Will be mildly optimistic

State of Union talk tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Ford tonight gives Congress and American voters his assessment of the State of the Union in its Bicentennial year. Aides said his report would be mildly optimistic, largely philosophical and short on election-year proposals.

Ford, in a nationally televised appearance before a joint session of the House and Senate, is expected to couple predictions of steady economic growth and a drop in unemployment with a call for a Social Security tax increase and restrained federal spending to help avert new inflation. In advance of the 9 p.m. EST speech, White House aides billed it as a basic blueprint for Ford's presidential campaign. They said he would stick to the conservative themes and go into more detail Wednesday when he sends Congress a proposed federal budget totaling about $394 billion for the 1977 fiscal year, with an anticipated $43 billion deficit.

Although officials ruled out any striking new policy changes, they said Ford would be making several significant recommendations in his message, including:

— A $10 billion increase of current tax cuts now scheduled to expire in July to assure continued economic improvement.

— A rise in the Social Security tax rate next Jan. 1 from 5.85 to 6.15 per cent to generate an extra $4.2 billion in revenues needed to meet the growth of benefit payments. But officials said Ford would no longer insist on a 5 per cent ceiling on cost-of-living increases for Social Security recipients.

— A revision of the Medicare program for elderly Americans that would set a $500 annual limit for hospital and nursing care and a maximum of $250 a year on doctor fees. But in return for the expanded aid, persons insured by Medicare would have to pay more for coverage. Congress rejected a similar plan in 1975.

— Use of tax incentives to create jobs by letting companies in areas of high unemployment depreciate their investments on plants, equipment and machinery faster than usual.

— Giving states more federal aid in "block grants" for education, health and social services rather than in traditional "categorical grants" to let state and local government officials have more freedom in determining how they use the money they get from Washington. Congressional Democrats were expected to balk at the change.

It was one of those days

The sharp dip in the thermometer to near zero readings plagued many motorists in Manchester and other parts of New England this morning. There were many cars stalled and many more which could not be started because of the prolonged cold weather over the weekend. The forecast is for warming weather tomorrow. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Bitter cold grips region

By United Press International

Bitter cold gripped New England today, plunging temperatures far below zero throughout the region. One reading registered 50 below.

Marchers re-enacting the Albany, N.Y., to Cambridge, Mass., march of Col. Henry Knox during the Revolutionary War moved out from an overnight stay in a West Brookfield, Mass., school in 14 below zero weather to cover another 15 miles.

"Everybody's talking about the cold. It's the most common subject," said Paul Chagnon, an art instructor who coordinated the overnight stay Sunday. "If Henry's ghost came back, he'd recognize the weather."

Hiker William Kikker, 27, of New York city, died of exposure Sunday in the White Mountains area of New Hampshire. Two companions on the same trek were rescued in three-foot snow.

Snow continued to fall on Cape Cod in Massachusetts as an Atlantic storm lashed the area. Chatham had 10 inches of snow on the ground and there was five to six inches at Hyannis. Roads remained cleared.

Temperatures tumbled throughout the region. A reading of 50 below was recorded north of Berlin, N.H., and a record 30 below was reached in Concord.

A Manchester, N.H., man was injured Sunday night when the snowmobile he was riding tumbled over a dam at Glen Lake at Goffstown. Emile Mailhot was in guarded condition at a hospital.

It was minus 18 in Pittsfield, in western Massachusetts; Hartford, Conn., had a minus nine reading; Caribou, Maine, had a minus 25 low reading; and in Vermont, Newport recorded a minus 30.

Zero to seven below readings reported

Coats were buttoned to the top button this morning. Collars were turned up and earflaps were turned down. Hands were thrust in coat pockets. Breath clouds hung in the air.

Temperatures had taken the deepest plunge of the winter.

Reports of near zero to about seven degrees below zero Fahrenheit were given in and around Manchester.

It was a morning when cars coughed, choked, sputtered, strained but wouldn't start. Or else they just didn't do anything.

Local garages were besieged with emergency calls.

As of 10:30 this morning, some garages had received as many as 30 emergency calls with more coming in.

Tonight is supposed to be warmer by 15 to 20 degrees than last night. And tomorrow, you can turn down your collar and turn up your earflaps. Temperatures are forecast for the high mid to upper 30s.

It was cold, but no record

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI)—Temperatures dropped into the bitter sub-zero range in many parts of Connecticut today, but not to the record low for the date of 16 below set in 1948.

The National Weather Service observatory at Bradley International Airport recorded a low of minus 9 degrees at 5 a.m. The lowest January temperature ever recorded was 26 below on Jan. 22, 1961.

The NWS reported a reading of minus 9 in Stafford at 3 a.m., which could have gone even lower in the coldest hour before dawn.

Other temperatures around the state were Canaan and Litchfield, 4 below; Danielson and Montville, 2 above; Colchester, zero; Bridgeport, 7 above and New Haven, 4 above. Concord, N.H., recorded a record low of 30 below, Chicopee, Mass., had a minus 10 reading and Albany, N.Y., was frigid at 16 below zero.

Unions to fight longer week

NEWINGTON (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso says she'll resubmit her plan for a 40-hour week for state workers. Meanwhile, union leaders are again unifying to fight the proposal.

Members of three unions met to plot their opposition to Mrs. Grasso's plan to lengthen — without a pay raise — the week of state workers.

Mrs. Grasso submitted the 40-hour week to a special legislative session last month which rejected it, but she has said she'll try again when the regular session convenes in February. State employe unions banded together in December to fight the plan and about 400 persons attended a workshop Saturday on resisting the governor's renewed efforts.

Mrs. Grasso says she wants a longer work week, instead of the current 35 hours, as means of saving overtime. Union officials charge such legislation would in effect mean a 14 per cent pay cut.

Connecticut faces a projected $35 million deficit this year and a projected $147 million shortage for around Beirut, its suburbs and throughout the countryside.

The loudspeakers at mosques that normally call Moslems to prayer took up the "holy war" cry today, calling upon "all the faithful to arise and come to the aid of our brethren" in Karantina.

Karantina is a slaughterhouse slum district in north Beirut where about 50 Palestinian guerrillas and Moslem militiamen have been making a desperate stand in a municipal garage building surrounded by Christian forces.

"They are surrounded now and it is only a matter of time before we capture them or kill them," a Christian militia spokesman said.

Christian forces killed scores of defenders in hand-to-hand combat in the Karantina district.

The climax to Lebanon's worst weekend violence came late Sunday when Karami announced his resignation after seven months of fruitless attempts to establish cease-fires that, one after another, kept collapsing.

"As God is my witness, I have tried to save this country from ruin but my efforts have been in vain," Karami announced in a faltering voice over nationwide television and radio.

"The doors to peace have now been shut. The government no longer has any effectiveness and although all my efforts have failed, I leave with a clear conscience that I have done all I could. May God save us."

the fiscal year beginning July 1, according to state officials.

Most of those at the Saturday closed-door meeting were members of Council 16, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. Others present were from the Connecticut Education Association and the Connecticut State Employees Association.

Michael Ferrucci, president of Council 16, said the workers opposed any change in the work week that was not reached through collective bargaining.

Congress keeping eye on elections, budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 94th Congress returns for its second session today, with an eye on the federal budget and the November elections, which could turn out of office the wave of freshmen elected in 1974.

Fighting for his political life, Ford is expected to reject any program that might swell his proposed budget of under $395 billion, which will be presented to Congress Wednesday.

For the first time, Congress must work out its own budget. Under a law taking effect in fiscal 1977 (starting in October), Congress must meet its budget or raise taxes.

Here is a summary of the main issues this year:

ECONOMY—A strong push by Democrats for legislation creating jobs as long as unemployment is about 8 per cent and for an extension of unemployment benefits.

ENERGY—Dispute over oil prices resolved last year; fight this year possible on deregulation of natural gas prices. Congress might try to tap military oil reserves for civilian use, adjust environmental standards to accommodate energy plans, tax energy users, provide tax incentives for energy cutbacks. No gas tax.

FOREIGN AID—Waiting for congressional approval is Ford's request for aid to the Middle East, which helped make the interim peace agreement between Israel and Egypt. Ford wants $2.2 billion for Israel and $800 million for Egypt.

TAXES—Prospects are for moderate changes but no major restructuring that could be ballyhooed as reform of the tax system. Because of the election, individual taxes could be cut more after June 30.

CRIME—Revision of the federal criminal code is languishing in committees. There also will be a push for gun control, especially "Saturday night specials." Opposition is formidable.

REVENUE SHARING—Congress must extend, kill or make permanent the revenue sharing program. The administration is for it, but there is concern that all share — need or no need.

CONSUMERS—The big bill, to create a consumer advocacy agency, is in a Senate-House conference and Congress may hold it until Ford has to veto it at a politically more critical time.

Legislation whose prospects were bright last January but now are doomed include: A national health insurance program, no-fault car insurance, expanding picketing powers at construction sites and increased farm price supports.

$3.4 million allocated in rev-sharing funds

When Mayor Matt Moriarty said last week that "termination of the federal revenue-sharing program would result in dire consequences for the citizens of Manchester," he listed the specific programs funded from that source since the program started Jan. 1, 1972.

Noting the five-year program is scheduled to terminate Dec. 31, 1976, he said, "I cannot overestimate the importance of revenue-sharing to the Town of Manchester. We would be faced with the unenviable choice of either reducing essential services by 10 to 15 per cent or increasing the property tax by 6 per cent."

At Moriarty's request, the Board of Directors adopted a resolution which urges the state's Congressional delegation to press for early extension of the program.

At last week's Manchester board meeting allocated the following sums from revenue-sharing funds, for a total of about $3.4 million:

- $1,941,991 - to meet operating costs of general government.
- $491,574 - improvements to streets and sidewalks.
- $137,541 - new equipment for the public works department.
- $107,992 - improvements to Lincoln Center.
- $99,938 - replacement of the Olcott St. bridge.
- $87,466 - revaluation costs.
- $74,938 - town contributions under its Industrial Guidelines program.
- $74,466 - park and recreation outdoor facility improvements.
- $55,823 - construction of storm drains.
- $54,990 - burglar-alarm systems in schools.
- $51,714 - improvements to public buildings.
- $37,329 - improvements to Lincoln Center parking.
- $32,568 - miscellaneous, including fuel-dispensing systems for town garages, acquisition of voting machines, acquisition of emergency generators, and maintenance costs to meet OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Act) requirements.

Donor passes 13-gallon mark

Officer James McCoe of the Manchester Police Department holds the pin just presented to him along with a certificate recognizing him for donating 13 gallons of blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile. ### Blood donors sought for Jan. 27 drawing

To date, there are only 17 appointments for the Red Cross Bloodmobile which is scheduled to visit Manchester Jan. 27 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

A spokesman from the Manchester office of the Red Cross said this is the first time she can remember so few appointments made in advance of an upcoming Bloodmobile visit.

The lack of appointments is attributed to the fact that the last two regular monthly Bloodmobile visits were canceled because of the strike.

At these visits, many donors habitually make appointments for their next blood donation.

The monthly quota is 150 pints per Bloodmobile visit. The state blood bank supply is continually in need of type O blood, positive and negative, because it is the most common type used.

Members of the Junior Women's Club are calling from a list submitted by the local Red Cross in the hope of getting more appointments.

Anyone in good health between the ages of 18 and 66 can donate blood. Appointments may be made by calling the local Red Cross office at 643-5111. Walk-in donors are also welcome.

Police report

Manchester Police are investigating thefts of goods worth nearly $4,000 in a variety of cases reported over the weekend.

The two largest thefts were a $2,000 tractor reported missing from Agway Inc. in Buckland and a burglary into a Hilliard St. residence in which items worth about $1,250 were stolen.

Other weekend activity listed by Manchester Police included:

- Investigation of a two-car accident at Spruce and Pearl Sts. at about 1 p.m. Saturday. Ruth K. McAuley, 47, of 25 Emerson St. was charged with failure to obey a stop sign; her car was in collision with a car driven by John W. Peavose, 19, of Windsor. Both cars were towed; both drivers were treated for minor injuries at Manchester Memorial Hospital.
- Referral to juvenile authorities of three 13-year-old Manchester girls, charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) Saturday at Sears Roebuck & Co., Manchester Shopping Park. The girls were released to their parents.
- Several summonses and arrests for minor traffic violations and criminal cases, involving speed-related or traffic control violations or intoxication cases.

In another theft case still under investigation, was learned early Saturday that a van truck owned by a Pearl St. man had been stolen and recovered in a traffic accident in Coventry.

Local authorities were notified of the incident at about 1 a.m.; the van's owner was apparently unaware of the theft. Suspects are still being sought, Manchester Police said.

MPOA to investigate rail transportation

The executive board of the Manchester Property Owners Association (MPOA) has decided to investigate rail transportation in the area because it feels local government and business have shown little interest. MPOA Secretary Frank Utakis says.

At the MPOA board meeting last week, Utakis said the board discussed the apparent lack of interest by town government in preserving local rail service.

"Since a healthy business climate tends to generate tax revenue and commerce is dependent upon bulk transportation, we find it inconceivable that neither the town nor even the Chamber of Commerce have evidenced much interest in preserving existing rail transport into and out of Manchester, much less for providing for any potential increase in that service," Utakis said.

"If the Town of Manchester does not show a forceful interest in saving this vital link to commerce, then the bureaucrats on state and federal levels concerned with rail transport certainly will not be disposed to act in our favor."

"Since so little information in this regard has been made available to the public, it was decided that the MPOA would investigate further in this area to see what could be done to improve the situation in Manchester," Utakis said.

Utakis said the MPOA board also voiced concern about possible continuation, at local cost, of several town government jobs now funded by state and federal grants. The MPOA board warned the town Board of Directors to "move very carefully" on further local funding of grant-funded jobs.

The MPOA board also set the organization's annual election meeting date for Feb. 20 at Whitton Memorial Library.

Two persons die in car collision

WOODBRIDGE (UPI) - Two persons have been killed and a third critically injured in a multiple car crash, according to police.

They said Christine Deselos, 21, of Wilton, and Beverly Green, 45, of Orange, were killed early Sunday.

Mrs. Green's husband, Joseph Green, was reported in critical condition at St. Raphael's hospital in New Haven. Two other persons suffered minor injuries, they said.

Police said the Deselos woman was driving the wrong way on the Wilbur Cross Parkway when she hit two other cars.

MACC NEWS

Nancy Carr, People's Party, open to all those in a single situation whether never married, divorced, separated or widowed, has established the following structure:

A general meeting will be held on the second Wednesday of each month and is open to all interested persons. General meetings are a good time to meet people, sign up for the monthly newsletter, and discuss topics for the weekly meetings, sign up for social activities and get a feeling for what TPC is all about.

The next general meeting will be 8 p.m. Feb. 11 at Mott's Community Hall, E. Middle Tpk. A steering committee will be formed at this time.

Weekly meetings are based on informal discussions of an hour or so followed by coffee and social time for those who wish. Discussion meetings all beginning at 8 p.m. will be held Tuesday, Jan. 20 and Thursday, Jan. 22 and 29, at 835 Foster St. Ext. South Windsor.

Attendance at weekly meetings is 50 cents per member and $1 for non-members to provide for the cost of refreshments. Any interested person is invited to come. Please call hostess one day in advance if planning to attend. If her home is "full up" please feel free to call another hostess.

Discussion questions suggested for the month are:

- The pressure of being single. (Social pressure to marry. Doing things alone. Economics of being single. Where can you go? etc.)
- Discrimination. (Now that there's "Playgirl," "Viva," and support of the U.S. Congress, women are no longer discriminated against...right? And men no longer discriminate against women...right? Wrong?)
- The inner joy that comes from being single. (Have you ever experienced this? Tension melts away, an inner peace takes its place and suddenly we realize we've grown. We've allowed ourselves to be imperfect and human. Can we share with one another some of the times we've known we were wrong, hesitated to admit it, then finally did? Speak your mind. (What has been bugging you lately? Does anybody want to listen? We will.)
- Those who are interested in signing up for January social activities, may receive a TPC newsletter by calling or writing Barbara Baker, Concordia Lutheran Church, 40 Pitkin St., 649-9346.
- After Christmas greys Christmas has been a time of great activity in our convalescent homes. Church groups have been bringing in cookies and gifts, carols have been sung by groups ranging from the Brownies to the Salvation Army members. A good time was had by all including the visitors.

The TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION program

WHAT IS IT? Transcendental Meditation, or TM, is a simple, easily learned technique for gaining deep rest and relaxation. The TM program is not a philosophy or religion and involves no change in life style.

WHAT DOES IT DO? The relaxation gained during TM releases stress, strain and tension. Research at the Harvard Medical School has found that the level of rest gained during TM is twice as deep as the deepest part of a whole night's sleep.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS? TM gives increased calmness and energy throughout the day. Health improves. High blood pressure is reduced (10% of the people who start TM are recommended to the program by their doctor). TM increases mental clarity and psychological well-being. Family and social relationships also improve from the TM program.

HOW MUCH TIME DOES IT TAKE? TM is practiced twice a day (once in the morning and once in the evening) for just 15-20 minutes.

HOW DO I KNOW IT WORKS? The benefits of the TM program have been verified by scientific research at over 200 universities and research centers. (All studies and sources available at the TM center.) If you know a meditator, then you know it works.

HOW DO I LEARN? Anyone can learn in a few short sessions over four days. The first step to finding out more about the Transcendental Meditation program is to attend a free introductory lecture.

Water Department aids Bicentennial shell plan

Town of Manchester Water Department patrons were given a reminder of sorts this past week along with their quarterly water statements. No, it didn't have anything to do with water service or water rates. Enclosed with the bills were cards which can be used to contribute or pledge a donation toward the construction of the permanent Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell on a site on the Manchester Community College Campus. What happened is that the shell committee is faced with trying to raise about $40,000 from the general public for the officially designated Bicentennial project of the town. Reaching as many people as possible has a two-fold purpose—more funds and more citizen participation in the project. The idea of sending out the cards was accepted by the Bicentennial Committee headed by State Rep. Fran Mahoney and former State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, who in turn got the blessing of Town Manager Robert Weiss to include the cards in the quarterly water department billing. According to the water department, the cards will go

Chou En-lai, devious Mandarin

WASHINGTON — Of all the Chinese leaders I have been acquainted with, Chou En-lai was the only one it was impossible to know. Even in the most casual of conversations he seemed to be playing poker — or perhaps, more accurately, bridge — sizing you up, figuring the angles and percentages, using you, I repeatedly felt, for whatever purpose he had in mind. He said the things calculated to get the responses he desired. One never knew what he really thought, only what he wanted you to think he thought at that particular time. By contrast, you knew where the other top Communists stood in their capital Yenan in the 1940s. And exactly how they felt. Mao Tse-tung, Peng Teh-hsi, Lin Biao, Liu Chiu Teh, Yeh Chien-ying. You could like them, hate them, or despise them and their thoughts. But you knew what they were. Because they told you in unambiguous terms. Their bluntness made clear how they regarded you and all ideas you might have. They were blunt. Rough. Strong. Brilliant and singleminded. In my eight months in Yenan during World War II, the last half of that time as acting commander of the combined U.S. military-diplomatic mission to the Communist capital, I dealt daily with the men who then, and in considerable measure since have ruled mainland China. Some have gone down; others, lower in the pyramid, have come up. The ranks thinned in recent years with deaths and excommunications. But Mao and Chou, Teng and Yeh and a handful of others remained. Western diplomats, most of whom did not know intimately Chou's background as onetime leader of strong-arm and assassination squads in Shanghai and his opportunistic flips, tips and intrigues against even his close associates within the Communist party, were fascinated by his culture, his grasp of language and diplomacy, his sweet reasonableness with words in a government of men whose language was often rough, abrasive, abusive and extremist. They came, therefore, to think of Chou as a moderate, friendly pragmatist, not caught up in the fanaticism which seemed to surround him. To give Chou his due, for all his ruthlessness and his devious ways, he was an intellectual, a Mandarin, whose extended studies and cultured manner would make him a standout in any social or diplomatic gathering. And he had an appreciation of beauty and form in living and dress even in the caves of Yenan, which were in deep contrast to that of most of his peers in the party leadership. He was not one who seemed to enjoy the somewhat free-wheeling regular Saturday evening barn dances in Yenan indulged in by almost all of the other party bigwigs, including Mao. There are those who worry about the effect of Chou's death on U.S.-Chinese relations. They see Chou as the man, on the Chinese side, who opened the door. Now it is true that Chou was the official who handled the matter. And it is true, too, that even back in the Yenan days in the 1940s Chou believed the U.S. had much to offer. But then, so did Mao and a goodly chunk of the rest of the leadership. What must be remembered is that Chou could not have moved toward opening the door to the U.S. without the concurrence of the majority of China's effective leadership, including Mao. Relations with China may change for one reason or another. But it will not be because of Chou's death. Those relationships, however, will most certainly become more turbulent on the surface. The blunt style of men like Tang Hsiao-ping will likely prevail. There won't be Chou's silky words. That is, there may be rough diplomatic seas ahead and strong verbal exchanges. But we'll more likely know accurately where we stand in Chinese eyes. And the Chinese will foster an improved relationship — though probably at arms length — so long as it suits their interests, and no longer. Friendship, or lack of it will not enter the picture. Winter Street is hilly from south to north; we could do our skating in the backyard of 55 Winter, take a leap down the inclined driveway, and make it all the way to the pond. There weren't as many cars around in those days, but for safety sake we placed guards at the end of the driveway to the road, and on Valley Street in case there should be east-west traffic. Of course, you took boots or some other foot covering with you, because that would have been a tough climb up the hill on skates.

OPEN FORUM

Drug abuse law enforcement urged by reader

To the editor, The enclosed letter was sent to Chief Lannan of the Manchester Police Department after having read his response to the drug problem in the Wednesday, Jan. 14 edition of The Herald. I would trust that sharing it with your readers might stimulate others in the silent majority to respond. Thank you.

Dear Chief Lannan, I have just read the Wednesday, Jan. 14 account in the Manchester Evening Herald relative to the marijuana problem in Manchester schools. But this may be a bit too much to ask and we should not expect just the water department patrons to contribute to the community project alone. There are many in Manchester who rent and may not pay water bills directly. They, too, can join in the fund raising effort by contributing or making a pledge. You don't need a card. All you have to do is send a check or your pledge of a certain amount to the Bicentennial Permanent Music Shell Committee, P.O. Box 1776, Manchester, Conn. 06040. A small contribution will mean an opportunity for hearing music in a proper setting for many years to come. The idea of a music shell as a Bicentennial project is excellent for this reason and the idea of small contributions from everyone, as is being tried through the water department, is excellent in that it could make the project truly a community one. Send in your pledge or contribution today.

Dear Gov. Grasso: The committee for the Concerned Citizens of Manchester support you in your effort to cut spending at this time. In view of the fact that the average citizen working in private industry is already overburdened with taxes, we strongly urge that no new taxes be imposed. Thank you for your consideration. THOUGHT

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity In 1968, the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, which we celebrate Jan. 18 through 25, began at Graymont, Garrison, N.Y. Within a few years it spread throughout the world, awakening Christians to the reality of the tragic disunity which they had for too long taken for granted. By bringing Christians of every denomination together in common prayer, this week gives us special opportunity to grope for the fullness of the unity already given by Christ and to explore ways in which we can together worship, serve and witness to Christ in the world. "We Shall Be Like Him" is the theme this year, taken from 1 John 3:2. I like the wording found in a modern translation, "The Way." The passage reads: "Yes, dear friends, we are already God's children, right now, and we can't even imagine what it is going to be like later on. But we do know this, that when He comes we will be like Him, as a result of seeing Him as He really is." This gift of God is a life growing within us. The Bible teaches us to behave like God's very own children, calling Him "Father." As followers of Christ, we have hope that He will reveal Himself fully to us and in us, if we are faithful; hope that the spirit will lead us continually until at length we see Christ in all His glory; hope that Christ will re-establish us in the unity of one church; hope that the world will be delivered from corruption and share in the glorious freedom of God's children. In Christ, our hopes and prayers are one. Submitted by: Elaine Holcomb, Chairman, MACC Division of Christian Unity

Reflections

By Hal Turkington Herald Managing Editor

I remember I had a morning paper route; the deliveries HAD to be completed by 6 o'clock, and ours was. Then Dad and I would put on our skates and cover the distance to the ball games; it was an easy haul from the Armory through shortcuts on Haynes, Russell, Bigelow and Hemlock to the pond. Bill Androlot recalls the town paid him ten bucks to run the pond "and all you could make on the canteen in the Lodge." Some nights he was there 6 to 10:30 and made 75 cents. In those days you could rent skates, get your sharpened there, warm yourself before the open fire, and warm your inards with some hot chocolate or coffee. "I had some good years and some so-so years, but I enjoyed those 28 years," Bill said the other day as we looked over some photos taken at the pond. There were some pretty good ice hockey players that developed from the boards at Center Springs. Those sideboards were cut from trees that dropped during the hurricane of 1938. Remember the May brothers, Jackie and George; and "Wee-Wee" Guthrie and his brother Bob? Don't forget stickers like Huck Ecbert, Ronnie Daigle, big Ham Chambers, George and Winnie Smith, Butty Davidson, Vin Kelly, "Yump" Johnson, Jim Hassett and the "baby" of that gang, Russ Haug. There were some pretty good contests between the south and north sides of the pond. Jackie May still gets in "ten hours of skating a week, but I'm on the arena ice, now, at Bolton Palace." He recalls a hockey league made up of the Manchester Bruins and teams from Glastonbury, Salem, Branford, the Hartford Tennis Club, and a team at Highland Lake in Winsted. Some reflections; there's more to follow another day.

The sideboards along the hockey rink at Center Springs Pond were made from trees felled during the 1938 hurricane. Snow cleared from the ice was piled up to the boards making it easier for spectators to watch the action; but there was no Plexiglass to keep the puck from reaching those sideliners.

Democrats plan May primary

Conventry MONICA SHEA What does the Democratic Party Affirmative Action Program mean to Coventry Democrats? Estelle Flanagan, State Central Committee woman from the Fourth Senatorial District, attempted to answer the question last week for the Democratic Town Committee. Mrs. Flanagan said Coventry would have four votes at the Second District Congressional Convention to be held in Norwich June 12. April 29 Coventry Democrats will caucus at 8 p.m. and four delegates will be chosen for each announced presidential candidate. If an announced candidate has no support in Coventry, then his name will not appear on the May 11 primary ballot. May 11, there will be a primary for all registered Democrats which will run from noon to 8 p.m. Names of presidential candidates will appear on the ballot. In some prominent place in the polling place there will be a list of four persons who have been chosen as delegates for the candidates. The presidential candidates who received over 15 per cent of those voting in the primary will have either a whole or a part of a vote at the congressional convention. About 198 votes will go to the second district. At that convention the number will be cut to either eight or nine. A total of 51 votes will go to the national convention in New York. Mrs. Flanagan said "We have come up with something that is pretty agreeable. The winner-take-all attitude is wrong. It doesn't give all the persons in the state a chance at the convention."

Allen offers relations ideas

Bolton DONNA HOLLAND School Supt. Raymond Allen offered eight ways for the system to improve public relations during the recent Board of Education meeting. Joseph Fleming, principal of Bolton High School, worked with his staff at Allen's request to come up with the eight ways. They are: • The high school department chairman and the leaders at the Bolton Central School will meet and discuss continuity of instruction. The lower grade level teachers will better understand what is happening at the high school. • The teachers at the high school and the center will change places for two or three weeks. • Teachers will be encouraged to take part in extra-curricular things at all the schools. • Sport clinics will be offered at the lower grade levels. Young athletes will be invited to varsity ball games. • High school student concerts will be an annual event for the lower grades. • Have the high school parents' group continue to invite parents of Grade 8 students to the fall open house and parents of Grade 7 students to the spring open house. • Begin the orientation for incoming freshmen in January. • Schedule the orientation for parents of incoming freshmen in February, have the course description ready, and have head teachers and department chairmen present to explain courses. Members are reminded to send future pledges and contributions to Copes rather than Charles Edgerly, the former secretary.

Value of stolen property increased in 1975

The value of property reported stolen in Manchester increased 11 per cent in 1975, but the value of stolen property recovered declined 2 per cent, Police Chief Robert Lannan has reported.

In his final monthly report of 1975, Lannan said the 1975 value of stolen property was $668,808, compared to $597,417 in 1974. Recovered property amounted to $208,673 in 1975, compared to $212,891 in 1974.

Lannan, who this week received the green light to fill up to seven vacancies on the police force, said the added manpower will begin to have an effect on the theft cases in the next several months.

Lannan has been trying to beef up the department's investigative work since he assumed command last year.

His end-of-year report shows increases in almost every phase of police activity, except some categories of traffic accidents and animal control.

Arrests made in 1975 totaled 1,592, up from 1,448 in 1974. Both misdemeanor and felony arrests increased.

Complaints received by police were 28,396 in 1975, compared to 24,522 in 1974.

Traffic accidents involving motor vehicles increased from 2,196 in 1974 to 2,307 in 1975. But the number of accidents involving pedestrians, bicycles, fatalities and injuries declined slightly.

There were 32 pedestrian accidents in 1974 and 26 in 1975; 32 bicycle accidents in 1974 and 29 in 1975; 7 accident fatalities in 1974 and 5 in 1975; and 520 injuries in 1974 and 516 in 1975.

Traffic arrests increased from 7,180 in 1974 to 8,471 in 1975. Traffic

Accident rescue demonstrated

Durward Miller (left), instructor of an American Red Cross class in advanced first aid, and Town Fire Fighter Peter Beckwith, another Red Cross instructor, demonstrate emergency treatment and immobilization of an accident victim in a special class this week at Town Fire Headquarters. The simulated victim is Miller's son, Durward Miller Jr. The class at fire headquarters, involving 23 students and five fire fighters, included a demonstration of the department's Hurst Rescue Tool, used to remove the door of the wrecked automobile to get at the victim. Simulated injuries in the demonstration included a broken leg and broken back. (Herald photo by Dunn)

96 Democrats to seek 80 seats

A total of 96 Democrats have filed for 80 places on the Democratic town committee and will be on the ballots Wednesday night at 7:30, when caucuses are convened in all 10 of Manchester's voting districts.

The town committee members elected Wednesday will take office early in March and will serve to March 1978. The 10 districts are allocated committee members in the same ratio as the ratio of registered Democrats in the district to the total registered Democrats in town.

Only registered Democrats may vote Wednesday night. About 10,520 are listed on the town's voting lists and estimates of the turnout range from 5 per cent to 10 per cent.

Except for Voting District 3, voting will be in the same polling places as during last November's election. District 3 Democrats will vote at Buckley School, Vernon St. Thus, Buckley School will be the location for two districts — 3 and 5 — but in different rooms.

Listed are candidates by voting districts with the number to be elected. Filing was by slates and by individuals.

Sanford J. Plepler; and James E. Iannoni.

Town credit improves

Despite the fact that credit rating services are taking a hard look at municipalities since New York City's financial crisis, Manchester has maintained its rating and, in fact, improved it somewhat, according to Town Treasurer Roger Negro.

Negro says Standard and Poors has said it will keep its AA rating for Manchester and Moody's rating service will give it a strong A1 rating in conjunction with a bond sale tomorrow.

Bids will be open at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow at the United Bank and Trust Co. in Hartford for $2,900,000 in Manchester bonds.

Negro said today that representatives of 12 investment firms have inquired about the bonds. The bonds are for the renovations to Bennet and Iling junior high schools. The town has been financing the work on short-term notes.

Negro said Moody's has advised Manchester that it has a good chance to earn an AA rating next year if it adheres to an austere budget and continues to collect back taxes at a good rate.

Negro said the rating by Moody's resulted from a full-year's effort by town and school officials in meeting and compiling data in preparation for a tour by Moody's Sept. 11.
