The Golden Age Club will have a kitchen social Friday at 1 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center.

Fire Safety

The kitchen is an all too frequent site for fires in the home; try to remember these few items. All electrical appliances should bear a label from a testing agency with their label of approval on the appliance somewhere. Don't overload your outlets by purchasing numerous outlet adapters. If you get an appliance wet you should have it checked before using it again. Don't store items over your stove to prevent someone from being burned when reaching. Turn pot handles sideways or to the rear of the stove to prevent children from pulling hot food onto themselves. Wear tight fitting sleeves when cooking, loose sleeves catch fire easily.

The weather

Partly cloudy, cold, high in 20s. Tonight fair, windy and much colder, low zero to 10 above. Friday sunny and cold, high in upper 20s and 30s. National weather forecast map on page 17.

Respond to State of Union address

Democrats accuse Ford of inept management

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democrats, giving their view of the state of the union, have accused President Ford of inept, panicky management of the economy and called for new programs to "substantially" reduce unemployment. In a nationally televised Democratic party reply to Ford's State of the Union speech, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine also criticized U.S. actions in Angola, saying American foreign policy should be conducted openly. "The President's plan for the economy are penny-wise and pound-foolish," Muskie said Wednesday night. "Under the President's leadership are producing only three-fourths as many goods as they actually could. To combat unemployment, Muskie proposed: — Direct employment programs in which federal dollars would pay for public service jobs such as classroom teaching aides and hospital attendants. — Federal assistance to local communities for short-term public works projects and to avoid layoffs in local government services such as police and trash collection. — An energy policy to keep oil and natural prices at "reasonable levels" until the economy can absorb increases. — A food policy giving farmers "a guarantee of reasonable incomes and consumers a guarantee of reasonable prices." — A wage-price council "which will make life miserable for any big corporation that raises prices without very good reason." — An antitrust policy to "move immediately to prevent powerful firms from gaining too much control over both markets and capital, not spend years in court arguing cases after it is too late."

What the nation needs at this time is leadership that will not jump from one economic panic button to another," he said. Muskie also made these economic proposals: — More tax cuts without increased federal spending. He said Congress should reject Ford's proposal to raise Social Security payroll taxes. — An energy policy to keep oil and natural prices at "reasonable levels" until the economy can absorb increases. — A food policy giving farmers "a guarantee of reasonable incomes and consumers a guarantee of reasonable prices." — A wage-price council "which will make life miserable for any big corporation that raises prices without very good reason." — An antitrust policy to "move immediately to prevent powerful firms from gaining too much control over both markets and capital, not spend years in court arguing cases after it is too late."

A chilly, blustery wait

Joan Bosse of 109 Hollister waits for the bus near the Church of the Nazarene on Main St. as wind swirls the night's accumulation of snow about her. Schools were closed and delayed in opening in many areas of the state, but not in Manchester.

Latest snow storm keeps plows busy

To New Englanders, another snow storm is not exactly news. Yet every one arrives under slightly different circumstances and brings with it varying results. Northern New England received the third in six days. Although it dumped between four and six inches of snow around Connecticut, it was not as severe as expected. The weatherman predicts frigid temperatures ahead with the thermometer plunging to zero accompanied by west-northwest winds. Today, the trucks are involved in sanding operations. The Manchester-East Hartford Cab Co. had more calls than usual, but the drivers could not answer them all because the driving conditions slowed them down, a spokesman said. At Manchester Memorial Hospital, everything was normal and relatively quiet. "I think ski," the weather is perfect. If you're lucky enough to be south of the winter zone, it's a good place to stay.

Attorney General says cuts in Medicaid should be upheld

HARTFORD (UPI) — Attorney General Carl Ajello says Gov. Ella T. Grasso's Medicaid cuts don't violate any laws and should be upheld. A temporary injunction, issued by U.S. District Court Judge T. Emmet Clary Tuesday, against the cuts cited the failure to consult an advisory board and give adequate notice as reasons for his order. Ajello said Wednesday he hoped the cutbacks, ordered as a budget-balancing measure, would be upheld when a hearing is held on making the injunction permanent. He said the central question at the hearing would be whether any federal or state law was violated by the cuts. "The question is whether the failure to observe procedural requirements in this instance violates any statute or constitutional rights" of Medicaid recipients, he said. Mrs. Grasso ordered the 10 per cent cuts to save $1.2 million for the current fiscal year. She projects a $5 million deficit for the year, and the legislature's Office of Fiscal Analysis estimates the shortfall for the next fiscal year at $147 million.

The issue of irreparable harm was not granted because of the damage that could be caused to thousands of needy recipients before the matter came to a full hearing. "The decision on whether the state's failure to observe procedural guidelines violated any statutes would become the central question of the hearing for the permanent injunction," he said. Meanwhile Wednesday, Social Services Commissioner Edward Maher said his department would comply immediately with the court order.

Writers elect Roberts, Lemon to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robin Roberts and Bob Lemon, the dominant pitchers in their respective leagues during the early and mid-1950's, today were elected to the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. With 291 votes (75 per cent) necessary for election to the Hall of Fame, Roberts received 287 votes and Lemon received 287 and 305 votes, respectively, in a balloting of 388 members of the BBWAA.

Budget praised and deplored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To the Republicans in Congress President Ford's budget was praised for its leanness. The Democrats however deplored its austerity on social programs.

But there were exceptions. GOP Sen. Jacob Javits of New York called it "a retreat from federal responsibility," and Democratic Rep. George Mahon of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, urged party colleagues not to increase it.

In the televised Democratic response to the budget and State of the Union message, Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, described Ford's economic plans as "penny-wise and pound-foolish" and called for new programs to put unemployed Americans back to work.

One of the harshest critics was House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill. "The President's budget priorities are 100 per cent wrong. Its full impact in slowing the economy would be felt in 1977. "We have to worry about the future, not just about the election."

One of the warmer endorsers was Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, assistant Senate GOP leader. "I can't recall a time when there has been a budget so well presented. It's really a time to put politics aside."

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott said it is "in the interest of the people of this country to hold very closely" to Ford's recommendations.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, running for the Democratic presidential nomination, said, "While I withhold judgment on whether he made the cuts in the right places, I strongly agree with him on the need to hold the line on spending."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of Congress' Joint Economic Committee, criticized the

MCC plans workshops

Two workshops focused on women looking to a second career are being planned as part of Manchester Community College's Women's Week programs.

The workshops, which are open to all women free of charge, are being co-sponsored by the Nutmeg Branch of the YWCA and the Women's Center of MCC.

The first workshop, "An Experience in Assertiveness Training," will be Feb. 10 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the college. Jane Echelson and Fran Keller, group facilitators, will describe and demonstrate how women can learn to assert their needs and personal rights.

The second workshop, "New Careers—What, Where and How," will be Feb. 12 from 9 a.m. to noon at MCC. Gail Patrick of the counseling division of the college, will discuss interview techniques and new resume styles as well as new career directions. This will be followed by a group exploration of obstacles the working or soon-to-be working woman may face. More information may be obtained by calling the YWCA, 647-1437.

Gov. Ella Grasso rebuts gaming plan criticism

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today said there is no reason why the nine-member commission in charge of Connecticut's legalized gambling should be more honest than a proposed three-member group.

Mrs. Grasso rebuffed some of the criticisms the Special Revenue Commission leveled Wednesday at a report from her gambling adviser, but she did not defend the recommendations in the report.

Her adviser, former National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter R. Kennedy, suggested paring the commission to three members to streamline it and increase its efficiency.

Mrs. Grasso said she wasn't making allegations against the existing commission, but its reply that a smaller group was more open to improper influences did not hold water.

"Why should three people be any less honest than nine?" she said in a news conference.

"Nine people should not sit in judgment of any other number."

The governor also dismissed the commission's claim that Kennedy erred when he criticized the granting of permits to two jai alai frontons within 12 miles of each other, in Bridgeport and Milford.

"It's no answer," she said of the commission's reply to the two facilities were given playing dates that did not interfere with each other.

Kennedy proposed the nine-member commission, whose members are paid $10,500 a year, be trimmed to three unpaid commissioner backed up by three paid experts in gambling operations.

Mrs. Grasso, who plans to unveil her legislative proposals for changing the commission within two weeks, said she will meet with the commission Tuesday to discuss Kennedy's report.

Most urge board to reject plan watching and all would be aware of where the dollars were being spent.

Although a public referendum was not a panacea but it would open up the world of education.

Several parents of the parochial school children expressed their approval of the plan.

The work has been done. The public has made known their feelings. The final vote will be taken at a special board meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The assessors' report should be changed to conform with those in other towns, they said.

They said the assessor's report requires only taxpayer's valuation of property and inventory. They said it should include a schedule which recites to the owner's inventory, plant and equipment, and the books and records of the company.

A past recommendation of a general government and Board of Education equipment be undertaken.

The report shows an unencumbered surplus of $13,013 at the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year.

It was noted that while the town spent more than it received it was able to avoid a deficit by having surpluses at the beginning of the year.

The school board budget showed a surplus of $11,707. It spent $7,765,397 and ended the year with $145,001 in outstanding bills.

The outstanding general debt of the town at the end of the fiscal year totaled $13,020,000 and the authorized but unissued debt amounted to $18,470,000.

The report notes an unencumbered surplus of $13,013 at the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year.

East Hartford SHEILA TULLER

Falling snow and traveler warnings did not keep East Hartford residents from the public hearing on Parents' Choice Wednesday night.

At least 200 people came to speak for or against the plan.

Chairperson Eleanor Kepler called the meeting to order shortly after 7:30 p.m.

Close to 80 people presented their ideas to the board in three minute, timed periods.

Most of the speakers urged the board to reject part or all of the plan. The main thought of the majority was for the board to stop trying new programs and get back to basics.

James Dakin, president of the East Hartford Education Association, presented copies of the teachers' survey. He said the only component of Parents' Choice the teachers supported was given information to parents.

The teachers voted against supporting private and parochial schools, autonomy, transportation and open enrollment components of the plan.

Opponents of the plan also urged strengthening the neighborhood school concept.

Proponents of the plan stressed the parent's right to choose the best educational plan for their children.

One taxpayer liked the idea of Parents' Choice as he said everyone would be

Council to review audit

The Town Council Tuesday authorized Mayor Thomas Benoit to appoint an audit sub-committee to review the town audit report.

The auditors, Gittlin, Halpern, Campise & Smith, recommend the hiring of a full-time financial officer for the town due to the town's rapid growth and the increased complexity of the accounting for the many town projects.

They also recommend the elimination of the Capital Reserve Fund which they said is not being used properly.

"The purpose for which the fund was established can be accomplished by using the capital and non-recurring expenditure fund," they said.

"All capital projects should be conducted through individual funds set up for the particular projects," the report suggests.

auditors said the town's consulting engineering firm estimates the town owes the contractor some $20,000.

One of these suits involves $93,000. It was brought against the town by the contractor for one of the sewer projects. The town attorney has indicated that lawsuits pending against the town, not covered by insurance, could result in aggregate contingent liabilities of some $900,000.

Is prosperity just around the corner?

Five trends, arguing each other, may combine to give this country the prosperity we've been hankering for and cut unemployment gradually but effectively despite government fumbling.

First. There's the economic turmoil abroad, which, in most areas has been and still is worse than in the United States. According to preliminary information, this trend is encouraging more American companies to direct less of their investment abroad and more at home. This, if the shift continues, will mean that in the years just ahead fewer jobs will be exported, more created here.

Second. There's the start of what apparently is to be a large-scale, greater than in the past, investment of foreign funds in American industry, both through direct ownership and through stocks. How far this trend will go is not yet certain, but the initial strength is gratifying. The jobs created, the spending for new equipment and the expanded consumer buying thus set off could spread widely in the next half-dozen years.

In a number of countries, prominent investment experts have been telling their people of late the United States is now the place to put their money for a best chance of major profit.

Third. A number of the raw materials the United States must import heavily, and whose recent scarcity drove prices up and created production bottlenecks, are now plentiful supply, with prices down. In some instances there's an actual glut reported. It should be noted that in some instances the shortages were a more serious factor than high prices in sharpening the recession.

There's often a slip between the cup and the lip, of course, and the advantages of lower raw materials prices generally could be wiped out by a sudden appreciable boost in the price of oil by the international petroleum cartel.

Fourth. The U.S. dollar seems to have stabilized at a realistic value making our exports competitive with those of other countries in a range of important goods. This, at one swoop, should boost sales abroad and give American producers a larger share of the U.S. market itself. American steel manufacturers, for example, will have less fear of cheap foreign imports.

One major reason for the persistence of this recession is the difficultly American firms have had generally in securing the capital needed for expansion, and the working capital required for day to day operations at rates which made expansion profitable.

This reasoning underscores the fifth favorable trend, the apparent easing by Chairman Arthur Burns and his Federal Reserve Board of overly tight restrictions on the growth of the money supply, a change of heart which has brought down interest rates. Concurrently, this easing is believed to have stirred renewed interest in stocks by investors who had been sitting on the sidelines. This buying, of course, will add to the supply of capital available to industry. More corporations now may believe it possible to raise the funds they require for expansion through new stock and bond offerings.

One word of caution. The trends noted above are slow acting for the most part. Though there's always the chance anticipation will lead producers and consumers to quickly change attitudes and begin to spend now with vigor, it is more likely that progress will be slow.

Veggies can't do it all

It has always been a dubious proposition that if Americans were to eat one less hamburger or steak per capita per week it would release vast amounts of grain for consumption by the world's hungry peoples.

Even if agricultural logistics were that simple, and even assuming that everything livestock eat humans could eat, a meatless world would still be dependent upon animal products in hundreds of ways.

In a book published last year, "More Meat — Or Less — on the Dinner Table," author Wayne Anderson listed some of the ways animal by-products are used — in the making of lubricants, paint driers, liquid detergents, wetting and emulsifying agents, synthetic rubber, polishes and waxes, mold release powders, waterproofing products, cement and ceramics, resins and plastics, glues and adhesives, printing inks, insulation, shoes and other leather products, brushes, upholstery and photography records.

Important pharmaceutical and health aids comprise an entirely separate list. Among them are heparin, a blood anticoagulant, and insulin, which about one million American diabetics require to regulate their blood sugar levels. It takes the pancreas glands of 7-500 hogs or 1,500 cattle to make one ounce of insulin.

In a modern society in short, there can be no such thing as true vegetarianism.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.
British poet Lord Byron was born Jan. 22, 1788.

On this day in history:
In 1789, the first American novel, "The Power of Sympathy," by William Hill Brown, was published in Boston.
In 1963, the nations of France and Germany...old foes...signed a treaty pledging cooperation in foreign policy, defense and cultural affairs.

In 1968, Communist North Korea sent the U.S. intelligence ship "Pueblo" in the Sea of Japan and took 83 crewmen captive. The crew was released 11 months later, and North Korea kept the vessel.
In 1974, former President Lyndon Johnson died at the age of 64.

A thought for the day: In his first address to Congress as president after the assassination of John Kennedy, Lyndon Baines Johnson said, "All I have I would have given gladly not to be standing here today."

Always safe to smear a dead man

WASHINGTON — It is always safe and usually profitable — to smear a dead man. According to her literary agent, Judith Campbell Exner's memoirs of her "romance" with President John Kennedy could bring her as much as $2-million, worldwide.

Well, this is a free country, which is why the agent, Scott Meredith, can hold a news conference and distribute a 10-page outline of Mrs. Exner's soon-to-be-written memoirs. Mrs. Exner will recall that Kennedy

ANDREW TULLY

Exner, the former gangster's moll, knows how much truth there is in her story. It is her word against his. But it seems a sure bet that the death benefits paid her will be substantial. Anyway, the outline promises some hot stuff and that's what brings in the dough. Among other things, Mrs. Exner will recall that Kennedy

THOUGHT

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity

In a Sunday morning broadcast of the National Radio Pulpit some months ago, the Rev. Dr. H.C. Read remarked that: "We're living in exciting times for religious beliefs. There is a stirring of the Spirit in the land... barriers between denominations are being broken down, but not at all in the way that was planned by the ecumenical enthusiasts of the past decades."

"There is today little interest in plans to bring different churches under some big ecclesiastical umbrella," Dr. Read went on. "But strange things are happening as Christians find themselves sharing in an empowering experience of the Holy Spirit, a new discovery of the Bible, or some enterprise to minister to the afflicted and oppressed. It may be that out of all this will come new life for the churches."

Dr. Read claims, "It is a time for a new hearing of the Word, a fresh look at prayer and meditation, a resolute grasping of the love of Christ, and a readiness to follow the leading of the Spirit!"

In our liturgies, our devotions, our hymns we pray for the indwelling and guidance of the Holy Spirit. And we are receiving the answer to those prayers in this day, as we experience the presence and power of the Holy Spirit uniting us in a new Pentecost. Praise the Lord, for He is making His ways known to us! May we now have the wisdom and understanding to follow the Guide He has sent! Amen.

once told her marriage was in poor shape and that only Kennedy family intervention prevented his wife from divorcing him.

Mrs. Exner's work — to employ a euphemism — also will take a whack from the living. Her outline, written by her agent, says that on several occasions Kennedy "expressed to her his doubts that (his brother) Ted would act responsibly enough to fulfill what he (John Kennedy) saw as the destiny for all the Kennedy brothers — the Presidency."

I concede that public morality is at a low ebb, but this does seem a bit much. One need not be a Kennedy idolator to cry foul. Mrs. Exner, a product of the demimonde fringe of the Los Angeles-Hollywood show biz community, has it too good. It is her word against — whose? In such situations, the only effective defense is that put up by the accused, and John Kennedy is dead.

We are asked to take Mrs. Exner's word that she had an adulterous relationship with Kennedy. To me her word is not quite good enough, not yet anyway. Does she have witnesses to her alleged romps with a President? Affidavits? Sworn depositions? Tapes of conversations with Kennedy or his friends? I say the woman's word is not quite good enough, for a good reason. She does not come into the literary court with clean hands. For years she had an "association" (shall we say?) with Mobster John Roselli and his boss, Chicago Mafia chieftain Sam "Momo" Giancana. Any lawyer would raise 12 times before accepting Mrs. Exner's offer to testify on behalf of his client.

There is another side to the story. Rosellina and Roselli had a contract with the CIA to murder Cuba's Fidel Castro. The Senate Intelligence Committee tried to find out whether Kennedy had learned about the plot from Mrs. Exner. So far, no soap. Giancana was murdered before he could be questioned. But both Roselli and Mrs. Exner were quizzed and the committee was unable to turn up any

The men who would be President

Askew: Our leaders lack candor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Candidates for the presidential nomination of their parties, and other political leaders, were invited by Newspaper Enterprise Association to contribute articles concerning presidential character: What sort of person should be elected president on Nov. 2, 1976, and why? Following is one of these contributions.

By Reubin Askew
Faith is precious. It cannot be purchased with money. It cannot be preserved with empty words.

The price of the faith of the people is high. They ask for honesty and vision. They ask for an abiding commitment to something more than ourselves.

As we consider who we will ask to lead us in 1976, we should consider the price of faith. And we should consider as well those oft-abused words, honesty and vision.

For what we need in the way of leadership in America is a willingness to pay the high price of public office. We need, too, an honesty about the bewildering problems we face as Americans. And we need vision to help us overcome those problems.

I have always been an optimist. As an optimist, I cannot help but believe that the fears we share in these uncertain days are not justified, even by the dreariness of recent events. And we cannot allow these fears to persist.

We have lost a war. We have lost a president. We have lost our hollow dreams of a manifest destiny. Yet it is my belief that, whatever our mistakes and whatever our misfortunes, we have not yet lost the confidence, the resourcefulness and the abiding optimism that have always characterized our people.

We can keep that confidence, we can employ that resourcefulness and we can do it as we are to last fulfill the bright promise of our Declaration of Independence.

And as the Continental Congress that adopted the Declaration, this new alliance of Americans could foster a reappraisal of our institutions and a readjustment of our lives to fit the altered realities around us.

I do not pretend to have all the answers to our problems. I believe, though, that, together, with a common faith, we can find those answers. What troubles me most is that those who keep telling us they know all the answers do not seem to even understand the questions.

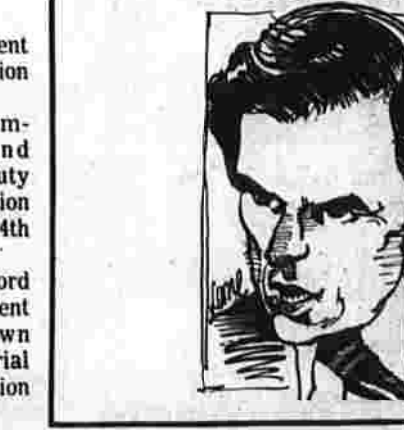

So we continue spending ourselves into bankruptcy, squandering our resources and wasting our wealth. We continue sanctifying competition in America, even as we apparently stifle it.

And still the people do not have the housing or the health care or the employment that they need. The promise of the Declaration of Independence remains but a promise.

I firmly believe that, if we are to finally keep that promise, we must be more concerned with what leads us in 1976, than with who leads us. More important than whose banner we carry is what that banner will say.

The future will belong to those who are willing to pay the price of faith... those who can fashion vision and conviction and uncommon courage into an unwavering commitment to the great dreams we have always cherished as a people.

Chamber to bring new life to Rockville

BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

At its February meeting the Board of Directors of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce will see some visual presentations of plans to revitalize downtown Rockville.

Andrew Tricarico, chairman of the Board of Director's Economic and Development Committee, told the board meeting Wednesday his Visual Aid subcommittee is preparing an extensive proposal. He said the committee has great imagination and ability to project.

Tricarico has several subcommittees working with him. The Visual Aid subcommittee is working on short, medium, and long-term plans for the area. A deadline of Feb. 2 was set for all subcommittees to come back with plans to present to the main committee.

Tricarico is also receiving input from such groups as the Northeast Neighborhood Association which was formed because of concern for the downtown Rockville area.

Tricarico said his Traffic Committee and Finance Committee have been asked to report with a firm projection concerning the traffic situation in the center.

Hugh MacKenzie of the industrial division of the State Commerce Department has been in touch with R. Bernard Crowl, executive director of the chamber, and he will be kept up-to-date as far as buildings and land available for business and industry in the three towns the chamber serves, Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington. This information will be kept in the state files.

Robert Teddoli, chamber president, said he has been in touch with Stanley Israelite who is with the office of Congressman Christopher Dodd. He said Israelite is an expert on researching matching funds for development programs.

He said Tricarico's committee wants to attempt to make sure any proposals it presents will have the proper funding base.

The board approved a resolution to effect a change in the bylaws and this will go to the entire chamber membership for its action.

The change will end the need for the chamber to have a public accountant.

Crowl said this was expensive. The amendment would allow the accounts to be examined each year by a three-member audit committee consisting of a board member other than an officer, one other chamber member and any other individual designated by the board.

This committee will report its findings to the entire board. The audit must be done within 90 days after the close of the fiscal year in October.

Crowl said under the current bylaw restrictions the chamber has been paying $300 annually for the audit. The cost has not been raised to $700.

He said "It is the belief of the executive committee and board that the $700 (only $250 of which has been budgeted) might better be expended for a deserving project, particularly when the chamber has competent manpower available for an audit.

Aging program
Howard Wolinger, chairman of the committee on retired persons, reminded the board that it was three years ago this month, on recommendation of Glen Roberts, that the board established a committee to develop a program on aging in the three-town area.

After the chamber got such a committee going, it was turned over to the Hockanum Valley Community Council. The Rev. John Mortimer is chairman of that committee and Wolinger is vice chairman.

The Rev. Mr. Mortimer introduced Ms. Danuta Katy who is in her first week as coordinator for the Department on Aging. Mrs. Katy will report to the chamber at a later date after she has been working at the job a little longer.

Pastor Mortimer said one of the projects the committee has worked on has come into being and that was the special bus service for the elderly. The bus now being used is leased but the town expects to have a new bus delivered in the near future.

Pastor Mortimer said the committee is also working on three other projects. One is a job bank for the elderly; another is RSVP program for those who wish to do volunteer work, and the third is a dietary meals on wheels program for those who have special needs.

New members
The board received three new members: Frank W. Papa (plumber), of 31 Grove St., Rockville; All Building Maintenance Corp., Hartford Tpke., Vernon; and Stop & Shop Market, Vernon Circle.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Three overtimes

KINGSTON, R.I. (UPI) — Sophomore guard Alex Eldridge put a stop to the final game of basketball Wednesday night by sinking two foul shots in a third overtime period to give the University of Massachusetts a 94-93 victory over the University of Rhode Island.

Eagles fall

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) — Senior forward Beaver Smith hit a 15-foot jump shot in the final two minutes of play Wednesday night to give St. John's University a deliberately played victory over Boston College.

Hawks on top

WEST HARTFORD (UPI) — Senior center Phil Levesque scored 20 points and took down nine rebounds to lead the University of Hartford to a 88-69 basketball win over Southern Connecticut Wednesday night.

Campbell stars

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Board member Bruce Campbell allied 20 points Wednesday night to help Providence outpower St. Joseph's 81-71.

Wesley thump

MIDDLETOWN, (UPI) — Union College reeled off eight straight points with four minutes left to break open a close contest and coasted to an 80-66 basketball win over Wesleyan Wednesday night.

Joins McKay

DENVER (UPI) — Denver Broncos offensive line coach Jerry Frei said Wednesday he would leave the team to join John McKay's staff with the NFL expansion franchise in Tampa Bay, Fla.

Hayes sidelined

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — A Washington Bullets' club spokesman said Wednesday Elvin Hayes, the club's leading scorer, has a strained ligament in his right wrist and, depending on how it responds, could be out of action for a week or 10 days.

Trinity wins

HARTFORD, (UPI) — Co-captain Wayne Sokolowsky, scoring 18 of his 28 points during the first half, led Trinity College to an 80-74 win over Brandeis University in basketball Wednesday night.

Clemson five upsets Terps

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clemson, relying on clutch shooting in the game's final minutes by reserves Greg Coles and Stan Rome, shocked the home court Terps 82-77 to leave Maryland 1-2 but a meek 1-2 in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Clemson is 13-3 and 3-1 in the ACC. It was our 10-guy theory," Clemson Coach Bill Foster said. "Our bench has done it all the way this year. We have to use everyone we've got and they have come through."

Coles closed with 12 points, including nine in the second half, while Rome scored five — all in the final six minutes.

No. 2 ranked Marquette reeled off 10 straight points midway through the first half to coast to an easy 78-63 victory over Creighton.

Earl Tatum and Butch Lee scored 18 points apiece to lead Marquette to its ninth straight win and 13th in 14 games.

Unbeat Nevada Las Vegas, held Nevada State down to 17th-ranked Wake Forest.

He hit me

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — It was supposed to be a preliminary round between two young heavyweight boxers, but it turned out to be more like the plot of a movie.

It was during the second round of their match Tuesday night.

Bill Connors disqualified Davies for going to the back of the ring, but the state boxing commission urged him to resume the fight, which he did.

Fritz tried to bite Davies. Davies got ready to take another chunk out of Fritz. Connors stopped the fight again and called it no contest.

The commission later ordered Fritz to go to Mount Sinai Hospital for a tetanus shot.

November messiah gives Rangers tie

NEW YORK (UPI) — The November messiah and the January messiah, brought in by the New York Rangers to turn around a desperate franchise, are going about it by ones.

The November messiah — Phil Esposito — scored the 544th goal of his career with just 20 seconds left Wednesday night to give the January messiah — John Ferguson — a 3-3 tie against the Chicago Black Hawks in his debut as coach in front of the home fans.

The lie was worth a point to the Rangers, leaving them 13 behind Atlanta in the race for the third and final playoff spot in the Patrick Division.

Esposito, whose next goal will push him past Maurice "Rocket" Richard into third place on the all-time scoring list, was acquired in November to supply teeth to the New York offense.

Ferguson was named general manager and coach early this month to add a mean streak.

Cliff Koroll, Darcy Rota and Pit Martin scored the Chicago goals while Steve Vickers and Wayne Dillon added the other New York scores.

Earlier Wednesday, Bep Guidolin quit as coach of the Kansas City Scouts because the front office refused to allow him to send veteran defenseman Larry Johnson to the minor leagues.

Kansas City General Manager Sid Abel took over the coaching duties for the Scouts in their game Wednesday night against St. Louis, which Kansas City lost 4-2.

Blues 4, Scouts 2. Derek Sanderson scored while St. Louis was two men short to ignite the Blues and send the Scouts down to their 10th straight loss. Jerry Butler, Claude Larose and Bob McMillan added the other St. Louis goals while Guy Charron and Dave Hudson scored for Kansas City.

Islanders 5, Capitals 2. Bobby Nystrom, Garry Howatt and Clark Gillies scored third period goals to extend Washington's winless streak to 25 games. Denis Potvin scored in the first period for New York to offset goals by Tony White and Harv Bennett.

North Stars 5, Canucks 1. Dennis and Bryan Hextal combined for two goals and four assists to give Minnesota an easy conquest of Vancouver. Ernie Hicke added two goals and Bill Goldsworthy one for Minnesota while Dennis Veeragert replied for the Canucks.

HRC will seek meeting to study commission role

By ALICE EVANS Herald Reporter. The Human Relations Commission is seeking a meeting with the Board of Directors to "clarify any misunderstanding or misrepresentation" about the commission's role in the town's Affirmative Action program.

The commission also wishes to explain its need for "at least a part-time staff member to work with the commission on relative matters" and to "spell out" the HRC ordinance to the directors.

Section three of the ordinance says, "The commission shall be dedicated to the promotion of equal rights and opportunities for all citizens regardless of race, national origin, religion, sex, or economic status, and to a better understanding among all groups in the community."

"To this end the commission will concern itself with assuring the equal protection of the laws and the full rights and privileges of all citizens; promoting full equality of opportunity in the total economic, educational, political and cultural life; promoting improved communication, understanding and cooperation between all racial, ethnic, religious, age, sex groups in the community; and ensuring equal opportunities in all levels of town government and equal services by the Town of Manchester to all citizens."

Commissioner Frank Livingston said, "How can the commission assure equal opportunities for all citizens if it can't get involved in the town's Affirmative Action program. If we don't do it, the Office of Equal Opportunities will come in and tell them what to do, and the town will not have someone to work with. Looks like the town wants the federal government or state to come in and tell them what to do. Either the town wants the Human Relations Commission to act as an arm for them or not."

After its December meeting, the commission told the town, in a letter to Town Manager Robert Weiss, that members felt they were without power to be as useful as they might have been if they had a paid staff member from the town.

The commission also expressed its need for "someone who can devote paid time to the kind of actions and motions desired by the town — such as the Affirmative Action requirements for specific funding to Manchester."

The answer to the commission's request came at the Jan. 12 Board of Directors meeting, when the board indicated it wants to retain control of whatever Affirmative Action program the town adopts and it won't abdicate its power to the Human Relations Commission.

Director Phyllis Jackson, at that time, said, "The directors would be abdicating their duties if they allowed the commission to make the decision. It's not an on-going commission, and like other agencies it is seeking to perform functions of the Board of Directors. If it wants to assume the role of the board, let its members run for office."

Director Vivian Ferguson also said she, too, is opposed to the role the commission wants to assume, noting, "Its role is only to advise."

Tuesday night, Livingston said, "I don't think they (Board of Directors) fishing. Miller and Weiskopf have been in action twice. Miller won the Tucson Open to start the new PGA season while Weiskopf finished third. Last week, Miller would fail to make the cut as rookie Bob Gilder won the Phoenix Open."

Moving Keeney St. School gets target date of May 1

By ALICE EVANS (Herald Reporter)

May 1 has been set as the target date for moving the old Keeney School to the Cheney Homestead grounds.

James Fogarty, also reported to the town's Bicentennial Committee Wednesday night that he has made an informal request for $4,000 for the project, but that it probably wouldn't cost that much, and that redevelopment funds are available if an effort is made to get them.

The first attempt to move the school was in 1923, but funds were unavailable at that time, he said.

The Manchester Art Association will have its annual art and craft show at Center Park in conjunction with the June 12 Bicentennial parade.

The town Bicentennial Committee appointed Dorothy Hoey and Vickie Jennings, members of the art association, as co-chairmen of the show.

The 100 Per Cent Voter Turnout project will be kicked off Tuesday at 11:30 p.m. at the Municipal Building Hearing Room. Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer and local dignitaries will be on hand for the ceremony.

The committee is looking for a name for the proposed bandshell, and perhaps will conduct a contest to name the bandshell planned for Manchester Community College campus. Ralph MacCarone said that small donations are coming in for this project, and believes that $2,000 has been collected, which he considers a small amount at this point.

The annual fireworks display sponsored by the American Legion will not be held on July 4th this year, but either after the June 12 parade or at another date, according to Francis Leary of the American Legion. She's a Century Club donor

Mrs. Michael Gorman of Crestfield Convalescent Home is looking over the names of the members of the St. James School Foundation Century Club in a book held by her cousin, Edmund J. Gorman, who is treasurer of the St. James School Foundation. Inc. Mrs. Gorman recently donated a gift in memory of her son, Edward, who was the first boy to be enrolled in the school in 1922.
