Governor's message to be 'no money'

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso's State of the State message Wednesday, reduced to its essence, could be two words, "NO MONEY."

The common thread running through her speech will be the lack of funds needed to remedy problems in the areas of the budget, social services, education, cities, state bonds, health and state employees.

The speech to the opening session of the legislature, which traditionally sets Connecticut's broad goals and a budget for the next year, is certain to urge new highs in governmental penny-pinching.

Mrs. Grasso reportedly will propose a $1.75 billion budget for next fiscal year, a state record but only four per cent higher than this year's $1.68 billion budget and the lowest rise in about 10 years.

Balanced budget required
Required by law to submit a balanced budget, it will take much work to erase a $147 million budget deficit forecast for next year even if spending doesn't go above this year's $1.68 billion budget.

Mrs. Grasso has not unveiled her strategy for filling the gap, but official leaks indicate she will chip away at it with several small savings rather than lopping off chunks with larger cuts.

No new taxes will be proposed, she has said.

She will propose bridging part of the $35 million deficit forecast for June 30 by liquidating a $28.5 million fund for needy veterans, a plan rejected by lawmakers last December.

Debt costs go up
The $70 million hike in the fiscal 1977 budget was forced in part by a $40 million hike in the cost of financing the state debt. Interest on state bonds will rise from $210 million to $255 million.

Mrs. Grasso's budget reportedly will include a $29 million hike for the Social Services Department, hard hit by the rising costs of medical and other services and suits barring it from cutting back its subsidies.

She also has been considering a bookkeeping change that would pump $27 million into state coffers — crediting the first month of tax revenues from fiscal 1977-1978 to the 1976-1977 fiscal year.

The change is certain to be criticized by Wall Street firms that rate state bonds. One firm dropped Connecticut's credit rating last year because of the large state debt and some of the Grasso administration's financial maneuvers.

Gasoline tax to increase

Mrs. Grasso has said she will propose hiking the state gasoline tax from 10 cents to 12 cents to balance revenues lost through her proposed elimination of the sales tax on leases, enacted only last year.

And Connecticut's 40,000 employees will be given $300 pay hikes each, totaling about $10 million, if lawmakers approve her plan to lengthen the work week from 35 to 40 hours, Mrs. Grasso's aides have said.

But even with a balanced budget and a promise of $7.8 million from a federal emergency job program approved last week, Mrs. Grasso will not be able to rest easy.

She will have to keep a sharp eye on recession-hit tax revenues and several factors threatening to hike state spending, including a court battle that could cost Connecticut $100 million.

Tax ruling appealed

The state has appealed a Superior Court ruling declaring illegal its heavy reliance on local property taxes for elementary school financing. Education Commissioner Mark Shedd has predicted if the appeal is lost, Connecticut might have to spend an extra $10 million to equalize education around the state.

The governor and the wide Democratic majorities in the legislature are expected to be able to reject the usual bid for a state income tax. But it may be harder to defeat possible uprisings by a coalition of young and urban lawmakers which last year tacked on to the budget an unexpected $1 million hike in grants for municipal antipoverty programs.

In nonmoney areas, Mrs. Grasso is certain to propose several changes in the structure and duties of the Special Revenue Commission, heavily criticized for "prompting" legalized gambling rather than regulating it.

Apt to be criticized

Her proposals, apparently including replacement of the Republican-controlled nine-member commission with a three-member board, are apt to come under fire as a politically motivated raid.

But Mrs. Grasso, opposed to gambling on moral grounds, is not expected to call for the total abolition of legalized gaming, which has provided much-needed revenues to the state.

She is also expected to call for tougher bribery statutes and better immunity laws, deficiencies which emerged during the investigation into the Bridgeport jai alai scandal last year.

Other bills proposed

During the three month session, lawmakers also are expected to consider bills requiring deposits on bottles and cans, abolishing "blue laws," tightening nursing home regulations, and decriminalizing possession of small quantities of marijuana.

Lawmakers also probably will take up the state's mass transportation system, including several stalled highway projects and proposed changes in the Connecticut Bus Co., and railroad service around the state.

But all measures will be closely studied for possible impact on state spending and revenue. Only those promising increased revenues or reduced spending will have a chance of being enacted.

The way it was early this morning

Ground Hog Day in Manchester began with snow and high winds which canceled school and slowed traffic to a crawl. Most people were too bundled up and too busy fighting the weather to engage in any ground hog watching. Hopefully, the critter came out early today before the sun broke through for legend has it that no shadow foretells an early spring.

New storm reminds residents winter is here to stay awhile

By SOL R. COHEN

Herald Reporter

Accompanied by howling winds of gale-force intensity and preceded by thunder and lightning, rain, freezing rain and sleet, Manchester's sixth major snowstorm of the season swept out of the northwest this morning, closing schools, stalling countless numbers of rush-hour motorists and reminding people that winter is here to stay.

At 5 this morning, there was driving rain. At 5:30 it turned to freezing rain, at 6 it was sleet and soon after snow.

By 9 a.m., when the winds leveled off and the sun shown through the clouds, the snow tapered off at about 2½ inches but strong gusts of wind continue for awhile.

What had been a heavy and steady rainfall most of Sunday and overnight created extremely hazardous driving conditions when the temperature plunged about 11 degrees from the 40s to below freezing. Highways and sidewalks had sheets of ice beneath the snow.

Winds were 30 to 40 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50, making visibility poor to zero. Schools were closed and many business opened late.

The suddenness of the snowstorm caught many of the state's highway clearing crews by surprise, leaving the major highways, such as I-91, I-95, I-86 and I-84, icy and snow-covered.

Many motorists abandoned their vehicles and many others couldn't climb even the lesser hills.

In Manchester, 31 vehicles and crews went out as soon after 6 a.m. as the word went out from George Ringstone, acting highway superintendent.

Ringstone said the crews will plow all streets and then will start sanding, in anticipation of a drop in temperature to about zero tonight.

He said the crews reported two problems — the drifting snow and the traffic. He said the greatest hazard were vehicles without snow tires or chains, some abandoned, most unable to climb the simplest inclines, others just inching their way along.

Manchester police issued a warning against unnecessary driving and urged extreme caution for those who had to drive. They reported several minor accidents — at one time three fender-benders in three different locations.

State highway officials, describing the situation on interstate roads, said they were "wall to wall with cars," unable to move because of poor visibility and stalled vehicles.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Windsor Locks predicted clear and cold weather tonight (about zero) and Tuesday (in the teens).

A spokesman noted that the steady and heavy rain Sunday and overnight reduced the amount of snow that might have fallen, explaining that one inch of rain is the equivalent of ten inches of snow.

Punxsutawney Phil saw his shadow

A Groundhog's Day snow and ice storm, powered by 50 mile an hour winds, shackled ground and air traffic in the heavily populated Northeast today.

Punxsutawney Phil, the weather-forecasting groundhog of Punxsutawney, Pa., poked his nose out of his burrow and was startled by his shadow and an icy blast of wind.

According to legend, that means the country is in for six more weeks of winter weather.

Carter takes lead in Maine; Reagan closes gap on Ford

By LAURENCE McQUILLAN

United Press International
Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter has collected the largest share of delegates on the first day of Maine's month-long Democratic party caucus, the first public indication of candidate strength in the northeast.

On the Republican side, Ronald Reagan has made a substantial jump in voter popularity and pulled to within two percentage points of President Ford, 46-44, among Republican and independent voters, according to a Harris poll released today.

Carter won 58 of a possible 135 delegates Sunday, the first day of caucuses. An uncommitted slate received 51 delegates. Carter's closest rival was former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris, who had 12 votes.

It was the first delegate selection in the East. Carter outscored the other Democratic candidates in Iowa but trailed Alabama Gov. George Wallace in Mississippi.

Maine, which sends 20 delegates to the national convention, is the only state given permission by the Democratic party to caucus during an entire month because of distances to be traveled and the wintry weather. Most of the results will be in by mid-February.

In the Harris poll, the President held the same 46 per cent he had when voters were asked to choose between the two in November and December. Reagan's new support, up 4 per cent, came from the ranks of undecided voters.

Ford had held a 54-34 margin over the former California governor while a similar poll was taken in August and September. The latest survey was taken between Jan. 5 and 14.

In Dearborn, Mich., the Midwest Republican leadership conference ended Sunday with the President's supporters saying they are convinced he can stave off Reagan's challenge. Backers said a private poll showed Ford leading in New Hampshire, but they declined to cite figures.

Ford campaigned in Michigan Saturday, calling for a resurgence of state and local government power and said he would reduce unemployment without resorting to "dead-end" federal job programs.

In other developments:
— Newsweek magazine reported independent candidate Eugene McCarthy will announce his return to the Democratic party this week to seek its presidential nomination. But his national campaign chairman, Ron Cocomo, said the report is "not true, at least to my knowledge — I'm sure he would have said something to his national campaign manager."

— Wallace was cheered in St. Augustine, Fla., Saturday night when he called for "a return to the electric chair and swift punishment" as an answer to the crime problem.

— Federal Election Commission quarterly finance reports show Reagan collected nearly $250,000 more than Ford last year. Reagan collected $1.92 million and spent $1.51 million. Ford took in $1.69 million and spent $1.47 million.

Vernon Grand List increase lessens need for higher levy

BARBARA RICHMOND

Herald Reporter

Keeping next year's mill rate down has been made a bit easier for the Town Council by the town's near $5 million rise in the Grand List.

Although the Board of Tax Review has not finished its work, the Grand List as filed last week totals $171.2 million. This is 2.33 per cent or $4,718,644 higher than the 1974 list.

The rise is due to new homes, new businesses, and the repeal of a state law on property taxes.

An increase in personal property, furniture and fixtures, is due to the repeal of PA 74-334. Under that act provision was made for the elimination of property taxes on furniture, fixtures, machinery and equipment, purchased after Oct. 1, 1973. The property was assessed in the same manner as other property but rather than be included in the Grand List the figures were submitted to the state and the state reimbursed the towns based on the mill rate. Instead of the state reimbursement new equipment is listed on this year's list.

In this category the increase caused the figure to go from $2,685,720 last year to $3,024,620 this year.

The new list also shows sizeable gains in the area of new residential and commercial construction including additions.

On the 1974 list the number of assessed dwellings was listed as 5,773 with an assessed value of $70,568,042. The number increased for 1975 to 5,854 and the assessed value to $72,272,939.

Commercial buildings this year are listed at 589 with an assessed value of $32,100,970. Last year the figures were 594 and $31,285,600.

The motor vehicle listing reflects some 1,000 additional accounts for a total of 18,138 and assessed value of $17,496,260.

Up to last year apartment houses with more than four units were included in the commercial category but now are included in dwellings and considered as one dwelling.

The tax exempt real estate jumped to $27,245,160 from $23,538,900 of 15.74 per cent of the list.

The other listings and their assessed value are: 2,776 barns and sheds and garages, $1,668,339; 7,083 house and building lots, $28,840,902; 29 manufactories, $1,689,260; 6,103.9 acres of land, $6,328,720; 260 mobil homes, $766,780; machinery and water power, $2,350,750; 53 horses, $4,650; 14 cattle, $550; mechanics and farming tools, $1,970; goods on hand, $2,568,760; manufactured goods, $252,050; cables and conduits, $4,345,870; 476 boats, $200,130; miscellaneous, $684,860.

Also included is the 10 per cent penalty for late filing and this totals $71,260 which is up from the $41,190 on last year's list.

The gross figure was $174,669,640 and with the veteran's exemptions totaling $3,457,092, the net taxable figure is $171,212,548.

The net figure is usually changed slightly after the Board of Tax Review completes its work.

Natural gas control battle to begin Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With billions of dollars at stake, powerful forces are marshaling for battle in the House over a plan to end the government's 38-year control of interstate natural gas prices.

A freshman congressman from Texas, Rep. Robert Kreuger, precipitated the fight, which begins Tuesday with a maneuver to bypass normal House procedure.

Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., one of a number of members who call the move a highly irregular effort to write legislation on the House floor rather than in committee, urged the House in a letter published Sunday to kill the permanent decontrol proposal without debate.

On one side of the issue stand major oil and gas companies, who see their first opportunity in two decades to shake off the hand of government gas price regulation, and the congressional forces who support them.

On the other side stand some of the top energy experts in the House and a new citizens' lobby group, the Energy Action Committee, which opened its attack on the oil industry this weekend with a 140-page "Natural Gas Factbook" arguing for continued controls.

Opinion

Rationale is wrong

It seems to us Town Manager Robert Weiss is wrong when he says, "It's the principle of the thing," in rationalizing why Manchester should join in a lawsuit against the state — to force it to free funds still due the towns and cities for special education grants.

We don't mean that the suit by the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities is wrong and we don't mean that towns and cities are wrong when they join in the action.

We mean it appears to be wrong on principle for Manchester to join.

Manchester, in 1973-74 and 1974-75 received an aggregate $273,000 more for special education than it had anticipated, and in this fiscal year, when the funds are freed — and all indications are the General Assembly will free them — Manchester will wind up with about $100,000 more for special education than anticipated.

Those excess funds went, and will go, into the General Fund, and contribute toward surpluses each year. The estimated grants were reductions by the Board of Education. The actual grants were under formulas used by the state.

What went wrong? We don't know. What we do know is that the Board of Education estimates were what was budgeted and what was spent for special education and that the school board didn't report a deficit in its Special Education

Reflections

By Hal Turkington, Managing Editor

This note was penned to the Christmas card from the Kenny Goodwins of South Windsor:

"Missed you at the BA Club banquet. We had a great time, and it was fun to see Puggy Bell again."

Memories of Puggy Bell and the BA Club's basketball teams surfaced from the bottom desk drawer in a scorebook. Recognize these names? Jackie Allen, Bobby Knight, Puggy Bell, Kenny Goodwin, Ray Felix, Buddy Ackerman, Bob McLarnon, Hank DeZonie.

Ken's note referred to an Oct. 22, 1975 sports night at the BA Club, that date also was the final game of the World Series.

While we would have rather been at the club, we were at home watching the game; a medical problem kept us away from activities last fall, and also from this desk for almost three months.

We did get to the club, though, on tape. Fran Mahoney was commissioned by the club to run a sports night, starting in 1974. He did, and in that year honored the BA baseball teams and the memory of Art Pongratz.

Last October, it was the BA basketball teams and the memory of Jackie Allen.

Traveling secretary: that's the job we performed for those teams.

Last October, Fran conducted a fireside chat with us at home and recorded it for the program. These were reflections of a happy career on the sports beat.

We talked about the Manchester basketball of the 1940s and early 1950s, the Eastern Basketball League and the American Basketball League.

It would be difficult to forget a Sunday afternoon of March 29, 1953. That's the day the BA Club bought Manchester a title that probably still stands: Manchester, the smallest town ever to win a professional basketball title, the American Basketball crown.

Ray Felix, the seven-foot center, came 46 points and leading the club to a 98-82 victory at Wilkes-Barre over the Barons. It was the only time the club ever won at Wilkes-Barre.

They taped the game that day for a delayed broadcast, and we heard the game driving home.

Manchester and Wilkes-Barre had tied for first place; in a flip of the coin, the game to decide the crown was played at Manchester, and the BA's won 91-82, on a Thursday night.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Why drink?
I suppose the usual answer to this question is the simple answer, "to quench thirst." But why drink?

The fact is that over 95 million people in America imbibe. Also, there are 9 million "problem drinkers." $4.2 is spent by states for court cases, jail and welfare cost for every $1 in liquor taxes. Half of all murders, quarter of all suicides, half of each year's $5,000 auto deaths involved drinkers. One of out nine casual drinkers will become an alcoholic, and the alcoholic's life span is reduced 10-20 years.

So why take that first drink, especially when the Word of God clearly warns against the drinking which produces harmful and destructive results.

The Jerusalem Bible translation of Habakkuk 2:15 reads, "Trouble is coming to the man who makes his neighbors drink who pours his poison until they are drunk, to look at their nakedness." Wine is a mocker, and strong drink is raging.

Why drink? If you want to get rid of your troubles, if you want to enjoy life fully, if you want to be a person of two eyes, head if you want eternal life, then go to Jesus Christ. "Come unto Me, all ye that are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Matthew 11:28 Jesus is Savior and Holy Spirit Baptizer. In Him there is love, peace and joy.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International
Today is Monday, Feb. 2, the 33rd day of 1976 with 333 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and the first quarter. The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

Austrian violinist and composer Fritz Kreisler was born Feb. 2, 1875.

Also on this day in history:
In 1848, Mexico signed a treaty giving Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California to the United States for $10 million.

In 1876, the National Baseball League was formed. It was comprised of teams in Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Louisville, Ky., and Hartford, Conn.

The two teams then began a best-of-three series the next night in Manchester for the championship, and again the BA's won, 96-89, that set the stage for the finale two days later at Wilkes-Barre. More than 4,000 fans watched that last game.

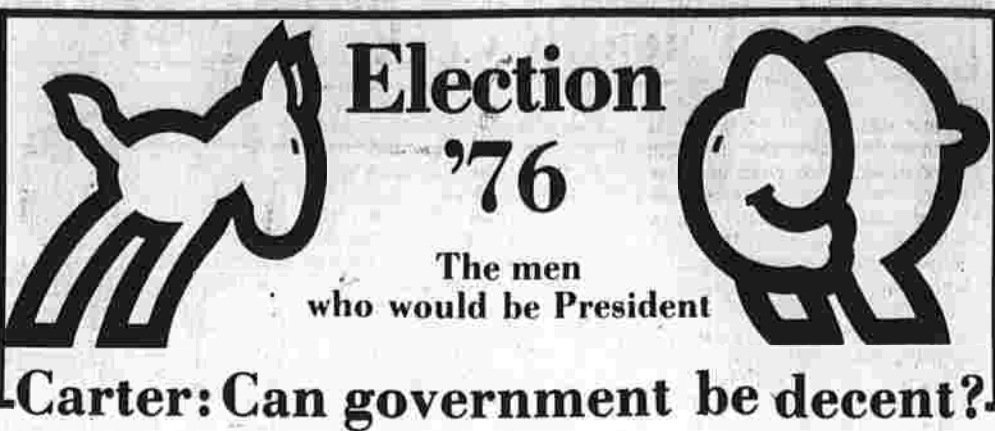

Those players mentioned in the fourth paragraph made up that championship team.

Anecdotes of the traveling secretary:
Kenny Goodwin, on all road trips, reminding residents of a given town that "THE AMERICANS ARE HERE!" His voice belted with gusto from the rear seat of the car.

Two BA's headed Stratton; one has flat tire in Union City, N.J. Might as well eat now while the flat is fixed. Bobby Knight challenges Jackie Allen in a foot race to restaurant couple of blocks away; the rest of us walk.

Reaching the diner, everyone learns Bobby has ordered his favorite meal for all — veal cutlet and Coke!

The BA's play a Friday game at home and leave by car for Elmira, Saturday morning. DeZonie has never gone to Elmira from Manchester, so he follows until we reach the Catskills.

Election '76

The men who would be President

Carter: Can government be decent?

Editor's Note: Candidates for the presidential nomination of their parties, and other political leaders, were invited by Newspaper Enterprise Association to contribute articles concerning presidential elections. What sort of president should be elected president on Nov. 2, 1976, and why? Following is one of these contributions.

By Jimmy Carter

Americans are hurt, embarrassed, and disillusioned. I have visited 43 states and over 250 cities and towns since last January. Everywhere I go, our people are asking two basic questions:

Can our government work? Can it be competent, efficient, well-organized, economical, and well-planned? Can local, state and federal governments cooperate with each other to share responsibilities? Can the Congress and the President work together, for a change, to meet the need of our people? Can our system of government continue to exist?

The other question is more personal but also important: Can our government be decent? Can it be honest, truthful, open, idealistic and compassionate? Can our government represent what our people are or what we would like to be? Can it be a source of pride instead of shame and embarrassment?

Most people, perhaps with good reason, believe the answer to both these questions is no. I am convinced the answer is yes.

The next president will be the person who can give this country some hope that our government will once again be worthy of complete confidence and support.

There are other considerations that are related to these basic questions. Voters in 1976 will be extremely reluctant to select someone who is seen as having personal and political investments in the mistakes and embarrassments of the past. Our people are looking for someone with an inclination and freedom to make sweeping drastic changes in our tax and welfare systems, in the uncontrollable budgetary process, and our wasteful and unresponsive and bureaucratic. Americans have never before had so much to be proud of. We are no longer content with dogmatic liberal or conservative solutions. We want leadership that will assess each problem on its own merits without regard to what the textbook liberal or conservative answer might be. We want jobs, housing we can afford, gasoline and fuel oil at reasonable prices, security for person and property, and a fair tax system — no endless debate and theoretical rationalizations of continued inaction.

The people of this country know that our greatest mistakes in foreign policy have been made because public officials have excluded us, misled us or intentionally lied to us. We will no longer accept the shrouded that foreign policy decisions should be left to the experts, because we have seen the tragedies into which our experts have led us.

Americans are concerned that nobody is minding the store in Washington. We see a national government that drifts from one crisis to another without purpose or direction. We would like to have a chief executive with some demonstrated ability to actually run a government.

There is a deep disenchantment with the entire Washington scene. The feeling is widespread that our government operates according to standards of ethics and logic that are unacceptable to the vast majority of our people. If given a choice, Americans are unlikely to select someone closely identified with that type of behavior.

Americans still believe we have the right of government in the world, but we feel it has been betrayed. We are not ashamed of our country, but we are disgusted with what our government in Washington does to it.

There is a healthy cynicism abroad in the land. Our people have heard the boy had any way of getting this injured dog home. I wonder what kind of human being could do something like this, also have no conscience?

How do we expect to bring up responsible youngsters if someone who's supposed to be an adult acts in irresponsibility?

Would he have driven off if it had been my son that he hit. I hope that whoever he is, he will think this over.

Thank you, Ann Kibbie, 21 St. John Street, Manchester.

Disabled veteran wants letters
To the editor,
I lived in Manchester in 1947 for 11 months. I am a lonely disabled veteran of World War 2. I am 51 years old. I was wounded three times in the Battle of the Bulge.

I had seven operations. I still had to have my left leg amputated and four more operations afterwards. I have very poor circulation in my right leg and may lose it any time at all. It would make me very happy if you would please have my letter published in The Evening Herald. It would make me very happy to receive get well cards, letters, Valentine's or anything people would wish to send me to read to cheer me up these long dreary winter days. Receiving mail makes me very happy and it gives me something to look forward to.

Thank you,

Dental health week

February 1-7 is the 28th annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance, The Manchester Herald, in cooperation with the Manchester Dental Society, today begins a series of six articles on facts you should know about dental health.

At what age should my child start using a toothbrush? Should I help him brush his teeth?
The real culprit in dental decay is the colorless film of bacterial plaque that forms constantly on everyone's teeth — even a baby's.

You should start cleaning your child's teeth as soon as his first incisors (front teeth) have come in. Since it may be difficult to brush a infant's teeth, a parent can remove the plaque from the teeth by using a cotton swab or piece of gauze wrapped around a finger.

Preschool children can be taught to brush effectively, but parental participation and supervision are necessary for several years. By the time the child has all of his first teeth, he should be used to the idea and can do most of the brushing by himself.

The most frequent toothbrushing method recommended for plaque removal involves using a gentle back-and-forth scrubbing motion, with short strokes. With the bristle tips held at a 45-degree angle against the gum line, the brush cleans the teeth and gums at the same time.

Chewing surfaces also are brushed with short, scrubbing strokes. Disclosing tablets or solution — which may be obtained at a drugstore — can be used after cleaning to check the effectiveness of the child's brushing methods.

Home Firearms Safety Course offered by Legion March 5

The Dilworth-Cornell-Quey Post of the American Legion in Manchester will offer another Home Firearms Safety Course.

Charles Barrera Jr., post safety officer and chief instructor, reports that the program which has become quite popular, will be conducted on Friday March 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the Legion Home, 20 American Legion Dr.

The program is designed to offer guidance to the inexperienced person in the handling of firearms in the home and it places heavy emphasis on the responsibility of gun ownership.

It was first introduced in 1953 by joint cooperation of the National Rifle Association and the United States Public Health Service.

On the spot demonstrations of handling, care and maintenance of firearms will play a large part in the class. Local laws pertaining to gun ownership will be discussed and a very informative movie will be shown.

Barrera will be assisted by Curtis Wilson of the Manchester Police Department and George Atkins Sr., all certified firearms instructors. There is a registration fee of $1 for the one evening course to help defray the cost of literature and equipment.

Eagles' win streak ends against arch-foe South

By LEN AUSTER. Herald Sports Editor. Time has a way of changing things. Four weeks earlier, East Catholic had knocked arch-rival South Catholic out of the ranks of unbeaten basketball quintets.

The Rebels connected on their first three field goal attempts while the Eagles turned the ball over three times before John Lusa, who had a team-high 12 points, hit on a baseline jumper at the 5:30 mark.

Little man helps GHCC down MCC

By CHRIS BLAKE. Correspondent. For a little man, Pete Harris does a big job. Harris, a 5-6 guard, scored his 1,000th career points with an early basket and led Greater Hartford Community College to an 88-75 CCAA basketball win over Manchester Community College Saturday night at East Catholic.

East, which hit a dismal 15 of 39 field goal attempts (38 per cent), in comparison had three turnovers and four missed shots down the stretch, only a rebounder two-pointer by Carlson interrupting the skin.

East came back strong in the second stanza making the most out of life at the charity stripe. The Eagles converted six of seven tosses, four of five by Gary Carlson, to cut the deficit to 26-22 at the intermission.

McBride led all scorers for Greater Hartford with 21 points followed by Burton (19), Greg Wells (15) and Rick Camilleri (10).

Confidence boost for Washington

NEW YORK (UPI) — There was something totally unique about Sunday's game between the Washington Bullets and the Golden State Warriors.

"This one meant a lot," explained Washington guard Phil Chenier. "Regular season NBA games are slightly less than earth-shattering events under a playoff plan in which a team almost can qualify by merely winning a game a week."

Washington played with the intensity usually saved for playoff games and was in front most of the game, holding a 12-point lead at late as the third quarter.

But it appeared the Warriors would continue their mastery over the Bullets as Golden State blocked a shot, won a jump ball and grabbed a rebound with 43 seconds left.

Phil Smith's basket with 43 seconds left was called "Fis Unshed" as called by the crowd.

Brainard wants to keep town gag rule Coventry

Jesse Brainard, chairman of the Town Council, wrote to all members of the council about the proposed gag rule.

Brainard gave procedures he said should be followed in reconsidering the motion passed by the Town Council at its Jan. 19 meeting.

Brainard would like to see the council restrict the conversations town employees could have with the press on matters before the council.

Robert Olmstead, who had made the original motion, requested it be reconsidered.

In Brainard's letter, he asked the council to first pass a motion to reconsider the resolution to reduce the area of a nonconforming lot by approximately 78 square feet to facilitate highway improvement at 466 Adams Street.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am sorry for SERIOUS IN N.Y., who is considering suing his parents for $100,000 for having him circumcised while he was a helpless infant and unable to fight back. He claims that he was "disfigured," which is hardly valid, because most of us wear sufficient clothing so that no one will know whether we are circumcised or not.

When I was born, 73 years ago, circumcision was not very popular, and I doubt that my parents, who lived on a minister's salary, ever considered it. I fervently wish that they had circumcised me because much of my life I have had trouble.

In the years before men wore clothing, the foreskin provided some protection. Perhaps if muslim came in, circumcision will go out.

RETIRED MINISTER, ASHVILLE, N.C.

DEAR ABBY: As a dull-witted Englishman, the "brotherly love" characterized by the American people who sue each other on the slightest pretext is still beyond my comprehension. I refer to that SERIOUS male moron who circumcised his son while he was an infant. I had to have my child circumcised because much of my life I have had trouble.

DEAR ABBY: I hope that man in N.Y. uses his parents and exorcises the $100,000. I, for one, am opposed to any kind of surgery unless it is absolutely necessary. There is plenty too much chopping up these days, and the one who benefits most of course, is the doctor.

If the good Lord had meant for males to be born without foreskins, He would have made them that way. It is an insult to God to try to improve on His work.

SERVANT OF GOD

DEAR ABBY: Please tell SERIOUS IN N.Y. that here in Jefferson County, Ky., it would be against the law for him to exhibit his "disfigurement" at a public exhibition.

RUSSELL MC DANIEL
CHIEF OF POLICE

DEAR ABBY: The 32-year-old fellow who wants to sue his parents for having circumcised him should have his head examined. I have been circumcised (doctor's orders), and I am over 60! It is embarrassing and not an operation one can boast about in one's old age.

A friend of mine told me that years ago, he and his fraternity brother got liquored up and "circumcised" each other. They ran into a lot of trouble and had to hunt up a urologist for repairs shortly afterwards. The operation one can't boast about in one's old age.

DEAR ABBY: SERIOUS IN N.Y. wants to sue his parents for having him circumcised, thereby "maiming and disfiguring" him. Well then, why not sue parents for having their children vaccinated? That also leaves a scar, doesn't it?

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, Feb. 2, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Renewals will come in small portions today and tomorrow. The leader of success is thought a ring at a time.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) You may have an opportunity today if you put to use something taught to you by a friend. It should work just as well for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In career or financial matters don't be reluctant to bargain. Every little advantage counts.

CANCER (June 21-July 20) If you honor your promises to the letter today you'll gain even greater respect than you already enjoy.

LEO (July 21-Aug. 22) Though you would probably be more generous if roles were reversed, one who'd do you a favor today is being as magnanimous as she can be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may have to make a rational decision today. If you're sure it's best for all, stand by your guns.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Get an early start today. Concentrate on worthwhile projects. One will be accomplished if you put your mind to it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A serious matter has a good chance of being resolved today if discussed in a pleasant atmosphere. Invite the other party to lunch or dinner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't go out prematurely today if you don't go out at first. The final score should please you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Carefully screen propositions today. They could contain advantages for you that don't get noticed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) One who will not do you very much good today. One will be through normal channels, the other from an unexpected area.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) One who will not do you very much good today. Whether it's a young group or an older one, you'll enjoy a good report.

your birthday

Feb. 2, 1976

Projects in which you've invested a great deal of time should bear fruit this coming year. Stir the cream on top before engaging in new ventures.

MACC NEWS

Cops and robbers
Did you know that the Robbers have never been beaten? Wounded? - yes! Beaten? - No! Members of our illustrious holy and sometimes less than agile clergy, have hobbled around in casts and on canes for months after this bruising encounter with "Manchester's finest."

Clergy Week was that whatever our faith, we recognize the many persons, men and women, who have dedicated their lives to the ministering of God's Word.
The week of Feb. 1 provides us with an opportunity to show our clergy our deep and sincere gratitude for the giving of themselves which has so enriched both our personal lives and the lives of our community.

You may choose on your favorite cop or robber or both Sunday at 8 p.m. at Manchester High School. Carrying the banner for the Robbers will be the Rev. Steve Jacobson of St. Mary's, the Rev. Burton Strand and the Rev. David Rinas of Concordia Lutheran, the Rev. Bob Eldridge of South United Methodist, the Rev. Ernie Harris, chaplain at Manchester Memorial Hospital, the Rev. Earle Custer of North United Methodist, the Rev. Ron Fournier and Intern Mike Clark of Emanuel Lutheran.

Sweet hour
Church Women United of Manchester has purchased 10 Christian hymnals for the use of the MACC Division of Special Ministries in its ministry to convalescent homes.

These ecumenical hymnals are printed in large block letters for easier use by the elderly and partially blind. Included in the contents are hymns, orders of worship, prayers and other readings, union readings and a special reading list from the New Testament. The hymns will delight the hearts of many of our convalescent home patients. There are such old-time favorites as "The Strife is O'er," "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "When I Surveyed the Wondrous Cross," "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" and many others. Those who wish to donate some large print hymnals for use in convalescent homes may send $1.50 to Christian Hymnals, Box 773, Manchester, N.H. 03103.

Tickets may be purchased at the door the night of the game, at the MACC office or from any member of the Junior Women's Club. All proceeds are divided equally between the Robbers and the Cops. The Robbers' half of the take will be allocated to the conference to further its works and services.

We are indebted to the Junior Women's Club for providing not only a great evening but needed funds for continuing Manchester services. Please come and bring your neighborhood.

Clergy Week
Another service organization, the Civitan Club of Manchester, will sponsor a luncheon tomorrow to honor Manchester clergy for the special role they play in our community. Civitan International sets aside a week each year as a time to pause and pay tribute to contemporary clergymen of all faiths. The original concept of International

Letters of request sent to the MACC office, even though addressed to me or the board of directors, must be signed in order for the board to take action upon the request. Anonymous letters, no matter how well intended, cannot be acted upon.
