NORWALK — Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., says Connecticut will benefit more than any other state from the $6.5 billion Northeastern rail revitalization. He said the state will receive $354 million in rail improvements and 6,397 jobs.

WATERBURY — Garbage collectors today returned to their jobs after a five-day walkout that forced residents to haul tons of rubbish to the dump. About 60 of the 125-union member sanitation work force voted Saturday to go back to work under an agreement worked out Friday that called for the collectors to make double runs at double-time pay today and Tuesday.

BOSTON — Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin's manslaughter conviction, in connection with a legal abortion, was appealed to the Massachusetts Supreme Court today.

NEWPORT, R. I. — New Englanders took their special concerns to the Democratic Party's Platform Committee Saturday, stressing their worries about the region's economic and energy problems.

National

Thousands of truckers hit the road again today, ending the first national Teamsters Union strike and easing the economic impact of the three-day walkout.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — James Earl Ray, convicted of assassinating Martin Luther King, indicated in an exclusive interview that he would rather risk the electric chair in a new trial than remain in prison.

EL PASO, Tex. — Peter Bensing, head of the Drug Enforcement Administration, said Sunday that judges are often too lenient with major narcotics distributors and recommended longer sentences to help end the nation's drug traffic.

BANGKOK, Thailand — Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj has been voted out of office in a stunning political defeat apparently resulting from his decision to order American troops out of Thailand. The elections, held Sunday, showed a hard swing away from the left and toward the political center, returns showed today.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — U. S. envoy Dean Brown held a second round of talks with President Suleiman Franjeh today while pro-Syrian forces took up key positions around Beirut in preparation for what is said to be an attempt to pressure leftists into accepting a peace settlement in Lebanon.

Callaghan wins PM balloting

LONDON (UPI) — James "Sunny Jim" Callaghan today won election as Britain's 69th prime minister and the man charged with pulling the nation out of its unprecedented economic decline.

Callaghan, foreign secretary since 1974, defeated Employment Secretary Michael Foot 176 to 137 in the third ballot by ruling Labor party's members of parliament since Harold Wilson announced his resignation March 16.

Wilson was to go almost immediately to Buckingham Palace to make official his departure with Callaghan to be summoned shortly thereafter for his royal appointment as Labor party leader and chief of government.

He scheduled a nationally televised address for sometime after 4 p.m. EST.

Callaghan, 64, is an up-from-the-ranks politician who never went to college. A big, gregarious man, he is the first prime minister ever to have served previously as foreign secretary, home secretary and chancellor of the exchequer.

He is known to his colleagues as a hard worker — early to bed, early to rise. He has both the influence and is capable of maintaining party voting discipline in view of Labor's lack of a clear majority in Parliament.

He is also a middle-of-the-road politician and is expected to steer a course similar to that of Wilson — attempting to preserve the socialist state and its Labor grass roots while encouraging private enterprise as well.

The task he faces is to pull Britain out of an economic slide that has inflated at 18 per cent, unemployment at 7.25 million and the pound sterling hovering at record low levels, at $1.872.

His previous experience with economic affairs, as chancellor of the exchequer, ended with his resignation from the job in 1967 when the pound was devalued from $2.80 to $2.40. It took years for Callaghan to overcome what he considered a personal setback.

Wilson, his mentor, was bowing out after leading the Labor party for 13 years, nearly eight of them as prime minister. He said after his 474th and last cabinet meeting today he would never seek the job again.

The Wilson era has seen an unparalleled sag in British influence and in the British economy, as reflected in the decline of the pound, once the world's strongest currency.

When he announced his resignation shortly after his 60th birthday, Wilson said he would stay in parliament. Always the optimist, he said he had had enough as prime minister now that his economic policies were beginning to succeed.

Britons on Tuesday will be told in the annual budget announcement what the Labor government plans to do further to counter inflation. Unconfirmed reports predict cuts in income taxes and increases in levies on luxury goods — cigaarets, whisky and the like.

Boston students boycott classes

BOSTON (UPI) — A white student boycott of classes today in South Boston and Charlestown "has been very effective," according to Boston school officials.

All schools in South Boston from grades six up to the high school grades have been affected by the boycott," school department spokesman Thomas Loftus said.

The boycotting students marched on City Hall to protest federal court ordered school busing to achieve racial desegregation.

Loftus said there are "only a half dozen" white students in some of the schools in the South Boston.

Wins 1976 car

Mrs. Mildred Maloskie of 19 Timrod Rd., registers joy and disbelief upon learning she is the winner in a car giveaway contest co-sponsored by The Herald and local automobile dealers. The wheel of fortune she spun stopped at a B-210 Datsun "Honeybee" which she will receive from DeCormier Motors. The drawing was held Saturday in the lobby of The Herald. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Hunger walkers leave ECHS

Manchester citizens join a core of OXFAM-America walkers in the third segment of a Cross Connecticut World Hunger Walk as they leave East Catholic High School early Sunday morning for their day's destination at St. Thomas Aquinas High School in New Britain. The core group will be joined each day by another group in its cross state march in an effort to raise $15,000 in pledges to aid the poor and hungry. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Several hundred expected at budget hearing tonight

BY SOL R. COHEN

Herald Reporter

A turnout of several hundred taxpayers is predicted for tonight when the Manchester Board of Directors conducts its annual public hearing on the budgets and tax rates it will adopt for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The hearing is at 8 p.m. at Waddell School, Broad St. Actually, tonight's hearing is on the recommendations by Town Manager Robert Weiss. The board has to May 7 to adopt budgets and tax rates of its own. Failure to do so by then would make Weiss' proposals the legal ones.

Weiss is recommending a 5.98 mill increase in the General Fund tax rate, to bring it to 56.63 mills; a 0.65 mill increase in the Town Fire District tax rate, to bring it to 6.65 mills; and a 30 per cent across the board increase in water rates. The hike in water rates would mean a corresponding 30 per cent hike in sewage charges, because sewage bills are computed at 120 per cent of water bills.

Excluded from sewage charges to the town are those property owners who reside in the 8th Utilities

District. They pay a 2-mill tax to the district for sewage service.

The proposed 30 per cent increase in water rates would mean about $13.40 more a year for the average residential user, plus about $16.10 more a year for sewage charges — for a total average yearly increase of $29.50.

Weiss' proposed 5.98 mill General Fund increase would mean about $120 more a year in taxes for a dwelling assessed at $20,000. And, his proposed 0.65 mill increase for the Town Fire District would mean about $13 more a year for the same dwelling if it is within the district.

Taxpayers in the 8th District pay taxes to the General Fund, as do all taxpayers in Manchester. However, they pay for fire protection to the 8th District — 2 mills at present.

Last year this time, Weiss had recommended a 5.5 mill increase in the General Fund tax rate and an 0.80 mill increase in the Town Fire District tax rate.

When the board adopted the 1975-76 (current) tax levies they increased the General Fund tax rate by 1.35 mills, bringing it to its current 50.65 mills; and the Town Fire District tax rate by 0.30 mill, bringing it to its current 6 mills.

Calley denied hearing before Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today denied a hearing to former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted by court-martial of the murder in 1968 of 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

The court in a brief order turned down his appeal from a decision by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejecting all his claims to an unfair trial. He had argued, among other things, that pretrial publicity hurt him.

Calley has been free on bond while he pursued appeals in civilian courts. The Army has said it intends to parole him on his return to military custody.

Weiss budget asks $300,000 for pay hikes, new personnel

Town Manager Robert Weiss' budget recommendation for 1976-1977 contains an increase of about $300,000 for personnel.

Included in the totals, besides normal increments and estimated salary increases, are half a dozen new positions, several reclassifications of personnel, continuation of formerly state-funded personnel and provision for retirement benefits for several town employees.

The largest personnel increase recommended by Weiss is for the town's Police Department. The suggested $113,708 increase includes three new positions: A deputy police chief and two new detectives. Also reflected in the total, Weiss said, is the impact of increments granted in 1975-1976 and the normal increment for the department head (police chief) of $770.

Other new positions included in the budget plan — which will be aired at a public hearing at 8 o'clock tonight at Waddell School — are for personnel for the Recreation Department, Disaster Control, Sanitation Division, Maintenance Division, and Town Counsel.

A summary of the personnel services increases for departments and divisions is as follows. (The Herald's compilation doesn't include Water & Sewer Department, Fire Department, or any education-related accounts).

Town Manager — Up $1,891 for normal increments.

Controller — Up $3,646 for normal increments and reclassification of administrative accountant to payroll supervisor.

Election — Up $1,468 for filling a vacant clerk position and increasing longevity.

Assessment — Up $4,885 for normal increments, an increase in Board of Tax Review fees, and reclassification of assessment technician to account clerk.

Collector of Revenue — Up $4,309 for normal increments and reclassification of assistant revenue collector to a higher pay group.

Town Clerk — Up $2,349 for normal increments and reclassification of two assistant clerks to a higher pay group.

Treasurer — Up $2,350 for a salary increase of $2,000 for the treasurer and for reclassification of the assistant treasurer to a higher pay group.

Planning and Zoning — Up $9,160 for normal increments and retirement benefits for the town planner. Town Counsel — Up $3,325 for a full-time assistant town counsel. The part-time assistant position would be eliminated and the town counsel's fee reduced.

General Services — Up $1,158 for normal increments, increase longevity, and reclassification of central duplicating operator.

Public Works Administration — Up $1,175 for normal increments.

Public Works Building Inspection — Down $15,490. A vacant building inspector position would be filled, part-time salaries would be reorganized, and two building maintenance mechanics would be transferred to

Official urges 10% cut in state work force

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state's work force should be cut as much as 10 per cent, according to the state personnel commissioner, whether or not the cuts are needed as a budget cutting tool.

Frederick Rossomondo made his comments Sunday on the Connecticut Public Information Network program "Dialogue '76."

He said they were based on visits to 25 state agencies. He plans to drop in unannounced on another 20 this month.

"I'm firmly convinced that while there are some departments that are understaffed there are equally as many that are overstaffed."

"I do not believe it would be difficult to reduce the working force of this state to a point that would not be difficult to deliver state services to the people of the state," Rossomondo said.

In speaking of reductions, he said, "If you're talking about 40,000 employees, I'm saying somewhere between 2,000 and 4,000."

Rossomondo said the cuts could be accomplished through layoffs, attrition and transfer of employees from overstaffed to understaffed departments.

"There probably would be a number terminated from state service or laid off," he said, "I say we would probably get the show on the road by the beginning of the next fiscal year."

Monetary rewards for woman's work?

Latest development on the feminist front is something called "Wages for Housework." It's a campaign based on the idea that while a woman's work is never done, at least she ought to be paid for it - in hard cash.

Women all over the world are in a powerless situation because we don't have independent money. We work too hard and are underpaid," says Beth Ingber, a spokesman for the movement in Los Angeles who is traveling around the country rallying housewives (and single housewives as well) to the cause.

Definitive 'dial-ogue'

Hardly a day passes without the news that yet another chemical or food additive has been put on the banned or suspect list as a threat to health. Rarely does the ordinary person have the chance to talk to an expert and pin him down and ask him just what the story is.

Anybody with a question about food will be able to do just that, however, on April 7 and 8. On those two days, 28 university and government scientists will participate in a national "Food Day Dialogue" - a coast-to-coast toll-free telephone setup by which they will answer questions from consumers not only about chemicals and additives but nutrition, agricultural production and world hunger.

Unsavory underside of Mexican justice

Breaking into a Mexican jail at gunpoint to release its American prisoners is not a recommended way of improving international relations. But the recent exploit by two modern-day "Zorros," as one wire service called them, who successfully spring 11 other Americans and five Mexicans from an atrocious jail in Piedras Negras, just across the Mexico-Texas border, served at least briefly to explore the unsavory underside of the otherwise amicable relations Mexico and the United States enjoy.

All of the young Americans were being held for drug offenses, Mexico, of course, as a sovereign nation, certainly has every right to enforce its own laws against the narcotics traffic too many Americans are involved in. How Mexico treats its prisoners may also be its own business. One of the rescued Americans said that as many as 12 men were crowded into a single 8-by-9-foot cell in Piedras Negras.

St. Patrick's Day parade participants thanked

To the editor, We would appreciate it very much, if you could give us space in your paper to publicly thank all the individuals and organizations, who represented Manchester March 13, in the Fifth Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade, also the merchants who bought advertising to help defray the cost of the parade, and the families and individuals who contributed to the patron and booster aids. Without this financial support, the parade would not have been possible.

The United Irish Societies, who sponsor this yearly event, are constantly striving to interest more towns to enter contingents, and hopefully in the near future to give Holyoke, Mass., and New York City competition, it has grown in five short years to a two-hour-long parade.

The parade is established and competes on a town by town basis. We now have marchers, floats, and bands from 19 towns, and the competition is still between these towns, for the coveted best represented town trophy. So any organization that the Manchester Committee can persuade to march, represents our town, and we were happy that so many have swelled our ranks, and made

Library conference room proposition questioned

The taxpayers of Manchester are in the process of being conditioned to an increase in their taxes. The proposed budget has been presented as bare-bone necessities - just as it was last year, and the year before; but yet, we ended the year with a surplus, and a very substantial surplus at that. One would tend to suspect the surplus to be a result of budget fat, rather than fiscal prudence.

The parents of school aged children are concerned that, if the school budget is cut, their children will not receive an education equal to what they feel the town should provide. This is a broad statement, but meant to hit and hurt and raise up the voting voice of the parents.

We are also threatened with the reduction of rubbish removal from twice a week to once. Would that really be a loss, or is it really an extravagance anyway?

The question that comes to mind is just how concerned for our town are its paid administrators. How any serious thought could be uttered in public suggesting a lost bridge over Main Street doesn't strike me as very professional, nor does it strike me that fiscal prudence is evident when

Thanks doctors and nurses

To the editor, I would like to thank all the doctors, nurses, and everyone who took such outstanding care of my wife, Conni, high before her recent death. The cooperation, politeness and consideration both her and myself was tremendous.

I would like to give a special thanks to Dr. G.R. Miller and his nurses for their outstanding efforts and kind consideration. I would also like to thank Drs. Edward Besser, Douglas Roberts and Hossein Tehrini for their good service.

I hope eventually that the Manchester Hospital will open their cobalt room, so that the patients in the Manchester area will have all the conveniences that is required for patients with my wife's type of illness.

Sincerely yours, Harold O. Pugh, 393 Windsor St., Manchester

AFS friends thanked

To the editor, Recently the Manchester Chapter of AFS held a fund raising sale in town to earn part of the money necessary to maintain its program of hosting foreign students and sending MHS students to other countries for study abroad. I would like to participate in an international living experience.

The response by the people of our town was most gratifying and our quota was met well before the deadline. Mrs. Harriet Donovan and Mrs. Beverly Faus, co-chairmen of the event, were instrumental in the success of the sale. I would like to thank them for their efforts and the support of the community.

Sincerely yours, John A. Swigger Jr., 101 S. Main St., Manchester

Reflections

Hal Turkington, Managing Editor. "And I got the message," he said. When Billie was inside a house, he hated shoes; he'd kick them off at his house, he'd kick them off at Wal's, and he'd kick them off at our house. Billie and me were the handicapped co-chairmen one year at Manchester Country Club. Every two weeks we'd take the score cards and arrive at new handicap decisions. Everyone is supposed to put down ALL his scores, but you just know when someone had conveniently forgotten to put down that 81 when he had a 1 handicap.

We'd suggest that you re-read those thoughts Earl Yost put together in his column of last Friday. He said it all about Billie Simpson. Try reading those words from the author's side rather than from the reader's side. It was a beautiful piece to the memory of long-standing friend.

So, goodbye, Billie; you have been a big part of many families - the Ferguson family. The Herald family, the Washington Social Club family, the Country Club family, the advertising family.

Only our Maker knows our game plan. You were awfully good for Manchester; you kept the world around you alive with your cheerfulness, your thoughtfulness, your happy ways.

Our memories and reflections remind us that you did play an important part in our lives. Requiescat in Pace. (Peace be with you.)

Billie was a scotch drinker, but he loved that.

Fight heats up over energy and air pollution

By Lee Roderick. The Herald's Washington Correspondent. The hard choices facing the United States in trying to find new energy sources while keeping their impact on the environment at an acceptable level have come more clearly into focus in recent weeks. Two events are fueling the latest shouting matches between environmentalists seeking to impede energy development actions and those urging stepped-up development programs.

Dogged by environmental opposition and citing bureaucratic red tape, Southern California Edison Co. - a member of the consortium - announced late in December a one-year delay in building plans. The scheduled completion date of 1982, said the company, would be set back to the "1983-84 time frame."

Environmental Action, which says it is "non-partisan and funded by small contributions from citizens," is zeroing in on 12 congressmen for what the group says have been anti-environment voting records in 1975. Most prominent among the group are Steve Symms, (R-Idaho), Donald Clancy, R-Ohio, James Cleveland, R-N.H., Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, John Flynn, D-Ga., Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, Albert Johnson, R-Penn., Bert Snyder, R-Ky., Burt

Yankee designs wipers for cyclists' helmets

By JACQUELINE HUARD
WHITEFIELD, N.H. (UPI) — The idea first clicked when Louis Burpee was driving to a funeral and noticed two motorcyclists riding by, wiping their helmet visors clean of the driving rain. The thought that flashed through his mind then is now pending in the U.S. Patent Office — a windshield wiper for motorcycle helmets.

"I had been sort of in the back of my mind, but until I saw someone that really needed one, I didn't really think about it."

He roughed out about 10 sketches and was signed on by a New York firm which distributes product ideas to manufacturers throughout the nation. Burpee said he won't actually build a prototype until a company expresses interest.

His proposed wipers would operate from a small metal or plastic box fastened on the helmet just above the center of the shield. The lightweight box would contain a small electric motor, two gears, pivot arms and a tiny battery to power the motor.

"Actually it's a safety device, something you'll one day see on every helmet in the world," said Burpee, who had his own motorcycle for 10 years. He said motorcyclists are "enthusiastic" about his invention, and "can't wait to buy one."

Burpee estimates the wiper attachment would retail for under $10.

The wipers are the first of Burpee's ideas he's actually put on paper.

Other inventions stored in the back of his mind include a 20-horsepower airborne platform — like a flying carpet — which would be powered by gasoline.

He also is designing a hanging toothpaste dispenser which is squeezed with the aid of a ball inside the tube. And then there's the helium balloon with inter-national orange rescue blinker lights to aid lost hunters. "I've probably thought of a hundred things in my lifetime, but I never had the time before to work them out," he said. "I can look at a broom handle and tell you if it needs something."

MACC news Lutz Museum vacation plans announced

Nancy Carr
Father Paul Tringone designed a "Faith of Our Fathers" family tree of the religious communities of Manchester which was used last Wednesday in the program for the Mayor's Prayer Breakfast. Beginning with the formation of Orford Parish in 1772 and branching out at the top of the tree into the many churches which have become part of Manchester since 1945 (Church of Christ, Calvary Assemblies of God, Church of Jesus of the Latter Day Saints, Presbyterian, Jehovah's Witness, Unitarian Universalist, United Pentecostal, Full Gospel), the tree provides a thumbnail sketch of Manchester history. Copies are available on a limited basis in the MACC office.

Easter Sunrise Service
The ecumenical Easter Sunrise Service has been cancelled this year, partly in response to a question of whether or not the service meets a real desire of the community. We would be most happy to hear from you — pro or con. In addition to early Masses at the Roman Catholic churches, churches holding Easter sunrise services are Concordia Lutheran, Community Baptist, and Church of the Nazarene.

Information for Justice
The regional meeting of the Information for Justice Campaign raised the following questions: Who is a criminal? How effective is our Criminal Justice System? How can we correct the myths and misunderstandings that have grown up about crime? What unique insights does the Christian community have to offer?

May 10 to 16 will be observed as Information for Justice Week throughout Connecticut. Program material, speakers and the Information for Justice test can be obtained from the Conference Office.

Town Meeting
Information concerning Town Meeting '76 may also be obtained from the conference office. If your organization has not yet been contacted concerning participation in this unique opportunity for Manchester to plan and start together into the next century, please notify me, Alan Lamson of the Jaycees, or Suzanne Flocken of the Chamber of Commerce.

Guatemalan Relief
A bake sale held at Mott's by the Girl Scouts raised $35.00 to aid earthquake victims. The girls did all the planning, baking, and selling themselves. The money was sent on to Guatemala through the Manchester Council on World Hunger. Another $20.91 was collected from the relief box at the CBT Main St. office.

Rhubarb, meaning a noisy argument or quarrel, comes from the custom in the theater, radio and movies of saying "rhubarb" over and over again to simulate angry and menacing talk in crowd scenes.

New contract calls for 5.5% pay hikes

A new two-year contract which calls for pay raises of about 5.5 per cent in each of the two years, was approved Thursday by the 40-member Municipal Employees Group (MEG). It was delivered Friday to the Management Board of Directors, which now has 30 days (from April 1) to approve or reject it.

The proposal has been added to the agenda the board will face Tuesday night and will be explained by Assistant Town Manager Charles McCarthy, the town's spokesman and negotiator in contract talks.

In addition to the pay provision, the contract has an anti-discrimination clause and amends the formula on pay for unused sick-leave time (the latter change to be effective July 1, 1981 for present employees).

The anti-discrimination clause, to be observed by town and the union, forbids discrimination on hiring based on race, color, sex and national origin.

At present, employees may accumulate up to 105 days of unused sick-leave time and are paid for them at the rate of the existing salary at the time of retirement.

Under the change, effective July 1, 1981, retiring employees will receive 50 per cent of their accumulated sick-leave time.

The first contract is always the toughest to negotiate," said McCarthy. "Now that it's been completed and has been ratified by the MEG, I'm hopeful that things will fall into place with the other three contracts the town is negotiating."

Earl deserved award

It's well next year for the New England Whalers in the World Hockey Association's Eastern Division regular season. For the first time in four seasons the club failed to head the standing after last night's 4-2 loss to Indianapolis. Highlights on the final regular season night were the awards, to hard-working Tom Earl as the Unsung Hero, Tommy Abrahamson as the Most Popular Player, Christer Abrahamson as the most valuable player and Tommy Webster as the Three Star winner. Mike Rollick, 55, former Twilight League third baseman and umpire, died Saturday. For many years after his playing days he worked two games involving Morarty's at Mt. Nebo and was one of the best ball and strike callers in the area. Death also took Paul Foye, for many years head baseball and basketball coach at the Coast Guard Academy in New London. Ferguson Jenkins has drawn the starting pitching assignment from Manager Darrell Johnson Tuesday against Baltimore Friday. Nearly 300 friends of Bob Healy turned out last Friday night to salute the line Ellington High basketball coach who notched his 300th coaching win last season.

Former Yale running back Calvin Hill has signed with the Washington Redskins. He played six years with Dallas before defecting to the ill-fated World Football League. Luis Tiant received the biggest raise in Red Sox history when his salary increased from $80,000 in 1975 to $160,000 for the upcoming campaign.

Dillard gets news, makes R Sox roster

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — A year ago, Steve Dillard was wondering whether he ever would be a major leaguer. He got some welcome news Sunday.

"Steve Dillard has made our ball club," Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson announced following an 11-9 pre-season win over the Pittsburgh Pirates at Bradenton.

Dillard, 25, hurt his shoulder in 1974 and didn't work out so he had another operation.

Dillard tried to make the Red Sox in 1975. Johnson was thinking about working him in at shortstop and switching Rick Burston to second base. But the shoulder interfered with Dillard's throwing and he was out.

It was a blessing in disguise for Burston who went on to become one of the best shortstops in the American League.

Dillard will be a utility infielder with a chance of alternating with Deron Johnson as right-handed designated hitter.

He handled six chances at third base against the Pirates and hit a homer and two singles in 10 exhibition games. He is averaging .300, with five runs batted in and three stolen bases.

Also homering were Fred Lynn, Jim Rice and Deron Johnson, Lynn added a double and knocked in four runs.

David Parker knocked in three runs for Pittsburgh with a homer and two doubles.

Ferguson Jenkins, who will pitch the season-opener for Boston in Baltimore Friday, worked six innings and yielded eight hits and five runs. He had trouble with his control.

Rick Jones, Jim Willoughby and Tom House pitched an inning each for the Red Sox after Jenkins left. Boston has an 8-3 spring record, tops in the American League East. The Red Sox play St. Louis today.

Dump choice offered

Bolton
A group of Bolton citizens have requested the Board of Health negotiate, in good faith, with the Andover Board of Selectmen to provide Bolton with a third and less costly alternative to its refuse disposal problem.
Spearheading the Committee For The Andover Alternative is James Rogers.
The group said it is their plea that the subject, reopening negotiations for Bolton's use of the Andover Disposal Area, be placed on the agenda of Tuesday's Board of Selectmen's meeting.
The selectmen will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.
Rogers said the Andover Town Meeting vote to continue sharing the disposal site with Bolton was the act of a small but vocal minority. The committee hopes majority sentiment of the good townpeople of Andover would be heard at another Town Meeting.
The committee said it is common knowledge the majority of Andover's Board of Selectmen and Board of Finance favor sharing the area.

Dry chicken theory pays

LEWISTON, Maine (UPI) — William J. Mendelson's theory that a dry chicken is a good chicken is paying off at his Hillcrest Foods Co.
Mendelson patented a new way of processing chicken in 1972. The result is Pure 1 chicken, which has been marketed in Massachusetts 3 since January and will be in Maine supermarkets later this year.
Nearly all processors place their freshly killed chickens in an ice and chlorinated water bath to lower the temperatures below 40 degrees. The trouble with such a system is the chickens pick up some of the water, sometimes in creasing their body weight by as much as 12 per cent.
The bath also can spread bacteria among the chickens, which shortens their shelf life.
The Pure 1 chickens contain no water, and are cut and packaged while still warm. The packaged chickens are then put into a sort of air-conditioned tunnel which drops their surface temperature to 27 degrees or lower. The chicken arrives at the store pre-packaged and precooled, and has a much-extended shelf life.
The company says its chicken tastes better because it doesn't pick up all that water from the chilling process.
"It's only natural, because the chicken, while it is tender and delicate creature, is subject to a lot of abuse in that water bath," said company spokesman William Harkins.
"The price is somewhat higher, but it is still competitively priced," he said.
"The consumer is not only getting better tasting chicken, but also true weight since the chicken's weight isn't partially water."
The Pure 1 chicken came to the Boston market in January amid an intensive advertising campaign, and evading responsibility on a rear-end warrant stemming from an accident Feb. 10.
He was released on a $250 surety bond for court April 28.
Carol A. Champagne, 30, of 134 Vernon Ave. was charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at the K-Mart store off Rt. 30. Court is April 28.

Top patronage jobholder faces serious charges

By JUAN TAMAYO
HARTFORD (UPI)—One of the legislature's top patronage jobholders, Democratic Legislative Commissioner Ethar M. Lewis, is facing serious conflict-of-interest charges.

Lewis, 52, codirector of the legislature's bill-drafting office, has been accused of altering some bills to the benefit of clients of his private law practice and killing others by refusing to let them out of his office.

He has denied the charges, being investigated by the Ethics Committee, and said he rejected a committee offer to call off the inquiry if he resigned because he wanted to prove his innocence.

Meanwhile the Ethics Committee has come under criticism: by Lewis for leaking to reporters some of the evidence against him; and by Lewis' opponents for pushing its inquiry too slowly.

Some lawmakers privately charged the committee is stalling to give Lewis an easy way out. His appointment to the $21,000-a-year job expires this year and lawmakers are considering a bill abolishing his post.

Lewis, a West Hartford lawyer whose aggressiveness has earned him critics even within the Democratic majority at the Capitol, says some lawmakers are out to remove him by leaking only the damaging information.

Since 1969, Lewis has been the Democratic head of the Legislative Commissioners Office, which is under bipartisan control. His Republican counterpart is attorney Samuel Freedman of Westport.

The commissioners and a staff of 14 lawyers — in charge of putting bills in legal language — are in a strategic position between the legislative committees which initiate bills and the House and Senate.

Lewis' post is considered a part-time job and he has been allowed to remain a partner in a Hartford law firm, Danaher Lewis and Tamoney, because the legislature meets for less than six months each year.

The Connecticut Civil Liberties Union, in a recent report titled "Bill Blocking," charged Lewis altered some committee bills that would have hurt his private clients and killed others by refusing to release them from his office.

Lewis has not denied his law firm represented several trade organizations that lobby heavily at the State Capitol, but he has denied conflict of interest.

Some of the firm's clients include the Connecticut Pharmaceutical Association, the Savings and Loan League of Connecticut and the State Optometric Society.

Lewis, a West Hartford lawyer whose aggressiveness has earned him critics even within the Democratic majority at the Capitol, says some lawmakers are out to remove him by leaking only the damaging information.

The OCLU report, written by Director William O'Keefe, said Lewis was instructed to confine himself to barracks between evening tango and reveille. Civilian residents of the city were also ordered to observe the same curfew and told sentries would stop any individual on the streets after nighttime hours if he knew the counterpart's password.

AFS students discuss customs

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

Native costumes are made for Norwegian girls to be worn throughout all their lives. Birgitte Svendsen of Lillehammer, about 120 miles north of Oslo, Norway, wore her native costume during an interview recently in which she and her American sister, Nancy Schaffer talked about their American Field Service (AFS) exchange visits in foreign countries.

Birgitte is living with the Belden Schaffer family at 118 Porter St. and is a senior at Manchester High School. Nancy, also a senior, was an AFS student in Japan during the summer of 1975.

Birgitte's (pronounced Beer-geet-a) costume is a work costume because it is made from coarse wool and has an apron.

The garment is ingeniously fashioned with many tucks so that as Birgitte grows, the shoulders, waistline and hem can all be let out.

"Her white blouse is customarily made to grow in."

Birgitte says native costumes are worn on May 17, Constitution Day, and on festive occasions.

The various designs of the costumes Nancy said much is expected from denotes the area of the person's birth. Silver jewelry, some of it family heirloom, is worn on the costume. Only the very young girls wear white kerchiefs on their heads.

The eve of a holiday finds Birgitte's mother busy with the ironing of the white shirts fresh and smooth for her four children and other family members.

Nancy was given a "yucca" by her Japanese parents to wear on special occasions. The yucca is a white cotton kimono with green and yellow flowers, and a red and black obi. The young people in Japan wear bright colors. Darker colors are worn by the older Japanese.

Besides the yucca given to Nancy, her Japanese family also gave her a child doll dressed in a red silk costume that might be worn by a princess.

A student of the violin, Birgitte plays with the Manchester Civic Orchestra. She has also participated in the high school's dramatic events.

Birgitte will be with her classmates at graduation in June to receive her diploma. The day after the "biggest," as she calls it, July 5, she leaves Manchester to join other AFS students before finally returning to her own family on July 15.

She and Nancy share hopes of one day returning to visit their exchange families.

Collecting of taxes to be aired

HARTFORD (UPI)—Connecticut tax collection procedures were to be subjected to public examination today in legislative Finance Committee hearing.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso and the legislature are to convert accounting for alcohol, cigarette and gasoline taxes as well as federal revenue sharing funds to the accrual method.

That method involves counting income when it is earned, rather than when it is actually received. It would provide a one-time-only income boost by effectively counting 13 months of revenue in 12 months.

The governor wants to use the accrual method to balance the 1976-77 budget. Legislators have proposed another one-shot boost, to come from speeding up corporate tax collections.

The Republican minority and income tax advocates have called these proposals artificial gimmicks. Mrs. Grasso and her advisors say they are legitimate methods in a time of recession.

A legislative Environment Committee hearing Wednesday will be held on the subject of environmental protection enforcement of anti-pollution laws is scheduled for Friday at 10 a.m.

By 20 people on a single of Board of Regents under Rep. Howard Klebanoff, D-Hartford, co-chairman of the Education Committee.

Walsh and Klebanoff have both predicted reduced costs and improved coordination of programs under an unified board.

There are about 80 people on the black trustee boards of the University of Connecticut, the state colleges, community colleges, technical colleges, Board for State Academic Awards and the Commission for Higher Education.

They would be replaced

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: As I have stated in a previous column, I have signed the Living Will. It is simply a document that a person signs stating that he does not want to have his life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no reasonable hope for recovery.

DEAR HEIDI: If you love him—marry him. Most bald men started feeling when they HAD hair.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a close friend.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and considered very pretty. I am going steady with a great guy who is 32.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the mother of that nut who is suing her for $100,000 for his circumcision.
