United Tech promotion

Richard N. James of South Windsor has been appointed director of patents and deputy corporation counsel of United Technologies Corp., Hartford. He will have charge of the firm's corporate section responsible for patent, trademark and copyright matters.

James has been United's assistant director of patents since 1970. He joined Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in 1955 as an experimental engineer and transferred to the corporate patent section in 1964.

James holds an engineering degree from Villanova University and a law degree from the University of Connecticut School of Law.

Industronics Inc. of South Windsor has reported a 10 per cent increase in sales and a record high net income of $128,075 (13 cents per share) for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1975.

Allen E. Caffyn, company president, said the strong upward trend indicates acceleration of sales and profits through the next six months.

Caffyn announced completion of the expansion of the firm's thermoplastic manufacturing department, which had a 31 per cent sales increase in 1975.

Industronics is a major supplier of large industrial heat-treating equipment.

Named assistant cashier

Joan Zawistowski of Driggs Rd., Vernon, has been named assistant cashier of Vernon National Bank. She will continue as manager of the bank's Lafayette Square office.

Mrs. Zawistowski joined the bank in 1966 in the main office bookkeeping department. She later became a teller and head teller, and in 1975 she was appointed a branch manager.

A native of Coventry, she attended Manchester High School, the Morse School of Business and the American Institute of Banking. She is active in Tolland County 4-H events and is associated with several horse organizations.

Cheerman, a Manchester resident for nine years, is opening his own shop after 11 years in the sewing machine business.

Caldor sales increase

Caldor Inc. of Norwalk, the regional discount department store chain, reported record sales of $14,450,000 for February. The figure represented a 30 per cent increase over February 1975 results.

Ford says Reagan would bring back cold war

By LEWIS LORD United Press International

President Ford, responding to Ronald Reagan's claim that detente is a failure, suggested Friday night that his challenger doesn't understand foreign affairs and would lead the nation back to the Cold War.

"Returning to a collision course in a thermoneuclear age can lead to disaster," Ford told a cheering crowd of 10,000 at Peoria, Ill.

Without naming Reagan, Ford said anyone making the foreign policy comments his opponent has made "hasn't been in the ball game."

"They have lots of rhetoric but I don't think they understand the word 'detente,'" Reagan said.

"His new phrase is 'peace through strength.' It seems to be a case of change the name but keep the game — a game we are losing."

Democrats Jimmy Carter and Henry Jackson swapped defense charges in their campaign for Tuesday's Florida primary. Jackson said Carter favors reducing military spending by $15 billion. "That's going to cut the operations of the Navy and Air Force from Jacksonville to Pensacola," Jackson said.

Carter charged Jackson has "deliberately distorted my own views... claiming I would not maintain an adequate defense for our country which is not true."

"The No. 1 priority for any president has got to be to guarantee the security of our country," Carter said. Carter, a Southern Baptist, wore a skull cap as he made his comments at a Jewish school in Miami Beach.

Jackson, in a question-and-answer session at Jacksonville's Bull Snort Club, told one businessman: "George Meany is a great American. I don't give a damn what you think."

Campaigning in fertile corn country for the March 16 Illinois primary, Ford announced he is shifting foreign food sales policies from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger over to Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

This brought cheers from corn and hog farmers in Springfield. Morris Udall, who skipped the Florida contest, told a group of Pennsylvania editors that primaries are a long process calling for stamina and endurance.

C. Elmore Watkins dies at 93

Manchester has lost one of its outstanding citizens, C. Elmore Watkins, 93, died last night.

Mr. Watkins was chairman of the board of Watkins Bros. Inc., a founder of Manchester Memorial Hospital and president emeritus of its board of trustees, and a leader in church, civic and charitable organizations.

In tribute to Mr. Watkins, who helped to create much of Manchester's history, he was named honorary chairman for the town's observance of its 150th anniversary in 1975.

He was Manchester's first sanitary inspector and established the first garbage collection system in this town.

In April 1906, he was recipient of the "M" award for meritorious service to the town, the single highest honor to the Chamber of Commerce can pay to an individual who has made a substantial and outstanding contribution to the community.

During World War I, he was president of the Manchester Chapter of the American Red Cross, which won first prize in a state membership contest as well as many citations from headquarters for efficient work in preparing and furnishing supplies for men in the front lines.

At the close of World War I, Mr. Watkins was the first to suggest a hospital as a proper and fitting memorial to the men and women of Manchester who had served in the war. He was appointed chairman of a fund-raising committee. Later, as chairman of a hospital building committee, he oversaw construction of the original hospital building from its very beginning.

He was the first chairman of its board of trustees, organized the hospital staff, and continued as president until the institution received Class A rating. He resigned in 1928 as president, due to the increasing demands of his business, but was re-elected president in 1942. He served in that post until 1957, and in 1959, he was named president emeritus. He was an active trustee until 1971, when he retired after 51 active years of service to the hospital.

In 1927, Mr. Watkins founded the Verplanck Scholarship Foundation, which honors Fred Verplanck, Manchester's first superintendent of schools, and was an incorporator of both the Manchester Scholarship Foundation and the Manchester Historical Society. In 1927, he was made an honorary life director of the scholarship foundation by its board of directors "in recognition of his distinguished and valued service."

He was the first person to honor. Born in the Watkins Homestead on S. Main St., July 3, 1882, a son of the Hon. Clarence G. and Jennie E. Thrall Watkins, he was a lifelong resident of Manchester. He was educated at the old South School and was a member of the Class of 1900 of South Manchester High School.

During high school days, he was a member of the original High School Male Quartet, consisting of Judge William Ferguson, George Trotter and Bishop Frederick Bartlett. In his senior year, at age 16, he was engaged as bass soloist at South Park Congregational Church of Hartford. He was captain of the high school track team and a member of the football team.

He was director of music of the Camp Bebel Association in Haddam for 60 years.

Through concert engagements, glee club and quartet work, he earned almost enough money to pay his college expenses at Tufts College, where he graduated in 1904. He was soloist while at college, and a member of the Tufts Choir and Glee Club. He was a leader of the glee club for three years.

He also was editor of the Tufts Weekly and editor-in-chief of the Class Annual, and Class Day orator. He was president of the Tower Cross senior honorary society and a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, Sword and Shield and Ivy Societies.

In 1963, Tufts awarded him the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters.

During college vacations, besides being the town's first sanitary inspector, he served on the editorial staff of The Herald.

After graduation, Mr. Watkins organized the Manchester Male Chorus. He gave singing lessons and continued his church and concert work for a few years.

State

NEW HAVEN — U.S. District Court Judge Jon O. Newman has lifted a 17-month injunction barring the state from penalizing welfare cheaters up to 85 per cent of their monthly benefits. He said the penalty furthers a legitimate state fiscal goal.

The policy was challenged because it was alleged welfare parents who were penalized would make up the difference out of money allocated to their children.

HARTFORD — Fourteen construction projects have been recommended for immediate funding by a state task force. The funding required totals $49.6 million and includes building of 1-84 from Hartford to the Rhode Island border.

WASHINGTON — The United States has agreed to eventually hand over to Japan and other foreign countries evidence of bribes given by U.S. corporations to foreign officials.

Regional

AUGUSTA, Maine — Federal grant dollars in Maine have been going further because of the state's quick action in developing water pollution control projects, a Department of Environmental Protection official said Friday. Maine has committed 83 per cent of the $13 million allocated it, EPA said, the greatest of any New England state.

BOSTON — Restaurants and bars in Massachusetts can now advertise their liquor prices on their windows due to regulation changes signed by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

National

SAN FRANCISCO — Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey has accused the prosecution psychiatrist of trying "to fix" the Patricia Hearst case.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has announced the end of his 36-year political career, which included the Northern Ireland Constitutional Convention, a move that may provoke renewed violence in the embattled province.

He also entered the employ of Watkins Bros., which was founded by his father and uncle in 1874. He immediately set to work to carry out a long cherished idea of his father's to publish a house organ. The publication, "Watkins Quarterly," was claimed to be the first house organ to be issued by any furniture store in the country by the "Furniture Age" of Chicago in 1923.

He worked at practically every position in the company finally as vice president, treasurer and president.

Watkins Funeral Home was founded by his father and uncle in 1874, and Mr. Watkins received his embalmer and funeral director's license in 1907. At the time of his death, he was the oldest licensed embalmer and funeral director in the state.

In 1920, Mr. Watkins built the Watkins' Block, site of the present store, which was voted many times as the finest small town furniture store in the United States. He developed an interior decorating department and secured for the firm contracts for furnishing some of the finest public buildings in the state including the Bushnell Memorial Auditorium in Hartford and the Hartford County Courthouse.

He organized and became the first president of the Connecticut Chapter of the American Institute of Decorators.

At the 1940 annual meeting of the National Retail Furniture Association, he received the Cavalier award as one of 11 furniture men in the United States "contributing the most, through the conduct of their business, to the good name of the furniture industry during 1939." In 1944, he was selected again for the "All American Eleven," one of only four at that time ever to be so honored.

He also was a former member of the executive committee of the National Retail Furniture Association.

In 1927, Mr. Watkins developed the first of two important real estate tracts in Manchester, Lake View, and in 1940, the second, Lakewood Circle.

He was a trustee and deacon of the Second Advent Church, New Britain, and for 20 years served as president of the Life and Advent Union, an general organization of which that church is a charter.

He was a charter member of the Manchester Country Club and Kiwanis Club of Manchester. He was a trustee of Tufts College, a past president of the Tufts College Club of Connecticut, a life president of his college class, and a former president of the Alumni Council of Tufts.

He was a director of the Savings Bank of Manchester for 50 years, and Police Friday charged John Franklin, who lives with his mother, with murder and burglary in the fatal stabbing of his neighbor, Leonard Flannery, 54. Flannery was ordered held on $100,000 bond for a court appearance March 12.

Authorities said Flannery awoke at 6:30 a.m. to the sound of breaking glass at his home and when he went to investigate was stabbed several times with a foot-long knife.

Sabbath. He said the fine was $50 for participants and $1 for spectators.

Off-duty firemen and policemen joined union teachers in creating traffic jams at key downtown intersections. Uniformed policemen exchanged jokes with the drivers about their "car trouble."

Emergency vehicles were forwarded of the protest. One ambulance company owner said two of his crews went to the downtown area during the thick of the protest and took only a minute longer than usual to reach the destination.

School officials say they will dock teachers pay unless they can provide medical excuses for missing class Friday.

One of Mrs. Grasso's budget-balancing plans, liquidation of the $29 million Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Fund, was rejected by lawmakers last December and it doesn't seem to have gathered much support since then.

Senate President Pro Tem Joseph Failloux, like many other lawmakers, said he couldn't gauge the drop's potential impact on the Grasso budgets until he learned what specific financial practices Moody's found objectionable.

"If the objections are related to the governor's budget, then maybe we'll have to take another look," said the Hartford Democrat.

Winter makes a harsh return

Manchester week in review

After weeks without snow and days with record-setting high temperatures, Manchester was beset with freezing rain, sleet and plunging temperatures which created hazardous driving conditions and closed schools Wednesday.

Commercial banks serving townpeople, including the Manchester State Bank, also announced plans to offer the NOW (Negotiable Order of Withdrawal) accounts, but their plans weren't as heavily advertised nor as attractive as those of the thrift institutions.

The Board of Directors Tuesday expressed support for Kenneth Burkamp's proposed Manchester Mall at 81-821 Main St. and instructed the town council to work out a land-use agreement for a Parcel PI strip of land needed by Burkamp for a new entrance.

Other business news this week, there was a grand opening of a new business. Aaron Oberman opened the Manchester Sewing Machine Center at 249 Broad St. on Monday.

Building in town

The Town Building Committee this week discussed with the building contractor some final details on the renovation work that has been done on the Bennet and Lilling schools. The contractor $195,000 of the money they have been retaining to guarantee completion. Some details still have to be worked out.

The committee is waiting for the weather to stay warm for a while so that it can tell the contractor for the Buckland firehouse to resume work which was interrupted with the first big snowfall.

Dems vote Morianos chairman

Bolton
DONNA HOLLAND
John Morianos was chosen by the Democratic Town Committee as its chairman. He will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Maureen Houle.

Morianos will remain chairman until April. In March the newly elected members of the DTC will be seated. They will choose their officers for a two year term at their April meeting. At the last meeting of the DTC the resignation of Richard Barry as vice-chairman was accepted. The group heard a report by Aloysius Ahearn concerning the work of the current session of the legislature. Ahearn is the state representative for the 55th District.

A report was given by Leon Rivers, selectman concerning the work of the selectmen on a town dump. Rivers said the selectmen are still checking sites. At its next meeting March 19 the DTC will hear guest speakers for presidential candidates.

Mayor to fight court fund block

East Hartford
At Tuesday night's council meeting, Mayor Richard Blackstone received unanimous council approval for a $10,000 transfer of funds. The mayor requested the transfer to the corporation counsel's account in order to hire an attorney to assist Atty. Timothy McNamara, appeal the decision blocking community development funds.

The funds totaling $40,000 from HUD were blocked by a suit against East Hartford and other suburbs because the City of Hartford objected to development plans. U.S. Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal said East Hartford's application did not meet low cost housing needs.

NORWICH — The Connecticut Commission on the

and his estate is being probated. The 20-month-old Lindbergh child was kidnapped March 1, 1932, from his parents' home in the N. Yarmouth, Maine town of the village where the family lived. Both certificates list Kerwin's date of birth as Feb. 27, 1932, but the one in N. Yarmouth originally misspelled the name as "Kerwin." N. Yarmouth Town Clerk Norman L. Smith told UPI Kerwin had the certificate changed "to agree with the original" about two years ago.

That date would make Kenneth three days old when the Lindbergh baby was taken," Mrs. Pinto said. "Do you mean to tell me Mr. Lindbergh or a medical examiner couldn't tell the difference between a three-day-old baby and a 22-month-old baby?" Kerwin's lawyer has his own theory about the two birth certificates. "I mean, I don't know, was somebody going around town trying to come with some birth certificates real quickly and in their zealotness overdid it?" Smith said it is customary to file certificates in the town of birth and the town of residence.

News for senior citizens

By Wally Fortin
Hi, I guess it was a short spring and old man winter doesn't want to give up just yet. Only good thing about now is that it shouldn't last too long.

Things here at the center keep rolling along, and our big problem at this time is our bus driver, Jim. He bumped into the flu and we are not even sure he can be available for Monday. So, if you happen to be waiting and the bus doesn't come by its usual time, Jim will still be out and therefore no bus. We can't get that message to you because at this time we don't know if he will be better over the weekend.

On Monday night's About Town news we will be telling you what the rest of the week will be. First thing to talk about is that tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 we will have our Variety Show rehearsal. Only those in the chorus need to attend.

Tuesday was Senior Bowling Day and we didn't get the results on time to print them, so you will have to wait until Wednesday's column. Wednesday was, of course, the day old man winter dropped the bus and we canceled all activities.

Meetings next week
Here's next week's schedule of public meetings in Manchester (locations are in Municipal Building, 41 Center St., unless noted):
Monday: 7:30 p.m.—Conservation Commission, Coffee Room.
7:30 p.m.—Permanent Memorial Day Committee, Hearing Room.
8 p.m.—Board of Education, Board Room, 45 N. School St.

MCC will show film
"A Lata Continua" (The Struggle Continues) is the second film to be shown as part of a series of films on culture and revolution being sponsored by the Manchester Women's Center. It will be shown free at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium on the main campus of Manchester Community College. Produced in 1971, the film is a historical documentary about the struggle for national liberation that took place in Mozambique. Views of Portuguese colonialism are presented as well as examples of methods used by the Mozambique Liberation Movement (Frelimo) to change social, health, and educational services for the people under their control.

Heart course offered
A course in the principles and techniques of work diaphragmatic resuscitation will be offered by the community services division of Manchester Community College in cooperation with the American Red Cross Association of Greater Hartford. There will be two sections. The first will meet Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in the auditorium of the main campus. The second will meet Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in the lounge of the student center. Instructors are members of the Emergency Accident Simulation Team, a 12-man team of medical and paramedical services for the people under their control.

Tickets for show
Speaking of tickets, we suggest you pick up yours for the Variety Show which will be held on April 2 and 3. In this way you can avoid the long lines at the door. Because this show is one of our ways of making money to do things here at the Senior Center, we hope you will purchase a couple of tickets to help us along.

Next Thursday for our Fun Day we have a special treat in store for you, especially for the men. Miss Manchester, Lee Scott, and Miss Connecticut, Mary Cadorette, will be here to answer any questions on the Miss Manchester Pageant. Richard Lawrence will show us slides of the previous pageants.

In the busyness of this day when members of the family are all going in different directions, there can be a happy experience of going to your religious services together. Plan for it tonight; don't get up in the last minute, lay out your Sunday clothing now, and thank the Lord you are able to get up and go. A religious experience together will have lasting memories. We thank you Lord, for our sense of responsibility to each other. May we show love and kindness to others, especially those in our family. Amen. Gloria Kjellson, President, Church Women United

Operation Rice Bowl meals

Those wishing to participate in Operation Rice Bowl to benefit World Hunger will eat a meal costing less than $2 to serve a family of six each Wednesday during Lent or Passover. A hunger meal is one-half of the suggested main dish and a glass of milk or a hot drink with sugar, a starvation meal is one-third cup of rice with a cup of hot or cold water. Wednesday prayer: Forgive us, Father, for making our own lives comfortable while others suffer hunger and want. Bless the little which we are doing, help and multiply it, in your mercy, to serve the needs of those unknown to us, but known and loved by you. May they, in their own way, give thanks to you, as we do, for all Your love and care, Amen.

The Bible Speaks
In 1975 divorce in the U.S. topped the million mark for the first time. This devastating social blight is shrugged off by many as little consequence. They argue that it reflects the greater ease of obtaining divorce, which in turn merely opened the way for the termination of already unhappy marriages.

Pressing and speedy Lee ousts Indians, 66-58

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
Pressing, quick Lee High of New Haven utilized its speed to full advantage to eliminate Manchester's High, 66-58, in last night's Class LL Division quarterfinal round bout at Crosby High in Waterbury.

The end!

Score at half: Lee 29-27

Lee's very, very proud of his team. I couldn't be prouder even if we won," stated Manchester Coach Doug Pearson. "At times we got hurt off the boards but the break thru the most. (Sly) Williams dominated the boards and we didn't get back on defense as he was going up for the rebounds.

No. 1 Ashe plays that way

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor
Without any trace of bragging, just talking factual, Arthur Ashe, the No. 1 professional tennis player in the world, proved that last night when he demolished Australia's John Newcombe in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, at the Hartford Civic Center.

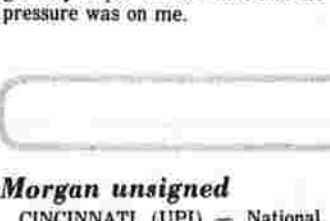

"Ashe is on a hot streak and it's up to his opponent to keep the pressure on," said Newcombe. "I'm looking forward to playing Conors, if he's not come up too stiff."

With 10,000 fans looking on, Ashe gave the United States a 2-0 lead in the best of seven Aetna World Cup matches. Australia came back to post its first win when Tom Roche and Newcombe outlasted John Smith and Bob Lutz of the USA, 3-6, 7-5. Today's singles matches listed Jimmy Connors of the USA against Newcombe and Ashe will go against Roche. The game also should feature a good amount of long distance shooting from the Friars' Joey Hasset and the Huskies' Joe Whelton. Hasset, Providence's leading scorer, has had shooting problems the past few weeks while Whelton peaked Thursday against Massachusetts with 17 points — including an 18-footer with three seconds left which won the game.

Ellington High in semifinals

Moving into the Class M Division semifinals last night was sixth-ranked Ellington High, 59-58, in win over Stamford Catholic at Hammond High.

Bruce Ballard shoots Over Lee's Ken Woodston. The game also should feature a good amount of long distance shooting from the Friars' Joey Hasset and the Huskies' Joe Whelton.

Thomas doubtful with UConn five

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — John Thomas has been floored by the flu and was a doubtful starter for Connecticut in today's regional basketball championship game against Providence.

The game also should feature a good amount of long distance shooting from the Friars' Joey Hasset and the Huskies' Joe Whelton. Hasset, Providence's leading scorer, has had shooting problems the past few weeks while Whelton peaked Thursday against Massachusetts with 17 points — including an 18-footer with three seconds left which won the game.

Victorious Celtics not impressive

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, who defeated the New Orleans Jazz 98-93 Friday night despite the loss of John Havlicek, were nonetheless displeased with the game.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren DEAR ABBY: Lately you have had letters in your column about fathers sexually molesting their growing daughters. This is a tragic problem, and I agree that by reading about it in your column, some children may be alerted to this danger and encouraged to report it to their mothers or other responsible adults.

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding for over a year with a man who was a Catholic priest for nearly 20 years. We have met three times within the last year, and he has asked me to marry him. I think I am in love with him, but I have a serious doubt about how such a marriage would work out. Would a man who has lived under strict discipline for 20 years have a difficult time adjusting to married life? I am 24 and have never been married. Perhaps someone who has married a former Catholic priest could give me some advice.

DEAR ABBY: I was assaulted in a parking lot elevator by a man who appeared to be about 30. I believe his intentions were to rape me, but I fought him off and screaming loudly. I'm sure my screams are what scared him and he ran. I went immediately to the police station and reported the incident. Abby, please tell women that if threatened with rape or assault, they should fight and scream with all their might unless they believe their lives are threatened. No matter how shock and embarrassed they are, if they do not report the incident at once, the attacker is free to do what he pleases. My husband was marvelous. He was proud of me for fighting the man off and then going directly to the police. Let's get those creeps off the streets and into hospitals or, if necessary, prisons where they can be restrained.

DEAR ATTACKED: Thanks for your helpful first-hand advice. Women, are you listening?

DEAR DEBATING: So much depends upon the individual that I doubt the experience of one for 100 women would be helpful to you. The best advice I can give you is to bid your time and marry no man until your heart and your head are satisfied.

High School World

VOL. XXXIII No. 19

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1976

Nations contrasted

During the second World War, Frederick A. Edwards of 318 E. Middle Tpke., was in England in the Air Force, during which time he met my grandparents and family. When the war was over, he returned to the U.S. and kept in touch with my family for about five years.

One Saturday in September 1974 I learned that we would have company (the company being Mr. and Mrs. Edwards). While they were visiting, they very loudly asked me if I would like to spend a year with them. It was a big decision, but I feel in many ways that I made the right one.

I haven't regretted a single moment.

On June 29 at 2 p.m., my seven-hour flight came to a close. My port of entry was Logan International, Boston, and having spent an hour getting through customs and finding my family, I realized that my first year in the states had begun.

The first thing I noticed were the king-sized cars, in fact, almost everything I saw was a king-sized duplicate of things back home. I don't think of it like that anymore, but have a hard time imagining the miniature duplicates I will soon face in May or June of this year.

I was also quick to notice the teenagers' desire for a license. In England, you cannot think about driving until you are 17 years old, and most people don't until they are around 19 years old. If we want to travel, we use the public transport at our convenience, or we walk. Most families have at least one or two cars between them — here, most families have at least two or three cars between them!

One thing never ceases to amaze me — lack of communication! Although we are both English spoken, I still misinterpret an occasional sentence. On the day of my arrival, I met a couple of real nice friends. At the point of departure I said (as I normally did) "Cherio." Back came a casual reply of "Froot Loops." I smiled, but in the back of my mind I knew I must have misunderstood, putting the blame on the accent, until they explained to me about Kellogg's cereals.

During the summer months I visited the White Mountains. In one of the restaurants I ordered chips; about 5 minutes later, the waiter presented me with a bag of potato chips! I did, of course, mean French fries (we call potato chips — Crisps).

The first day of school was very frightening, and found that when I asked a couple of other students where certain rooms were, they replied in an English accent — not realizing mine was for real. I find the school system so different here. In England, we have to consider a career when we are 14 years old (nothing you say is held against you in later years), and choose six subjects that will help you learn and get your chosen career. I chose needlework, geography, biology, typing, humanities, and French.

It is compulsory to take English, math, physical education and P.R. (personal relations). We take these courses for a period of two years. When we are 16, we take a set of examinations, the number according to the specific subject. These exams are called 'O' Levels, and last between two to five hours, again, depending on the subject. For French, I had an oral exam, lasting about 20 minutes, and two theory exams, each lasting about two hours. Whereas my geography consisted of two theory exams lasting 2½ hours each.

Your future depends deeply on the 'O' Levels. It's like buying a job. If you want an ice cream that costs 15 cents, and you only have a dime, then you can't buy it. If you want to be a lawyer, and the requirement is four 'O' Levels in certain subjects, but haven't had them, then you have to re-sit them. When you are 16, you can go in three directions — leave school before the 'O' Levels start (in which case, you would have no qualifications), leave after the exams and go to college, or stay at school for another two years and study 'A' Levels, which works on a similar basis as 'O', but they're more advanced.

I would like to take advantage of "my space" in High School World to thank Mr. and Mrs. Edward for putting up with me and also for giving me one of the best years in my life, also, to Kevin, who has been a real nice brother to me, and whom I'll miss very much when we depart. Thanks! — Jayne Monk

MEA Fair is coming

The Manchester Education Association (MEA) will be holding a fair on Saturday, March 13 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. in the MHS cafeteria. The purpose of this fair is to raise money for the Manchester Scholarship Foundation which determines who will receive the scholarships. Last year $400 and several other scholarships were distributed to Manchester students.

Booths at the fair will include a white elephant booth, booths for jewelry, plants, candy, books, records, baked goods, and many others. A featured sale item will be a Bicentennial afghan made by Linda Duncan. All proceeds will become student scholarships.

HSW poll results

In January the High School World conducted a poll. We sent out questionnaires (2,000 plus) to all homerooms. There were 1,490 questionnaires returned.

The questionnaire consisted of three questions: 1. How often do you read the High School World? 2. What part of the page do you find most interesting? and 3. Do you have any suggestions or ideas for articles?

Out of the total 1,490 questionnaires received, 65.4 per cent read the HSW and 34.6 per cent never read it. From the 65.4 per cent who read the HSW, 22.9 per cent always read it, 23.4 per cent often read it, and 19.1 per cent seldom read it.

The second question was interpreted in two ways. Some understood it as the HSW paper and others took it as The Herald.

There were 679 who stated what they found most interesting. The following are some of the interesting parts: 45.8 per cent for profiles, 29.2 per cent for sports, and 6.7 per cent for rock reviews.

The 148 who answered the question in regard to The Herald favored the sports page 24.3 per cent, comics 18.9

per cent, police log and Dear Abby 16.9 per cent.

Of those students who answered as never having read the HSW, 5.8 per cent stated they have never seen or heard of the paper. 1.9 per cent knew of the paper but don't receive The Herald.

The third question received suggestions for more sports coverage (boys' and girls'), more candid, cartoons, poetry, editorials, more on the music world, and more on the school.

Ideas for new articles included: A calendar of upcoming events, creative writing, i.e. short stories, essays and poems, profiles on more "average" students, opinion polls, a weekly comic strip, contests, a "Dear Abby" column, the lunch menu, and jobs available for high school students.

The above suggestions will be helpful to present and future editors of the High School World. If you have any suggestions or comments for the HSW, leave them in the HSW envelope in the student office, Room 156, or in Mr. Vaughan's mailbox.

Midyear grads plan future

In mid-January, the 88 early graduates of MHS completed a questionnaire concerning their post high school plans. The results were as follows: Have full-time jobs, 20 per cent.

Plan to further their education during the second semester, 8 per cent.

Plan to enter the Armed Services in the very near future, 3 per cent.

Plan to further their education in September and to work in the interim, 15 per cent.

Looking for full-time jobs, 30 per cent.

Undecided about their plans, 24 per cent.

When asked the reason for choosing midyear graduation they replied as follows:

To get a head start in finding a job and earning money, 20 per cent.

To get out of school, 20 per cent.

To earn money for education or the future, 11 per cent.

To make up lost credit in previous years, 4 per cent.

To take time off before college, 4 per cent.

To begin further education as soon as possible, 7 per cent.

Travel, marriage, health, time to relax, putting husband through college, etc., 5 per cent.

No reply, 29 per cent.

The remainder of the seniors who will graduate in June will answer a similar questionnaire.

Rock review: Patti Smith

Patti Smith is a newcomer to the rock world, but already she has been compared to such greats as Janis Joplin and Mick Jagger. Smith is a protege of Bob Dylan and frankly, Dylan could have found a more worthy protege in the likes of a sixth grade glee club.

Smith's first album, Horses, can be described only as mediocre. Her voice ranges from a hoarse soprano to a rasping chant, and her lyrics are vague, sometimes abundant with imagery. She weaves tales of violence and stallions, a few rather provocative. Basically the music is a variation on a single melody, with some exceptions. "Gloria" and "Birdland" are strikingly similar, and the latter is dragged-out nine minutes long. The same goes for "Land," which is almost ten minutes and a meaningless jumble of three different tunes, the first being the title track. "Horses" isn't all that bad, yet Smith chooses to continue into the two later numbers which are a total waste of time since they consist mainly of a monotonous chant.

Nevertheless, there are a few songs that are worth listening to. Smith includes one rocker on her L.P., "Free Money," with a catchy beat and excellent backup. "Elegie" is an intriguing song that proves Smith's voice has some potential, and for reggae fans, there's "Redondo Beach."

Patti Smith's music is in definite need of improvement, and unless she somehow changes her style, she will most likely slip into oblivion, never to be heard from again. Kathy Shirer

Guidance notes

Representatives visiting MHS during the week of March 8 through March 12 will be Unity College, Unity, Maine, Monday, March 8, noon; Connecticut Business Institute, Bridgeport, Tuesday, March 9, 9:45 a.m.; Lassel Junior College, Newton, Mass., Thursday, March 11 at 11:30 a.m.

Upcoming tests will be the ACT, April 10, March 15. The late deadline for the SAT's in April will be March 12 — additional late fee of $4 must be included with their registration.

The Knights of Columbus has announced an essay contest with the following winners: first, $100 savings bond, second, $50 savings bond, third, $25 savings bond. Essays are limited to a maximum of 250 words and must follow the theme "Make A Wish For America." Deadline is March 15. For further details, see Mrs. Hickey in the Guidance Office, Room 107.

The American Legion Auxiliary is awarding five memorial scholarships of $400 each (deadline: March 23); 10 National President's Scholarships two in each area, in the amounts of $1,500 and $1,000 (deadline, March 9). Application forms and further information is available in the Guidance Office.

Sophomores and Juniors and their parents are encouraged to attend the College Fair next Tuesday evening or Wednesday at the Hartford Civic Center. College representatives from over 300 four-year, two-year, and technical/vocational schools will be on hand to discuss their offerings and admission requirements. Students who wish to attend on Wednesday must make prior arrangements and have parental approval. Students who plan to attend the Tuesday evening should arrive early since there is a Celtics game in the Coliseum and parking may be difficult. A list of the participating colleges is available from the counselors or on the Guidance Bulletin board.

The latest issue of Career World highlights environmental careers such as pollution prevention and control, disease prevention, environmental planning and resource control. Copies may be borrowed from the Career Planning Center.

New Haven Airways will present a program on the general aviation business on March 11 during third period. It will cover the training and job descriptions for areas such as pilots, mechanics, dispatchers, technicians, air traffic controllers, radio technicians, etc. in the aviation field. Interested students should sign up in Room 110 and get a pass if necessary.

Model U.N. conducted

Last Saturday, Feb. 28, 12 members of Manchester High's Current Affairs Club attended a model United Nations Assembly at the American School for the Deaf in West Hartford under the sponsorship of the World Affairs Center of Hartford.

Manchester High was assigned Denmark, the Philippines and Romania. Then, each delegation broke down to attend the three committee meetings. These committees, political, economical, and social, dealt with resolutions which would be brought up before the General Assembly that afternoon.

Representing the individual countries: Denmark — Paul Maidment (political), Chuck Obuchowski (economic), and Wayne Kuehl (social); the Philippines — Becky Timbrell (political), and Doug Baker (economic); Romania — Stuart Flavell (political), Claire Garman (economic), and Micky Simon (social). MHS's own Keith Costa served as the vice president of the General Assembly.

The committee meetings were highlighted by a hostile floor battle in the political committee. The battle was brought on by a clash between the Israel (Conard-West Hartford), U.S. (Simsbury) bloc, and the Arab and Third World nations. While the other committees approved most of their resolutions, the political committee had to struggle to approve one.

In the afternoon, the General Assembly convened. A compromise measure, co-authored by Ireland (Penny-East Hartford) was brought up on the floor and was passed over the objection of the U.S. and Israel. This resolution asked the Security Council to remove the veto power and remake the council into a more responsive body for all nations.

Closer look at Greta Rourke

Mrs. Greta (Gree-ta) Rourke is a home economics teacher at Manchester High. When I held an interview with her, she came across as a warm, easy-going woman with a very optimistic outlook on life. Much of this was evident to me even before I had the pleasure of talking personally with her, as I am her student in the child development course.

Mrs. Rourke has been teaching in Manchester for 18 years. She attended the University of Illinois, where she received a B.S. degree in home economics education. At this time, "the war came along, and there was a desperate need for engineers." So Mrs. Rourke worked in the engineering department at Pratt and Whitney for about four years. She was then married and raised her family. She is now the mother of one girl and a set of twin boys.

She began teaching at MHS in 1958, and at the same time, began work on her master's degree in home economics education, which she completed in about five years. Mrs. Rourke was made head of the home economic department in 1966, and now teaches only child development.

When asked why she chose the study of children as her work, she replied, "I think people are the most important things in the world. Also, I enjoyed raising my own family so very much that I decided that this was the type of work I'd like to be involved in."

In addition, Mrs. Rourke strongly believes that parents should be well educated in handling their children, "just as plumbers should know about pipes or electricians about wiring." Mrs. Rourke's teaching methods are, as she describes them, "honest and straightforward." She has been known to raise many eyebrows and turn many faces a bright shade of red with her instruction on the topics of human sexuality, adolescence, birth control, etc. One of the first things she does when she greets new students is to give them construction paper and crayons and have them make name tags. This, she says, establishes a rapport among students which is a vital part of the learning process.

Ever look out a classroom window into the quadrangle and see a bunch of little kids running around? They're Mrs. Rourke's 15 little charges who come in from 9 to 12 to attend what is called "playschool." Their ages range from three to five years; many of them are the children of former students in Mrs. Rourke's classes. She calls them her "audio-visual aids" — real people with whom the students are able to deal. She is careful to point out that the students in her classes do not teach the children per se, but "the kids learn through games and things like that."

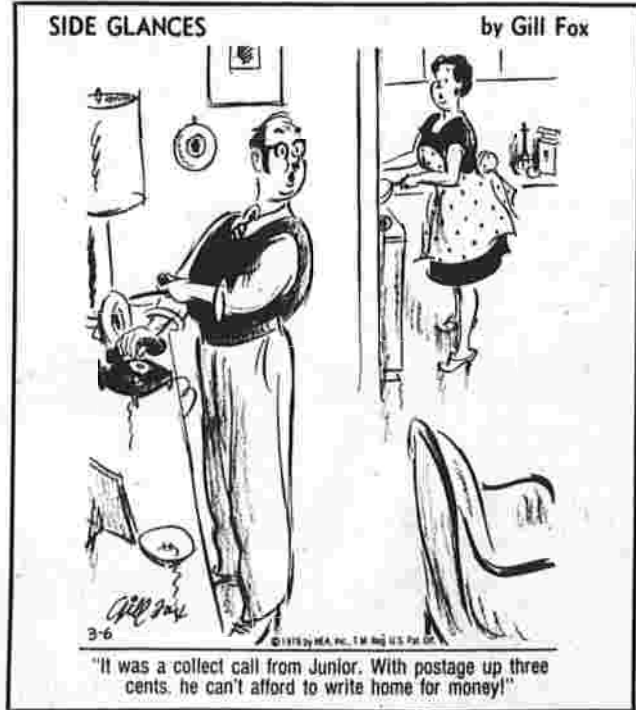

Mrs. Rourke herself presented the state with the playschool program. The state then bought the equipment presently located in the quadrangle. Open campus is a very vital part of our school system, according to Mrs. Rourke. She points out that instead of giving students more liberties as they get older, our education system actually ties them down more as they advance. She feels that open campus "provides students with the break from the routine, regimented type setup to keep them from blowing up completely." She can't really see any disadvantage in the open campus.

Mrs. Rourke was made department head in 1966. Her duties include taking care of the department's budget, and coordinating the schedules of the six-member staff. She is proud of the home economics department; it has been in existence since the school was built. Boys were first permitted to enroll in home economics courses in 1962. Mrs. Rourke points out that there are 1,300 students enrolled in home economics courses at this time, approximately 40 per cent of whom are boys. She has been asked to speak about the problems of enrolling boys to schools which have just begun such programs.

Residents in a house on the sunny shores of Coventry Lake the whole year round, Mrs. Rourke and her husband are active participants in all type of water sports. She ruefully explains that her husband bought her a new canoe late last spring; she was all set to try it out when on the very day it arrived, her right hand was badly crushed in an accident with the freight elevator at school. She is still unable to use the hand with any degree of proficiency. She also has two Westhighland terriers, but her favorite pastime, she says with a proud smile, is being with her two grandsons.

Obviously, people are Mrs. Rourke's biggest concern. Being one of the nicest, most amiable people one could ever meet, she is certainly in a fine position to deal with her favorite subject. — Russ Wilson

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Could you please help settle an argument in our home. My husband says Teresa Brewer and Molly Bee are one and the same. I say they are two completely different people. Who is correct? MRS. D. BAKER, Troy, Ohio
You win. Teresa and Molly are two different ladies.

DEAR DICK: On The Six Million Dollar Man, they made the Bionic Woman. Do you have any idea if they're going to marry on a future episode? ALICIA SLOAN, Pendleton, Ore.
Probably not. At least, that's not in the works at the moment. Why kill the goose that laid the golden ratings?

DEAR DICK: Our family enjoys watching Hawaii Five-O, Barnaby Jones, The Streets of San Francisco and Harry O. Some of these are shown on the same day at the same time. How can we watch all of them? Don't tell us to get two TV sets; we have two TV sets and tried to watch two shows at the same time but, as the saying goes, no can do. HARRY H. GARDNER, Joplin, Mo.
You have a major problem. If you want to spend $1,000 or so, you can get a video tape recorder, but that seems like a high price to pay to watch Barnaby Jones. Otherwise, you'll just have to watch one during the regular season, the other during re-run time.

DEAR DICK: I am writing you to ask how old is John Travolta — Barbarino on Welcome Back, Kotter. LETITIA DEATHERAGE, Bacliff, Tex.
Travolta, a rising star is 21. You might like to know that he just signed to co-star, with Sissy Spacek and Piper Laurie, in Brian DePalma's new film, "Carrie."

DEAR DICK: I've tried everywhere for the time, day and channel for Mobile One. I can't find it. Has the series been dropped? GINA BARRROGA, French Camp, Ca.
Yes.

DEAR DICK: How is Big Bird, of Sesame Street, operated? I've noticed he can move his hands and beak simultaneously, and I know there's only one person inside. EDMUND IRVING, Summerville, P.E.I., Can.

Fugio cent: A good example of old copper

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

Here is the first coin authorized by the United States government — a Fugio cent, 1787. The Mint wasn't ready yet, so it was struck by a private contractor at New-Haven, Connecticut (as it was spelled back then).

Stamps and coins

The total production came to nearly 400,000 in several varieties. The coin pictured here would sell today for about $50. Being of soft unalloyed copper, it shows a bit of respectable wear — perhaps from jostling in the purse of Dr. Franklin himself? He had suggested the design.

The word "Fugio," together with the sun shining its rays down upon a sundial (worn off here), means that time flies — tempus fugit — and so exhorts citizens of the new country to get with it and produce. And the "Mind Your Business" at the bottom is not meant to say "Watch it, Buster!" as now, but is rather a plea for diligence in one's calling.

The reverse has a chain of 13 links. (This motif was carried over to the first strikings of the 1793 cent, then was abandoned in favor of a wreath). Inside the chain there is a flat circlet, badly worn, that says "States United" within this you can just make out the words "We are one." The Indian head cent is there to indicate the size.

The book "Penny Whimsy" speaks lovingly of the intrinsic beauty of old copper. This coin is a good example. It was loaned by Sheldon Adler of the Su-Deb Coin Co. on Main St.

Going out and went

Locally the new 50-flag stamp sheet is going, or went, like hotcakes. It is a handsome and timely get-up and the APS might as well recant on their black blot for this one. It should be in demand for a long time. After the flurry of first-days is over, one can foresee no end of fun and games in penpalling to get each stamp used on a letter — perhaps mailed from every state.

There was, of course, some mutual sobbing on shoulders at the MPS clubroom: "The plate block has got to be the whole darned thing!"

No cake batter

If you want to widen your philatelic scope but can't face up to the crowding at the Interphil '76, how about a guided tour of H.E. Harris in Boston? (The world's largest stamp dealership). They are celebrating their 60th anniversary and have posted a welcome (write first).

They have 400 full-time employees dealing in world-wide stamps, albums, supplies, and even foreign bank-notes. They sold out to General Mills in 1973 but so far no great changes — no cake batter on approval.

A good derby

It was Stamp Derby night at the recent meeting of the Manchester Philatelic Society. Tom Jay, membership chairman, had a display of all the USPS 1975 issues to consider — some we had forgotten about. We voted for the Best, Worst, and Least Necessary. It was a good chance to praise or hit back. The results have gone to the promoters of the race. Linn's Stamp News.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, March 9, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Mott's Community Hall.

Planned Sunday

Tomorrow at East Hartford's Ramada Inn, Gerry Gerath will put on his First Sunday Stamp Bourse, 10 to 5. Admission is free; many dealers will be showing their wares.

Stop the press

At this is being written, comes the news of four USPS souvenir sheets to be released to the palpitating public at the opening of the Interphil — total cost $4.30. Hoo Boy!
