Governor expected to sign

$1.8 billion state budget approved by legislature

HARTFORD (UPI)—A $1.8 billion budget, similar to one proposed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso, today was on her desk and, despite some disagreement, there were indications she would sign it.

The House Friday, overriding Republican objections, gave final legislative approval to the package.

It was virtually the same as the bottom line as Mrs. Grasso's, but with some adjustments in taxes and relief to spur the state's ailing economy, will receive $27.5 million in tax breaks, with the halving of the seven per cent levies on business services and purchases of machinery.

Renovation work would also be exempted under the business services tax.

The House, which Thursday passed the spending side of the package, defeated nine Republican amendments, most aimed at preventing the use of a series of bookkeeping devices to balance the budget.

The Senate Thursday passed both parts of the package.

Mrs. Grasso, who says she will support the new lottery despite her opposition to some forms of legalized gambling, might wait until that proposal is closer to passage before signing the budget, sources said.

The budget, which earlier in the week received approval from Democratic caucuses that have overwhelming control of both chambers, was about seven per cent higher than last year's $1.58 billion budget or roughly equal to the rate of inflation.

Motorists will pay most of the increase, forking out over a penny a gallon more on the gasoline tax and higher tolls on state highways.

Business, which said it needed tax relief to spur the state's ailing economy, will receive $27.5 million in tax breaks, with the halving of the seven per cent levies on business services and purchases of machinery.

Renovation work would also be exempted under the business services tax.

The House, which Thursday passed the spending side of the package, defeated nine Republican amendments, most aimed at preventing the use of a series of bookkeeping devices to balance the budget.

The Senate Thursday passed both parts of the package.

Mrs. Grasso, who says she will support the new lottery despite her opposition to some forms of legalized gambling, might wait until that proposal is closer to passage before signing the budget, sources said.

Stevens, R-Milford, said Connecticut was the only state to resort to such a combination of accounting devices to balance its budget.

"No other state has attempted this type of bookkeeping shenanigans," Stevens said, warning the Democratic program would need "an unprecedented increase in the economy" to avert a large deficit next year.

Rep. James Clynes, D-Southington, House chairman of the Finance Committee, defended the plan as responding to the desires of state residents unwilling to pay additional taxes to bail the state out of its financial problems.

"I think it is a good package and if someone told me (at the beginning of the session) we would leave this Capitol with only a one cent increase in the gasoline tax I would have told them they were off their rocker," he said.

New revenue
The budget package, which calls for $116.8 million in new state revenues, gets only $15.9 million from the gasoline tax and toll increases.

About $70 million in revenue would be raised next fiscal year, beginning

July 1, through two accounting methods, shifting to that fiscal year tax revenues usually not received in state coffers until the following fiscal year.

About $35 million would come from corporate business taxes, $30.6 million would be from utility taxes and another $4 million would be from foreign insurance levies.

Part of a $36 million gap forecast for the end of this fiscal year would be bridged with $27.7 million raised by one of the accounting methods applied to levies on cigarettes, alcohol and gasoline and a $7.3 million federal grant.

Drop income tax
Liberal Democrats withdrew an amendment to institute a state income tax because of technical problems in drafting the legislation.

Rep. Irving Stolberg, D-New Haven, its sponsor, acknowledged there was no support for the proposal, but said such a levy would eventually become a reality.

Stolberg was one of seven Democrats, mostly liberals unhappy with the tax structure, who crossed party lines to vote against the budget. Rep. Abijah U. Fox of Greenwich was the lone Republican to vote for the package.

Carter hounded by double-talk charges

By LEWIS LORD
United Press International
Jimmy Carter, hounded by double-talk charges, has offered at least one plain statement about the flap over his "ethnic purity" comment.

"Nothing," he said, "would please me better than to drop the subject." Morris Udall, for one, is in no hurry to let it die.

"That comment has sent shock waves through the black community and liberal community like nothing I've seen so far in this campaign," Udall told a Friday news conference in Columbus, Ohio. "It was quite revealing of the governor's thought process."

Carter is campaigning today in Kansas City and Detroit. Henry Jackson in Philadelphia, and Udall in New Haven, Conn., and Detroit.

President Ford threw out the first ball Friday night to open the Texas Rangers' baseball season at Dallas. Ford said he was "a little behind."

Ronald Reagan in the May 1 Texas primary but "underdogs often win." Reagan stumped Friday in Wyoming.

Carter reminded reporters in Columbus and Cleveland that he had apologized for saying there was nothing wrong with a community "trying to maintain the ethnic purity of its neighborhoods."

Termining his initial phrase as an "unfortunate choice of words," Carter said: "I should have said ethnic character, ethnic heritage."

Carter huddled with 40 blacks in Columbus and several reported they were satisfied with what he told them.

"I honestly came here expecting to move away from a position of supporting Jimmy Carter," said Columbus councilman Jerry Hammond.

"Now I am sure I can support him." However, Julian Bond, the black state senator from Georgia who supports Udall, said in Atlanta that Carter's comment "smacks of Nazi Germany."

Civil rights leader Jesse Jackson said Carter "has been getting a tremendous black vote... basically because many people see him as the live alternative to George Wallace in the Southern states."

"I have watched people over and over again," Jackson added, "that the absence of Wallace is not necessarily the presence of justice."

The "ethnic purity" phrase, Jackson said, resulted from Carter saying one thing to black people and another thing "to the rock-throwing element."

Udall said Carter's phrase was "like someone pulling back the curtain on his attitudes."

"These primaries are testing us," Udall said. "They test us when we're tired and worn out, at all hours of the day and night, and this was one time when we didn't get a stock phrase of a speech-writer's work. It was like a window into the man's thinking and you can't take that away."

The president of the AFL-CIO in Michigan endorsed Henry Jackson as did 10 other labor leaders in the state. However, United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser said in Detroit that Hubert Humphrey is closer to the IAW's philosophy than any of the declared candidates.

Wallace's campaign manager, Charles Snider, said the Alabama governor intends to campaign in at least 13 more primaries but money will determine how hard he runs.

"What we do next week depends on how much money comes in this week," Snider said.

Vacation journeys planned by students

The MHS Round Table Singers will be representing Manchester on the West Coast this coming week. Thanks to talented fund raising and concert singing, Round Tablers have managed to raise enough money to help them get to Los Angeles. So far this year, Round Table has given numerous concerts for various towns, has sponsored a variety show, has taken part in the Bicentennial with a dinner and their celebrated 75 hour Singathon, has had tag and grinder sales, and most recently, has helped in the production of MHS's Music Department musical "South Pacific."

Another trip planned for vacation week is a Washington tour under the leadership of Mr. Elin Zatursky. The group consists of many students who expressed interest in such a trip earlier this year. Some of the group's activities are: A meeting with Senators Weicker and Ribicoff, a tour of the FBI building, a meeting with Dr. Arthur House in the Old Executive office, a tour of the Swedish Embassy, and a meeting with Representative William Colter. The standard tour sites, like the monuments, will also be visited.

The third and last trip planned for vacation is a trip to Canada by French students and French Club members from MHS and Hing. They will be leaving at midnight Saturday for Quebec City and plan to return Wednesday. They plan to visit, among other things, the church of St. Anne de Beaupre and the Chateau Frontenac. We are confident that these travelers will represent Manchester well, and that they will gain something from their experiences away from their home ground. — Steve Latham

Rock review:

Black Sabbath

To some, Black Sabbath may sound like some kind of witch's holiday, but to those who know music, the words spell high energy rock 'n' roll. To those lucky souls, Black Sabbath means Ozzy Osbourne, Tony Iommi, Geezer Butler, and Bill Ward. The band usually spends its time in long studio sessions or along hectic miles on the road while touring. When they have a rare occasion to relax, members do so on farms they own in their homeland, England. Lately, they've taken time to analyze their music and have been experimenting with new sound effects in their evolve Sabbath music.

Black Sabbath likes to get on stage and really let it out. What a combination they have for such power. Ozzy's great screaming vocals, Tony's fantastic lead guitar, Geezer's wild bass, and Bill's super drums! This mixture of sounds makes fans go wild with excitement.

All four members have plans for solo albums, but according to them, Sabbath comes first. The group always has a large stock of lyrics to mix with their music in the recording studio. Even on the latest LP, they still maintain their famous heavy rock sound, though now they're into experimenting with their style a bit.

The group's six albums, "Black Sabbath," "Paranoid," "Master of Reality," "Volunteered Slaves," "Sabbath Bloody Sabbath," and "Sabotage" all contain some time hard rock. Their most recent release is a sort of greatest hits record entitled "We Sold Our Souls for Rock 'n' Roll."

Sabbath is recognized as one of the best heavy metal groups in the world. They well deserve this recognition. Listen to and enjoy the great music of Black Sabbath! — Mike Cratty

STUDENTS OF MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL PUBLISH REVIEW BY THE MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD.

'Barn' stabilizes

The production of Sock 'n' Buskin's newest play, "Barn on Bunker Hill" by Lee Hay, is getting under way.

The play's cast has been chosen and rehearsals have started. Crew chairpersons have been selected and plans for set construction, publicity, and lighting are being made.

The play is about two girls, played by Ann Kibbe and Debby Ducheneau, one of whose parents is Tony and the other, Patriot. The two girls embody the two sides of the revolution and ask each other and themselves "Who is right?" The action takes place in the barn on Bunker Hill, just one day before the legendary battle there. It is a play meant for elementary school children.

New Hope Manor gives direction

Each and every girl is treated with individual interest, and her specific problem is handled. There are so many good times at New Hope. Times where you can forget about your troubles and enjoy yourself. There are activities such as dances, ski nights, Greaser days, and contests. There are also pet, craft sessions, and field trips.

While at New Hope, a girl never needs to feel unique, because there are always people to identify with, and people to talk to any time of the day or night. New Hope Manor has much to offer to those girls who are willing to work hard at being a better, happier individual. — Q.R.

The MHS students in Distributive Education Council of America (DECA) have won third place in the state in the Chapter-of-the-Year contest. This contest is designed to encourage chapter members to adopt a yearly plan of action. The actual contest entry is an 18-section scrapbook. The students this year participated in many unusual activities such as the takeover of King's Department store, a fashion show, sale of lollipops to benefit the state. There are 107 members.

At the state conference which was held at the Hilton in Hartford, special commendation was given to MHS for being one of the 14 chapters with 100 per cent membership. Additional recognition was given to MHS for being the second largest chapter in the state. There are 107 members.

DECA is a young organization for students who enroll in Distributive Education. DE is part of the COEP program.

All chapter members participated in making the entry a winner. Linda Hurler, Faith Boering, Terri Rivers and Wanda Moore did the final assembly of the book.

PTA Council meets April 22

The annual meeting of the PTA Council will be Thursday, April 22, 7:30 p.m. in Bailey Auditorium. The theme of the meeting will be "Parent Involvement in the Schools." The purpose of the meeting is to explore the possibilities of establishing effective parent organizations at the junior and senior high schools. An effort will also be made to improve the effectiveness of the present PTAs in the elementary schools. The speakers and discussion leaders will be George Emmerling, principal of MHS, Allen Cox, principal of Bennett Junior High School, Dr. Richard Lindgren, principal of Hing Junior High School, and Edward Timbrell, principal of Keeney St. School.

Also on the program to present other supportive roles parents can play, will be Karen Prew of MHS who has been active in establishing Parent Effectiveness Training Classes in the area at Ferns Hubbard, who is presently working with a group of volunteers who do one-to-one tutoring in elementary and junior high schools. Gloria Swanson, president of the PTA Council will be speaking on the organizing of a PTA. However, those schools with present organizations will be encouraged to continue on with new efforts put forth to include more parents in the organization and to play a more active role in the life of the school. Parents of all Manchester school children are urged to attend.

Letter to editor:

Rebuttal to review

Manchester High School's production of "South Pacific" which opened the night of Friday, March 26, received a critical review one week later which many believed to be highly unfair. The reviewer may have been justified in decrying the loudness of the orchestra and the "too-frequent delivery of lines directly to the audience." The length of performance was attacked by some of the audience who felt that 3 1/2 hours was too long for one sitting. However, the reviewer's belief that a musical is "a monumental undertaking, and it always should be expected" but does such a colossal effort require such a disheartening appraisal? — Carolyn Boser

No bribery links found

UTC reviews overseas payments

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — United Technologies Corp. says it does not know whether any of the nearly $2 million it admittedly paid independent foreign agents over the past two years was used as bribe money.

UTC said Friday a review of all its dealings over the past five years showed transactions in 1974 and 1975 involving sales to nonindustrialized countries which "created a reasonable doubt in our minds that part of the commissions ... might ... have been paid by those independent foreign representatives to foreign government employees."

The corporation, formerly known as United Aircraft Corp., said it told the Security and Exchange Commission about the payments during 1974 and 1975 but could not say whether some ended up as bribes.

The East Hartford-based firm stressed, however, it knows of no illegal payments and said it never instructed anyone to make illegal payments.

UTC mentioned no countries and would identify the payments only as being for sales in nonindustrialized parts of the world. The company said it had found no evidence of illegal domestic political contributions in its review.

A total of $1.8 million was involved in payments to nonindustrialized nations, the firm said, and $150,000 was paid to a foreign marketing consultant who was working both for UTC and a customer for UTC's commercial industrial products.

Ask Kleiner
By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: A while ago there was an episode of McCloud based on record piracy. During the show an actress sang a song entitled "Jeremy" several times. Who was the actress and where could I get a recording of the song? — A.S., Tucson, Ariz.

That was Barbi Benton, who sang it with her own voice. She recorded "Jeremy," so your local record store should be able to sell it to you.

DEAR DICK: Why was Elton John named on the list of worst-dressed women? Who does this Mr. Blackwell think he is anyway? First, Elton just happens to be of a different sex. And personally I think Elton dresses very elegantly. SUE ROWLAND, Hagerstown, Md.

Mr. Blackwell thinks he is a fashion expert, of course, and his annual list of worst-dressed women is a publicity ploy to call attention to himself. Putting Elton on this year's list was his idea of a little joke. Actually, the way Elton dresses he belongs on somebody's list.

DEAR DICK: Is Star Trek ever going to make new episodes? I have heard that they will. — LAIRD BURNETT, New Orleans, La.

You heard wrong. I ran into Gene Roddenberry, the man behind Star Trek, in an elevator at CBS recently, and, as I always do when I see him, I asked him about the current status of the show. "It looks good for a feature film," Gene said. Possibly, if and when the "Star Trek" movie is made, a rebirth of the TV series could follow, but that's a long way in the future.

DEAR DICK: Is Clint Eastwood married or steady dating? And when was he born? ESTHER MAE BELSEN, Prichard, Ala.

Clint and Maggie Eastwood are one of the old, established marriages in the movie world. They've been husband and wife, now, for 22 years. He was born in 1930.

DEAR DICK: My favorite show right now is Ellery Queen. I really like the theme song from that show. Could you tell me its title and who wrote it? GORDON PREND, Stockton, Ca.

I checked with the Ellery Queen people and they say the theme — written by Leonard Bernstein — is as yet untitled. I said why not call it "Theme From Ellery Queen" and they said that was a good idea. So maybe you helped name it.

DEAR DICK: The other day, my son-in-law and myself had a little discussion about who the first Tarzan was. He maintains that Johnny Weissmuller was the first. I said Elmo Lincoln was. Which one of us is right? EDWARD F. L. COMTE, Weirton, W. Va.

You are. Lincoln played Tarzan in 1918. When Weissmuller came along, in 1932, he was the sixth actor to play the part.

Change for $10 to be five $2s

You may be doing a double-take when you count your change after April 13.

But don't panic, because for the first time in more than 10 years, the $2 bill is again issued by the U.S. Treasury.

The new $2 bills will be available to the public at banks beginning April 13. That date coincides with the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, whose picture appears on the bill. Completing the Bicentennial design on the reverse side is a vignette based on the "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence" by artist John Trumbull.

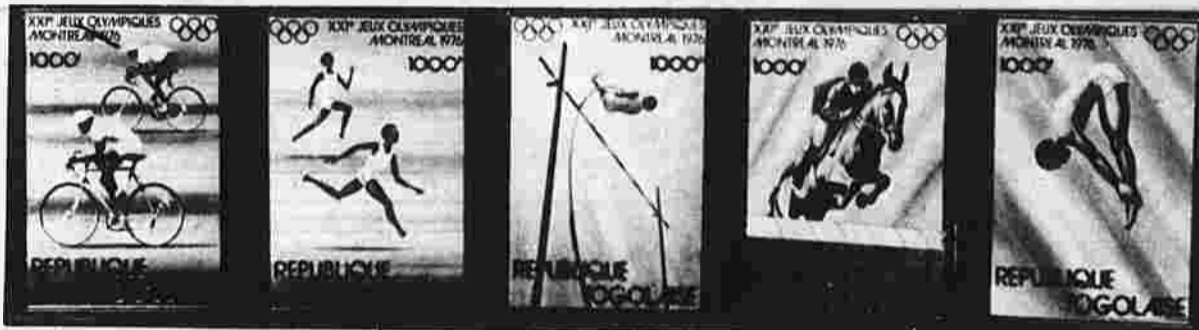

Initially, the Treasury is making 225 million of the new $2 notes available. The Treasury estimates the new $2 bills will also result in a savings of $4 million to $7 million per year in printing of $1 bills.

An average of 1.6 billion $1 bills are printed per year, accounting for 55 to 60 per cent of the total volume of the currency printed. The new $2 bill is expected to replace about half of the singles in circulation during the next several years.

Currency collectors can get a first-day-of-issue memento by picking up a $2 bill at the bank on April 13 and taking it to the Post Office. Affix a 13-cent stamp and give it to the window clerk for a hand-back cancellation. The offer is good only on April 13.

Togo overdoes it again

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

The Watchdog Committee of the American Philatelic Society keeps Togo on a special list called "The Trend With Caution." This is a place for countries that have been given black blots for abusive practices in stampdom.

One of the points they go by is whether there are any unwarranted high values included in the set. This one is really asking for it as every one of the stamps will cost about $3. Their only leg to stand on is that they are printed in gold foil. It is described by the vendors as a stunning issue that will be popular among all collectors. There are five exciting designs, so-called, for $15.

Togo is that sweltering little strip on the underside of Africa's bulge between Ghana and Dahomey. They have a 30-mile seacoast, 22,000 square miles of area and two million people. You might think that they would be in the far boondocks of philately but they are actually one of the most with-it countries. They haven't missed an Olympics since 1960 or a World Soccer match or a moon-landing, or space walk or Boy Scout gathering, or you-name-it's anniversary.

Stamps and coins

Seemingly, whatever has hung in the headlines a while was brought forth a stamp from the Republic Togolaise.

Anyone following Scott's catalogs in making up a one-form-every-country collection would need two from this place because it is in Volume I as part of the British Empire and again in Volume III on its own.

In the course of checking the book and smirking over some of Togo's excesses with a fellow club member, we discovered the 1967 set devoted to Stamp Collecting. Here is portrayed a stamp auction, a store, a packet-vending machine, and exhibition hall, and a father and son studying an album. It is in eight stamps and a souvenir sheet. In a twinkling it became what Chuck's nonphilatelic wife would call "Another of your idiotic gottagits!" We came to scoff and stayed to buy stamps.

Why it's scarce

A writer in Coin World explains why the Connecticut Tercentenary half of 1935 with a mintage of 25,000 is so much scarcer than the later Delaware with 20,000.

The Connecticut, with its Charter Oak and chunky eagle, came out during hard times and went singly into collectors' hands and now reposes in jewel cases untouched.

The Delaware found itself in the midst of a commemorative boom and was snapped up by investors. From thence from time to time many have reached the market.

Just goes to show

Want some Franklin Mint stuff of 25 off? Perera Fifth Avenue, Inc. is offering grab-bag lots of sterling silver medallions, ingots, and plates at least 25 per cent below issue price. Also they throw in bonuses such as a $100 Barbados gold coin with a $599 order. Just goes to show.

Near bullion price

The 1964 U.S. proof set is beginning to rattle its cage. This has the last of the silvers and the first Kennedy half. In its Palmy and overspeculated days it sold for more than $20 — now only $4 or $5. It is weird for this is to be going for anything so near to its bullion value.

A 'stuffing bee'

The Manchester Philatelic Society will have its monthly business meeting Tuesday the 13th at Mott's Community Hall, 7 to 10 p.m. Among other hectic preparations for the MANPEX will be an envelope-stuffing bee. Members are requested to bring handfuls of not-too-awful duplicates to add to the pile.
