Cardinal Dies

RICHARD CARDINAL CUSHING

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of the Boston archdiocese since 1944 who retired last month, died today.

A chancery spokesman said death came about 1:30 p.m., about an hour after a bulletin had been issued saying the 75-year-old prince of the church was in critical condition "and falling rapidly."

The white-haired, gravel-voiced prelate, who had praised God a month ago that he had been allowed to live to see his successor become archbishop, had been living in the simple room he had occupied in the chancery residence for a quarter century.

South Viets Push Drive in Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops pushed a new drive in southern Cambodia today, trying to block North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply routes leading through the Plain of Reeds toward Saigon.

The operation was launched Sunday several hours before the Viet Cong guerrillas shelled Saigon for the first time in 3 1/2 months. Authorities said the four rockets killed seven Vietnamese soldiers near the rubber plantation town of Snuol.

Spokesmen said most of them had been killed by air and artillery strikes. No South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

The new operation raised the number of South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia to more than 16,000 the Saigon government said.

Cambodian military headquarters in Phnom Penh reported that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops made a rare daylight assault on Cambodian forces attempting to keep open the only supply route into the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh.

First reports said one Cambodian soldier was killed and four others were wounded, but such initial reports often understate casualties considerably, particularly for Cambodian forces.

The U.S. Command in Saigon continued accelerated troop commitments in Vietnam to meet President Nixon's target of 40,000 by Dec. 31. It withdrew 1,670 men from combat Sunday and 1,480 more today.

These cutbacks involved the deactivation of nine Army units and the redeployment of two battalions of the 25th Division.

The latter were the 2nd Battalion, 34th Armor, and the 2nd Battalion, 14th Infantry.

The units being deactivated are the 33rd Ordnance Company, the 126th Assault Helicopter Company, the 812th 362nd and 377th Transportation Detachments; the 5th Battalion, 22nd Artillery; 4th Battalion, 42nd Infantry; Headquarters Company, 2nd Brigade, 4th Infantry, and 254th Medical Detachment.

The command announced that U.S. troop strength in Vietnam (See Page Four)

Inmates Hold Hostages In Prison Escape Bid

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A group of prison inmates, some armed, seized four hostages today and threatened to kill them unless escape demands were met. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said authorities would not yield to the demands.

"We do not make deals with prisoners," Rockefeller said. "We will not do so today."

Seventeen to 20 inmates at the Cummins State Prison seized two prison employees and two inmate trustees and held them in an isolation unit which presently is housing 30 inmates.

Robert Sarver, state correction commissioner, said Sarver said some inmates were armed and were demanding a car, a tank of gasoline and clearance to leave the prison.

Inmates have been demanding that prison conditions be improved. "We have always tried to give a fair hearing and we will do that," Rockefeller said in a statement issued from the governor's mansion in Little Rock.

In France Flames Roar Through Dance Hall; Claim Lives of 144 Young Dancers

By BERNARD LA VALLEE Associated Press Writer ST. LAURENT DU POINT, France (AP)—French authorities from cabinet rank down pressed an investigation today to determine why 144 persons died in a weekend dance hall fire in this mountain town 24 miles northwest of Grenoble.

Firemen pulled 142 corpses from the ruins. Ten others were injured, and two of them died today.

From accounts of the 20-odd survivors of the Halloween night fire, it appeared that the young dancers panicked and piled up against the exit doors. There were some reports that the four-frame building were locked and even boarded up, but others contradicted this.

A throng of young people, mostly 18 to 25, had flocked to the Cinq-Sept Dance Hall from several villages in the region.

The hall was hung with plastic decorations, giving it the appearance of a cave. A five-piece orchestra, called the Storm, promised to create a "hurricane on the stage."

About 1:45 a.m., according to Joelle Dondey, the 21-year-old cashier, "some smoke started coming from the ceiling, then flames burst out." She was dragged out of the hall with her hair burning. "It was a horrible sight," said fireman Georges Rostan. "Bodies were stuck to the doors and it seemed they were still pushing to get out. There were bodies everywhere, unrecognizable, broken up."

When the firemen broke into the building they found burned and twisted bodies piled up five or six feet high near the exits.

Officials, including Secretary of State Jacques Baumel, heard reports that the blaze was caused either by a short circuit or by a cigarette butt tossed playfully onto someone's coat.

One survivor, Dominique Guette, 17, said the exit doors had been padlocked and planks nailed over them to keep out gatchrshiers. Fireman Rostan said the doors were locked from the inside with a knob and could have been opened easily without a key.

However, Raymond Chaniel, 25, who had once helped manage the dance hall, said the metal-covered doors were not locked but were so swollen by the heat they would not open.

Intense Campaign Rumbling to Close

By GAYLORD SHAW Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the century's hardest fought mid-term election campaigns rumbles to a close today as President Nixon and candidates from coast-to-coast fill the final hours with multimedia appeals for support.

At stake in Tuesday's election—termed by Nixon "probably the most important and decisive" in the nation's history—are 35 Senate seats, 35 governorships and a new House of Representatives.

Many races were cliff-hangers, but it appeared virtually certain Democrats would retain control of Congress and pick up several governorships.

Nixon, who had joined Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in a concentrated 35-state campaign blitz, goes on nationwide television tonight to sound an election eve appeal for more Republicans in Congress.

In the prime time replay of weekend campaign speeches, Nixon will hit again at the GOP's law-and-order theme, calling on "the great silent majority" to speak out in the polling booth "against the appeasement of the rock throwers and the obscenity shooters in America."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, will follow Nixon on national television tonight to respond to what he called "the Republican tactics of fear and division that threaten to tear this country apart."

A spokesman for Muskie's Washington office said the three major networks have been asked to donate at least 15 minutes for the Muskie rebuttal speech but that money is being raised to pay for the time if the request fails.

Muskie has been mentioned as a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Most Democratic candidates have pitched their campaigns on the pocketbook issues of inflation and unemployment, and Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said the election is "in a sense a referendum on the administration, its policy and its records—the President and the vice president."

As the rough-and-tumble campaign neared an end, politicians debated whether Republicans would succeed in slicing into the Democrats' 57-43 edge in the Senate and 248-187 margin in the House, and whether Democrats would cut down the GOP's 32-18 lead in governorships.

O'Brien said Democrats "will maintain our position in the House, will continue to have a majority in the Senate and will have a significant gain in governorships."

Republican Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton countered: "We will have a victory... if we hold our own or do well in the Senate, and break the tradition of losing in off-year elections in the House."

"If we break even, it would be pretty good," said Nixon's communications chief, Herb Klein in a comment indicative of the steady lowering of election sights that have emanated from the White House in recent weeks.

Last Thursday, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the administration hoped for a net gain of one or two votes on crucial Senate issues.

The weekend brought other developments.

Nixon issued a directive offering the assistance of the Justice Department to cities and states in cases involving assaults on police officers. "The availability of federal assistance will have a deterring effect" on such lawsuits, the chief associate said.

After meeting with Nixon at the Western White House, Agnew accused Democrats of using "deplorable fear or scare tactics" to give the impression the nation is suffering from a "depression, recession or something worse."

Football fans got a dose of politics as Nixon and O'Brien split network television air time between halves of the Washington-Denver pro football game. Nixon appealed for the election (See Page Three)

President Appears On TV Tonight

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) President Nixon will climax his strenuous role in the 1970 campaign by appearing on major television networks tonight in filmed segments of a speech decrying violent dissent.

The Western White House announced late Sunday that the Republican National Committee had purchased time on ABC, CBS and NBC for broadcasts featuring excerpts from Nixon's speech Saturday in Phoenix in which he called for a "tough-minded approach to violence."

The half-hour broadcast will be carried by NBC at 7:30 p.m. EST, 8:30 p.m. on ABC and 9 p.m. on CBS.

Nixon, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Republican candidates across the land have worked hard to make "law and order" a prime issue. The President carried the effort forward Sunday after a two-hour meeting here with Agnew.

In a directive that ostensibly had no connection with Tuesday's election, Nixon expressed deep concern about "the growing problem of assaults on police officers," and ordered the Justice Department to extend "all appropriate investigative resources" to state and local authorities in such cases.

Agnew emerged from his session with Nixon to accuse Democratic candidates of using what he termed unfair, deplorable and despicable tactics—"the tactic of the big lie"—in the final weeks of their vote quest.

At a news conference, Agnew said: "Particularly with regard to the economy, we find that they are continuing to accentuate a fear that this country is heading into a recession or a depression, or something worse. We find the economic indicators are all in the opposite direction."

Democrats have emphasized continuing inflation, recent growth in unemployment and (See Page Thirteen)

The Undecided Voter To Play Key Role in Connecticut Races

By DON MEKILLE Associated Press Writer HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)— Amid all the confusing cross-currents in the Connecticut election campaign, one thing at least is clear: The undecided voters will decide the outcome of the races for governor and U.S. senator.

The undecideds will decide the outcome in two ways: 1) by making up their minds and voting, or 2) by staying away from the polls on Tuesday.

The opinion polls have shown a remarkably high percentage of undecideds during the last week of the campaign. A Becker poll commissioned by The Hartford Times found 27 per cent of the voters contacted last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday claimed they still had not made up their minds about the three-way Senate race. And 25 per cent were still undecided about the gubernatorial contest.

This state of affairs exists despite an unprecedented spate of campaign rhetoric, position papers, charges and counter-charges, primaries, and political analyses thrown at the Connecticut public in this competitive political year.

There is suspicion that voters were more confused than enlightened by the barrage of information (and misinformation).

But Connecticut's situation is not unique. In many other states, the undecideds are also more numerous than in past election years. The reasons have yet to be plumbed, although they are already the subject of speculation.

It might be claimed that those voters who were still undecided when contacted by the pollsters last week will stay home Tuesday in large numbers, leaving the election to be decided by more opinionated citizens.

But there are also many who will go as a matter of conscience to exercise their duty, as well as their right, to vote. They will, finally, perhaps in the polling booth itself, make the decisions they were unable to make just one week earlier.

Where does this leave our candidates?

Well, they must all hope to benefit from the eleventh-hour decisions of the undecideds. And Congressman Emilio Q. Daddario, the Democratic candidate for governor, must benefit more from late decisions than any of the other top five candidates if he is to win.

Assume the Becker reading was totally accurate. Take 100 persons who reflect its percentages exactly. Forty-three of them will vote for the Republican candidate, Congressman Thomas J. Meskille. Thirty-two will vote for Daddario.

Of the remaining 25, eighteen, or 72 per cent, must decide to vote for Daddario if Daddario is to get half of the vote. But a decision by only eight of the 25 to vote for Meskille would put the GOP candidate in the governor's office.

This example is greatly oversimplified—it assumes, for instance, that all 100 persons in

Town Going to Polls About 23,200 Eligible To Vote Tomorrow

Manchester electors, in addition to voting for a governor, a state ticket and a U.S. senator tomorrow, will vote for a congressman from the First Congressional District, a Hartford County sheriff, a state senator from the 4th Senatorial District, three state representatives, a judge of probate, seven justices of the peace and two registrars of voters—one Democrat and one Republican.

GI Thefts In Thailand Uncovered

Approximately 22,000 Manchester electors will be eligible to vote tomorrow and a turnout of about 80 per cent has been forecast. Democrats hold a lead of about 500 over the Republicans. It is the first time in Manchester history that the Democrats have held a lead going into a regular election. They took over that lead last January and have increased it steadily since.

The polls will open at 6 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. Voting in Manchester will be in seven Voting Districts—District 1, the Wadwell School on Broad St.; District 2, the Robertson School on N. School St.; District 3, the Buckley School on Vernon St.; District 4, the Highland Park School on Porter St.; District 5, the Nathan Hale School on Spruce St.; District 6, the West Side Rec on Cedar St.; and District 7, the Verplanck School on Otis St.

The chief moderator will be Atty. W. David Keith, a Republican. He will make his headquarters at District 1, the Wadwell School. A total of 145,000 election workers will be employed. The election will cost Manchester an estimated $7,500. Thirty-one voting machines will be used—one for every 800 voters or fraction thereof. There will be three machines each in Voting Districts 1-4, and five each in the other five voting districts.

Andover Office Location -Is Issue In Probate Race

The Democratic and Republican registrars and the four Democratic and three Republican justices of the peace will be re-elected automatically. The four local referendum questions propose a $1,995,000 bond issue for additions and renovations to Nathan Hale, Robertson and Keeney St. Schools; a $3,600,000 bond issue for roads; a $700,000 bond issue for sidewalks; and a $188,000 bond issue for the acquisition of land for downtown, off-street parking.

The contest for state senator is between Democrat Dominic Squatrito and Republican David Osgard, both of Manchester. They are seeking to succeed Democrat David Barry in the 4th Senatorial District, which comprises the towns of Manchester, Glastonbury, Marlborough and East Hampton.

In the contests for Manchester's three state representatives, the three incumbents are seeking re-election—Republican Donald Genovese in the 18th Assembly District (Voting Districts 3, 4, 5) and Democrat Francis Mahoney in the 19th Assembly District (Voting Districts 6 and 7). Genovese is being opposed by Democrat Hugh Ward. Mahoney is being opposed by Republican Roger Bagley and Beggan by Republican Vivian Ferguson.

There will be no school re-election tomorrow and members of the Manchester "Let's Vote '70" committee will have representative votes at all polling places. They will distribute literature which urges an affirmative vote on a constitutional amendment, to give the vote to the 19-year-old.

The other three proposed constitutional amendments concern making the office of attorney general a constitutional requirement, concerns making 21 the minimum age for holding state office, and provides for annual sessions of the state legislature.

By state law, the sale of alcoholic beverages will be prohibited during tomorrow's 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. voting hours. The Manchester Herald will furnish local results to Radio Station WYNY for broadcast.

Voters tomorrow will have three options—they can pull a party lever, and leave it that way with no changes; they can pull a party lever, and then push up the keys over the candidates they do not wish to vote for, and pull down the keys over the candidates they wish to vote for.

Bides to the polls are being offered by the Republican and Democratic parties as well as by a number of candidates individually. Babysitting service is also being offered in some cases.

46th District Welfare Grew as Issue, With Donnelly, Glassman

The race for State Representative from the 46th Assembly District picked up momentum in the final weeks of the campaign, with incumbent Republican Thomas J. Donnelly being accused by his Democratic opponent, South Windsor Town Councilman Abraham Glassman of "heartlessness" and of "deliberately clouding the sensitive and emotional issue of welfare."

The Democratic candidate also tagged Donnelly's call for an end to open-end appropriations on welfare as "irresponsible" and "callous."

Donnelly had indicated he would continue measures to apply to business management techniques to reduce inefficiencies in administration and overhaul the program to eliminate fraud and deception.

Glassman lashed back, stating that standards are established by the federal government and that Donnelly's suggestion would mean welfare recipients would go hungry in December if the federal budgeting is decided upon in January.

Donnelly accused the Democrat of "inequality," stating that repeal of the open end budget provision was a means of instituting budget management, not recalling them.

On this issue Glassman maintained that regardless what is called, "you can't put a lid on the welfare budget under the present system, without expenditures blowing the lid off."

Donnelly proposed a development of surface mass transit system that would make use of existing railroad tracks, preventing the "tearing up of valuable land for more highways and parking lots."

Donnelly proposed expansion of existing Rt. 91 but challenged the State Highway Department to prove need for a new north-south corridor.

Both candidates are in opposition to state legislation that proposes low cost housing in communities regardless of what zoning regulations are, advocating they do not believe the state should be allowed to usurp the local zoning powers of the community.

Glassman and Donnelly support the constitutional amendment calling for annual legislative sessions and the 18-year-old voting. They also favor legislation to aid the elderly, particularly in areas of housing and community facilities, correct tax inequities, and improve medical care through the expansion of clinic and out-patient facilities and preventive care services.

During the past year Glassman sought the aid of the Chamber of Commerce to conduct a junk car pickup program.

Donnelly called for "proper priority management" of state programs by scrutinizing expenditures, eliminating current administration practices of long-term borrowing for current expenses, and balancing need and funding of governmental programs against individual ability to pay. He also proposed pas-along of state economies to towns in form of block grants, "when the current financial crisis has been bridged."

Glassman said he would work for increased state aid to communities citing that with increasing pressures on property taxpayers, the towns and cities must receive more help from the state.

On pollution and the environment, Donnelly favors strengthening existing laws covering application of pesticides, oil, chemicals, municipal disposal of wastes and incentives for municipal or regional disposal facilities and supports reserving open space and park areas, encourages expanded agriculture and farm land use planning, new laws to control abandoned autos and proper planning for restriction of unnecessary highways.

Both candidates, in opposing the expansion of Rt. 91, advocated different alternative routes and methods to be considered in an effort to solve transit problems.

Hospital Setup Ends In Jordan

By ALEX. EFTY
Associated Press Writer
AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The U. S. mobile Army surgical hospital airlifted here last month to care for the victims of Jordan's civil war ended its nearly nine-month stay Saturday after performing an average of more than 40 operations a day.

The 20 doctors and 250 other hospital personnel began flying back to their bases in West Germany and Britain. Ninety patients still in the hospital were handed over to the International Red Cross, whose medical teams will look after them.

Medical equipment and supplies worth just under $400,000 were donated by the hospital to the Jordanian government.

The equipment included includes two complete surgical operating units, 100 beds, an X-ray unit, a mobile kitchen and laundry, and 12 trucks and ambulances.

The American hospital—actually one Army and one Air Force unit—was airlifted to Jordan Sept. 26, two days after the bloody six-day civil war ended after an appeal for medical aid by King Hussein.

It consisted of two separate mobile surgical units, the 22nd Mobile Army Surgical Unit based at Wiesbaden, Germany, under the command of Col. Wallace R. Lebourdais of Turlock, Calif., and the 48th Air Force Air Transportable Hospital based at Lakenheath, Britain, and commanded by Lt. Col. Norman L. Stahl of Cassin, Ind., N.J.

The unit was housed in the still unfinished 70-bed King Hussein Hospital just outside Amman. In its 30 days in Amman, it cared for 666 patients, 191 of whom became in-patients and 475 outpatients.

The surgical teams carried out 1,282 operations, 278 of which were classified as major. Hassan Mohammad, an 18-year-old boy who had his right leg amputated above the knee, stood on his new crutches on a balcony watching as the American flag left.

"They saved many lives, we are sorry to see them go," he said. Of the 666 patients treated at the hospital, 612 died.

52nd District Motorcades Mark End Of Campaign

Both candidates for state representative from the 52nd Assembly District, Democratic incumbent William O'Neill and his Republican opponent Aaron Segal concluded their campaigning this weekend with motorcades through the district towns of Columbia, East Hampton, Hebron and Marlborough. During the campaign, Segal consistently stressed state problems as being "tremendous and about out of control."

He said they range from drugs to crime, from deficits to increased taxes for small town residents because of the big city boss machine control of the House and Senate and government.

Taking exception to the opposition's charges that legislation lacking in many areas, O'Neill stated that "looking at the record for the past few years about the state's economy and progress, new school construction, and for other reasons of benefit to all the residents of the 52nd District."

He went on to say "certain statements have been made which might lead the voter to believe that little or nothing has been done in the areas of pollution, drug abuse and other social ills with which we are presently faced."

O'Neill pointed out that "legislation has already been enacted which provides for clean water in the state of Connecticut by 1974, and that an air pollution commission has already been established within the State Department of Health."

In addition, he stated that "a department of youth services has been created which will deal with all problems of youth including drug abuse."

Both candidates traveled door-to-door throughout their campaigning and also visited with the various boards of selectmen pledging their cooperation and support, if elected.

Segal offered help in spending local and state matching funds for your town's recreation facilities and other projects.

On the other hand, O'Neill said that he has "in the past and will in the future assure that the 52nd District will obtain its share of state and federal grants available which help avoid increased taxation on a local basis."

Concluding his campaign, O'Neill stated that "I re-elected, I would continue to be the people's representative and together with them, I would, as representative for the 52nd District, effectively deal with present and future challenges and assure the 52nd District of continued accomplishment."

Segal said, "If elected, I will have the time and energy and interest to be of service to all towns in the 52nd District."

Simian Victory
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Grandee and Boneca are here and unsuccessful mayoral candidate Rodney Fortel is a happy man, having fulfilled his one campaign pledge to get a pair of goggles for Audubon Park Zoo.

"I feel great," Fortel said as one of the 2-year-old apes, which cost him $5,000, was placed at the zoo.

Fortel, who ran on a strict "primetime" platform in the 1969 campaign, called a news conference Saturday to announce the arrival of the West African apes, which cost him $5,000.

2 Buildings Hit By Bomb Blasts
FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Police are seeking clues and motive in the bombing of a Selective Service induction center and a newspaper office.

No one was hurt when the dynamite devices exploded at 11:30 p.m. Saturday on the front steps of the two buildings, a block apart.

A few minutes earlier someone had called police to say "down town will be rocking" but gave no hint of why or who could be behind it.

Windows were shattered for 500 feet in all directions, and partitions were blown down in the office of the Fresno Guide, a tri-weekly shopping paper which recently expanded into community and national news with editorial comment.

A few weeks ago the newspaper ran a series on bombings, said editor Murray Norris, but "we consider ourselves middle of the road. We endorse candidates of both parties."

Police Lt. Pete Mockalis said the area was deserted at the time of the blasts. He said the bombs appeared to have been dynamite. He said he had a dozen sticks of dynamite.

Hartford Teachers Agree To Delay School Strike

HARTFORD (AP) — Teachers here Sunday agreed by a narrow margin to remain in their classrooms for at least two weeks, averting a strike threatened for Monday.

The vote at a late afternoon meeting was 346-325 against carrying out the strike threat immediately.

The teachers, members of the American Federation of Teachers and the school board are deadlocked over a number of issues including the length of the new pact and pay.

Joseph Casella, national AFT representative and negotiator for the teachers, said the school board has offered a two-year contract, while the teachers want a one-year agreement.

The teachers were believed to have originally asked for a 20 per cent pay hike, but Casella said they reduced that demand to something "in line with what is paid in comparable communities."

He declined to be specific, but some reports indicate the teachers have scaled down pay demands to a hike of somewhere between 10 per cent and 16 per cent. The board was believed to have offered a 5.5 per cent wage increase.

Hartford teachers are currently paid between $7,500 and $14,200 a year. The lower figure applies to beginners with bachelor's degrees, the higher to those with masters' degrees plus one year of additional study and

Hebron Large Turnout Expected For Tomorrow's Election

The polls will be open tomorrow at the Town Office Building from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and a large turnout of the 1,754 registered voters in town is expected.

Both registrars of voters, Republican James Derby and Democrat Joseph Hill, have expressed concern with the possibility of a large amount of vote splitting which could cause delays.

They fear that people will wait until the last minute to vote. All three machines will be in operation; however, the registrars urge residents to vote early.

Derby and Hill will be on duty at the polls, along with their deputies, Peter D'Alaire and Cynthia Wilson.

Moderator for the day, Russell Anderson, will be available to answer any questions on policy or decision as well as to explain vote splitting.

Machine tenders will also be standing by in case a voter requires assistance. If necessary, the tenders will summon a representative from both parties to assist the voter.

Second Try

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Dennis Hopper, director of the movie "Easy Rider," and Michele Phillips, who was a member of the now-disbanding "Mamas and Papas" singing group, were married in a weekend ceremony.

A Hopper spokesman said the marriage at Hopper's Taos home Saturday was conducted by the Rev. Bruce Conner of the Universal Life Church. It was the second for both Hopper and Miss Phillips.

Sgt. Wark, a 1964 graduate of the Air Force Institute of Technology, is married to the former Kathleen Worth of Toms River, N.J.

Gela Commission Beverly J. Sanford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Sanford, RFD 1, Rt. 88, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

A 1968 graduate of Rham High School, Lt. Sanford received a B.S. degree in education from Eastern Connecticut State College. She is being assigned to Wright - Patterson AFB, Ohio for duty as an education and training officer with the 49th Bombardment Wing.

Courant Backs Top GOP Ticket

HARTFORD (AP) — The Hartford Courant has endorsed Republican candidates for governor, senator and congressman from the 1st District.

The Courant said in its Sunday edition that Rep. Thomas J. Meskill, the GOP candidate for governor, "has offered a sounder and more comprehensive fiscal program than has the Democratic candidate, Emilio Q. Daddario."

The newspaper endorsed Ann Ursello, mayor of Hartford, for the 1st congressional district (S.A.T. VERBAL)

Remember Johnnie the baker? Remember seeing his horse and wagon, hearing his songs and his hand bell, smelling and tasting the heart-baked bread from the 'Old' bakery? From the turn of the century until the '60's, Johnnie, baker, delivered pies, cookies and cakes had a machine to melt the paraffin on the wax paper and seal the ends of bread wrappers.

An oven of this era remains. So far, it has resisted efforts of demolition crews that knocked down the bakery building. The oven walls, over a foot thick, and the I beams can be seen in the ruins just west of Main St. behind German Brothers service station. The oven was built to bake dozens of dozens of food at once. It was built to last but now it is to be just right as a museum. Flour was delivered by the gasolite station.

Mrs. Marion Mohr Taylor of 55 New St., the youngest of Fritz Mohr's seven children, grew up in the bakery business. All the Mohr children helped at various times in the family business. She can tell about baking bread, ginger squares, fruit cakes and hot cross buns, and about decorating wedding cakes with birds and nests of frosting.

Baking, both at home and commercially, has changed in many ways since the early 1900's. Bread dough was placed in large wooden troughs in the bakery. Mrs. Taylor said, and placed in a steam room for rising. When the dough was ready, the troughs were wheeled out, the dough placed on a work bench, cut into pieces of the proper weight, kneaded by hand, put on a rack and wheeled back into the steam room for more proofing.

Memories will last of the people of the bakery shop, and the smell, taste and sight of the food so carefully and artistically prepared there, but a way of life has gone. "We had two ovens—one for pastry and one for bread. Both ovens were fired by coal. The pastry oven had a bed of coals in a corner and the bread oven was fired from underneath. Of course, there were no thermostatic controls in those days."

The oven in the background once baked breads, cakes, pies and other goodies delivered to residents in horse-drawn wagons and, later, in trucks. The thick brick walls, I beams and racks of the oven will be blasted to provide parking space. (Herald photo by Rucievicius)

Ticking Goes On Throughout Bath

TORONTO (AP) — A bag-gage man at Toronto International Airport heard a ticking noise in a piece of luggage being loaded aboard a jetliner Sunday. Police from three forces rushed to the scene, the Montreal-bound flight was delayed for 30 minutes and the piece of baggage was dragged onto the airport tarmac.

Thousands of gallons of water were poured over the luggage. Still it kept ticking. Finally, a member of the Toronto bomb squad opened the United States.

WHAT PRICE ARE YOU WILLING TO PAY? SCHOOL BONDING

These Are The Facts:

25 classrooms plus cafeterias and gyms at an average of over $60,000 a room. Classrooms have two flexible walls to be taken down later.

Architects are chosen not put to bid. The more the building cost the more the architects are paid...

The same architects were chosen that built Martin School which has had a leaking roof — rugs you can't walk on — windows so luxurious they can't afford to replace them when broken. (The town doesn't learn from the past.)

Enrollment has increased about 300, the new classrooms seat over 600. Who fills the available seats?

Hartford City Council has plainly stated (no rumor, but fact) that they can't integrate within Hartford and are waiting for the next Legislature to force the suburbs to share their problems.

The State is to pay half the cost? The state account is bankrupt so the local taxpayer will have to pay the full amount or extra State taxes.

Dr. Hennigan was asked, Wednesday, if it was true that he orders all surplus spent before Budget time, rather than return it to the town. He said he does not believe in returning ANY money to the town. Why?

The people are not told the whole truth. We are repeatedly and at long length told the need and supposed cost of the repairs and additions. What we haven't been told (and the silence is deafening) is the cost of the personnel to staff the new rooms.

When questioned Wednesday Dr. Hennigan said the new classrooms would not cause him to hire new teachers. This is not true! At least 12 new teachers, more janitors, cafeteria help, and special education personnel will be needed. This will cost about $200,000 the first year with increased salary demands making it more each following year.

The "Truth-in-Lending" law makes banks state the full price of a loan plus interest cost. We are not told the truth in bonding, $1,000,000 borrowed for 20 years will cost $600,000. We are told the first year cost is $110,000 for principle and interest. NOT TRUE!

The town MUST borrow the whole $1,996,000 until the schools are finished and the state repays their share (if they can). This means $120,000 for interest alone the first few years, not counting the payment on the principle. WE ARE NOT BEING TOLD THE TRUTH!

The MPOA recognizes the needs of education and would support a sound, sensible construction program, not a package deal where we are given no choice. Because of this and the above reasons, WE RECOMMEND A NO VOTE.

Business Mirror New Attack on Inflation Expected After Election

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Among events that may be expected after the election: —A more active, vocal attack by the Nixon administration on inflation.

Polities so far have been effective in reducing demand for goods, and the so-called demand-pull type of inflation may be under control. But that's only half the battle.

The other type, called cost-push, hasn't responded to government efforts nearly as well. Output per manhour is rising, for example, but compensation is rising even faster.

The result: Production costs still are going up. Moreover, some skilled workers are ready to press big wage demands during coming months, further adding to costs. And raw materials prices also are scheduled to be higher.

The administration has carefully avoided any direct involvement in wage-price activities, such as through jawboning, but it may be unable to maintain such a purist stance.

Demand-pull inflation could reassert itself. Consumers have been postponing purchases, but that situation could end any day. Many of them have the money, as indicated by a historically high savings rate of 11.5 per cent of take-home pay.

Should this type of inflation flame up again, it would badly damage the administration's efforts to resume economic expansion on a healthier base. It would forebode the next expansion to an inglorious end.

Nevertheless, the government's economic brains must take the risk of boosting the economy into an expansion even before the bugaboo of inflation is completely controlled. They have little choice.

With so much at stake, you can bet there that there will be some jawboning about prices and wages, more direct advice and opinion from an administration that heretofore has relied mainly on fiscal and monetary policy to contain inflation.

A drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate.

This is the interest charge made by the Fed on loans to its member banks, and which eventually affects to some extent the rates on most other business loans.

Such a move could be followed shortly afterward by a reduction in the prime interest rate, which is the rate commercial banks charge their best corporate customers. The discount rate is now 6 per cent, the prime rate 7.5 per cent.

Business activity remains sluggish, despite an expected upturn. The unemployment rate is close to 6 per cent nationally, and much more than that in many pockets of economic depression around the country.

A drop in interest rates would help to correct both situations, but money-men feel the decline might be short-lived if the economy reacts very vigorously.

There is a growing precedent around the world for lower rates. The Bank of Japan cut its discount rate late last month. French banks lowered their prime rate at almost the same time, and Canada reduced its prime rate last week to 7.5 per cent.

—More stock market activity. A good deal of the confusion about the existing state of the economy will be dispelled after the elections. Moreover, investors will have a clearer picture of the economic policies to be pursued in the next year or so.

And you may add to this, of course, the tendency of the market to indulge itself in some Christmas merrymaking, sometimes known as the year-end rally and often attributed to buying and selling for income tax purposes.

Sponsored by Manchester Republican Town Committee — Chas. McKenzie, Treas.

Election Day is almost upon us, and my campaign is about to close. It is my hope that if I have campaigned well enough to get at least these points across:—

1. I HAVE FIRST-HAND EXPERIENCE with most of the issues that will face our next state senate! My work on your Board of Directors has included:— Pollution, N.E. Sewer and Secondary Treatment, Drug Abuse (Member of the Board Subcommittee) Streets and Highways (Member of the Board Subcommittee), Parks and Recreation, Charter Oak Field Police and Fire Protection and Education.
2. I DO WORK FOR THE TAXPAYER! (About 100% attendance, with homework completed, at Board Meetings — including Comment Sessions.)
3. I DO TAKE A STAND on the issues that we face together! (In four years on your Board of Directors, I have never abstained on even one vote!)

I would be most grateful for your support on Election Day.

Sincerely,
Dave Odegard

South Windsor 'Vote 18ers' Eke Out Win In Football

If the referendum question for the 18-year-old vote could be decided by a flag football game, the race to favor the "18ers" would be a difficult one.

The approval of this project, Sprinkel said, "will allow the town to proceed with the original policy of a continued and logical expansion of the sewer system that will ultimately serve as the basic system for the future expansion of sanitary sewers in residential areas that currently have septic system problems of increasing frequency."

Sprinkel also said that approval of the sewer referendum, question 4 will allow the development of the sewer system in accordance with the basic construction program that was set forth in a 1963 report which was financed by a federal planning grant.

"The continued increase in construction costs over the past several years makes it imperative that the overall construction schedule be adhered to and continued if a sewer system for South Windsor is to be completed at the least total expense possible," he said.

Men's Basketball
The South Windsor Recreation Department has announced that the free play men's basketball programs will start Thursday and run each Thursday evening through March 25, except for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The program will be conducted at Timothy Edwards School from 7:30 to 10 p.m., and supervisor in charge will be John Peley. Participants are encouraged to bring their own basketball.

Art Show
All artists, sculptors, photographers and craftsmen from South Windsor and surrounding towns have until tomorrow to Arnold, Alan Catlyn, Don Mer-cure, Bob Fuchs, John Carpen-ter, Jack Langrove, Don Engle, Norm Morrisette, Pat Futterer and Joel Cohen. Referees were Walt Mosby and Pete Nicholas. Kalat of 725 Governor's High-way.

The show is being held this year at the Wapping Elementary School on Ayers Rd. in South Windsor, on Saturday from 1 to 8 p.m. and Sunday, Sunday, Mac's pets won second prize in the goldfish category.

MIAMI (AP) — Rock singer Jim Morrison was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 Friday after being convicted of dropping the trousers in front of a Miami rock music audience last year.

The husky-headed lead singer for the "Doors" remained free on $50,000 bond and said he would appeal. He was convicted of indecent exposure and profanity.

Morrison's performance sparked several campaigns against indecency, including a rally by 30,000 persons in the Orange Bowl several weeks after the rock festival.

Nixon Called An Expert In Poker Bluffing

NEW YORK (AP) — Former fellow Navy officers who served with Richard M. Nixon in the South Pacific during World War II remember him as a brilliant poker player who won "40 or 50 every night." Life magazine says.

In an article recounting the President's early life, the magazine quotes one former officer, James Udall, as calling Nixon "the finest poker player I ever played against."

"I once saw him bluff a lieutenant commander out of $1,500 with a pair of deuces," Udall is quoted as saying.

The article added that the young Nixon "cultivated the correct noncommittal expression aided by cigars he looked smoking around this time, and became particularly skilled at bluffing."

As a teen-ager, Nixon once held a summer job as a carnival Barker at the Slippery Dick in Prescott, Ariz., the article said.

His brief carnival career came when his family moved from California to Arizona in hopes a climatic change would aid the health of his ailing older brother Harold, who later died at age 23.

Nixon the schoolboy and college student was depicted in the article as serious-minded, diligent and "a little different from the rest of us," according to a longtime fellow student. "He was a kid you respected."

Once while at Duke University Law School, Nixon and two fellow students broke into the dean's office, the article said. They wanted to see what class grades they held.

Puerto Ricans Cut Vote Age

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Puerto Ricans voted 212,517 to 144,892 Sunday to lower the voting age from 21 to 18.

About 1.1 million voters were registered, but the referendum turnout was one of the lightest in the island's history.

The measure was supported by Puerto Rico's four major political parties and three newspapers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An 11-year-old Jacksonville boy who rescued two goldfish from a polluted ditch found kindness was more than its own reward—it was also worth $5.

He caught two in a bucket, and his friends said he ought to enter them in the fish show at the Duval County Fair.

Sunday, Mac's pets won second prize in the goldfish category.

Wichita State Aftermath FAA Takes a Sharp Aim On Charter Flight Users

By DICK HAINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the month since the Wichita State football plane crash, the Federal Aviation Administration has moved to place more responsibility for such rent-a-plane flights on the users—who often are ignorant of air regulations.

So far, the firms which lease out the planes—and know about aircraft regulations—have not been moved against. But they may ultimately be required to warn their customers if the FAA follows a precedent set in a recent court action.

A two-engine plane carrying Wichita State University players and personnel crashed into the Rockies Oct. 2, killing 21. The disaster focused attention on the hazy world of air operations in which a plane from one source and a crew from another is provided to a user unfamiliar with air operations.

The FAA revoked the certificate of the aviation firm which provided the crew for Wichita State, fined the owner of the plane which crashed and revoked the certificate of a mechanic who inspected it.

The FAA also has acted against four firms indirectly linked to principals in the Wichita case for allegedly violating FAA rules on other flights—some of which involved football teams.

While FAA and National Transportation Safety Board investigations of the Wichita State crash continue, along with action in the other two cases, the broader question of how to prevent future tragedies like the Wichita State crash also has been under study.

The FAA has proposed rule changes which would specify that a university or other group which leases a large airplane from one source and hires a crew from another is the operator of the plane—and would be required to have an FAA certificate.

At the heart of the Wichita case is the question of who was operating the plane. The Martin 404 was owned by Jack Richards Aviation Inc. of Oklahoma City. The crew was from Golden Eagle Aviation Inc. of Oklahoma City.

The FAA says Golden Eagle was the operator of the plane. FAA Administrator John Shaffer said the separate crew and plane arrangements were merely a facade to evade FAA regulations for commercial air operators. Golden Eagle, as a firm, was not certified to fly a plane as large as the Martin 404.

Working Above the Waves Brings Oil into Russia

NETTYANYE KAMNI, investigate. The Soviets seek seven derelict ships as a foundation for an island and drilled the first well in July 1969. It drilled that November. Since then, the Soviets say, the "oil rocks" have produced 44 million tons.

The 42-mile ride out to Nettyanye Kamni on the diesel ship Volgograd takes four hours. The men scramble down the gangplank, suitcases in hand. On the pier are the crew—the Volgograd will be taking back to Baku. She carries around 800 men on each trip.

Too Many Chiefs
GALLUP, N.M. (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate Pete Domenici's campaign was to get his name known statewide, no matter how it was pronounced.

The Navajo Indians had little difficulty identifying the candidate. One expert in Gallup said the phonetic pronunciation of Domenici means "too many chiefs" in the Navajo language.

Speed on Film
WOBURN, Mass. (AP)—A special task force established by Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe to investigate the airplane leasing industry will consider whether some form of standard lease form should be required which would put the lessee of an aircraft on notice that it is responsible as an operator. That task force, now completing its organization, is expected to get a preliminary report to Volpe sometime in December.

Richard Griffith, a registry investigator, said the camera not only provides a sharp picture of the automobile, its registration plate and the offending driver, but each frame also notes the time, date and highway designation.

Griffith, who watched the device tested along Route 128 Sunday, said it "could prove a terrific deterrent" to speeders.

Antipollution Drive Works In Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP)—If you flip a cigarette butt onto the street in Singapore you face a $10 fine. It's a sign of an anti-pollution campaign that works.

The iron-fist forces of Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew's "Rugged Society" are seeing it done.

The Singapore River, dredged of 150 years of sewage and manure, is water-colored again. The harbor, among the world's largest with a booming petroleum industry, has few oil slicks. Port workers skimmed 90 tons of oil slick out in the first six months of 1970.

Fall cleaning has been an annual event since 1966 when the government virtually wiped the litter in this island city-state of two million.

"We cajoled the people," says the Health Ministry's permanent secretary, Tan Tack Hin, "and for the inordinately long way to smack them when they did it."

Maybe you could stand a $10 fine, but to a Singapore laborer that's six months' income. In one speech, Minister of Culture Jek Yun Thong said gamblers' slicking of ash jogg titles caused noise pollution and must be muted. Excessive noise is a serious problem here. Slicks in high-rise apartment complexes are sometimes blamed on the din by neighbors' radios and contractors' pile drivers.

Such noise is one of the targets, and the weapons will be police patrols and fines. Drivers pay $17 fines for smoky exhausts. Even diesel trucks in perfect repair collect tickets for the normal puff of smoke emitted when straining the engine.

One solution is an additive which cuts down fumes. The blue haze in movie theaters disappeared when word went out it could cost $165 just to strike a match.

In the harbor, special boats mounted with cameras gather evidence on vessels dumping oil and refuse. Detergent is spread over oil slicks immediately and offenders draw heavy fines.

The island's half-million school children are told that littering is a no-no. "You'd be surprised what influence children have on their parents," Tan said.

Despite progress, a lot of past pollution won't be easily undone. Singapore's beaches are increasingly forbidding. Garbage islands pollute the water due mainly to heavy shipping in surrounding straits which Singapore cannot police.

A clean environment is part of Singapore's over-all approach to life as outlined by the 47-year-old premier. His Rugged Society spurs such influences as sex in films and long hair.

Economist Says Jobs Lacking

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—An "elitely educated cream of society" created by America's higher education system is beginning to go begging for jobs, says Stanford University economist Roger A. Freeman.

There are not enough jobs above the vocational level to go around, he said in an interview Friday. "It's already a bad situation and bound to get worse."

The country has an urgent need for plumbers and mechanics, "but instead we're getting teachers and engineers by the millions," Freeman declared.

He noted that outside a nearby San Jose auditorium where President Nixon spoke Thursday night about 50 well-groomed and neatly dressed men carried signs reading: "Engineers Want Wages, Not Welfare."

The peaceful picketing was overwhelmed by hundreds of young persons shouting obscenities against U.S. participation in the Vietnam war and throwing rocks, eggs and bottles.

"The engineers' demonstration was a significant measure of what is happening" in a number of professions, Freeman said.

Among engineers, the problem of an abundance of graduates is being compounded by cutbacks in the defense and aerospace industries.

Vocational education is being underplayed to a dangerous extent at the high school level, he said.

"The process of higher education is and must, of necessity, be selective, in terms of the student's intellectual capacity and aspiration," he said.

"But in our eagerness to make everybody fit for college, we seem to be in the process of making college fit for everybody. We are not getting a selective number of sheep, just a hanging out of more sheepskins."

LIQUETT DRUG PARADE OPEN
7:45 A.M. to 10 P.M.

TOMORROW JOIN TOM MESKILL'S FIGHT TO SAVE CONNECTICUT.

Tomorrow can be the most important day in our history. Tomorrow we can stop our drift toward rising taxes, drugs, crime, pollution.

It won't be easy. It will take an outstanding leader. Tom Meskill is that man.

A former mayor, United States Congressman, Tom Meskill is young, energetic, strong and honest.

THE FIGHT AGAINST RINOUS TAXES AND GOVERNMENT WASTE
Tom Meskill's against an income tax. He wants to cut government spending and rout out the waste, the fat that steals away your tax dollars.

THE FIGHT AGAINST DRUGS
He wants to see drug pushers put in jail—where they belong. He'll beef up the State Toxicology Lab so it can quickly analyze suspected drugs and speed court action against pushers.

THE FIGHT AGAINST CRIME
He wants a new weapon to fight the mounting crime wave—a court-supervised wiretap bill. It's part of his 5-point program aimed at preventing Connecticut from becoming a headquarters for organized crime.

THE FIGHT TO SAVE OUR ENVIRONMENT
He'll halt the rape of our environment. He's for stricter enforcement of anti-pollution laws and stiff fines for polluters.

Tomorrow you can win the first battle in the fight to save Connecticut. Tomorrow you can make Tom Meskill our next governor.

Pull the second lever.

MESKILL
Because the governor can do so much to help.

Montreal Police Believe British Hostage Is Alive

MONTREAL (AP)—Police say they think British Trade Commissioner James R. Cross, kidnaped four weeks ago today, by terrorists seeking independence for Quebec, is still alive. "We're operating under the theory that he's alive," said Constable J.M. Abbott, spokesman for the provincial police, "and we'll continue to operate that way until we get proof that he isn't."

Six hundred members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and thousands of provincial police are hunting for Cross and his kidnapers as federal troops with rifles and submachine guns guard the trade commissioner's home, other public figures and public buildings.

Cross, 49, was kidnaped from his try-covered stone house on Montreal's exclusive Beaufort Crescent at 8:15 a.m. Oct. 6 by two armed men who gained entrance on the pretext of delivering a birthday gift. They handcuffed Cross and hustled him away in a car.

Cross was kidnaped by the Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ, a small underground terrorist organization which for several years had been bombing public buildings and mailboxes to call attention to its goal: independence for French Canada. It was Canada's first political kidnaping and the first in the western hemisphere outside Latin America.

The FLQ made a number of ransom demands, the chief one being release and transport to Cuba or Algeria for 25 of its members in prison or awaiting trial. The government refused, and on Oct. 19 the FLQ kidnaped Quebec's labor minister, Pierre Laporte. His body was found eight days later; he had been strangled with a small gold chain on which he wore a religious medal.

Police have issued warrants for Paul Rose, 27, a schoolteacher, and Marc Carboneau, 27, a taxi driver, wanted in both kidnapings. They issued warrants for Rose's brother, Jacques, 28; Bernard Lortie, 25, and Francis Simard, 25, in the Laporte kidnaping.

Under provisions of the War Measures Act, implemented by the government Oct. 16 to permit search and arrest without warrants, police have taken 450 persons into custody. But Abbott said recent raids have provided no new leads, and 200 of those arrested have been released. He said the police were still getting several dozen tips a day "about people who may be being considered for help in securing Cross' release."

Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said businessmen normal in their area. "We check every one of them," he said. "We can't afford to miss anything."

But Abbott said there has been no reply to a plea broadcast in French over a Montreal radio station by Cross's wife, Barbara, asking the kidnapers to treat her husband well.

That letter, now 15 days old, she broadcast this message in English to Cross: "It is agonizing to endure the long period of waiting. But I am confident that you are still alive and well."

Meanwhile, as the police hunt for the British public in the underworld in the crime capital of Canada is getting back to work.

The criminals laid low for a time after the kidnaping of Cross brought police and troops pouring into Quebec province. But in the past 10 days, a local bank was robbed already using the system of two men stole $118,000 at the Montreal International airport, three men held up a Montreal grocer and killed him, police killed a man trying to steal a police car, and $20,000 was stolen from Brinks guards at a provincial government building in Quebec City.

English to Cross: "It is agonizing to endure the long period of waiting. But I am confident that you are still alive and well."

Metric measurements are to become standard by 1972 under Government Metrication days, a local bank was robbed already using the system of two men stole $118,000 at the Montreal International airport, three men held up a Montreal grocer and killed him, police killed a man trying to steal a police car, and $20,000 was stolen from Brinks guards at a provincial government building in Quebec City.

Police reported today that 87 per cent of the British public is opposed to the government's plan to switch British to the metric system.

Valu-pricing shows you the best values... makes you a smarter shopper

When you shop at Stop & Shop this week, you'll notice next to many items a sign telling you how much that item costs per pound (or per ounce, quart or whatever).

That's what we call valu-pricing. It lets you compare the actual cost per pound of different brands and different sizes, so you'll be able to shop more economically by knowing which brand and which size is the best for your family.

We've been testing valu-pricing in a few of our stores already, and the response has been overwhelming. So we've started valu-pricing in all Stop & Shop stores, beginning with the grocery categories our customers have told us are most important. Then, continuing throughout the whole store.

So look for valu-pricing next time you shop at Stop & Shop. It makes mini-pricing mean even more.

We welcome your FEDERAL FOOD STAMPS AT STOP & SHOP!
