$23 million budget adopted

Town General Fund levy to increase 2.29 mills

By SOL R. COHEN

Herald Reporter
Manchester's General Fund tax rate will go up 2.29 mills as of July 1 — from its present 50.65 mills to 52.94 — and the Town Fire District tax rate will go up 0.17 mill — from its present 6 mills to 6.17 mills.
The Board of Directors Friday night adopted the new levies by 8 to 0 votes. (Republican Paul Willhite is recuperating at home from an illness.)
Also by 8 to 0 votes, the board adopted a $23,000,328 General Fund budget for 1976-77 — up about $1,845,000 from the current budget, but about $282,000 below the budget recommended by the town manager.
And, again by an 8 to 0 vote, the board adopted a $1,694,379 Fire District budget — up $169,259 over this year and $55,588 below the budget recommended by the manager.

Each mill in the tax rate accounts for $1 in taxes for each $1,000 of assessed property.

The budgets and tax rates were adopted in an orderly and quiet one-hour session, with votes taken line-by-line.

Some votes split

Although the totals were adopted unanimously, there were split votes on several line items.

The votes were 5 to 3 for the town clerk and town treasurer appropriations, with Democrat Phyllis Jackson joining Republicans Carl Zinsner and Vivian Ferguson in the "no" votes. Their objection was on the basis that elected officials know the salary when they run for office and shouldn't be given raises unless a charter revision so specifies. The town clerk, who is full-time, was given a step-increment. The town treasurer, who is part-time, was given a $750 raise — to remain at that level until at least the next time the office is on the voting machines.

The vote was 5 to 3 for the human services appropriation, with the same three opposed. This time it was in the fear that a new department might be established and on the reasoning that human services functions could be handled by the social services or health department.

Mrs. Ferguson cast the lone "no" vote against the $400,000 pension contribution, on the belief it should be higher.

The vote for the Board of Education appropriation was 5 to 3, with Democrat John Thompson joining Republicans Zinsner and Ferguson in voting "no." Zinsner and Ferguson said the appropriation is too high. Thompson said it's too low. Jackson, who voted for the appropriation reluctantly, said, "There is a message here to the Board of Education, that it's time to stop requesting a $1 million increase each year."

Unanimously and with little discussion, the board adopted a $59,544 budget for the Downtown Special Taxing District and continued its tax rate at 12 mills. It adopted a $226,500 budget for data processing services, a $1,180,000 budget for the water fund and an $854,500 budget for the sewer fund.

It hiked water fees by 15 per cent (the manager had recommended 30 per cent) and, to offset part of the added cost to water and sewer customers, it pegged sewer charges at 115 per cent of water rates (they now are at 120 per cent). $34,35 a year

The 2.29 mills increase in the General Fund tax rate means $34.35 more a year for a property owner with a home assessed at $15,000. And, the 0.17 mill increase in the Town Fire District tax rate means $2.55 more a year for a home assessed at $15,000. The General Fund tax rate is for all Manchester property owners. The Fire District tax rate is for those getting fire service from the town. The combined added tax for the two is $36.90 a year for the property owner with a $15,000 assessment. The Eighth District levies its own fire tax for those serviced by its fire department.

To finance the 1976-77 General Fund budget, the board estimated $15,947,477 from property taxes (at 98.7 per cent of collection), $788,377 from revenue-sharing funds, $412,581 from surplus, $340,000 from investment income, $3,593,371 from education-related sources ($181,162 from the state's Instant Lottery, $1,239,995 from state and federal sources, plus income from several other categories).

The appropriation to the Board of Education totals $13,675,000, but is in two parts in the budget document, $12,693,838 regular and $181,162 from the Instant Lottery.

The Democrats approved a request for a deputy police chief, but the Republicans, although they voted for the police appropriation, opposed creation of the position in the coming year. The post is expected to go to Patrol Captain Richard Sartor.

Town Manager Robert Weiss was given a 5 per cent increase — bringing him to $30,200 annually as of July 1, the beginning of the 1976-77 fiscal year.

The General Fund budget maintains twice-a-week refuse pickup, leaf collection and support to outside social services.

Freeze on hiring

It maintains also the existing freeze on filling vacancies without specific permission from the Board of Directors. In his budget message, Mayor Matt Moriarty Jr. recommends the same policy for the Board of Education.

The board accepted a recommendation for a full-time assistant counsel and a part-time town counsel, with the salary of the first to go to $17,000 and the salary of the latter to be reduced from its present $11,000 to $9,000. It advised the town counsel and the manager to begin recruiting a full-time assistant counsel.

The board rejected merit raises for employees of the health department, the only department to request them. Moriarty's message asks the director of health to spend a greater portion of his time dealing with medical needs and problems, rather than in the administrative area.

A total of $140,000 from revenue-sharing funds was placed for capital improvements — for such programs as work at the Manchester Recreation Center (former Nike Site), a start on dredging Center Springs Pond, improvements to the heating system in the Municipal Building, some sidewalk construction and replacement and the purchase of highway department equipment.

Calls budget austere

Moriarty said in his message, "The budget that we are presenting is an austere budget, but that is appropriate during these difficult times. We have postponed many improvements that are desirable for the town with the hope that, as the economy improves, we will be able to make these changes."

Moriarty scored the state for two problems placing municipalities "in an increasingly disadvantageous position" financially:

"The first part is that the purchasing power of state aid dollars is greatly reduced from previous years by inflation, although the dollar amount is up.

"Secondly, state-mandated services, collective bargaining agreements, and other non-discretionary expenditures, without matching funding, place an additional burden on taxpayers, Manchester's and others."

HARTFORD — The just-ended legislative session and Gov. Ella T. Grasso deserve praise for boosting the state's economic climate, the Connecticut Business and Industry Association's president, Arthur L. Woods, said Friday. "There is every indication that the administration and the legislature understand the important link between business health, the economy and jobs," he said.

WILLIMANTIC — A third bargaining session between striking registered nurses and the Windham Community Hospital ended Friday with no progress reported. The strike began April 21 and is the first nurses' strike in state history.

Regional

BOSTON — The city, already facing a $22 million deficit, should go further into debt to keep its schools from closing early — and possibly inflaming racial tensions — according to federal Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. in a statement Friday denying the city request to close schools early.

BOSTON — President Ford's veto of a $4 billion foreign military aid bill increases the risk of the U.S. being drawn into an overseas war, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Friday night.

National

SAN FRANCISCO — A 39-day strike by San Francisco craft workers that left the city without public transportation — including its famous cable cars — ended early today. The Board of Supervisors met in an extraordinary pre-dawn session and agreed to remove two anti-labor propositions from the June ballot — one requiring dismissal action against city workers who strike and one that would freeze wages for two years.

LOS ANGELES — A Henry Silver, a handwriting analyst who helped expose the Clifford Irving biography of Howard Hughes as a hoax, stated Friday the Hughes will left at Mormon Church headquarters in Salt Lake City is authentic.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Elias Sarkis was elected by Lebanon's parliament to succeed Christian President Suleiman Franjeh today despite mortar blasts and barrages of machine gun fire around the meeting place.

MOSCOW — Soviet authorities staged a major rescue effort Friday with planes, helicopters and ships to pluck 400 fishermen off floating ice on the northerly Lake Ladoga, the newspaper Trud has reported.

Campaigns for father

Jack Carter, center, visited Manchester Friday afternoon on behalf of the candidacy of his father, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, the current frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination. Connecticut Democrats will vote in the state's first presidential primary Tuesday. Earthquake death toll mounts GEMONA, Italy (UPI) — The death toll in Italy's worst earthquake in more than 60 years climbed toward 1,000 today and officials warned of epidemics from decaying corpses, open sewers and summerlike heat.

In Rome, the national police general command said 561 bodies had been recovered by early today and another 1,100 to 1,300 were injured in the quake that jolted Central Europe Thursday night.

A government spokesman in Udine, capital of the quake-stricken Friuli region, told reporters Friday night the toll was likely to reach 1,000.

"We don't know the exact number but the total of the dead, based on coffin requests by search officials, is approaching 1,000 and the hospitals are full of injured," said Udine prefecture spokesman Natale Labia. "Several helicopters will disinfect the hardest hit areas Saturday," a police official in Udine told reporters. "There is an impending epidemic danger among unrecovered corpses, animal carcasses, uncovered sewers, lack of water and almost summer heat."

Gemonza, 16 miles northwest of Udine, was one of the most severely damaged towns with an estimated 80 per cent of its buildings demolished.

Only the facade and dome of its famous 14th-century cathedral remained intact.

Rescuers dug a mother and her 10-year-old son out of the rubble of their three-story Gemonza house where they had been trapped for 29 hours. Both were in good condition but debris had fatally crushed the woman's eight-year-old son.

Forgaria, Maiano and Buia also suffered heavy casualties and damage. At least 20 helicopters — six of them U.S. military choppers from Vincenza — 700 trucks and scores of ambulances aided the more than 2,500 search and rescue workers.

Light aftershocks continued in the disaster area but no further damage was reported.

In Buia, a town of 8,000, police said at least 40 persons died.

"In one minute it came and everything was moving and trees were falling down," gray-haired Alba Populin said, near the pile of rubble that was her four-story apartment building. "Thanks to God, I escaped."

Others did not. In Venzone, a town of 1,500 where at least 30 persons were known dead, an old man with tears in his eyes asked a policeman for help in probing the ruins of his home next to the cathedral.

"I survived in my slippers, shirt and trousers," the old man said in an even voice. "I lived here with my woman for 18 years and now she has left me. I have a few personal things and I want to take them with my own hands."

The weather

Clear, cool tonight, lows in lower 40s and high 30s. Chance of frost inland. Sunday, sunny and warmer with high near 70.

Carter picks up support

By LEWIS LORD

United Press International
Jimmy Carter picked up endorsements from labor and management Friday in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, labor's most powerful liberal, joined Carter at a Detroit news conference and said the former Georgia governor can "bring this country together into one nation."

Later in the day Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., showed up as a surprise guest at a $500-a-head cocktail fund-raiser for Carter and said "he certainly has my support for the Democratic nomination."

Ford, who has supported Democrats and Republicans in past elections, added, however, he will decide later who to support in the November general election. President Ford campaigned Friday in Omaha, Neb. — his birthplace — and announced, "The fight to achieve the presidency for the next four years begins anew here."

The President's aides had said he would use a "new strategy" in hopes of ending Ronald Reagan's string of primary victories in Tuesday's Nebraska contest. That strategy, it turned out, had Ford promoting his White House record and avoiding any mention of Reagan.

Reagan, meanwhile, is running radio spots in California reminding Democrats that this weekend is the deadline for re-registering as Republicans. Cross-over balloting — which helped Reagan win the Texas and Indiana races — won't be permitted in California's June 8 Democratic and Republican primaries.

Rep. Morris Udall said he was disappointed by the UAW action but would "redouble" his efforts to win the support of rank-and-file union members. The May 18 Michigan primary, he warned, might be the last chance for liberals "to stop the Carter bandwagon."

Jackson denies delegate shift

HARTFORD (UPI) — Henry Jackson says none of the delegates he won in early primaries have jumped ship since he called a halt to active campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Jackson Friday trotted out his Massachusetts delegates to squash reports they were deserting him.

"I know of no case where there have been any defections," he told reporters who gathered for the meeting, reportedly called by the delegates to clarify Jackson's position.

Jackson has announced a halt to national campaigning because of lack of funds, but today was concluding a three-day campaign swing here in hopes the state's May 11 primary would resurrect his candidacy.

Jackson met with 21 of the 24 delegates he won in the Massachusetts primary March 2. Each pledged continued support. Six other Massachusetts delegates for Jackson will be named later.

His supporters said a report they were shopping for another candidate was wrong. They met behind closed doors for 30 minutes with the candidate.

They said other candidates — including frontrunner Jimmy Carter — had begun to make overtures. But Massachusetts state Rep. Charles Buffone, D-Worcester, speaking for the delegation, said, "There are absolutely no defections."

In Lexington, Mass., Arthur Osborn, one of the Jackson delegates who did not make the trip, said there was no "cohesive effort to get together to move towards anyone."

He said he saw antagonism among the Massachusetts Jackson delegates to Carter. Delegate James M. Connolly of Boston, quoted in the report as saying he was considering throwing his support to California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., said the story was wrong.

He said he told a reporter he liked Brown, but had insisted he was pledged to Jackson as long as the senator from Washington state was an "active candidate."

Connolly said he had been unsure if Jackson was still actively seeking the nomination until the visit to Connecticut, but was now convinced and would not look elsewhere.

"I have a moral commitment to the senator (Jackson)," he said. "I'm sticking to the Jackson campaign as long as he is a candidate."

Jackson has said a win here could spur the campaign funds needed to resume a national effort, but despite his supporters' confidence most observers give him little chance of winning Connecticut, which along with Nebraska and West Virginia hold primaries Tuesday.

Directors completed budget, settled on $23,080,328

Manchester's Board of Directors spent a good part of the week continuing their work on the budget and last night approved a budget of $23,080,328 which will require a mill rate of 32.94, an increase of 2.50 over the current rate.

By Thursday the directors had already approved at their decision on where to make budget cuts and on how much to cut.

Two Republican critics this week called on the majority members of the board to make steep cuts, GOP Town Chairman Thomas Ferguson issued a statement on behalf of the party calling for greater economies. Republican Director Paul Willibide, who has missed much of the budget deliberation because he was hospitalized, made the same request and singled out the education budget as the place where a big reduction should be made.

In the Eighth District, directors decided for the time being upon a budget of $232,000 which is about 70 percent less than the current budget and about $125,000 less than the preliminary budget proposal. Few district residents attended the budget public hearing. The directors will

Week in review

The Town Building Committee indicated this week it will consider installing a solar heat system in planned construction projects at two Manchester elementary schools, but only if there are federal grants available.

Committee Chairman Paul Phillips said solar heat is being viewed as a supplemental system which could save thousands of dollars in normal heating costs each year. The initial expense, though, is high.

In education news this week, Asst. School Supt. Wilson Deakin announced an impasse in labor talks with school paraprofessionals and a tentative agreement with school custodians.

Business

Manchester State Bank, starting a drive to become more competitive in the home mortgage business, this week announced a new Variable Rate Mortgage in which the interest rate starts at 8 per cent with a 50 per cent down payment.

The Crockett Agency announced this week it has purchased the insurance business of the Jarvis Agency Inc. The transaction details weren't revealed.

Arthur's Fine Foods, with stores in East Hartford and Hartford, announced this week it will open a supermarket in the vacated A&P store building on E. Center St.

About town

The installation dinner of the Ladies of St. James scheduled for Monday night at Willie's Steak House has been canceled.

A hand full of cash is better than a large bill of stuff.

Housing

The Manchester Board of Directors, surprised and dismayed when it learned this week of plans to use electric heat in an elderly housing project, offered up to $50,000 to the Manchester Housing Authority so gas heat could be installed.

The authority, still working on plans for its 46-unit project on Spencer St., originally planned for electric heat because the initial construction cost was lower.

In other authority news this week, Executive Director Leon Enderlin announced that applications will be accepted, starting Monday, for a federal rental subsidy program for 45 units of existing housing.

Eligibility will be determined by the authority in accordance with a federally mandated schedule of family income limits. Officials said 20 units will be reserved for large families and 13 units will be reserved for "very low income" families.

People

More than 300 young people participated in a walkathon last Sunday which raised over $11,000 in pledges for the Kevin Hurst fund. Assisting in the event was a team of eight members of the Pioneer Valley Repeater Association which manned communication points at eight locations along the route to call for medical aid if needed.

Kevin Hurst, a sophomore at East Catholic High School, was severely injured while playing football last fall. He is attending ECHS in a wheelchair.

Dr. John E. Rogers Sr. was presented the "M" award by the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce in recognition for his contributions as a teacher, lecturer and writer of Negro history.

A self-educated man, Dr. Rogers has devoted more than 40 years to his hobby. He has set up many educational programs in schools and colleges, on Negro history and teaches in Hartford and Manchester. He belongs to many civic groups and has been an active member of the Bolton Congregational church.

Edward Wilson withdrew his name from consideration for a vacancy on the Human Relations Commission. He failed to receive a majority of director's votes when he was nominated. Wilson made it clear he is remaining in politics.

Sen. David Barry resigned from the General Assembly's Judiciary Committee and refused to vote on a court merger bill because of extensive lobbying. A lawyer, Barry said he foresaw a conflict of interest and felt the question should be decided by laymen.

Deputy Mayor John Thompson was nominated for the secretary's post in the Connecticut Council of Municipalities.

There has been a great deal written lately on this subject as it relates to the current campaign for the President of the United States. It is an important issue with many facets which need more consideration than I can give it in this brief column. Here are just a few comments on it.

Unites. It was essential to give consideration to the restriction on the liberty of half the human race.
The last speaker in the session devoted to this subject was Dr. Una Scott of Surrey, England, medical practitioner and Anglican deaconess.
She drew powerfully on her medical knowledge to reveal the myths on which she based her case for equal rights for women. In closing she said: "My survey of socio-psychological factors which keep women and men imprisoned by the social evil of sexism is incomplete unless I recognize the existence of deliberate sin which keeps women subordinate to men in some spheres of life and men subordinate to women in others.
Sin exists among all of us (she goes on to mention pride, covetousness, anger, greed, envy, and sloth). "We need deliverance from these sins before we can see each other as sisters and brothers in Christ."

ALBANY, May 8 - Gen. Schuyler

News for senior citizens Hi gang! Now that the weather is getting warmer and the days are longer, we hope you'll be able to go on trips, especially one-day trips. So come Monday, we will be signing up for a big day at Stanley Park in Westfield, Mass.

James won the high triple with a 562 and Kay Nettelson won the high triple with a 512.
Helen Flavel and Eve Warner would like to announce that anyone wishing to sing in the chorus June 3 for our Fun-Day program should be at the center Tuesday night for rehearsal at 8:30 p.m.
By the way, Tuesday will be the final league games, and therefore we will be making and filling the beautiful little flower pots
for the Mother's Day Tea, which had 16 players for bridge with the following winners:
George Latt, 4,470;
Marjorie McClain, 4,590;
Jack Owen, 4,330; and Marianne Herdic, 3,900.

Mother's Day Tea
Then came Thursday, and in the afternoon we celebrated Mother's Day with a tea party for all the mothers. We had a fine turnout of mothers, grandmothers, and also a few wonderful mothers. Gloria and I were planning a great afternoon. We even recruited the following men to serve all the lovely ladies: Al Mastroianni, Robert Daggart, Henry
Cormier, Stanley Chapin,
Philip Brass, Howard
Miller and Joseph DePout.

Manchester High third baseman made putout in rundown near home plate

Rabe huris, bats MCC to triumph

By CHRIS BLAKE

Correspondent
There are times when a ball club must reach deep for that little something extra to win. Yesterday, that ingredient for Manchester Community College was pride and it carried the Cougars into the N.I.C.A.A. Regional XXI semifinals today in Groton.

Riding the arm and bat of Rich Rabe, the Cougars stunned second-ranked Rhode Island Junior College, 4-1, in first round play yesterday at Coast Guard.

Today the winners face third-rated Quinsigamond Community College (15-3) of Worcester in the semifinals.

The Cougars, with a deceiving seventh ranking, increased their record to 11-5, including a spotless 9-0 in region competition. Rhode Island bows out with a 13-7 record.

"We just gave it a total team effort and came out on top," said an elated coach Stan Olander. "We got a lot of timely base hits and it showed."

Olander's point was well made. The Cougars got eight runs on 11 hits while Rhode committed six errors.

Of the total team effort, Olander would be hard pressed to name one star. There was Paul Placido, getting three hits and knocking in three runs. There was Joe Banning, banging out a pair of hits. There was Rich Linden, lacing two hits and turning in several defensive gems at first base.

But MCC is surely thankful for Rabe, its ace right-hander. Not only did he hurl a neat seven-hitter with eight strikeouts, but he shocked everyone by clouting a homer and double for two RBIs.

Rabe increased his unblemished record to 4-4 with the win. He ran into difficulty in just one inning — that three-run fourth.

The rally started when Rhode Island's Pietrusko belted a one-out solo homer. Bob Cahoon reached on an error and Tom Giorgi and Joe Rossi walked. Jim Moriotti delivered a single which scored two runs.

MCC had a 5-1 lead going into the fourth. Jack Maloney's sacrifice fly in the first inning scored one run.

Jim Blanchard led off the inning with a hit and stole second. Banning walked and Maloney walked. Placido, behind 0-2 on the count, lashed a two-run single to right for a 3-0 edge.

Rhode Island got a run back in the home third. Rossi looped a single to right and moved to third on a Moriotti hit. John Keokorian's lofted pop-up, however, was not caught.

MCC struck for two runs in the fourth with help from an unlikely source. For some time, Rabe has been asking Olander to insert him in the lineup in a designated hitter role.

Rabe proved his hitting prowess by leading off with a booming homer to centerfield.

After an out, Larry Morrison walked and used aggressive base running to score a run. With Morrison on first and two outs, Banning poked a single to center.

Morrison decided to tie the wet outfield grass and the arm of Pietrusko by trying for third.

The result was an overthrow which allowed Morrison to score. The MCC rally knocked Rhode Island starter and loser Rick Daigault from the box.

The Cougars put it out of reach by stringing together single tallies in the last three innings.

Rhode Island got a run back in the home third. Rossi looped a single to right and moved to third on a Moriotti hit. John Keokorian's lofted pop-up, however, was not caught.

MCC struck for two runs in the fourth with help from an unlikely source. For some time, Rabe has been asking Olander to insert him in the lineup in a designated hitter role.

Rabe proved his hitting prowess by leading off with a booming homer to centerfield.

After an out, Larry Morrison walked and used aggressive base running to score a run. With Morrison on first and two outs, Banning poked a single to center.

Morrison decided to tie the wet outfield grass and the arm of Pietrusko by trying for third.

The result was an overthrow which allowed Morrison to score. The MCC rally knocked Rhode Island starter and loser Rick Daigault from the box.

The Cougars put it out of reach by stringing together single tallies in the last three innings.

Indians top Hall in pitcher's duel

By LEN AUSTER

Re-haltered
Pitching has not been a problem for Manchester High this baseball season. On certain occasions, however, defense has cost the Indians dearly.

But neither proved troublesome yesterday as the locals bested Hall High, 4-1, in CCL action under the stars in Groton.

The win evens Manchester's record at 5-5 while Hall drops to 2-7. However, wasn't called upon in the sixth as catcher Tom Jones picked up the ball.

Manley's throw to first pulled Scott Clement off the sack and two runs scored. It was more than enough for Hall to win.

Hall batter to reach against relief hurler Kevin Hanlon. Daigault struggled through 5 1/2 innings in which he walked six and struck out four. He yielded a run in the sixth but before departing made a key play by picking Jamie Cherin, who had driven home the Hall tally, off second base. In this, Manchester executed the rundown flawlessly.

Hanlon, who hadn't seen mound service in 10 days, was called on when located at first and second. He, however, wasn't called upon in the sixth as catcher Tom Jones picked up the ball.

Manley's throw to first pulled Scott Clement off the sack and two runs scored. It was more than enough for Hall to win.

Barrett had two hits for Manchester, which collected just six, while Hanlon had three blows and diminutive Tony Trencard two for Hall.

Manchester's next tilt is Tuesday afternoon in West Hartford against Conard High. The Chieftains, 9-5, share the CCL lead with Windham and Wethersfield.

Borg and Solomon

DALLAS (UPI) — Bjorn Borg is a better tennis player than Harold Solomon.

Borg probably knew that anyway, but Solomon made it official Friday night.

Borg used Solomon as a stepping stone into the final of the World Championship of Tennis, earning the right to face Guillermo Vilas Sunday for the $50,000 first prize.

"I don't think anything could have helped me tonight," Solomon said of Borg's 7-5, 6-0, 6-3 victory. "His shots came up about here on me (eye level) and I can't use my body to hit those shots. I have to use nothing but arms. And that is tiring."

"I don't think my game is at the stage where I can beat him right now. I think it is going to take a few more years."

Vilas easily whipped Dick Stockton, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1. The title match will bring together two close friends, who practice together almost every day. They even plan to practice together this afternoon.

It will be the third try at a crown in as many years for Borg and this time he feels he is ready. He dropped the championship title to John Newcombe two years ago and he was no match for Arthur Ashe last year. But a year ago Borg had to go through a four-hour, five-set semifinal with Rod Laver and was drained for the finals.

This year his semifinal match lasted only one hour, 43 minutes. "I think I played very, very well and he didn't play well and when that happens it is one-sided," Borg said.

"I just didn't miss many shots. And I kept my concentration. You have to keep your concentration even if you are five up. I keep telling myself that."

Stockton, who lives in a Dallas suburb, was the crowd favorite against Vilas, but did not have the shots Friday night to pull off the upset.

After a close first set Vilas went to work with a series of topspin lobs and excellent passing shots to offset Stockton's plan to charge the net.

"I passed very well," said the Argentinian. "I played well on the big points."

Then, on Friday, playing during an unusual spring "blue norther" that kept temperatures in the 50s with 20-mph-per-hour north winds, he sank putts of 6, 8, 10 and 12 feet for birds.

"I haven't made a bogey yet and that's the key to how I'm playing," Hayes said. "I haven't made any stupid mistakes."

Bob E. Smith, the second-place finisher last year, jumped into second place with a 67 Friday.

The other player under par was Judy Rankin, a winner of three tournaments this year and the LPGA's leading money winner who's a tall, blue-eyed blonde who's one of the LPGA's most attractive players, a 140 total and a two-stroke 143, one under.

First thread spun

"As I was driving home (to Wethersfield) from Manchester, I thought how ironic it was that the Silk City should spin the first thread for the web of relays which could develop in New England as a result of the Manchester event." Vin Fandetti penned to this corner this week.

The event he referred to was the Manchester Relays, June 26-27, sponsored by Manchester Community College.

Fandetti, chairman of the Long Distance Running Committee for the Amateur Athletic Union in Connecticut, was a luncheon guest several days before he wrote at a press gathering at MCC. Vice president of the Hartford Track Club, Fandetti is most enthusiastic about the relays, which track buffs hope will develop into an annual event and spread to surrounding communities as well.

"At this time we have over 800 registered (AAU) runners in Connecticut. Of that number, about 100 are masters (45 years of age and older), and possibly 30 per cent will run in the 20 Mile (12-mile) run on Saturday, June 25."

"That leaves 700 runners, excluding high school graduates, who will be eligible to compete in the track events on Sunday, June 27. "Keep in mind," Fandetti adds, "that's only in the State of Connecticut."

The New England AAU is bigger than we are, and they love track and field.

This program is going to be larger than anyone can imagine. If the people of Manchester love their turkeys to come out on a rainy November (Thanksgiving) morning, can you picture the crowds in the beautiful weather?"

Fandetti, an active performer who started his competitive running career in the Five Mile Road Race in Manchester a decade ago, concludes, "I'm excited and pledge the support of the Hartford Track Club to Pat Mistranta."

Pin finals Sunday

Two top qualifiers in the Men's Scratch Division of the Town 10-Pin Bowling Tournament at the Parkside Lanes, Dennis Carlin and Bruce Moquin will square off Sunday for the title. The best of five game match starts at 1 o'clock. Carlin had a five-game total of 800 in head-to-head rolling while Moquin's 791 total was second best. Also on the line Sunday will be handicap titles with Mary Boyko facing Lynne Topping and Leo Nelson and Ray Welkert meeting Sporting a fine Florida fan, John Koepsel is home for the summer months. The good looking right-handed pitcher should be a welcomed addition to any Twilight League entry, including Moriarty Bros. Koepsel started with Manchester High a year ago and is fresh off a fine college season in the Sunshine State. Gene Johnson reports Wally Wigdon will help coach Moriarty's entry in the Twilight League.

The series now moves to the Whaler's home ice for games Sunday and Tuesday. The winner meets the Canadian Division winner Winnipeg Jets in the Avco Cup finals.

Jordan huris jayvee victory
Strong pitching by sophomore southpaw Mike Jordan powered the Manchester High jayvee baseball team to a 5-1 win over Hall High yesterday at Moriarty Field.

Jordan struck out 17, including 13 in a row, to gain his fifth mound victory. He added his own clean with a two-run triple. Jordan allowed just two hits as the young Indians moved their record to 7-2.

Sophomore Mike Linsenbigher had a pair of hits and Scott Linsenbigher and sophomore Chris DeCantis each doubled.

Manchester's next tilt is Tuesday afternoon in West Hartford against Conard High. The Chieftains, 9-5, share the CCL lead with Windham and Wethersfield.

Cromwell did all its scoring in the first inning on four base by hits, one walk and three errors. Only two of the markers were earned.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: Sunday, May 9 is Mother's Day. Many suspect that it is just another commercial holiday dreamed up by florists and merchants to stimulate business.

Not so! Mother's Day was actually conceived by Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia who in 1907 persuaded the minister to have a special church service the second Sunday in May to honor all mothers. Those with living mothers were red carnations, and those without mothers were white carnations. This custom is still observed in some areas.

Mother's Day is a day of gladness to most mothers. But not for all. I should know. For weeks following Mother's Day, my desk is covered with the tear-stained letters of mothers who have been snubbed, slighted or forgotten.

Two typical Mother's Day letters:

DEAR ABBY: Ever since my son got married, he forgot that he has a mother. Every holiday—including Mother's Day—his wife drags him to HER people, and he goes like a little puppy without even putting up a fight.

NEGLECTED IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR ABBY: My son lives in the same city with me, but I'm lucky if I see him six times a year for 10 minutes. Then on Mother's Day he sends me a bouquet of flowers.

Each year, disappointed mothers send me the verse: "A son is a son until he takes a wife, but a daughter is a daughter all her life."

My mail consistently verifies the fact that one of the most sensitive of all human relations is the one that exists between a woman and her mother-in-law. There is far more friction between a woman and her husband's mother than between a man and the mother of his wife.

Recently, I published a letter from a young wife who asked, "Who should sit in front with my husband when we take his mother out for a drive?"

I said, "Out of respect for her age—his mother."

Well, the bridegroom started flying at me from all directions. Readers quoted scripture: "And a man shall leave his father and his mother, and cleave unto his wife." One mother wrote to remind me that the Tin Godfather—"and it doesn't say one word about the mother-in-law."

You don't have to be a Dear Abby to know that being a good mother-in-law is one of the most difficult roles in the world.

Now that I am a mother-in-law to both a son-in-law and a daughter-in-law, I have resolved to abide by two simple rules:

Never offer advice unless it's asked for.

Never ask questions that are none of my business.

I am trying earnestly to be the best mother-in-law possible. And I must say that my chances of success are excellent, for because, for 36 years, I have had a wonderful teacher—my own mother-in-law, Rosie Phillips. May God bless her!

Win at Bridge

Helen didn't need to learn

East won the first spade and returned the suit. Helen was in dummy with the jack and promptly led a club to her ace. When the king fell from the West hand, Helen was sure of two club tricks which is the exact number she needed to make three notrump.

West, a rather pompous pseudo expert, told Helen, "You were lucky. You should have finessed the jack." He was wrong. The play of the ace was a perfect safety play to insure two club tricks for declarer. Helen knew that, but merely smiled sweetly and thanked him.

Two months went by and Helen made the same play and her instructor (now more her opponent) remarked, "You'll never learn."

ECHS musical brings 60s alive

By JUNE TOMPKINS

The leg-wobbling, hip swiveling rock idol of the sixties and his squealing teeny-bopper fans are being revived this weekend at East Catholic High School in the musical comedy "Bye, Bye Birdie."

The play by Charles Strouse and Lee Adams is about a top rock star, Conrad Birdie, who is to give one last kiss to a specially chosen teen-ager in Sweet Apple, Ohio, before he leaves for the military service.

ECHS has cast a bunch of stellar talent to put this performance right over the top.

It's easy to believe that Chuck Mercier is the mature, handsome Albert Peterson who manages Conrad Birdie. He is equally matched with Gina DeDomicis as his secretary and girl friend, Rose Alvarez.

Their romance suffers from Mama Peterson's periodic interference. Kathy Roy portrays the Swedish mother who threatens bizarre methods of self-destruction in attempts to break up her son's romance with his secretary.

When the mother produces her choice for a secretary, it's not one you'd expect. Instead of a mouse, she's a blonde bombshell in a purple leotard-clad figure-eight who does a showy dance to substantiate her qualifications. You remember Laura Radocchia, even though hers is a brief appearance.

The show moves right along from the very beginning with a suspenseful buildup to the big moment when Conrad Birdie finally appears before a mob of his youthful idolaters who serenade him with their theme chant, "We Love You, Conrad."

They behold Steven Grinold in all his black, curly-headed glory, as he teeters with bored nonchalance in an off-balance stance dressed in a gold satin suit.

And then, as he half-sings, half-groans through a mike, the hysterical reaction is what you'd expect and what you may recall if you were a member of a similar cult not too many years ago.

The one who comes through like a Fourth of July sparkler is petite Paty Young who plays Kim Maafie, the one chosen to be kissed by Conrad Birdie.

Apply playing her parents are Karen Mitchell and Jim Hogan. They show parental concern for the younger generation in the hit song, "Kids! What's The Matter With Kids Today?"

Candice Nealson has choreographed some better-than-average dance sequences. One routine features

Chuck Mercier with some girls in "Put On a Happy Face." Near the end of the show, Gina DeDomicis does a catchy Spanish-type dance enhanced by a red and black print dress.

The young solo voices, unfortunately, can not always be heard clearly over the orchestra. However, this is a physical problem that exists unless the orchestra plays from a pit underneath the stage.

The orchestra performs the catchy tunes with some intricate rhythmic patterns in professional style. John Elson Smith directs a group of students and faculty members from the University of Connecticut.

James Quinn is responsible for the superb direction of this laugh-packed musical, assisted by Sister Ellen Agriutley, who is the musical director.

There's a laugh a minute guaranteed in "Bye, Bye Birdie," which plays again tonight at 8 and Sunday at 3 p.m. at ECHE. Tickets are sold at the door.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: My name is Tina Belluomini. I'm 10 years old and I do not like The Sonny and Cher Show. It would be good if Sonny was not on the show. Why did Cher team up with Sonny again, when her show was doing so well without him? TINA BELLUOMINI, Stockton, Ca.

My name is Dick Kleiner and my age is my own business. The thing about Sonny and Cher's show is that Cher, on her own, was really not doing that well. It was, in fact, slipping in the ratings. The network biggies figured a shot of Sonny might help. The two work well together, and the hope was the show would get a boost from his presence.

DEAR DICK: What is the name of the song Schroeder always plays on the Charlie Brown specials? Has it been published in sheet music for piano and where can I get a copy? MARVE OGLE, Kansas City, Kan.

Lee Mendelson, who makes the Charlie Brown shows, tells me that Schroeder doesn't always play the same thing, but always one theme or another from the works of Beethoven. And, of course, all of Beethoven's works are available in sheet music.

DEAR DICK: In answering your reader, A.T. Thompson of Gainesville, Tex., you said you could find no information about a Tony Pastor album. I have one, "The Tony Pastor Style," on the RCA-Camden label. EDMUND L. KONAR, St. Clair Shores, Mo.

Thanks for the information. And thanks, too, to other readers who reported on other Pastor albums - Wanda Hurst of Metairie, La., has a Forum album called "Let's Dance With Tony Pastor" and Edward Mazur of Detroit has "Hey, Tony" on Harmony. So Mr. Thompson has several to hunt for.

DEAR DICK: Why, on the Academy Awards show, did all the people who won Oscars for "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" thank everybody except the most important person, the author of the book, Ken Kesey? What does Mr. Kesey think about all the accolades? RICHARD W. JOHNSEN, Nogales, Ariz.

Kesey has been quoted as being unhappy, understandably bitter about the slight. It was an unforgivable oversight. I guess all the winners were so wrapped up in their own importance they forgot the man who created the whole thing.

DEAR DICK: I heard that Cher Bono had hormone shots. Is this true? D.T., Athens, Ga.

I asked one of Cher's friends about this and his response was "What for?" Then he assured me that Cher has not, never, no how had hormone shots.

DEAR DICK: I was wondering if the scripts for episodes of TV shows are sold to the public. If so, where are they sold? And for how much? ALAN GILDAY, Port Colborne, Ont., Canada.

No, old used-up TV scripts are not sold, as a matter of course. They generally keep a couple of file copies and toss the rest away. If you want one, I suggest you write to the producer of your favorite show, in care of the network, and explain why you want it. I'm not saying you'll get it, but it's your only chance.

DEAR DICK: The theme music for ABC's show, Family, is beautiful. Is it an excerpt from classical music, or an original score for the show? Has it been published in a piano score I can buy? If so, I'd really appreciate the title, composer and publisher. CAROL MARIER, Fullerton, Ca.

Glad you asked, because it gives me a chance to praise the multi-talented John Rubinstein. Besides starring in the program, he composed and conducted the score and played the piano solos. He's the son of the great Artur Rubinstein, so he comes by his musical talents genetically. At the moment, the score has not been published or recorded.

Antigua didn't forget our Bicentennial

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

If you have been on pins and needles for fear that Antigua might forget our Bicentennial — they have finally come through. Here are several stamps with a good Revolutionary flavor. There is an engraved powder horn, a Maryland Troop Issue water bottle, a picture of two flags — Liberty Tree and Rattlesnake, and the privateer "Montgomery." The Rattlesnake, "Don't Tread on Me," was carried in action by a battalion from Pennsylvania.

Stamps and coins

The Liberty Tree (pine, with its appeal to the Diety) was used on General Washington's cruisers until replaced by the Grand Union flag. This Grand, or Great Union (not shown), had 13 red and 13 white stripes with the British Union Jack where the stars are now. The next step was the Betsy Ross stars and stripes which was adopted on June 14, 1777, and was carried into battle at Bennington, Vt., in August. The actual flag can still be seen at a museum in North Bennington.

While we are talking flags it should be noted that the Netherlands Antilles recently issued a gold coin with the Revolutionary vessel Andrew Doria shown between the emblem of the Netherlands and the above Grand Union (which was described in the March (Numismatist" as being America's first flag of independence — a moot point).

Back to Antigua. It is an island in the Caribbean, in the Leeward group — the ones just beyond Puerto Rico. It is about 10 by 17 miles with a population of 70,000.

It specializes in beaches and sunshine, having only about the same yearly rainfall as Connecticut, while in drenched Dominica, only 100 miles to the south, they average an inch a day.

Antigua has a place called English Harbour where Capt. (Trafalgar) Nelson had a dockyard which has recently been restored for visitors. In the late 1700s this landlocked harbor was the key to Britain's power in the Caribbean.

On the island now there is a United States Tracking Station, a link in the Atlantic Missile Range, and also naval and air bases.

The Minkus stamp catalog notes some British stamps canceled at English Harbour as early as 1858 but the first Antigua design was in 1862, now listed at $400. It would be easier to start with the Silver Jubilee of 1935, smooth sailing from then on. They had an interesting go-around in 1973. There was a stamp pair plus a souvenir sheet that came out for the wedding of Princess Ann and Mark Phillips in November, which was later overprinted "Honemoon/Visit/December 16th." There is a nice shot of the happy couple and the issue is not expensive.

Souvenir sheets

Those Bicentennial souvenir sheets will be on sale at 57 post offices on June 1. In this state it will be Middletown, New Haven and Hartford. Have your $4.30 ready. The Watchdog Committee of the APS has given them a black blot for being "an overextended issue," and the Federation of International Philately is mad, too, because there is no inscription on them related to the INTERPHIL even though they are using that exhibition place as their kickoff.

Common coins

New stamps are everywhere in the papers but nobody sees much about common ordinary just-minted coins. The Numismatist mentioned earlier has a monthly section devoted to such things. In the March number, besides the Netherlands Antilles, they show front and back photos of pieces from Bangladesh, Cameroon, Chile, Egypt, West Germany, and Greece.

Stamp club meets

The local stamp club (the MPS) will have its regular business meeting on Tuesday, the 11th, at Mott's Community Hall, 7 to 10 p.m. Plans are afoot for a caravan trip to Cardinal Spellman Philatelic Museum later in the month.
