

Doctor says Hughes died of sickness called neglect

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — Although he was one of the richest men in the world, the late Howard Hughes died of "a sickness called neglect," according to a Mexican physician who was called in to examine the billionaire in his final hours of life here.

Dr. Victor Manuel Montemayor Martinez, in an interview with the Mexico City newspaper El Sol de Mexico, said he found Hughes unconscious, his body covered with sores and consisting of "nothing more than skin and bones."

Although he had four American doctors in attendance at his 20th floor hotel hideout here, Hughes was not getting the medical attention he needed, the Mexican said.

"Howard Hughes died of a sickness called neglect," he said.

He said he expressed his dissatisfaction to the American doctors when he saw the billionaire shortly before he was put aboard a chartered jet for Houston last April 5 in a futile effort to save his life. Hughes was dead when the plane reached that city.

Montemayor said "it would be very difficult to determine why Hughes did not receive better medical attention."

"Senior Hughes was nothing more than skin and bones, unconscious, with an epileptic aspect because of a lack of cerebral cir-ulation — a situation that was worsened by the inexplicable fact that his head was raised," said the Mexican.

"He was suffering from extreme dehydration and in the previous 24 hours had produced only a quarter of a liter of urine. In addition he had sores all over his body, his eyes and extremities were paralyzed, and there was bleeding from a wound on the left side of his head, apparently from an open benign tumor."

Montemayor said Hughes had the left side of his thorax sunken and his breathing was weak, he added.

Angered by what he found, Montemayor said he criticized the American doctors present.

"I asked them to explain to me why they had not taken him to the Houston Medical Center which he (Hughes) owned," Montemayor said.

"I also warned them that if I got any less medical attention he would die within two or three hours."

The Mexican did not give details on what responses he received from the Hughes medical team, nor exactly how it was that he was summoned to the dying man's hideout in the first place.

Newport prepares for Tall Ships

By LAURIE HORN
NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The summer breezes that will bring more than 100 sailing ships into port in June for a special maritime festival will also provide a windfall for the economy of this resort city.

The names of the majestic square-riggers are as exotic as their past: "Damen" (Poland), "Nippon Maru" (Japan), "Esmeralda" (Chile), "Tovarisich" (USSR), "Gazeta Prineiro" (Cuba).

More than 400,000 tourists are expected to stream in to see the expected 18 international square-riggers and 85 smaller sailing ships finish a Newport-to-Bermuda race sponsored by the American Sail Training Association and its British affiliate, the Sail Training Association.

With the ships will come between 3,000 and 5,000 sea cadets between the ages of 16 and 25, training on ships from at least 12 countries.

With the tourists will come automobiles, lost children, empty bellies, aching feet, tired bodies and vacation-thick wallets.

Barclay Warburton, president of ASTA and executive director of the Tall Ships committee, has predicted the state will get a $30 million to $40 million cash windfall as a result of the festival, which runs from June 24 to July 1.

New money spent in Newport is expected to be in the $6 million to $10 million range, he said.

The male and female cadets are to bunk on board but farm out across the state for evening home visits. During the day, they'll keep busy with competitive swim meets, soccer matches, tug-of-war, sailing races and ship-to-ship exchanges.

The city is pulling hard to organize a corps of bilingual volunteer guides, welcome hosts, hustlers and translators.

Two major consulting firms, Urban Design Group of Newport and Economics Research Associates of Boston, have been hired under a $48,000 grant from the state and the New England Regional Commission to handle crowd-control problems.

"The crowd that we're projecting are probably 80 per cent family," said Russell Brown, president of Urban Design Group.

After the festival, the regatta will sail to New York for July 4th festivities under the auspices of Operation Sail. From New York, the fleet will split in two and port-hop at harbors along the Atlantic Coast.

The consultants are pushing the attractiveness of Newport, known for its robber-baron mansions, spectacular views, and in fact pre-revolutionary sea town atmosphere.

Final plans are expected soon for parking reservoirs on the far side of three bridges that connect the island city to the mainland. Brown said. Buses will bring the bulk of the visitors into town and the consultants are planning a network of trash dumpsters, portable restrooms, information points and recommended eateries and sleepers.

Because the fleet is expected at other ports, including Boston on July 10, most visitors are expected to be of the "day-trip" variety, coming principally from within a 50-mile radius, Brown said.

WATERBURY — The sale of Scovill Manufacturing Co.'s plants in Waterbury and New Milford was announced early today, insuring that nearly 2,000 employes will keep their jobs.

HARTFORD — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today said she still believes the $1.8 billion state revenue package she recommended last February was better than the one adopted by the legislature last week.

Regional

BOSTON — An antibusing member of the Boston School Committee, Elvira Palladino, says Jerome Winegar, the newly appointed headmaster for racially unsettled South Boston High School, should be dismissed before he begins his duties.

TAUNTON, Mass. — Mrs. Natalie Chadburn apparently has given up hope that her husband, Allan, who set out alone in an eight-foot sailboat for Portugal more than a year ago, is alive. Executors of Chadburn's estate filed his will in Taunton Probate Court this week on her behalf.

SAN FRANCISCO — Patricia Hearst is under treatment for malnutrition as well as her collapsed lung, attending physicians reported Thursday.

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco voters may have the chance to fix the salaries of striking city craft workers in the June 8 election. On the ballot will be a proposal to allow labor agreements for more than one year and another to restore over a two-year period some of the fringe benefits trimmed from craft workers pay.

MINOT, N.D. — Minot's big 10-to-36-foot clay dikes were "eroding like hell" today and rain and snow was forecast. But workers were controlling the record Souris River floodwaters that threatened to swamp a third of the city.

DETROIT — For the first time in two years, indefinite layoffs in the U.S. auto industry will fall below the 50,000 mark next week when General Motors resumes second shift operations in two California plants. But the "Big Three" automakers warned Thursday a strike by the United Rubber Workers next week could cripple car production.

WASHINGTON — The Postal Rate Commission wants standardized letter envelopes so they can be sorted and routed by machine to save money. It proposes that mailers pay a surcharge for oversized envelopes and it would ban use of undersize envelopes.

TEL AVIV, Israel — Israel has planned a formal military funeral for David Elazar, who resigned under a cloud as chief of staff because of lack of preparation for the 1973 Middle East war, the army said today. Elazar was pronounced dead at Tel Aviv's Ichilov Hospital Thursday where he was taken after suffering an apparent heart attack.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — A Provisional Irish Republican Army staff officer was shot and killed while trying to escape from a British Army patrol near the village of Forkhill, 40 miles southwest of Belfast, the army said today. He was identified as Patrick Joseph Cleary.

Huge oil rig capsizes; 12 men believed dead

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (UPI) — A giant oil rig under tow in the stormy Gulf of Mexico broke loose and sank Thursday night. The Coast Guard said today 12 men trapped in an overturned survival capsule were feared dead, two others were unaccounted for and 22 survived.

The USS Lexington, on maneuvers off the Texas coast, dispatched helicopters to assist in the rescue and pull the disabled capsule, shaped like a large saucer, from the rolling sea.

"Where do you want us to ship the bodies," the Lexington asked on the Coast Guard radio channel. Divers said they could see bodies floating inside the orange capsule but could not verify the number of dead.

Seas were 13 feet and winds were clocked at 50 knots when the Ocean Express, a $12 million platform commissioned in January, broke away from towships.

"It was rough," said survivor Ellis R. Whitt of Shreveport, La., a motor-man who was among 16 crewmen boarding an identical survival capsule. "At 8 o'clock they woke us up and we did what we could to get things squared away."

"The rig began to arch more and more and we could see that eventually something drastic was going to happen."

"Whitt said he entered the first survival capsule and cast off into the turbulent Gulf.

"It was rolling and rocking but everyone remained calm," he said. "Five minutes later they got the second capsule off, then the rig toppled over and went to the bottom."

"It went into the water upside down. I don't think there was any way to get air because ventilation is at the top."

Whitt said he never saw the second capsule again.

Coast Guard spokesman Dave Cipra said a helicopter from the Lexington plucked the last man from the water to safety and a tug latched onto the first survival capsule early today about 30 miles off the Texas coast.

Cipra said Navy divers, probably operating off the aircraft carrier USS Lexington, entered the capsule before dawn to try to right it.

"The capsule is shaped like a flying saucer you might say," said Stan Cristman, another Coast Guard spokesman. "It's about 14 feet in diameter and nine feet high. It's bright orange and can handle 28 people."

He said the capsule was equipped with survival gear, including hatches, oxygen, life preservers, fire extinguishers and boat hooks. The capsule, assuming it is intact, is watertight.

The rig was named the Ocean Express and owned by ODOCO of New Orleans. It was leased to Marathon Oil Co. of Rockport, Tex.

Town revenue sources reviewed at workshop

Four members of the Board of Directors Thursday night heard an explanation of the revenues the town expects to receive in next year's budget.

The explanation came from Thomas Moore, town controller. While the directors present formed no firm conclusions, they agreed that several of the revenue estimates appeared conservative and that the town would probably receive more from the sources.

Illness and religious services kept down attendance. Directors present were John Thompson, Carl Zisser, Phyllis Jackson and Robert Price. They also briefly reviewed proposed capital improvements and observed that the budget includes $2.3 million for renovations at Bentley and Washington Schools. That will be cut because state grants for the work cannot become available until after the next fiscal year.

In a side commentary on workmen's compensation, Moore said the town is investigating the possibility of a change in insurance coverage. If that change is made, the town would self-insure for the type of injury which is likely to happen frequently, but not very costly. It would buy insurance for the type of work accident which is likely to happen infrequently, but result in high cost. The plan, if it is implemented, would not be effective in the next fiscal year.

BEIRUT (UPI) — Syria and Palestinian guerrillas today agreed on a new plan to enforce a cease-fire and end the fighting in the Lebanon, Damascus Radio said.

The agreement came as a choking sandstorm from the Sahara whirled through the countryside, effectively ending the latest round of fighting that left 107 persons dead and 100 wounded.

More than 17,200 had died in a year of civil war.

Damascus Radio said Syrian President Hafez Assad and Yasser Arafat, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, reached the seven-point agreement after lengthy talks in the Syrian capital.

Arafat represented the leftist alliance headed by Socialist leader Kamal Jumblatt, who authorized the PLO chief to negotiate on his behalf.

The agreement provided for: — An end to the fighting and a unified stand against any faction that attempted to resume the war.

— The revival of the Syrian-Palestinian-Lebanese Supreme Military Committee to supervise the cease-fire until the election of a new Lebanese president.

— Rejection of any form of partition of Lebanon.

— Rejection of any solutions proposed by the United States.

— Rejection of appeals for the Arab League to become involved in the situation.

The radio made no mention of leftist demands that Syria lift its arms blockade and withdraw its 6,000 troops from positions inside Lebanese territory.

Political circles in Beirut said the new agreement confirmed Syria's role as chief mediator in the Lebanese crisis.

The rejection of "American solutions" and any attempts to raise the crisis at the United Nations or the Arab League reinforced this view.

U.S. envoy L. Dean Brown, currently holding talks with all Lebanese leaders, has repeatedly backed the Syrian initiative along with French envoy Georges Gorse, also here on a similar mission.

Another Palestinian envoy was dispatched to Riyadh for talks with Saudi officials and as a result Saudi Arabia was expected to send an of-

New Lebanese cease-fire plan accepted

Another Palestinian envoy was dispatched to Riyadh for talks with Saudi officials and as a result Saudi Arabia was expected to send an official to Damascus to help mediate, diplomatic sources said.

The Syrians were coming under mounting pressure from rival Arab nations such as Iraq, Libya and Egypt to withdraw their troops from Lebanon.

The diplomatic sources said the next 48 hours were expected to be "decisive" in lining up Arab positions over Lebanon.

Meanwhile heavy fighting continued throughout the downtown area as the Beirut, in the Mt. Lebanon region east of the capital and west of the Bekaa Valley. But the Syrians made no move to advance beyond the border towns they seized early in the week.

Christian Phalangists overran the leftist town of Dhour Choueir Thursday and leftist militia related by shelling Christian quarters of the capital from positions in uptown western Beirut.

Shells raged out of control throughout the downtown area as the shells slammed in machine-gun fire ripped through the central squares.

Church of the Holy Sepulchre, site of Mt. Calvary and the Tomb of Jesus, for brief services. The solemn Good Friday procession will give way to the joyous Easter Sunday high mass in the church, celebrated by the Latin Patriarch at the Holy Land, Msgr. Joseph J. Beltritti.

MANCHESTER'S Bicentennial Committee, in an effort to keep all profits from the June 12 parade within Manchester will ask the town council if it can keep out-of-town vendors on the parade route.

The committee had been told that the Manchester Police Department would not issue permits to outside vendors for the Bicentennial parade, but later, was informed by Police Chief Robert Lannan that he had been misquoted.

Lannan told the parade committee that he couldn't refuse permits to vendors holding state permits.

Acting on the assumption that permits would be restricted to local vendors, Joseph Tully and Donald Kuehl, chairman of the civic and fraternal subcommittee, had assured local organizations planning concessions, that outside vendors would not be permitted on the parade route.

Agreements with the local vendors, provide that 40 per cent of their profits will be turned over to the Bicentennial parade committee to help pay for the parade, and the remainder to go to the vendors. All funds for the concessions will also be sought from local firms. Tully said.

"We are not trying to keep the out-of-town vendors out of Manchester, just off the parade routes," Kuehl said.

To solve the dilemma, the subcommittee Wednesday night decided to ask the town council to determine whether or not concessions can be restricted.

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Thousands of Christian pilgrims today retraced the Biblical route Jesus followed to his death, carrying large wooden crosses through the narrow, winding alleys of the old walled city of Jerusalem.

Under sunny but somewhat hazy skies, the solemn Good Friday procession wound through the ancient Via Dolorosa (street of sorrow) from the point where Jesus was sentenced to where he was crucified.

Police said about 10,000 pilgrims took part in the procession, marking Christianity's most sorrowful occasion.

Retracing the biblical route, the pilgrims stopped at each of the traditional 14 stations of the cross, under the watchful eyes of police and troops stationed on rooftops and along the way to guard against possible Arab guerrilla attacks.

No incident were reported.

Reaching the top of the cobbled alleyway, the pilgrims filed quietly through the pillared entrance to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, site of Mt. Calvary and the Tomb of Jesus, for brief services. The solemn Good Friday procession will give way to the joyous Easter Sunday high mass in the church, celebrated by the Latin Patriarch at the Holy Land, Msgr. Joseph J. Beltritti.

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI) — The National Weather Service has taken leave of its usually somber alertness and cautions to warn the young at heart they might catch spring fever.

With the temperature reaching 80 at 2 p.m. Thursday, the NWS warned, "You may catch it this afternoon," in a special statement issued on the subject of spring fever.

"Every year about this time, and especially so after a cold winter, on the first few consecutive days when temperatures reach into 70s, New Englanders experience a very peculiar ailment called spring fever," the service said.

"The symptoms: a feeling of lassitude, and physiological and psychological changes attended by a broad, sometimes silly, grin.

"The reason: when temperatures rise, the body has to get rid of heat. Dilatation of the blood vessels occurs so that blood can be carried nearer to the body surface where heat can be lost more quickly to outside air," the NWS said.

"The general enervation that takes place is simply the result of the body's reaction to the large amount of work going on in the body process of shifting blood circulation and reproduction to cope with a warming external environment.

"For a period of a few days until acclimatization takes place, the familiar spring fever symptoms may occur," the statement concluded.

He took off his coat, plunged into the water, forced the car door open and pulled the driver, Mrs. Anita Seavey, to shore. He had to submerge twice to accomplish her rescue. Bomb scare, brakes delay Pan Am jetliner

BOSTON (UPI) — A bomb scare and mechanical trouble forced statement Thursday expressing his confidence in New Britain attorney John Downes who is to be investigated as a member of the state gaming commission by Attorney General Carl Ajello. A spokesman for the association said, "We are mindful and greatly distressed by the fact that the mere process of investigating in the public mind too often is taken to be synonymous with guilt under the 'where-there's-smoke' principle."

Negotiators seek an end to Meriden teacher strike

MERIDEN (UPI) — Schools were closed today for Good Friday while negotiators for the school board and teachers on strike since April 7 planned to try to resolve the dispute. Meanwhile, sanitation workers agreed to start picking up trash today after two private collection companies hired by the city agreed to work out an agreement to settle the teachers and the city dispute. The strike began after the Court of Common Council, which governs the city, twice rejected contracts agreed on by the school board and the teachers.

Opinion
Young adults are where the money is

The maker of a baby shampoo touts its product for adult use... A baby food company test-markets foods to appeal to older people... Blue jeans are cut fuller to accommodate the mature male figure...
These and other developments are cited by Industry Week magazine as evidence that the youth craze that dominates U.S. society for many years is ending. The babies of the 1950s and the hippies of the 1960s are growing older and the "action" during the next 15 years will more and more be in the young adult market.
A look at demographic projections bears this out. In the 15 years between 1960 and 1975, the 15-29-year-old group in the U.S. population grew by 22.2 million people. But in the 15 years from 1975 to 1990, this group will decline by 2.6 million. At the same time, the number of people in the 30-to-45-year-old group will increase by 21.7 million, after having declined 0.3 million in the 1960-75 period.
Of all age groups, this older but still comparatively young group will show the greatest growth and will make up the largest segment of the economy. This businessmen are devoting intense study to try to determine just what kind of consumer animal members of this group will be.
For one thing, while they will become somewhat more conservative as they grow older, their values and at-

Daffodils are reason
enough for rejoicing

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Spenser, in his "Fuerie Queens," speaks of "The myth sweet-blooming in the bitter wound." It is ironic that this aromatic gum resin figured in both the birth and death of Christ.
Myrrh, of course, was one of the gifts lavished on the Christ Child by the Magi. And 33 years later, as he hung on the cross, it was "wine mingled with myrrh" that was contemptuously offered to Him by the Roman soldier.
Myrrh is obtained from a small, prickly, stunted, gray-barked tree in Africa and Asia by incising the trunk. It has a pleasing odor, something like balsam, and a bitter taste. From earliest times it has been used for making incenses and perfumes, and for embalming; one of the ointments used in anointing Jesus' body after Calvary was made with myrrh.
And on that first Good Friday, it seems reasonable to suggest that Joseph of Arimathea burned the incense used to hail the Babe of Bethlehem when he brought Jesus' body to "his own new tomb," after he "wrapped it in a clean linen cloth." Charity is many things; Joseph of Arimathea dared the wrath of Pilate to give Jesus a decent burial — worthy, if you will, of a Jew.
Like myrrh, frankincense was much valued by ancient healers for its medicinal qualities. Pliny touted it as an antidote to the deadly "Cholera" and it also was recommended for tumors. Wears of the head and ears, dysentery, leprosy, carbuncles and boils. Alas, modern medicine has found it to be without virtue.
But over the centuries, even unbelieving scholars have acknowledged the comforting symbolism of the Easter Story. It is told in all its glory in the Gospels of Matthew and Mark — a tale of the birth of man's hopes. In a world of darkness, Jesus said He would rise again and millions of people around the globe celebrate the fulfillment of His promise.
Whatever one's beliefs, or lack thereof, there is a gentle poignancy of Easter Sunday, especially in the case of Alexander Jarvis, who again and millions of people around the globe celebrate the fulfillment of His promise.

NEW YORK, April 16 — Washington headquarters announced that the curfew hour would be moved from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. to lessen the inconvenience to civilians. Those who needed to be out of their homes after the beating of tattoo at night could obtain the counter-password by explaining their case to brigade commanders.
A fable? Perhaps. There are no eyewitnesses to call the stand. But Easter has always been a springtime festival, an earnest of resurrection in field and woodland. As the Psalmist sang: "For lo, the winter is past. The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land."
That golden sea of daffodils is reason enough for the rejoicing.

Female athletes need help
To the editor,
Female athletes at Manchester High School are beginning to receive the recognition they deserve, but more help is needed. Presently, the girls' coaches must canvass area businesses for funds to provide some 18 trophies to the outstanding athletes. These include a "Scholar Athlete," "All Around Athlete," "Most Valuable Player" and "Most Improved Player." The latter two are given in each of eight different sports in which the girls may participate. The girls themselves choose the recipient of each of these honors.
The annual awards banquet was sponsored last year by the Crestfield Convalescent Home. This year, David's Restaurant has consented to become a permanent sponsor of the banquet. For this the girls and their coaches are very thankful.
However, the problem of money for trophies still exists. We have initiated a fund for this purpose. Any donations, no matter how small, would be appreciated.

Student conduct termed a disgrace

To the editor,
I went to a talent show last week. The purpose was to raise money for band uniforms for one of the local schools. The youngsters and their supervisors did a fantastic job including everyone who worked on the stage and lighting set-ups, poster and program production. And of course the teenagers who were willing to perform really are to be admired for displaying exceptional stage presence, confidence, and ability to perform even during technical problems like having the spotlight go out, leaving the hall in total darkness, during one singing number. The attendance could be termed a "full house," so I'm sure the band uniform fund is feeling quite healthy.
But it was an ordeal. The behavior of some 40, 50 or more young people in the audience was a disgrace to the Manchester school system. This included male and female, black and white. Of course behavior also reflects on the parents of these young people. These students talking in tones you would use to be heard above our normal conversation, laughing, throwing things, spitting things, and "horsing around" among themselves, were so noisy that most of the time it was impossible to hear the announcer introduce the acts and one of the soloist appeared to be mouthing the words to his song because all that could be heard was the accompanying record.
Is it about time the true meaning of freedom is taught in our schools. Freedom is necessary in a democratic society and everyone would be able to express himself and his views. But freedom ends when it interferes with the rights of others. The audience had a right to hear the show presented last week and the performers had the right to be heard and the students had no right to interfere with those rights. This is one small incident. But with this general attitude of many young people, it could be causing a major problem in today's society.
I suggest that the superintendent of schools, the Board of Education and all teaching staff take a long look at the limits of freedom of expression in the education of our youth.

Thought

When Jesus had received the vinegar, He said, "It is finished"; and He bowed His head and gave up His spirit. — John 19: 30.
There is only one theme for this day and that is self sacrifice for it was on Good Friday that Jesus showed His supreme love for us in taking our place on the cross and atoning for our sins. In this act God and man were reconciled — we were forgiven, and fellowship was restored.
The day can only be considered "good" because of the benefits it brought to when God needs our trust, our talents or our possessions we must respond even if it means sacrifice on our part. He gave His all for us. Surely we can offer our best to Him.
Lord, we thank You for the love and the sacrifice which set us free to live the abundant life. Amen.

To the editor,
I am writing this letter in behalf of Dr. Butterfield. He had been my personal physician since 1952. He delivered my last two children and had been a trusted friend to advise me in their health and growth.
I cannot imagine that this dedicated doctor would be so humiliated by publicly being tried in court for being an incompetent physician. I pray that he will be absolved of any failure in his treatment, but his true medical ability will become known in this community. The town of Manchester is a better place to live because of Dr. Butterfield and his works.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Roma Petkatis

South Africa and world hypocrisy

WASHINGTON — Surely one of the most hypocritical acts of modern diplomacy came on the evening of March 30 when the U.N. Security Council — that would-be arbiter of world morals — voted to brand South Africa alone as an aggressor in Angola.
For the record: the last South African soldiers were out of Angola by March 27, three days before the vote by the world body. At the very time of the vote, however, between 12,000 and 15,000 Russian-supplied Cuban troops remained on Angolan soil — having given no public indication they were about to go home.
The U.N. resolution, which also called upon South Africa to pay full compensation for damages to Angola, made no mention of other outside interventionists such as Cuba, Russia, or for that matter the United States itself, which however late and too little, poured tens of millions of dollars into support of the losing side in the recent Angolan power struggle.
William Scranton, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, figuratively shook his finger in the faces of other Security Council members, reminding them of the obvious hypocrisy of the resolution. Noting it was properly intended to deal with the problem of foreign intervention in the southern African country, Scranton said that it "falls badly short of that mark."
Despite his protest, the Security Council proceeded to censure South Africa on a vote of 9-6, with the United States and four other coun-

Caldor leases Grant's

Caldor Inc. of Norwalk, through a bidding process in the New York Federal Bankruptcy Court, has at least gained a temporary lease on the former Grant's space in the Tri-City Shopping Plaza.
Max Javit of Hartford, owner of the plaza, has plans to contest the court's ruling which allows the Grant's stores which recently closed down in several areas, to sub-lease the space.
Caldor's bid was $500,000. Although Javit said he has no objection to Grant's occupying the space, he does object to the bidding process.
Reportedly Javit wants to renegotiate the lease to today's prices. The Grant's lease was to go until 1991 with four, five-year extension options.

The course and final examination was conducted by the Building Officials and Code Administrators International.
Commenting on the award, chief building inspector Francis Conti said, "This again shows the high degree of personal efficiency this department long has been noted for — in serving the needs of Manchester's taxpayers."

Neenah repairs shoes

Neenah Shafer, cobbler.

Coventry
By LINDA LOVERING
The "Coventry Cobbler" in the Old Mill is unique. The reason: Neenah Shafer is an attractive, young woman.

Ms. Shafer was awarded her degree in psychology from the University of Connecticut in 1974. Getting work in her field was hard. Her new goal is to become a cobbler. She said, "They all remember my determination to be a professional." She still plans to remain a cobbler a long time. "It's an unending art, and I have years of learning ahead of me," she said.

Nearly a year ago Ms. Shafer was in Williamatic at the shoe repair shop of Gene Doiran. She has always worked with leather as a hobby. "It was there to buy a small leather tool, and instead I bought the whole shop."

Doiran retired when redevelopment claimed the building his shop was in. He has taught her everything she knows and continues to do so on a weekly basis. Commenting on her fellow tradesmen's reaction to her, she said, "First, they are surprised that I'm a woman and that I'm young. They worry that I'll get hurt."

"But, as a rule, they are all wonderfully cooperative and willing to teach me."

Future plans
She plans to learn the art of shoe and boot making, also the repair and making of harnesses. Ms. Shafer hopes to have a mobile shoe repair shop to enable her to move freely through area towns and farms.

"It's how it was done years ago. I'd like to go back to the old way." She enjoys using the barter trade for firewood or old shoemaking tools or equipment which she needs but cannot afford. She does not advertise because, "I have to turn work away. Friends and family keep me busy."

Ms. Shafer stressed that she is an apprentice-learner. She feels it will be a year or two before she has enough knowledge to run her shop full time. Right now she can do basic repairs and opens the shop from 1 to 4 p.m. weekdays.

South Windsor
Board of Education member Joan Cushman has asked that the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education (CABE) survey members of their willingness to share results of recent achievement tests. The sharing is intended to find out how various school systems compare with others in the state. Mrs. Cushman originally moved to have the information sent to South Windsor by each town. School Supt. Robert Goldman, however, said it would be difficult to compile such a mass of data. Board Chairman Donald Bergibus suggested it could be handled more efficiently through a state organization such as CABE. J.A. Camille Yappour, director of pupil services, said results of various

McEwen to resign; Carilli may replace
Coventry
LINDA LOVERING
"William McEwen will resign from the Coventry Town Council May 4," said Richard Cromie, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee. McEwen has been a member of the council for six months. Jesse Brainard, Republican chairman of the council, received written notice of McEwen's resignation today, Cromie said. Richard Cromie could not be reached for comment.

McEwen and Jack Myles were the Democratic council winners in the last election. The Republican victory, last November, gave Coventry its first 5-2 council. The Republican council winners were: Jesse Brainard, chairman; Robert Olmstead; Leonard Giglio; Robert Keller, and Douglas Whipple. Cromie said McEwen would be moving to Chicago. He accepted an educational publishing firm. When asked to comment on McEwen's replacement, Cromie said, "I personally hope, the Democratic Town Committee will sanction my recommendation of Al Carilli. The Town Charter provides the Republican controlled council with the power to accept or reject Carilli. Carilli lost the election by 19 votes. He was the only Democratic incumbent seeking re-election to the council.

Referring to the close vote, Cromie said, "Al was a hardworking, honest member of the council. The townspeople responded to his council record in the last election." Cromie said Carilli would accept the town committee recommendation if offered. The next regular meeting of the council is Monday.

Post office bid given

The existing post office is on Park St. The Union St. location will also provide plenty of parking for customers where parking facilities on Park St. are almost nonexistent.

Vandals suspected in Holl shack fire
Bolton
Fire Marshal Peter Massolini said the structure fire on the town-owned E. J. Holl property did not start by itself. Vandals fired it, he said. The exact cause of the blaze is undetermined. It is still under investigation. Fire Chief Donato Rattazzi said it was one of five calls the volunteer responded to between late Wednesday afternoon and early Thursday morning. Beside the structure fire there were two auto accidents, a woods fire and a grass fire. He said the structure fire was of a suspicious nature. An old tree near the structure of concern to conservationists was scorched badly on one side, he said.

LINDA LOVERING
"William McEwen will resign from the Coventry Town Council May 4," said Richard Cromie, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee. McEwen has been a member of the council for six months. Jesse Brainard, Republican chairman of the council, received written notice of McEwen's resignation today, Cromie said. Richard Cromie could not be reached for comment.

McEwen and Jack Myles were the Democratic council winners in the last election. The Republican victory, last November, gave Coventry its first 5-2 council. The Republican council winners were: Jesse Brainard, chairman; Robert Olmstead; Leonard Giglio; Robert Keller, and Douglas Whipple. Cromie said McEwen would be moving to Chicago. He accepted an educational publishing firm. When asked to comment on McEwen's replacement, Cromie said, "I personally hope, the Democratic Town Committee will sanction my recommendation of Al Carilli. The Town Charter provides the Republican controlled council with the power to accept or reject Carilli. Carilli lost the election by 19 votes. He was the only Democratic incumbent seeking re-election to the council.

Referring to the close vote, Cromie said, "Al was a hardworking, honest member of the council. The townspeople responded to his council record in the last election." Cromie said Carilli would accept the town committee recommendation if offered. The next regular meeting of the council is Monday.

Post office bid given
The 16,500-foot facility is scheduled to be completed by December of this year. The new facility will keep the post office in Rockville as requested by residents of Rockville. The existing post office is on Park St. The Union St. location will also provide plenty of parking for customers where parking facilities on Park St. are almost nonexistent.

Vandals suspected in Holl shack fire
Bolton
Fire Marshal Peter Massolini said the structure fire on the town-owned E. J. Holl property did not start by itself. Vandals fired it, he said. The exact cause of the blaze is undetermined. It is still under investigation. Fire Chief Donato Rattazzi said it was one of five calls the volunteer responded to between late Wednesday afternoon and early Thursday morning. Beside the structure fire there were two auto accidents, a woods fire and a grass fire. He said the structure fire was of a suspicious nature. An old tree near the structure of concern to conservationists was scorched badly on one side, he said.

Jarman
It's not suitable for dinner at The White House or hiking in the Himalayas. But Jarman's new slip-on is dressy enough and casually comfortable enough for at least 90% of the time. And that's a good record in anybody's league.
Brown, Green, Black, Tan.

Jarman
Jarman makes it easy to enjoy today's fashions, unobtrusively and in the best of taste. Here, for instance, is the classic plain-toe oxford smartly complemented with buckle strap. Why not come in, buckle up and be right in style.

Jarman
White patent leather upper, with the leather sole and rubber heel you always associate with high-quality footwear. Come slip into Jarman's "blue-chip" white slip-on — just right for '76. Also in Brown - Black - Blue - Tan.

Rome's bells silent for Good Friday

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The bells of Rome's 500 churches fell silent as the center of Roman Catholicism marked Good Friday, the historical day of Jesus' death on the cross.

Altars were bare and sacred images were draped in mourning purple in Roman Catholic churches throughout the world for the only day of the year when Mass is not celebrated.

Church bells will not ring again until midnight Mass on Easter Sunday to announce the Resurrection.

The planned climax of the most solemn day of the Christian calendar was Pope Paul VI's traditional carrying of a light wooden cross in a torchlit Way of the Cross procession against a backdrop of pagan Rome.

More than 100,000 pilgrims and an international television audience of millions annually watch the ritual as it is enacted at the Colosseum.

Despite the painful arthritic condition of his knees that makes walking difficult, the 78-year-old Pope has maintained the last stations of the cross, re-enacting the steps to the Crucifixion.

The Pope also carried out the Holy Thursday rite recalling Jesus' washing of the feet of the Apostles at the Last Supper.

Gibbons Assembly to meet Tuesday

Gibbons Assembly, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, will meet Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the downstairs meeting room at the KofC Home.

Dr. John Geoghegan of the New Britain General Hospital and vice president of the Pro Life Organization will speak on "Pro Life and Euthanasia."

A business meeting will be held, and refreshments

MCC defeats Mitchell

By DAVE ROBACK
Correspondent

Four baseball games in three days can take its toll but Manchester Community College, despite signs of exhaustion, had enough to defeat Mitchell College, 5-3, yesterday in New London.

Dawson triple sets pace

Paced by Steve Dawson's triple, the Manchester High track team downed Conard, 82-63, yesterday at Pete Wigren Track.

The win improves the Silk Towring record to 2-1 in the CCL and over-all. Next on the agenda for Manchester is defending state champ Xavier High in Middletown Tuesday afternoon.

Dawson won the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes and came back to anchor the winning mile relay quartet. Wes Fedorchak and Glenn Florio were one-two in the mile and two-mile runs. Ted Buskey, Bob Hawkes, Tom Zaris and Dwight Kearney were mainstays in the field events. Kearney, just returning to action, took seconds in the high jump and triple jump.

Coventry tacks 7-1 loss on Tech whitewash in the sixth inning. Dave Balon reached on a fielder's choice, went to second on a passed ball and after Chris Skoczylas walked, Landry popped up and it was dropped allowing Balon to score.

Pete Ostaszen went the distance for the Beavers striking out two and walking two. His record now stands 1-1. Winning pitcher Rick Gankoskie walked six and fanned 15 to move his record to 2-0.

Cougars set for home cooking

After playing their first six games on the road, Manchester Community College will be seen at home Saturday morning at 11 the locals entertain Middlesex at Moriarty Field. Coach Stan Olander, left, talks with co-captains Paul Placido and Jim Blanchard.

The Cougars upped their lead to 4-0 in the sixth frame. Jack Mitchell tripled and came home on Wellington's double. Joe Banning and Neil Esposito walked to load the sacks and free passes to Larry Morrison and Jim Blanchard forced two tallies in. Paul Placido doubled in the ninth and scored on two throwing errors.

Girls win on four-hitter

With sophomore Doreen Downham spinning a neat four-hitter, the Manchester High girls softball team applied the whitewash brush to Wethersfield, 9-0, yesterday at Fitzgerald Field. The win squared the Indians' record at 1-1. Manchester scored two runs in the third and added five markers in the fourth frame with Kathy Strand's triple being the big blow. The locals completed their scoring with a two-run sixth inning. Downham struck out six and aided her own cause with two safeties and a walk, one of nine collected by Manchester.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Police said Thursday Muhammad Ali would not appear for an exhibition bout Friday night as advertised.

College chieftans deny flip-flopping on regents issue

HARTFORD (UPI)—State college administrators say they haven't flip-flopped on a bill to create a single board of regents, they've just been misunderstood by a legislator.

Education Committee cochairman, Rep. Howard M. Klebanoff, D-Hartford, said Thursday four top administrators supported the concept at a March meeting, then changed their minds when the actual bill came out differently than they expected.

Klebanoff released a confidential document by the college heads which appeared to suggest creation of a single board to replace the four panels now running the University of Connecticut, state college, technical colleges and community colleges.

"It was not an endorsement of the regents concept," University of Connecticut President Glenn W. Ferguson said. The document was notes from a discussion by the four of what a board should be like, if it became inevitable, he said.

James A. Frost, head of state colleges; Searle F. Charles of the community colleges and Clinton E. Tatch of the technical colleges backed up Ferguson's version of the origin of the document.

Klebanoff said statements by the four in opposition to the board of regents were hypocritical. They said their position has not changed; they have always backed up their four trustee boards in opposition to a single board.

Klebanoff said the bill should reach the floor of the House in the next two weeks. He said it was being fought by college administrators because it reduced their power.

Any cost savings under a single board would be long range, and would result from reduced capital costs and decreased duplication of classes offered, Klebanoff said.

"There are no immediate financial savings, time is not of the essence, we want the legislature to look carefully at the substance of the bill as proposed," Ferguson said.

"I don't consider that lobbying, I have made no effort to influence votes," he added. The others also denied any lobbying.
