Keeney St. storm sewer work started

Work has begun on installing storm sewers in Keeney St., from the Glastonbury townline to about 200 feet south of Bush Hill Rd. Expected to be completed by the end of May, the work was authorized by the Board of Directors, following objections from property owners to an alternate storm drainage project recommended by public works personnel. Here, William Caffyn, left, and Douglas Schumann place blasting caps in holes made by the drilling rig behind them. The blasting is being done by Ravizza Bros., sub-contractors to Kapsia & Son of Glastonbury, contractors for the project. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Ford blitzed by Reagan in Texas

Campaign zeros in on Indiana

By ELIZABETH WHARTON
United Press International
The mere two days separating the Texas voting Saturday and four primaries Tuesday robbed most active candidates of their normal weekend rest.

Ronald Reagan headed for Indiana even before the vote totals showed he had blitzed President Ford — 96 delegates to none — in the Lone Star state.

Ford also mined for Hoosier votes to head off a potential triple-header Reagan win Tuesday in Alabama, Georgia and Indiana.

On the Democratic side, Jimmy Carter also stomped Indiana, although his only major opponent there, Henry Jackson, withdrew Saturday as an active campaigner.

Carter said he was surprised at the size of Reagan's win in Texas, and when asked which he would rather face in November, he said "Whichever one is chosen...I feel sure the Democrats can win with me at the head of the ticket."

Ford flew to Ft. Wayne Sunday afternoon for two appearances and a television interview, and scheduled several appearances in Indianapolis Monday before flying on to Alabama.
At the airport, Ford was asked to respond once again to Reagan's charges that current negotiations with Panama would lead to a "giveaway" of U.S. control over the canal.

In answer, Ford held up a transcript of remarks by Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., during a Sunday television appearance (NBC-TV's Meet the Press), and quoted Goldwater as saying, "I have to support Ford's position on it and I think Reagan would too if he knew more about it."

Reagan is the favorite in Alabama and Georgia, while polls show Ford in front but Reagan gaining in Indiana.

The District of Columbia is the fourth primary Tuesday — the first, but not the last, multi-primary day of the election year. There are 16 slated for May, with six of them on the final Tuesday — May 26.

Morris Udall, criss-crossing Connecticut, continued to describe himself as the only viable alternative to Carter. He said he has a good chance, if his party will just avoid proclaiming a winner while the ballgame is only half over.

Keeney St. rezoning request hearing tonight at 7:30

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

An apparently controversial rezoning application — which would change 70 acres of land off Keeney St. from Rural Residence to Residence M Zone — will be discussed in a public hearing tonight at 7:30 at the Keeney St. School.

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC), which will conduct the hearing, moved its location to the school from the Municipal Building, expecting a heavy turnout.

A group of Keeney St. area residents have organized the Southwest Property Owners Association to oppose the zone change and the association has retained an attorney to represent the group at tonight's hearing.

The application — by Herman M. Frechette et al — seeks rezoning of 70 acres of interior land which is part of an 83-acre tract known as the Wakek property. Envisioned under the Residence M Zone regulations is a residential development including a mix of single-family, duplex and multiple-family (apartment) dwellings.

The Wakek property has frontage on Keeney St. and Garden Grove Dr., totaling about 13 acres, which is now zoned Residence AA and is not part of tonight's application.

The property is being purchased by Frechette, Albert R. Martin, Gerald P. Rothmann and David A. Golas. Frechette and Martin are partners in a real estate sales-development firm; Rothmann is associated with the firm; and Golas is the attorney representing the applicants. Golas, who also has an interest in the Wakek property, said the group has a bond for deed to buy the land for $325,000.

Part of the Wakek property is the same land once considered by Manchester officials as the proposed site of a Southwest Junior High School. The school building plan was rejected by voters in 1971.

Golas, who will make the applicants' presentation at tonight's hearing, said it is much too early to forecast exactly how the property would be developed if rezoning is approved. However, indications are that the 70 acres could be developed for about 400 dwelling units.

Town zoning regulations for a Residence M Zone allow a proportion of different types of housing. A maximum of one-third of the site can be developed for duplex housing and a maximum of one-third of the site can be developed for group dwellings. There is no limit on development of single-family housing, other than customary density and lot size requirements.

There are now only two Residence M Zones in Manchester. One is a part of the Charles Apartments complex off E. Middle Tpk., granted as an extension of an existing apartment project, and the other is the 28-acre, 60-unit Forest Ridge Condominiums at Lydall St. and Greenwood Dr., in which the single-family and duplex housing requirements were waived.

Two other recent applications for Residence M Zones, one on a nine-acre site off Autumn St. and the other on a 73-acre tract off Vernon St., were denied by the PZC.

Kissinger taking respite from African policy planning

KEEKOROK, Kenya (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger took today off from formulating a new Africa policy and tackling global economic problems to see some of the world's last remaining great wildlife herds.

Kissinger, relaxing after a six-nation African tour, flew to this sprawling west Kenya game reserve and during a two-hour drive in an open roofed jeep saw herds of thousands of buffalo, zebra, giraffe, and antelope as well as a lion kill.

"Do some of those lions remind you of anyone you've been negotiating with recently," a newsman quipped to Kissinger as a pride of 12 lions prowled close to his vehicle.

"I'm not afraid of wild animals," Kissinger parried. "I've got 17 of them on my plane" — a return quip about journalists accompanying him.

Kissinger arrived in Nairobi Sunday night, effectively winding up his deliberations with the leaders of six continental countries which will form the basis of a new Africa policy for the United States.

After his one-day break in the rolling mile-high hills of the Masai Mara game reserve here, he returns Tuesday to talks with delegates attending the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development in Nairobi and delivers a major policy speech Thursday before leaving Africa.

Kissinger, dressed in a bush jacket borrowed from U.S. Ambassador Anthony Marshall and a floppy safari hat with leopard skin trim, was accompanied by Sen. and Mrs. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., on his game run which was ringed with heavy security.

The entire park had been closed to visitors for several days before his visit. Troops patrolled all access roads.

As he landed at this luxurious lodge in the center of the reserve, Kissinger was given a dental cast of a male baboon by a Harvard university student doing animal research in the area.

Constantly during the drive, Kissinger halted his jeep and pointed in astonishment as startled gazelle leaped 15 feet into the air in front of him. Hyena stalked in the bush a few feet away at one stage and herds of buffalo wallowed in muddy holes.

Kissinger scheduled a second, private game run this afternoon and the night at a game lodge here before returning to Nairobi Tuesday to host a luncheon for delegates from the "Less developed nations" of the world attending the UNCTAD conference.

A senior U.S. official Sunday said American multinational companies are expected to resist at least some sections of Kissinger's new Africa policy.

Specifically, the official said, U.S. businessmen will oppose a Kissinger proposal to repeal the so-called Byrd Amendment, which allows the United States to import chrome from Rhodesia despite a worldwide U.N. embargo on such purchases.

The official said multinational corporations must realize they could face retaliatory measures, including possible expropriation of their holdings, unless they respect the views of African governments on the Rhodesia issue.

News summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

WINDSOR LOCKS — Despite his weekend withdrawal from active national campaigning, Sen. Henry M. Jackson's supporters say he will stump Connecticut next weekend, prior to the state's May 11 primary.

HARTFORD — A statewide youth voter registration campaign began today at 110 high schools, Gloria Schaffer, secretary of state, has announced. The third annual campaign, called "Project '76," is being coordinated by the Connecticut League of Women Voters and Junior Women's Clubs and will continue through May 12.

WATERBURY — The Waterbury Taxpayers Association, which claims a membership of 7,000 in this central Connecticut city of 117,000, has called for a property tax strike unless the city cuts spending.

Regional

BOSTON — Cardinal Humberto Medeiros said in an interview published Sunday that he has stayed away from racially troubled South Boston and Charlestown because he might get attacked.

BOSTON — The Iranian government wants to barter surplus crude oil to U.S. defense contractors in return for American-made jets, according to the Boston Sunday Globe. It would like more than 500 planes and prefers the barter approach to cash since its oil revenues were $5 billion below estimates last year.

BOSTON — Caroline Kennedy, daughter of the late President John F. Kennedy, was discharged Sunday from New England Baptist Hospital after treatment for a stomach disorder. She is expected to return to London soon to resume her art studies.

National

WASHINGTON — Debate over whether to begin production of the controversial B1 bomber has been heightened with new charges over the weekend from two sources that the supersonic planes is "slow and clumsy" compared to missiles.

NEW YORK — Federal Judge Harold R. Medina has told a committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association to "fight like tigers" to preserve the constitutional rights of a free press because of a constant and pervasive onslaught against the press by every branch of government. The statement was in report given today at the ANPA's 90th annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

International

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Rhodesia has begun calling up its civilian reserves launching a massive military offensive to wipe out the escalating black guerrilla insurgency. It brought the nation closer to full war footing since any time since minority white settlers opposing black rule in the former British colony declared unilateral independence in 1965.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Raging artillery and mortar battles that left more than 200 dead in a weekend of nonstop killing threw Lebanon into new chaos today and overshadowed the political battle to choose a new president.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — A bomb in a panel truck exploded on a main street in Lisburn today, wrecking five stores and demaging several others. There were no casualties.

Reapportionment plan approved by the House

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut House has given final approval to a constitutional amendment changing the way in which the state goes about reapportioning its legislature.

The measure and several others were approved during an unusual Saturday session called because of a backlog of bills remaining to be voted on before the mandatory adjournment Wednesday.

The constitutional amendment, which will become law if approved by voters in the November election, calls for a nine-member legislative committee to work up a reapportionment plan by September of 1981.

If the committee fails to reach an agreement the state Supreme Court will have the authority to develop and enforce a plan.

The constitution now requires a three-member panel named by the governor to come up with a plan after every national census, and challenges are filed in the Court of Common Pleas.

Other bills approved by the House and sent to Gov. Ella T. Grasso for her signature would:

— Tighten restrictions on "Las Vegas nights" — gambling events sponsored by charities to raise funds which state police claimed had been infiltrated by organized crime figures.

— Give municipal employees the right to participate in political activities, but not to run as candidates for elective offices.

— Provide for a state takeover of a $500,000 surplus in the state Boating Fund, created with boat registration fees to subsidize boating activities such as new launch ramps and water safety patrols.

— Create a state Child Support Enforcement Unit to seek out parents who have deserted their families, especially children, and forced them to go on welfare.

Opinion

Contagious cure for corporate crime?

Last October, the chief executive officer of one multinational company made a strong plea for moral leadership on the part of businessmen. It was not a piece of wisdom crying in the wilderness, judging by response to the speech, "Corporate Morality: Is the Price Too High?", given by Fred T. Allen before the Swiss-American Chamber of Commerce in Zurich.

"You have hit the nail on the head when you say business organizations take their cues from their leaders," wrote an executive of a major insurance company.

"You are absolutely correct in stating that the chief executive officer of an institution must not only make sure that he has a clear understanding of what is right and wrong, but he must make a point of seeing that every single member of his organization knows what morality is and understands and assumes the responsibility in this matter," added the president of a Norwalk firm.

Allen's speech was based on a survey sponsored by his company, Pitney Bowes, Inc., of 531 American executives in the wake of revelations of corporate misdeeds from bribery to illegal political contributions to price fixing.

Peanuts

The free lunch long ago vanished from the nation's bars. The communal peanut bowl may now be headed in the same direction, in one state, anyway.

Recent changes in New York's sanitary code prohibits, as a health hazard, the "service" of food in public places. This means the serving of any single dish to a number of people not in the same group.

"If they want to serve each customer an individual bowl of nuts, we have nothing against that," says Dr. Jack Goldman, health commissioner of Westchester County. "But the law clearly prohibits the resale of food items out in the open."

Thought for the day

A place in God's plan
A little stone at the base of the wall
Said, "What earthly use am I?
I am so rough and crooked and small."

ly fell.
But the small one held its place,
And gallantly helped the others to hold.
By staying in its lowly space.

What do we tell you, Diane?

(Editor's note: The following was written by a friend and fellow student at Manchester Community College expressing his grief at the senseless attack and brutal beating sustained by Mrs. Diane Flath, of South Windsor, who is a nurse at Manchester Memorial Hospital.)

I know nothing of Diane's personal life. My knowledge is limited to past performances and background, thus it is current.

Our discourse was relegated to people, their types, their follies, their eccentricities; pleasant conversation that showed me her sensitivity to the feelings of others. Once, requesting the loan of a pen, she gave me the pen quite out of hand as if it should have been known to keep it.

So rarely do I see generosity of simple human kindness exhibited so unobtrusively that only her honest smile kept me from feeling foolish. I observed her reading the poetry of a fellow student at the request of that student and generously describing it as unusual where others might be more inclined to mechanical accuracy.

Diane is a slender woman of average height. A stranger might regard her as fragile in appearance. Her beauty is natural and her most salient feature is her nature. Her nature is serene. Halcyon dispositions are possessed generally by competent, self-reliant persons. Diane is of that ilk. Her physical stature belies her constitution. Her character dispels any hint of fragility. Strength and gentleness are Diane's make-up and she wears them with synchronous precision.

We are indeed ill. Hope that we all get well soon. Diane.

College notes

Among the students at Saint Joseph College to be honored recently were Marian T. Humphrey of Manchester and Mrs. Mary Lou Caffrey, both of Manchester.

Miss Humphrey received an award for religious studies and Mrs. Caffrey for child study. Miss Humphrey was also named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Area residents inducted into the University of Connecticut Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa are: Manchester: Mary Ann McAdams, Linda Smith, Lois Libby, and Alyce Rawlins. Vernon: Raymond Ramsdell and Edward Meyers. East Hartford: Marjorie Hennen.

Several area students were honored at the annual Military Day Awards banquet held May 1 at the UConn Faculty Alumni Center. They are: Patricia M. Stankiewicz (Army), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stankiewicz of 22 S. Adams St., trophy from the Polish Legion of American Veterans of Connecticut for patriotism.

Wedding

Ruganis-Shaw
Debra Gay Shaw of Coventry and Stanley A. Ruganis of Vernon, were married March 5 at Emanuel Lutheran Church in Manchester. The bride is the daughter of Richard E. Shaw and Ms. Shirley Shaw, both of Coventry. The bridegroom is the son of Stanley A. Ruganis Sr. of Manchester and Ms. Dorothy D. Ruganis of Vernon.

The Rev. C. Henry Anderson performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Susan Shaw of Manchester, the bride's sister-in-law, served as matron of honor. David Shaw of Manchester, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

Mrs. Ruganis is employed by Massachusetts Bus Co. as a school bus driver in Coventry. Mr. Ruganis is employed as a mechanic at Sears Automotive in Manchester.

Recreation Department

A second session of tennis is being offered by the Manchester Recreation Department's women's programs. Classes are held at the West Side Rec oval tennis courts in back of 110 Cedar St.

Registration will be one day only, on a first come, first served basis, on Monday, May 10 beginning at 9 a.m. and ending promptly at 1:30 p.m.

Registration will be in person only with the $10 tennis fee due at that time. Recreation membership of $1 per year is also required and proof of residency is needed.

Classes will run for five weeks, meeting twice a week on Tuesdays and Thursdays, or Mondays and Wednesdays. A list of the beginners, intermediates, and advanced beginners schedule will be available at registration.

The Recreation Department also is offering a new program called Gourmet Club. These cooking clubs will feature around the world and around the country recipes on a budget. Meetings will be held from 12:30 to 2 p.m. beginning May 12 at the West Side Rec. 110 Cedar St.

Members will swap recipes and their monthly dinners. Other activities will include table setting and seasonal home craft.

Recreation membership is required. Gourmet Club plan A is for adult groups; Gourmet Club plan B is for family groups. Details will be given at the first organizational meeting. Childcare is available for this and all classes for children two years of age or older for 50 cents per child.

Engaged

Mrs. Chester Ferris, co-chairman program; Mrs. John Horton and Mrs. Roger Bagley, co-chairmen membership; Mrs. Tracy Heavens and Miss Magda Némek, co-chairmen welfare; Mrs. Richard Rechenbach, yearbook; Mrs. Horace Brown, finance; Mrs. Thomas J. Prior, telephone; and Mrs. Vernon Muse, nominating.

Mrs. Elmer Odell, chairman of the Bicentennial Women's Club cookbook, has announced that the cookbooks are all paid for and future proceeds will benefit the handbell choir at the Manchester Community College campus.

Those interested in purchasing a copy may contact Mrs. Odell.

Loring photo

The engagement of Miss Mary Lou Celinski to Robert C. Atwood, both of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Celinski of 93 Summit St.

Mr. Atwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards G. Atwood of 56 Bissell St., East Hartford.

The bride-elite was graduated from Manchester High School in 1973. He is employed by Loring Laboratories of Hartford.

The couple is planning a May 29 wedding at the home of the bride's parents.

Keith Costa wins Civitan contest

Keith Costa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Costa of 315 Grissom Rd., has been named winner of the 1975 International Civitan essay contest, sponsored by the Manchester Civitan Club.

Costa, a student at Manchester High School, won the local competition and is now eligible to compete in the New England District contest.

Topic for the essay is "Building the Future on Our National Heritage." Judges on the local level were Dr. Frederick Lowe Jr., former president of Manchester Community College, and Gil Hunt, head of the English Department at MHS.

Costa and Hunt will be guests of the Manchester club when it meets Tuesday at noon at Willie's Steak House.

Lynch is keynote speaker at Legion Awards Dinner

Edward H. Lynch Jr. of Waterbury will be the keynote speaker and Robert W. Donahue, past commander and former director of the 1974 conference, the world food situation has "improved, not worsened."

2. Record food crops in the U.S. last year and the likelihood of good crops again in 1976.

3. A 5 per cent increase in food production by less

Donahue also is serving as post athletic director chairing the baseball committee. John Mayne will be the 1974 conference, the world food situation has "improved, not worsened."

A graduate of Becker Junior College in Worcester, Mass., he resides with his wife, Annick, and three sons on Skinner Rd., Vernon. He is employed by Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. as a claims supervisor.

Donahue served in the U.S. Army from 1963-1966 with the Public Information Office in Paris, France.

Carol Priest and Ralph VonDeek will be recognized for dedication to post programs. John Mayne will be honored for winning first place in the National Rifle Association competition and a presentation will be made to the Post Rifle Team for winning third place in the national competition.

Fifty years will be presented to Ernest Linders, Harold Belcher and Theodore Fairbanks. Awards will also be given to Norman Fendell and Harry Smith for outstanding service to the community.

Lynch is a past national vice commander, served on the American Legion's National Veterans Preference Committee, and the National Membership and Post Activities Committee.

A native of Waterbury, he served the Department of Connecticut as Americanism chairman, senior vice commander and commander in 1969-70. He has played an active part in department and national conventions and on programs planned for the visit of the national commander to Connecticut. He is a member of the Cpl. Coyte Post in Waterbury.

He served in World War II and Korean Conflict in the U.S. Navy with the rank of petty officer second class. He was graduated from Sacred Heart High School of Waterbury, attended the University of Houston in Houston, Tex., and New Haven College. He is employed by Anaconda Metal Hose Co., Waterbury, since 1960 and is a senior accountant. He is a member of the National Association of Accountants, currently serving the City of Waterbury as commissioner of urban renewal, and was formerly commissioner of public welfare.

Lynch also is serving as judge advocate for the Second District of the American Legion, Department of Connecticut.

Butz: World food picture improving

The Herald's Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — "Scarc stories of world shortages and famines are not helpful — they are untrue and are approaching a time when the world must decide which nations are to survive. The future is much more hopeful."

So says Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz in Madrid, Spain, last week.

The Secretary, who is on a world tour, adds in the speech text which was released to the press in Washington, that "At the time of the World Food Conference in November 1974, there was enormous, almost hysterical concern about the world food situation. That was an off-year in world production — the second off-year in a period of only three years."

"There was a sudden realization by many that rapid growth in population will require rapid growth in food production. Since that conference, however, world concern has become less acute."

Butz lists five major reasons for his optimism:

1. Eighteen months after the 1974 conference, the world food situation has "improved, not worsened."

2. Record food crops in the U.S. last year and the likelihood of good crops again in 1976.

3. A 5 per cent increase in food production by less developed countries in 1975 and a per capita production of 4 per cent in those countries over the level of the three preceding years.

4. Actions by individual governments since the 1974 conference. "The United States enlarged its food aid program in early 1975 and again in 1976. Supplying countries have committed most of the 10 million tons of grain proposed in Rome as food aid. The World Food Program has been enlarged for the next biennium..."

5. During the Rome Conference, $6 billion was said to be needed from donor nations such as the U.S. to boost agricultural development in poor nations. "At that time, the goal seemed unattainable," says Butz. "Now, by the end of this year, we think that commitments from the donor nations and the new International Agricultural Development Fund will reach that $6 billion goal."

The Secretary, however, cautioned that "this is not to say that the world has solved its food problem. World stocks remain at a lower level than is desirable. At the beginning of this year's harvest, world stocks of wheat and coarse grains are expected to be at about 100 million metric tons — a decline from last year and 1974. This decline will be offset somewhat by a growth in soybean stocks, and rice since two years ago."

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

Francis "Swamp Fox" Marston, a southern partisan leader in the Revolution was a military genius of strategy and tactics who rose from private to brigadier general. He reputedly earned his nickname in the fall of 1780 when the British officer Banastre Tarleton made an unsuccessful attempt to rout Marston by trailing him for seven hours through 25 miles of swamp. Tarleton is said to have exclaimed "But as for this damned old fox, the devil himself could not catch him." The World Almanac records.

State agency joins real estate brokers group

Daniel F. Reale, Realtors of Manchester has become an affiliate of the Connecticut Brokers Alliance, a real estate franchise organization, Daniel F. Reale announced.

The Alliance, which has more than 45 affiliates throughout the state, features a statewide real estate listing service and a "guaranteed home program," Reale said. The guaranteed home program covers all major components of a resale home, such as central heating and cooling systems, interior plumbing and electrical systems, roof, walls, ceilings, floors, foundation and basement, Reale said. The program assures buyers of the true condition of the home, he said.

Daniel F. Reale

The statewide listing service, first of its kind in the nation, offers a wide distribution pattern and added advertising exposure, Reale said. The service also exposes properties to relocation managers of major employers throughout the country, he said.

Promoted

Pierre J. Herzdorfer of West Hartford, a part-time faculty member at Manchester Community College, has been named vice president at the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., Hartford.

Herzдорfer is an operations officer for HNB's international division and is also responsible for credit coordination and correspondent bank business development.

Since 1973, he has been an assistant vice president at the bank. He is a graduate of New York University.

Savings bank grads

Mrs. Carol W. Houghton of the Savings Bank of Manchester and Charles D. MacMillan of the Savings Bank of Rockville are among 76 recent graduates of the Connecticut School of Savings Banking.

The school is sponsored by the Savings Banks Association of Connecticut, the University of Hartford and the University of Bridgeport. Classes are conducted in both cities for the school's two-year management training course.

Purchasing sessions

Connecticut industrial suppliers will have two opportunities in May to meet with major manufacturers and bid for new business.

Combustion Engineering Inc. and Remington Arms Co. will take part in day-long sales contact centers, purchasing sessions arranged by the Connecticut Department of Commerce, on May 12 and 19 at Wallingford.

Construction survey

"Major Construction in Connecticut," a survey of manufacturing, office, and utility building activity during 1975, has been released by the Connecticut Department of Commerce. The survey covers projects in excess of 10,000 square feet that have a construction value of at least $100,000. Copies of the survey are available from the department's business office, 210 Washington St., Hartford.

MACC news

A major concern of the churches has been the well-being, both spiritual and physical, of the elderly. This concern has been expressed in the conference largely through the Division of Special Ministries and its subcommittee on convalescent homes, along with others in the community who work with shut-ins.

Diane Wicks, Vista volunteer in the Department of Human Services assigned to work with the aging in Manchester, has met with both special ministries and with the subcommittee to identify the primary needs of the elderly and the ways in which the church might help meet these needs.

Last week, the MACC board of directors, responding to a program designed by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA), designated May as "Aging Awareness Month." Member congregations will be asked to set aside one Sunday as a special occasion to highlight the needs and potentialities of older persons within their congregation and the larger community.

A special Sunday bulletin cover prepared by NRTA-AARP is available to churches without charge. Also available are program suggestions which range from sermon ideas to fellowship luncheons and literature exhibits on the contributions being made by older members of the church and community.

As part of the Aging Awareness program being carried out through the churches, this column and special intra-church releases will carry a summary of the needs of Manchester's elderly. A summary of the needs of Manchester's elderly. A summary of the needs of Manchester's elderly.

Notice
"Nairobi and the Local Church": The regional meeting of laity, clergy and judicatory leaders designed to bring home the relevance of the Fifth Assembly of the World Council of Churches is May 15 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Rev. Robert Edwards has made available to us a book describing his very personal experiences. You'll thoroughly enjoy it. Free copies are available at the MACC office. Registration blanks for the regional meeting also available. Please call as soon as possible if you plan to attend.

They get P&W scholarships

Two Manchester area students are among the 16 children of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft employees in Connecticut awarded college scholarships by the United Technologies Corp. They are: David Beaulieu of 78 Niles Dr., a senior at Manchester High School whose father, Sylvio Beaulieu, is a foreman in experimental assembly at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, and Michael Monsarrat of 344 Nevins Rd., South Windsor, whose father, William Monsarrat, an assistant design project engineer. Each scholarship provides up to $2,000 for tuition and academic fees for each of four years of full-time study at an accredited college or university. The scholarship winners were selected by a board of college admissions representatives, unconnected with the corporation.

Thompson is nominated for council secretary

Manchester Deputy Mayor John Thompson is being proposed for the office of secretary of the Connecticut Council of Municipalities. He is on a slate of candidates being recommended by a nominating committee which include Town Manager Robert Weiss. Being recommended for president is East Hartford Mayor Richard Blackstone, the incumbent. Blackstone, who had been vice president last November, advanced to his present post when Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy, who was president, was defeated for re-election as mayor. Others being recommended for office are: East Lyme First Selectman Dennis Murphy, first vice-president; Berlin Mayor Arthur Powers, second vice-president; and Hartford Mayor George Athanson, treasurer. An 11-member board of directors also is being recommended. Elections will take place May 13 at 5 p.m. at the council's annual meeting—at the Yankee Silvermith Inn, Wallingford.

Auditions announced

Summer Theatre 3 announces auditions for "The Sunshine Boys" at Manchester Community College Auditorium on Wednesday, May 5 and Friday, May 14 at 7:30 p.m. The Neil Simon play will be directed by Richard Dana and performed July 15-18 and July 22-25. Dana's professional experience spans 35 years as a playwright, director, composer, novelist and television producer of such shows as "We The People," "Gangbusters," and he has performed on Broadway and is presently coordinator of the communications arts program at Manchester Community College. For additional information, call Manchester Community College, 646-4000, Ext. 371.

Comment session

A 9 to 11 a.m. comment session is scheduled for Tuesday by the Manchester Board of Directors. It will be on the first floor of the Municipal Building. The sessions, held on the first Tuesday and third Thursday of each month, are for those town residents who wish to file comments, complaints or suggestions on any subject in the board's jurisdiction.

Band, choral plan concert

A concert by the U.S. Coast Guard Band featuring The Travelers Choral Club will be Thursday at 8 p.m. at Bushnell Memorial in Hartford. The event is free. Lt. (j.g.) L.J. Buckley will direct the band in music by Sousa, Gould, George M. Cohan and Bernstein. Choral selections will include a Bicentennial medley of patriotic songs. Concert soloists will include Beatrice Shields, Margaret Putnam and Harrison Gamble. Choristers are employees of The Travelers Insurance Companies.

Hours change at Athenium

A new schedule will be in effect at Wadsworth Athenium in Hartford. The new days and hours are as follows: Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. (no change); closed Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and New Year's Day. Beginning June 1, the following will be closed: Athenium Shop, Auerbach Art Library, and the Slide Library. The schedule change is an economy measure.

Directors set budget Thursday

With Friday, May 7, the General Fund, the Town Fire deadline date for adopting the District Fund and the Special Manchester budgets and tax rates for the fiscal year commencing July 1, the Board of Directors has scheduled a meeting that night for that purpose. It will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room. The board will adopt budgets and will set tax rates for the

Silk City Chorus sings at Parkade

Manchester's barbershop harmony singers will bring their music to the Manchester Shopping Parkade Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in an effort to increase membership in the Silk City Chorus. The group will audition members interested in joining the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. (SPEBSQSA) after the chorus makes a brief outdoor appearance. Male listeners will be invited to audition for membership in the chorus immediately after the singout in the Parkade Barbershop on the shopping center's lower level. No musical knowledge is necessary for joining the chorus. The group makes an average of 20 appearances annually for area civic and social organizations and competes in SPEBSQSA's Northeast district chorus competition. For further information, call Ed Striebel at 644-0147.

School bands combine for benefit concert

Young band musicians from Bennett Junior High, Hilling Junior High and Manchester High School will perform in Bailey auditorium of Manchester High School at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Each band will be heard individually and for the finale will combine in the performance of three selections, "Military Escort," "Procession to the Cathedral," and highlights from "Fiddler on the Roof."

Michael Ortelletti is director of the Bennett band, James Bosco the Hilling band, and Andrew Shreeves the Manchester High School band.

Cougars in tourney

By CHRIS BLAKE
Correspondent

Manchester Community College's baseball program received its biggest shot in the arm to date with a post-season berth to the New England National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) tournament scheduled Friday and Saturday at Mitchell College in New London, it was announced last night.

MCC, ranked seventh in the eight-team field, will face second-seeded

SKIP OLANDER

Rhode Island Junior College (13-5) Friday.

Coach Skip Olander's charges show a 10-4 record. Olander, in his second year, set three goals before the season and his club has achieved the first one — that of getting an NJCAA berth.

Tourney rankings and pairings are: (1) Mass. Bay (17-1) vs. (8) Mitchell College (11-4); (2) Rhode Island Junior College (13-5) vs. (7) MCC (10-4); (3) Quinsigamond College (15-6) vs. (6) Holyoke Community College (14-5); (4) Massachusetts Community College (14-3) vs. (5) Tunxis Community College (15-4).

Rabe three-hitter beats Housatonic

By CHRIS BLAKE
Correspondent

After dumping league champ Housatonic Community College in a rain-shortened game Saturday, Manchester Community College was all geared up for the big showdown against Tunxis Community College Sunday. But the showdown will have to wait — which is exactly what both clubs did.

One of the umpires failed to show for the scheduled doubleheader and, after a 90-minute wait, the two clubs were forced into postponement.

Against Housatonic Saturday, Rich Rabe fired a three-hitter and Don Slomcinsky banged a two-run first inning single to catapult MCC to a 3-0 CCAA victory. Rabe extended his winning streak to 5-0 with the decision and over the past two years (excluding post-season play) he's won 11 straight.

The triumph tied MCC with Tunxis for the league lead, each at 7-1. The doubleheader will decide the regular season CCAA championship and the tournament seeding. MCC went to work early against Housatonic starter and loser Jim Jagodzinski. Jim Blanchard singled, Joe Banning walked and Jack Maloney beat out a sacrifice attempt to load the sacks. After an infield pop, Slomcinsky laced a 2-2 curve into leftfield to produce runs.

The Cougars' third run came in the fourth. Blanchard and Banning walked and Maloney singled to left playing the tally. Rabe, in a while, was slaying the Hawks on three hits with a sixth inning single wiped out by the rain.

Moquin and Carlin gain 10-pin finals

Championship matches in the 1978 Town 10-Pin Bowling Tournaments at the Parkade Lanes Sunday will involve Bruce Moquin and Denny Carlin in the Men's Scratch Division, Mary Boyko and Lynn Topping in Women's Handicap and Ray Weikert and Leo Nelson in Men's Scratch.

All three defending champions — George Moquin (scratch), Jean Archambault and Ron Carone (handicap) fell by the wayside yesterday afternoon in quarterfinal and semifinal action.

In reaching the championship test, Bruce Moquin defeated Jeff Warwick in the quarters and Dave Neff in the semis 2-1 game margins. Carlin eliminated Jim Magowan and George Moquin, both in two straight games.

The latter, defending champion, was consistent in beating Jeff Jones on the strength of 210 and 220 efforts but fell down to 158 and 160 totals against Carlin. Carlin, in turn, Boyko ousted Archambault in straight games in the quarters while Carone got past John Clark in straight games before failing to defeat Carlin in two straight games. The championship tests are scheduled to start at 1 o'clock and will be best five.

Wendol Foucher, who qualified in Men's Handicap, was unable to compete and Carl Ogren was his replacement. Bernie Giovino, tourney director, said.

One of the day's features was Nelson father and son match which he rather, Len, won by a 2-1 game margin in the scratch semi.

Sunday's results: Quarterfinals — Dave Neff (2) 176-166, Alan Rodonis (1) 172-

Eagles lose, drop to .500

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

Champions like to defend their crowns but at the rate East Catholic is going, it won't get a chance of retaining its State Class B baseball title.

The Eagles dropped a rain-shortened 5-2 verdict to Rockville High in Rockville Saturday for their third straight setback.

East sports a 5-5 ledger and with eight games remaining on the slate must win four to qualify for postseason play. If not, it will be on the outside looking in.

Rockville, now 5-2 for the season and riding a three-game winning streak, scored a run in the first as East failed to execute a rundown properly. A poor throw by Don Marston allowed Ram runner Mike Johnson to reach second with Mark Anderson, who led off with a triple, to score.

In the top of the first, the Eagles had a threat going only to see it scum. East had Matt off for second. He was mugged on a strong throw by catcher Mike Martino with Tom Gerbo at third just standing there. A double steal shortly thereafter, scored a run in the first as Rockville showed sharpness afield.

East broke through for two runs in the second on doubles by John Krashofski, Garry Hamrick and Mark Dumais but the Rams knotted it in their half with Mike Martin chasing home Larry Kelly with a single to right.

Rockville plated the winning runs in the sixth just before the rains came. Dave Bellinger popped one into short left. A strong wind was blowing in and a long run by Mark McMahon was in vain as he dropped the ball.

Rocky Tom Burke drew walks from losing pitcher Moffett, 1-3, and sophomore Russ Allen won his own game with a two-run single to right. Allen eventually scored on a wild pickoff throw by reliever hurler Bill Stanley.

Allen, curvballing righthander, scattered six hits to notch the mound decision. He walked four and struck out four.

East's next encounter is Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 at Eagle Field against St. Thomas Aquinas, a 9-2 winner over East in the season opener.

Elder took advice from wife to win

WOODLANDS, Tex. (UPI) — The government says smoking is hazardous to your health. Lee Elder, however, believes it can hurt a golf game, too.

Before Elder began the final 36-hole grind on the last day of the rain-delayed $200,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament, he was six strokes behind the leaders and he called his wife for help.

"The reason I didn't get tired out today was because I didn't start smoking until late in the day," he said. "Rose told me I better not start too early."

He took her advice until a morning round of five-under par lifted him up to the leader board in contention.

"Smoking seems to involve the circulation in my left leg, so I was lucky not to start too early," he said.

Fired-up Scott paces Celtics

Ernie D applies grip
Celtics' Charlie Scott was fouled

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob McAdoo and the Buffalo Braves won the first half of their match Sunday with Boston, but Charlie Scott and the Celtics won the second half, the game and the NBA Eastern Conference semifinals.

Buffalo led 55-50 at 15 minutes, thanks to 19 points by McAdoo, the four-time NBA scoring champ. But McAdoo ran out of gas after the intermission and a fired-up Scott scored nine straight points mid-way through the fourth quarter as the Celtics won 104-103, eliminating the Braves four games to two.

In Sunday's other NBA game, the Golden State Warriors ran the Phoenix Suns into the ground. The Rick Barry scored 38 points to give the defending league champions a 128-103 victory over Detroit, practically blew the Suns off the court.

Barry hit a variety of drives and layups for 26 points in the first half to give the Warriors a 34-8 halftime lead. The Golden State, not especially happy opening the conference finals only 40 minutes after a grueling overtime victory over Detroit, practically blew the Suns off the court.

Old man's dream realized in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Sixteen-year-old Larry Barrera boarded a plane for New York Sunday afternoon, his left shoulder draped in a mantle of roses, the symbol of Bold Forbes' victory in the 1976 Kentucky Derby and the culmination of an old man's dream.

Bold Forbes' electrifying upset over Honest Pleasure could prove the beginning of a great sport rivalry, one that will be continued in the Preakness at Pimlico in two weeks.

For Bert Firestone, the owner of 2-5 favorite Honest Pleasure, the race was a bitter disappointment, but it hardly dimmed his confidence in his home-bred horse.

Glancing toward Barrera's barn Sunday morning, Firestone said, "His horse will never beat us again."

Bold Forbes and Honest Pleasure were clearly the best in the nine-horse field for the $127,700 Kentucky Derby as they ran one-two on the 1 1/4-mile route.

Scott finished with a game-high 31 points. White added 23 and Boston got 14 apiece from John Havlicek and Paul Silas. Don Nelson added 10 in a reserve roll as did Dave Cowen.

McAdoo led the Braves with 28 points. Smith had 24, Ernie DiGregorio 15 and Jim McMillan 12. Golden State, not especially happy opening the conference finals only 40 minutes after a grueling overtime victory over Detroit, practically blew the Suns off the court.

Barry hit a variety of drives and layups for 26 points in the first half to give the Warriors a 34-8 halftime lead. The Golden State, not especially happy opening the conference finals only 40 minutes after a grueling overtime victory over Detroit, practically blew the Suns off the court.

Budget hearing set for Tuesday

South Windsor
Budget talks come to a conclusion this week with a general government budget hearing Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Following numerous budget workshop sessions the Town Council has placed four mills of the proposed 10-mill increase submitted in March. The Board of Education budget came before the public last week. A capacity crowd filled the Timothy Edwards cafeteria, with the majority critical of the massive cuts needed to bring the mill increase down. The $3.6 million general government budget will be aired in the caucus room, with a large attendance expected. Cuts in the proposed budget have eliminated such services as least removal, overtime policy, some snow removal hours, cuts in recreation including all summer playground activities as well as funding for track, golf, and soccer. The council will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8. Included in new business will be an appropriation from the capital expenditures fund for repairs to the Pine Tree Lane-Benedict Dr. sewer force main. Wednesday night at 8 the newly formed Charter Revision Commission will hold its first meeting. This meeting is to allow the public to voice opinions on the charter. Among the items to be considered for charter revision would be the method of election of a deputy mayor as well as consideration of the present council-manager form of government.

RHS students to study air

Vernon
Science classes at Rockville High School, under the direction of science teacher Peter Ramsdell, will be monitoring air pollution in the area during Clean Air Week next week.

The equipment to be used is being loaned by the British Seal/Lang Association. Ramsdell has met with air conservation officials for a briefing on operation of the equipment. The theme of the national Clean Air Week is "Long Alert." The dual objectives of the week are to make people aware of the air pollution that can be dangerous to health and to rally them to action to protect the environment.

No tax hike seen for Hebron

The Board of Finance predicts that the current 42-mill rate will not be increased for the 1976-77 fiscal year. The board's decision came after they reviewed estimated revenues for the current and next fiscal year together with revenue sharing and reserve funds. According to the board, the $2,389,869 budget which will be presented at the May 10 budget meeting can be financed without levying a higher mill rate than the current year.

According to preliminary figures, actual revenues for the present year are exceeding estimates by about $42,116 resulting in an estimated net gain in operations of $30,665. Available cash surplus is estimated at about $18,995 from the previous fiscal year. About $603,245 is being estimated in revenues by the finance board for schools and general purposes. Taxes levied by levying 42 mills on the 1975 Grand List of $40,717,790 total $1,710,147.

The board is proposing that $8,400 be taken from the reserve funds to finance the new sweeper in next year's budget and $2,000 be taken from the Town Office Building Reserve to offset the town office building expenditure. It will be recommended to take $10,300 from revenue sharing funds to finance the roller and paving box for town roads and $18,518 for constables and resident trooper items.

Also, it is proposed to take $1,500 for firehouse maintenance and $650 for a police radio from revenue sharing funds. The board is recommending that $15,000 from State Revenue Sharing funds go toward the $17,500 town road appropriation and that $25,000 be appropriated from surplus to the 1976-77 budget.

Voters back six matters

Hebron
Voters at a recent town meeting approved all six items on the agenda. They accepted Katwood Rd. as a town road. The 1974-75 town reports were accepted. A supplemental appropriation of $8,700 to the Board of Education funded by the Instant Lottery State Grant, was approved. This was a recommender of the finance board. The final report of the Temporary Regional School Study Committee to Consider the Withdrawal of Grades 7 and 8 from Regional School District 8 and the statement of rejection of the Connecticut State Board of Education was received.

The Board of Selectmen was authorized to release a drainage easement overlot 2 in Slocum Heights and accept another easement on the lot. The voters returned to revenue sharing fund $13,675 which represented a reimbursement by the State of Connecticut for revenue sharing funds ap-

New zoning rules adopted

Hebron
The Planning and Zoning Commission after almost five years has adopted revised zoning and subdivision regulations, a zoning map and a town plan. The effective date of the regulations, map and plan will be the date it is filed with the town clerk. Costs for printing the regulations and map are being obtained. Public hearings had been conducted on the town plan and proposed regulations. Before adopting the town plan, the commission eliminated the high density designation on Rt. 85 and 94 and redesignated those areas as medium density. Also, the proposed open space was redesignated as low density residential. The five-member commission consisting of Salvatore Mastandrea, chairman; Charles Eaton, secretary; Roy Wirth, Wilbur Dennis and Russell Anderson voted unanimously on all but the acceptance of the zoning regulations. On that one matter, Dennis abstained in voting because he said he had not read them since changes were made. The commission is sending a letter to Virginia Butterfield of Bolton reaffirming their interpretation of the regulations. Mrs. Butterfield is proposing to convert the Gilead Community Hall into a glass museum. A public hearing was conducted on the proposal on April 13 and after the hearing the commission determined the museum would be a permitted use under the existing regulations. There were 35 persons at the House to reconsider Funds for regional drug squads

HARTFORD (UPI) — A bill granting state funds to regional drug squads — killed by the House but revived when a move to drive in the final official backfired — was to be reconsidered today by the House.

The eight drug squads could go out of business this year if the bill is not approved, since their federal subsidies have run out. It is unlikely the towns whose policemen make up the squads will take over the funding.

The House first voted, 60-50, to reject the measure. Opponents argued that to drive in the final official backfired — was to be reconsidered today by the House.

Fast food nutrition analyzed

CHICAGO (UPI) — The fast food fare of children — cheeseburgers, French fries and milkshakes — is not as nutritious as it is advertised, according to a report in the April issue of the American Journal of Diseases of Children. Dr. Laurence Fineberg, a pediatrician at Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center in New York, made a study of caloric, vitamin and mineral content of the typical teen-ager menu and published it in the AJDC, a scientific publication of the American Medical Association.

The meal added up to about 4,100 calories, too high for inactive adults but only about 10 per cent higher than the intake for the average U.S. male adolescent, Fineberg said.

Protein, carbohydrate and fat is provided but the fat is lower than might be expected, he said, and virtually all the vitamins and minerals are there. A couple of glasses of whole milk and some leafy vegetables once a day would make up the difference, he said.

Fineberg's study confirmed similar findings by the Consumers Union, he said.

"While one would not recommend diet consisting solely of such meals, when eaten occasionally, even once a day, they are in our opinion in no way unreasonable," he said. "They may even stand up pretty well nutritionally."

Revised election reform bill still faces many hurdles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Too late to help Henry Jackson and Fred Harris, the bill to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission and reopen the federal purse to money-hungry candidates may be enacted this week.

Potential delays plus additional roadblocks after the bill is passed mean the matching funds may not be available to help remaining candidates in time for much of this month's heavy schedule of 16 primaries.

Both Harris and Jackson have quit campaigning since the funds were cut off, both citing lack of money as one reason, and George Wallace has cut back his campaign activities. Others have seen healthy campaign coffers dwindle into debt since the FEC stopped awarding matching funds by Supreme Court order in March.

Seven presidential candidates — all the major contenders except Ford, who still has a campaign balance — unsuccessfully asked the Supreme Court to release the estimated $2.4 million in FEC matching funds earmarked for them.

The House has set a vote this afternoon on the compromise campaign law reform bill approved last week by major presidential candidates. The Senate is expected to take up the bill as soon as it passes the House, and it could reach Ford by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The bill would reconstitute the FEC along lines required by the court, but it also would make other campaign law changes opposed by President Ford, who has hinted he may veto it.

Even if Ford does sign, he still name the commissioners and they must be confirmed by the Senate and sworn in. All that could take another week or two.

Thomas Curtis, current FEC chairman, has said he may quit and Senate hearings on a replacement could delay restoration of the FEC another week.

The Supreme Court said the FEC was unconstitutionally established because not all six commissioners were appointed by the President. It suspended execution of the commission's major functions, including disbursement of federal matching campaign funds, as of March 22.

Regional capital fund pool to be first of kind in nation

BOSTON (UPI) — Small businesses in New England could gain capital under a proposal to establish a privately financed regional fund created by pooling the resources of the major money market providers in the region.

The New England Regional Commission, the federal-state body that dreamed up the project — the New England Capital Corporation — now is engaged in planning for it. It is the first proposal of its kind to be attempted in the U.S. on a regional basis.

The six New England governors who run NERCOM voted last Monday to appropriate $100,000 for administrative expenses for the program based on a three-phase plan presented by W. Denman Van Ness, the project director of NERCOM's Task Force on Capital and Labor Markets.

The majority of New England businesses are too small to interest insurance companies for a private investment of capital or to attract interest on Wall Street for a public offering, Van Ness said Friday, "and their needs are too small to attract the interest of the large commercial houses."

Various business and government officials have estimated as many as 80 per cent of the firms in New England employ 50 persons or less. Business leaders of stable, profitable firms have found it difficult to obtain long-term loans needed to maintain their present market position or to allow for expansion.

Under the NERCOM proposal, money from New England banks, insurance companies and commercial lending houses would be pooled into one fund which could be tapped by businesses unable to obtain large capital elsewhere.

Still to be determined, Van Ness added, are how much the NERCOM Capital Corp. would pay the financial services, Raymond Co. and how much the criteria would be to qualify for a loan. The matter of risk to the lenders also is a consideration.

Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., has prepared similar legislation for Congress to establish regional capital institutions for the use of their money to help the bill to take effect. Van Ness said even were Congress to approve the bill it would take longer to implement than would NERCOM's proposal, which could be functional next year.

Conferees seeking compromise on education system overhaul

HARTFORD (UPI) — Three state senators and three state representatives are expected to meet today to hammer out a compromise on the hotly debated overhaul of the state's higher education system.

The House voted Saturday to merge the two-year community and technical colleges under one board of regents, rejecting a Senate proposal to take no action until the matter for another year.

The committee agreement, if one is reached, must be endorsed by both chambers before it is sent to Gov. Ella T. Grasso for her signature. Committee members were to be named today by House and Senate leaders.

The House, in an unusual Saturday session called to clear a backlog of work before the mandatory adjournment Wednesday, voted 81-51 to put the community colleges and four technical colleges under one board of regents.

Four boards of trustees now have separate control over the University of Connecticut, the four state colleges, the community colleges and the technical colleges.

The House voted to create a single board of regents to administer all four state higher education units including UConn, the state college, the community colleges and the technical colleges.

The House rejected that proposal and voted instead to require the study of
