Rescued driver thanks firemen
Manchester's Town Fire Department has received a letter of thanks from a Vernon motorist who suffered serious injuries in a violent, May 1975 accident on Interstate 86. The man, released from the hospital just over a month ago, was pinned in his car after the unusual, head-on crash. He was freed from the vehicle by firemen using the new Hurst Rescue Tool, often called the "Laws of Life."

State Police, who investigated the accident, praised town fire fighters for professional use of the rescue tool. There was no other way to get 48-year-old Robert Werfelman out of his crushed automobile, authorities said. It was the first time the tool, bought in March for about $5,000, was used. Since that accident, town fire fighters have been summoned to use the tool several times. The tool, without causing sparks which could ignite spilled gasoline, can cut apart a wrecked car to free occupants in a matter of minutes. Without the special device, conventional methods of freeing accident victims from crushed vehicles could take hours. Werfelman's letter, received by town firemen just as they were responding to another call for using the rescue tool earlier this week, said: "May I extend to you all my appreciation and thanks, especially those who had a part in getting me out of my car quickly on May 19, on Rt. 86 at the Burnside overpass, Exit 82. A station wagon had flipped the center divider and crashed my car, and I was in critical condition. I was able to return home the middle of last month (November) at continue therapy as an outpatient. Hope I will be able to thank you personally someday. Christmas blessings to each of you."

The film depicts the history and progress of the Hadassah University Medical Center on Mt. Scopus in Jerusalem, Israel, according to Mrs. Evelyn Zimmerman, president of Manchester Chapter Hadassah.

Rep. Chris Dodd, D-Norwich, will speak to the Manchester Rotary Club at the club's regular meeting Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. at Manchester Country Club. Current national problems will form the basis of his talk. He will answer questions afterward.

Directors to consider police, transpo needs

The informal meeting of the Manchester Board of Directors will conduct Monday has been moved out of the Municipal Building and into the Police Station (in the second floor classroom). At 7:30 p.m., the directors will meet with the Advisory Committee on Transportation Needs, to discuss the 50-page report which culminated the committee's year-long study. In the meeting with Chief Lannan, the directors will be briefed on the range of services by his department, on vacancies in the police department, and on the status of the police budget. "According to these sources, who are close to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, the CIA is indirectly recruiting American ex-servicemen, training them, dispatching them to southern Africa, contributing towards their pay (via funds for Zaire and Angola's two pro-West factions) and providing them with a possible $2 million article said. Report 'CIA army' for Angola denied

BOSTON (UPI) - Some American ex-servicemen and South Vietnamese are being recruited into "the CIA's undercover 'army'" for Angola, The Christian Science Monitor reported today. The government said it's not so. In Washington, both the White House and the State Department issue statements saying the story was untrue and "totally without foundation." The front-page story by David Anable was based on "contacts with senior mercenary officers familiar with the situation both in Angola and the United States."

Pro-Western forces make gains in Angola

By ERIK VAN EES
United Press International
Despite a massive air buildup by the Soviet-backed forces in Angola, about 500 Russian military advisers are in Angola, but they stay well clear of fighting fronts, the captured Cubans said. The Western army said Friday the recent deaths of Cuban regulars fighting for the Marxist forces along with other strategic losses have demoralized the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola. The sources said 90 Cubans have been killed and at least 1,600 Popular Movement soldiers were killed and another 400 taken prisoner in swirling battles on three fronts. In one assault at Quibala, 250 miles south of the Marxist-held capital of Luanda, 50 Cubans were killed on Dec. 14, they said. Captured Cubans described their left-wing allies as cowardly and demoralized. The prisoners reportedly told interrogators that Cuban officers had to shoot some deserting Popular Movement soldiers. The tide of war in the former Portuguese colony appeared to turn with the capture of the railroad town of Teixeira de Sousa on New Year's Eve. Federal officials brief Ford on airport security efforts

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Federal officials have told President Ford airport security has been tightened nationwide since the bombing of New York's Laguardia airport. Ford met for 40 minutes Friday with members of a task force composed of federal government and aviation industry officials, which is studying how to make airports safer from security threats. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr., told the President that "airport security around the country is tighter now since the tragic incident at Laguardia," according to Deputy White House Press Secretary John G. Carlson. Neither Carlson nor Mike Duval, a White House aide who sat in on the meeting, would tell reporters just what the new security measures are. Officials have said that after Monday's bombing the Federal Aviation Administration ordered 500 airports across the country to put into effect contingency plans. The plan includes personnel, including ticket takers, are on an special alert for possible danger. Ford originally supported the measure, but he came under heavy pressure from conservatives and business to veto it. Cost-cutting efforts trim deficit

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut's projected $79.6 million deficit was cut to $55.6 million through decisive steps taken by Gov. Ella T. Grasso and the legislature, according to State Comptroller J. Edward Caldwell. Caldwell said that while the latest budget figures appear to be improving, he has not stopped worrying. "There's still concern that we have a deficit, that there doesn't seem to be any great upturn in the economy which is really what everybody is looking for."

Many druggists protest cut in state prescription fees

HARTFORD (UPI) - A 10-per cent cut in Medicaid payments to pharmacists has led to protests by druggists, some of whom have stopped filling Medicaid prescriptions. As part of the state's economy drive, the $2.20 fee for filling such prescriptions was cut to $2. The fee, which represents the druggists' profit, is in addition to the cost of the prescription. James F. Morrison, director of the state Department of Social Services, said although pharmacists are required by law to dispense emergency prescriptions, they can refuse any other request. "Emergencies account for about 20 per cent of a pharmacist's business," he said. "If we find out they're refusing lifesaving drugs, we'll turn them over to the state Pharmacy Commission."

Sikorsky idling 700

STRATFORD (UPI) - About 700 workers will be laid off from Sikorsky Aircraft plants in Bridgeport and Stratford, according to United Technologies Inc., Sikorsky's parent firm. Sikorsky President Gerald R. Tobias said Friday the workers will be furloughed within the month because of drops in the sale of helicopters, the plants' main product. "A slight upturn in production for the international market has not been sufficient to offset a drastic reduced production of helicopters for our own government," Tobias said. Post-Vietnam production at Sikorsky peaked early last year when 7,200 workers were on the payroll. The 700 furloughs will reduce the work force to 6,100, the company said. The majority of the employees to be dismissed are hourly workers. Tobias said he hoped the new round of layoffs "will stabilize the work force for the coming year."

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Hi everyone! This is Gloria here seeing out the old year by writing the column for Wally who is way up in Maine on a skiing trip. I hope he comes home in one piece because he is a novice skier.

We decided to have only one column this week because we were closed on Friday and were only closed again New Year's Day.

Monday is my day off, but I came in to work Monday morning to check on things for big holiday dance that would be held that night.

A birdie told me that two wonderful gal, Lynn Steels and Alfreda Hallin, were omitted from the "thank you" we gave the November and December volunteers. I felt bad about this because they have done a great job. We will let them rest a bit, then bango put them back into swing again.

112 at dance Monday night was a real swinger. We had 112 happy people come to our Christmas-New Year's Dance.

Lou Jobert and his wonderful musicians played almost continuously, and the seniors loved them. The Latuccas and the Patulaks served punch and hors d'oeuvres all evening with three wonderful students, Bonnie Weir, David Hildebrand and Rickie Downes assisting them. They did a great job and we appreciated them so much.

I must thank our dear friends Ann Thompson who volunteered to take care of the tickets at the door, and also Violet Dion with her friend who sold tickets until Ann arrived. Thanks to Dot and Phil Brass who helped pass out the prizes. We had a great group at the dance. All the good fun guys and gals were there, and we all had a great time. The evening ended at the stroke of eleven, with everyone wishing everyone else a Happy New Year. And that is what I am going to do right now. Wally, Jim, Tom, and myself wish you the best of everything in 1976.

Let's hope that we can move forward with old and new programs for all. I know the staff is eager to serve and to help you because guess what, we love you.

Next Monday we are going to register for a day trip to Cooke's Tavern in Plainville. This sounds like an interesting trip, and I want to caution you that we are limited to two buses.

You will see a slide presentation of the movie, "The Great Gatsby," that was made in part there. You will have a tour of the tavern which is over 200 years old, and a sing-along.

Your choice for lunch will be (1.) roast sirloin of beef, (2.) baked stuffed shrimp, (3.) veal parmigian, (4.) Yankee pot roast, and (5.) Boston Scrod. When you register, give the number of your luncheon choice, and that will speed things along.

This entree is served with soup, fresh salad, hot rolls and butter, vegetables and potatoes, ending with ice cream with strawberries, pots of coffee, and a glass of complimentary wine if you desire it.

The best news of all is the price for this trip, which is just $7.25. Now if some of you want to go but haven't received your check yet, we will accept your IOU, so come in and register anyway.

Pinochle results For our usual programs starting with Monday morning we had a good crowd for our social bingo, and in the afternoon it was pinochle with a group of 52 players, and the winners are: Fritz Wilkinson, 723; John Phelps, 713; Andrew Nonke, 605; Helena Gavetto, 692; Esther Anderson, 681; Robina Carroll, 678; Annie Young and Marjorie McLean, 660; Mary Nackowski, 656; Grace Windsor, 654; George Last, 643; Ann Thompson, 632; and Edward Scott, 631.

On Tuesday the Senior Bowling League was knocking over the pins at the Parkade Lanes and these are the results: In the men's Class A group, Clarence Peterson won both the high triple with a 581 and the high single with a 214. In the Class B group, Harding Carrier won both the high triple with a 569 and the high single with a 198.

In the women's Class A group, Marie Bolls won the high triple with a 423 and Mary Picaut won the high single with a 158. In the Class B group, Jennie Trivigno won the high triple with a 327 and Violet Deabup won the high single with a 138.

Wednesday morning we had 33 pinochle players and these are the winners: John Gally, 649; Helen Gavetto, 617; Wilbro Messier, 603; Al Chellman, 592; Josephine Schuetz, 581; Esther Gaudette, 580; Bessie Noonan, 579; John Derby, 567; Marjorie McLean and Ann Perras, 550.

Wednesday morning we had 33 pinochle players and these are the winners: James Moriarty, 5,790; Marge McLean, 5,400, and Irene Foisy, 4,950.

Another trip coming up is a luncheon theater trip to the Chateau de Ville, on Feb. 5, to see "My Fair Lady." We will probably register for that trip on Jan. 12; more about this later.

I want to extend congratulations to one of our oldest active members, Joseph Windsor, who is 90 years old today. Joe is really a great guy and we wish him the best of everything.

Freeze damages California citrus crop

By United Press International Subfreezing temperatures in California have done "serious damage" to the multimillion dollar citrus crops in Tulare and Fresno counties and authorities today said it may take a week or 10 days to determine the exact amount of damage.

In the Midwest, the New Year's blizzard tapered off although traveler's warnings remained in effect for parts of North Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky.

Highways were slippery as far south as the southeastern Texas mountains and snow was 5 inches deep in the Guadalupe Pass area.

Clyde Churchill, agricultural commissioner for Tulare County, and Paul Cook, senior agricultural inspector for Fresno county, said serious damage begins below 25 degrees and also depends on the duration of the freeze. The temperature in the two counties reached a low of 18 degrees Friday, the third day of the subfreezing temperatures.

Tulare county's $100 million crop is the largest in the state, while Fresno's annual citrus income is estimated at $28.5 million.

The storm that paralyzed Wyoming also dumped up to two feet of snow in western Nebraska.

In Cheyenne, Wyo., a Mountain Bell employee stranded three days in a remote area of southeast Wyoming during the area's worst blizzard ever was helped to a farmhouse by a passing motorist Friday. He was expected to be rescued today by a private helicopter and brought to Cheyenne.

Land transferred Wednesday

Coventry MONICA SHEA 742-9495 Wednesday the Greater Hartford Community Development Corp., better known as DevCo, transferred its 1,600 acres to the Coventry Land Corp.

According to Peter Libassi, president of DevCo, the new corporation is composed of many of the same businesses that were the original DevCo banks.

The transfer papers indicate the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. now holds a mortgage of $1,388,000. This is much below the original mortgages of $3 million that had been held by Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and First National Bank of Chicago.

Saving capitalism

WASHINGTON — Capitalism — also variously known as the "free enterprise," "private enterprise," or "profit" system — is under broad attack both at home in the United States and abroad.

LEE RODERICK

American Way of Death: Rachel Carson's book on ecology, Silent Spring; and the consumerism classic by Ralph Nader, Unsafe at Any Speed.

No one knows how much of the current public antipathy toward business is attributable to the ideas planted in these volumes. However, Hayek's prophecy that the views held by intellectuals will become the "governing force of politics" appears to be reaching rapid fulfillment in the increasing influence of consumer activist groups in the nation's legislative process.

The nation's leading colleges likewise continue to be bedeviled by Hayek's prophecy. The late Stewart Alsop wrote, for example, that "Yale, like every other major college, is graduating scores of bright young men who are practitioners of the politics of despair." These young men despise the American political and economic system... (their) minds seem to be wholly closed. They live, not by rational discussion, but by mindless slogans."

In a recent Gallup poll, students at Princeton named Ralph Nader as their leading hero (with, however, only 45 per cent of the vote). Following Nader was Henry Kissinger and Justice William Douglas, with 28 and 24 per cent respectively, followed by Ted Kennedy. Vice President Rockefeller just judged out Fidel Castro. The CIA and the Pentagon ranked as the most disliked institutions.

As with group No. 1, it is difficult to prescribe a remedy to such attitudes. Perhaps the best one can hope for is that other bright young intellectuals who have faith in the system will grow in number, and provide a counterbalance to those who would just as soon let it sink. Group No. 3 — most of the rest of us — provides the real answer to saving the private enterprise system.

Although polls indicate most Americans distrust business, most citizens also say their aim is to see abuses corrected rather than the system supplanted. And therein lies the hope that — despite public tirades by Vance Packard — the Status Seekers, The Waste Makers, The Pyramid Climbers and The Naked Society: Jessica Mitford's volume

The Press and the American Revolution Battle of Long Island

By Dr. Francis G. Wallert Worcester State College Copyright 1975

American Antiquarian Society Even before the British evacuation of Boston in March 1776, Gen. Charles Lee to prepare defenses of the strategically located New York City. The American commander guessed correctly that the British would strike there next. After he had studied the islands and waterways about New York, Lee wrote that they did not think the city could be defended indefinitely. He did feel, however, that the Continental Army would be able to hold off the enemy for a time without undue risk.

Washington considered the importance of New York so great that he ordered that it be defended as best possible. "For should they get that town, and the command of the North (Hudson) River," he wrote, "they can strike the interior between the northern and southern colonies, upon which depends the safety of America."

Lee and other Patriot generals set about erecting defenses to hold the city as long as possible. Cannon were placed on both sides of the Hudson River. Forts were erected on Manhattan Island and artillery was set upon Brooklyn Heights (on western Long Island). It was hoped that British ships would not be able to go up the Hudson and that the batteries in Brooklyn overlooking New York would prevent an approach to Manhattan by way of the East River.

When he arrived in New York (having hurried overland to Norwich, Conn., and then by boat along Long Island Sound), Gen. Washington wasted no time on ceremony. Assessing the situation quickly, he proceeded to strengthen the forts and other military defenses laid out by Gen. Lee. The commander-in-chief evidently thought that the Americans could hold their position on Brooklyn Heights, because he ordered the entrenchments strengthened and the colonial lines on Long Island extended.

On July 2, 1776 — the very day that the Continental Congress voted for independence — Gen. Sir William Howe landed his advance troops on Staten Island, and the rest of the New York harbor, south of Manhattan. Soon a strong fleet of warships and transports under Adm. Richard Howe brought in the bulk of the enemy army.

As more British forces gathered, Gen. Howe waited until he was sure that he had unquestionable superiority before he attacked the British. By the time he was ready to act, Howe had over 40,000 men, twice the number Washington commanded, and the largest invasion force of the United States. British forces would enable them to establish complete control of the waters around New York.

This map clearly shows geographical features of the New York City area. Movement of troops and principal sites related to the Battle of Long Island and the Battle for New York can be located. It is interesting to note different designations for Brooklyn (Brookland), Manhattan (New York Island), and the Hudson River (North or Hudsons River). The map was produced for William Gordon's History of the Rise, Progress and Establishment of the Independence of the United States of America... (London, 1788).

ance on the American position by siege tactics. Washington saw there was no time to lose. With British entrenchments getting close and the danger that British warships might move up the East River to isolate the American forces, the commander-in-chief knew that he must withdraw his army from Long Island hastily or lose it.

Gathering scores of craft of every description, the British made New York waterways their own. The British had been able to accomplish a remarkable withdrawal. By occupying Brooklyn, however, Gen. Howe made New York untenable and the Continental Army would soon have to retreat again. While American spirit was shaken by the Battle of Long Island, attacks on the British in the press continued. "Fair battle" in the Pennsylvania Evening Post Sept. 7, 1776 berated Gen. Howe and praised American efforts. "The courage of these men (Americans) baffled your hopes who after laying great numbers of their enemies dead, that opposed their retreat, more than two-thirds reached their own lives in safety; therefore, we think you have no cause to exult."

A poem for the New Year "Faith"

Why the "C" In "Hanukkah"? The other day a good friend of mine who is of Jewish faith got to talking about our two religious celebrations that come so close together. We commented on the similarities and differences. Many customs are the same; there are prayers, money is given to the poor, presents are distributed to children, decorations are displayed, candles are lit.

Recently a "C" has been added to the beginning of the word "Hanukkah." I called my friend Rabbi Leon Wilentz, who has written and lectured that it has always been a "CH" sound as in the German, but as our English language does not have this syllable, the correct way to spell

The other quote is from President Nixon. When our astronauts first walked on the moon he jubilantly exulted, "This is the greatest week in history." Certainly it was one of the greatest in scientific history, but greater than Christmas week? Greater than the week that led through the crucifixion of Christ to the Resurrection on Easter? I believe that p.d. been left on Brooklyn Heights were withdrawn and brought over to Manhattan. Washington himself was in one of the last boats to leave. Jousting off the cuff

Just Wondering Department: How many fans noticed that rival coaches Stan Orogodnik of East Catholic and Doug Pearson of Manchester High failed to renew pleasantries after the Eagles downed the Indians in overtime last week at the Clarke Arena, 62-41. Cheney Tech varsity basketball coach Gerry Blanchard said "I do" last weekend. Scotty Hyde promising sophomore basketball player with Manchester High's varsity, is the son of Phil Hyde, former varsity Indian hoop mentor. Gate receipts for last night's UConn-Boston College basketball game at the Hartford Civic Center exceeded $40,000, which is a good reason to attend the UConn Classic which will be staged in Hartford next season and possibly a Yankee Conference game against the likes of Massachusetts or Rhode Island...Tom Malin, the first of several standout backcourt players for East Catholic and the first of six East performers to win all-state tournament honors, serves as official timer for all Eagle home games. Besides Malin, for those with short memories, other East all-stars were Ray LaGace, Jim Reynolds, Tim Kearns, Ed Fitzgerald and Joe Whelton. End of the line

Commenting on a report pro football was dull, Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry answered: "I don't agree that you have to have passes to have excitement in football. When a pro game is close on the scoreboard, it's tremendously interesting if you understand it — if you fully understand how the offenses are trying to open up this complicated thing. My answer to those who think football is dull, is to try and understand it better. If you do, it will be very rewarding. You have to appreciate the game more if you know that the battle is all about down there..."Not to be overlooked was the excellent sportsmanship displayed by players and fans at the East Catholic-Manchester High basketball game last Tuesday night...Have a nice weekend.

Biggest test yet faces East five

Some teams after a big victory are able to lean back and savor their well-earned laurels. There is no rest, however, for East Catholic as the Eagles for the second time this week clash head-on with an undefeated opponent.

Tonight at 8 at the University of Hartford, 6-0 East combats arch-rival 7-0 South Catholic with first place in the Hartford County Conference at stake. Both are 2-0 in conference play along with Northwest Catholic which has a non-conference game tonight.

The Eagles are coming off a 62-41 overtime win over cross-town Manchester High while South last Tuesday knocked Hartford Public out of the unbeaten ranks by a 59-47 count.

"The scouting report on South is that they are 'super,'" stated East Coach Stan Orogodnik. "They are patient, execute well and don't make any mistakes. Our scout can't recall them making any turnovers against Public. They are an excellent team which has a little bit of everything."

A year ago the teams split two games with the Rebels using their quickness to take the first encounter. The quintets are relatively unchanged with the only difference being East now has the experience to go along with its sizable height advantage. Experience played a key role last year. Like East, South has a number of juniors on the squad but

Indians play sub-par but nip Wethersfield

By LEN AUSTER

Still feeling the affects of its overtime loss to East Catholic, Manchester High put forth its worst effort of the season last night but still came away with a 60-48 win over Wethersfield High in CCIL basketball action at the Eagle gym.

The Indians, leading the league with a 6-0 mark and 6-1 over-all, made seven of nine one-and-one shots in the closing 32 seconds to take the verdict. Wethersfield slipped to 2-4 in the CCIL and 2-5 in all games with the loss.

With Manchester leading by two, 43-41, with 32 seconds showing on the clock, Mark Demko stepped to the charity stripe for the Indians. He missed the front end of the one-and-one but senior Captain Mike Quesnel latched onto the rebound and was fouled in the act of shooting Wethersfield's Bill Rumley, who committed his fifth foul anyway, was whistled for a flagrant foul (automatic ejection) and this

Carlton returns

Operating at full strength for the first time in a month tonight will be the New England Whalers when they entertain Cleveland at the Hartford Civic Center at 7:30. Wayne Carlton, above, will be back for the first time since Dec. 7 when struck by an appendectomy was performed.

Nick Fotiu and Ron Climie, who also be back in uniform. Cleveland will be out to snap a jinx. The Crusaders have yet to beat the Whalers in 13 games, losing a dozen and playing one tie.

"This is a big game for us. Both games this week are (were) tough, dusty big games and we can't split our efforts in them. I just hope we have something left after the Manchester game."

"But I do know my players will be ready. We are not underating South and we know we can be blown out by them. For us to win, we have to come out sharp at the beginning and execute," Orogodnik warned.

Key players for the Rebels include 5-11 junior Steve Ayers, 6-1 junior Rudi Alvarez, 5-9 senior John Basile and 5-10 senior Joe Horvath. Six-foot-four freshman John Pizone gives South board strength. South might be small in stature but that hasn't been a minus factor yet for them this season.

East counters with its towering front line of 6-5 John Lusa (20.2 point per game average), 6-5 junior Jeff Heim (11.8) and 6-4 junior Gary Carlson (11.5). South likes to press all over the court and that means how well guards Pete Thompson and Mark Dumais handle the pressure could spell the difference.

The schools have met 28 times on the hardwood in 12 years of competition with East leading the series, 17-11.

Joe Whelton of UConn loses ball. He also fouled B.C.'s Bill Collins in process.

put Quesnel on the 15-foot line for four shots. The elongated senior made three to give Manchester a 46-41 edge.

Demko in the final 16 seconds made four straight foul shots to offset a bucket by Bob Molloy and three-point play by Dave Sims to ensure the Silk Town win.

"We can't play any worse than this," agonized Indian Coach Doug Pearson. "We are still down from the other night and just weren't ready to play. I'm not at all pleased by our performance. We didn't play like potential league champs. It's up to the club, but we have to do something to get back up."

The quintets stumbled through the first quarter with Manchester leading at the turn, 9-5. Seven second quarter points by Quesnel enabled the Indians to take a 25-17 halftime advantage.

Wethersfield, behind spunky 5-8 senior guard Mike O'Keefe, came on strong in the third quarter and knotted the count

The Eagles connected on 20 of 53 field goal attempts.

Wethersfield took the Jaycee contest, 70-62. Craig Kearney and Bill Finnegan paced the 4-3 Indians with 15 and 13 points respectively.

Manchester's next tilt is Tuesday night in West Hartford against Conard High.

Quesnel took scoring honors with 18 points on six for 10 from the field and six for seven from the charity stripe. Demko added 11 markers, five from the free throw line. Manchester was 17 for 41 in field goal attempts, winning it at the 15-foot line on a 16 for 25 performance.

B.C. team showing too much for UConn

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor

Individual performances — by Connecticut — were far overshadowed by a team effort — by Boston College — last night at the Hartford Civic Center before 11,319 fans and the net result was an easy 94-83 win for the visitors.

Boston has just too much height, and savvy, for the UConn's who started out strong by rolling up an 8-2 lead and then fell flat on their faces with a horrendous shooting and passing exhibition.

Once the Eagles grabbed the lead, 12-10 after five minutes, they never looked back and enjoyed a 39-27 edge at halftime and increased the edge to 20 points early the second half and held the margin until the decision was sealed away. The final 12 points went to the decisiveness of the play.

Coach Dee Rowe's crew, which disappointed the sellout crowd, to say the least, shot a miserable 38 per cent in the first 20 minutes to 48 for the winners. For the 40 minutes, UConn was just 29 per cent from the floor to 56 for the Eagles.

Although outbursted by just one, 44-43, B.C. held a big edge when it counted, as superior height was just too much for the Huskies, especially when Joe Whelton and Al Weston were in the games at the same time. One bright spot — perhaps the only one — was Weston's fourth point which gave him a career total of 1-1.

UConn's patterned disciplined play, which marked the 42 record going into the first college game ever at the Civic Center, went out the window.

"It was hitler-skeeter basketball at its worst with wild shooting and no rebounding for the most part which resulted in many fans leaving before the final whistle."

"The layoff hurt," Rowe said. "Give credit to B.C. It is a fine team. We can't look at this as the end of the season. It hurts to lose to a New England team. The ratings will be coming out shortly."

The game was UConn's first since Dec. 13 when it was demolished by highly ranked Rutgers. "They made us play like we don't want to play," Rowe added. "B.C. is a good, quick team for big people. We pressed and made mistakes. We couldn't get inside. They are an excellent zone team," he added. No one could disagree.

B.C. was head and shoulders over the Huskies in all facets of play last night.

Coventry improved its COC record to 4-1 and over-all docket to 6-1. The Technicians stand 3-4.

The Patriots jumped to a 19-12 lead after the first turn and broke it open in the second canto holding the visitors scoreless while adding 21 points to their own total.

Coventry placed four players in double figures. Al Schmidt led the way for the winners with 17 points followed by Mark Schmidt (12), Rick Etwell (10) and Joe Fortier (10). Emil Haberern was top point maker for Cheney with 15 points. Paul Strycharz had nine markers and Tim Martin eight.

The Patriots also took the Jaycee contest, 50-43. Freshman Doug Landry and Kevin Tyler each had 11 points for the 3-4 Beavers.

MHS Girls

Snapping its six-game losing streak, the Manchester High girls' team routed Wethersfield, 54-21, yesterday at Clarke Arena.

Mary Cochran and Ellen Donadio paced the Indians with 11 and 10 points respectively. The Manchester Jayvees topped their record to 7-1 with a 42-25 win over Wethersfield. Cindy Fornica had 20 points and Rhoda Rice nine for Manchester.

With Mike Zotta scoring the winning bucket in overtime, Community Y bested CBC, 14-12, last night at the Community Y. Chris Parker had 10 points for the winners while Chris Peterson with six and Tim Gray with four markers paced CBC.

Also, Willis Garage topped Nassiff Arms, 14-10. Joe Johnson had 10 points for the winners while Keith Blanchard and Matt Gagon had three apiece for Arms.

Action at the West Side Rec saw WINEF slip past the Knicks, 17-15, and Nassiff Arms beat the Celtics, 22-11.

Jim Kibbie had eight points and Tony Chevette seven for WINEF. Mark Cromwell had seven points and Mark Walling four for the Knicks. Dean Page had 12 points for Nassiff's and Billy Silver six for the Celtics.

The Sheraton Corporation will sponsor an invitational tennis tournament January 16-18 at the Longfellow Racquet Club in Weoyland. The $1,500 Sheraton Tennis Invitational Tournament will be the first of eight on the new NETS (New England Tennis Stars) 1976 circuit.

Coventry trims Cheney in COC

Finding things tough in the Charter Oak Conference thus far is the Cheney Tech basketball team. The Beavers lost their fourth in five conference outings last night, 83-42, to Coventry High at the Patriot gym.

Oklahoma college football champions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oklahoma is the national champion today because, unlike the Big Ten powers, the Sooners proved they could pass as effectively as they run.

The UPI Board of Coaches, obviously impressed with Oklahoma's convincing 14-6 Orange Bowl victory over Michigan, have named the Sooners 1975 college football national champions by a wide margin. With 36 of the 43 coaches on the UPI board participating in the final ratings, Oklahoma (11-1) received 21 first place votes and outpointed unbeaten runner-up Arizona State 338-22.

In finishing with its highest rating ever, Arizona State, the only major college team to go unbeaten this year, nosed out Sugar Bowl winner Alabama by just two points. The Sun Devils completed a 12-0 season by stunning Nebraska 16-14 in the Fiesta Bowl a week ago.

Ohio State went into the bowl an overwhelming No. 1 and dropped to fourth after its embarrassing 23-10 Rose Bowl loss to heavy underdog UCLA. The Bruins rode the victory from 13th place to fifth in the final ratings.

The Buckeyes were upset when quarterback Cornelius Greene was ineffective as a passer. Greene completed 7-of-18 passes with two costly interceptions.

By contrast, Oklahoma's Steve Davis didn't throw much, but when he did, he was effective. Davis completed 3-of-5, averaging 21 yards per completion and kept the Wolverine defense off balance during both Sooner scoring drives.

The national title, Oklahoma's first since 1956, tied it with Southern California for the most championships in the 26-year history of the UPI ratings — four. Oklahoma won in 1950, 1955 and 1956.

For Coach Barry Switzer, whose only loss in a three-year Sooner 32-1 coaching record was a 23-3 defeat by Kansas Nov. 8 snapping a 27-game winning streak, the vote was satisfying.

"It's a great thing for all who have been involved with our program," he said. "We probably gained something from that loss to seventh; Michigan dropped from fourth to eighth; Nebraska fell from fifth to ninth, and Penn State, a 15-6 loser to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, dropped two to 10th.

Arkansas, a 31-0 winner of Georgia in the Cotton Bowl, went from 15th to sixth; Texas, which beat Colorado 38-21 in the Astro-Bowl, fell from 11th to 12th; and Penn State, a 15-6 loser to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl, dropped two to 10th.

Keelan, of Dedham, Mass., has said the track will take bets worth $500,000 to $400,000 each racing night — assuring the state at least $3.5 million in revenues by the summer.

Gambling in many forms was legalized in Connecticut by the 1971 state legislature, but only the state lottery had any road. It pumps about $15 million a year into state coffers.

A Bridgeport jail area due to open last November lost its license when it became the center of Connecticut's largest gambling scandal ever — a horse track proposed for Wolcott ran into several environmental objections.

"I've never seen so many happy people in my life," said state planning commission chairman Paul Silverfield.

"I'm glad it's there," said state planning commission chairman Paul Silverfield.

Turnaway attendance for greyhound racing

PLAINFIELD (UPI) — More than 18,000 persons jammed the Plainfield Greyhound dog track as it hosted its first night of racing and became the state's first parimutuel betting outlet.

Traffic on nearby Rt. 52 was backed up three miles as race time neared Friday. And hundreds of cars were turned away from the $5 million track's jammed parking lot, state police said.

A total of $64,808 was bet on the first of the night's 12 races and track officials said the betting probably would average about $40,000 for each of the remaining races.

Track spokesmen said license plates on cars parked around the track showed that persons came from Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island which is only six miles away. Busesloads of fans arrived from Worcester, Springfield and Fall River, Mass., and Providence, R.I.

Officials reacted favorably to the opening. "I'm glad it's there," said state planning commission chairman Paul Silverfield.

Four vie for Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Although the Los Angeles Rams live and die by their defense, Dallas Cowboy's Coach Tom Landry says he'd prefer to see a low-scoring, defensive struggle in the NFC showdown.

"I hope it's a tough defensive game," Landry said Friday night. "If it is, then we've got a chance. To go to the Super Bowl, you've got to have a great defense."

"We haven't played good defense week in and week out like the Rams have. We haven't had that consistency. Our defense has been up and down."

"When you're talking about defense in pro football, I think the final criterion is the points you give up. I think the Rams and the Pittsburgh Steelers have the best defenses in the NFL."

Landry and the Cowboys arrived in Southern California from Texas Friday night for Sunday's NFC championship game at the Coliseum. The winner gets a trip to Super Bowl X at Miami Jan. 18. Rams' Coach Chuck Knox confirmed that James Harris — and not Ron Jaworski — will be starting quarterback against Dallas.

"James Harris is our No. 1 quarterback and has been all season," Knox said. "That's hard on your concentration."

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The last time Mel Blount faced Cliff Branch, it was an embarrassment.

That was in the American Conference title game last season and Blount, the Pittsburgh Steelers' right cornerback, was yanked by Coach Chuck Noll after Branch, the Oakland Raiders' bullet-quick wide receiver, had caught nine passes for 186 yards.

Blount was saved from complete humiliation by a Pittsburgh defense that allowed Oakland only 29 yards rushing and sparked the club to victory and a Super Bowl berth.

Blount and Branch meet again Sunday in the AFC tie game, this time at Three Rivers Stadium, and this time Blount is coming off a superb season. He led the National Football League with 11 interceptions and set up the go-ahead score in last week's opening round playoff win over Baltimore with another interception.

"We had a good pass rush this year but all those interceptions weren't gifts," said Blount, who has shaved his head. "I feel I'm a much better ballplayer this year. Every player should get better with every year he plays. When a guy is in his prime like I am, you can't help but get better."

Blount isn't sure about the explosive reputation Branch has built around the NFL.

"I don't know if he's any different from other receivers," said Blount. "The Raiders run out of a lot of different formations and Ken Stabler is an outstanding quarterback. He's one of the most accurate passers in the game."

Close-check Flames enjoy point spree

NEW YORK (UPI) — It can be that the close-checking, defense-minded Atlanta Flames have scored 13 goals in their last two games?

St. Louis Coach Lynn Patrick is a believer after watching the Flames bomb his Blues 7-1 Friday night.

Goals by Darryl Edstrand and Jean Ratelle enabled the Bruins to overcome a 4-2 deficit and gain their tie at Vancouver. The tie gave the Bruins a two-point edge over Buffalo in the Adams Division while Vancouver remained in second place in the Smythe Division.

WHA Russ Walker's sudden-death goal at 3:02 enabled the Crusaders to beat the Nordiques. Ernie Wakely scored his second shutout of the season over Indianapolis as Don Burgess assisted on San Diego's first goal and scored its second. Goaltie Paul Hoganson lowered his goals-against-average to 1.06 in Cincinnati's victory over the Civics. Paul Henderson scored two goals and had an assist in the Toronto triumph over the Roadrunners. Ron Chipperfield, Rick Sentes and Butch Deadmarsh were the marksmen for the Bruins against the Oilers their eighth straight loss.

Ellington downs Tolland quintet

Taking two overtimes to do it, Ellington High nipped Tolland, 66-44, last night at the Purple Knight gym to take over sole possession of the NCCCT basketball lead.

Tim Forbes' jumper with 40 seconds left in the second extra session gave Ellington a 65-64 lead and his free throw with 10 seconds remaining added the final marker.

Thad Okolo and Mark Macleice paced Ellington with 22 and 17 points respectively. The Knights are now 4-0 in the conference and 7-1 over-all, including two wins from their Canadian tour. Tolland is 4-1 in the NCCCT and 4-3 in all games.

Rham High improved its over-all record to 2-4 with an 87-78 win over COC for Bacon Academy last night. The Sachems sport a 3-2 conference ledger while Bacon is 2-3 in conference play and 3-3 in all games.

Trio pace Celts against Sonics

SEATTLE (UPI) — Dave Cowens, Charlie Scott and John Havlicek combined for 70 points to lead the Boston Celtics to a 109-98 NBA victory over the Seattle Sonics Friday night.

The Celtics, who trailed through much of the contest, confused the Sonics offense in the fourth quarter, allowing Seattle only 12 points in the first seven minutes of the quarter.

Paul Silas came off the bench to haul down 20 rebounds and Cowens added 13 as the Celtics out-rebounded Seattle, 50-33.

Cowens led the Boston attack with 28 points, while Scott scored 24, including 18 in the first half. Havlicek added 18 points as the Celtics snapped a three-game losing streak.

The victory kept Boston atop the Atlantic Division, one game ahead of Philadelphia. The Sonics fell eight games behind Pacific Division leader Golden State and into fourth place behind Phoenix.

SKI NOTES

By BILL SACHEREK

It is vacation time and some of the many ski areas had good attendance crowds and good to excellent conditions and good to excellent conditions. With a slight delay I decided to stay close to home and went to Mt. Southington.

Chatted with Rich Satagaj, G.M. at Mt. Southington, Satagaj was also a good baseball man as he reminded me of the several times he played in the Manchester Twilight League. Satagaj makes snow whenever it is cold enough as there already is a two to three foot base.

Jerry Donovan is the ski director and has a young and competent experienced staff.

Mt. Southington has a double chair, three T-bars, three tows to service the seven slopes and five trails. The area is just 30 miles from here, on Rt. 84 south to Marion Ave., exit, running time 35 minutes.

Southington has day and night skiing, lessons anytime and a fine rental and ski shop. The Connecticut freestyle junior championships will be held Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m. See you on the mountain.

Economist suggests we don't buy gold

A University of Connecticut economist has a suggestion for would-be investors who found some extra cash in the Christmas stockings this year — Don't buy gold.

Dr. Ramon Knauerhase, an authority on money and banking, believes that most Americans heeded this advice last year and thus exhibited a vote of confidence in the U.S. economy.

Last January, after a 40-year lapse, U.S. citizens regained the right to purchase gold, but their response was less than enthusiastic, Knauerhase said.

There was a slight increase in the price of gold at that time of the freeing of gold, but today, the price of gold is lower than it was a year ago. Therefore, one must assume that investors haven't been interested in buying gold, he said.

It doesn't make much sense to invest in gold now, Knauerhase said. Gold doesn't pay interest, and a loss of possible if gold prices decline, he said.

"Gold for the average American is a bad investment, so therefore he stays away from it," Knauerhase said.

Lack of interest in gold doesn't hurt the nation's economy, Knauerhase said. Since U.S. currency is no longer based on gold, it's just another investment opportunity.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem has bugged me for 25 years. It concerns my husband's inability to cope with anything unpleasant. I would call it his problem, only it doesn't seem to bother him. It's the one it bothers, so that makes it MY problem, right?

When we receive bills, they could lay six months, and he'd never open them. If he gets a call from someone who wants some information he promised to have ready but didn't get around to, he doesn't return the call.

He puts things off indefinitely. Needless to say, this drives me up a wall.

He is a dear, sweet, loving man, and I love being married to him. He has the disposition of an angel, and he's kind and generous and everything a wife could want in a man, but his irresponsible attitude about matters that I consider important makes me to scream.

What do you advise me to do, Abby? "I'M IN MO. DEAR E: Face it. You'll never change this dear, sweet, loving, generous man, so roll with the punches.

Why not take over the household bills? He may welcome the idea, and you'll know they're paid. Don't nag him. Nobody's perfect, and his faults are minor compared to some he could have.

DEAR ABBY: A high school neighbor girl sits with our children about two nights a week. She is a pleasant, quiet girl and the children love her.

She asked if her boyfriend could keep her company while she sits, and I said it would be all right.

Lately, both my husband and I suspect that they have been using our home as a rendezvous for improper behavior. (We have no proof - just a feeling.)

Should we now tell her that we do not want her to have any male company in our home in our absence? If something unfortunate were to happen in our home, we would feel responsible. Are we wrong? And how should we handle it?

"THE W'S" DEAR "W'S": You are not wrong. Tell the girl that you have changed your mind about allowing her to have her boyfriend keep her company while she sits. Because you have no "proof," and are proceeding only from a "feeling," make no accusations.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of people who wear dark glasses outdoors? I don't mean "tinted" - I mean DARK, which makes it impossible to see their eyes.

I have a friend who comes to visit me, and she never removes her dark glasses the entire time she is here. I like to make eye contact with people I talk with and I find this very frustrating.

Am I being picky? I have never made my feelings known to her, and I would like to refrain from mentioning it.

DEAR WONDERING: People wear dark glasses outdoors for a variety of reasons. Some do so because they have an eye problem. On the chance that this is the reason, it would be a kindness to refrain from mentioning it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: If you or a relative has spent three months or more in a mental hospital, please tell me what problems were encountered after returning to the community. You need not disclose your identity. Thank you. ABBY

Win at Bridge West plays alert defense

South needed every missing face card to hold the 16 needed for the opening trump.

West also saw that two hearts and a club would beat four spades so West took his heart ace and continued the suit.

The throw in didn't come off. West was sure his partner didn't hold a face card but he might hold the 10 of diamonds so West dropped his queen and jack under the ace and king. This East let get with the 10 to lead a club and defeat the contract.

They are valid and we hope they will be understood. Law changes are a necessary nuisance. These new laws represent a tremendous amount of work and while not perfect are an improvement over the old ones. They will remain in effect for at least five years.

Robinson's retirement tops news of the week

Except for New Year's Eve Wednesday night, the past seven days were in the best tradition of quiet Manchester weeks, with little official town business drawing attention away from the unofficial business of celebrating.
The weatherman cooperated with fair weather and town residents cooperated with a minimum of incidents, and the last holiday of 1975 and the first of 1976 passed safely and sanely, setting the stage for a resumption of town business next week.

Is age an asset?

In youth-conscious Hollywood, age isn't what you'd call an asset. Yet a surprising number of actors and actresses far removed from their years as romantic leads are finding themselves back in front of the cameras in starring roles. One such is Carmel Myers. She doesn't care to disclose her age, but she began her

Music lecture series set

"Renaissance to Rock," a music lecture series, will be presented by the Hartford Symphony Auxiliary on six Monday afternoons beginning Jan. 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the auditorium of the American School for the Deaf in West Hartford.

The lecturers, all musicians in the Hartford musical community, are Dr. Clarence Barber, director of the music program of Trinity College in Hartford; Dr. Norman Dinerstein, associate professor and chairman of the department of theory and composition at Hart College of Music, University of Hartford; Jackie McLean, instructor in music and director of Afro-American music at Hart College; and Willfred Fidler, faculty member of the Julius Hart School of Music, conductor of the Julius Hart

Reading Orchestra and a member of the viola section of the Hartford Symphony.

The lectures to be offered are "Renaissance in Music," "Passion and Enlightenment in the music of the Baroque," "The Golden Age of Viennese Music," "Romanticism in Music and the Arts," "Music in the Twentieth Century," and "The Jazz Idiom."

Lectures will be illustrated by recordings, slides and live performances, and there will be an opportunity for discussion and questions following each lecture.

Series subscriptions may be ordered from Mrs. Willfred Fidler, 19 Brookline Dr., West Hartford, 06107. Tickets for individual lectures may be purchased at the door.

Nine-year-old Angel Blanco comforts his friend, Felipe, in a scene from CPTV's "Mundo Real."

Bilingual TV series to premiere Tuesday

"I'm just fed up. Estoy hasta aqui," says 12-year-old Delia Blanco as she flips off the TV. "How come you never see Puerto Ricans on television?"

The question, interestingly, is posed by the central character in an episode from a new bilingual television series, "Mundo Real," the first drama about a Puerto Rican family on American television.

The series, to begin Tuesday at 7 p.m. (repeated Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m.) on Connecticut Public Television is about the Luis Blanco family as it realistically, and often humorously, confronts the rigors of life in a major northeastern city.

Produced by Connecticut Public Television under a $250,000 contract with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the series of 10 programs is designed for both Puerto Rican and non-Puerto Rican audiences; and for both in-school and adult viewing.

Through the activities of Luis Blanco, his wife Doris, children Delia and Angel, and their grandfather, the series aims to impart cultural understanding and an awareness of the problems commonly associated with adjustment to mainland, urban life.

As Executive Producer/Project Director, Frank Marrero (himself a Puerto Rican) explains, "Basically, we're trying to create in the Anglo audience an understanding of what makes us tick, by learning to appreciate both the differences and similarities of our cultures."

The woman's side of Watergate

Capsule reviews prepared by the American Library Ass.

By E.J. STEARNS

After the dozens and dozens of books on Watergate, mostly by and about men, now the women are having their say. And what they have to say ranges from the shallow to the subtle, and from gossip to some thoughtful prose about government in crisis.

Two of the books should satisfy any lingering curiosity about the wives of the men we saw so long on television. For example, if you've been wondering what lies behind the beautiful, almost mask-like face that Mrs. John Dean displayed during her husband's testimony before the Senate Watergate hearings, a book called "Mo" will give you the answer: Not much.

Written with reporter Hays Gorey, it's an incredibly vivid tale about a self-styled shy, naive little girl from a modest California home.

Legalities didn't interest her during the Watergate period, and the ethics of hopping from coast to coast at the taxpayers' expense didn't strike her as questionable at the time. Morality in retrospect always tends to sound a bit hollow, and "Mo" is full of the empty ring of phrases such as "It never occurred to me" and "little did I realize."

About John Dean's reaction to the Watergate cover-up, we learn very little, unless you consider the recurrent description of his mood as "uptight", "anguished", "worried" and "tense" as particularly revealing.

We do get some good inside

"MO": A WOMAN'S VIEW OF WATERGATE, by Maureen Dean with Hays Gorey (Simon & Schuster, 286 pages, $8.95.)
THE WOMEN OF WATERGATE, by Madeleine Edmondson and Aiden Duer Cohen (Stein & Day, 228 pages, $8.95.)
WASHINGTON JOURNAL: THE EVENTS OF 1973-1974, by Elizabeth Drew (Random House, 428 pages, $12.95.)

Mo, John Dean's wife, picked her wardrobe for the Watergate hearings carefully.

views (of Air Force One, a presidential party, the inaugural events) and a sharp sense of the hotly competitive White House atmosphere that turned Nixon's aides into a band of hungry cubs vying for "perks" or special favors. But mostly Mo gives us a record of how many vacations they had interrupted in 1972 and 1973, how many phone calls John received (lots), how she picked her wardrobe for the Watergate hearings

(carefully), and how much she and John enjoyed "two-person parties."

We could have used "The Women of Watergate" by Madeleine Edmondson and Aiden Duer Cohen over a year ago. Nineteen portraits of the wives of the Watergate defendants and women involved in one way or another with the prosecution are included.

When the authors get cooperation from their subject, they get a good story. If Jeanne Ehrlichman and Joanne Haldeman are still shadows, Patricia Marx Ellsberg is a fully fleshed portrait that may surprise you.

The only one of the group who turned from establishment Republican to anti-Vietnam War demonstrator, Pat Ellsberg always had her moral beliefs in mind, and held off Daniel until he measured up.

In all the portraits, we learn as much about the man involved as the woman. John Dean's brush with ethics in a law firm before he joined the government is covered, and so is his first marriage. Similarly, we learn a good deal about Daniel Ellsberg from his CIA psychiatric profile, which the authors summarize.

Edmondson and Cohen write briskly, put their portraits together well, and don't hesitate to repeat unflattering comments they think are relevant. They are leery of official versions. We are told the Nixons were deliberately posed together for the familiar arm-in-arm portraits. "Once out of public view, however... they separated... neither touching nor speaking, wrapped in their own concerns, each walked on alone."

"Watergate Diary" by Elizabeth Drew is a beautifully orchestrated account of the final days of the Nixon administration, from the House Judiciary hearings in the fall of 1973 to Mr. Nixon's final take-off for San Clemente in the summer of 1974.

Originally commissioned by New Yorker magazine editor William Shawn, "Diary" allows us to walk side by side with one of Washington's top journalists as she visits courtrrooms and hearings, talks with senators and congressmen, and ponders the developing events.

What takes "Watergate Diary" out of the ordinary is not only the quality of the prose but the juxtaposition of events. We read about the world the way it seemed to Mrs. Drew each day, the ups and downs of the stock market, the Washington weather, and how the reporters are reacting to events on the Hill.

Generous quotes from the Federalist papers not only provide helpful background on what the framers of our Constitution had in mind on impeachment but lend added historical dimension.

"Watergate Diary" is a book worth savoring for its sharp personal perspective, for its lucid overview of events, and for its musing, melancholy tone that suggests it's well we continue to ponder how all this could have happened to us.

Aerial acrobatics

"Hot-dogging," the aerial acrobatics performed by skiers in the air, was the craze last year when Herald Photographer Steve Dunn made these pictures at Manchester's Northview Ski Slope. Local skiers are looking forward to more of the sport at Northview, and they've been promised that the slope will open after the next snow-fall.

Stamps and coins Ethiopian hair-dos

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

These stamps of Ethiopia hair-dos, released Dec. 15, should make local husbands more content with their lot. There was a set of seven representing various provinces. The ones shown here are from Illubabor, Arussi, Kaffa, and Begemder. Note Kaffa: It is the original source of our coffee and this province still produces a high-class bean which is the country's most valuable export.

Ethiopia, in eastern Africa, bordering on the Red Sea, is just between Texas and Alaska in area. The population, of 70 dialects, is about 26 million. The official tongue is Amharic, with English being taught as a second language to any of the few that attend school.

It is a country of wild contrasts—mountain barriers, steaming lowlands, cool plateaus. Their Lake Tana is the source of the Blue Nile which runs in places through a mile-deep canyon. It is said that natives yoo-hoo to each other across the gorge but might never meet face-to-face in a lifetime.

Transportation is sketchy, with two or three short railways and some motor roads described as terrible. There are 33 airfields and bush pilots abound.

The capital, Addis Ababa ("New Flower"), is famous for thousands of eucalyptus trees imported from Australia by Memelik II in the 1800s. Here is a cosmopolitan city of half a million, where you can buy a Japanese radio, a Paris dress, or an American sport shirt. And down an alley you could pick up a freshly caught rock python or get stuck with a serval pelt being passed off as a leopard skin by a shifty character from the hills.

In the plateau country where the cattle are, you might run afoul of a family of Abigars—nomads often clad in nothing but wood ashes which is smeared on their bodies to discourage mosquitoes. Anyone on a Sunday hike into the unsettled areas would do well to carry a shoulder stick to fend off hyenas.

Older geographies called the place Abyssinia and that name was used in Scott's stamp catalogs until 1950s. (The World Almanac dropped it in 1927). Even on the earliest stamps, however, it was always "Ethiopiennes" or "Ethiopia."

(The old name still persists here and there, especially in cat-dom wehbaa crdb.hfrofrb' aetrcnis,mwjtvirng of the country's price trends. The recent political upheavals have been just great for the market in the older issues.

Color lacking

The USPS posters are now $9.25 a year—up from $3. If they were in color, they might be worth it. And as to color—we are losing it from the Scott's Monthly Journal. This is announced with a version of the familiar "to-serve-you-better" ploy. (Twice-burnt citizens always duck and wait for the bad news when they hear that one!). Here they say: "We have dispensed with color photography in order to give you more pages." Cheaper, too. New formats are also promised (or threatened) by the APS journal and Coin World.

First first show

The very first First-Sunday Stamp Show of 1976 will be held tomorrow at the Ramada Inn, East Hartford. And on Tuesday evening, the 6th, the Central Connecticut Coin Clubbers will meet at the KofC Hall, on 138 Main St., Manchester.

B'way gets a fun show

By GLENN CURRIE
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Christmas week burst onto Broadway with a fun show that everyone can fall in love with.

New Yorkers first fell in love with "Very Good Eddie" 60 years ago, when few had heard of the composer, Jerome Kern, or Guy Bolton, who wrote the book, or of a chap named P.G. Wodehouse, who wrote some of the lyrics. It ran 341 performances, then toured for two years.

Now another bunch of talented young people has injected new life into "Very Good Eddie," a Goodspeed Opera House production which opened Dec. 21 at the Booth Theatre. Long may it reign on Broadway.

"Very Good Eddie" has more pretty girls than any other show in town, period dances by Dan Siretta which the kids onstage enjoy as much as the audience, and a sense of pure fun you don't see often these days.

The plot is half musical comedy, half farce, dealing with the separation of two couples on their wedding day on a boat trip to the Catskills, and their misadventures in the Honeymoon Inn. The gags sag and the music is not vintage Kern—but no-one cares when you're in the company of such a likeable crowd, from which must be singled little Virginia Seidel and her little-girl voice, Charles Repole as the worm who turns, and beautiful Cynthia Wells.
