Lebanese Christians repulse attackers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Moslem leftists in a Palestinian guerrilla storm the outskirts of a besieged Christian town today but were driven back by Christian defenders after fierce, hand-to-hand combat.

A gas-fire arranged between the army and Palestinian guerrillas for 1 a.m. collapsed within minutes after going into effect and fighting swept Beirut and the countryside, claiming at least 170 dead and 888 wounded over the past 24 hours.

The estimated toll since April rose to nearly 8,000 dead and 18,700 wounded.

It was the heaviest fighting of Lebanon's nine months of civil war. A security bulletin said the capital and the countryside witnessed the worst night of violence on record as warring Christian, Moslem and Palestinian forces blazed away at one another with rocket, mortar and machinegun fire.

Beirut airport remained closed for the second day because of shelling in the vicinity. A force of about 4,000 Palestinians, Moslem leftists and mountain Druze warriors pressed ahead with their week-old offensive on the besieged Christian town of Damour 25 miles south of Beirut on the Mediterranean coast.

Witnesses said the attackers began advancing from their front line positions on the northern outskirts of the town but that Christians from the Phalangist and National Liberal party militias drove them back again after heavy fighting, including hand-to-hand combat along several streets.

Both police and witnesses denied leftist claims that they had captured the nearby village of Jijeh and were close to overrunning Saida, the fortress residence of Interior Minister and National Liberal Party leader Camille Chamoun.

"The Palestinians and their allies captured six houses in Jijeh and have surrounded Saida, but they are both still in Christian hands," a police source said.

More than 1,000 rounds of mortar fire struck the Damour-Saida region overnight, he said.

Three survive two weeks buried in deep snow

OREGON CITY, Ore. (UPI) - Three young climbers, buried two weeks in deep snow on Oregon's highest mountain, survived because of tips by the father of one and the experience of another who had been in a similar situation last Thanksgiving.

"We had a lot to eat - pudding and pancake mix," Gary Schneider, 16, Wesen, Ore., said Friday after they were found safe. "We read the Bible a lot too. We knew we were going to make it. We had no doubts about it."

Wallace opens Florida drive

Democrats have been busy wooing voters. On the Republican side, Ronald Reagan has been busy campaigning stumping in New Hampshire while President Ford's election manager claims his candidate's popularity is mounting.

Wallace's appearance at a rally in Orlando will mark the first of nearly 30 planned campaign visits to the state he won handsily in the 1972 presidential primary. Aides admit, however, they are concerned this time about the impact of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter in the March 9 contest.

Charles Snider, Wallace's national campaign manager, Friday admitted Carter could cause trouble. "We really don't know at this point," he said. Carter was a 10-to-one favorite in a straw vote taken at a recent state party convention.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington was in Florida Friday telling voters in St. Petersburg that his top priority was getting people back to work. He said that would "provide the revenue for my other priorities such as a national health plan, better housing for senior citizens in particular - and the need to rebuild our cities."

In Boca Raton, Fla., West Virginia Sen. Robert C. Byrd proposed splitting up the Department of Health, Education and Welfare into more separate departments. Byrd claimed such a move would cause "less confusion" and save taxpayers' money.

Howard Callaway, the President Ford's manager, Friday said in Chicago that his candidate's popularity was growing. "He is coming on like gangbusters," Callaway claimed. Ford will not get his "turn at bat" until after the first primaries, which are Ronald Reagan's strength rests in New Hampshire and Florida.

Reagan, meanwhile, spoke in a string of villages across southern New Hampshire. He defended his controversial plan to slash $90 billion in federal programs, which he said was opposed by a "the well-orchestrated chorus of doom crriers."

In West Lafayette, Ind., Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz predicted that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey will be the 1976 Democratic presidential nominee and that Ford will be the GOP nominee.

Storm hits Maine hardest

The hardest hit areas were in Northern New England where five inches of snow fell on Rumford, Maine, making a total snow depth there of 28 inches.

The storm, which hung around long enough to hamper rush hour traffic, ended by going out to sea.

Throughout New England police reported countless fender-benders as evening rush hour traffic was snarled by snow, rain, and short tempers.

In Springfield, Mass., police said about three inches of snow had fallen by 5 p.m. and that led to more than 30 minor rear enders.

On Route 130 in Derry, N.H., a skidding accident involved up to 40 vehicles and closed the northbound lane between exits three and four for about an hour Friday afternoon.

State Police said the chain reaction was triggered when one car went out of control on the snow covered highway. No injuries were reported.

Fired teacher files suit

HARTFORD (UPI) - A fifth grade Plainfield teacher fired for giving his students letters lauding communism has filed suit in U.S. District Court claiming violation of his rights.

The suit filed by Philip Burns asks that his dismissal by the Plainfield Board of Education Dec. 17 be overturned and that he be reinstated without loss of pay or benefits.

Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal set a Jan. 26 hearing on a request to have Burns reinstated pending outcome of the suit.

Burns, a member of the Progressive Labor party, names the Plainfield Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Albert Mizan in the suit, charging violation of his rights of "free speech, free association and freedom to teach."

Burns was accused of incompetence and insubordination by the board, which said the letters he distributed to his students were "politically dogmatic."

The group sponsors a game each Thursday at 9:45 a.m. at the Army and Navy Club. Play is open to all senior citizens.

Survey will study flood-hazard areas

A detailed study of flood-hazard areas in new buildings in Manchester is planned for the spring by the U.S. Geological Survey. Funded entirely by the Federal Emergency Management Administration, the study is estimated to cost about $50,000.

The purpose of the study is to determine flood elevations and flood hazards in eight areas of town. The results will be the basis for determining premium rates for flood in new buildings and their contents, as well as corollary rates for insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

The water courses to be studied are: • Hockanum River, from Hop Brook, from the elevations and flood hazards in eight areas of town. Irish considers run for GOP chairmanship

Wally Irish Jr., 67 of Main St., said today he's "seriously considering" seeking the office of Republican town chairman in April. Nathan Agostinelli, the present town chairman, announced Tuesday he won't seek re-election.

Irish said he will consult with key Manchester Republicans to determine what support he has before he makes a formal announcement of his candidacy. He said, if sufficient support is evident, he will submit his name to the subcommittee named by Agostinelli to screen candidates and to make a recommendation to the town committee.

Other names being mentioned for the post are those of Town Director Carl Zinsser and George T. LaBonne. They and Irish are members of the Republican town committee.

Irish, an insurance man, ran for state representative in November 1974 and lost to Democrat Ted Cummings (chairman of the Democratic town committee). Irish is public relations officer for the Eighth District Fire Department and is a leader in the district's actions to extend its boundaries into the Backland area. He is parade chairman for the Bicentennial committee and is on the town's Citizens Advisory Committee.

No comment

"Sorry, no shows." That's the report by Deputy Mayor John Thompson, who managed Thursday night's two-hour Board of Directors' committee session.

The session was for receiving comments, complaints and suggestions on any subject in the board's jurisdiction. Nobody showed up.

Terrier show set Sunday

The Boston Terrier Club of Connecticut will sponsor an American Kennel Club (AKC) sanctioned match Sunday at 2 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, Palisado Ave., Windsor.

John Cyr of Brocton, Mass., will be the judge. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in all classes. Refreshments will be available.

News for senior citizens

Hi gang, I guess the first bit of news to talk about is our registration for the Chateau de Ville in East Windsor, with the stage show "My Fair Lady." The complete package is $115, and includes the bus fare, show and a roast beef dinner. We'll start registering on a first come basis around 8 Monday morning.

We just found out that the Florida trip is going as scheduled on Monday, Feb. 22. This means that all you folks who called in must come in this Monday morning to register. In registering, you must pay at least $100 deposit, and the remainder must be paid on or before Friday, Feb. 13.

So come Monday, drop by around 8 o'clock to sign up, and this means you will have two registrations going at the same time.

Bicentennial float

New members, I need your help. With this being our big Bicentennial year, and because the town is planning a gala parade, I think we would be missing a great opportunity to be a part of the celebration if we didn't get in the act.

I would like us to have a float and I know nothing about such a project, but I am sure some of you folks have had some experience. What I need is ideas, carpenters, designers, etc., so anyone who would like to help, will you please call in your name, and then a little later we will have a meeting.

So get your thinking caps on, and give this some real thought, and then when we have our meeting we can put things together.

Bowling leagues

Let's see what the action is here at the center. We start with Tuesday Senior Bowling League at the Parkades Lanes with the following results:

In the men's Class A group, Ernest Pasquini won the high triple with a 534, and Lenny Bjorkman won the high single with a 235. In the Class B group, Archie Houghtaling and Joseph Schuster tied for the high triple with a 436, and Archie won the high single with a 165.

We also had our final class in pinocchle and setback here at the center. After lunch it was open card playing for some while others enjoyed a little old-fashioned sing-along.

Remember that this coming Thursday is when we start our social dance class with our good friends, the Burtons. Lessons will start around 10 in the morning this week, and we may take and make arrangements for another time to have a beginners class for one hour and an advanced class the next hour.

Don't forget our oil painting and mixed embroidery classes will be starting around Feb. 2, so keep this in mind, and we will keep you posted from time to time.

Next Thursday for our Fun-Day, Helen Flavell and Eno Warner have set up an entertainment from our own members, and will top off the afternoon with some good old-fashioned square dancing.

I just received some news that would be of interest to you music lovers. There will be a piano concert on Saturday, Jan. 24, at the Heublen Hall Auditorium at the Hartford Hospital. This concert will be performed by two of Brazil's top piano players, Mr. Jose Alberto Kaplan and Mr. Gerardo Parents. They feature the both of them playing on the same piano, making for some rather sensational rhythm and music. They feature a variety of numbers both in Brazilian and American and are one of the more popular and entertaining groups to come through this way in a long time.

If your interest is whetted, we have a reduced price offer for you senior citizens, you may wish to get further information, or have us pick up the tickets for you. If you wish music and especially piano playing then I can assure you that taking in this event is a must for you.

Menus for the week

The Press and the American Revolution Washington's victory at Trenton

by Dr. Francis G. Walett
Worcester State College
Copyright 1975

American Antiquarian Society
It was bitterly cold on Christmas day 1776. After dark that night it began to snow and soon a howling storm developed. Despite the bad weather momentous events were under way because Gen. George Washington had planned an attack on the Hessian garrison in the British held left at Trenton, N.J.

Leaving the fires of their camp on the Delaware River opposite Trenton, about 2,400 Continental soldiers marched the nine miles northward to McKonkey's Ferry where the river was about 1,000 feet wide. Bloodstains in the snow "from the feet of men who were broken shoes" marked the painful march. At the ferry the seamen of Col. John Glover's Fourteenth Regiment were waiting to row the Americans across the Delaware.

Crossing the river would be incredibly difficult, if at all possible. The current ran swiftly carrying with it large chunks of ice. Venturing out on the Delaware on that pitch black night in a raging storm was very risky business. Fully aware of all this, Washington was still willing to take the daring gamble, "Victory or Death" was the counterpane he gave for the day.

Perhaps it was a desperate gamble, but after the losses and retreats of 1776 American morale was at a low ebb. Something had to be done to restore confidence and to obtain support for the Continental Army. With many enlistments ready to run out at the end of the year, Washington was determined to get one more battle out of the men.

Tom Paine's new pamphlet, "The American Crisis," which had just appeared, was intended to rally American spirit; it may well have expressed Washington's own feelings. In words that have become immortal, Paine wrote, "These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it NOW deserves the thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like Hell, is not easily conquered. Yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph." Such persuasive rhetoric helped uplift American spirit, and showed clearly the power of the press.

At McKonkey's Ferry Glover's men went about their difficult task. As the heavily laden boats pushed out into the dark river with its churning current, the men were hard put to handle them. Huge pieces of ice that slammed against the sides of the boats had to be pushed aside. Curving the numbing cold and ice forming on and forth with their cargoes.

Much depended on the cannon entrusted to Col. Henry Knox. In tough weather when priming pans got wet, muskets were unreliable; but cannon could be used in any kind of weather. The successful ferrying of the heavy guns across the river was therefore a critical part of the whole operation.

By three o'clock in the morning the entire force had been moved to the New Jersey shore and Washington immediately ordered the march toward Trenton. One division under Gen. John Sullivan followed the river road; the other led by Gen. Nathaniel Greene marched on a road two miles east. As the roads converged they formed the main street of Trenton.

The surprise of the Hessians was complete as the Americans attacked at about 8 o'clock. All was confusion and disorder among the Germans that sleeping morning. Col. John Fitzgerald of the Continental Army gave some explanation in his diary for Dec. 25: "They make a great deal of beer and have a dance tonight. They will be sleepy tomorrow morning. Washington will set the tune for them about daybreak.

soon fell mortally wounded as he tried to organize his men. Col. Rall, killed for his score of the Americans. It was all over in about 45 minutes. Some of the Hessians escaped, but most were captured. As the exhausted colonials sampled the German liquor freely, Washington decided not to carry his attack further into New Jersey. The prisoners were brought over to Pennsylvania. By Dec. 30 an American force of over 5,000 men had been assembled at Trenton.

Sir William Howe, stung by the news of Washington's victory, quickly moved about 6,000 troops under Cornwallis to retake Trenton and if possible to capture Washington. After preliminary skirmishing near Trenton, Jan. 2, 1777 Cornwallis thought he had the commander-in-chief trapped. "I had we have run down the old fox," he wrote, "and we will bag him in the morning."

That night, however, leaving their camp fires still burning, the Americans slipped away in the darkness around to the rear of Cornwallis and marched to Princeton by morning. Here they met more British forces on their way to Trenton. During the early fighting it seemed that the colonials might be routed by a bayonet attack. When the scene, however, Washington was able to drive the British back with heavy losses.

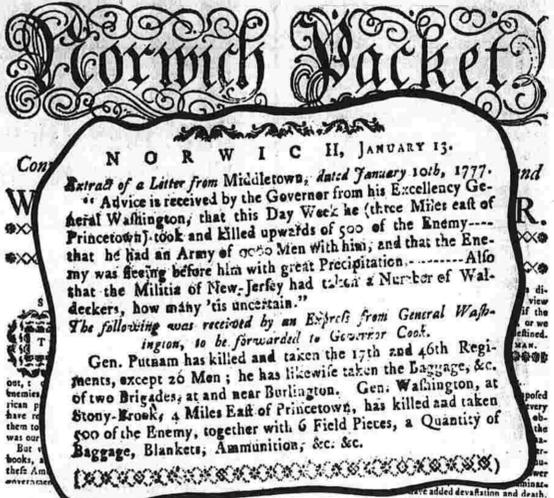

After this quick thrust the tired Americans marched off to the northeast, and on Jan. 6, 1777 Washington established winter quarters in the hills and woods at Morristown, N.J. It was a most defensible location on the British flank.

Cornwallis - cursing his luck as he raced back from Trenton - dared to attack Washington in his new position. At this point Gen. Howe decided against further action that winter, and pulled back forces from his advance posts in New Jersey. Why not enjoy the comforts of New York? And wasn't it ungentlemanly business anyway for soldiers to be out fighting in the dead of winter? The main effect of Washington's victories at Trenton and Princeton was to strengthen American morale. English spokesman, Nicholas Creswell, put it succinctly. "A few days ago they had given up the cause for lost. Their late successes have turned the scale and now they are all liberty men again."

It had been a daring gamble that paid off. Starting with Col. Glover's crossing of the Delaware, the spirit of Americans had shown splendid courage, and Washington's maneuvers had been brilliant. Best of all was the revival of Patriotism of the Delaware, the spirit.

Unhatching Hatch Act

WASHINGTON - One of the most important issues facing the Senate is whether to follow the House's lead and pass a bill repealing key portions of a law that has for 37 years prohibited partisan political activities by the federal civilian workforce. The law is known as the Hatch Act.

Having worked both in Capitol Hill and in the Executive Branch, this writer claims an insight into the issue backed by many reporters. On the basis of those experiences, I am convinced the presently proposed changes are provocative in their power to corrupt the American political process.

Proponents of altering the Hatch Act - chiefly federal government labor unions and Democratic sponsors in Congress - have billed the issue as one involving basic rights to participate in the American political process. In the words of Rep. Herbert Harris, D-Vt., the repeal bill (H.R. 8617) would "grant 2.8 million citizens their political freedom."

Such arguments favoring repeal, however, twice have been found unpersuasive by the Supreme Court. The Court turned down major challenges to the Hatch Act in 1947 and again in 1973.

Under the current law, federal employees - who comprise the largest single workforce in the nation - can, of course, vote for candidates of their choice. They can also publicly state or write their views on given political issues and candidates - a fact conveniently left unexplained by leaders of the repeal move. What federal workers cannot do is solicit funds or otherwise organize campaign activities for partisan candidates. Under H.R. 8617, they could do those things, plus run for Congress, the presidency, or any other elected office themselves if they were so inclined.

Also overlooked is the fact that the Hatch Act was passed in 1893 as much to protect federal employees from political abuse as to prevent them from political abuse. It was enacted in the wake of the elections of 1892 and 1893, when a Senate committee found that government employees had been coerced into

Commitment is essential
Recently I had the privilege of meeting with a group of young people who were interested in learning a bit about Buddhism. It was a part of an examination of several religions in their preparation for church membership.

It is of value to learn something about other faiths. There are benefits from the dialogue between the proponents of the religions. It is important to understand the important outposts at Trenton, A courageous officer, but also "a lover of strong liquor and stout women."

Rall had been celebrating the night before. He had to be called twice the morning of Washington's attack and assistance funds had been diverted for political purposes. "I can well remember the atrocities committed against state and federal employees who did not contribute to and work for the election of whichever party was in power at the time," recalls the recently retired administrative vice president of the National Association of Public Supervisors, Daniel J. Spain. "Even though salaries were low, substantial contributions were expected. The passage of the Hatch Act was for the protection of federal employees and was a welcome relief."

The Act also, however, is a safeguard for the public against having its huge civilian workforce turned into a political machine for the party in power. "It seems fundamental," said the Supreme Court majority in 1973, "that public employees should administer the law in accordance with the will of Congress, rather than in accordance with their own or the will of the political party."

The Supreme Court majority added that "substantial barriers should be raised against the party in power - the party out of power, for that matter - using the thousands or hundreds of thousands of federal employees, paid for at public expense, to man its political structure and political campaign."

Although unions and congressional sponsors of the repeal measure naturally claim they are acting in the interests of the 2.8 million federal workers, it can seriously be doubted whether a majority of those workers, if given a chance to vote on the subject, would opt for repeal of the Hatch Act. When and if it is repealed, one will be the comfortable day when an employee could turn down a political solicitation for funds without jeopardizing his career merely by saying "It's prohibited."

President Ford has promised to veto H.R. 8617 if it passes Congress in its present form, which appears a

Reader criticizes official silence in Rooney matter
To the editor,
A 14-year period in any man's life is a lengthy span, certainly not a time to be rewarded with public ridicule and censure.

As a citizen of Manchester, I feel I have a right to know:
1) Why Officer Rooney was demoted?
2) What particular instances took place to warrant such action?
3) Why Officer Rooney was not able to defend himself?
Being a small town, police protection is a thing that is taken for granted. Obviously, a small town officer does not bear the responsibility of a big city officer. However, even in a large city an officer has the right to defend himself when publicly accused of wrong doing. I am not aware of any such action available to him for a public accusation. It almost appears to me as though this officer has been found guilty before being proven innocent.

How often does your paper use headlines to commend officers when they do perform? As a resident of this town I feel total security in knowing this force is truly a credit to one and in all fairness to this individual. I feel we owe him our

THOUGHT
Almost every Sunday at least one of the children in my congregation is sure to run up to me wanting to give me a hug. It's one of the best parts of being a pastor to receive that kind of spontaneous affection. It's not the kind of thing that I can make happen, even though I might like to, but it is something I can respond to.

At least one respect, this is like God's love for us. God's love is not something that we can earn or make happen, but it is something that God continually offers freely to us. It is our part to respond. The way in which we allow ourselves to respond to God's love will determine what our faith means to us. Faith is, above all else, a response to God's love.

Open house upcoming

On Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m., the MHS program of studies open house will be held. Parents of incoming sophomores (now ninth graders) and of underclassmen and the students themselves are invited. At 7:30 in Bailey Auditorium an orientation-type program for the parents of ninth graders and the ninth graders will be presented. Administrators and guidance counselors will discuss procedures for selecting courses and school policies such as the open campus. They will then answer questions about these and any other concerns. All department heads and several teachers from each department will be available to answer questions and discuss course offerings in each department.

"I encourage parents and students alike to keep that night in mind," George Emmerling, principal said in an interview last Tuesday. There will be ample parking since night school will not have begun. The postponement date for the program is Jan. 29.

Profile: Dorothy Pierson

If you happened, one day in your travels down the halls of MHS, to step on a pair of suede bootsneakers, then you most likely have been introduced to Dorothy Pierson. Dorothy would probably just smile shyly at you and, after dislodging her foot, continue merrily along her way.

Dorothy Pierson

Chances are good that you won't see Dorothy or her sneakers very much longer as she is graduating midyear and plans to go up north to work. Dorothy has said that she would like to work at Woodstock Inn, Woodstock, Vermont. Since that doesn't have much of a winter season, she said she'd probably head toward Sugarloaf in Maine instead.

Dorothy plans to go into hotel administration. She has currently applied to Cornell University, which has a very good program in Hotel Management, but she is also considering the University of New Hampshire and the University of Denver.

Bicycles take up a fair amount of Dorothy's spare time. If she's not out riding her ten speed, then she's probably "got it in pieces."

"I find working on my bike very intriguing," Dorothy spent two summers on bike hosting trips, cycling all over New England and into Canada.

Dorothy also likes to sail and this past summer she went to and Outward Bound sailing school. The school was pretty thorough and it taught rock climbing and foraging as well. An interesting aspect of the course was going on "solo." This consisted of staying alone on a small island for three nights and four days, building a shelter and foraging for food. Dorothy passed through the experience fairly easily, if a little hungry.

Dorothy's other hobbies include cross country skiing, tennis and the potter's wheel. She also likes bowling and participates in volleyball intramurals. In music, Dorothy says she likes Joni Mitchell, Bonnie Raitt and Mose Allison.

In talking about the future, Dorothy says that she'd like to live in a city, particularly Boston, for a while. She'd also like to take up canoeing and rubber rafting someday. Dorothy feels pretty optimistic and confident about this.

Matmen pin three foes

Off to a solid start, the MHS wrestling team stands at 3-1. This year's season started home for the Indians with a decision over Rockville 35-28. This match was highlighted by a pin by Tim Wrobel in the unlimited division.

The Indians squeaked past Killingly 28-27 in the Redmen's gym. Trailing 27-22 the team needed a pin out of co-captain Bob Hawkes. Bob pulled through, pinning his man in the third period.

In their loss to Glastonbury 22-35, the Red and White were "out muscled" according to Coach Robert Albrio but bounced back smothering Rhoads 50-12.

Remaining undefeated are Tim Wrobel at 2-0, Bob Hawkes at 3-0, and Alan Girelli with three pins. Coach Albrio expects a rugged course when the CCHC competition gets under way next week, but he sees a winning season over-all. This week the Indians venture to Bacon Academy and are then off until the twenty-fourth at which time they will host Simsbury.

Antivandalism explained

I would like to take this opportunity to dispel any ideas or beliefs floating around that students cannot do anything about improving their surroundings or helping keep the schools of Manchester in good shape in the future.

We have a fantastic group of people on the Board of Education of this town who are more than willing to listen to and accept any good suggestions for improvement and student involvement in combating our problems.

An example is a two-part project submitted to the Board of Education by John Mrosek and me last March. The first part was the installation of a ramp or walkway in the corner of the student parking lot near the cafeteria doors, and the second is this anti-vandalism project that I will talk about shortly.

We were inspired and pleased by the speed with which these suggestions were implemented. As you all know, the ramp was there when school started in September, and we were allowed to begin work on the other project as soon as last spring.

The logic involved in the idea of the ramp was that people will walk through there anyway since it is the shortest path to the cafeteria from the parking lot. As there was no conventional walkway there, the bushes were beginning to erode away at the roots and create quite an eyesore.

There was talk of putting up a fence along the bushes to force students to use the stairs on the sides. If you are familiar with the area, however, you will agree that a fence would have been even more of an eyesore. So, instead of preventing students from using this path, the idea was to give them something to walk on that would also add to, and not subtract from, the attractiveness of the area.

"I know I'll do it someday, I have a lot of time before me, and I'm in no hurry." — Janice Dahm

South Pacific to be staged in March

The Manchester High School Music Department has announced their choice for this year's musical production. It will be Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific." The actual choosing of the musical was handled by MHS choir students who voted to put on this musical from a large group of possible choices.

The plot of "South Pacific" takes place on two Pacific Islands shortly after the beginning of World War II. The characters involved are an assortment of Marines, Seabees, nurses, and native islanders. Some of the more famous music contained in this production is "Bloody Mary," "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair," and the uproarious "There is Nothing Like A Dame."

There are 32 speaking parts in the musical, so that many of our talented MHS students will be given an opportunity to show their musical and acting talents. Tryouts for these major roles will begin Jan. 21. The musical itself will be performed on March 26, 27, and 28. — Steve Latham

Guidance notes

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Hartford will be pleased to receive applications for scholarships to be awarded to seniors in the graduating classes of high schools in the Greater Hartford area.

Scholarships in the amount of $500 and $280 will be awarded to seniors who plan to attend a four-year college or a school of nursing, business college, community college, etc. Deadline for filing applications is Feb. 20. Further information and applications may be obtained in the guidance office.

The Auxiliary of the Hartford Dental Society has a $500 scholarship to be given yearly to a high school senior who has been accepted by an accredited school of dental hygiene. An additional grant of $500 will be given for the second year providing the recipient maintains high academic standards. This scholarship is offered on the basis of financial need as well as good scholastic qualities. For further information, see Mrs. Hickey in the guidance office (Room 107).

On Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m., there will be an open house at the high school to give parents and students an opportunity to visit with department heads and some teachers in all subject areas to learn more about course offerings, requirements, and course content. All parents and students are invited. For parents of ninth graders, there will be a special program in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Following this, these parents will also attend the open house. The guidance staff hopes to see you at this evening program. It is your opportunity to talk with teachers, to learn about course offerings at the high school and to get answers to any questions you might have.

'Spokebenders' to play

On Jan. 25, at 3 p.m., a basketball game will be played at the Manchester High School gym. However, this is not a regular basketball game because all the players will be shooting from the seat of a wheelchair.

This is the second year the Psychology Department of the Manchester Board of Education has sponsored the Wheelchair Basketball game. This year's game will be a double-header between the New Haven Spokebenders and the Psychology Department. The second game will be between the Hudson Valley Rollers and the Spokebenders.

Proceeds from the game will benefit both the New Haven Spokebenders, a team sponsored by the Greater Seal Goodwill Industry Rehabilitation Center and the Manchester Handicapped, to be used as stipends or payments of money for a job performed by a handicapped person.

Any three Manchester students who sell the most tickets by Jan. 21, will be allowed to take part in the game.

Any tickets that are bought prior to the game will be $1. Those bought at the gate are $1.50. They may be obtained at any Manchester public school or can be purchased through the Psychology Department of the Manchester Board of Education, located at 45 North School St. Their telephone is 646-5854, extension 443. So, for a Sunday activity that will prove to be extremely exciting as well as worthwhile, plan to be a spectator at the Wheelchair Basketball Game. — L. Stepanski

Rock review "The Who" — "Jefferson Starship"

Unquestionably, "The Who" has been and continues to be one of the greatest rock 'n' roll powerhouses in the world. For over ten years, they have captivated audiences with their high-energy electric music.

Their latest LP, "By Numbers," promises to continue this popularity, although it is quite different from its predecessor "Quadrophonia." By Numbers marks "The Who's" return to basic rock sounds — acoustic guitar, electric guitar, bass, drums, and an occasional piano, minus the mystic synthesizer sounds of recent efforts.

Another difference can be noted when you hear lead guitarist Pete Townshend's lyrics. In the past, Townshend generally wrote about youth. However, on By Numbers, he turns inward for a look at himself in relation to others; the result is often bitter cynicism. Sample verses are, "There's no easy way to be free..." "How many friends have I really got, you can count 'em on one hand..." and "I feel tired and bound."

Songs like "Success Story" lament the common man and praise the simplicity he strives for. Roger Daltry does lead vocals on seven songs, Townshend on three. Both are in fine voice, and both sing with such sincerity and power that it's hard not to appreciate what they're saying.

Townshend sheds his seriousness on only one song, a bouy, rather risque tune just released as a single entitled "Squeeze Box," which features (believe it or not) some pretty nice bawdy work.

There are some very mellow songs on By Numbers, but hard rock lovers shouldn't be discouraged — there's

Cowens detests swandive of 76ers

The Herald Angle
By Earl Yost
Sports Editor

It's part of the game

Professional athletes should expect to be the target of catcalls from hometown supporters when playing on the road.

It's part of the game. Twice this week at the Hartford Civic Center opposing players have been the targets of rabid followers of the Boston Celtics and New England Whalers.

First, Bill Walton of the Portland Trail Blazers didn't utter one word publicly about the reception he drew from the Celtic supporters. The jeers didn't affect his play one iota as the Blazers lost to Boston in NBA play.

Two nights later, the Cincinnati Stingers were in town to battle the Whalers in a WHA attraction. Hockey is a more physical game than basketball, but not by much.

From the start, it was obvious that something was going to break in the ice battle between the first- and second-place teams in the Eastern Division. The Stingers, led by a headhunter answering to the name of Dale Smedsno, started in his first shift on the ice throwing his weight (205 pounds around as well as his stick and fists).

Two sides of the coin
There are always two sides to every coin. The fan who shouts obscenities at players, and officials, is usually feeling the effects of too much imbibing. Just because Joe Fan pays the asking price of admission it doesn't mean he's right to stand up—at a distance—and loud verbally or to throw objects at the players, or officials.

Kevin Walsh, public relations director of the Whalers, said a protective canopy for visiting players will be erected when the team returns home Jan. 28 for Jacket Night against Ottawa.

That should help, but it won't cut down the loud-mouthed drinking fans. And if you think there isn't much drinking at a Whaler game, stay around until the crowd thins out and take a look at the debris, especially the empty beer containers and liquor bottles.

Quartet leads way, Bolton downs Tech

Putting four players in double figures, Bolton High topped Cheney Tech, 75-51, in Charter Oak Conference basketball action last night in Bolton.

With the win, the Bulldogs topped their COC mark to 4-5 and squared the Bulldogs led 16-7 after the first quarter and sprinted to a 39-19 half-time advantage.

Kevin Willis (14), Jeff Brown (10) and Kevin Kowalyszyn (10). The Bulldogs led 16-7 after the first quarter and sprinted to a 39-19 half-time advantage.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Two days before Super Bowl X involving the two best teams in the National Football League, all the talk centered around the league's two worst teams.

Or at least the teams which figure to be the two worst, incoming expansion franchises Tampa Bay and Seattle, if they can get off the ground for next season. And suddenly, it does not seem likely.

"The future of Tampa Bay and Seattle is very cloudy," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, whose league had planned to increase to 28 teams in 1976 with the two new franchises.

Rozelle, the last of three speakers to parade to the podium for news conferences at the makers' league headquarters set up here this week, said the array of lawsuits involving the two new franchises and the NFL Players Association filed earlier this week may force a delay of up to one year in the debuts of Tampa Bay and Seattle.

Civic Center attraction

Tripleheader lists East in final tilt

Basketballs will fill the Hartford Civic Center Saturday night as a first-ever schoolboy tripleheader featuring Hartford County Conference (HCC) clubs will be on display.

Opening the festivities at 6 o'clock, South Catholic, 3-1 in the HCC and State Tournament-bound at 10-1, opposes 3-3, 8-3 St. Paul. The middle game finds 3-1, 9-2 Northwest Catholic against 2-2, 5-5 St. Thomas Aquinas and in the finale slated to get under way at 8, conference leader 5-0, 10-4 East Catholic combats 2-3, 4-6 Xavier High of Middletown. East is coming off a rip-snorting 43-42 overtime win over Northwest in which 6-5 senior pivotman John Lusa tossed in the winning bucket with four seconds left.

"Every game in the HCC is a dogfight. Every point is a war," remarked Eagle Coach Stan Orognik after the light decision.

"The games are so defensively dominated because of the fear of giving up two points — they're like word 10 points in other games," the eight-year coach added Thursday morning.

Xavier lost all five starters from a year ago when the Falcons dumped East twice. "No way is Xavier going to be a soft touch," Orognik warned.

"They'll battle us tooth and nail. They're an extremely physical team. On the option-compensation clause bearing his name and struck down by Federal Judge Earl Larsen in Minneapolis last month, Rozelle said the ruling "not only will help the strong teams get stronger but the weak teams will lose their chance to grow."

Rozelle also announced the officials for Sunday's game, headed up by Norm Schachter, who refereed the initial Super Bowl between Green Bay and Kansas City as well as the fifth of the series involving Baltimore and Dallas.

Others named to the officiating team were Joe Connell as umpire, Leo Miles as head linesman, Jack Fette as line judge, Stan Jarvis as back judge and Bill O'Brien as field judge. The alternates will be Bob Proederick and Gordon McCarter.

"There is a possibility they might not be prepared to play next year," Rozelle said of Seattle and Tampa Bay, explaining it may be a while before the courts can determine the legality of the draft with which the NFL had planned to stock the new clubs.

The Players Association filed a suit charging the expansion — in which each of the 28 established teams would lose three players whose names did not appear on 30-man protection lists — is both unfair and illegal in the way it would shuffle veteran players around.

Tampa Bay and Seattle countered with a lawsuit of their own, against the Players Association asking that an injunction be issued prohibiting the union from unilateral interference in stocking the two new teams.

Center leads Celts in battle for lead

BOSTON (UPI) — Dave Cowens is known for his roughness under the boards. That's why he detests what he calls Philadelphia's swandive method of basketball.

"I told 'em all they play like a bunch of girls," said the 6-foot-8 "Big Red," who scored a career high 39 points as the Boston Celtics beat the 76ers 118-104. The win gave Boston sole possession of first place in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

"I've never seen so many fakers. You touch them and they fall down," he said. "And more and more teams are getting away with that stuff. If that's where basketball's headed, then it's going down the drain. You might as well throw the referee just to watch for that stuff."

The physical contest was exactly Cowens' type of game, and he made the most of it by scoring 18 points in the first quarter and then playing a tenacious defense in the last stanza as the 76ers tried to catch up.

His three steals came with the 76ers threatening to take the lead, and all three were converted into baskets. The first came with 9:24 left in the game, after Boston had seen its 11-point lead evaporate to a slim 92-89 margin. He stole a 76er pass and fed to John Havlicek, who went one-on-one against George McGinnis, drew a foul, scored a lay-up, and hit the free throw.

Cowens' third steal late in the game led to a JoJo White basket that again put the Celtics up by three points at 111-108. The Celtics then shut the door and then playing a tenacious defense in the last stanza as the 76ers tried to catch up.

With Boston holding a critical 100-99 lead with 4:32, Cowens snatched another errant pass and fed Havlicek, who went one-on-one against George McGinnis, drew a foul, scored a lay-up, and hit the free throw.

Cowens' third steal late in the game led to a JoJo White basket that again put the Celtics up by three points at 111-108. The Celtics then shut the door and then playing a tenacious defense in the last stanza as the 76ers tried to catch up.

Whalers lose out in last 19 seconds

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Jim Harrison slapped in his second goal with only 19 seconds remaining to propel the Cleveland Crusaders to a 4-3 win Friday night over the New England Whalers in World Hockey Association play.

The win moved the Crusaders into second place in the WHA East behind New England.

With the score tied 3-3, Harrison skated the puck into the Whalers' territory and his slap shot from just inside the blue line sailed past goalie Christian Abrahamson.

Harrison opened the scoring at 5:29 in the first period. New England countered with a goal by defenseman Rick Ley at 8:45 and then jumped into the lead with a goal by Larry Pleau at 17:30.

All-star hoop game set

One week from tonight an all-star basketball team from the Manchester Deane (St. James, St. Bridget, Assumption of Manchester, and Our Lady of Peace, St. Paul and Blessed Sacrament of East Hartford) will face an all-star squad comprised of Bennet and Illing Junior High players.

The game will be played at East Catholic High following a preliminary at 6:30 between sixth and seventh grade students from the same schools. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Proceeds will benefit the Church Basketball League.

The players are starting to get onrery," he said. "We're tapering practice down because we don't want to get them too onrery. We want them to save it for Sunday. Then we want them to be very onrery. They'll be on their own then — just as long as they get along with the officials."

Both clubs will head into the game almost 100 per cent healthy with all 43 players on each team expected to dress. Reserve Pittsburgh linebacker Loren Tows, who had been listed as questionable earlier in the week because of knee problems, has since rejoined the workouts and his status has been changed to probable.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a widow. She raised my brother and me alone, and it wasn't easy. She does janitor work nights and is barely able to make ends meet. My brother and his wife are going away for a two-week vacation, and they asked Mom if she would stay at their place to look after their dog. Mom said she would. My brother wants to charge her $25 a week. He says, "You have to look after the dog and board with a free telephone and color TV for that little!"

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who likes to keep house, embroider, knit and do all the things ladies like to do. There is nothing wrong with me, but I do take a bit of kidding about it. What is a good answer to these wisecracks?

Obituaries

Mrs. Annie T. Hainsworth

Mrs. Annie Taylor Hainsworth, 93, of 12 Deerfield Dr. died this morning at her home. She was the widow of Joseph Hainsworth.

Mrs. Hainsworth was born Sept. 30, 1882 in Manchester, daughter of the late John and Susan Dowd Taylor, and had lived here all her life. She was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and the National and Hartford Chapter 154 of the Association of Retired Federal Employees.

She is survived by a daughter, Arline M. Hainsworth of Manchester, with whom she made her home.

The funeral is Tuesday at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The Rev. Bruce Jacques will officiate. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

Friends may call at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Monday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Meeting set by Lutherans

Emanuel Lutheran Church will have its annual congregational meeting Sunday at 10:45 a.m. at the church.

The nursery will be prepared to take care of infants during the meeting as well as during the 9:30 a.m. service. A film will be provided to entertain children. Coffee will be served immediately before the meeting.

Included on the agenda will be pastoral surveys by the Rev. C. Henry Anderson and the Rev. Ronald J. Fournier. Financial and progress reports on the various areas of the church will be given, and a budget for 1976 will be presented for approval. Officers will be elected.

Members who obtained annual reports last Sunday are requested to bring them to tomorrow's meeting.

Response heavy for Grand Ball

The initial response to Manchester's Bicentennial Grand Ball '76 has been tremendous according to John J. Sullivan, chairman of the ball.

Sullivan urges those wanting to attend the event to make reservations as soon as possible.

Another reservation form will appear in Tuesday's Herald. Reservations may also be made by calling Mrs. Henrietta Ruff, 643-8983, or any other member of the ball committee.

School menus

Tuesday, Macaroni and cheese, juice, fish stick, peas, cake.

Wednesday, Juice, cracker, garden salad, chips, dessert.

Thursday, Lasagna, green beans, bread, pudding.

Friday, Tomato soup, tuna salad sandwich, fruit slaw, gelatin.

Manchester week in review

Personnel problems resolved

Guided by the expertise of Director Paul Willhide, the Board of Directors this week resolved many troublesome personnel problems that had been hanging fire for a year and more. Willhide is personnel director at Pratt & Whitney, East Hartford.

Also this week, the board created a five-member Advisory Transportation Commission, adopted a resolution which urges Congress to take early action for retaining the federal revenue-sharing program, approved an appropriation which launches the pilot Meals-on-Wheels Program, and authorized the town manager to fill nine vacancies in the town's work force.

All actions at its regular meeting Tuesday were unanimous and with little, if any, discussion. It needed only 45 minutes to clear its agenda of pending business items.

In education

Manchester School Supt. James Kennedy this week recommended a 1976-1977 school budget of $14,150,063, up 8.9 per cent from the 1975-1976 appropriation of $13,000,000.

The main part of Kennedy's recommendation is the "continuation" budget: He said it will cost $13,916,852 in 1976-1977 to continue the existing level of services. The other components of the proposed budget are improvements ($111,000 recommended to expand services), and the Regional Occupational Training Center ($122,211 recommended to open the center this fall).

The Board of Education will begin a series of budget workshops Monday. They'll have to approve a budget by Feb. 9 for submission to town officials.

In other money matters this week, the Board of Education asked the Board of Directors to hand over a $62,581 check as soon as it's received by the town treasurer.

The money represents Manchester's share of proceeds from Connecticut's Instant Lottery to support education. Plans call for expenditures for graphic arts equipment at Manchester High School and for supplies, textbooks and new equipment.

Also this week, the Board of Education approved plans for a temporary, makeshift hot lunch program at Bentley School, the only local school without a hot lunch cafeteria. The experimental program will begin soon and run for the rest of the school year.

Drug traffic

Illegal use of marijuana is increasing in Manchester, but Police Chief Robert Lannan hasn't had enough manpower to deal with the problem, he said this week.

Lannan said police will try to head off the drug problem before it becomes a crisis.

Some local people apparently think the drug problem is already a crisis, particularly in the town's secondary schools. A local businessman, Fred Annulli, told the Board of Education this week that there's a multi-million-dollar drug trafficking operation involving the local schools.

Lannan's budgetary problems, which had prevented hiring of more policemen, were partially solved this week when the Board of Directors gave him the green light to fill seven patrol officer vacancies.

In another police matter, nobody was talking this week about details of a demotion of a policeman. Lannan confirmed that Brian Rooney, a member of the force for 14 years, was demoted from sergeant to patrolman Jan. 6 as a disciplinary action.

Rooney retained legal counsel and is seeking an appeals hearing by Town Manager Robert Weiss, to be conducted within two weeks.

In business

Merchants throughout Manchester promoted their annual January clearance sales this week, drawing thousands of shoppers to downtown stores and the Manchester Shopping Parkade.

Businessman Kenneth Burkamp unveiled preliminary plans for Manchester Mall, a mini-mall to be created in the vacant Jaffe & Podrovo Building in downtown Manchester. He's seeking town approval of plans to alter the rear of his building, on the Purnell Parking Lot.

The Savings Bank of Manchester said this week it has filed applications with state and federal agencies for its 12th branch, proposed at the junction of Rts. 44 and 44A in Ashford.

Job nears completion

Renovations of the third floor of the Ngrth wing at Manchester Memorial Hospital are nearing completion with projected goal of the middle of February in the intermediate area and the first of March for the rehabilitation area.

The weather

Weather made the news at the beginning of the week and threatened to make more news as the weekend.

A heavy snow storm which began Sunday morning and persisted to noon Monday dumped 5 to 7 inches of new snow on Manchester, closing schools and making driving hazardous. However, it posed few problems to town residents. Rain Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning washed away most of the snow.

Politics

In politics, Republican Town Chairman Nathan Agostinelli announced he won't seek re-election in April, when the GOP town committee elects its officers for 1976-78. He appointed a screening committee to interview candidates for the post and to make its recommendation to the town committee.

The names of Wally Irish Jr., Carl Zinsser and George T. LaBonne have surfaced as possible candidates.

Man faces liquor charge

Anthony D. DeCiantis, 17, of 186 E. Center St. was arrested Friday at 7:29 p.m. in Charter Oak Park and charged with delivery of liquor to a minor (three females) and possession of alcoholic beverages on town property. He is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford Feb. 2.

Frederic M. Kostenko, 32, of 111 Florence St. was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs in connection with a two-vehicle collision Friday on W. Middle Tpke.

The car driven by Kostenko struck the left side of the pickup truck driven by Leslie A. Albert of 428 W. Middle Tpke., police said. Court is Feb. 3.

Kenneth R. Smith, 19, of 69 Congress St. was arrested Friday at 1:12 a.m. on Harrison St. and charged with operating under the influence of alcohol or drugs. Court is Feb. 3.

Harry G. Masichuck, 49, of 59 Birch St. was arrested Friday at 6:10 p.m. at the Flower Fashion Shop at 85 E. Center St. and charged with breach of peace and intoxication. He allegedly refused to allow the shop's customers to leave. Court is Jan. 26.

An apartment in the Beacon Hill Apartment complex at 1178 W. Middle Tpke. was broken into Friday between 3 and 8 p.m. Missing are a portable TV, some clothing, a camera, two calculators, and some change all valued at over $1,000.

Officials favor OTB jobs for laid-off state workers

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state's top fiscal official says workers let go as a budget-balancing measure should get the first chance at jobs created by the opening of off-track betting parlors in Connecticut.

Finance Commissioner Jay O. Tepper Friday said it was the administration's desire that those positions go to some of the 500 workers furloughed as of Jan. 2, if they are qualified to fill them.

"We would hope that state employees who were laid off recently would be given first preference to any new jobs created by off track betting where qualified, he said.

Group to hear divorced couple

Jana and Ron Georgetti, who are now divorced after six-and-a-half years of marriage, will be guest speakers Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. service of the Unitarian Universalist Society: East at 78 N. Main St.

The couple will discuss "Constructive Divorce." They will present their views of marriage and divorce and describe how a divorce need not be equated with the failure of a marriage.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our most sincere thanks to all our friends, relatives, and neighbors for their prayers and assistance throughout our father and husband's long illness, and also their kindness and sympathy, floral and spiritual bouquets, cars, drivers, messages and various courtesies during our recent bereavement. The patience and thoughtfulness of all the nurses at Manchester Memorial Hospital, to both patient and family was outstanding. We wish to especially thank Dr. Martin Duke for being so kind.

Ann Kildish, son John Kildish and daughters, Mrs. Kathleen Docherty, Mrs. Barbara Musinski.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Alice R. Trumbull who passed away January 17, 1964.
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hour she passed away.

Sadly missed,
Son Robert McLeary

Deeper Life convention planned at South Church

South United Methodist Church will have a Deeper Life Spirit Convention Sunday from 2:30 to 10 p.m., which is open to people of all denominations.

The Rev. Lloyd L. Sweet, executive secretary of World Harvest Evangelism of New England, Inc., sponsor of the convention, will serve as chairman.

The Rev. George Webb, the Rev. Laurence Hill and the Rev. Robert Eldridge, pastors of South Church, are coordinating the event.

Members of the local clergy participating in the convention are the Rev. Neale McLain, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene; the Rev. Roland J. Fournier, co-pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church; and the Rev. Kenneth Gustafson, pastor of Calvary Church.

Guest speakers are the Rev. Dan Marino, pastor of the Assemblies of God Church in Norwalk; Dr. D.L. Blevin, a practicing dentist in Arlington, Va.; and the Rev. John Bankosky, pastor of the Church of the Living God in Farmington.

Those planning to attend are asked to bring a box supper. There is no registration fee, but a free-will offering will be received.

Local Baha'is to observe World Religion Day Sunday

The Manchester Baha'i will observe World Religion Day Sunday with a public meeting at 8 p.m. at Whiton Memorial Library auditorium.

Representatives of the Divine Light Mission, United Methodist, Mormon, Jewish, Hindu and Baha'i faiths will speak and answer questions about their respective religions.

World Religion Day is observed annually by the Baha'i communities in more than 4,800 cities. Its purpose, according to a member of the local community, is to stress the oneness of all revealed religions, since religion has always been a prime source of the unity of mankind.

Those wishing more information may call 643-9618.

Gaelic jazz

Striking a chord for a practice song is Chris Kleeman, center, while the other members of the Gaelic jazz group known as "Jacob's Reunion" wait for the starting beat. Others in the group are, from left, Rick Block, bass guitar; Josef Oxenhandler, violin and percussion; Kleeman; John Coster, guitar and vocals; Barbara Hyde, piano and vocals. See Forum of the Arts, page 2.

Gaelic jazz in Andover

"Jacob's Reunion" will present a program of Gaelic jazz Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Andover Congregational Church at Rt. 6 and Long Hill Rd. in Andover.

Tickets are available at the door or from any member of the Andover Rural Arts Committee which is sponsoring the program.

This group is unique because its members have diversified backgrounds but a common interest in a type of music which has unified them. For two years, they have been performing together trying to use different musical idioms to create a combination of folk and jazz music.

The musical backgrounds of the group have been combined to create music in the style of the Irish from the British Isles, and also American swing and East European Gypsy music.

Josef Oxenhandler, the leader of

Double bassist with Civic

Larry Levine, soloist to appear with the Manchester Civic Orchestra Feb. 8, is completing undergraduate studies at the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

He has studied the double bass with Leland Tolo, Gaston Dufresne, and Homer Mensch. Last summer, Levine attended the New College Chamber Music Festival in Sarasota, Fla. He also participated in the ASTA String Conference at Immaculata College in Pennsylvania.

Levine has also performed with the Stamford Symphony, the Waterbury Symphony and the Hartford Symphony.

"Jacob's Reunion," studied music at Dartington College in Devon, England, and received his diploma from the Hartford Conservatory of Music.

A native of Tulsa, Okla., Oxenhandler lives in Hartford where he teaches private lessons in violin. He is scheduled to give workshops in the elementary schools in Andover, Glastonbury and Middletown.

Besides music, Oxenhandler also teaches Hebrew.

Providing piano accompaniment for the group and an occasional vocal is Barbara Hyde of Hartford. She has studied privately and accompanies dance classes at the Hartford Conservatory.

A graphic artist and a carpenter with a degree from New York University in New York, Rick Block of Spencertown, N.Y., contributes his avocational talents to the group on the bass guitar. He also plays trumpet.

Another guitarist and vocalist with the jazz group is John Coster of Granby, a Harvard graduate with a major in English literature. He also studied religious philosophy at the Hartford Seminary in Hartford.

He has studied music and has collected folk music from Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. He also composes music in the traditional style of Irish and early Gaelic. He has probably been the strongest influence in the group with his knowledge of Gaelic style music.

Rounding out the group is Chris Kleeman, its newest member. From Winchester, N.H., he has given solo performances throughout New England as a guitarist and vocalist.

Kleeman has made a hobby of collecting early blues pieces and material from early blues performers. And, incidentally, he is a professional Chinese cook.

"Jacob's Reunion" released its first album last October under the group's name. It is available on a CHR label.

Oxenhandler says, "We play music that appeals to people of all ages, especially older people."

Locals in 'Carmen'

Illa Paups and Talis Paups of 444 Hillstown Rd. and several Manchester High School students will appear in Bizet's "Carmen" presented by the Hart Opera Theater Thursday through Sunday.

"Carmen" is the major production this season of the Hart Opera-Theater of the Hart College of Music, University of Hartford.

The Manchester cast members will appear in the chorus and in the crowd scene in Act IV of the opera.

Admission to the performance is by membership to the Hart Opera-Theater Guild. For information, call 243-4441.

Coming to Civic Center

Paul Guzman, 22, is a featured soloist with the Ice Capades appearing at the Hartford Civic Center for nine performances Tuesday through Sunday. In his second season with Ice Capades, he studies modern dance to develop his rhythm and to increase his stamina.

Ice Capades

The 36th anniversary show of Ice Capades returns to help celebrate the Hartford Civic Center's first anniversary.

The fantasy on ice will run Tuesday through Sunday.

The show features the Corps de Ballet, all of Hanna-Barbara's Curiosity Shoppe, the psychedelia of A Pinball Odyssey, and even a nostalgic glimpse of the Busby Berkeley Goldiggers, all set to tunes old and new, and dramatized by spectacular lighting.

Tickets are available at the Civic Center box office.

Free concert

At the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, the Connecticut String Orchestra will present a concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday in Tapestry Hall. Renato Bonacini will direct.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I have just seen Woody Allen and Diane Keaton's movie, "Love and Death," for the second fabulous time. Could you please disclose what the relationship is between them? Also, could you tell me who wrote the music? — CHRISTOPHER J. MILLS, Riverview, N.B., Can.

Woody and Diane used to be very close and dated seriously. Their relationship has changed from romantic to professional. They are currently at the status that is usually described as "just good friends." The "Love and Death" music is made up of various themes by Prokofiev.

DEAR DICK: On S.W.A.T., recently I've seen Hondo with a love interest. But in the past he was always married. So what gives? — J.P., Centralia, Ill.

Gives a change in the show. There have been a few changes, designed to perk the whole thing up. One was the decision to drop the character of Hondo's wife, in an effort to give the program a new dimension. Now Hondo (Steve Forrest) can have some flirtations. In effect, they unmarried him.

DEAR DICK: With all the great knowledge you have of the motion picture industry, would it be possible for you to find out who played the leads in "The Quest," a movie I think came out in 1924. The director was Herbert Brennen. The leading lady was Lili Damita. Was Ronald Colman the leading man? — VERA AMEY, Fillmore, Ca.

That great knowledge sent me directly to my reference shelf. I find no record of a '24 film called "The Quest." You may be thinking of "The Rescue," from '29, which co-starred Lili Damita and Ronald Colman and was directed by a man named Herbert Brennen.

DEAR DICK: A friend of mine told me that the Hager Twins were arrested for the murder of Stringbean, that Stringbean's musical instrument was found in their possession. Is this true? — AGNES FULTON, Logansport, Ind.

No. The Hagers were uninvolved in that case. Somebody else was arrested for the crime.

DEAR DICK: Will you please let me know what year Hee Haw first came on TV? — THE WHOLE FAMILY, Bayou La Batre, Ala.

Hee Haw started out as a network show in '69, but was dropped two years later. It reappeared as a syndicated show later in '71, and has been sailing along solidly ever since. Corn, obviously, is commercial.

DEAR DICK: Is it true that Fonzie of Happy Days (Henry Winkler) died from an overdose? — JANET BLAZICH, Pueblo, Colo.

Every week, it seems, rumors sweep the country about the death of one star or another. This week, it's Henry Winkler's turn. No, he didn't die. No car accident, no overdose, no nothing.

DEAR DICK: I've never seen the McMillan's baby on McMillan & Wife. They never mention it at all. What happened to it? — A.A., Williamsport, Md.

On the last show of last season, there were two or three mentions of the baby, who was a boy. But this year the producers felt the addition of the baby was not a vital element, so they elected to omit it. Presumably, the kid could still pop up some time, but current plays are not to mention it again.

DEAR DICK: It seems when a TV show comes on I like it is always cancelled. First it was Apple's Way and now it's Three For the Road. What can be done to keep the show on the air. — J.J., Wilson, N.C.

Nothing. You have a problem, J.J. You're not in the mainstream with the rest of us. Come on, face up to life and enjoy the cultural attributes of Police Story and Starsky and Hutch like a good American.

DEAR DICK: Are Cher and Greg Allman still married? I heard they were and I want to know if it's true. — TERESA REEB, Springfield, Mo.

The on-again, off-again marriage is off again. They did get together after their first separation, but that didn't work, either. It looks like its permanently kaput.

DEAR DICK: Please settle a bet between my mother and me. Who was the father in the series, Apple's Way. — KATHY SMALL, Irving, N.Y.

It was Ronny Cox.

DEAR DICK: In "Gone With the Wind," was the actor who played Stuart Tarleton the same one who played Superman in the TV series? — N.R., Wallingford, Conn.

Yes. "Gone With the Wind" was George Reeves' first film.

Grammy nominees listed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nominations in 48 categories were announced Tuesday for the 18th annual Grammy Awards of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

There were five nominees in each category and those in No. 1, Record of the Year, were "At Seventeen," by Janis Ian; "Love Will Keep Us Together," Captain & Tennille; "Lyn' Eyes," the Eagles; "Mandy," Barry Manilow; and "Rhinstone Cowboy," Glen Campbell's hit.

Miss Ian had the most nominations — five — followed by the Eagles with four.

Winners, picked by secret ballot of 4,000 academy members, will be announced on a television special on the CBS network Feb. 28.

Brazilian pianists

On their first tour to the United States as a piano duo, Jose Alberto Kaplan and Gerardo Parente will present a program featuring Brazilian music Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. at the Heublein Hall Auditorium in the Hartford Hospital School of Nursing, Hartford.

Tickets will be available at the door or by calling All-state Insurance Company, East Hartford, 289-8613.

Kaplan and Parente will also appear at Bailey Auditorium in Manchester High School during the forenoon of Jan. 26.

The concert tour of the piano duo is sponsored by the Connecticut-Paraiba "Partners of the Americas."

Free recital at UConn

The University of Connecticut (Storrs) music department continues its free faculty recitals Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in Von der Mehden Recital Hall.

Ronald Apperson, a lecturer in music from Granby, will offer a tuba recital. He will be assisted by Clinton Adams, piano, and Tucker Jolley, tuba.

Apperson has performed with the Hartford Symphony Orchestra Brass Quintet, Quartet and Low Brass Trio.

In area theaters

Winding up a month's run at the Hartford Stage Co. in Hartford is the musical revue by Noel Coward called "Oh Coward!" It's final performance is Sunday, Opening Jan. 30 is the world premiere of Ray Aranha's play "The Estate." For reservations, call the box office at 525-4258.

The Producing Guild is billing "Philadelphia, Here I Come!" tonight and Sunday and Jan. 22 through 25 at the Tower Theatre of the Hartford Insurance Group, Asylum Ave. at Cogswell St. in Hartford. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. For reservations, call the box office at 525-1731.

Music at UConn

Wednesday at 8:15 p.m., Wesley Thoun will perform in a student percussion recital in Von der Mehden Recital Hall at the University of Connecticut in Storrs. The event is free.

Thursday at 8:15 p.m., Andres Segovia, guitarist, will present a program in Jorgensen Auditorium. For reservations, call the box office at 486-4226.

Jan. 24 at 8 p.m., the Eastern Division All-State Music Festival is scheduled to appear in Jorgensen Auditorium. Call the box office for reservations.

Tryouts for Tri-Town

Open casting for the Tri-Town Players' production of "The Mousetrap" will be held Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lottie Fisk Building, Henry Park, Rockville.

Parts are available for five men and three women. Backstage workers are also needed.

The Agatha Christie mystery is scheduled for performances on March 19, 20, 26 and 27.

Jim Pendergast of Manchester is the director.

For more information, call the Tri-Town Players at 847-9697.

Broadway's latest hit

Local medal available

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

This locally-designed medal is now on sale in bronze and .999 silver. The initials stand for Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. One side shows the Masonic Temple at 25 E. Center St., near the post office. The medal marks the 150th anniversary of the lodge — not the building.

Dr. William Buckley's book, "A New England Pattern," tells that "the Masonic Brethren which was to compose the Manchester Lodge No. 73, assembled in their hall on Aug. 11, 1826." This hall was in a brick schoolhouse at Manchester Green. Later they met in the Center Academy at about the location of the present Masonic Hall (the Academy was moved to Birch St. and still stands.) The hall as shown was opened in 1926 — so it's 50 years for the building and 150 for the Lodge.

The medal was designed by the coin committee of No. 73 and the sculpture and striking was done by the Roger Williams Mint of Providence, R.I.

Specimens examined had good heft and clean strikes. The silver one is shiny, not antiqued — let it develop its own patina. (Address: "Coins," P.O. Box 102, Manchester, Conn. 06040. Postfree at $3.50 for the bronze, $20 silver. Numbered sets (250 only), at $23.50.)

First day possibilities

Linn's Stamp News has a full-color pic of the 50-flag sheet due out Feb. 23. It was designed by Walt Reed of Westport, Conn. It is costly for kids, ($6.50) but looks like an attractive and informative item. Perhaps having twinges of conscience, the Postal Service Sales Division will forgo the usual 50-cent service rip and will supply full sheets with a first-day cancellation for face value. Many other first-day possibilities are outlined by Linn's with a listing of all the state capitals and their zip codes.

Zippy collectors

Would you believe that there is a "Zippy

Collectors' Club International?" It's true — in Langhorne, Pa., and they publish the "Zip Me News." Zip corners of four might make an easy substitute for those long, long strips of plate numbers. Scott's catalog generally gives them a slight premium over plain blocks of four. The first one they list is the Sam Houston, number 1242, away back in 1964. Tempus fugit.

Aetrcnis, mwjtvirng

In the piece on Ethiopian stamps two weeks ago this statement appeared: "in cat-dom wehbaa...aetrcnis, mwjtvirng..." I made no such accusation — it was the work of cold-weather electronic gremlins at the printery. The section should have read "in cat-dom where the Abyssinian is a cherished breed. It has fur as soft as a rabbit's and the feet are so small the kittens seem to be standing on tiptoe."

So ailurophiles relax; we share a household with a corpulent cat named Sheba (who always asks to be bed or let out at the crux of a TV drama) and I would be the last one to say "in cat-dom wehbaa aetrcnis, mwjtvirng!"

Aluminum cents

Now they tell us! There were over 1.5 million of those aluminum cents run off at the mint bearing the date 1974. Except for the ones handed out to congressmen and two for the archives, all of these were (presumably) melted down. Watch and wait.

A tricky quiz

Salvaged a passing grade on a tricky quiz of 20 questions at the Central Connecticut Coin Club on the 6th. At least got the one right about the Hogge money of the Sommer Islands (Bermuda). There is a story about this coin in a recent issue of Coin World. Hogs were left behind by Juan Bermudez in 1515; they prospered, to the joy of Sir George Somers, who was shipwrecked there in 1609. The first coinage, in 1616, showed a hog on one side and a sailing vessel on the other.

Concerts at RAW

The Marion Brown Group, recently returned from Europe, will perform its first American concert of 1976 tonight at 8:30 and 11 at Real Art Ways (RAW) at 197 Asylum St., Hartford.

Contemporary guitarist/composer William Hellermann of New York City will present a classical guitar recital at RAW on Jan. 24 at 8:30 p.m. Music of the American avantgarde will be featured.

Tickets are available at the door. For more information, call 525-5521.
