Manchester—A City of Village Charm

FOURTEEN PAGES PRICE: FIFTEEN CENTS

Take a warm prespring day, add a holiday from school, stir in irrepressible youngsters plus the magnet of a playground and its equipment, and you have a fun day for the youngsters. These boys were defying gravity the other day as they played on the first day of the winter school vacation in Manchester.

Nursing home bans visitors

Manchester Manor Nursing and Rest Home is closing its doors effective immediately to all visitors until further notice. Officials at Manchester Manor were forced to make the visiting restriction because the public had not observed the rules that had been posted prohibiting those with any signs of flu-like illness or any respiratory ailment.

Why mothers get gray

In a move to dissipate claims of "confusion" over jurisdictional rights by Manchester's two fire departments, the Eighth District board of directors is proposing cooperation "for the good of the town."

Eighth District directors take initiative

Fire department cooperation sought for good of the town. The 22 calls were for 1 motor vehicle, 1 mutual aid run to Rocky Hill, 3 heating systems, 2 chimneys, 3 dumpsters, 3 water calls, 8 miscellaneous and 1 false alarm.

LITCHFIELD—The defense today began its rebuttal to the state's claim that Peter A. Reilly, 20, should not be granted a new trial for his manslaughter conviction in the slaying of his mother.

CONCORD, Mass. — Damages have been estimated at $1 million from an inmate uprising at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Concord Sunday. Authorities blamed the riot in part to a recent state Supreme Court ruling which affirmed the rights of prisoners to go to the aid of other prisoners if excessive force is used which left the inmates with the impression the guards had no power.

Danuta loves working for elderly

BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter
Danuta Maria Katy of South Windsor is qualified to do most anything she wants to but her first love lies with working with elderly persons.

DANUTA KATY

Works for people
Speaking of her new job, Ms. Katy said she prefers working for rather than with people. She said the job is much more challenging than going through dusty law books.

Voice of Democracy contest winners

Two of the three winners of the Manchester's VFW annual Voice of Democracy essay contest winners, Inara Punga of 333 Kennedy Rd., and Keith Costa of 315 Grissom Rd., check a portion of one of the winning essays with Warren Wilson of Guilford, state VFW commander, after the presentation of awards Saturday night at the VFW Post Home. Leslie Staggar of 30 Forest St., first place winner in the local contest and fourth in the district, was not present when this photo was taken. She received a $25 savings bond. Costa, who placed second, received a $15 gift certificate, and Miss Punga, third place winner, received a $10 gift certificate. All winners received a framed picture of the American flag.

speaks perfect English by any standards. She feels that the elderly people give a lot to her because of their experiences. She said they need attention as some are separated from their families and are so alone. Asked if they have similar programs for the elderly in Poland, Ms. Katy said they do have their own senior citizens clubs and such but they are not separated from society the way they seem to be in this country. She said in Poland it is the usual thing for elderly persons to live with their married sons or daughters and their grandchildren. She said they remain as part of the household and share the duties.

Housing projects for the elderly are non-existent in Poland. "The children would be ashamed if they had to put their mother or father in a convalescent home for other than some drastic situation," Ms. Katy said.

"Children feel a responsibility for taking care of their parents, for the most part," she added. Ms. Katy not only speaks fluent English and Polish but also Russian and the understands Czechoslovakian.

Her responsibilities as coordinator for the aging, are numerous. She supervises all personnel assigned to the department and determines, on a continuing basis, the needs of the older residents.

It is also her duty to not only keep the council informed of the programs but also to keep the elderly residents informed about the services available to them. One of the service projects well under way is the Senior Citizen Transit Association which furnishes transportation for people 60 or older and any handicapped persons 18 or older.

This project services the residents of Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington. Transportation is provided on scheduled routes. Since the project was started last November it has served 83 clients and has a membership of 120.

Ms. Katy is now working on a program to furnish diabetic meals to be delivered to the homes of diabetic persons. She said she is now negotiating with officials of the Community Renewal Team of Greater Hartford, Inc. for preparing meals and sponsoring the program.

She is also working on institution of RSPV but this will require funds and has to go before the advisory board of the council for approval.

This project would enable people over 50 to help others of all ages through volunteer activities in their towns. The main objective of the program is to channel the talents and energies of older people into activities where they can contribute their time, experience, knowledge and interests.

Another program she is looking into is a Senior Job Bank. Ms. Katy said this, too, would need the approval of the advisory board. She said she feels this may be shaky because of the economic situation at this time.

The object of the program is to help supplement incomes of persons 55 or older. The program would match employ skills and abilities with employer requirements.

A program which will probably become a reality is one involving legal services for senior citizens. The plan is to offer free legal assistance to low income senior citizens in the areas of Social Security, welfare, housing, drafting of wills, and medical and health benefits.

Maybe it's because she was brought up in a country where the elderly are greatly respected but whatever the reason, the senior citizens in this tri-town area have a true friend in Ms. Katy.

Hearts and flowers were the theme of the day last Wednesday when 13 children at the Singer Learning Center visited the Mansfield State Training School in Mansfield.

The children in Singer made valentines and flowers which they delivered in person in response to a newspaper article from the training school seeking valentine cards for its residents.

Accompanied by Jack Durkin, director of volunteer services at the training school, the children observed several residents as they made candles. After the tour, each child was allowed to choose a candle to take home.

Betty's Notebook

By Betty Ryder

Well, I didn't make the list again this year.

No, not the CIA's—the list of the 12 best-dressed women. Heading the list is Marisa Berenson, actress and granddaughter of the late Paris designer, Elsa Schiaparelli.

Well, not to sound like sour grapes, but Marisa isn't creating any fashion sensation in the current issue of Vogue.

In it, she models a costume of the 1920s, part of the clothing to be exhibited at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Her "ensemble" purportedly worn by the late Josephine Baker doing the Charleston in Paris, is little more than a spangled brief bra and a G-string bottom with fake bananas strung on nude net.

Now I thought that what was it took to be named the best-dressed list—I might just buy a few bananas and even toss in a few grapefruits and a cluster of grapes.

Seriously, I know it takes more than that. It takes MONEY. I have yet to see someone from the middle-class financial bracket named to the list.

But wouldn't it be nice if they considered the average young woman, the housewife, business woman, college student or top executive, and checked out her ability to create, coordinate, and tastefully wear today's fashions?

I think it would be much more exciting to know how someone who spends just a few hundred dollars a year on her wardrobe selects versatile attire, than to hear about the marvelous selections made by a woman with a yearly clothing expenditure running into the thousands of dollars.

Somehow it seems, with money no object, you couldn't help but look good.

Oh, well, maybe next year.

is breaker one. "I don't even have a child named 'Breaker'."

Then, when they depart the house, they say, "Bye mom, see on the flip flop." I don't even know where the flip flop is. I've learned fast that "breaker" means to interrupt.

Now I've heard the expression "10-4" on just about every police story program on television, but I always thought it meant that the police were responding to an urgent call.

On CB radio, "10-4" means "Do you understand?" And if you hear "Big 10-4" it means you're "acknowledging with enthusiasm."

And when it comes to Smokey the Bear, well, let me tell you that they aren't talking about the bear in the big hat that warns campers about putting out fires.

No way, it really means—highway patrol troopers. Well, I won't give anyone of the CB operators secrets away, but let me tell you this—you won't know the players unless you have the code book.

Eights. That's goodbye. But from an amateur radio 88 means "love and kisses." H'm, there's a lot to be said for amateurs.

Retirement Did you hear about the man who, when asked how he enjoyed his retirement said, "The hours are great, but the pay is lousy?"

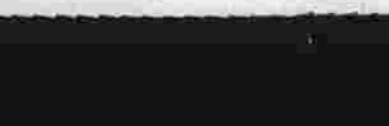

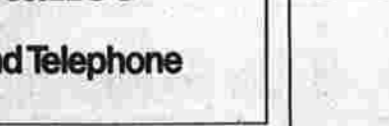

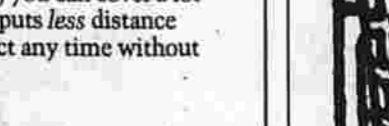

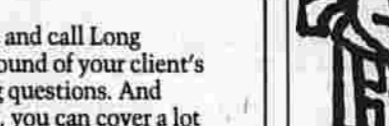

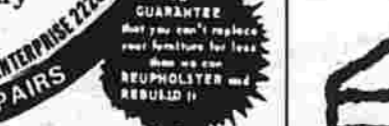

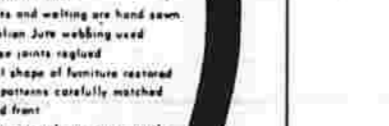

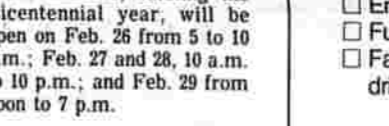

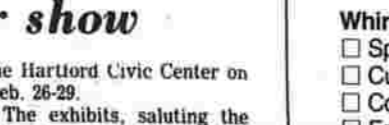

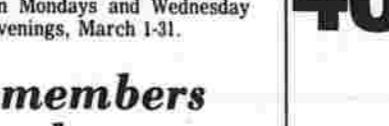

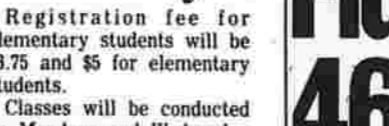

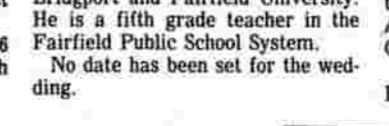

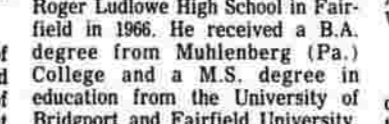

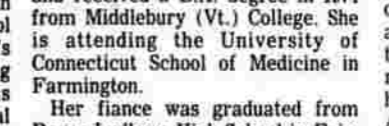

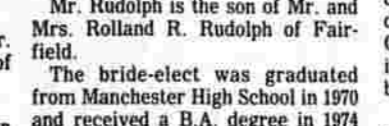

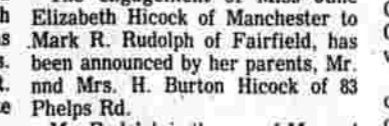

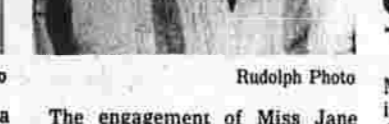

And then there's the one about the girl who was as pure as the windows snow until she drifted.

Sorry. Just a few little gems I thought I'd toss in. I know. You're sorry I did.

Share a recipe If you have an interesting recipe you'd like to share in "Your Neighbor's Kitchen" column, please drop a line or give me a call.

It needn't be exotic. Perhaps you're a favorite one which pleases your family and friends. Or a recipe that has been passed down from generation to generation. Give me a call and we can set up an appointment for an interview and a photograph.

Opinion

Monopoly on public interest challenged

Environmentalists, welfare rightsists, consumer advocates and the like are learning that nobody holds an exclusive patent on "the public interest." More and more of these groups are finding themselves on the defensive end of legal actions.

The list also includes at least one government agency, Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., for example, has filed suit against the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission to prevent the commission from continuing to release "misleading, incomplete, inaccurate and unfair" information relating to the safety of household aluminum wiring.

The company charges that this information has caused numerous local government agencies to ban or propose to ban aluminum wiring and has led contractors to stop buying the product.

Whether this suit is in the public interest as well as that of Kaiser stockholders is for qualified, impartial experts to decide. But it does suggest that companies are no longer as willing as they once were to roll over and play dead to please consumer activists.

A better illustration of this turnabout is a "public interest" law firm in California, the Pacific Legal Foundation, which has scored notable success against environmentalists and others, according to Barron's magazine.

Warnings paid off

Mile for mile, 1975 was the safest for motor vehicle travel in U.S. history — or at least in the 52 years that the National Safety Council has been recording statistics.

The council's preliminary figures for last year show that the death rate dropped to 3.5 fatalities for each 100 million vehicle miles traveled. In 1974, the rate was 3.6.

In terms of total numbers this was a saving of 600 lives in 1975 (45,000 fatalities compared to 46,200 in 1974), even though Americans drove an estimated 25 million more miles in 1975 than in 1974 and there were four million more vehicles on the road.

Single most important factor responsible for this slight but nevertheless welcome reduction in fatalities was lower speeds, says the council. Other factors were less travel on high-risk rural roads, less night driving, a reduction in the average number of occupants per vehicle and an increase in safety belt usage.

"The 1975 traffic reports indicate to us that motorists have changed their way of driving for the better," says council president Vincent Tofany. "There seems to be a new emphasis on safety, and we hope that the emphasis will continue through 1976, with the same life-saving results."

It would be a nice Bicentennial present to ourselves.

Abortion debate getting too nasty

WASHINGTON — It is awful. The debate over the abortion issue is becoming too savage. Fanatics on both sides seem to be trying to discredit their own views by the violence and vituperation that defame their arguments.

As a cocktail party the other night, one woman denounced opponents of abortion as "crazed papists." Retorted another woman, "Maybe, but we're not murderers."

Must this go on in a country that has reason to take pride in its tolerance? In the long run, civility usually wins over bad manners. Adlai Stevenson and Herbert Hoover are remembered by both parties for their grace and politesse under pressure. The boor is always at a disadvantage because his presence is offensive.

In the first place, abortion is not an exclusively religious question. True, the Roman Catholic Church has taken the lead in opposing abortion. But many Catholics disagree vehemently with their bishop, citing human rights they claim were bestowed by their Creator.

Many Protestants are anti-abortion, and not only those of fundamental persuasion. There are Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists and others who argue that man may not meddle with the God-given blessing of conception. There are Protestants and Jews who see abortion as just one more step

OPEN FORUM

Veterans fund raid protested

To the editor,
 Through the generosity of your newspaper, I wish to make the following release to our citizens: Dear Connecticut Taxpayers,
 Every few years it seems a group of people try to raid the State of Connecticut Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' Fund. These individuals or groups have been from both parties and have had many different reasons.

This time, the reason, to offset the anticipated state deficit. The fund would be used to solve the financial problems of Connecticut. Not at all the financial problems would be increased. The reason being very simple, it does not cost the taxpayer one Connecticut one red cent as it is now operated but would become a Budgetary item and would be funded from 25 per cent of the admission tax. The outcome will be up to the Connecticut General Assembly now in session. This same proposal was made by the Special Session of the General Assembly in December. The Bill on proposal was defeated in committee.

The proposal, to finance the S.S.M. Fund from the first 25 per cent of the receipts of the Admissions Tax, but in no instance would the amount be less than 2.5 million dollars. Presently valued at 29.6 million dollars, the trust fund would be eliminated and incorporated in the General Fund to offset the anticipated state deficit. All of the Veterans' organizations in the state, very strongly opposed this proposal because they felt that the present funding process, that is, the interest earnings of a trust fund, set up by Connecticut Veterans for Connecticut Veterans, funded by the General Assembly of 1919, would insure that there would be money available each year to carry on the purposes of the S.S.M. Fund. It also was felt that additional obligations would be passed on to the taxpayer, and possibly the elimination of the

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Brotherhood Week
 This week is Brotherhood Week and for some it is a time to contemplate the differences and similarities of our various faiths. It is a time when some practice and teach tolerance, and although this is a fine endeavor as far as it goes, it is not really what Brotherhood Week is all about.

This should be the time for all of us to recognize the unity of God and His creation. Stemming from that creation is the equality of all peoples. People are not to be tolerated, but rather to be understood and appreciated on an equal basis. Many equate tolerance with understanding, but these two words are worlds apart in meaning. The former is passive. It is an allowance by one of another to exist without necessarily accepting the other as an equal. Understanding, on the other hand, is an active demand. The individual must explore the other's beliefs, not for the purpose of conversion, but rather so that each may appreciate the other's existence.

I believe that the great glory of God is that each of us have found unique ways to approach Him, and that none of us have a monopoly on righteousness or justice or love. When we share our love we not only become closer to one another, but also we become closer to understanding and appreciating God's universality.

MHS coach praised

To the editor,
 I would like to say how saddened I was to read in The Herald that Larry Olsen had resigned from the head football coaching duties at Manchester High. I believe that the loss of Larry Olsen from the coaching staff is indeed a loss to the athletes, as well as the Town of Manchester.

Mr. Olsen is one of the most sincere people that I have ever met. He takes a genuine interest in all his students, as well as, football players. On numerous occasions he has gone out of his way to help my wife and me in any way he could. I am sure that anyone who has played football for him, or been taught by him in the classroom is a better person because of it.

It upsets me quite a bit to think that this newspaper might have had something to do with his resignation. That the malice pen of a "writer" could have caused something as unfortunate as this.

In closing, I would like to thank you, Mr. Olsen, for all you have done for us, and wish you the best of everything in the future.

Sincerely,
 Bob Herdic

CAPE HENLOPEN, Del., Feb. 17 — An eight-ship American Navy under Commodore Hopkins sailed on its first ocean-going voyage under orders to protect American shipping and to destroy enemy warships, blockades, however, headed for the Bahamas in search of gunpowder.

The proposals put forth by Gov. Grasso, if passed by the coming legislature, will put a terrible burden on not only state employees, but all citizens of Connecticut in the low to middle working class. Think about it.

Ex-staterworker gives views

To the editor,
 I am writing this letter as a taxpayer and also as a former state employee.

I was included in the 500 state employee lay-offs ordered by Gov. Ellis. I have been unemployed for 10 months.

There has been many articles in all newspapers, on radio and television condemning the state workers on their refusal to work 40 hours.

Andover group seeks secret ballots

DONNA HOLLAND
646-0375
The Andover Committee For Better Government is petitioning the Board of Selectmen to call a special Town Meeting.

The meeting is to consider an ACFCB resolution which states: "That all votes taken at town meetings be made by paper ballot of eligible voters in attendance."

The committee said, "By passing this ordinance we know that our town meeting form of government will be greatly strengthened because everyone will be heard."

The proposed ordinance was decided upon after many months of discussion and debate among the various committee members. It represents final unanimity of purpose.

The committee listed the following as reasons for its decision: "In a small town, many issues arise wherein close neighbors and friends find themselves on opposite sides of an issue. Many of these people find it embarrassing to state an 'aye' or 'nay' in the presence of friends. A secret ballot could alleviate the problem and secure for the benefit of all townspeople a rigorously precise decision. "There is a group in town which tends to be a solid nucleus of older (in terms of residence) and more politically experienced voters which can pretty much pass items they wish. By a voice vote, critical issues can be railroaded through by a loud minority. Secret, paper ballots will even this score. "In deciding matters of great personal financial interest to townspeople, paper balloting is simply a more reliable way of decision making. "Town employees are virtually forced to support items which concern their departments even when their personal convictions would dictate otherwise. This is because their votes are made in full view and hearing of their supervisors. This is flagrantly unfair and it is only fairness we seek. "Secret balloting is recognized as the common method by most individual voters. It is the most provocative of a sincere vote. The only reason our elected legislative bodies vote openly is for the very practical reason that we must know whether we wish to vote for them again. In our town meetings we are the voters and need only ever answer to ourselves. Therefore, we should and can vote secretly. "While there may be provisions to challenge a person present as to whether he has a legal vote, it is next to impossible to do, especially at a large meeting. With paper ballots, only those entitled would be issued a ballot upon entering the meeting."

The committee will circulate the petition beginning Saturday to obtain the necessary number of signatures. It intends to have the resolution in the form of an ordinance.

Falcon Barry Wilde (23) gets inside position. Eagles' Jon Lindberg (22) stretches for rebound.

Bugged Eagles felled by St. Paul quintet, 60-49

By LEN AUSTER

Herald sports writer

Credit must be given to St. Paul for its well-earned 60-49 upset HCC basketball win over East Catholic last night at the Eagles' Nest.

But to Eagle rosters among the 800 in attendance, it was painfully obvious the local crew was still feeling the effects of a battle with the flu bug. East Coach Stan Ogradnik refused to allow his players to performers just weren't physically sound it was apparent.

The loss coupled by South Catholic's 73-64 win over Northwest last night puts East and Northwest into a second place tie in the conference each at 9-3. South ends up 10-2 at the conclusion of regular season play while St. Paul holds down the fourth rung at 6-6.

These four quintets will be featured in the HCC Playoff which will decide the conference champ. Action begins Thursday afternoon at 5:30 at the University of Hartford with East facing Northwest and at 8:30 South will oppose St. Paul. Two separate admissions will be charged.

Saturday night, the two losers meet at 7 in a consolation tilt and at 8:30 the HCC championship game will be played.

Action started slowly in the first quarter with St. Paul missing numerous shots and East not even getting shots at the hoop, turning the ball over a number of times and 22 turnovers over-all. St. Paul, now 13-7, led 14-11 after the first turn.

East, 16-3 for the season, turned the ball over four out of the first five times it had it in the second canto enabling the visiting Falcons to extend their lead to 20-11. Jon Lindberg broke the string at the 4:54 mark with one of two charity tosses. St. Paul mistimed on its last six shots of the half permitting East to close the gap to 24-21, a margin which East was fortunate to trail by.

The Falcons latched onto 24 rebounds in the first half, 16 of 10 points. When East is healthy, it is not overboarded.

The Eagles closed to within one point in the second half but the steady outside shooting of Kevin Wrenn kept the Falcons comfortably ahead. East was forced out of the final period and St. Paul cashed in for 10 markers from the 15-foot line. East was within three points, 36-33, with 5:43 left but couldn't get any closer.

"This was an extremely disappointing loss," voiced Ogradnik, "St. Paul played very well and we didn't do anything differently than before. This by far was our poorest effort of the year."

"We have had sporadic practices the last few days (because of the flu bug). We were off three days and practice was very minimal when we did. What we're going to have to do is lift ourselves up and be ready Thursday."

Mike Phillip led the St. Paul attack with 16 points followed by Sean Moore (15), Dave Peccevic (11) and Wrenn (10). Guard Pete Thompson had a season-high 16 points for the Eagles with Gary Carlson netting 10. Senior John Lusa reeling from the effects of the flu scored just four points, well under his 18.5 norm.

St. Paul also took the jayvee contest 62-60, to increase its record to 12-4. Don Foss had 18 points and Norm Funk 16 for the 3-13 young Eagles.

UCLA five aims toward tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's easy to tell that tournament time is just around the corner because the UCLA Bruins are beginning to peak.

UCLA, winner of eight of the last nine NCAA basketball championships and nine consecutive Pacific Eight Conference crowns, climbed back into the top five in the United Press International Board of Coaches ratings this week after defeating highly regarded Washington for the second time and increasing its record to 19-5.

The Bruins moved up two places and took over the No. 4 spot as Maryland, fourth a week ago, lost to North Carolina for the second time and tumbled all the way to No. 7.

UCLA and Nevada-Las Vegas made the biggest jumps among the top 10. Nevada-Las Vegas advanced two places to No. 6 after an impressive victory over Centenary that boosted the Rebels' record to 24-1.

Indiana (21-0) continued to hold on to the No. 1 spot, but for the first time since early in the season the Hoosiers were not a unanimous choice. Indiana received 59 first-place votes from the 60 coaches who participated in this week's ratings.

North Carolina spooling a sweep by getting one first-place mention. North Carolina's first-place vote wasn't enough to enable the Tar Heels to move past Marquette for the No. 2 spot, however. The Warriors remained in second place with North Carolina holding third.

Rutgers (21-0), which almost had its perfect record spoiled by Manhattan last Saturday, remained in the No. 5 position with Las Vegas, Maryland, Washington, Tennessee and Notre Dame rounding out the top 10. Washington advanced one place from last week despite its two-point loss to UCLA while Tennessee fell two spots from a week ago after splitting a pair of games.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International Board of Coaches top 20 college basketball teams with first place votes and records in parentheses (records include games played through Saturday, Feb. 14):

Placing five performers in double figures, Charter Oak Conference basketball champ Portland High topped Cheney Tech, 95-60, last night at the Beaver gym.

Portland is unbeaten in 17 COC engagements and 19 games overall while Cheney sports a 1-16 conference ledger and 3-16 aggregate record. The Beavers wind up action Thursday night at home against Bolton High.

Indians close out regular campaign

By LEN AUSTER

Herald sports writer

Closing out the regular aspect to its most successful basketball season in 38 years tonight is Manchester High.

The 1975-76 OCLL champion Indians, 17-3 over-all and victors of their last eight in a row, travel to neighboring East Hartford High for a bout with the Hornets.

In area tilts, 9-10 South Windsor High is in a must win situation at Hartford Public. The Bobcats need a victory to qualify for the State Tournament. Charter Oak Conference play finds 11-3, 18-3 Coventry High at 8-3, 10-8 Bacon Academy, 9-7, 9-9 Rham High at 5-10, 6-11 East Hampton and 9-7, 10-4 Bolton hosting 1-15, 1-17 Rocky Hill High. Ellington, 16-4, visits 3-10, 5-13 Stafford High.

"There couldn't be a better time for Manchester to be playing its finest basketball of the season than now. According to Coach Doug Pearson, that's what his troops are doing. The Silk Towners eight games ago altered their offensive pattern, getting more players involved, and it's worked beautifully.

Sports buff peculiar guy

The sports buff is a peculiar character. For example, a rough and tough visiting hockey player known for his policeman's action on the ice can come into a city, like Hartford, and be the target of boos the minute he steps on the ice. Take this same player and have him change uniforms into that of the home team and he would become an instant hero. Nick Fotiu of the New England Whalers would fit into that category of being a villain on iced ice but a hero at home. Speaking of Fotiu, he'll be at the Elks Club Wednesday night to headline the second annual Sports Night. The big defenseman, still sidelined while a hand injury heals, is still the most popular member of the Whalers. Can spring be closer than one thinks? The first robin of the season was spotted a week ago at one of my bird feeders and neighborhood boys have already produced their baseball equipment and been observed playing catch. Interesting figures are due shortly on the number of ticket stubs the Whalers received from fans good for in return one Whaler jacket. "Every fan who sent in a stub will receive a jacket," Kevin Walsh of the front office said. "We want to restore the confidence of the people and we will have a T-shirt promotion in the near future done right and without any confusion. There will be shirts for all youngsters," he said.

Doug Griffin, of the Boston Red Sox who has asked to be traded to a team where he could play every day, is still with the American League champions as it prepares to start spring training in Winter Haven, Fla., next week. Griffin felt his days with the Red Sox were up when he appeared here on the Masonic Sports Night program last October. He's living in Peabody, Mass. Senior Citizen bowling program at the Parkside Lanes is now in its 14th season and it has grown from 12 to 24 teams with four bowlers on each for a total of 96. The oldest active bowler was the late Pop Chace who noted his 100th birthday by bowling. Currently, there are several seniors in the 90 plus age bracket who roll each week. Parkside Lane Manager Bernie Giovino reports... Good weather on the weekend found Acky Forza opening his golf driving range on Rt. 83 in Ellington for the season.

College basketball roundup

Indiana rolls to another victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — About the only team that might beat Indiana's No. 1 ranked basketball team is Indiana itself.

The chance that youthful Coach Bobby Knight, as intense in practice or at a game as his most inspired players, will let that happen was mighty slim.

The Hoosiers ran their Big Ten season record to 13-0, their Big Ten winning streak to 23 games and their overall winning streak to 53 regular season games Monday night with a 74-71 decision over intrastate rival Purdue.

The game stacked up as the last real test for the Hoosiers, the last stumbling block for them en route to a second straight unbeaten 18-0 season in the Big Ten. Now Indiana will entertain Minnesota, Iowa and Ohio State and travel to Wisconsin and Northwestern to close out the regular season.

Monday, Purdue pulled within one point of the Hoosiers in the final minute but couldn't break up Indiana's spread offense, which the Hoosiers used to stall the final four minutes. Kent Benson, with a blocked shot and two key rebounds in the final minute, stymied Purdue's last chances to win.

Scott May had 20 points for Indiana and Eugene Parker 23 for Purdue, both players winning praise from the team coaches.

"May is a pro shooter," Purdue's Fred Schaus said. "He makes the tough shots even with a good pressure defense on him. Indiana doesn't let you do a lot of things you like to do but that's been the case for the last 52 games."

Since the race for the Big Ten championship appears over, it's left to Michigan, Iowa, Michigan State and Purdue to scrap for a runnerup spot and an at-large NCAA tournament berth, with Michigan, now 10-9, and two games ahead of Purdue, in the best position for the stretch run.

Michigan, ranked 11th, beat Eastern Michigan, 94-76, Monday night. Minnesota gave Wisconsin its 12th straight loss, 98-74, Iowa dropped Northwestern, 81-68, and Illinois ran its Big Ten record to 7-7 with a 91-73 win over Ohio State.

Rich Adams hit a career-high 29 points to lead Illinois, and Mike Thompson had 33 points to strengthen his runnerup berth in the Big Ten individual scoring race.

There was one major upset in other games involving top-ranked clubs as Auburn stunned No. 9 Tennessee, 75-72, in overtime. Elsewhere among the top 10, Marquette (2) downed Tulane, 75-63, Notre Dame (10) whipped Butler, 92-79, Alabama (13) dumped Mississippi, 79-76, and St. John's N.Y. (16) stopped Seton Hall, 68-63.

Eddie Johnson hit a 15-foot jump shot to send the game into overtime and then added three crucial free throws in the last 10 seconds of the extra period to carry Auburn to the upset of Tennessee. All five Auburn starters, led by Gary Redding's 21 points, hit in double figures as Tennessee fell out of first place in the Southeastern Conference. Bernard King had 19 for Tennessee and Ernie Gruinfeld added 17.

'Bad game' for Dr. J

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Julius Erving said it with a perfectly straight face: "I didn't have a very good game. I lost my concentration near the end and it almost cost us the game."

Actually, the New York Nets' superstar "bad game" consisted of 31 points, 13 rebounds and five assists as he led the New York Nets to a 109-99 squeaker over the Kentucky Colonels in the only game played in both pro basketball leagues Monday night.

What distressed "Dr. J" most was his errant pass that Kentucky converted into a three-point play by Artis Gilmore to close the gap to the final one-point margin.

"Okay, that's one bad play, but in the last 18 seconds Dr. J made two super cross-court passes when they were playing laydown to get on their lead," said Kentucky Coach Hubie

Brown, who makes no secret of his awe for Erving's ability.

New York Coach Kevin Loughery paid tribute to his team's "character" in carrying on most of the game without a power-play goal at the hands of Nets held the Colonels to a virtual standoff in rebounding.

Blues down Seals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Red Berenson, the original hero of the St. Louis Blues, was back in the hero's role Monday night against the California Seals. Berenson, who led the Blues into the Stanley Cup finals the first three years the team was in existence, was exiled to Detroit for four seasons. Since his return to St. Louis last season, his contributions to the team have been overshadowed by stars such as Garry Unger and Chuck Leffley.

But against the Seals, Berenson scored two goals, including the winning tally in the third period, for a 4-2 victory. Pierre Plante set up both goals.

In the only other National Hockey League game, Borje Salming scored two goals to lead the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 5-1 romp over the Washington Capitals. Salming's power-play goal at 13:18 of the first period gave Toronto a 1-0 lead and the goal at 7:01 of the second put the Maple Leafs ahead at 2-1. Darryl Sittler, Scott Garland and rookie Claire Alexander added three-period goals for Toronto.

There were no World Hockey Association games played.

She wears coat but not hers

Mrs. Mildred Kozlovich of 122 Sunnybrook Dr. is more than willing to swap a coat and a set of car keys for her own coat which was taken by mistake last Tuesday after an Assentiveness Training session at Manchester Community College.

When Mrs. Kozlovich left the session, she took the last coat which was very similar to hers. Putting her hand into the coat pocket, she found a leather key case, similar to the one she was carrying, except the case was marked with the initials "M.T.S."

Perhaps, someone thinks she has lost her keys, but what she really is losing is Mrs. Kozlovich's coat, and Mrs. Kozlovich would be only too happy to make the exchange.

Crossroads program is oversubscribed

Persons interested in registering for another Parent Awareness program March/April are urged to contact Crossroads and 64 people as soon as possible to avoid another possible early registration closing.

The sessions offer technical drug information and deal with social and psychological factors which lead people to experimentation and abuse.

UMass making certain

BOSTON (UPI) — The University of Massachusetts basketball team is making sure it won't get left out in the cold this year.

The Minutemen, not invited to the ECAC regional tournament last season despite an 18-8 record, have solidified their first-place hold in the latest UPI coaches' poll after three more wins in the past week.

Massachusetts, 15-7, heading into tonight's home game with Vermont, collected eight of 14 first-place votes cast and a total of 64 points.

Providence, 15-6 after a pair of victories last week, kept second place with 55 points. The Friars, who meet Massachusetts Feb. 26 in Springfield, received the other six first-place votes.

Connecticut, 15-7, also won twice last week to move from fourth to third place. The Huskies garnered 38 points.

Holy Cross, with three wins after three straight losses, climbed back to fourth place with 26 points while Rhode Island lost a pair of games and fell from third to fifth with 20 points.

The only other vote-getter was Boston College with four points. Points are awarded on a descending scale with a first-place vote worth five points.
