Senators begin debate on national priorities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., wants to cut $500 million in defense spending from next year's budget and add $100 million for juvenile justice.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., wants to add $2.5 billion for jobs, health, meals for the elderly, community development and rural water and sewer projects.

Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., wants to slice $6.8 billion from funds for natural resources, community development, education, health and welfare.

Those were among the proposals being made today as the Senate debated a $412.6 billion 1977 federal budget recommended by the Senate Budget Committee. It is $17 billion more than President Ford requested.

This year for the first time Congress is voting on how national priorities should be divided among broad categories in the overall budget. Though its decisions will be targets only, they will carry much weight when specific appropriation bills come to the floor.

President Ford asked Congress to increase defense spending next year but to slow down the growth of many social welfare programs.

The Senate Budget Committee approved nearly all his defense request. It recommended social welfare spending higher than Ford proposed but still below the level of current program plus inflation.

Town budget workshop series begins tonight at 7:30

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

With its deadline date for adopting 1976-77 budgets only 25 days away (May 7), the Manchester Board of Directors tonight will conduct the first of four scheduled workshop sessions.

It will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building coffee room and will be to review proposed budgets for the police department, the town fire department and general government departments.

Thursday in the hearing room, the workshop will be on proposals for revenue estimates, on capital improvements, the Downtown Taxing District budget, and on miscellaneous items.

Next Monday (April 19) in Lincoln Center, the directors will review proposals for health, social service agencies, senior citizens, human services and recreation.

And on April 20 in the hearing room, they will review requests for libraries and for public works departments (including water and sewer).

All sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending a 5.98-mill tax hike for the General Fund, to bring it to 56.63 mills; a 0.65-mill tax hike for the Town Fire District, to bring it to 6.65 mills; and a 30 per cent hike in water and sewage fees.

He is recommending $1,771,385 for the police department — $29,188 below its request but $201,385 higher than granted it for this year.

For the Town Fire District, he is recommending $1,749,367, which is $9,500 below the department's request but $224,247 above what was granted it for this year.

For 12 general government departments, Weiss is recommending a combined $838,432 — down $46,960 from departmental requests but $48,112 higher than the current figure.

Release of funds hinging on big ifs

By ELIZABETH WHARTON
United Press International

If conferees reach agreement, and if both House and Senate pass the bill, and if President Ford signs it and then appoints the six new Federal Election Commissioners, and if the Senate confirms them — then presidential candidates again can draw federal funds by Easter.

It doesn't seem likely.

Congress starts a 10-day recess at midweek, and with only three working days left, it appears to be a long-shot chance all the steps can be completed to put the FEC back into the business of doling out matching funds.

Unless by some kind of legislative miracle the process can be completed before Thursday, the cash window will reopen too late to help candidates in the next day's Pennsylvania primary or the May 1 Texas balloting.

Senate-House negotiators scheduled another effort today to work out a bill acceptable to House, Senate, White House and Supreme Court.

Diane Kozlovich named Miss Manchester

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

Reigning as Miss Manchester of 1975 is Diane Marie Kozlovich, 21, of 122 Sunnybrook Dr.

In ceremonies climaxing the Miss Manchester Scholarship Pageant Saturday night at Manchester High School, Miss Kozlovich reacted with tears and laughter as she heard her name announced as the winner of the eighth annual scholarship pageant sponsored by the Manchester Jaycees.

Wearing a pale blue jersey gown, she walked proudly to the front of the lighted runway and acknowledged a standing ovation from about 350 persons who witnessed her coronation.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kozlovich, she is the recipient of a $400 scholarship from the Manchester Packing Company and a $100 scholarship from the Manchester Jaycees. She also receives a $25 U.S. Savings Bond from the Manchester State Bank.

For the talent competition, Miss Kozlovich performed a classical ballet to music from "Gaiete Parisienne" by Offenbach, in a red velvet bodice ballet costume.

Presently employed as a legal secretary in West Hartford, Miss Kozlovich intends to use her scholarship to continue her education at University of Connecticut next fall. She has attended Colby-Sawyer College.

First runner-up was Sharon Anne Lundberg, 17, of Windsor, who performed a monologue using charcoal etchings of outstanding women in history and finally singing "I Am Woman," which also won her the talent award.

Miss Lundberg wore a pale yellow gown with lettuce ruffled cape collar. She will receive a $200 scholarship from the Manchester Jaycees. She plans on majoring in English and

People are beautiful

There's at least one Manchester resident who's convinced that "people, in general are beautiful," and that there's more good than bad among them.

It all began Friday night, when Doris Warren of 13 Fairfield St. went shopping in the K-Mart Shopping Plaza. She loaded her bundles into her car and drove home. Arriving there, she reached for her purse (to take out her house key). The purse wasn't there.

Driving back, she got out of her car and entered one of the stores she had shopped. The keys weren't there. Outside, a man and wife suggested she should look in all the empty shopping carts in the parking lot. Patiently, they helped her tour the lot, with no success.

Then a young woman she knows only by the name of Laurie and an East Hartford resident, approached her and asked if she had lost something.

The young woman told her she had found the purse in a shopping cart and had turned it in to the Finest office.

Mrs. Warren rushed in and got her purse, intact, then rushed out to thank Laurie, but she was gone. She's bought a Herald "Happy Ad" to thank her, but would rather thank her in person.

Scouts clean up Salter's Pond

This is not exactly a tug-of-war game. These four scouts are hauling a dead vine from the brush around Salter's Pond. The cleanup project, undertaken Saturday, includes removing litter, thinning brush, and cutting dead trees and branches to maintain a neat wooded setting below the dam and along the brook. In the future the town will reconstruct the footbridge across the brook. Hiking trails will be built around the pond. Meanwhile the preliminary work is being done by scouts of Troop 362 of St. Bartholomew's Church. The workers here are, from left, Jeffrey Jones, Steven McDermott, David McGill, and Gregory Hoek. Jones leads the project as part of his work toward Life Scout rank. (Herald photo by Dunn)

MERIDEN (UPI) — Officials scheduled a half-day of school today while striking teachers said they would take their case to the city's businessmen for support.

Thomas Bruen, president of the Meriden Federation of Teachers, said Sunday night teachers would continue their walkout and picket business establishments. He said teachers would boycott businesses that did not agree to support them.

School Supt. William R. Papallo said the 14 schools would be open for four hours in spite of the strike. Last Wednesday, the first day of the strike, officials tried to keep schools open, but were forced to send students home when only 34 of 594 teachers reported for work.

Elected officials of Meriden, the Court of Common Council, caucused late Sunday on whether to reconsider a proposed two-year teachers' contract which the council accepted 11-8 Friday and then rejected 15-4 Saturday.

The proposed agreement would cost the city a projected $750,000. It included a $300 across-the-board raise during the first year and a $275 salary increase the second year.

The council turned down pacts on March 1 and April 5 that had been agreed to by the school board and the teachers.

State law prohibits teacher strikes but Meriden officials were diverted from going to court Friday for an injunction against the walkout because of Friday's vote.

State

HARTFORD — Walter Longyear, executive director of the Connecticut State Taxpayers Association, said Sunday the group is opposed to any legislative action allowing the bonding of Waterbury's budget deficit because it could "open up a Pandora's box and hurt all taxpayers throughout state. Waterbury's town charter prohibits bonding of the deficit, he added.

HARTFORD — The Board of Education and Hartford Federation of Teachers have reached agreement on a tentative contract. Details have not been released pending a vote by teachers which is expected when they return from spring vacation April 19.

Regional

NANTUCKET, Mass. — A drill is puncturing the continental shelf 65 miles off Nantucket Island today, in search for oil deposits. The rig is making a 17,000-foot test boring to determine if rock and sand beneath Georges Bank are capable of supporting commercially viable deposits of oil and natural gas. The project is expected to cost $9 million and is sponsored by a consortium of 31 major oil companies.

BOSTON — Boston was the most expensive city on the United States mainland in which to live in 1975, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. For a family living on a "lower budget" in the Boston area in 1975, the cost was estimated at $10,777, compared with a national average of $9,800.

National

SAN FRANCISCO — Patricia Hearst faced sentencing in federal court today for her conviction on a charge of bank robbery.

SAN FRANCISCO — Union negotiators, frustrated over a lack of progress in a 13-day strike by city craft workers, want Labor Secretary William Usery to mediate the dispute which has shut down public transportation. The appeal came Sunday night after 11 hours of talks failed to break the impasse.

WASHINGTON — Women have been virtually excluded from top decision-making jobs on the staffs of the 1976 presidential candidates, according to a survey released today by the Capitol Hill Women's Political Caucus.

International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Fighting that raged through Beirut and its suburbs all night died down early today, giving hope the country's latest truce might again take hold. On the eastern front, Syrian armored columns were reportedly advancing through the Bekaa Valley.

NABLUS, Israeli-occupied Jordan — Tens of thousands of Arabs voted across the occupied West Bank of Jordan today in local elections expected to reveal new strength for militant committed to establishing a Palestinian state.

addressing, Miss Corbit wore an aqua jersey halter gown. Winner of the Miss Congeniality award was Lisa Ann Tremano, 18, of Manchester. Wearing a striking black and silver spangle costume, Miss Tremano performed a modern jazz routine with baton to "My Sweet Lord." Miss Tremano's gown was blue jersey with matching long-sleeved jacket trimmed with rhinestone choker collar and cuffs. Other contestants in the Miss Manchester Scholarship Pageant were Nancy Grace Secor, Lisa Jean Parker, both of Manchester, and Darlene Marie Mescham of Stafford Springs.

Miss Secor tap danced in a pink long sleeves costume to "I've Got Rhythm" and later wore a gown with a blue skirt and contrasting metallic brocade bodice with long bell sleeves. Miss Parker wore an artist's smock and held a palette as she gave a monologue accompanying an art display. For the final judging, she wore a pale green gown with cape sleeves and white daisies scattered on the skirt. Wearing a white gown with a cape collar, Miss Mescham sang "You're Beautiful as You Feel."

Following opening remarks by Bradley Keizer, Manchester Jaycee president, all the contestants participated in the opening number of the show which was a contemporary dance routine entitled "Freedom" which introduced the show's theme, "Freedom's in the State of Mind." They wore young-look outfits provided by Odele Store.

Emceeding the pageant were Robert Martel who sang several songs, and Sally Middleton, fashion consultant and model. Choreographer for the event was Karen Hjalmer.

Visiting queens introduced at the pageant represented Hamden, New Haven, Waterbury, Southington, Bristol, Enfield and East Haven. Miss Cadorette, who was Miss Manchester 1975 until she won her crown, entered the show in a modern jazz dance routine in a stunning blue sequin jump suit.

Miss Cadorette and Lee Scott, first runner-up in last year's scholarship pageant, who succeeded Miss Cadorette as Miss Manchester 1975, each told the audience of their experiences as reigning queens this past year.

In Miss Scott's farewell speech, she said she hesitated at first in accepting the Miss Manchester crown. She fought back tears as she concluded, "I reached for a star and I missed, but I accepted the sky." Miss Scott will continue her studies at Manchester Community College and intends to go into some phase of public service.

General chairman and director of the Manchester Jaycee sponsored pageant, Richard S. Lawrence, with his wife, Elin, will chaperone and advise Miss Kozlovich as she prepares to enter the 1976 Miss Connecticut Scholarship Pageant at the Waterbury Civic Theater on June 18 and 19, sponsored by the Southington Jaycees.

Artist seeks to do mural of all-black fighting unit

PLAINFIELD (UPI) — Connecticut artist David Wagner would like to go to the U.S. Capitol and paint a mural of an all-black unit fighting a Revolutionary War battle. The Capitol architect says there is no room, and there already are several black men in murals. Wagner says he is not ready to give up.

Wagner already has painted a smaller version of his proposed, life-size mural of the all-black Rhode Island Regiment. He hopes for permission to paint it, entitled "Desperate Valor." Wagner said he was "very impressed" with current depictions. One black man is shown holding George Washington's horse. Another is preparing food as an American general has a British general share his meal. A third unnamed black is shown in a boat at the Battle of Lake Erie. The only identifiable black is Crispus Attucks, one of the first Americans killed in the revolution, felled by British bullets in the 1770 Boston massacre. The proposed mural shows the 1778 Battle of Rhode Island, near Newport, reportedly the largest battle fought in New England during the Revolutionary War. A Rhode Island official said Concord and Lexington were "skirmishes" by comparison. An historic account says the Americans showed "desperate valor" in beating back three attacks by Hessian troops while they were being shelled by British gunboats, according to Wagner.

Wagner, who is white, already has done a 30-by-50 inch version for Dr. John Rogers of the University of Hartford. The proposed mural would be 15 feet by 30 feet.

Rogers, a black author, historian, and specialist in "black history, who lives in Manchester, said, "These pictures" in the Capitol now "are not relevant to the image we are trying to carry."

Wagner said he has "just begun to fight," and, "I will wage a battle with Congress." Capitol Architect George M. White wrote Cannon there was no room for the mural. He also stated a new mural wasn't needed because black Americans already are represented throughout the Capitol. Wagner said he was "very impressed" with current depictions.

Man hurt in one-car accident

Richard A. Libbey, 52, of 185 Brook St., South Windsor was reported in satisfactory condition today at Manchester Memorial Hospital, suffering from injuries received in a Sunday morning traffic accident. Police said a station wagon driven by Libbey went off Hartford Rd. and struck a utility pole shortly after 2 a.m. Libbey suffered head injuries in the crash, authorities said. His vehicle was towed. No charges were lodged.

Other weekend accidents investigated by Manchester Police included: • A 2:15 a.m. accident Saturday in which a car driven by Michael W. Shaia, 21, of 186 Bissell St., went off Florence St. and struck a dwelling. Shaia's car went through shrubbery, across a lawn and struck a home at 100 Florence St., police said. Shaia left the scene and was found about a short time later. He was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital for minor injuries, then arrested on a charge of evading responsibility. Court date is April 27.

• A two-car collision at midday Sunday at Stone and St. John Sts. Police said the accident involved cars driven by Helen S. Scruton, 57, of 149 Deepwood Dr., and Dominic A. Petraso Jr., 16, of 4 Salem Rd. A passenger in the Scruton car — Florence Belcourt, 71, of 48 Deepwood Dr. — was treated for minor injuries at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Petraso was issued a summons for failure to obey a stop sign. Court appearance (not mandatory) is scheduled April 27.

• A one-car accident at 10 p.m. Saturday in which a car driven by Daniel A. Miller, 18, of Rt. 31, Coventry, struck a utility pole on Charter Oak St. Miller, who wasn't hurt, was charged with reckless driving. Court date is April 27.

• An 11:15 p.m. accident Saturday on Lyell and Vernon Sts. in which a fire hydrant was knocked over and a driver — Thomas L. Wallace, 16, of 23 Tracy Dr. — charged with evading responsibility. Wallace was apprehended shortly after the accident when police matched debris at the accident scene to damage on his car. Wallace told police he swerved to avoid a dog, skidded and slammed into the hydrant. Police said they learned later that another vehicle was struck at the scene; the second car was driven by Roland Boucher, 28, of 25 Charles St. Nobody was hurt, police said. Wallace's car was impounded. Court date is April 28.

UAW workers leave jobs at Fafnir

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) — The 3,400 members of United Auto Workers, Local 133, struck the Fafnir Bearing Co. plants in New Britain and Newington today. Employees on the regular shift reported Sunday night that they were told to leave their jobs at 11 p.m. and to picket at one minute before midnight to start picketing. Fafnir is one of the nation's largest manufacturers of ball-bearings. Union members voted almost unanimously at a four-hour meeting that began Sunday at 8:30 a.m. in favor of the walk-out if a new pact had not been reached by midnight. Negotiations for a three-year contract had been in progress for several days. The walk-out began Sunday afternoon, but broke off about 11 p.m. Union members said the company was offering inadequate wage increase and cost of living escalator clause.

'Bumping' dispute may cause rail strike

United Press International says a Railroad commuter service between New York and New Haven, Conn., and between Boston and Washington may grind to a halt if about 750 engineers vote by Thursday to walk off their jobs, says a union official. Frank Doyle of Wallingford, Conn., general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said Sunday all passenger and freight service on former New Haven lines in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New York would be stopped as well. The dispute that could result in a walk-out concerns John J. Hine of West Haven, Conn., a railroad engineer, and the issue of seniority. Doyle said Hine, hired in 1955, was displaced April 1 from his job in Plainville, Conn., but was not allowed to displace an engineer in Hartford whose seniority dated back only to 1967. Doyle said Hine applied to the Consolidated Rail Corp. (ConRail), which took over several railroads on April 1, including the Penn Central of which the New Haven system was a part. A ConRail official would not permit Hine to displace the engineer with the job in Hartford even though the union contract provides for such transfers, Doyle said. Hine followed the union's advice to take a lesser position in Hartford under protest last Wednesday, but Hine was displaced from that job on his first day, Doyle said. He said union members wanted to walk off the job on Friday, but said they would wait until the membership poll taken among engineers in the four states was complete.

The town surplus

There appears to be some debate as to what Manchester should do with the surplus in its current budget. The town has $288,165 available from the 1974-75 surplus.

We are aware how attractive many things become to us when the money is available and we know the same urge to splurge applies to the town administrators.

We think, though, that surpluses are tax dollars derived out of the pockets of the town's taxpayers either directly through local levies or indirectly through state and federal levies.

We would commend the town administrators and directors for operating a tight ship for if fiscal prudence isn't practiced, we doubt there would be any surpluses even allowing for the traditional contingency funds every budget maker likes to work in his overall fiscal plans.

But the real point is that a tax dollar is a tax dollar whether it is in regular budget or in a surplus account.

The same prudence that enables a year to end in a surplus condition should apply to allotting of surplus funds.

Top priority, we believe, should be given to using surplus funds, whatever the origin, to reduce the tax levies needed for the next budget.

This is a moral obligation any public agency has to those who support it with tax dollars.

Second, we think any use of the surplus funds for purposes other than reduction of next year's budget, must be carefully evaluated by the Board of Directors and meet certain criteria.

One criteria we feel is mandatory is that no surplus funds go to operational expenses such as salaries, fringe benefits, etc. Since surpluses are not to be counted on year in and year out, we think it is just good old Yankee common sense to limit surplus or wind-fall fund use to capital improvements or similar one-shot projects which serve a justifiable need.

In many cases, cities and towns having financial problems today are those who lost control of their budgets by using grants, surpluses and other windfalls to expand desirable, but not essential services. When the surpluses vanished, they were stuck with an increased payroll they couldn't cut back without creating antagonisms.

We hope the managers of Manchester will continue to keep the town in a surplus condition although we think a smaller one could mean less tax demands and still could provide a cushion for contingencies which might occur.

To summarize, it is our conviction the current surpluses in Manchester should be used to hold down tax levies next year, as much as is possible. If some of the surplus money is needed to augment this year's budget, we hope the directors will insist the use be limited to essential capital improvement types of projects and not as a means to increase the payroll.

The surplus is not manna from heaven but the fruit of the labor of Manchester's taxpayers residents. It should not be used wastefully or for frills but returned to the taxpayers in the form of reduced levies next year.

An Andover view of Bolton's problem

To the editor,
As a resident and taxpayer of the Town of Andover, I have read with interest the news articles as well as the letters to the editor from various Bolton residents concerning the Andover Disposal Area.

I am prompted to write this letter in response to the gentlemen who pleaded with selectmen to schedule another Andover Town Meeting and urge the "good" people of Andover to attend and vote Bolton back into use of the Andover Disposal Area (we don't like the word "dump").

This implied that those who voted Bolton out were "bad" people. I would like to assure the gentlemen that those people who attended the town meeting were indeed "good" people. For the most part, they were people who regularly attend town meetings, pay their taxes, and many even go to church on Sunday. In fact, I would even venture to say that 99.9 percent of the people in Andover are "good" people.

The Town of Bolton caused this whole furore by withholding payment of the bill for use of this disposal area last year. This bill certainly must seem like a wonderful bargain now, since the nearest estimates I have seen for other alternatives for Bolton would be two, three or even four times more than what they had been asked by Andover to pay.

As a concerned citizen of Andover, I did not vote to disallow the contract with Bolton because of the money situation. The ecological impact on Andover's surrounding area and the beautiful Barnaby Brook did and does deeply concern me.

Bolton's population is larger than Andover's to the point that it is estimated that two-thirds of the garbage deposited at the Andover area is

Basketball stolen

To the editor,
I am a 13-year-old boy and I am writing this letter to you because I read a lot of things in your paper about kids who use drugs and steal things.

Here is a true story. I know, because it happened to me. It is about two ladies who went by my house Monday afternoon (April 5) and stole my basketball. I was playing with it and it rolled across the street right by my mailbox and before I could find my older sister to stay with my baby sisters so I could

The notorious Congressional robbery of 1975

WASHINGTON - Only people born yesterday will be surprised to learn that Rep. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, is getting nowhere in his attempt to force Congress to consider legislation to deprive its members of automatic cost-of-living salary increases.

Last month, Grassley began circulating a discharge petition to get such legislation out of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

The Almanac

By United Press International - Today is Monday, April 12, the 103rd day of 1976 with 283 to follow. The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter, Mercury and Saturn. Those born on this date are under the sign of Aries.

In 1961, the Civil War began when Confederate troops opened fire on Ft. Sumter, S.C.

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt died at Warm Springs, Ga. About three hours later, Vice President Harry Truman was sworn in as chief executive.

In 1954, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, referred to as "the father of the atom bomb," was suspended by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission as a possible security risk.

In 1961, Russia launched a man into space. He became the first human to orbit the earth and return safely.

A thought for the day: American writer George Curran said, "Imagination is as good as many voyages—and how much cheaper!"

(Editor's Note: This correspondent recently fell victim to pneumonia and spent a week in Third Central at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

He has spent several weeks in that wing that overlooks the main entrance to the hospital during the last 25 years, a wing he calls the watchdog of the hospital. His reflections today are about that wing, the pattern of growth at the hospital, the memories of people, both staff and patients, and his writings of the hospital addition in 1952.)

If there is one phrase we feel best describes Manchester Memorial Hospital, it would be this: A personalized hospital. It's people helping people; it's nurses helping nurses; it's nurses helping doctors; doctors and nurses helping patients; people meeting people; people thinking about people. A hospital is people.

We recently heard a physician leaving a patient's room chuckling and then remarking: "Oh boy, people!" These are some of the things patients say but forget to write later when they think about their Memorial Hospital.

Third Central has been a watchdog at the hospital for a good many years. It long was a recovery area for surgical patients, both emergency and elective. It was just off the portion of the north wing that housed the operating room and the recovery room. It has many memories, and it has shared those memories with us. It is an older wing, and it looks longingly at the renovated north wing opened a week ago. East wing patients have been moved there, and the east wing will undergo renovations.

Andrew Tully

The petition requires the signatures of 218 of the House's 435 representatives. At this writing, Grassley has managed to get only 22 names on the dotted line.

Grassley is not surprised, but he's banking on some help from the home folks as it gets closer to election day. After all, the entire House membership is up for grabs in November, and this is a year of much discontent with the high cost of big government.

He may be wrong. The average American voter is not noted for his capacity to be outraged. Yet the law Grassley would repeal is such a rip-off it begs for mass political lynchings.

Last July, members of Congress furiously passed legislation raising Congressional salaries from $42,500 to $44,825. Worse, it added those salaries to inflation for each year into the future without further Congressional action. This it insulated members of Congress from the nation's No. 1 pocketbook problem.

I say the legislation was passed furiously. It is an understatement. The pay-raise scheme was attacked as a rider to an innocuous postal safety bill. There were no hearings on the rider, and it cleared both House and Senate within 12 hours time on July 29 and 30. Says one of the bill's backers: "We wanted to move on this thing before the editorials started being written about it."

After his victory, Johnson warned that "The implications of the new Congressional salary legislation" at the national level are ominous. Will Congress exercise budgetary restraint when members no longer have to worry about the inflation brought on by ever enlarging federal deficits?"

He got his answer the other day. The Senate and House budget committees submitted federal spending levels for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 of more than $413-billion—bigger than the budget proposed by President Ford last January. And why not? Thanks to the notorious Robbery of 1975, inflation now is no longer a matter of personal concern on Capitol Hill.

Plus, it is sick-making, an example of what Cicero called the "arrogance of officialdom." But a toast to Rep. Charles Grassley, from grassroots Iowa. He has the right to buck the establishment.

The idea is to get local businessmen to take part in discussions with the theoreticians on what's going on expressly in northern New Hampshire, to get them to work together," Crocker said. An early Easter parade

Trekking across St. Mary's Episcopal Church parking lot, the three, four and five year olds of St. Mary's Day School open Easter festivities with a musical parade. Wearing costumes and banners they have made, the youngsters are led by Diana Marino. Not shown is Mrs. Mertie Clark who rounded up the stragglers. The school is now accepting applications. Plymouth College makes loans for Bicentennial celebration

BRENDA W. ROTZOLL, PLYMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) - With much of America looking to the past for Bicentennial celebrations, Plymouth College is figuring how this thing before the editorials started being written about it.

Reflections

Hal Turkington
Managing Editor

Andy Marmen of the hospital development office guided us on a tour of the renovated north wing third floor just before its opening and when we had become an ambulatory patient.

Efficiency best describes the rooms, the nursing station, the communications network. If color is therapy for patients, then there should be a reduction in the days of per-patient care.

It's 24 years ago that we roomed in the west wing of Third Central and we have elective surgery. The hospital was in the final stages of constructing three new wings.

Bill Slover was the administrator and his assistant was Miss Eva Johnson.

They provided us with a wheelchair so that we could get around the hospital and interview people and write the story of the hospital expansion. We had a portable typewriter delivered to our room, and we wrote some 15 stories that came out on Saturday, May 10, 1952, the day the hospital renovations were dedicated.

By then we were out of the hospital, back to work, and was given the assignment of covering the dedication. Gov. John Lodge was the principal speaker; C. Elmore Watkins was president of the board and then take the task of responsibility which the Lord gives him and follow Jesus Christ in service and devotion. We shall find as a result of obedience to the higher, divine will that life will have new dimensions—challenge and meaning.

Let us walk with our Lord in reverence and gratitude as we retrace the events of His suffering and death long ago.

Lord, teach us Your will and help us to obey it. Amen.

MCC wins chess tournament

Ron Dickerman, right, of Manchester Community College, and Fred Lorence of South Central Community College, ponder the next move. Manchester won in competition with four other community colleges in the first all-state community college chess tournament Saturday at the Manchester campus. The Manchester team had to win their last four games in order to force a playoff with Norwalk Community College. Sal Leone, undefeated, won the playoff game. Besides Dickerman and Leone, Manchester players were Greg Kelly and Mitch MacFarlane. Leone took the individual title. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Attempted assault charges filed against local woman

Dionisia P. Smith, 31, of 87 Essex St. was arrested by Manchester Police Sunday after she tried to stab her husband with a butcher knife, police reported today.

Mrs. Smith, charged with attempted second-degree assault, was held overnight at Hartford Police Headquarters and was to appear today in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford.

The afternoon incident was reported by a neighbor, police said. When officers arrived, they found Ronald R. Smith, 29, in front of his home. Smith told police his wife was just tried to stab him and she was being held in their home by neighbors.

Police entered the home with Smith, officers said, and Mrs. Smith, who had been sitting in a chair, grabbed a 9 1/2-inch-long knife and lunged at her husband. Patrolman Gary Waterhouse said he grabbed the woman's wrist and forced her to drop the knife before anyone was hurt. Waterhouse aided by Smith, then handcuffed Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Smith was held on a $500 bond, police said.

About town

Kennedy to continue MHS report tonight

Manchester School Supt. James Kennedy will continue his report on high school graduates at tonight's meeting of the Board of Education, scheduled for 8 p.m. at 45 N. School St.

Tonight's report - Part 3 of a series prompted by questions last month from budget-minded town directors - will focus on the Manchester High School Cooperative Occupational Educational Program (COE).

In other business tonight, Kennedy will discuss information meetings with community groups and plans for closing schools in June.

The school board will consider a variety of matters, including teacher personnel resignations and leaves of absence, a change in the school calendar for morning kindergarten sessions, and plans for opening of the Regional Occupational Training Center this fall.

Havlicek saved best for last

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — John Havlicek, who knows the National Basketball Association's "second season" is more important than the first, was glad he saved his best for last.

The Race to Troyer, Bergin places eighth

Maynard Troyer of Spencerport, N.Y., was the fastest driver in the Race to Troyer afternoon at Stafford Springs Speedway before 7,500 chilled fans.

Over 100 cars jammed the pits in one of the most incredible fields of race cars ever assembled in New England. The caliber of the competition provided a solid afternoon of light close racing.

Manchester favorites did not fare as well as hoped for. The best finish from a hometown was Gene Bergin's eighth place.

Final order of finish was Troyer, Rich Evans, Geoff Bodine, Dick Casar, Jerry Coon, Fred DeSarro and Maynard Troyer. Bergin finished in third position in the third heat to gain a starting spot.

The Manchester Sand and Gravel owned car, driven by Jodie Flamke, spun in the heat and immediately retired to the pits. Flamke was not in qualifying position when the incident happened.

Chuck Rubacha's car driven by Jerry Dostie, finished second in the first heat and 12th in the feature. Rubacha was appointed in the machine's

The Seattle Sonics will be just where they want to be when the National Basketball Association playoffs open this week — at home.

The Sonics overcame a determined Portland effort in their regular season finale Sunday 122-131 to finish in second place in the Pacific Division and earn the home court advantage in their best-of-seven quarterfinal showdown with the Suns on Feb. 8.

going to sit out nine or 11 days. Sometimes rest is great, but sometimes it causes problems," said Havlicek, his elbow wrapped in ice as a result of a cross-body block thrown by Clem Haskins late in the game. "But even if we had lost today, I would feel we are ready for the playoffs."

Coach Tom Heinsohn admitted his club, except for Havlicek, wasn't overly impressive. "We were just trying to get the players sharp for the playoffs," he said.

The Celtics finished 54-28, the best by far in the NBA's Eastern Conference. They meet the winner of the Philadelphia-Buffalo mini-series in the playoff quarterfinals. The Bulls play at Cleveland Tuesday night in their down action all the way. Great interest focused on the outsiders, the most outstanding of which was SCCA sports car star Bob Tullius. He led over half of the race.

Final order of finish was Troyer, Rich Evans, Geoff Bodine, Dick Casar, Jerry Coon, Fred DeSarro and Maynard Troyer. Bergin finished in third position in the third heat to gain a starting spot.

playoff quarterfinal opener. Boston shot just 33 per cent in the first half and 39 per cent for the game but took advantage of 27 Washington turnovers.

After a 44-all halftime, Boston took control in the third period and led by 17 points, 87-70, with 1:42 left.

Washington twice had chances to tie but Haskins missed a shot and stepped on the baseline to end the threats.

Elvin Hayes, who fouled out with 6:26 left, led the Bulls with 24 points.

Daring and Pfeiffer pin rolloff winners

Gordon Daring and Sandra Pfeiffer won the 11th annual International "Bowl Your Way to Europe" Tournament.

Bernie Giovino, manager of the lanes, announced the winners. He added "Our local champs will now represent the center in the 11th annual International Tournament Finals scheduled for Washington, D.C., May 28-30.

Daring, of 71A Sycamore Lane, topped 20 other male bowlers to capture the title. He rolled 230 in his first game, 91 pins over his average. Finishing second in the men's division was John Ferguson who bowled 211, 49 pins over his average.

Pfeiffer, of 121 E. Middle Tpke., won the women's title on a 18 game, 64 pins over her average. Carol Powell placed second bowling a 197, 61 pins over her average.

Pro hockey: Five first round series after trailing 2-0 ... Calgary scored six goals in the third period in a game held for more than an hour by a bench-clearing brawl in which Marc Tardif was carried off the ice unconscious and a Cowboy player will be charged with criminal assault ... and Ulf Nilsson stole the puck from an Edmonton player to score an unassisted over-time goal for Winnipeg.

Pro basketball: The Seattle Sonics will be just where they want to be when the National Basketball Association playoffs open this week — at home.

Whalers in sweep

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — It was a player that never set foot on the ice who may have made the difference in the New England Whalers' 3-2 playoff victory over the Cleveland Crusaders Sunday night.

With the win, New England went on to meet the Indianapolis Racers in the next round of the World Hockey Association Eastern Division playoffs. For Cleveland, the season is over.

"In all fairness, Paul Shmyr is Cleveland's best player and my favorite," said Whalers coach Harry Neale. "It would have made a hell of a difference if he had been playing."

Crusaders coach Johnny Wilson agreed with Neale's assessment of the injured defenseman. Shmyr broke a bone in his foot while playing against the Racers.

"Let's face it, Paul is an All-Star and a strong candidate for Most Valuable Player," Wilson said. "If we had had Shmyr, we would have won the league championship."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to that wife who "prattled herself up" and laid down on the sofa with nothing on because her husband called and said he was bringing her a surprise was silly! Why should a man be furious with his wife for pulling such a stupid stunt? He should have been surprised to find his wife stretched out on the sofa without a stitch on when he opened the door accompanied by two business associates who would embarrass any man with a ounce of brains. In recent years it seems that more people are obsessed with the idea of parading around naked. I guess maybe they don't realize that most folks look a lot better with something on. He has taught her a good lesson for being so vain and self-centered. If he had the situation had been reversed, and the wife came home with two of her lady friends to find her husband stretched out on the sofa naked as a jaybird, that wife would have been furious.

PUZZLED AT YOUR ANSWER

DEAR ABBY: You could be right, but my mail has been running 50 to 1 in favor of the wife. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: A wife wrote that her husband had called, saying he was bringing home a "surprise" for her and old murtins and a wife stretched out naked on the sofa. He was the diamond earrings she had wanted for Christmas, she pretended herself up and stretched out (sans clothes) on the sofa as a "surprise" for him. Abby, that husband must be crazy! How lucky can a man be to come home with two business associates to a picher of old murtins and a wife stretched out naked on the sofa. He must be the envy of his entire company. I can't understand why he should be upset with her. SHE should be upset with him for putting her in that embarrassing situation. The husband should bootfoot it with his lady lover for those diamond earrings. She gets my vote for being an ideal wife, and if you won't tell MY wife, I'll make her those earrings myself! PENNSYLVANIA JEWELER

DEAR ABBY: I'm with you! That husband who came home to the wife who wanted to surprise him because he said he was bringing HER a surprise had no right to be furious with her. He has not only the earnings, but also a matching necklace, finger rings and a Mediterranean cruise! R.S.M. IN COLUMBUS

CONFIDENTIAL TO LUCY: It's not always better to have love and lost than never to have loved at all. It depends upon what you've lost.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is not the time to bring up an old, unsettled domestic issue that is a source of irritation. Sparks quit today. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to be bothered today with persons who don't do things your way. Tolerance makes everyone's job easier. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If a charge offers you something for nothing today look for the strings. They're sure to be there. Don't covet impulsively. CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your haste to get a matter settled today may move too fast for your own good and cause future complications. LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Pressure tactics will produce undesirable results today. If you employ them on others, you employ your charm in a sly way. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you find something that you're kind of into, you might want to say today, you may get it back in a sly way. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't get your signals crossed today by being overly assertive in a situation that calls for diplomacy and tact. PARTNERSHIP will assume a greater importance to you this year. Select associates wisely. The choices could be instrumental in helping to advance your goals.

DEAR ABBY: "South wins the diamond lead with dummy's ace plays three rounds of trumps. (One extra since he can afford it). Then he goes after clubs. West shows out on the second lead. He considers a squeeze, but sees that a squeeze won't work. That leaves the last resort play of getting a ruff and discard." Jim: "It isn't as far fetched as it might be because it will work if West held seven diamonds for his preempt. He leads a heart to the ace, ruffs a heart, cashes his last high club, throws East in with a club and is rewarded by getting the forced heart lead with which he contracts."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to that wife who "prattled herself up" and laid down on the sofa with nothing on because her husband called and said he was bringing her a surprise was silly! Why should a man be furious with his wife for pulling such a stupid stunt? He should have been surprised to find his wife stretched out on the sofa without a stitch on when he opened the door accompanied by two business associates who would embarrass any man with a ounce of brains. In recent years it seems that more people are obsessed with the idea of parading around naked. I guess maybe they don't realize that most folks look a lot better with something on. He has taught her a good lesson for being so vain and self-centered. If he had the situation had been reversed, and the wife came home with two of her lady friends to find her husband stretched out on the sofa naked as a jaybird, that wife would have been furious.

PUZZLED AT YOUR ANSWER

DEAR ABBY: You could be right, but my mail has been running 50 to 1 in favor of the wife. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: A wife wrote that her husband had called, saying he was bringing home a "surprise" for her and old murtins and a wife stretched out naked on the sofa. He was the diamond earrings she had wanted for Christmas, she pretended herself up and stretched out (sans clothes) on the sofa as a "surprise" for him. Abby, that husband must be crazy! How lucky can a man be to come home with two business associates to a picher of old murtins and a wife stretched out naked on the sofa. He must be the envy of his entire company. I can't understand why he should be upset with her. SHE should be upset with him for putting her in that embarrassing situation. The husband should bootfoot it with his lady lover for those diamond earrings. She gets my vote for being an ideal wife, and if you won't tell MY wife, I'll make her those earrings myself! PENNSYLVANIA JEWELER

DEAR ABBY: I'm with you! That husband who came home to the wife who wanted to surprise him because he said he was bringing HER a surprise had no right to be furious with her. He has not only the earnings, but also a matching necklace, finger rings and a Mediterranean cruise! R.S.M. IN COLUMBUS

CONFIDENTIAL TO LUCY: It's not always better to have love and lost than never to have loved at all. It depends upon what you've lost.
