State
DERBY — Richard Paige, 22, is being held on a $100,000 bond today after being charged Friday with murder in the fatal shooting of his father, Kenneth, 50, at the father's apartment in Orangewood West Condominiums in Derby. The son is being held at New Haven Correctional Center.
VERNON — Hartford Times photographer Eleri Kingston is charging Michael Niemann, 18, of East Hartford, with assault which Kingston alleges occurred when Niemann roughed him up while he was attempting to photograph a highway accident on Rte. 30 in Vernon.
HARTFORD — A high forest fire danger alert remained in effect today for Connecticut, where 500 acres of woods and brush have burned in the past week. The National Weather Service sees little chance for any rain to relieve the situation until early next week.

Regional
BOSTON — The Massachusetts Supreme Court Friday rejected a third request that Susan Saxe, charged with murdering a policeman during a bank holdup, be allowed to act as co-counsel with her defense attorneys.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Wintertime highway salting operations cost $200 million annually, six times the national budget for snow removal, and caused some $3 billion in damages to vehicles, highways, bridges, water supplies, trees and utilities, according to a report by Abt Associates of Cambridge for the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.

International
BANGKOK, Thailand — Thailand's Parliament today confirmed the nation's new cabinet, a four-party, slightly rightist coalition led by Prime Minister Seni Pramot.
MOSCOW — The Soviet Union today announced the appointment of ousted Agriculture Minister Dmitry S. Polyanski as ambassador to Japan. Under Polyanski's tutelage, Soviet farmers grew only 140 million tons of grain instead of 213.8 million tons called for in the production plan.

Syria may pull out troops from civil war-torn Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A new Syrian initiative to end Lebanon's year-long civil war won cautious support today amid indications Syria would withdraw its troops from Lebanese soil. However, the seven-point peace program negotiated in Damascus Friday by Syrian President Hafez Assad and Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat needed final acceptance by leftist Lebanon before it could take hold. Assad and Arafat negotiated a plan that promised a unified stand against anyone resuming military operations in the civil war. They also reaffirmed Syria's major role in peace efforts. Political sources said two Syrian army officers, Col. Ali Madani and Col. Mohammed Khali, both veterans of previous truce talks, were expected to arrive today to begin work on enforcing another cease-fire.

But nowhere in the published portions of the peace plan did the two negotiators mention the leftists' main demand—withdrawal of Syrian troops, who have blocked arms supplies to Lebanon. However, newspapers today said one of the undersecretaries of the Assad-Arafat agreement was that Syrian troops would pull back across the border. Most newspapers withheld speculation on a time limit for the withdrawal, but Al Bayraq said the Syrians would start to move back in 48 hours. Socialist leader Kamal Jumblatt, head of the leftist forces, planned to discuss the proposal with his allies today, and the National Weather Service said that may call for a revision of the crest predicted for Easter Sunday, but heavy rain threatened to push the river higher. More than an inch of rain fell in the Souris River valley Friday and early today, and the National Weather Service said that may call for a revision of the crest predicted for Easter Sunday, but heavy rain threatened to push the river higher. Minot continues to battle rain, wind, mud and flood

MINOT, N.D. (UPI) — Workers fought the Souris River, rain, wind and mud today in the battle to keep record flood waters from braking through clay dikes and pouring over a herd of the city of 32,290. The river was rushing through Minot 8 1/2 feet above flood stage, one-quarter foot short of the crest predicted for Easter Sunday, but heavy rain threatened to push the river higher. Ford economists stick to inflation prediction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top administration economists insist new price hikes for gasoline, steel, copper and lead — combined with the prospect of aluminum increases — do not alter their projection of 6 per cent inflation in 1976. The price rises, all announced in the past few days, were certain to create new inflationary pressures at a time when President Ford was fighting to win the White House on his own. But administration economists said they provided no reason for alarm. "These price increases are within our forecast of 6 per cent inflation this year," William Seidman, Ford's chief economic adviser, said Friday in an interview. Seidman anticipated no extraordinary efforts by Ford to discourage such increases, although the administration is closely monitoring them. Others government economists said they considered these increases to be normal in a period of economic recovery. Price developments over the past week included: — A one cent per gallon increase in gasoline by several major oil companies, combined with a 3-cent, two-stage increase by Marathon Oil Co. — An increase from 21 to 23 cents a pound in lead prices and a 4 cents a pound hike in copper by most major producers. — An increase by U.S. Steel Corp. averaging about 6 per cent on certain pipe and tubing products and about 7 per cent on standard steel rails, effective May 1. — Reports the aluminum industry was preparing for price increases of as much as 10 per cent. — Herman Liebling, chief Treasury Department staff economist, said such increases are "not unusual" at this stage of recovery. "In fact, they are a confirmation of economic recovery."

CANG plans inquiry into helicopter crash

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Army National Guard plans an official inquiry into the cause of a Guard helicopter crash at Rentscher Airport. Neither the instructor-pilot, Maj. John M. Sivilla of East Granby, nor his student, CWO-3 Gary Reviczky of Newington, were reported injured. The Huey helicopter crashed on a routine training flight Friday morning after its tail rotor tore loose and sections fell on a residential area. Sections of the tail rotor fell on the roof of a home owned by William Bonetti and on the parking lot of the Edward V. Stevens School. No injuries were reported. A three-foot-long metal shaft was imbedded in Bonetti's roof. "It sounded like a shotgun going off when it hit," he said. "It must have had a lot of velocity behind it. It would never have gone through the roof if it just fell from the helicopter," Bonetti said. Maj. John F. Freund, state adjutant general, said the last crash involving a tail rotor tore loose and sections fell on a residential area. Sections of the tail rotor fell on the roof of a home owned by William Bonetti and on the parking lot of the Edward V. Stevens School. No injuries were reported. He said the tail assembly of the helicopter will be sent to an Army base to determine what happened.

Here come the bunnies

News for senior citizens

Hello! Here we go again, and news has been sort of quiet around here now that the Variety Show is over. Speaking of the show, this coming Thursday as part of our Fun Day we will be presenting some of the highlights of the show. To help make it go, Helen Flavell and Eve Warner, chairladies in charge of the Fun Day programs, have asked that as many of the chorus try to make it. It should bring back memories and prove to be a fun afternoon, and we hope to see you there. The action will start at 11. Here's a suggestion. Why not come in time for our hot meal served from noon to 12:45 p.m., and then you'll be ready for the show.

Bowling Let's see what was happening here at the center, and we start with our Tuesday afternoon Senior Bowling League at the Parkade Lanes. The team Mixed Nutz won the high triple 2,128. The high team single of 760 went to the Goldfingers. In the men's Class A, Clarence Peterson took both the high single with a 218 and high triple of 597. In the Men's Class B, George Swanson came through with both the high triple of 466 and high single of 151. Over in the women's Class A, Ida Cormier couldn't let the men do it all as she came through with a high triple of 420 and a high single 151. In the women's Class B, the high triple of 351 was won by Betty Miller and Marion James took high single with 151.

Pinochle Next came Wednesday. In the morning we had eleven tables for our pinochle games with the following winners: George Last came through with an outstanding 673 for six games. Marita Labate 599, Sam Shores, 598, John Golly 584, Alfreda Hallin 581, Gladys Seeler 544, Rene Mair 537, Joseph Windsor 537, Frances Pike 536, Jennie Fogarty 535, and Lyla Steele 529. On Thursday, after a delicious roast breast of turkey dinner, we moved upstairs for our meeting.

After opening ceremonies, we heard that Elmer Swanson is now recuperating at his home at 30 Hackmatack St.

Food stamps Gloria then introduced Mr. Frank Santa Maria, coordinator of the food stamp program, who gave an excellent talk about the food stamps and ended the session with a question and answer program. It proved very interesting, and at least a few of the members were surprised to find that they were eligible to receive them. We all thank Mr. Santa Maria for visiting us and it was most informative.

Big Week Just another reminder that May is Senior Citizen Month, and like always we will be celebrating it with Big Week and this year we hope to honor once again a Mr. and Mrs. Senior Citizen. Also remember that on May 3 we are registering for the Wildwood craft class meets every Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m. in the basement here at the center.

Menu for the week Monday — Chicken noodle soup, hot dogs with sauerkraut, chilled fruit cocktail, beverage. Tuesday — New England clam chowder, grilled hamburger, Jello, beverage. Wednesday — Baked ham, sweet potatoes, green bean casserole, birthday spread cake, beverage. Thursday — Minestrone soup, grilled ham and cheese, chocolate tartlet, beverage.

Schedule for the week Monday, 10 a.m. to noon, kitchen social games, one can of canned goods needed; noon to 12:30 p.m. lunch served; 1 to 3 p.m., pinochle games. Bus pickup at 8:30 a.m., return trips at noon and 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, 9 a.m., Square dance lessons; 9:30 a.m., bus pickup for shopping; 10 a.m., oil painting class (every other week); 1 p.m., Senior Bowling League at the Parkade Lanes, also bus return from shopping and ceramic class. Wednesday, 10 a.m., pinochle games; noon to 12:30 p.m., lunch served; 12:45 p.m., bridge games; 1 to 3 p.m., arts and craft class. Bus pickup at 8:30 a.m., return trips at 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m. Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon, card playing and visiting; noon to 12:45 p.m., Hot Meal and Meal on Wheels; 1 p.m., Fun Day featuring highlights of our latest Variety Show. Bus pickup at 8:30 a.m., return trips at 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m., kitchen social games, one can goods needed; noon to 12:30 p.m., lunch is served; 1 p.m., setback games. Bus pickup at 8:30 a.m., return trips at 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Here is a late news flash. All those who were in the Variety Show chorus if possible are asked to report here at the center this Tuesday evening around 8 for a little rehearsal for the Fun Day program on Thursday.

Parkade Cleaners Make Old Clothes Look Like New Pictured above, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Libitzky, owners of the Parkade Cleaners located in the Manchester Parkade, display some of their work that has earned them the reputation of a high quality cleaner. "We guarantee all our work," states Libitzky, "and we specialize in all areas of dry cleaning." The Parkade Cleaners are now doing a lot of work in cleaning furs, suedes and evening gowns for the upcoming cold weather. This is just another area of specialization that has helped tag them "the professional dry cleaners." With the high cost of buying new clothes these days, it is less expensive to let us dry clean your old clothes like new," concluded Libitzky.

A striking mistake

It is a perplexing question why labor-management disputes should so often bring out the worst in men. Union people, who are otherwise so vocal in defense of the American ideals of free speech, fair play and the resolution of just grievances through the processes of law, too often abandon these principles in the heat of that form of social warfare known as the strike.

"Warfare" is not too strong a word. A picket was killed in Cleveland in an argument with a fellow union member during the recent Teamsters strike. Fortunately, that strike was too brief to have witnessed any more such tragedies, and there was only a limited amount of windshield-smashing and other property damage.

Most of this physical violence was directed by striking Teamsters against nonstriking truck drivers (and so much for free speech and fair play). Far more disturbing is violence in the form of sabotage against the property of employers — and thus against the strikers' own livelihood.

When pressmen walked out of the Washington Post last year, they left behind a scene of carnage in the pressroom, having caused not only immensely costly property damage but ensuring long-lasting bitter relations with management, whatever the outcome of a suit the newspaper brought against the unions involved.

More recently, according to the National Broadcasting Company, technicians, engineers and other employees did $50,000 worth of damage to studios and equipment in New York on the first day of a strike. Less destructive, but more expensive, sabotage cost the company $96,000 in unplayed commercials because labels had been switched or removed from recoveries.

When people go out on strike, they do so with the intention of eventually going back to work again for higher pay or better working conditions. Why then this all too prevalent and stupid recourse to sabotage, which only takes the bread out of their own mouths?

Tennis court reservation system is proposed

To the editor,
Like many others, my wife and I have taken up tennis and are enjoying it immensely. However, with the prospect of increasingly long waits for outdoor courts, it has somewhat lessened our enthusiasm to participate in this growing popular sport. Many players we have talked with feel as we do that some feasible method of reserving courts and eliminating long waiting periods for courts.

We would like to see the Town Recreation Department set up a central system of reserving all town courts wherein people would reserve courts in advance and be issued written permits which would be presented to an attendant at the courts. I believe players would be willing to pay up to 50 cents an hour for this privilege, which would help cover expenses of court attendants, with the prospect of increasingly long waits for outdoor courts, it has somewhat lessened our enthusiasm to participate in this growing popular sport. Many players we have talked with feel as we do that some feasible method of reserving courts and eliminating long waiting periods for courts.

With the tremendous increase in popularity of tennis, involving more and more of our town residents, I feel it is the public interest for the town to take steps to improve the present situation at the town tennis courts. Thank you for any action you may be able to take in this matter.

As Gov. John Wentworth of New Hampshire saw his power slipping away rapidly in early 1775, he decided to call the colonial assembly into session. Perhaps this body would help to restore British authority, especially since the governor had tried to arrange the election of representatives more sympathetic to him. When the election results disappointed him, Wentworth postponed the meeting of the assembly.

"Spectator," writing in the New Hampshire Gazette, March 17, 1775 condemned this arbitrary step as the latest of a series of actions by the governor which had "deprived the people from any share in their own government for nearly twelve months." The writer further deplored the fact that New Hampshire citizens had been forced to accept "the sad necessity of being governed by the Crown or its immediate servants, or of being reduced to a state of anarchy."

After Fenton surrendered himself and was carried away to Exeter, Wentworth took his family to Castle William and Mary in the harbor. The governor's home in Portsmouth was promptly ransacked by the Patriots. Although Wentworth tried to issue orders and even convene his council at the Castle these efforts were

Wings of evening

"A Saturday Night Special" Tonight I suggest that you try a "Saturday Night Special." No, I don't mean one of those deadly guns which can be had for the asking. I mean taking special time to prepare for the glory of tomorrow's Easter message.

During my ministry I frequently heard remarks such as: "I tried going to church but it had no reality for me," or the bewildered query: "What does it all mean anyway?" For those who have this problem, and for others, too, I suggest a time of preparation on Saturday night. Just what form this will take depends upon the individual. It may simply be avoiding the fatigue that comes from late hours in order to be awake and alive to the Easter message. It may mean avoiding the kind of activity that is a block to receiving this message. Or it may be a more positive preparation, such as a time of meditation or rereading of the Gospel accounts of the resurrection and the events leading up to that first Easter.

Whatever your "Saturday Night Special," remember that this is indeed a SPECIAL Saturday. It comes only once a year and leads up to the joyful singing of "Christ the Lord is Risen Today" — Alleluia!

The Bible in the wall
Too often we take the Bible for granted or neglect it entirely. The other day I came across a story which illustrates the power of the Word of God.

There was a lady in Spain who made it a practice to give away Bibles. One day she passed a copy to a stonemason who was far from pleased with the gift. In fact he was so resentful of it that he cemented it into a wall that he was building in order to get rid of it.

Then an earthquake hit that area. An inspector, peering into a crack in the wall, saw the book and took it to his home. The story goes that he read the Gospels that night and was so moved by the account that he gave his life to Christ.

Soon afterwards he became a disbeliever for Bible Society in Spain. Coming upon a stonemason at his work he offered a Bible to him. It was the very one that had been walled into the masonry and this was the man who had tried to conceal it.

The startled laborer took a quick look, saw his name on the fly leaf, and set it down to have a closer acquaintance with this strange book. He, too, became a Christian and eventually went as a missionary to a foreign land where he worked many years for his Savior. (P. 20, Am. Bible Soc. Record, Oct. 1973.)

The statement
The last part of our Statement of Faith reads:
"He (God) promises to all who trust Him forgiveness of sins and fullness of grace, courage in the struggle for justice and peace."
His presence in trial and rejoicing, and eternal life in His Kingdom that has no end.

Blessing the honor, glory and power be unto Him, Amen.
"The Way, the Truth and the Life" promised by Jesus includes the receiving of God's grace and the forgiveness of our sins. Because we have "His Presence" both in the trial and the rejoicing of this life, we have courage to continue the struggle for justice here until we find the peace hereafter. This means that Eternal Life is here and now in this life and is not an endurance contest that begins when the days of the flesh end.

Eternal life is, as Jesus said, "To know the one true God and Jesus Christ whom He has sent." This we experience now and will continue to experience after death.

Putting it another way, if we are cast down to have a closer acquaintance with this strange book. He, too, became a Christian and eventually went as a missionary to a foreign land where he worked many years for his Savior. (P. 20, Am. Bible Soc. Record, Oct. 1973.)

This general advice was not given. Ever since the departure of Gov. Wentworth the feeling had been growing that the Provincial Congress should assume full governmental power and should draft a constitution for the province. Accordingly, the fifth Provincial Congress proceeded to draft a constitution that was adopted Jan. 5, 1776. It was the first of the new American state constitutions.

New Hampshire's framework of government provided for a popularly elected House of Representatives and a Council of 12 elected by the House. The legislature, checked only by an annual election, would be almost absolute in power. No mention was made of a governor or a judiciary.

Lasted until 1784
Drawing its power from the people rather than the crown, the New Hampshire government went into operation. Whatever its weaknesses, this constitution lasted until 1784.

Before long, other state governments followed New Hampshire's example, adopting constitutions to provide a basis for government. Ideas about the best arrangements varied a good deal, and there was considerable trial and error with several states adopting more than one constitution.

Everywhere, however, most power was given to elected legislatures and executives were either nonexistent or very weak. Everyone seemed to agree with the statement in Virginia's constitution that "all power is vested in and consequently derived from the people."

Of great significance was the fact that all of the state constitutions included a bill of rights, which promised protection of life, liberty and property, the rights of freedom of religion, speech, and assembly; that Pilate asked of the crowd, "What then shall I do with Jesus...?" (Matt. 27:22)

It is ironic that today Pilate is remembered only because of this trial. But what do you do with Jesus? What title do you give Him? As you look back in history do you consider Him teacher and rabbi, prophet, Son of Man, Messiah, suffering servant of the Lord? He is all of these but He is more than a historic figure.

Jesus IS the Christ. Jesus IS Lord. Jesus IS God.

Thomas said to Him after the resurrection, "My Lord and My God."

Can we stop short of this affirmation? I cannot. The Christian Church over the centuries has always made this statement central. Jesus claimed: "He who has seen me has seen the Father." John's Gospel begins: "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

A modern scholar writes:
"Jesus... must have been now and always of God — that the divine character which He presented needs to be recognized as eternal in its significance and transcendental in its origin. The light which He had caused to shine in their hearts was merely the reflected light as it were of the light which issued from the depths of His own being."
from Born: The Parable of the Mustard Seed
Rather than asking, as did Pilate, "What shall I do with Jesus?" the real question for us today might well be:
"WHAT IS JESUS GOING TO DO WITH US?"

"Ascension Hymn"
The joy of Easter is as old as that first resurrection day yet it bursts with renewed glory every year for those who believe. The Venerable Bede, 672-735, in the last verse of an Easter hymn wrote:
"Be Thou our present joy, Oh Lord, Who wilt be ever our reward, And, as the countless ages flow, May all our glory be in Thee!"

Coach plans soccer program

East Hartford
SHEILA TULLER

When East Hartford High School's varsity soccer season ended after a losing season, Coach John Warren was determined to build the soccer program in town.

With the help of the park department, a soccer program for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders was started. From the end of October to early December (with a break from the weatherman), Warren taught basic skills. The boys put the skills to use playing games among themselves at Labor Field every Saturday afternoon.

Because numbers and zeal grew, the program continued inside at the Pease High gym through the winter. Warren, with park department assistants John Corso and Dan Lavey, continued drills and games every Saturday afternoon.

At the end of the winter program, Park Department Director Frank DeGregorio planned a program for they are more confident on the field. East Hartford's JV team is proof of this point as most of them learned the game at an earlier age. They posted a winning record last season. Warren said, "It's pretty tough teaching older boys the game and then expecting them to beat teams from towns where soccer has been played for years and summer programs are available."

Many area towns have fielded soccer teams for years. Warren, who played for the Glastonbury High soccer team, said, "Though soccer is an old sport, it's new to East Hartford where, like in many other areas, it's gaining in popularity from the athlete's and the fan's point of view."

More boys are interested in playing and more people are watching. Area fans of the Manchester-Wethersfield tournament game proved that point last fall.

Warren feels teaching skills at an earlier than high school age is very important. Players grow with the right moves. With more experience,

School calendar adopted

The calendar for the next school year was adopted without the complete approval of the Board of Education this week.

The calendar puts back the full week's vacation in February, calls for 182 school days starting Sept. 8 and ends June 22 with a half-day session.

It includes 21 days of vacations and holidays and six curriculum days when school will be in session a half day. There will only be one general staff meeting day prior to schools opening in September. That will be on Sept. 7. Usually there are two orientation days for staff members.

Top seeds finalists in tennis

NEW YORK (UPI) - Women dominated the scene Friday when the two leading ladies of tennis - Chris Evert and Evonne Goolagong - advanced to today's finals of the $150,000 Virginia Slims Tennis Championship in Los Angeles.

The top-seeded Goolagong started cautiously but finished strongly to defeat Martina Navratilova, 6-4, 7-5, in the tournament's final day of round-robin play.

NEW YORK (UPI) - Washington and baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn were left out in the cold today after American League owners voted unanimously Friday to proceed with their plans to expand to Toronto.

Kuhn's authority was strongly challenged by the AL owners and AL President Lee MacPhail, who said the league "vigorously disputes the authority of the commissioner to retroactively interfere with its expansion to Toronto."

The AL voted March 26 to expand to Seattle and Toronto for next season, but a week later Kuhn blocked the proposed move to Toronto unless the league first lived up to a prior commitment to replace the Washington franchise, which moved to Texas five years ago.

The AL submitted a compromise plan that would have scheduled a certain number of games in Washington next year, but Kuhn found the compromise unsuitable.

Carroll satisfied with White Sox

BOSTON (UPI) - Clay Carroll has no regrets about leaving the World Champion Cincinnati Reds for the 'new look' Chicago White Sox.

For one thing, he likes those eye-catching blue-and-white "clam digger" uniforms that everyone's talking about.

"You don't have to tuck them in," said Carroll. "You sorta feel restricted when you have to tuck the shirts in" on other uniforms.

Carroll satisfied with White Sox

Carroll, 34, a veteran right-hander who capped eight seasons as a relief pitcher with Cincinnati by winning the final game of the 1975 World Series against Boston, pitched four innings of shutout relief against the Red Sox in his first appearance of the year Thursday.

He scattered three hits and struck out four, giving up two walks to preserve an 8-4 win for starter Bart Johnson. It was the fourth loss in six games for the American League champs.

"I really wanted to do well in my first time out," said Carroll, "because a victory can mean more to our team in this park now than it does later on."

Carroll satisfied with White Sox

The two teams met again today. Wilbur Wood (1-1) was due to start for Chicago against Bill Lee (0-0).

Despite his solid World Series performance, Carroll said he was glad to join the White Sox because his career with the Reds was headed downhill.

"I could see it coming in Cincinnati. They brought up a couple of good pitchers and I wasn't pitching much," he said. "So I jumped at the opportunity. I like it here with the White Sox. We have a good ballclub, good talent. They can hit, field and run. If I wasn't happy, I wouldn't be here."

Carroll satisfied with White Sox

"I have no regrets. And besides, I like the uniforms."

Homecoming big day for Bucs' Doc Medich

NEW YORK (UPI) - The folks from Aliquippa had to be proud. The kid from Hopewell High had come home and he saved his first National League victory for their team.

It's been a long time since Doc Medich pitched before the fans who "knew him when," but the Pittsburgh Pirates' newly acquired right-hander made his homecoming a memorable one Friday night, hurling an eight-hit, 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

"It was more than just a ball game for me," said Medich, who grew up in Aliquippa, Pa., a suburb of Pittsburgh, before being signed by the New York Yankees in 1970. "I realized there were probably a lot of people in the stands who had a personal interest in me because they've been following my career. So many of them watched me grow up and play baseball around here."

Medich got the runs he needed in the fourth inning, when Dave Parker crased a 10 Mets' lead with a two-run single after a walk to Willie Stargell and a double by Richie Zisk. The win was the unbeaten Pirates' fifth straight.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, San Francisco routed Cincinnati, 14-7, Houston whipped San Diego, 4-1, and Atlanta pumpled Los Angeles, 3-1.

Over in the American League, Milwaukee downed Texas, 3-1, Kansas City bested Cleveland, 5-3, and California shaded Detroit, 6-5.

Giants 14, Reds 4
Bobby Murcer, who had four RBIs, belted a two-run, fifth-inning homer to send San Francisco off to its one-sided rout of the world champions. The Giants pounded out 18 hits and five Cincinnati pitchers and capped the game with a six-run ninth, with Murcer's two-run single the final blow.

Astros 4, Padres 1
Cliff Johnson doubled home Bob Watson to break up a 1-1 sixth-inning tie and Houston scored three more runs in the frame to deal San Diego rookie Dave Wehrmeister his first major league loss. John Grubbs' solo homer in the third accounted for the lone Padres run.

Braves 3, Dodgers 1
Darrell Evans slammed a three-run homer in the fifth inning to spoil the initial comeback effort by Los Angeles southpaw Tommy John. John, making his first appearance since rupturing an elbow ligament in 1974, had blanked Atlanta on game into extra innings with a run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning, won it for California with one out in the 11th on a base hit that scored Dave Chalk from second. Chalk had opened the inning with a single off Detroit loser Steve Grilli.

Putout recorded in rundown

Manchester High first baseman Mike Quessel has just tagged out Concord player during a 11-2 loss at Memorial Field Thursday. Second baseman Frank Livingston backs up play.

The top-seeded Goolagong started cautiously but finished strongly to defeat Martina Navratilova, 6-4, 7-5, in the tournament's final day of round-robin play.

Evert, the No. 2 seed, was forced to go three sets before subduing upset-minded Virginia Wade of England, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

Goolagong fell behind, 1-4, but won the next five straight games to win the first set, 6-4. After the score was tied five-all in the second set, Goolagong's play improved and she set only two points in winning the next two games to clinch the match, the final point coming on a double fault.

Judy Rankin early leader

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) - Although she wasn't on the road, defensive driver in bad weather still paid off for Judy Rankin.

"I was driving defensively off the tee, playing the safest way I could see," Mrs. Rankin said after shooting a 4-under-par 68 to take Friday's first-round lead in the $80,000 Karsten-Ping LPGA Open.

The ladies teed off in wet, 48-degree weather over the McCormick Ranch Golf Course where the tournament was moved after a postponement Thursday.

Judy Rankin early leader

Play was suspended for an hour because of a downpour at midday Friday, and rain soaked the course again shortly after play ended. The low 60 shooters and ties after today's 18 holes advance to Sunday's final round to decide the $14,000 first prize.

Two veterans, Sandra Palmer and Marlene Hagge, were the only players to join Mrs. Rankin with sub-par rounds. Miss Palmer had a 35-70 and Miss Hagge a 34-37-71. Tied at even-par were Carol Mann, Kathy Aherne, Sandra Haynie and Amy Alcott.

Elated with his first lead post, Diminico reports the beautifully landscaped course adjacent to Rt. 2 is open daily from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. with longer hours in the evening when Daylight Saving Time goes into effect. Then the course will be in operation from dawn to dusk.

A former standout golfer at both East Catholic and the University of Hartford, Diminico plans a full schedule of weekend tournaments. He'll also be available daily for lessons.

The Glastonbury course was designed by Jeffrey Corrish and is owned by William Monaco.

Opened last May, the Neipsic course features holes ranging from 100 to 230 yards in distance. Without any holidays, one can play the course in 90 minutes.

On a heavy weekend with favorable conditions, the course can handle between 200 and 250 golfers.

Greens fees are applicable for nine, 18 and 26 holes with special reduced prices for ladies days, senior citizens and children playing golf with adults.

Board appropriated $100,000 from town's surplus accounts

Week in review

With fiscal problems very much in its thoughts and with a decision on Manchester's 1976-77 tax rates only three weeks away, the Board of Directors this week appropriated only $100,000 of available 1974-75 surplus, instead of the $210,000 requested by Town Manager Robert Weiss.

The action was on a compromise worked out by Deputy Mayor John Thompson, who predicted the town might wind up with a surplus in excess of $300,000 for the current fiscal year (ending June 30).

The board approved a two-year contract with the 80-member Municipal Employees Group. The pact provides an average 5.44 per cent increase in the first year and 5.7 per cent in the second (for the combined cost of step increments and wages).

The board approved spending $18,000 for an emergency truck for the town fire department and approved a new fee schedule for cemetery service and grave spaces. The new fees will be in effect as of May 1.

Monday, the state released $281,400 to Manchester as the state's 15 per cent cost share of the $1,876,000 Urban Systems program planned for W. Middle Tpke. and Adams St.

The announcement clears the way for advertising for construction bids. The federal 75 per cent share already was authorized. The town absorbs the remaining 10 per cent cost.

unanimously endorsed U.S. Rep. William Cotter and State Rep. Francis Mahoney and Ted Cummings for re-election. The committee met Wednesday night to complete plans for the April 27 Democratic caucus for choosing slates of delegates to be voted upon at a May 11 presidential preference primary.

Business

Town directors gave their okay this week for developer Kenneth Burkamp's plans to use a strip of town-owned land at the rear of his planned mini-mall in downtown Manchester.

Lydall Inc. President Millard Pryor told company stockholders this week that first quarter sales set a record and earnings were up 106 per cent. The company's annual meeting was Wednesday.

In its first optimistic report in some time, Pioneer Systems Inc. listed first quarter earnings of $336,000, compared to a $1,112,000 loss one year earlier.

Education

The Manchester High School Cooperative Occupational Education Program (COEP) has grown rapidly in recent years due to increased student interest in preparing for work, the Board of Education learned this week.

Vocational Education Director Neil Lawrence said more than 400 COEP students are employed by 152 local businesses. In total, the COEP students work about 27,500 hours a month and earn about $56,500 a month.

In other action this week, the local school board approved a "memorandum of understanding" for Manchester Community College's role in the Regional Occupational Training Center, which opens this fall.

New queen

Manchester's new queen is Diane Marie Kozlovich of 122 Sunnybrook Dr., who won the eighth Miss Manchester Scholarship Pageant sponsored by the Manchester Jaycees.

She won $500 in scholarships.

Police

Police Chief Robert Lannan announced the names of three new patrolmen who will be sworn in next Thursday, bringing the Manchester Police Department up to its full strength of 85 officers.

In another police personnel matter, Town Counsel Victor Moses ruled that a grievance hearing scheduled Monday will be closed to the public. It deals with Policeman Brian Rooney's appeal of a Jan. 6 demotion from sergeant to patrolman.

Health fair

Manchester's first Health Fair was considered a success by the town health department and the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, co-sponsors of the event.

Drama in Manchester

The Manchester Community College drama department will produce Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" on April 22, 23 and 24. The play will be presented at 8:30 p.m. each night at the college auditorium at the Bidwell St. campus. Tickets will be available at the door (646-4900, extension 259).

The Little Theatre of Manchester will present "Wait Until Dark," a mystery-thriller by Frederick Knott, on May 19, 21 and 22 at East Catholic High School. Betty Spalla will direct the drama, which replaces the previously announced LTM production of Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo."

Because the Little Theatre production will be presented on three nights instead of the usual four-night, two-weekend run, patrons are being asked to specify which night they wish to attend. The information should be returned promptly so seats can be assured.

Rodgers musicals

The story of Noah and the Ark will be created through the magic of puppets and people in the Richard Rodgers musical, "Two by Two," tonight through April 24 at the Harriet S. Jorgensen Theater, University of Connecticut, Storrs (429-2912).

"South Pacific," with music by Richard Rodgers, will be presented by the Aetna Players April 23 and 24 at the Aetna Life & Casualty Auditorium, 151 Farmington Ave., Hartford. Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. (273-7343).

Dinner theaters

Theodore Bikel is starring in "Zorba!" through April 25 at the Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor. Opening April 27, and playing through June 20, is "Damn Yankees," starring Jim Pritchett.

Opening April 20 at the Chateau de Ville Dinner Theatre in East Windsor is Martha Raye in "Everybody Loves Opal." The show runs through May 16.

Downstate theater

The Yale Repertory Theatre presents Shakespeare's "Troilus and Cressida" through May 15 at the theater, corner of Chapel and York Sts., New Haven (436-1600).

Edith Wharton's "The House of Mirth" is playing through May 7 at the Long Wharf Theatre in New Haven (787-4284).

The 1976 season of the Goodspeed Opera House, East Haddam, opens May 4 with the revival of "Dearest Enemy," the Rodgers and Hart musical. It will play through June 20.

Weekend

Weekend, an entertainment and television supplement, is published each Saturday by The Manchester Evening Herald, Herald Square, Manchester, Conn. 06040. Deadline for Forum of the Arts: Eight days before publication. Advertising deadline: Five days before publication.

Wedding in 'Our Town'

Jim Joy, right, who plays the stage manager in "Our Town" presented by Manchester Community College, is shown in the wedding scene with Danielle Pelletier as Emily Webb and Jim Pasquell as George Gibbs. The show will be presented in the MCC Bidwell St. auditorium April 22 to 24. (Herald photo by Dunn)

'76 Shrine Circus to open Monday

The 44th annual Sphinx Temple Shrine Circus will open Monday for a seven-day performance schedule at the State Armory on Broad St. in Hartford.

The spectacular, 22-act show features aerial feats, clowns, and jungle animals. Slated for performances are "The Sensational Swaying Stars," "Mr. Rhythm, the World's Most Talented Horseman," "The Performing Pachyderms of Eloise Berchtold," and many others.

Performances are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Advanced seat reservations are being taken and general admission tickets are available on the day of the show.

Travelogue series

Seven narrated travel films will be featured in the 1976-77 travelogue series at Hartford's Bushnell Memorial Hall. Subjects include Rome, Poland, Afghanistan, Israel, New Zealand, Hawaii and the sea.

TOE TOE THE CLOWN ...at the Shrine Circus

Musical events

The Hartford Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Arthur Winograd, will present a concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. at Hartford's Bushnell Memorial Hall. It will feature pianist Andre Watts in MacDowell's Piano Concerto and Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

Other Bushnell events include a performance of traditional Irish folk music by the Chieftains, at 8 p.m. on April 24, and a two-performance show by Loretta Lynn on April 25 at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Information about the Loretta Lynn show is available by telephoning 522-2209. Information about other Bushnell events is available by telephoning 246-6807.

Musical events at the University of Connecticut, Storrs, include a University Concert Band concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Jorgensen Auditorium and a performance by guitarist Timothy Olbrych at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday at Von der Mehden Recital Hall. The Wednesday night show is free. Call 486-3728 for Jorgensen information.

On April 24, the Marion Brown Group will present a program of contemporary jazz at Real Art Ways, 197 Asylum St., Hartford (525-5521).

On Thursday, Stephen Blair will present a concert on the Moog synthesizer at Engleman Hall, Southern Connecticut State College, New Haven. It's free.

Exhibits in the state

Charles B. Ferguson, a Farmington resident and well-known artist, is exhibiting his work through May 15 at the Barnes Gallery of the Loomis Chaffee School, Windsor. Ferguson, who has exhibited throughout New England, is co-owner of the Grist Mill Art Gallery in Farmington.

An exhibit of 16th Century medieval armor is now at the Children's Museum of Hartford, 950 Trout Brook Dr., West Hartford. On display are various pieces such as a jousting suit, combat armor, pole arms and lances, swords and parade shields.

Mystic Seaport Inc. in Mystic has opened a new shipbuilding exhibit, dominated by the 92-foot-long keel of a 19th Century whaleship, to introduce museum visitors to the crafts of shipbuilding and restoration. The exhibit is at the Seaport's Preservation Shipyard.

For the children

Foot Prints Community Arts Center at 466 Main St., Manchester, will present the Jazna Zahl Puppet Theatre Sunday at 2 p.m. It's for children ages 4 to 12. Tickets will be available at the door.

The Ragbag Children's Theater Ensemble, a University of Connecticut traveling troupe for tykes, will present "The Return of Little Red Riding Hood" at Coventry schools this week. The group will appear Wednesday and Friday at the Coventry Grammar School and April 28 at Coventry's Robertson School.

Film, lecture at MCC

"Culebra," a film, and "Super Port," a slide show, will be presented Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Manchester Community College student center, Bidwell St.

At noon on Friday, Susan Ellman will speak of "Women and Psychology" at the MCC Women's Center, Bidwell St. Both events are free.

Redd inks ABC pact

ABC-TV and Redd Foxx, star of NBC-TV's "Sanford and Son," have signed a multi-million-dollar, long-term agreement in which Foxx will come to ABC in 1977-1978. Foxx will star in his own comedy-variety series for ABC in that season. Meanwhile, through 1976-1977, he's committed to the NBC-TV sitcom, which is returning for its fifth season this fall.

In drama

Ariane Munker plays Marianne Randolph on NBC-TV's daytime drama series, "Another World."

Ask Kleiner
 By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I would like to know if Richard Thomas has done a Bicentennial Minute and, if not, does he plan to? R. PRESS, Stockton, Ca.
 Yes, Thomas' Minute has come and gone. If you missed it, stick around until 2076, when they'll all be repeated for our Tricentennial.

DEAR DICK: Are Roy Clark and Buck Trent of Hee Haw related? LORETTA O'TOOLE, Troy, Ohio
 No.

DEAR DICK: I used to watch When Things Were Rotten, but then it disappeared. I was recently watching Don Adams' Screen Test on which they mentioned it as if it were still on the air. What happened to it? JENNIFER ROSSIE, Canton, N.Y.
 The Don Adams show - one of TV's all-time worsts - is taped a long time before it goes on the air. When that show you watched was made, When Things Were Rotten was still being shown. But it has disappeared, victim of low ratings and, primarily, unfunny scripts.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me what new shows Scott Jacoby will be playing in? Is he still acting? D.M.M., Meriden, Conn.
 Yes, Scott is still acting. His agent, Barry Solomon, says he has no definite commitment now for a new show "but there are a lot of possibilities, although we haven't firmed anything up." That's agent talk for they're dickering over money. Scott, incidentally, is 19 now.

DEAR DICK: Did Paul Michael Glaser and David Soul of Starsky and Hutch ever make any movies or are they planning to? Also, do you know if the series is going to be continued next season? M. GRABASKAS, Toronto, Ohio
 Glaser was in one - "Butterflies Are Free" - before Starsky and Hutch. Soul made a few, including "Magnum Force" and he has one called "Dog Pound Shuffle" soon to be released. Glaser is currently acting on stage, during his vacation, appearing in "Luther" in Atlanta. And, yes, the series will definitely be on again next season.

Most 'bridge' specimens show same wear

By RUSS MacKENRICK

The gargantuan grizzly on this coin is symbolic of the 26 days that California was a republic all by itself. It was still supposed to be a part of Mexico in June 1846, when a group of inspired settlers in the town of Sonoma elected themselves a president and ran up a flag with a bear and a star on a white ground. Cooler heads soon prevailed and the citizens of the "republic" threw in their lot with the United States.

Stamps and coins

The bear survives on the state flag of California, on their 1925 Jubilee half dollar, and, as you see, on the Bay Bridge half, minted in 1936. The occasion for the latter was the opening of a $77 million bridge from San Francisco to Oakland. It has some world record piers that go down as far as 237 feet below the low tide level.

There was an overdone mintage of this coin and eventually almost a third of the number were melted down. There are still plenty of them available but few are in top condition as they were jammed into rolls, then poured out and sold to motorists near the bridge locations. Hence you nearly always see them with wear spots at the points indicated by the arrows — the left shoulder of the bear and the cloud above the bridge.

For this reason the writer in Coin World feels that gem specimens may double in value soon. At present the Red Book lists it at $26 in extra fine and $50 uncirculated.

The great monetary difference between Tweedledee and Tweedledum in coins has fostered the recent upsurge of the Sheldon, or MS-70, system of grading. (MS means mint state). Here, for instance, an almost uncirculated piece is given a rating of MS-50. Then they go up in jumps of 5 to MS-70 — a flawless coin.

The everyday references are the "Photograde" by J.F. Ruddy, and the Brown and Dunn "Guide..." These books give eight or nine steps, which should be enough, but the Sheldon system slices the you-know-what much thinner. It is on the verge of being designated as the "Standard" by the American Numismatic Association. A chemistry professor at Brown University, in a joshing letter to Coin World, suggests more meaningful grades like GU for Grungy Uncirculated.

New wildlife issues

Montserrat has announced an issue of 15 flowering trees. Each stamp shows the tree full view and the flowers close up. The spang new country, Tuvalu, has four stamps with coins and wildlife — octopus, crab, flying fish, and a green turtle — a two for one deal all the way.

Postal stationery

Anyone immune to boredom may do well to collect and study postal stationery. Barbara Mueller's monthly column in Linn's, called "U.S. Classics," is about to explore this topic. She speaks of the multiple characteristics of stamped envelopes that make them more difficult to tabulate than adhesive stamps.

She refers to the seeming complexity of the Scott listings that "pale beside that of the ... Thorp-Bartels catalog," and says that the best book for the semi-specialist is the Minkus "New American." Here one finds simply written but detailed info and history for each group.

Mueller is the author of a splendid overview of this country's philately, "United States Postage Stamps — How to Collect, Understand and Enjoy Them." It even makes sense of that welter of the Third Bureau issues — those heads of Washington and Franklin and Franklin and Washington that came out from 1908 to 1922.

The column in Linn's is great, but I always get miffed by the let-'em-eat-cakeness at the end: "Correspondence cannot be accepted by the author." Snooty. What's a wastebasket for?

Coin-club hopping

We learned about coin-club-hopping from Herman Krajewski's quiz at the recent CCCC meeting. You can get a book for a dollar that gives a choice of more than 2,000 places to hit on your vacation.

The April 12 Linn's, on p. 38, has the whole song-and-dance on our upcoming MANPEX (April 24 and 25 at Illing).

Beachcombing

Whether you're going to the beach for just a day or for the entire summer, beachcombing is an exciting and educational summer pastime. There is so much to see and discover at the seashore if you're a careful observer.

For example, have you ever taken a close look at the pebbles scattered along the beach? These pebbles, once part of a large rock mass, have been broken off, beaten and battered by waves and currents and worn smooth by pounding against one another. At some future time these pebbles will be ground down into various colored sands that cover the shoreline.

Many people who pick up bright shiny pebbles along the beach are disappointed when they arrive home to find their stones dried and dull. There is a remedy, however. First wash the stones in fresh water and dry them. Then to restore the shine, rub each with a drop or two of baby or mineral oil.

One of the most interesting beachcombing finds is a lovely or unusual shell that has been washed up on the beach. Since a shell is a covering for a live animal, we recommend that you, the beachcomber, only collect shells that are dead — or no longer protecting a living thing. We think it is best to leave any living animals in their natural, salt water environment.

Your dead shell specimen that has been lying on the beach for a while may not be as pretty or colorful as a live one, but we think you'll be much happier (and we know the animal will) knowing that no animal has had to give up his life in order that your shell collection can increase in number.

When collecting your shells, use a plastic bag or pail since anything metal may leave rust marks. Clean your dead shells with fresh water and a toothbrush. If there are stubborn stains that cannot be removed in this fashion, add one cup of laundry bleach to a large pail of water and soak the shells for a few hours. Don't leave your shells in this solution for more than 8 hours since the bleach may fade their colors.

To identify the shells you have collected and cleaned, we suggest any of the following books:

"The Shell," by Hugh & Marguerite Stix and R. Tucker Abbott, Ballantine Books.

"Sea Shells of North America," by R. Tucker Abbott, Golden Press.

"Sea Shells of the World," by R. Tucker Abbott, Golden Press.

"The Collector's Encyclopedia of Shells," by S. Peter Dance, ed., McGraw-Hill.

"The Beachcomber's Book," by Bernice Kohn is an especially interesting book for young people. Not only does it contain drawings and information about shells but craft ideas as well.

Some of the shells you can expect to discover along New England beaches this summer are quahog and razor clams, blue mussels, jingle shells, slipper shells, moon snails, oyster drills and periwinkles.

Even though much of your beachcombing time will be spent along the water's edge looking for things that have been washed up, don't forget to scour the upper limits of the beach where the vegetation is found. There you may find an assortment of plants that could include seaside lavender, catalpa, bitersweet and seaside goldenrod, all of which, if you know the person who owns the property and have permission to pick the plants, can be dried and used in flower arrangements throughout the fall and winter months to remind you of those warm, sunny summer days.

To dry them, simply pick the flowers, put them in a shopping bag upside down and tie the stems to the handle. Put the bag in a dry place for two weeks before using.

Many of the plants found along the beach bear edible fruit. For example, beach peas with their sweet pea-like spring blossoms later bears small peas that can be cooked as farm peas or eaten raw. Some people think they taste better than farm peas!

In addition, if you look hard enough, sand strawberries, blackberries and blueberries are usually there to be found. Don't overlook them — they're close to the ground.

Beach plums, although too bitter to eat raw, make an excellent jam. Anyone wanting the recipe should call the museum at 643-0940.

Beachcombing is fun. Anyone interested in learning about it is invited to visit the museum's beachcombing display and to register for the workshop that is scheduled to be held at the museum in July. For additional information contact the museum.

The museum is open Tuesday through Sunday, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Exposition formally opened

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Third Century America, the nation's Bicentennial Exposition on Science and Technology, was formally opened with a telephone call from President Ford.

Ford telephoned the ceremony being held at the Kennedy Space Center exposition site from Washington.

Among those on hand were Capt. John Young, head of the Astronaut office, astronauts Donald K. Slayton and Robert Crippen, and Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins, director of the new National Air and Space Museum.

The President said the exposition, in geodesic domes near the huge Vehicle Assembly Building, "will tell Americans of our unique contribution to the progress of mankind."

"It unveils some of the scientific wonders to come, developments which will not only range across the solar system but which will change everyday life here on Earth," Ford said.

The exposition, which has been open since May 29, runs through Sept. 7.

PLO arrests suspects in Beirut murders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Palestine Liberation Organization announced today it had arrested the gunmen who kidnaped and murdered U.S. Ambassador Francis Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and Lebanese chauffeur Wednesday.

The assassinations escalated tension among the 1,800 Americans still in Beirut. State and Defense Department officials in Washington said they were making contingency plans for an evacuation of U.S. citizens from the city.

The PLO communique said the killers would be handed over for disciplinary action to the joint Arab peacekeeping force scheduled to arrive in Lebanon to enforce a ceasefire.

The communique did not say how many persons were arrested or where or when they were picked up.

However, leftist sources said five men were in PLO custody and two of them were rumored to be members of the Arab Communist Organization, a radical leftist Lebanese group responsible for attacks on American firms, including a spectacular robbery-hostage drama at the Beirut branch of the Bank of America in 1973.

Most of the group's members had been arrested and imprisoned but escaped earlier this year in a series of jailbreaks.

Meloy, Economic Counselor Robert Waring and his driver, Zuhair Moghrabi, were kidnaped Wednesday morning while crossing the desolate no-man's-land between

New state program for elderly to provide better home care

HARTFORD (UPI) — A new state program providing 1,000 elderly persons with home health care services will keep them out of nursing homes, according to Gov. Ella T. Grasso.

"This will offer a meaningful alternative to institutional care with some degree of cost effectiveness," said state Aging Commissioner Charles Odell, who joined Mrs. Grasso in announcing the program Wednesday.

The program, which is 75 per cent federally funded, will provide elderly persons with home nursing care, delivered meals, special transportation, home helpers and in some cases psychiatric help.

Theoretically the program could save the state $82 million, Edward Maher, Social Services Commissioner, said today.

Mrs. Grasso said the project "is in the forefront of a changing philosophy" on the care of the elderly.

Border state tax case rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today rejected attempts by bordering states to levied nearly $55 million in taxes levied on out-of-state commuters by New Jersey and New Hampshire.

In a 5-2 unsigned opinion, the justices declined to hear Pennsylvania's complaint against New Jersey and complaints by Maine, Massachusetts and Vermont against New Hampshire.

The justices heard arguments by the states last week asking the high court to invoke its original jurisdiction to decide disputes between the states. Today, the justices said the sovereignty of the individual states was not directly involved, and so declined to accept jurisdiction.

 NEW BRITAIN — A Court of Common Pleas ruling declaring unconstitutional Connecticut's old law against retail sales on Sunday has raised serious questions about a new law's legality. The ruling was made Wednesday by Judge Francis Quinn who tossed out charges against 33 store employees in New Britain, Berlin and Newington.

Waterbury — Layoff notices were mailed today to 74 classroom teachers dismissed by the school board in a move to cut $740,000 from the school budget. The city's 149 other nontenured teachers will be rehired.

Hartford — Gov. Ella T. Grasso says her neutrality in the party chairmanship will let the party get over its dependence on the late John M. Bailey, who she said "spoiled" the party.

Regional
 BOSTON — The Massachusetts Senate has passed a sweeping reform of the state's automobile insurance law that includes advantages for good drivers and repeals no-fault property damage coverage.

Norfolk, Va. — Southern Baptists have found themselves embroiled in the emotional, highly controversial abortion debate. A resolution expressing displeasure with "indiscriminate" abortion was debated Wednesday and is expected to come up again before the convention ends.

Town Democratic Committee endorses Schaffer Senate bid

By SOL R. COHEN
 Herald Reporter

On a split voice vote and with only one-third of its membership present, Manchester's Democratic Town Committee Wednesday night endorsed Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer for the party's nomination for U.S. senator.

The motion to endorse was by William Desmond with a seconding action by James Quigley, Desmond said it's time for Democrats to get behind a candidate to beat the incumbent Republican and, without naming names, scored top state Democrats who have said they won't speak out against U.S. Sen. Lowell Weicker. Among those who have made the remarks are Gov. Ella Grasso and U.S. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff.

The split vote for Mrs. Schaffer's endorsement was sparked by James Reardon, who urged a "listen and weigh" approach before Manchester Democrats endorse anyone.

Noting that Donald Irwin of Norwich also is seeking the nomination, Reardon asked, "Why this last endorsement before even hearing from Don Irwin?"

Reardon said the party needs someone from Fairfield County to beat Weicker and that Irwin, a former congressman and former

MHA rent subsidy application approved by federal agency

By DOUG BEVINS
 Herald Reporter

The Manchester Housing Authority's application for federal rent subsidies of existing housing for the elderly has been approved and the authority is planning to hire an administrator for the Housing Assistance Program.

MHA Chairman Pascal Mastrangelo said the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development approved the local request for subsidy of 45 housing units for the elderly, in addition to previously approved subsidy of 45 housing units for nonelderly, low-income families.

Mastrangelo said the MHA's application was "a shot in the dark" and local officials had little hope for approval.

The 45 units will be subsidized by annual housing assistance contributions of $9,852. Provisions of the approval are that 45 units are to be one-bedroom units and two are to be two-bedroom units.

Applications for the subsidies will be made available soon to elderly persons meeting requirements of the program, which sets income limits to determine eligibility. Details are being worked out by MHA Executive Director Leon Enderlin.

Mastrangelo said the authority has decided to advertise for an individual to administer both the elderly and nonelderly assistance programs, under provisions of federal law. The new

Construction starts soon on MCC recreation complex

Construction is expected to start next month on the first phase of a new outdoor recreation complex for Manchester Community College, with the first facility - four lighted tennis courts - due to open in the fall semester.

Plans for the recreational complex call for a baseball diamond, soccer field, softball diamond and track, as well as the tennis courts, but college officials aren't sure they'll have enough money to finish the project.

"At this time," MCC President Ronald Denison said, "we aren't certain how much of the total plan can be built for the amount of money we are presently authorized to spend. We plan to complete the four tennis courts and then go as far with the ball fields as the money permits."

The project is being financed by $250,000 from the college's auxiliary services funds, under provisions of recent General Assembly action signed into law by Gov. Ella Grasso. The state Public Works Department has already begun procedures to solicit bids for the project.

The new recreational complex will be the first permanent facility of any kind for MCC, Denison said. The college has been housed in temporary buildings on the Bidwell St. campus since 1971, and it has rented or borrowed athletic facilities throughout its history.

"All of the planned facilities are badly needed," Denison said, "both for college programs and for a variety of community recreation activities. We are grateful to the many people who recognized the need and worked to get us to the point where the project is moving ahead."

Denison thanked State Sen. David Barry, State Reps. Francis Mahoney and Theodore Cummings, members of the MCC Regional Council, and former MCC Student Senate President Richard Bennet for their efforts.

Nearly 2,000 people are active in various college athletic programs, including 500 physical education students, 500 intramural sports participants and nearly 200 competitors in intercollegiate sports. In addition, MCC offers recreation programs for the community, including summer clinics for youngsters in baseball, basketball, soccer and golf.

Perfect step in Bicentennial Parade

The Southbury Eagle Drum Corps, leading Section 4 of the Bicentennial Division of Saturday's Parade, is in perfect step and ready to pass in review near the end of the parade.

Dobkin elected president of Manchester ACS unit

M. Adler Dobkin, 153 Shallowbrook Lane was elected president of the Manchester Unit of the American Cancer Society at its annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Matthew Quinn, vice-president, Mrs. Susan Churchill, secretary, and Mrs. Arline Culver, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Connolly, crusade chairman, reported that the Manchester Unit has collected $44,355 in the Annual Cancer Crusade and that the goal of $50,000 would probably be reached by Aug. 31.

Henry Mandel, administrative director of regional activities at the Yale Comprehensive Cancer Center, spoke on the combined efforts of the Yale Center and the American Cancer Society to create a successful cancer program in Connecticut.

Mrs. Marie Chesny, public education chairman, reported that about 1,500 adults and 9,000 youths viewed Cancer Society films, either in their school, place of business or club meetings. She emphasized the importance of cancer education to help people of every age to learn about early detection, prevention and general health care.

Mrs. Margot Stillman, professional education chairman, reported that the committee was responsible for arranging programs for nurses and physicians. The nursing seminars on "Treatment of Cancer," and "Psychological Aspects of Cancer Nursing" were attended by over 200 area nurses.

Mrs. Miriam Snyder spoke about progress and expansion in Service and Rehabilitation. Since September, 1975, 37 visits have been made by Reach to Recovery Volunteers to women who have undergone mastectomies in area hospitals. Also, three visits have been made to ostomy patients in the area. Some 150 persons have been given some form of aid, either financial or other since September.

State Reps. Francis Mahoney and Ted Cummings for re-election.

Wednesday night, John Sullivan received a standing ovation for being re-elected unanimously state central committee member from the 4th Senatorial District. Mary LeDuc was endorsed for re-election as state central committee member from the 3rd Senatorial District.

Sullivan is on a list of nine "possibles" Gov. Grasso said he could back for the post of Democratic state chairman. He said he's pleased he's being considered but declined to comment further.

Committee treasurer Paul Phillips, reporting on available funds, said the party's recent "Honoring Friends Dinner-Dance" made a profit of $5,387, making it the most successful Democratic event in recent years. He said the local treasury is $4,287 in the black.

Town Chairman Cummings cited the harmony among Democrats of the national, state and local level and forecast victory for the party in November and Labor Day.

"We ought to win the town bid," he predicted.

Dates were announced for the various nominating conventions—all in July. "Our main purpose tonight was to participate in the nominating actions and to give up for the fall campaign and the November elections."

Mayor of Newark, could be that someone he said he doesn't oppose Mrs. Schaffer and isn't against women's lib, but simply wants to hear from all candidates for the nomination before backing anyone.

The committee also endorsed Herbert Stevenson for re-election as Manchester Democratic registrar of voters and State Sen. George Hannon for re-election in the 3rd Senatorial District.

Hannon, whose district comprises all of East Hartford and about 50 percent of Manchester, came in for some criticism for "seldom showing his face in Manchester," except at social events. Coming in for milder criticism for the same reason were State Reps. Marjell Yacavone, D-9th Assembly District, and Abraham Glassman, D-14th Assembly District.

Stevenson announced "Project 200" for Manchester Democrats from now to the November election, with a goal of switching 200 unaffiliated voters to the Democratic Party.

He said the Democrats held a 2,557 lead over the Republicans and a 3,010 lead over the unaffiliated and said he's concerned with the frequency of unaffiliated registrations the past two years.

He said Manchester has 26,974 voters as of June 15, 1976, with 10,848 of them Democrats, 8,291 Republicans and 7,835 unaffiliated.

The town committee previously had endorsed U.S. Rep. William Cotter, State Sen. David Barry and HARTFORD (UPI)—The state chairman of the President's campaign in Connecticut, the last state to select national convention delegates, predicts Ford will win all 35 of them.

"I think we'll get all 35," Ford said.

Wednesday said Joseph Burns, head of Ford's campaign committee. "At the present moment all indications point to us getting 35."

Connecticut's GOP will name its convention delegate at a state convention July 19-17 and Ford—whose renomination is seriously threatened by Ronald Reagan—has been invited by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., to speak.

Ford is generally considered the overwhelming choice of the state's traditionally moderate GOP.

In past intraparty fights, conservatives like Reagan, Barry Goldwater in 1964 and Richard Nixon in 1968, who ran against more liberal Republicans, were always given a small number of delegates in the interest of party unity.

License form valid

BRIDGEPORT (UPI)—The liquor license renewal form which a superior court judge allegedly notarized illegally was a valid form, according to the chairman of the state Liquor Control Commission.

Commissioner John F. Healy testified Wednesday at the trial of Superior Court Judge Samuel J. Tedesco, whose attorney had said the form was not the proper one for its use and had not official-ly been adopted by the commission.

Healy said the notes of the June 14, 1971, commission meeting showed no vote on the form because the vote was unanimous.

Defense attorney Salvatore DePiano also testified the form was invalid because the liquor license of the Candlewood Valley Country Club in New Milford had expired, requiring a new application, not a renewal.

PUCA opens hearings on sale of natural gas utility to CNG

HARTFORD (UPI)—Public Utilities Control Authority hearings on whether to approve the sale of Northeast Utilities' natural gas operations to the Connecticut Natural Gas Co. are expected to be lengthy.

Northeast Utilities officials continued their testimony today.

Most of the opening-day testimony Wednesday recounted why the SEC ordered the divestiture and how it was negotiated. PUCA staffers concentrated on questions about background data they wanted to examine.

The divestiture, ordered by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in 1966, was approved by the SEC Tuesday. But still it needs the approval of the PUCA and the Federal Power Commission.

Southern Connecticut Gas Co. opposes the sale, charging CNG would buy a higher-than-fair price in order to gain a commanding lead over the state's other gas utilities.

The PUCA hearings were to determine whether the controversial sale would push up CNG's rates, and whether it was in the best interest of consumers.

The SEC required NU to sell its gas operations, with 145,000 customers in Connecticut, after it was formed as a utility holding company. NU's gas business is operated by Hartford Electric Light Co. and Connecticut Light and Power.

Had the sale occurred by the end of 1975, Northeast said CNG would have paid $145 million. But the final price will depend on it and when the sale is allowed.

A spokesman for Southern, which now serves the New Haven and Bridgeport areas, said the PUCA is mandated to be concerned with the consumers and the shareholders.

CNG President Robert Willis testified last year at SEC hearings that his company, which now serves the Hartford area, can finance the purchase "with no adverse effect or relationship to current rates."

Scot Rotarian visits

Kenneth Ostrowsky of 30 Sautters Rd., a past president of Manchester Rotary Club, and his wife will be hosts to a fellow Rotarian and his wife from Scotland this weekend.

Dr. and Mrs. William Davidson will be returning from the Rotary International annual meeting in New Orleans, La., and will be guests of the Ostrowskys.

About 35 Rotary families are hosting district governors from England and Scotland.

Dr. Davidson recently retired as a hospital administrator in Pife. This is the couple's first visit to the United States. While in the area, Dr. Davidson will tour the new medical-dental hospital in Farmington. Dr. Davidson has a son who is a lecturer in dentistry at the University of Dundee, and a daughter who is a dentist, both in Scotland.

In honor of his guests' visit, Ostrowsky has borrowed a Scottish flag which he will fly beneath the U.S. flag on his front lawn this weekend.

The Davidsons will arrive late tonight and leave from Bradley Field Monday morning.

Bowers PTA plans buffet-dance

The Bowers School PTA will sponsor a "Good Luck" buffet and dance as an end-of-the-year salute to the sixth grade students Friday at the school.

The buffet will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. Music for dancing will be provided by a group known as "Dakota".

door prizes, and Mrs. Thomas Coletti, food.

Chaperones for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pallein, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Foley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coletti, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Luck, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Katz and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gallagher.

Morano hospitalized

GREENWICH (UPI)—Former congressman Albert P. Morano, 68, challenging Sen. Lowell P. Weicker for the Republican Senate nomination, was hospitalized Wednesday night.

A spokesman at Greenwich Hospital said today that Morano, driven by ambulance, was in satisfactory condition and was expected to undergo tests.

The spokesman said Morano was admitted "for a medical problem" but would provide no further information.

Morano, who served four terms in the U.S. House beginning in 1951, announced earlier this year he was seeking the GOP nomination to be the party's U.S. Senate candidate in November.

Weicker, who once served as an aide to the former congressman, Wednesday rejected an offer by Morano to debate "on any issues, at any place at any time."

Local woman competing in lottery

A Manchester woman will interrupt the preparations for her daughter's wedding tonight to compete for a $100,000 Connecticut Lottery jackpot.

Anne Vaiculis of 527 Woodbridge St., is one of seven past weekly lottery winners who will vie for the big money on this week's "Double Play" show.

Forever England

OCRAOKE, N.C. (UPI) — A little cemetery in North Carolina where the bodies of four British seamen were buried during World War II soon will become their native soil.

The state has purchased the cemetery near the small island village of Ocracoke on the Outer Banks and arrangements have been made to lease the site to Great Britain for $1 a year.

On the white picket fence surrounding the plot is a plaque that reads: "If I should die, think only this of me: That there's some corner of a foreign field that is forever England."

A.L. Henderson, the state property and control officer who worked out most of the lease arrangements, said Tuesday, "Those men were actually here protecting the coast of North Carolina and the nation and we consider it a gesture of good will."

The four men were members of crew of HMS Bedfordshire, torpedoed by a German submarine off the North Carolina coast. All hands aboard were killed.

Four bodies washed ashore May 14, 1942, three days after the Bedfordshire sank 40 miles southeast of Cape Lookout. Two of the bodies were those of Lt. Tom Cunningham and Stanley Craig, a telegrapher.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

No military action took place in New Hampshire during the Revolution, but the colony supplied its share of officers and men, mostly in the northern campaigns: 4,000 militia, 12,697 army. General John Stark and John Sullivan lived in New Hampshire. Stark won his greatest fame at the Battle of Bennington, while Sullivan, "The World Almanac" recalls, was a member of the second Continental Congress and served with distinction under Washington.

Many now want Spratly Islands

JOSEPH GALLOWAY SINGAPORE (UPI) — Mariners' charts lump them all together under the singular heading "dangerous ground."

China claims them. North and South Vietnam claim them. Taiwan has staked its own claim.

The Philippines says they may belong to her. And don't forget the Republic of Morac-Songhrai-Meads.

For most of the last century the islands were nothing more than a pet hobby of British Captain James George Meads of the ship "Moedite" — who sailed through in the 1870s and formally claimed them as his own personal property — and Meads' American descendants.

None of it mattered very much until the former government of South Vietnam leased out chunks of the adjacent area to American oil companies and seismic exploration vessels began charting the possibility of black gold beneath the South China Sea.

This week China sounded a bellicose warning against the Philippines, charging that Filipino-sponsored drilling operations had begun "in the area of Liletan of China's Nansha Islands (Spratlys)."

The statement said any invasion, occupation, exploration or exploitation of oil in the Spratlys constituted encroachments on Chinese territory and sovereignty.

Rubbish, say spokesmen of the Republic of Morac-Songhrai-Meads, which claims the Spratlys through its links to the descendants of Captain Meads and also claims the Spanish Sahara for unexplained reasons.

Dishonor not restricted to cadets

In the worst scandal in 25 years, and possibly the worst ever, some 94 third-year cadets at West Point have been charged either with cheating on a test or not reporting cheating they were aware of, in violation of the academy's simple and inflexible code of conduct which says that, "A cadet will not lie, cheat or steal, or tolerate those who do."

In 1951, 90 cadets were expelled from the Point for cheating, including 43 members of the varsity football squad. Unlike that scandal, however, which rocked the nation as well as West Point, this time both the academy and its honor code have come under fire.

Some of the criticism may be self-serving, as in claims by some of the involved cadets that violations of the 159-year-old code are far more commonplace than academy officials will admit. One cadet has filed suit in U.S. District Court in New York challenging the code as unconstitutional.

A lawyer representing the cadets has accused West Point of hypocrisy in administering the honor system. "If they wanted to, they could have one of these scandals every year," says Capt. Daniel Sharporn.

West Point will survive this scandal, of course, as it did the one in 1951, and one hopes it will be the better for it. But the major trouble with the honor code, which has not been commented upon is that too often it seems to be shaken off, along with the cadet uniform, when West Point graduates enter the regular Army.

Were those cadets who were expelled in 1951 less fit to serve their country than those officers who, a decade and a half later in Vietnam, reportedly put in for combat medals they did not earn? Less honest than officers in the Pentagon who develop cozy relationships with the defense contractors? Less honorable than those officers who participated in the alleged My Lai cover-up?

The subject of the West Point honor code has been described as "fearless honesty in setting forth the truth, regardless of the consequences. Quibbling, cheating, evasive statements or recourse to technicalities to conceal guilt or defeat the ends of justice are not tolerated."

If so, the code was never more flagrantly violated than in the My Lai affair, where one lowly lieutenant was singled out for all the blame.

To mean anything, the West Point honor code should apply throughout an officer's career, not just during his cadet days. We would more harshly judge those 94 cadets if we could believe that it always does.

Olive Toomey: American

The passing of Olive Hutchinson Toomey of Bolton June 9 brought momentary sadness to all her relatives and friends.

Momentary because she would not want them to mourn long.

Olive Toomey lived a life of service to both her town and her fellow humans. She was town clerk for much of her 39 years as a town employe and found countless other ways to serve.

She knew no prejudice. It mattered not whether you were male or female, Protestant or Catholic, black or white, even Republican or Democrat. When she saw you, she saw another human being.

Her few and feeble actions in the last years of her life are proofs of the way she led her whole life. May 5, 1975, at the age of 75 and in failing health, Mrs. Toomey walked into the Town Hall leaning on the arm of her daughter, Mrs. Edith Clark. Why? It was election day. She had to cast her vote. She was a humble person. She did not seek glory. She found it in the happiness of others.

She wasted nothing. She was a conservationist long before it became a household word.

She was unique. Anytime anyone was in need, she was there to help.

One of her greatest joys was the flowers she lovingly cared for in her backyard and at the Town Hall. She wanted to spread that joy. So, each year at this time she would bring flowers and plants to the Town Hall. They would be in a box on the outside steps, free to anyone who came by.

Town Hall employes continue the flower tradition. A Boltonite said last week Olive Toomey was America at its finest. We agree.

Today's thought

Thought for the day
When I was in Sunday School and I was told about being my brother's keeper I understood that as meaning I should try to prevent others from "falling into sin." I really don't like that because it meant making unpopular statements like "you shouldn't do that," and perhaps eventually telling some adult what was happening. As a result I evaded that responsibility with consequent feeling of guilt. A short time ago a friend clarified this for me in a way that should have been obvious but hadn't been. She said the reason she had survived some of the really difficult times in her life was the fact that she had had "keepers," people who had supported her and loved her when she most needed support and felt least lovable. Keepers, she said, kept one in the hope of tomorrow and the promise of God. In those terms we've all had keepers, or we wouldn't be here.

GOP would rather be wrong than President

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Apparently the Republican Party would rather be wrong than President. If the Ford and Reagan factions continue to cut one another up, the Democrats could win in November unanimously.

It's depressing. You don't have to take sides to weep over the GOP's decline. The fact is that Ronald Reagan's challenge to Gerald Ford has just about ruined the party's chance of holding on to the White House.

Before Reagan fans put me to the rack, I hasten to add that this message comes to you from a neutral if not necessarily innocent bystander. I'm not plugging Ford or Jimmy Carter or Catfish Hunter. I'm plugging the two-party system and I therefore wish the Republicans would stop toping with death wishes. Six months ago, Ford had an excellent chance to renew his lease on the Oval Office. The economy was on the upswing, the inflation rate was slowing, and we didn't have any wars on our hands. Ford may not be the brightest President since Franklin Roosevelt, but he is a good and decent man who has shown he has the right instincts. His lack of glamor is an asset in a time when a lot of folks are fed up with chic posturings and want somebody who can roll up his sleeves and do a job of work.

Anyway, Ford's the incumbent and it's always smart to go with the man who can use his office to win votes and influence people. FDR used to say that the presidency alone was worth 10 million people. Reagan has messed that up. Maybe he'd be a better President than Ford or Jimmy Carter, but that's not the point. His candidacy has divided a Republican Party already suffering from its minority status. The way it looks now, neither Ford nor Reagan could beat the Democratic candidate in November. And the reason for this deplorable situation is that no Republican candidate can risk losing any substantial part of the GOP vote. God knows the vote is small, but it's vital to a Republican's chances; it's his base from which he can go forth and woo independents and disaffected Democrats. He doesn't have time to go around trying to soothe members of his own party.

I admire Reagan. Like Ford, he's a decent citizen and a very human guy. He is a good Governor of California. He knows the administrative ropes. But he should have decided to sit this one out. Not to indict the man for anything, but the mere fact of his candidate split a party that can't afford to go into November at war with itself.

What makes it worse for the GOP is that Jimmy Carter is a cinch to win the Democratic nomination in New York next month. And Carter is just conservative enough to appeal to right-of-center voters of all political persuasions who ordinarily would be attracted to the GOP candidate. For example, a New York Times-CBS poll in California, Ohio and New Jersey found that 35 per cent of Ford and Reagan supporters would vote for Carter if their favorite lost the Republican nomination.

George McGovern's nomination in 1972 so backed up his party that about a third of the Democratic voters cast their ballots for Richard Nixon. If only 10 per cent of the Republican electorate desert their candidate, the Democrats can win with Attila the Hun.

Scientists making effort to tame tropical storms

By AL ROSSITER JR., UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Encouraged by new findings suggesting cloud seeding can tame hurricanes, government researchers hope to move Project Stormfury from the Atlantic Ocean to the eastern Pacific to develop techniques to suppress dangerous tropical storms.

Dr. Robert White, head of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said reconnaissance flights are expected to begin this fall off the west coast of Mexico to see if hurricanes in that area are suitable for seeding experiments. If they are, then the government would consult with Mexico before beginning seeding. Scientists at first wanted to experiment with cyclones in the western Pacific but those plans were dropped after the Chinese government and some Japanese officials objected.

White said in an interview that the Pacific is a better place to carry out storm suppression experiments than the Atlantic because there are more mature storms there that meet the seeding requirements. He said hurricanes off Mexico appear particularly promising because they rarely endanger land.

Project Stormfury seeding experiments so far have been conducted in the Atlantic Ocean. The last storm seeded was Ginger in 1971.

Dr. Robert Sheets, who heads NOAA's hurricane research effort in Miami, said seven flights into three Atlantic hurricanes last year confirmed that the giant storms have developing cloud towers in the right places to make seeding feasible.

"We've always had to make a lot of assumptions about the internal dynamics of hurricanes," Sheets said. "In something like Stormfury, it isn't enough to seed a storm and then see if its winds decrease. You have to be able to identify changes in the storm at several scales of time and space."

"Last year was the first year we had the technical capability to take the combined cloud physics, air-sea interaction and turbulence measurements we need in hurricanes."

Storm seeding is based on the premise that supercooled water (water cooled below the freezing point but still in liquid form) in a cloud can be induced to freeze by seeding it with silver iodide crystals. As the water freezes, it releases heat energy, causing the cloud to grow.

The idea in hurricanes is that seeding clouds away from the storm's center would cause them to grow at the expense of clouds around the eye of the hurricane. Thus, an intense storm would spread into a moderate one.

The flights last year also showed that more efficient patterns through hurricanes could be flown safely by aircraft dispersing the silver iodide seeding crystals.

In earlier Stormfury plans, Sheets said flight patterns were designed so that airplanes would always have an escape route if they got in trouble in the massive storms.

"We were concerned about getting caught in the maximum wind bands and having heavy icing at the same time. But last year we found we could fly back and forth in the rainband at the upper levels just outside the eyewall with no problems at all, even in Glady's where we had winds of better than 100 knots."

America: A teeming nation of nations

WASHINGTON — "Here is not merely a nation, but a teeming nation of nations..." wrote Walt Whitman in "Old Days in a New Nation." Different tools, methods of transport and work (e.g. a Mexican ox cart, an Indian bullboat, a 31-foot windmill, a tin peddler's cart) and symbols of religious belief show how the old survived in the new country.

America's plot really thickens in section three — "Shared Experiences." Here, some particularly American institutions and activities are displayed in a colorful and entertaining way. The visitor passes by Room 201 of Dunham Elementary School where students' voices can be heard saying the pledge of allegiance and reciting their lessons. A section of a U.A. Army barracks, complete with latrine, is also on display.

Along with school and the military, sports and entertainment also shaped the "average" American. Two small million persons are expected to visit each. Babe Ruth bats, Rudolph Valentino kisses, Jesse Owens runs, Groucho Marx jokes, Johnny Weissmuller swims, Fred Astaire dances, and through it all American crowds cheer.

B-1 Bomber outrageously expensive

To the editor:
A man bearing a close resemblance to former President Nixon and reportedly aboard a float in Manchester's Bicentennial Parade was asked his opinion of The Herald's coverage. He muttered something about the vicious attacks by the Eastern Liberal Media Establishment and we just laughed...until Monday's paper arrived.

There it was glaring up from the front page of "The Bright One," a horrible mistake! You mentioned a compact car, equipped with a Dutch wind-up, resembling a B-1 Bomber, being offered for sale for $9 billion. I am not usually one to quibble, but the actual sticker price is a cool $2 billion. The B-1 Bomber is the most outrageously expensive military boondoggle ever conceived by the Pentagon. If the Air Force gets its way, 24 B-1 Bombers will be built at a total cost to the U.S. taxpayer of more than $1,800 per family.

The B-1 Bomber is obsolete in an age of nuclear missiles. Even Robert McNamara, LBJ's defense chief admits that. In the time the B-1 could be created than if the money was spent building the Pentagon's latest toy. And let's not forget the fact that the proposed B-1 fleet, which will cost more than its weight in gold, could destroy the earth's protective ozone layer that screens out ultraviolet radiation that can cause skin cancer.

By the way — anybody want to buy a used car? Wings are optional.

Xerox won't duplicate sponsored essay idea

BROOKLIN, Maine (UPI) — Essayist E.B. White says Xerox Corp. has agreed not to sponsor any more magazine articles, such as the one written for Esquire Magazine in February by Harrison E. Salisbury.

"I think this can be a threat to ownership of the press," White, vacationing on his farm in Maine, said. "I don't want some rich man or rich corporation jumping in willing to pay the tab for something I write."

Xerox sponsored a 23-page "Travels Through America," article by Salisbury. It cost Xerox $170,000.

White and Xerox began exchanging letters on the subject of sponsorship after White, 79, wrote a letter to the editor of the weekly newspaper in nearby Ellsworth.

"I wrote a letter to the Ellsworth American saying in effect this was a surprise. Because of them, he said, the company decided not to proceed with plans to sponsor at least two other articles."

Both Salisbury and the editor of Esquire defended the controversial edges.

Gardening

By Frank Atwood

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Minor, out for dinner at a Chinese restaurant, were served some snow peas with other Chinese vegetables and liked them so much that Mr. Minor decided he would see if he could raise some in his garden.

He found the seed, with no difficulty, at a local seed and garden supply store and planted what most of us would call a very generous trial crop, two rows 80 feet long. My seed catalogue lists four feet as the expected height of snow pea vines and Mr. Minor would have been quite content with that much growth. Instead, like Jack's beanstalk, these peas reached for the sky. Most of them were six feet tall when I saw them and some had reached seven feet.

The vines had borne their first crop and blossoms in our picture indicate there will be a good second picking. The Minors had tried a few of the peas on Memorial Day and found them just as nice as those served on the Chinese restaurant. On June 7 Mr. Minor picked nearly a bushel. He thinks the next picking, high on the vines, will not yield quite as heavily.

Few gardeners in this part of the country raise snow peas and some would not recognize the name. They are picked when the pods are still flat and the peas inside the pods are no more than small bumps. Then the peas are cooked and eaten, pods and all.

They are tender and sweet. Another name for the vegetable is, appropriately, sugar peas.

Well-kept garden
The Chinese cookbook on my kitchen shelf has a statement that I think may surprise Mr. Minor. The author, whose restaurant is in New York and who buys his vegetables in Chinatown, says that snow peas, which he calls "soot down," are "very difficult to grow and consequently often cost twice as much as steak per pound."

Mr. Minor went to no special pains with his Chinese peas except to provide some wire mesh for them to climb. It turned out to be quite inadequate since it was two feet wide. He had tracked the wire to wooden stakes so that the lower edge was 10 inches above the ground, but he soon was driving in taller stakes and tying string to the stakes to support the vines.

Following instructions, he had planted the two rows 30 inches apart. He thinks it should have been five feet because vines reached out across the 30-inch aisle and started climbing on the vines in the other row. He had to untangle them carefully with his hands before he could harvest his crop.

Both the Minors are retired. Mr. Minor from the Carlyle-Johnson Machine Co., where he was assemblyman, and his wife from the F.W. Woolworth Co. where she did personal work in Manchester 13 years and at the Silver Lane store for 14 years.

Their home is in the area once occupied by Laurel Park, where the trolley from Hartford used to stop and families came for picnics and outdoor games. The neighborhood is still known as Laurel Park.

The Minors have two married sons, one of them with two boys, providing a reliable outlet for surplus vegetables.

More planting ahead
When the peas are gone, that area will be planted to beans and other vegetables for fall harvest.

He has an unusual method of planting both carrots and beets. He prepares a bed that appears to be about two feet wide and broadcasts the seed in this area. Then the carrots and beets are thinned as they grow. The small carrots are cooked for the table and the beet tops reach the table as beet greens. He uses a salt shaker to scatter the tiny carrot seeds.

Last fall when cold weather came the remaining carrots were left in the ground and were dug as needed until March.

Asparagus is in its first year of growth and none was harvested this year. Mr. Minor, who started with three-year-old roots, feels it will be safe to cut a few spears next spring.

The worst pest in the garden is a colony of gray squirrels that ruined the sweet corn last year and dug into the potato hills to eat the potatoes before they were ready to be harvested. There are no potatoes and there is no sweet corn in this year's garden.

Frederick Minor stands between two tall rows of sugar peas in his garden on Arbutus St., East Hartford. When the picture was made June 7, Mr. Minor had just picked nearly a bushel of tender edible pods which he and Mrs. Minor would have in the freezer that afternoon. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Permissive bosses vs. bossy bosses

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — An authoritarian boss makes his workers fall while a permissive boss makes himself fall — and neither type makes employees happy, according to a study funded by the Air Force.

The six-year study, conducted by the Wichita State University Center for Human Appraisal with a $100,000-per-year Air Force grant, found permissive bosses produce rebellious workers and authoritarian bosses produce ingratiating, "yes, sir" workers.

"The authoritarian assigns obligations but doesn't give his workers the power to do the job right. He programs the subordinate for failure, which allows him to take more power from him. This justifies him in being more abusive," said Art Sweney, director and founder of the center.

"The permissive boss gives power away, then doesn't have control of his job anymore. The permissive leader programs himself for failure. The permissive thinks he can buy love by giving power. He's usually wrong, because the rebel is not a loving person."

Sweney's team of researchers set out to answer the question: How does the relationship between employees and superiors affect employees' job satisfaction? They used several tests, including one comparing how an employee wants to behave with how he thinks he's supposed to behave.

Workers go on strike

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI) — About 340 production and maintenance workers have struck at the HI-G Co. Inc., a maker of electronic and electromechanical components.

About 20 strikers walked a picket line Wednesday, according to Thomas Lynch, the company's director of industrial relations.

The previous three-year contract ran out at midnight Tuesday and efforts to reach a new agreement failed.

The strike is for better wages, working conditions, improvements in insurance, cost of living and retirement benefits, said Richard Christian, vice president of Local 280, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

Lynch said the firm would remain open, staffed by 125 supervisory personnel.

Local girl exhibits costume designs

Costume designs by Karen Bengtson of 39 Ridgewood St. will be part of "An Exhibition of Theater Design" presented this summer at University of Connecticut in Storrs. A junior majoring in business, she is among 20 participants whose work is included in UConn's first all-student exhibition of theatrical design.

The display will be on view at the Jorgensen Auditorium Gallery now through July 10. The Gallery is open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and for 45 minutes prior to Nutmeg Summer Theater productions in Harriet S. Jorgensen Theater.

Miss Bengtson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bengtson.

MMH representatives attend CHA meeting

Several representatives of Manchester Memorial Hospital attended the 58th annual meeting Wednesday of the Connecticut Hospital Association at the Sheraton Park Plaza Hotel in New Haven.

Attending the event were Edward M. Kenney, hospital administrator; George J. Row, controller; Mrs. Juan Bendisen, director of volunteers; Mark Aresco, administrative resident; Mrs. Gerald Hall, MMH Auxiliary first vice-president; Mrs. Jeffrey Barnes, auxiliary second vice-president; Mrs. Samuel Smith, auxiliary past president; and Mrs. Robert Spillane, a hospital incorporator.

Distinguished service awards were presented to Dr. Bliss H. Clark, retiring president of the New Britain General Hospital; Edgar L. Gehl, president of the Stamford Hospital; and Charles B. Womser, president of the Yale-New Haven Hospital, who is leaving Connecticut to assume the chief executive position at the University Hospital of Cleveland, Ohio.

Typing courses at MCC

A course in typing for pre-teen and early teen-age students will be offered this summer by the Community Services Division of Manchester Community College beginning June 29.

The six-week course is intended for individuals from 10 to 16 years old who wish to develop skill in typewriting, or who have the basic skills but would like to improve them.

The class will meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. in Room 109 in the Hartford Rd. building Marilyn Farfus is the instructor.

For information about cost and registration, call the Community Services office at 646-2137.

Bargain hunters may spur sales of 1976 car models

DETROIT (UPI)—The car buying surge that began when the 1976 models were introduced in October may be spurred even higher by bargain hunters trying to beat price increases of nearly 6 per cent—$360 on a $6,000 car—scheduled for fall.

Despite developing shortages of many of the popular midsize and big models, early June sales reports show an industry gain of 41 per cent over the June 1-10 period a year ago. Only small car specialist American Motors reported a drop.

Price increases on current 1976 models, according to the government's Council on Wage and Price Stability, averaged 4.6 per cent—$248—with optional equipment ordinarily purchased by consumers.

"I think you'll see some movement back toward smaller cars during the summer, partly because they'll be more available than the large models and partly because people who want them are affected more by price increases," said Arvid Jouppi, a Detroit industry analyst.

"Remember the summer of 1974 when sales shot up and then fell off to almost nothing when the 1975s came out with price tags up as much as $500 a car."

At the same time, Chrysler joined GM and Ford in telling dealers they can begin taking orders for 1977 model cars and trucks from fleet buyers with the assurance they will not be charged for any increase higher than 6 per cent.

"You can be sure that even the thought of higher prices this fall will bring some people into dealer showrooms during the summer," one analyst said.

Ford was up 50 per cent, General Motors 44 per cent, Chrysler 37 per cent and American Motors said its

Four ABA clubs absorbed

Hoop leagues to merge
OAKLAND (UPI) — Pitches Paul Mitchell can explain why the Oakland A's have won two straight games since owner Charles O. Finley sold three star players.

"I think we're making the adjustment," he said Wednesday night after a 4-1 win over the Boston Red Sox. "It's the sign of a champion. When adversity comes, the champion rises."

Mitchell allowed only three Boston hits for his second straight impressive performance. His record is 3-3 since his arrival in Oakland as one of three players dealt by Baltimore for standout Reggie Jackson.

The right-hander struggled in the early innings, giving up his only run on the second when Carl Yastrzemski stroked his 12th homer of the year. The blast tied Yastrzemski with Kansas City's Amos Otis for the American League homer lead.

Champion A's making adjustments

What's going on? Has everyone gone mad? Has Charley Finley been kicked in the head once too many times by his mule? What's going on? There has to be a good reason why the A's owner is selling off all his stars for cash which he really doesn't need to line his pockets. Isn't there? Or is old Charley O getting ready to abandon ship and leave Oakland with a club destined for the cellar for the next 10 years?

Oh, yes! Sal Bando remains and Gene Tenace is still there to draw 100 walks and Bert Campaneris is still a few bases out, Oh, Charley, what have you done? The lovable clubhouse bawling A's will never be the same.

But, if you're a New York Yankee fan... all kinds of glee must be your sentiment. The method was direct but if you'll look closely the Bronx Bombers in the Stadium that the taxpayers paid for have accumulated James Augustus "Catfish" Hunter, Vida Blue and Ken Holtzman.

Remember them? Remember they were instrumental in bringing world championships to the city across from the Golden Gate Bridge.

There are still other happy thoughts Yankee fans can grasp. Reggie Jackson is with Baltimore now but he's playing out his option. And if you've read closely, he's been quoted that he'd like to play in the 'Big City' and with his old friend, the Catfish.

Overloaded
The Boston Red Sox were also benefactors of Charlie's overwhelming generosity. Poor old Darrel Johnson. He won't have any trouble figuring out what to do with Rolfe Fingers but, Lord, what do you do with Joe Rudi?

And if you put Rudi in leftfield, what do you put Jim Rice? And if you make Rice the designated hitter (hitter is the wrong phraseology), what becomes of Cecil Cooper? That has to be Excedrin Headache No. 10. Ten players into nine batting slots won't even give you new math.

Racing purse
OXFORD, Maine (UPI) — The $30,000 "Oxford 250," to be held July 18 at the Oxford Plains Speedway, offers the largest single race purse ever paid for an oval track event in New England.

Joyce loses
MERIDEN (UPI) — Connecticut Falcons' pitching ace Joan Joyce took her first loss of the season as her team split a doubleheader with the Michigan Travelers of the women's professional softball league.

Miss Joyce gave up an unearned run in the 11th inning of the second game Wednesday as the Falcons dropped a 2-1 decision to Michigan.

Ink pacts
PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Philadelphia Flyers' four top draft picks have signed multiyear contracts with the National Hockey League club.

Those who signed were defenseman Mark Szur, No. 1 choice, Drew Callender, No. 2 pick; Craig Hamner, No. 3 pick and Dave Hynek, the fourth pick.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York trounced Minnesota, 9-4, Baltimore routed Chicago, 10-2, Cleveland put away Texas, 9-4, Detroit shamed Kansas City, 4-3, and Oakland dominated Orioles-10, White Sox 2.
Doug DeCinces and Lee May each hit three-run homers while 39-year-old Mike Cuellar belted his first complete game as the Orioles dealt the White Sox their sixth straight loss. Cuellar, now 3-7, scattered 10 hits.

Pinch-hitter Mickey Stanley's run-scoring single drove home Alex Johnson with the game-winning run during a two-run ninth inning rally for Detroit. Johnson drove in the tying run with a single. Rookie Mark Fidrych went the distance and spaced five hits to top his record to 5-1, while Jason Thompson, another rookie, belted two homers for Detroit. DeCinces' fourth homer climaxed a four-run fourth and May's 11th proceeded a two-run double by Alonzo Bumbry in the ninth.

Bucky Bell drove in four runs with a triple and homer, enabling the Indians to send Bert Blyleven to his third straight loss since joining the Rangers. Blyleven, 4-8, has given up 16 earned runs in his last three outings. George Hendrick drove in the three other runs for Cleveland with a homer and sacrifice fly.

White, who scored the first run in the seventh on Chris Chambliss' suicide squeeze, also had two doubles, a single and scored three runs.

When it was suggested to Corbett that Kuhn could probably do nothing to declare the Finley deals null and void, the Texas owner said: "Why not? I would let him (Finley) sue me."

I think the commissioner should not allow any of these straight cash deals to be made while the reserve clause is in litigation. Sure, we get Bert Blyleven (from Minnesota) because he was playing out his option. But we gave Minnesota quality players in return.

Corbett, an active baseball executive, has feared a consolidation of top players with the glamorous and rich teams if the reserve clause was abolished.

"If this keeps up I probably won't be staying in baseball very long," he said.

Holtzman wanted $175,000 guaranteed for the fourth year plus an extra $20,000 if he was traded.

For awhile it looked as if there might be a race in the American League East but you can forget that now. The only race will be between the two teams with the money, the Yankees and the Red Sox. The other four clubs can go home.

What until next year, though. It'll be worse.

Yanks top Twins again

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Minnesota Twins manager Gene Mauch will send Dave Goltz to the mound tonight in an effort to halt a five-game losing streak.

Goltz, who has been the Twins' stopper, will oppose Vern Ruble as the Detroit Tigers open a four-game visit.

The Twins lost 9-4 to the New York Yankees Wednesday to extend their longest losing streak of the season. Minnesota hasn't won since last Friday.

A dejected Mauch gave a report on his mirthless crew.

Meanwhile, Yankee Manager Billy Martin explained that he pulled pitcher Ed Figueroa one out short of a complete game because he was tiring.

"He was moved up a day in the pitching rotation and he was running out of steam," Martin said. But Martin and his team didn't have many troubles.

Oscar Gamble slammed a three-run homer and walked four in the top solo slot to provide the Yankees with the win.

Gamble's homer capped a four-run seventh and clinched the win for Figueroa, 7-4, who gave up eight hits before yielding to Sparky Lyle with two out in the ninth. Figueroa struck out seven and walked four. The loss went to starter Bill Singer, 5-2, who left in the sixth with New York leading 5-3.

Stettin's homer launched a three-run second inning for New York. After the homer, Willie Randolph walked. Jim Mason singled and Mickey Rivers doubled home the second run. Mason scored the third run of the inning on a sacrifice fly by Roy White.

White, who scored the first run in the seventh on Chris Chambliss' suicide squeeze, also had two doubles, a single and scored three runs.

When it was suggested to Corbett that Kuhn could probably do nothing to declare the Finley deals null and void, the Texas owner said: "Why not? I would let him (Finley) sue me."

Library board seeks Whiton repair funds

The Manchester public library board voted Wednesday night to ask the Board of Finance to appropriate $10,000 from the Whiton Memorial Library fund for repairs to the main building of the library, board chairman William E. Buckley said.

An investigation is being planned to determine the presence and treatment of suspected termites in the Anna B. French Junior room at the Mary Cheney Library.

In spite of the general trend toward declining circulation figures in libraries throughout the country, circulation at both Mary Cheney and Whiton Memorial Libraries show an increase during the past year, Buckley said.

The library board will not meet again until Sept. 15.

The library also needs new furniture and equipment, and repainting and refurbishing of the King's Daughters room, Buckley said.

An investigation is being planned to determine the presence and treatment of suspected termites in the Anna B. French Junior room at the Mary Cheney Library.

Winning state crown tops East track year

By LEN AUSTER

East Catholic's track team had a productive 1976 season. The Eagles logged a 10-2 record including a victory over crossstown Manchester High and capped for the second time in three years the state Class M championship.

Coach Dave Kelley observed a "super group of runners will be missed" but several more will be among those returning for 1977. The key losses include Cephus and Mike Nolen, Brian Foley, Mark Skehan, Jim Charest and Steve Whitham.

Where Kelley believes his team will be strong next year is in the jumping and weight events. One looked upon very highly is junior Jon Lindberg, "an athletic weightman" who was just learning technique this season.

Freshman Mark Fournier has shown his promise in the pole vault and high jump and he'll get nothing but better (he wasn't bad this year). Junior

Town men honored by Aetna

Odin P. Coleman and Clinton N. Greene, both of Manchester, have been named recipients of Aetna Life & Casualty's 1976 Community Action Awards for outstanding community service.
 For the past year, Coleman has been a volunteer counselor at Elmerest Psychiatric Institute, helping rehabilitate drug-abused residents. He is also a volunteer counselor at Crossroads, a suburban drug advisory center where he's coordinated fund drives and summer programs, a member of Big Brothers of Manchester and a youth advisor in several church and community organizations. Coleman lives at 33 Park St.
 A former scoutmaster, Greene is involved with the Catholic Committee on Scouting, organizing annual retreats at a local monastery. He has spent several summers as director of an interfaith day camp and has used his vacations to help children from Hartford and Manchester enjoy arts and crafts and swimming. Greene is also a volunteer counselor at the Connecticut Prison Association. He and his wife, Barbara, live at 51 Dale Rd. with their six children.
 Community Action Awards are presented annually to Aetna employees across the country. Nominated by fellow workers, winners are selected for their individual efforts to improve the quality of life for others. Coleman is a credit technician in the treasury services department at Aetna. Greene is assistant secretary in the national accounts department.

Accepted

The Board of Examiners for Certified Public Accountants in Illinois has accepted Helene Dremel Kiecolt Wahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kiecolt, 156 Mountain Rd., Manchester.

She is a graduate of Manchester High School and received her B.A. degree in economics from the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, and her M.B.A. degree from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. She is employed by Ernst and Evans, an international accounting firm.

First place

In a recent national eight-week sales campaign, Peter Sylvester of Manchester finished first in the Hartford-Springfield area, being responsible for placing more than a half of million worth of life insurance for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S.
 Sylvester also finished 2nd among some 900 agents in the Eastern Seaboard.
 Sylvester is assistant manager for the Robert S. Thompson Agency at 50 Founders Plaza, East Hartford.

A sewer system
In 1960, the town health officer, in his annual report, said, "It would seem that the time has come when it is necessary to plan for a sewer system. Nothing is as badly needed at the North End." After much debate, a sewer district was incorporated in 1961, and the installation of a sewer system began. The sewer system was installed in 1961, and the installation of a sewer system began.

Erin vacations in Turkey

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
Sunday, South Windsor's Erin Kennedy will begin the first lap of a journey from which she expects to return "a different person." Sixteen-year-old Erin will travel to Turkey where she will spend the summer as the third child of the M. Ziyattin Engin family.

Erin is especially anxious to experience the Turkish life-style because "in Turkey people are taught to really respect each other." The Engin family consists of four people. The father and head of the household is a retired school teacher. There are two Engin children, a daughter, 23, and a son, 16. Communication will not be a problem for Erin because both the children speak fluent English. The parents speak only Turkish and Erin hopes to learn some of the native language during her stay.

Erin will leave Bradley International Airport for New York Sunday. Following orientation in New York, she will then board a chartered flight with 178 other AFS students for Turkey on Monday. Erin plans to bring gifts for her "foster family." A tie pin for the father, make-up which is scarce in Turkey, for her foster sister and food gifts for the mother. What will she bring for her new Turkish teen-age brother? Rock and pop music for his guitar. Maybe teen-agers are pretty much the same the world over.

Harold Meyer, 39, of 87 Range Hill Dr. was arrested Wednesday and charged with third-degree assault after police received a complaint from William Cooksey of 76 Park West Dr. that his 14-year-old son had been attacked by Meyer. Meyers is to appear in Common Pleas Court 19 in Rockville July 2. Brian D. Bennett, 18, of Gilead Rd., Andover was arrested Tuesday at 9:50 p.m. at the Hebron General Store on Rt. 86 and charged with third-degree burglary and third-degree larceny. Bennett allegedly broke into the store through a rear window and removed some merchandise. He was returning for home when State Trooper Michael Foley saw and arrested him, police said. Allen and his staff have interviewed 14 of the applicants. Of the 14, eight are being interviewed by a screening committee. Bennett will be recommended to the school board by Allen. Teachers, parents and students make up the screening committee. Phil Robenhymer, Laura Saracchewicz and Gloria Finagano represent the teachers. Town Council okays loitering ordinance
Vernon
The Town Council Tuesday passed an ordinance to cut down on vandalism and undue loitering. The ordinance will be a long time before we see anyone in public places. Ted Gunter, a Vernon resident, said it was about time for such an ordinance. The police haven't had the authority to do anything about loiterers. The ordinance calls for a $25 fine for each offense. Gunter questioned whether they would pay the fine in the case of juveniles. "Maybe if the parents have to pay the fine they'll know where their children are," he said. Yetz said starting July 1 the police department will have a full-time juvenile officer. This may help solve the problem. Councilman Thomas Dooley said he didn't feel it would do much to curb loitering. He said there are already state statutes for it. "I have some problems with its constitutionality. I predict it will be a long time before we see anyone in public places." Councilman John Guiletti said he shared Dooley's sentiments and would not support the ordinance. Martin Burke, town attorney, said he had explored its constitutionality when he wrote it.

Council gives land to TAC
Vernon
The Town Council Tuesday approved giving a small parcel of land, in dispute for some time, by quit claim deed to the Tolland County Agricultural Center (TAC). The land in question is to the rear of the TAC property. TAC officials felt it should have been included in their original deed. Town officials did not agree. TAC plans to use the land for a nature area. The quit claim deed approved by the council has a provision that if the land is taken by condemnation by the state for highway expansion purposes, then the award from the state will come to the town. The deed also carries a restrictive covenant that the land be used for a nature area for the benefit of the people of the tri-town area.

Jaycees give scholarships
Students from three high schools receive $360 scholarships from the Greater Vernon Jaycees. They were presented recently by two Jaycee members. Shown, left to right, are Frank Proccacini and Bill Ardopp, co-chairmen of the Scholarship Committee and recipients, Peter Hyjek, Tolland High School; Cathy Crowley, Rockville High; and Nancy Steffens, Ellington High. New thing on the campus: 'Absurd' politicians

PATRICIA McCORMACK, UPI Education Editor, said "Absurd" politicians surfaced on college campuses this past academic year.

More of the same is expected when colleges start up in the fall.

This has nothing to do with the men running for President of the United States — or men or women running for the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives.

The "absurd" politicians are students willing to practice absurdity to call attention to their demands.

They offer an alternative to regular student governments — which tend to fill absurd office-seekers with disgust over empty promises, playing footsie with the administration and such.

At the University of Texas in Austin a surprising thing happened. The absurd people won.

The slogan of the Texas "Arts and Sausage" party was — "You can hang us on the wall or eat us for lunch — but don't throw us away."

Now that it's got power, the Arts and Sausage party is thinking of holding a garage sale on the 50-yard-line during a fall football game — "to shame the university into putting more money into student government."

At the University of Minnesota, the Tupperware party bid for power, losing by 400 votes.

The party wanted to make the Como Park Zoo director president of the school.

"Cut the Bull" was the slogan at the University of Oregon when the International Apathy party gave students a choice as they elected leaders.

At the University of Nebraska, the Stupid American party bid for power. The slogan of presidential candidate Mark Young was — "A vote for me is a vote for the regents in the mouth."

He was supported by fraternities and sororities but lost.

There are good and bad points about the absurd movement on campus, according to a report in "The Chronicle of Higher Education."

First, the good. Says the Chronicle: "The antics of the 'Arts and Sausage' candidates (for one school's case) forced students to pay attention and reduced the usual apathy over student elections. The candidates wore offbeat costumes and their deliberately outrageous comments were entertainment with a message.

The bad: "An editorial in the Daily Texas, the student newspaper, warned that an absurdist president could harm student interests in the legislature on such issues as tuition and fee increases because he would not be taken seriously."

It was said after the election that the serious candidates lost because they had passed out leaflets saying — "Student government is not a joke."

Frank Till, of the U.S. National Student Association, says the Arts and Sausage ticket wasn't as absurd as it appeared.

It used guerrilla theater as a way of involving students.

"A mundane platform would have had a hard time, because the students were already active over the appointment of Lorene Rogers as president," Till said.

Rogers was appointed by the regents last fall but emerged of the politics of the absurd on campus mean violent demonstrations might be in the wings?

Nope.

"Students drink too much beer to get angry," Skip Slyfield, vice president of the Arts and Sausage party, says.

P.S. — The Arts and Sausage ticket was formed by various absurd groups — including University Students for Nixon-Agnew and Tomato Hubris for Wit and Wisdom.

Levi gives busing views

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Edward Levi said Wednesday that busing to desegregate schools should be transitional, lasting no more than five years in most communities.

Busing in these cases should "put the community in a position where normal patterns would take over," he told a news conference.

Levi said legal scholars are increasingly coming to believe that busing is a transitional remedy to school segregation.

"I don't know that this is a new policy," he said in response to a question. "In fact it has probably always been regarded by the courts as not a permanent remedy. I think it has been regarded as an unusual remedy and one that courts probably regard as transitional."

The Justice Department is preparing legislative recommendations for President Ford's consideration saying that busing could not be ordered for more than five years except under special circumstances, Levi said.

One provision in the tentative proposal would say that busing could be ordered by courts for a three-year period "under certain circumstances," he said, without being further specific.

After review, a two-year continuation could be ordered.

"Then if the orders of the court over those five years have been carried out in good faith, busing would no longer be necessary," Levi did not say what would happen in communities where court orders were not followed, nor did he offer further details of the proposal.

Sugar crystals are piezoelectric, meaning that vibrations set up in the sugar bowl by dinner table conversation probably generate millions of volts of low-amperage — and harmless — electricity in the sugar.

Murder trial to begin Wednesday

The Superior Court trial of Donald J. Pascale, charged with first-degree manslaughter in the April 1975 slaying of Leo Gauthier of Manchester, is scheduled to open next Wednesday in Hartford.

Pascale, 24, of Somerville, N.J., entered his "not guilty" plea Tuesday, and Judge Henry Naruk reduced his bond to $50,000. Pascale is still being held.

Pascale is charged with the April 1975 slaying of Gauthier, 22, of 90 Summer St. Gauthier was on his way to visit his mother at Shoor Jewelers, 917 Main St., where she worked, when he was gunned down at about 3 p.m.

Pascale was taken into custody by state police within an hour of the shooting. He was held at Norwich State Hospital for 10 months, until Feb. 19, when he was declared competent to stand trial.

Police report

Arrests made or summonses issued by Manchester Police include:

- Michael G. Ricci, 16, of 11 Lilly St., charged Wednesday night with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at King's Department Store, Manchester Shopping Parkade. Court date is July 12.
- Isabel M. Rockefeller, 66, of 185 O'Connell Dr., East Hartford, charged Wednesday afternoon with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Mott's Shop-Rite Supermarket, 24 Spencer St. Court date is June 25.
- Kurt E. Burkamp, 18, of 75 Laurel St., charged early today with fourth-degree larceny, in connection with the alleged theft of two tires from a Center St. gasoline station. Court date is June 28.
- A total of 13 traffic arrests, with summonses issued throughout town for a variety of violations, most of them speeding or failure to obey red lights.

Accidents investigated by Manchester Police include:

- An early morning accident at the Center Wednesday in which a car driven by Allen J. Williams, 25, of 18 Russell Dr., Tolland, struck a utility pole. Minor injuries were reported; the car was towed.
- An 11:20 p.m. accident Wednesday in which a motorcycle being chased by police failed to make a turn, hit a curb and was thrown. Police said David M. Busby, 21, of 670 N. Main St. was charged with operating a motorcycle without a license, misuse of marker plates, and operating an unregistered motor vehicle. He was treated for minor injuries at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Court date is June 29.

Church vandals

Someone broke into a storage room at St. Augustine's Cathedral, dumped books and vestments on the floor and set them on fire, according to police. They said a witness saw a youth running from the church at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Guards robbed

HARTFORD (UPI) — Two security guards were robbed within minutes of each other by the same three men with guns, police said. The first victim Wednesday was Dave Doherty, 60, a University of Hartford guard robbed of $150 in cash and a $300 check. The second victim, Kent Ranney, lost $2 and his 38 caliber pistol when the bandits robbed him Wednesday while he was guarding the Hartford National Bank data center.
