over 2,000 separate items, I have never abstained on a single vote!

Why? I believe the voter deserves to know exactly how he is being represented.

During this campaign, I am continuing that viewpoint by taking precise stands on the issues.

If I am elected to the State Senate, you may expect the same decisiveness all the time.

Come and Ask Questions??

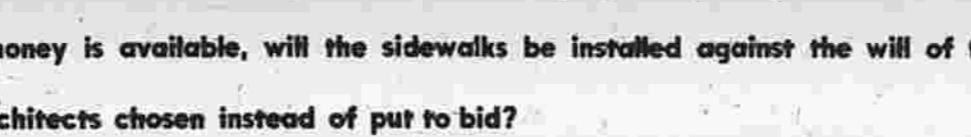

SOME SUGGESTIONS:

1. How much of a mill increase will it cost?
2. Why weren't the school requests separated?
3. What is the actual increased enrollment for each school?
4. Will we pay for new roads that will soon be torn up by utility companies and developers?
5. Once the money is available, will the sidewalks be installed against the will of the people?
6. Why are architects chosen instead of put to bid?
7. Will we get our money's worth?
8. Isn't this deficit spending, which is the cause of inflation and increased taxation?

Bay State's High Court Mulls Car Insurer Appeal

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court has taken under advisement insurance company contentions that a mandatory 10 per cent reduction in property damage premiums is unconstitutional in the light of the state's new no-fault automobile insurance law.

Justice William L. Drach, Jr., said the court would decide whether the law violated the state constitution's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

The court's decision is expected to be issued in the next few weeks. The insurance companies are appealing a decision by the state insurance commissioner that the new law would require a 10 per cent reduction in property damage coverage.

The new law, which took effect in 1970, requires drivers to carry a minimum amount of liability coverage. It also allows drivers to opt out of the new law and carry traditional liability coverage.

The insurance companies argue that the new law is unconstitutional because it forces them to reduce their rates, which would result in a loss of revenue.

The state's attorney general, William F. Murphy, Jr., said the state would defend the new law. He said the law was designed to reduce the cost of insurance for drivers and to provide for a more equitable system of liability coverage.

The court's decision is expected to be a landmark case in the history of the state's insurance law. It will determine whether the state has the power to regulate the insurance industry in this way.

Guilty Plea Set In Bank Robbery

HARTFORD (AP) — Edmund James Devlin, 37, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of robbing the South New Britain Branch of the Fairfield County Trust Co. of $10,816 on Jan. 9, 1969.

Devlin, of New Haven, also pleaded guilty to one count of failure to appear in court on Oct. 1, 1969, to face hearing on the bank robbery and other charges.

He faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a $5,000 fine on the robbery charge and five years in prison and another $5,000 fine for failure to appear in court.

His pleas were made in U.S. District Court here.

Meskill And Hull
 We Connecticut people are, in this year of 1970, at the crossroads of a crisis. It is the most amazing and most difficult kind of crisis, as crises go, because it comes the cold, dried business of budgets and taxes and deficits. Left to ourselves, we would never move forward to face up to such a crisis. Left to themselves, most candidates would prefer to ignore it.

But Connecticut's situation has now gone so far that we, the citizens, know we can ignore it longer only at greater peril and cost to everything we hold valuable in our state. And we know we have to have leadership which will face this crisis too. It is a crisis which starts with only one thing certain—a gigantic new $200,000,000 deficit looms over top what is already the heaviest tax burden the people of the state have ever been asked to carry.

The deficit we have. The new budgets, and the tax policies which will fill them without new deficit, are the terrible burdens lying ahead of whatever administration comes into power at Hartford this January. There has to be an end to the complacency which Connecticut's official leadership has regarded this financial situation up to now. We cannot afford any more equivocal new $200,000,000 deficit looms over top what is already the heaviest tax burden the people of the state have ever been asked to carry.

favoring the election of Congressman Meskill. But no amount of rightness on policy alone could have created this Congressman the spectacular growth of support which developed for him in Connecticut's Sixth Congressional District between his first and second runs for that seat. In that second run, two years ago, he carried every city and town in his district, whether its previous consistent voting habit had been Democratic or not.

Connecticut people like the cut of his jaw. They have the strong impression that he is his own man. They hear, with approval, that he is not the creature of any political machine. They may not always agree with him on every stand Democratic or not.

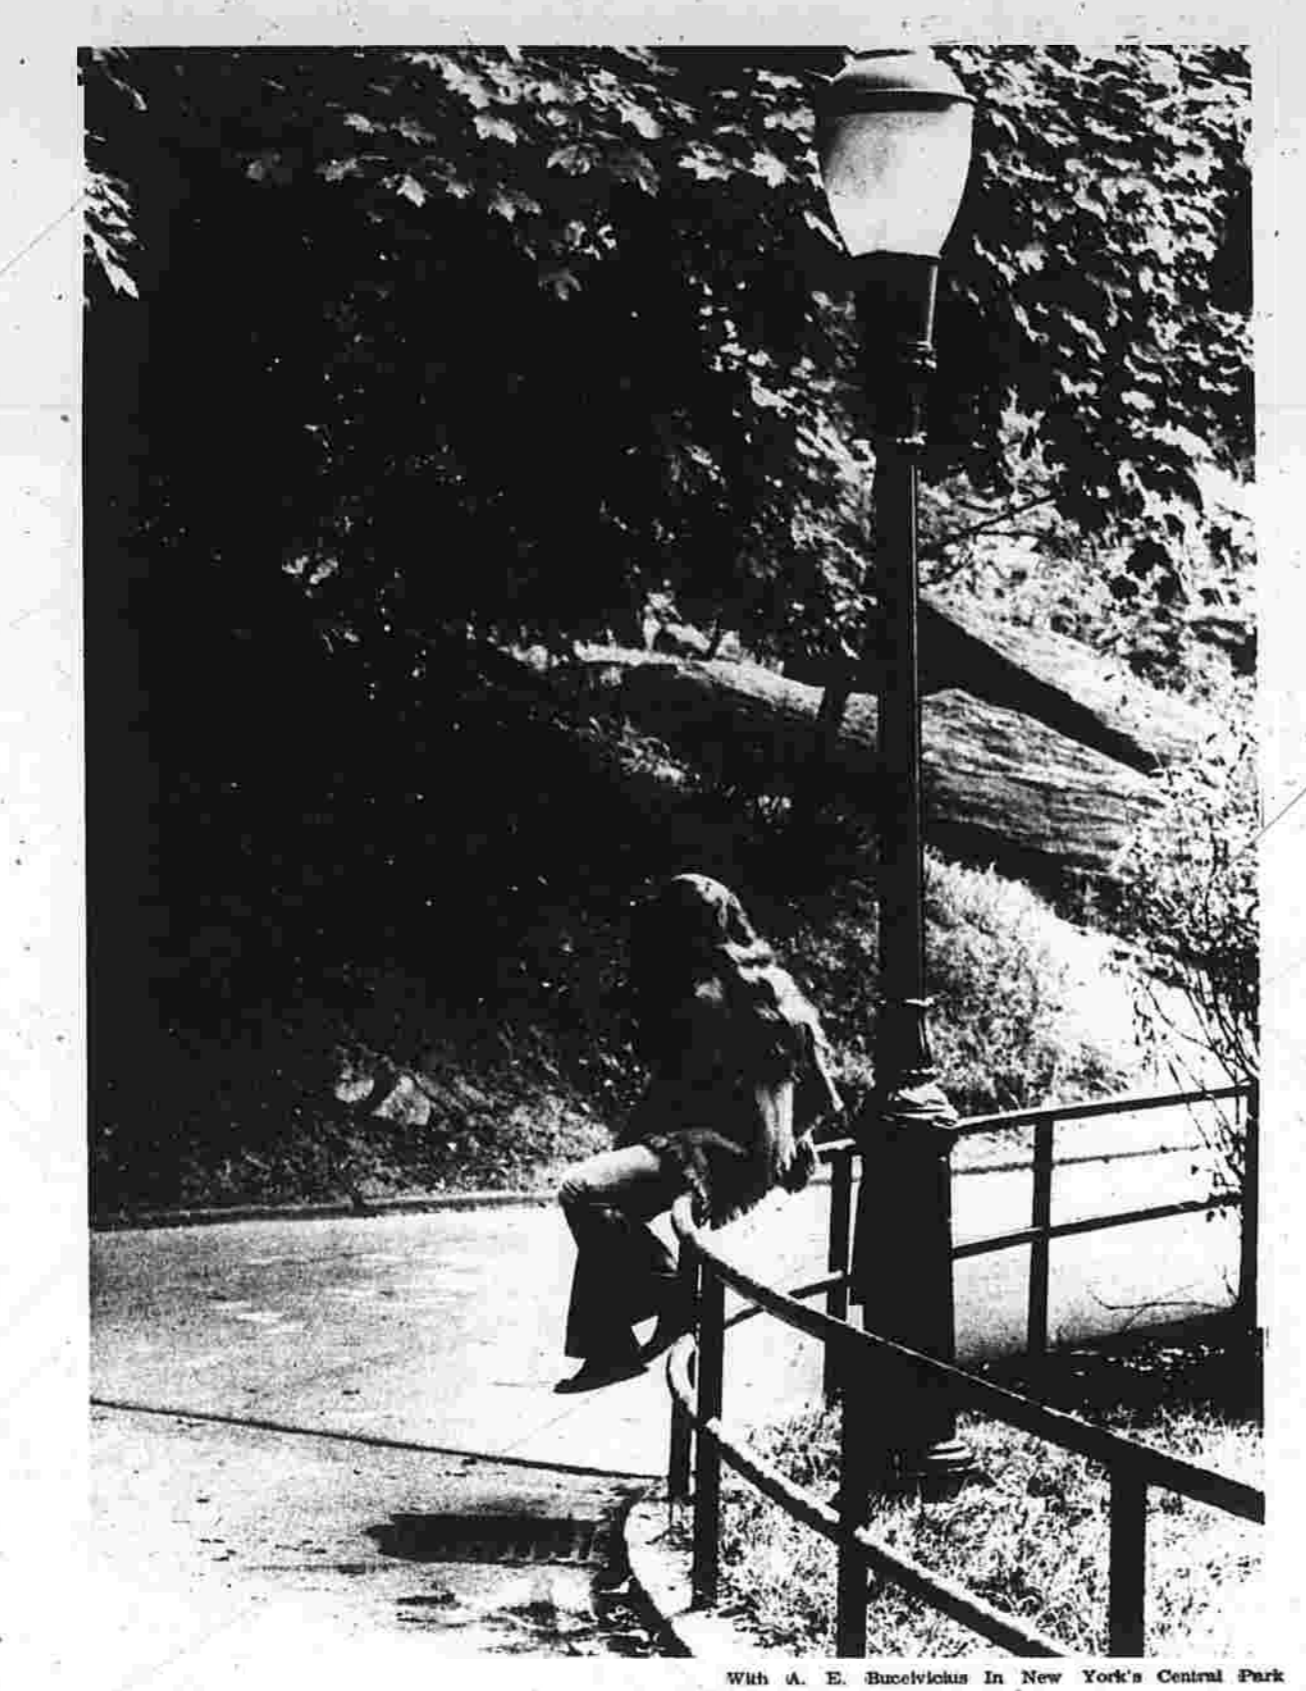

Under what is now Connecticut law, we vote for Governor and for Lieutenant Governor on the same lever. Congressman Meskill's running mate on the Republican ticket, the man who would stand next to Meskill in the office of Governor, is State Senator Clark Hull of Danbury, able, popular, informed on state issues and procedures.

It will be a hopeful day for Connecticut if it is the Meskill-Hull team which is inaugurated next January.

The Agony Repined
 To all those who do not share in the opinion that all students who wear long hair and who use four letter words ought to be lined up against a wall and shot, the findings of the special Ohio grand jury with regard to last May's events at Kent State are as brutal as the results of the gunfire that erupted that tragic day.

What the Ohio grand jury elected to establish as high public policy was a domestic extension of the same theory under which governments make wars abroad.

The theory is that government, being the government, is not restrained by the same standards of morality, principle, and civilization which ought to obtain in the conduct of individuals.

A Thought for Today
 Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches
 "For the Church to be relevant to the social issues of the times, it must become a spiritual force, a force in society which speaks to the fact that the life of the spirit determines the life of the body. The Church must function not only as a refuge for the weary, but a whip to the comfortable, a goad to the lax and an unmovable bulwark against those who see man as anything less than a spiritual being."

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

If we could have subtracted from the Connecticut campaign now in progress all that business in which one can be tried to "get something" on either or in which candidates spent extraordinary time and energy trying either to woo some small special interest group or repel the attack of some small extremist faction we might, conceivably, have produced ourselves a campaign of higher intelligence and greater significance.

As it has been, the candidates have spent an inordinate amount of time trying to catch one another in some slip of the tongue, or slip of logic. This has, one suspects, been their idea of a campaign offensive. At the same time, those who have pursued such offensive tactics and encouraged the "crime in the streets" which is the main issue of the political party to which he belongs.

If he succeeds in winning the office of State Comptroller, he will be making a mockery of the think of what the men quoted above will do next.
 Let us make a statement by all voting for the other candidate.
 Sincerely,
 Rhea Talley Stewart

"A Real Person"
 The people of the 20th Assembly District are indebted to you for having a woman as capable and dedicated as Vivian Ferguson as a candidate for State Representative. Those of us who have contributed so generously of their time and energy to the campaign for your nomination to the State Legislature, we are proud to have already contributed much of our energies to Manchester.

"Dedicated Volunteer"
 As the 1970 Election Campaign draws to a close I wish to express my thanks to those who have contributed so generously of their time and energy to the campaign for your nomination to the State Legislature. We are proud to have already contributed much of our energies to Manchester.

"Act of Hope and Trust"

"Composed a Poem"
 I was so impressed with your forthright and courageous act of destroying the evil of corruption, and I am sure that you will continue to do so. I am sure that you will continue to do so. I am sure that you will continue to do so.

 HARTFORD (AP)—U.S. Sen. Thomas Dodd, seeking reelection as an independent, was endorsed Monday by the Connecticut Council of Police Unions, AFL-CIO.
 Dodd, a former FBI agent, received the endorsement of the 2,300-member organization meeting here that he "once carried a gun and wore a badge."
 His FBI service was in the country where he was involved in bombings and arson and attacks on the federal government. He was stamped out and stamped out. He was stamped out and stamped out.

Can You Make Tom Meskill our next governor?
 He has the character and courage, the youth and vigor, to solve the enormous problems our state faces. And he has the independence. He's not tied to the same tired old political machine that has held this state in its grip for 16 long years. His only commitments are to you—and the future.

TAXES
 As governor, Tom Meskill will wage war on reckless government spending and waste. He knows how hard you work for a dollar and he'll make every tax dollar do the work of two. And he's strongly opposed to an income tax.

JOBS
 He'll find a solution to Connecticut's mounting problem of joblessness. In the last 3 years, while there's been an increase of 433,000 manufacturing jobs nationally, jobs in Connecticut have dropped by 15,000.

DRUGS
 He'll smash the traffic in drugs that threatens your child. He'll step up the attack on crime.

POLLUTION
 He'll fight for the installation of pollution control equipment and stiff penalties for those who fail to comply. Tom Meskill will do this for you and your family. And for himself and his family.
 Tuesday, Nov. 3rd vote Tom Meskill. Pull the Second Lever.
MESKILL
 Because the governor can do so much to help.

Tom Meskill's only commitments are to you and the future.

Cambodians Grow Angry Seeing Cong Hold Relics

By ROBIN MANNOCK Associated Press Writer SIEM REAP, Cambodia (AP) — The warning to tourists posted on hotel doors in Siem Reap is now totally superfluous: "It is strictly forbidden to mutilate the monuments or to take away their stones. Offenders will be prosecuted."

The monuments are the faded ruins of Angkor Wat and Angkor Thom, two of the most precious art treasures in Asia. But the ancient temples of Angkor, five miles north of Siem Reap, are strictly off limits to all tourists nowadays—by order of the 5th Viet Cong Division.

The mere thought of the ancient ruins in the hands of Vietnamese makes the Cambodians angry. What makes their hereditarily enemy's occupation of the temples even more intolerable are the fact that nobody can figure out how to get rid of the Viet Cong. The Communists have set up a military base at Angkor Wat and Angkor Thom.

The 5th Division, despite its designation as a Viet Cong unit from South Vietnam, has been listed by American intelligence as being almost entirely composed of North Vietnamese. It came up to Angkor in June. For several years, the Communists have been engaged in a struggle to straddle the frontier of Cambodia and South Vietnam.

According to the general, a North Vietnamese officer had the effrontery to pitch his command post less than 100 yards from the edge of the Pre Rup, built during the reign of King Jayavarman VII, inside the temple of Angkor Wat and Angkor Thom.

Yet word did leak out recently that a number of Angkor's treasures have been taken from the temple precincts and are being almost entirely conserved across the Cambodian border to Thailand for sale. One of the treasures is a large stone carving made to replace a piece of classic Khmer sculpture now in the hands of the French.

The general is not downhearted although for the time being, the North Vietnamese seem set for a lengthy sojourn at Angkor. "I have plenty of men," he declared, "what I need now is guns for them."

In Cambodia the 5th has set up a base all around Siem Reap. The city, which once welcomed thousands of tourists from Europe and America, is virtually deserted. A single road links Siem Reap to its airport, the rest of the road is in the hands of the Viet Cong.

Stamford (AP) — Joseph De'Von, Stamford welfare director, has urged Congress to pass "whatever laws are necessary" to re-establish residency requirements for persons on welfare.

In a letter released Monday, De'Von urged the high cost of welfare to be reduced. He said that the state is "losing money" because of the high cost of welfare.

De'Von, who said he was writing to the Connecticut Association of Local Administrators of General Assistance, said the burgeoning army of newcomers is hindering the ability of the state to care for needy long time residents.

The Republican Town Committee has praised the Republican Party for its stand on how the $140,000 surplus should be used.

The Board members William P. Norman and Roy Peckham recommended the 1971-72 mill rate or reducing the town's debt, either of which will have the result of lowering taxes for town residents.

Robert Dixon, Republican town chairman, stated that "Ridley Peckham and Lennox have on many occasions saved the town's financial situation because of their keen financial and accounting backgrounds and their sincere interest in the town."

"Once again they have demonstrated 'the shrewd' attitude which will serve the town's best interest," Dixon concluded.

At Welcker Realty Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klein of Watrous Road recently represented the Republican Town Committee at a rally for Senator Joseph P. Moynihan.

The rally, which was held in Mansfield, was part of Welcker's people-to-people campaign, during which he plans to visit every town in Connecticut.

A coffee hour sponsored by the Manchester Memorial Hospital auxiliary will be held tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Earl Whitehead on Converse Road.

Campaign Goal of Nixon, Closing 'Gap of Tradition'

By FRANK CORMIER WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is assuming his second year of office with a goal of closing the "gap of tradition" between the White House and the people. Nixon is fighting uphill because all presidents elected from 1789 to Nixon went into office with the benefit of a long tradition of precedent.

Yet Nixon doggedly continues his campaign for Republicanism. He is choosing whether they are front-runners or underdogs. And when he doesn't care to identify with GOP candidates, he stays away.

At the same time, Republican hopes of gaining control of the Senate have faded in recent weeks. Yet Nixon doggedly continues his campaign for Republicanism. He is choosing whether they are front-runners or underdogs.

Those 11 words could mean anything. Nixon is assuming his second year of office with a goal of closing the "gap of tradition" between the White House and the people.

Agnew: Fair Play in Dixie RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, launching a final campaign push in Dixie, says the Nixon administration's so-called Southern strategy is simply a ploy to play fair with the South.

"That's what it is, and that's all it is," Agnew declared Monday. "The strategy is simply one element, though an important one, of a broader national strategy."

Agnew said it was a "conscience, studied policy of expediency" applied to the people of the South the same standards applied to people in every other state in the union.

Town Was Prime Site For New Health Spa

By WILLIAM COE
(Herald Reporter)

The 515 W. Middle Tpk. location of Manchester's new $750,000 European Health Spa was chosen after careful study as "one of the prime sites in Connecticut," according to Robert L. Rice, president of Health Industries, Inc., and founder of the mushrooming health industry chain.

Rice, among top company officials here yesterday for the 4 p.m. opening of the luxurious facility, said the site was picked as the best of several potential locations in the Great Hartford area including Rocky Hill and West Hartford.

Scored High
Among the criteria for a site are that it must serve an urban suburban area with a population of about 250,000; and that it must be easily accessible. Manchester scored high in these respects, Rice noted.

Asked whether the choice of the site has been borne out by pre-opening memberships, Rice answered, "We're very pleased. We feel the Spa has been very well accepted so far."

The membership to date is between 500 and 600, Rice said, which will place the facility on a profitable basis from the outset. The capacity, on a six-day-per-week operation, is about 2,000, which means the Spa is about one-quarter full at opening.

Memberships are currently in the third of 10 phases that go up as memberships are filled. The two-year memberships now go for $32 initiation fee, plus $15 per month, Rice said.

SO IN CHAIN
The response here to date has been "somewhat better than in Hamden," where the first European Health Spa in Connecticut opened in February, Rice said.

The Manchester Spa is the chain's 88th and one of 22 slated to open this year. Grand openings are also set this week for St. Paul, Minn., and Rich inmond, Va.

A spa is currently under construction in Providence, R.I., and 13 more are scheduled to open by next June 30, for a total of 30 three-quarter-million-dollar clubs in 18 months—more than $25 million in facilities.

"The fact that the spas are about as far from the tradition of sweaty, barren gymnasiums of the old days as you can get seems to account for the rise in their popularity, according to Herbert T. Kerr, vice president of U. Industries who was also here yesterday for the opening festivities.

They are specifically designed to cater to the white collar types—business and professional men and women—who lead somewhat sedentary lives and rarely get enough of the right kind of exercise.

NOT A FAD
"We feel the spas answer a real need and are definitely not a fad," Kerr said. "This is shown by the fact that memberships are holding their own, even though more and more health facilities are being built. Also, the types of persons that purchase memberships appear not to be affected by the recession, according to Rice.

MIAMI (AP)—One more winter in the Bronx might have done the old boy in, so they carted him off to sunny Miami. Though he has yet to reach his 15th birthday, it seems few airmen do and officials at the Bronx Zoo felt the nameless native of Kenya stood a better chance of a long retirement at the Miami's Kravis Zoo.

C-DAP Work Satisfactory, Says DAC Commissioner

Manchester's work toward completing its C-DAP (Community Development Action Plan) has been judged satisfactory at the program's mid-point by the State Department of Community Affairs.

That judgment was given in a letter to the town from DCA Commissioner LeRoy Jones, following a 12-month review of the program here, made in late August. The satisfactory rating is necessary if the program is to be continued by the department during the second year.

Hebron Dodd's Family Represents Him At Reception

About 100 enthusiastic Thomases Dodd supporters attended yesterday's reception for the senator at Tina's Restaurant but were disappointed when a delay in the Dodd's schedule prevented his appearance.

However, Mrs. Dodd, their son Jerry, Dodd's sister Mrs. Mary Dwyer and his cousin, Mrs. Anne Byrnes did arrive around 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Dodd thanks all for their support and asked her son to speak for his father.

The younger Dodd spoke chiefly on ticket splitting and explained the procedure necessary to cast a vote for his father.

Earlier in the day, Richard Grant, coordinator of the Hebron Citizens for Dodd Committee, issued a release commending Dodd's qualifications to those of Joseph Duffey and Lowell Welcker.

Grant referred to a recently circulated political flyer in which a claim is made that R. V. Duffey "is the best qualified candidate for the position."

Grant said he assumed that three candidates are relatively equal in terms of community service.

However, in the area of public service, he highlighted Dodd's four years in the U. S. House of Representatives and 12 years in the U. S. Senate.

He also mentioned Welcker's term as first selectman of Greenwich and his term in Congress.

But, as Grant stated, "The Rev. Duffey has yet to serve his community or state in any high elective office."

"For these reasons," Grant said, "we hold that Rev. Duffey is least qualified and Sen. Thomas Dodd is best qualified and should be re-elected to the U. S. Senate."

Meskill Notes The Takeover Of Tidal Marshes

BERLIN (AP) — U.S. Rep. Thomas Meskill, Republican candidate for governor, Monday blasted the Democratic state administration for getting "bogged down" in efforts to save tidal marshes and wetlands.

"Meskill said legislation designed to save the wetlands became effective more than one year ago, "but the Democrats bogged down in the implementation of this legislation."

"As governor, I would have called for a moratorium on the use of the state's valuable tidal marshes until the mapping of the marsh land was complete," he said.

A graduate of Dartmouth College in 1969 and the University of Michigan Law School in 1962, he is licensed to practice in Connecticut and New Hampshire.

Kalom served two years in the U. S. Army Infantry and was discharged with the rank of captain. Presently, he is in the Reserves.

A native of Michigan, for the past three years Kalom has resided at 40 Elizabeth Dr., Hebron with his wife, Sandra, and their two daughters, Rebecca and Lisa.

He is a member of Company 3 of the Hebron Volunteer Fire Department.

Perfect Home Climate
ROUSTON (AP) — A perfect environment home with a minimum price tag of $22,500 is being offered for Christmas giving by a Houston department store.

Individually planned rooms would have a protected ecology, by an air-supported dome covering the entire lot—minimum of one acre.

The Skowhegan Christmas League said the pollution-free environment designed by Borg-Warner would carry a final price determined by the size of the lot and such factors as the height of trees.

Opens Office

Attorney Bruce Kalom has announced the opening of his office for the general practice of law on Main St., Hebron in the Tupper Realty Building.

The first attorney to hang up a shingle in Hebron, Kalom was formerly associated with the law firms of Myron R. Bernstein in East Haddam, Satter and Fielshamm in Hartford, and Doherty and Dyer in Lacombs, N.H.

Donnelly Works On Legislation For Food Dating
Republican State Rep. Thomas J. Donnelly, who is seeking re-election has announced that an "open date-stamping" bill has been drawn up by him for submission at the next session of the Connecticut legislature.

Donnelly's bill would require that all perishable, frozen, and baked goods offered for sale by retailers be stamped with the date of production.

There is a clear-cut need in these days of climbing food prices, Donnelly said, to encourage new businesses and badly needed new jobs.

Two South Windsor residents have announced the formation of an "open date-stamping" group.

Barry and Mary Noonan of the group, said they hoped to help attract new voters of both Independent and Democratic registration to support the legislator's bid for another term.

Other members forming the nucleus are Herbert Asplund and Al J. Pugliese.

Election Moves Comment Session
Because next Tuesday is Election Day the Manchester Board of Directors has rescheduled its comment session, originally scheduled for that morning.

It will be held on Nov. 10, from 9 to 11 a.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Ready to Join
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Institute of Student Opinion says 43 per cent of all high school students—both boys and girls—would volunteer for military service if certain reforms were instituted.

But only 18 per cent of 25,000 high schoolers across the country said they would consider a military career, the survey while it's been said that "military is the ancient form of fat."

Private Ballet

LONDON (AP) — Rudolf Nureyev and Natalia Makarova, two Soviet ballet dancers who defected to the West, performed "Swan Lake" Sunday night under heavy police guard.

An invitation-only audience saw the ballet, staged for the British Broadcasting Corp. for a Christmas show.

Nureyev defected five years ago. Mrs. Makarova last month. It was their first public appearance together.

U.N. Debate On Mideast Questioned

600 mistakes have been deployed in the zone.

Israel has been boycotting U.N. mediated peace negotiations, charging that Egypt violated the ceasefire by settling up the missile site.

Rban said the best way to restore the situation is to be on Aug. 8, when the 50-day stand-down will end.

"We see no reason to look for a limitation," he said. "As far as we are concerned, there is no reason to see the ceasefire as anything but a temporary measure."

A group of African delegates has drafted a resolution asking Israel to refrain from further military action.

The Chamber's board feels that if the bond issue passes, the town should refrain from issuing bonds until the majority of taxpayers in the district approve or until a better solution is found.

TIME WAS when nearly every business block had its sidewalk clock but today there are only a few around, such as these in New York. Though most date from the turn of the century, they have been updated by electrification and facelifts. Grounded clock (bottom left) is scratched from pedestrian's shoes, cover glass must be changed periodically.

Donnelly Works On Legislation For Food Dating
Republican State Rep. Thomas J. Donnelly, who is seeking re-election has announced that an "open date-stamping" bill has been drawn up by him for submission at the next session of the Connecticut legislature.

Donnelly's bill would require that all perishable, frozen, and baked goods offered for sale by retailers be stamped with the date of production.

There is a clear-cut need in these days of climbing food prices, Donnelly said, to encourage new businesses and badly needed new jobs.

Two South Windsor residents have announced the formation of an "open date-stamping" group.

Barry and Mary Noonan of the group, said they hoped to help attract new voters of both Independent and Democratic registration to support the legislator's bid for another term.

Other members forming the nucleus are Herbert Asplund and Al J. Pugliese.

Race for Congress A Battle of Veterans

By DON MEIKLE
Special Writer

Here, in the only congressional district with a Republican plurality, GOP State Rep. Stewart B. McKinney of Fair-Connecticut is favored to succeed biggest turnover in his six-man Congressional delegation in 12 years.

Three of the six incumbent U.S. representatives are seeking higher office. Another, Democrat William L. St. Onge of Norwich, who came to prominence last spring, leaves the district to run for the U.S. House in the 11th district.

McKinney, 38, attracted considerable attention in Republican circles last year when he was elected to the GOP nomination for the State House in 1968. He is running for U.S. House in the 11th district with McKinney running ahead in the polls. McKinney is seeking a good opportunity to return to the majority of the delegation for the first time since the Eisenhower landslide of 1952 when he won all six seats. (The situation was promptly reversed in 1958 when the Democrats won all six in the landslide led by then-Governor Abraham Ribicoff.)

This will probably be the last election in which U.S. representatives, since the state stands to gain a seventh congressional seat as a result of the 1970 U.S. Census.

A rundown of the races this year follows:

First District (Hartford area)—This is Daddario's district, and though he won it by 50,000 votes two years ago, it is a different battleground this year. The Republican candidate is Mayor Ann Uccello of Hartford, and while Uccello is favored in the district, much of the action is going in her favor in the state capital. Mrs. Grasso is the incumbent, and she is favored to win. Mrs. Grasso is a well-known personality, having served as secretary of the state since 1966. She is running for a third party opponent.

The Democrat is former State Treasurer William R. Cotter, a 44-year-old bachelor; the third party entry is Edmond J. Colli, a 30-year-old left-of-center candidate who heads the Revitalization Corps.

Colli might affect the outcome of the race if he pulls many more than 1,000 votes with him. The overwhelming Democratic edge in voter registration in the district is 100,000 votes, and if he pulls more than 20,000 votes, Colli may be a shot at victory in McKinley's district.

To sum up, the GOP has only one chance to win four of the six seats in the Congressional race, which is a realistic goal. The Democrats are expected to win two seats, and the Republicans are expected to win one seat, giving them a 3-2-1 split in the House.

Board of Education Declines To Interpret Special Ed. Law

By BARBARA RICHMOND
(Herald Reporter)

A challenge to the Board of Education to interpret a law concerning special education services to private (non-profit) schools was turned down by the board last night.

The challenge was made to the board by Joseph St. Germain of Pleasant St. who has asked that his child, a first grade student in St. Germain's School, be allowed to attend some special classes in the public school.

Dr. Howard M. Koff recently opened his office at 310 E. Center St. for the general practice of dentistry.

A two-year veteran of the U.S. Army, Dr. Koff served as a captain in the Dental Corps at Ft. Devens, Mass. He is a 1966 graduate of New York University College of Dentistry and a member of the Connecticut Dental Society and the Connecticut Dental Association.

Dr. and Mrs. Koff moved to Manchester in July after he was discharged from the service. They live at 47 Tudor Lane.

A letter received by St. Germain this week from Dr. Frances McElaney, chief of the Bureau of Pupils, Parent and Special Education Services for the State, contained a copy of the law being questioned.

Dr. McElaney noted that the law is an attempt to provide health and welfare services for children who are in attendance in private schools. He said, "there is no way that I know of that this law can be interpreted to provide special education instruction for Jeanne, a first grade student at St. Germain's School."

The law states that each town that provides health and welfare services for children attending its public schools shall provide the same health and welfare services for children attending private schools as may be conducted for them, when a majority of the voters of such town shall so request.

The law further states that the services include those of the school doctor, nurse, dental hygienist, psychologist, speech therapist and other similar services as may be provided by a town to children in the public schools.

St. Germain questioned how the law can be interpreted not to include the education he is requesting for his daughter. He explained that his request would not create the need for a new service.

Board member Albert Smith, stating that the board had been over the matter before, told St. Germain that it is a matter of interpretation, he should seek the legal help he previously said he was going to seek.

Another board member, Atty. Robert DeBono, sympathized with St. Germain in his questioning of the interpretation of the law. DeBono said he also questioned it because it could be interpreted in many ways.

"I think the best recourse is for you (the board) to deny your request and for you to attack the problem by seeking repeal and challenging the state's interpretation," he told St. Germain.

Repeating that the particular law is directed to the school district of which the board of Education is a part, St. Germain said he would like to speak to town attorney, Abbott Schwelb, but Schwelb is out of town.

St. Germain said previously he will contact Mayor Frank McCoy and ask him to see what can be done.

Three Referendum Schools Have Open House Saturday

Open houses will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the three elementary schools which are to be voted on for additional and renovated buildings. The schools are: St. Germain's School, 310 E. Center St.; Pleasant St. School, 100 E. Pleasant St.; and St. Germain's School, 310 E. Center St.

The board of education is holding the open houses to allow citizens to express their views on the proposed buildings. The schools are to be voted on at a referendum on November 3.

St. Germain's School is a 100,000 square foot building with 12 classrooms, a gymnasium, a cafeteria, and a playground. Nixon Aims At Majority

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon believes his kind of campaigning may prove successful in the Nov. 3 election, and he is testing that judgment in 22 states, urging "the great silent majority to stand up and be counted" for Republican candidates.

It is a major political gamble. The President's late campaign spirit makes his own prestige one of the issues. It puts him out front, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been the visible symbol of GOP.

As Agnew put it, "I'm tremendously vulnerable" to the charge that he is a Republican. Nixon has decided early in the campaign to go all out to win.

"I know he was going to come out of the beginning," Agnew said.

"The President has only done a light, very light, very light campaign," the vice president said.

Nixon's campaign schedule involves a total of eight days; Agnew has only one day in the campaign. The vice president is expected to be in the campaign for only a few days.

While the political risk factor is increased, Nixon's personal campaign, one White House official said, was always there.

As he explained it, whether or not the vice president is in the campaign is a matter of degree. Nixon is in the campaign in close contested states, the outcome of the congressional election will be determined as a victory or defeat for the administration.

There is, therefore, nothing to lose.

The vice president is in the campaign in many of the states. Nixon said, discussing his campaign in Columbus, Ohio.

"The vice president is in the campaign to determine it. And that is the only way to determine it."

Free Symbols

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge has ordered that the 48-year-old symbol and his classmates be allowed to "wear, display, possess and create" peace and ecology symbols at school.

The temporary order, sought by Louise Goodrich for her son Roger, an elementary school pupil in Berkeley, Calif., was issued by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Gerald S. Levin, who set a hearing Oct. 30 on whether to make it permanent.

Leadership For House At Stake

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of campaigning for Nov. 3 election, House Democrats have begun politicking among themselves over a new party floor leader.

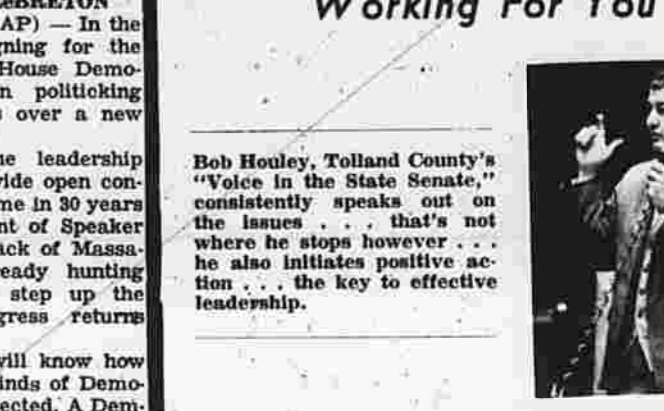

Apparatus to the leadership post, object of a wide open contest for the first time in 30 years with the retirement of Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, are already hunting for a successor.

By then, they will know how many and what kinds of Democrats have been elected. A Democratic sweep might mean the existing balance of power within the party and the prospects of a Democratic House.

There is no lack of candidates who are vying for the leadership post. Richard Bolling of Missouri, a long-time House member, is one of the favorites. Another aspirant is Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the present floor leader.

Other aspirants are James G. Thompson of North Carolina, a former House member, and James G. Thompson of North Carolina, a former House member.

Ali Back and Ready for Joe Frazier To Clear Up Heavyweight Division

RIGHT CONNECTION—Muhammad Ali catches Jerry Quarry with hard right hand punch early in first round. Quarry was staggered but managed to hold on.

ATLANTA (AP)—Muhammad Ali is back and ready to meet champion Joe Frazier in a fight that should be an explosive climax to what has been several years of confusion, frustration and doubt in boxing's heavyweight division.

"I'm ready to settle the title," Ali said Monday night after disposing of tough Jerry Quarry in three rounds in Atlanta's old Municipal Auditorium last night.

"I was ready to fight him as soon as we can get rid of Foster and as soon as Clay can get a fight," Ali said.

Frazier's manager, James F. Braddock, said in East Stroudsburg, Pa., where Frazier is training for his fight against Ali, speaking in a low voice he was convinced of refusing induction into the Army.

"I was ready to fight him as soon as we can get rid of Foster and as soon as Clay can get a fight," Ali said.

Frazier's manager, James F. Braddock, said in East Stroudsburg, Pa., where Frazier is training for his fight against Ali, speaking in a low voice he was convinced of refusing induction into the Army.

Angelo Dundee, "I was amazed at what I saw."

Alli's victory not only opened the way for him to get a crack at regaining the championship which he points out he never lost in the ring, it opens the way for one of the most hurtive fights in history.

Monday night's fight, it is felt, will be a real test of Ali's pride. He figures to get more than a million dollars, while Quarry could end up with about $200,000. Ali had been guaranteed $200,000 against 4½ per cent. Quarry $100,000 against 2½ per cent.

The only statistic announced was the sellout crowd of 5,100 in the Auditorium. There were no figures on the live gate or the gate from closed circuit television shown at 200 theaters in the United States and Canada.

The bout also was beamed live to Europe, South America, Australia, Asia and the Soviet Union, with a delayed telecast to Great Britain.

Winning the fight was termed by Ali "more than a win for a fighter—it was a social victory." This was a reference to his victory against the banishment imposed on him after the conviction.

All saw plans for many fights all through the year. Ali had granted him a license. Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox publicly opposed the fight but would not legally stop it since it was municipally licensed. Georgia had a more dedicated coach in Jimmie Ellis.

Since being licensed to fight in Atlanta, Ali also has been granted a license by New York State.

The crowd, dotted with such names as Tom McCall, Sen. Patsy Mink, singer Diana Ross, comedian Bill Cosby, baseball star Hank Aaron and fighter Jimmy Ellis, was solidly behind Ali and warmly approving of his performance.

Referee Listened to Trainer Of Quarry in Stopping Bout

ATLANTA (AP)—Battered Jerry Quarry, blood gushing from his slashed left brow, dashed to the center of the ring pleading for the fight to go on, despite a shout of warning from his father, Jack. "If you go back in that ring, you'll never fight again," "sit down, you heard what your father said," added trainer Terry Beatham, who moments earlier had yelled to referee Tony Perez. "No more. Enough. Bad cut."

The drama unfolded in the Quarry corner Monday night following the third round of the scheduled 15-round event in which Muhammad Ali, the unbeaten former heavyweight champion, started his ring comeback with a knockout that came on a series of left jabs, a left hook and a right cross.

The bell for the fourth round never rang as Perez stepped in and called the fight, without consulting ringside physicians.

"I knew I had to do something," Perez said. "The blow was thrown right into the eye."

Perez said Quarry then raced to the center of the ring shouting "No, No, No," but when I talked to him, he said, 'Okay ref, okay Perez.'"

Fumbles Pave Way for Touchdown, Victory, Goals

MINNEAPOLIS ST.
PAUL (AP)—Carl Eller simply explained that the Minnesota Vikings' right attitude to the line of scrimmage on a game-turning goal line stand against the Rams.

"We never do ourselves," said Eller, a 6-foot-6, 260-pound defensive end. "We want to win the game. But we will never concede."

The Rams, after Kermit Alexander's 49-yard return of a deflected punt, had a first down on the 10-yard line with 10 seconds left in the first half and the Vikings leading 16-9 in a 15-minute overtime period.

First, Les Johnson got a yard on the line. Then, Alvin Harrison dropped a punt on the Rams 10-yard line, and the Vikings recovered for a 27-yard field goal.
