Jackson visits Manchester

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., was surrounded by well-wishers Saturday as he arrived in Manchester for a short campaign visit during his weekend whirlwind tour of the state in his bid for delegate support in Tuesday's Democratic presidential primary. ## Worried Ford shifts strategy

By ELIZABETH WHARTON
United Press International
A worried President Ford, facing prospects of losing "crucial" primaries to Ronald Reagan in Nebraska Tuesday and in his home state of Michigan May 18, summoned political aides to talk strategy and revise his campaign schedule.

The President returned Saturday from a two-day swing through Nebraska, and called in campaign aides Sunday, where it was decided to add a second day in Michigan this week. Additional senior aides, including campaign manager Rogers Morton, were to meet with him late today.

Originally scheduled to campaign in Michigan Wednesday, and in Kentucky, Tennessee and possibly Arkansas later in the week, Ford has rescheduled a second trip to Michigan — to the tulip festival in Holland and to his home town of Grand Rapids — Saturday.

The second day in Michigan reportedly came at the expense of Arkansas, but that had not been a firm date.

Meanwhile, the Yankee state of Maine, which gave southerner Jimmy Carter one of his early boosts for the Democratic nomination by favoring him in district delegate maneuvering before New Hampshire, now may have given him a rare — if minor — setback.

Carter won nine of the state's 20 delegates in Maine's Democratic state convention. But the convention unexpectedly elected five delegates for Morris Udall and left six uncommitted, thus blocking Carter from winning the majority his supporters predicted.

Carter spent Sunday at his home in Plains, Ga., while Udall and Henry Jackson campaigned in Connecticut in hopes of upsetting the former Georgia governor there.

Jackson took himself out of the active campaign after losing the Pennsylvania primary last month, but said he would fulfill his commitments in Connecticut and on Sunday spoke of a possible miracle there to reestablish his candidacy.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. said on television (CBS-TV's Face the Nation) the race is still wide open and he hopes to win the Maryland primary May 18. He picked up his first delegate Saturday in Wyoming.

"Some people think the campaign is locked up," said Brown. "I think it's wide open ... I think the chemistry of this campaign can change in Maryland. And as we spread across the country, you're going to see some real surprises."

Brown said he is seeking uncommitted delegates across the country, and will campaign in New Jersey, Nevada, and his home state of California.

Reagan widened his lead over Ford in weekend delegate selection in six states, gaining 28 new delegates to Ford's 18. The new totals show Reagan with 397 to Ford's 336, with 298 uncommitted.

Buoyed up by Maine results

Udall making last-minute bid to stop Carter's bandwagon

HARTFORD (UPI) — Morris Udall, desperately trying to overtake Jimmy Carter in Connecticut, said he was gaining on the front runner, but declined to predict victory in the Tuesday primary.

"I sensed all day yesterday traveling around ... its out there, there's a swell of support," he told a news conference on the Capitol lawn. "Whether its big enough to give us a victory I don't know."

Udall said such a victory, accompanied by Carter losses to California Gov. Edmund Brown in Maryland and to Udall in Michigan next week would halt the Carter bandwagon in its tracks.

He pointed to New England neighbor Maine as evidence the tide had begun to turn from Carter.

Udall said Carter' inability Sunday to win a majority of Maine's Democratic presidential delegates as his organization predicted was proof the tide was turning and said Connecticut's Tuesday primary could "turn around" the election.

"This is good news," he said of the Maine results which showed Carter with nine delegates, Udall with five — considered a big surprise — and six uncommitted.

Carter, thought the frontrunner in the race for Connecticut's 51 convention delegates, was home Sunday, apparently confident of victory.

Henry Jackson, the third major candidate here, ended a three-day tour Saturday and, like Udall, took Carter to task for staying away and relying on a very visible media campaign.

"Jimmy Carter can be out picking his cabinet, or writing his inaugural address, but I'm here in Connecticut," Udall said. "We may pull off one of the big surprises of '76 here."

Udall pumped $11,000 into last-minute television and radio ads, but his spots were outnumbered easily by the Carter blitz.

Udall, at each of a series of well-attended appearances that took him virtually the length of the state and into five of the six congressional districts, told his supporters he could beat Carter.

He aimed his message at liberals, warning he was their only alternative to more conservative candidates.

The first primary in state history has sparked only mild interest. State party leaders said perhaps only 20 per cent of the nearly 574,000 registered Democrats would vote.

Earthquake relief fund is started

Anyone wishing to contribute toward the relief of Italian earthquake victims may do so by sending their contributions to P.O. Box 773, Manchester Council on World Hunger, Manchester, Conn.

The Rev. Ronald Fournier, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church, chairman of the council, said the group sent $2,500 in donations to aid the victims of the Guatemala earthquake within the past year.

More than 1,000 people have been reported dead as the result of Thursday's earthquake in northern Italy. Heavy rains have made rescue operations difficult. After shocks and new tremors have added to the seriousness of the situation.

10,500 eligible in Manchester

Democratic primary polls open from noon to 8 p.m.

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

Connecticut's first presidential preference primary ever will take place Tuesday in all 189 towns and cities of the state, when registered Democrats will indicate their choice for a candidate for president.

Only registered Democrats will be eligible to vote — and only those who were on the voter lists as of April 17.

In Manchester, a total of about 10,500 Democrats are eligible to cast ballots and predictions are somewhere between 20 and 40 per cent of them will do so.

Voting will be from noon to 8 p.m. in all 10 of Manchester's voting districts. Paper ballots will be used and all election workers will be volunteers. The primary is party-mandated and isn't under state election regulations.

Because paper ballots will be used, tabulation will be slow and results won't be known for quite a while after the polls close.

At stake in the primary is the designation of Connecticut's 51 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in July.

Under a complicated formula, those 51 delegates won't be known until June 12, when conventions will be held in the state's six Congressional Districts. Delegates to those conventions will be chosen in the same proportion as votes cast in Tuesday's primary (except that those presidential candidates receiving under 15 per cent of the votes cast Tuesday will lose those votes to the uncommitted delegate slate — and the uncommitted slate also will lose its votes if it doesn't reach the 15 per cent).

In Manchester, votes may be cast for anti-abortionist Ellen McCormack, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, Washington Sen. Henry Jackson or "uncommitted." The last has a delegate slate not committed at present, although most of the delegates do have some idea whom they'd like to back — among the announced, the withdrawn and the unannounced candidates.

The Manchester ballots originally had the names also of Idaho Sen. Frank Church and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris. Both names will be blocked out Tuesday.

Connecticut headquarters for Jimmy Carter, on E. Center St., Manchester, will set up Tuesday night only in the Terrace Room of The Hartford Hilton Hotel, where election results will be received.

Cheney Tech again first; will host AFS student

Another "first" is in the works for Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School.

Beginning next year, the school will be the first vocational technical school in the state to take part in the American Field Service (AFS) program.

This year was Cheney Tech's first year to enroll females in its formerly all-male students curriculum.

The main concern at the moment is to find a host family for a foreign exchange student who will attend Cheney Tech for a year.

Mrs. Marilyn Slade is in charge of the program.

The following year, a local student may be able to attend a technical school abroad, said Mrs. Marilyn Slade, who is in charge of the AFS program at Cheney Tech.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Florence Leon, AFS Field Development Specialist, from New Jersey, will explain the program to the Parent-Student Club at Cheney Tech.

Also speaking to the group will be Mrs. Charles Baxter who has been affiliated with the local high school AFS program for several years.

Some of the finest vocational-technical schools in the world are in Europe and Canada, Mrs. Slade said, and the student exchange will be a fine experience for them.

Two AFS students who are attending area high schools, spent the day Wednesday learning about Cheney Tech's curriculum, including the on-the-job program for the carpentry class which is building a house in Hebron.

Juan Pacheco, who is attending Glastonbury High School, goes to a technical school in his native Costa Rica. He is majoring in accounting. He was particularly impressed with the available machines in Cheney Tech's shop.

Mrs. Slade said Makmur Abubakar, an Indonesian attending Windsor Locks High School, was interested in Cheney's total program. Both students will take the information about our vocational educational program back to their native countries and school authorities.

Class use of machines explained

Two American Field Service (AFS) students learn about one phase of vocational technical training during a visit to Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School Wednesday. While Makmur Abubakar, center, of Indonesia, and Juan Pacheco of Costa Rica listen, Eugene E. Lescroart, head of the machine tool department, explains one of the machines used in class. Abubakar, who is attending Windsor Locks High School, and Pacheco, who is attending Glastonbury High School, will report on their experiences to their native school authorities. ## Newspaper groups announce corporate-level changes

The Scripps League Newspapers, Inc., and Hagadone Newspapers today announced the separation of ownership interests involving 17 newspapers in 13 states.

Announcement of the change of ownership was made jointly today by E. W. Scripps, chairman of the board and president of Scripps League, and Hagadone.

The 11 newspapers that will be operated by the Scripps League are: The Manchester Evening Herald, Haverill (Mass.) Gazette, DeKalb (Ill.) Daily Chronicle, Rhinelander (Wis.) Daily News, Pullman (Wash.) Herald, The Dalles (Ore.) Chronicle, Oregon City (Ore.) Enterprise-Courier, Santa Maria (Calif.) Times, Arizona Daily Sun, Flagstaff, Hawaii Press Newspapers, Honolulu, and Garden Island, Kauli, Hawaii.

Hagadone also assumes ownership of Radio Station KVNI in Coeur d'Alene, the only broadcasting property involved.

The partnership of the Scripps and Hagadone families had spanned more than 47 years.

The heads of both companies explained that the only change had taken place at the corporate level and local management would be unaffected.

Town decides to sell old Pine St. firehouse

Bids for the purchase of the town's old firehouse at 230 Pine St., corner of Hartford Rd. have been invited and will be opened by May 20 at the Municipal Building.

The town is going forward with the sale, for which there is already a prospective buyer, despite a recommendation by the Town Planning and Zoning Commission that the town not sell the property if funds will have to be spent providing room for storing materials which are now there.

The commission expressed its reservations about the sale when it denied a town request for a zoning change for the firehouse property.

In April, Town Manager Robert Weiss recommended to the Board of Directors that it should override the commission's decision not to sell. He aid (without revealing the name) that there's a potential buyer and that the revenue from the sale (estimated to bring up to $50,000) could be used to acquire other storage space for the many items now being stored in the abandoned firehouse.

Selling the property, said Weiss, would place it on the tax rolls for income not now being received. He said the town would spend less than $50,000 on new storage space. He said, if the directors don't object, he would advertise the Pine St. property for sale. None of the directors objected.

The bid specs state that the town reserves the right to delay closing the sale for up to six months, in order to relocate material and equipment now in storage in the building.

Summer jobs open

Applications for summer employment for economically disadvantaged youth are being accepted at the Youth Service Office, in Lincoln Center, 494 Main St. The Youth Work Experience Program will be administered through Manchester Youth Service Center with Manpower Funding.

The program will provide a 20-hour work week beginning July 6, with emphasis on planning and organizing work stations offering opportunities for career training and development of job skills.

Gov. Dukakis explains how arm got into sling

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI) — One of 13 American governors of the original states took time off from official tour duties today to explain why his left arm was in a sling.

"I slipped in the wet grass during a friendly race with two fellow governors," said Gov. Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts. "I think this was some Irish dew on it." The governors, on the last lap of a bicentennial visit to Ireland, toured the Shannon industrial estate in the morning, visiting American-owned factories for the most part.

Carter aide calls Udall an ideologue

HARTFORD (UPI) — Jimmy Carter's black deputy campaign manager said today Morris Udall is an ideologue who could not unite the country.

Georgia state Rep. Ben Brown told a news conference the country was "tired of what he called 'ideological warfare' — the dissent and arguments which have marked public debate in the last few years."

Opinion
An important election

Tomorrow Connecticut Democrats will be conducting a form of presidential preference primary election for the first time in the state's history.

However, successful it will be from the standpoint of a means to make the selection of a presidential nominee more representative of rank and file party member wishes remains to be seen.

However, it is a good omen that the Democratic party is trying the broader participation in the selection of its presidential nominee.

We are aware there are many who criticize the rather complicated system being used Tuesday; however, one should keep in mind that it is a first effort and hopefully, as the system is tested at the polls, remedies to any serious shortcomings can be considered and adopted for future primaries.

But the important thing about primary elections is not the mechanics as much as the participation in them.

The real reason for a

How many will health care benefit?

Some form of national health insurance is probably still several years away, but a number of people are already wondering about the possible consequences of a program designed to deliver the greatest amount of health care to the greatest number.

As one of them expresses it, "If you take health care in the strong sense, there is always going to be greater demand than supply...How in the world can you give everybody access to expensive, exotic treatments?"

The questioner is Daniel Callahan, founder of the Institute of Society, Ethics and Life Sciences at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N.Y. Congress, he notes in an interview in U.S. Catholic magazine, has already passed a bill underwriting hemodialysis (kidney machine treatment) for everyone, "no matter what the costs."

But there are a lot of other similarly "catastrophic" illnesses, and as medical science advances, there are going to be more and more cures for treatments which inevitably will entail very last expenditures.

The prospect of an artificial heart, which is probably going to be developed in the next few years, will pose great problems, says Callahan. He estimates that 500,000 people right now could use an artificial heart, and that each heart would cost about $20,000 initially, with an annual maintenance expense of $5,000 to $10,000. "The figures become astronomical."

Mental health, which "includes people vaguely unhappy, neurotic and dissatisfied with life," is "a bottomless pit," he says. The wealthy pay psychologists $50 an hour to help them cope with that sort of thing. But if the wealthy can afford it, should everybody have the right?

Callahan is not the first to have raised such questions. John Lach, professor of philosophy at Vanderbilt

A time to act and a time to stall

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — President Ford has enough friends; thus he is not in dire need of enemies. One of his pals is Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who may have cost Ford the Republican Presidential nomination.

Four days before the Texas primary, in which Ford was bloodily clobbered by Ronald Reagan, Kissinger announced in Lusaka, Zambia, that the United States was committed to "unrelenting opposition" to white rule in Rhodesia and firm support for "racial justice" throughout Africa, including white-ruled South Africa.

But Ford either failed to read his history, or rejected his lessons. It was to America's advantage in 1966 when British, French and Israeli troops suddenly attacked Egypt and within hours had achieved effective control of the Suez Canal. Under President Abdel Gannal Nasser, Egypt had been transformed into a willing bedfellow of the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower, as Winston Churchill later remarked, could have "hemmed and hawed" until the seizure of the Suez Canal had been secured and Nasser had been ousted. He could have consumed precious time needed by our allies by conducting long-winded discussions with Congress and our allies over what the U.S. should do about the coup.

Prodded by that Puritan, Secretary of State Foster Dulles, Ike instead demanded that the British, French and Israelis agree to a cease-fire. When that plea failed, the U.S. took the matter to the United Nations Security Council. The Suez coup collapsed — and the Middle East has been a mess ever since.

Kissinger's coup — for that's what it was — may not have such serious international consequences, although two days after the Kissinger speech both Rhodesia and its African antagonists girded for all-out war. But here at home it may be viewed as the turning point from which Ronald Reagan went on to the Republican nomination for President.

Democrats urged to vote for Ellen McCormack

To the editor,

In this election year, one issue stands out and demands our attention — LIFE. What concerns each one of us more?

And yet we are faced with a society willing to submit to the Supreme Court's decision that denies life to those unable to voice their own opinion — unborn children. Why have we singled out this group as our victims? Certainly the old and feeble, the lame, the retarded and other representatives of "meaningless life" would not be able to resist us, so why not move against them? Perhaps I overstate the problem but I think not. One of the greatest humanitarianisms of all time, Albert Schweitzer, once said, "If we lose respect for any part of human life, we lose it for all."

Respect for life is not new. Even now we have banned capital punishment as "cruel and inhuman punishment." The only difference between this and the abortion is the age of the victim.

We have a chance to voice our opinions in the Connecticut primary, Tuesday, May 11. One candidate, Ellen McCormack, a Democrat, is running for president on a single issue — Pro-Life. In order for this issue to be heard at the Democratic National Convention she must obtain 15 per cent of the votes in Connecticut, otherwise the delegates will be uncommitted. A vote for McCormack is a vote for respect for life.

Today's thought

Dear angel queen
 In tribute — blessing Mother's Day
 Nature garlands month of May
 Tinting flowers with hallowed care

For sacrifices — love — we cannot repay —
 With tears — finding right words to say!
 But ever in heart — with Holy Esteem
 We adore you — Dear Angel Queen
 On your throne glowing rubescent
 Flamed by our prayers — heaven sent!

To you mom — resting in God's peace
 May your lullabies never cease
 To calm — soothe our sorrow's pain
 Hearing your voice in every refrain
 As whisper of an Angel's prayer
 Touching our hearts with tender care
 As we envision your smiling face
 Aglow with beauty of God's Grace!
 To heart we press you — Angel in White —
 Our precious flower in God's sight
 In daily prayer ever to rejoice
 Hearing blessings of your angelic voice!"

Reflections

Hal Turkington
 Managing Editor

No, Reflections isn't ghost-written today; the face in the column is the same one you see here each Monday, except that it is 35 years earlier.

That's the name tag we wore Saturday for the 35th reunion of the classes of 1941A and 1941B. Dick Ranney of the "B" class copied the photos from Somnathis, the epigrams, and the school history for each one attending the reunion, and that was their name tag.

Reunions are fun, and ours was a long time coming. If this column, after a weekend of memories, does nothing more, it hopes only to admonish those in other classes who have reunions coming up. Our admonition: Be there!

Our class has not had a reunion every five years, or even ten years, as do some classes. When years escape reunions, the faces don't seem the same; you can't match names as easily because they don't fit your memories.

Such was our case Saturday night; we are sure that other classmates departed without having had a chance to size up every classmate, recalled the name, exchange thoughts of yesterday.

Some did, though; they put aside timidity and boldly walked up to a classmate, grabbed at the name tag, and said, "I can't remember the name, but the face is familiar."

It may not happen this way again for the 1941 classes; Saturday night the reunion committee for the two classes was issued a mandate to begin now for a 40th reunion in 1981. It's now a permanent committee.

A week ago this column was devoted to nostalgia about our classes, and it succeeded in routing some of our classmates out of their Saturday night easy chairs. Many last minute reservations were taken during the week, said our co-chairman, Bub and Marge Holten.

It was good to see "Mog" McCollum, a stalwart in both football and track. Bob Pearl came up from Virginia, John Harvey from Atlanta, John Derby from Michigan, and Barbara Ubert Olsen and Dave Grimsom from California.

Equally important, though, was the chance to see classmates who haven't left Manchester, but whose paths fail to cross very often. Imagine, a classmate living three blocks away, and they meet again Saturday after nearly 30 years.

No, we didn't go in for a lot of

Explanation requested

To the editor,

I am not in opposition to terminating the town manager of his duties if he was not functioning properly; however I am appalled at my party's action on April 22 when the manager was fired with less than 24 hour notice.

This action was callous; lacked integrity, compassion and proper decorum.

I would hope some adequate rationale can sometime explain the situation. Until then I am perplexed and saddened by the town council judgment in this matter.

Siefferts open new store

Al Sieffert's Appliances-Television-Audio, the biggest retail business in Manchester in some time, has opened at 483-485 Hartford Rd. Grand opening events continue through this week.

Principals in the venture are Alfred Sieffert, president, and his son, Al, vice president. The senior has directed and operated a major appliance chain for 25 years, and the junior, a recent college graduate, also has experience in the business.

Stressing personalized service instead of big business anonymity, the elder Sieffert said, "We intend to be the largest display and diversified name brand appliance store in the area."

With the new store open just a week, Sieffert said there are already plans to expand the business to include a heavy concentration on audio equipment, either at the Hartford store or at another location.

The firm is a member of National TV & Appliance Associates, one of the largest buying groups in the country, headquartered in Tall Cedars, the elder Sieffert is treasurer of the Makers and Elks.

Sieffert Jr., a graduate of Manchester High School and Western New England College (1975), has lived in Manchester for 30 years, now one year's experience in the former Ruth Leone of married May 21 to Lorraine Marquis of Manchester.

Nostalgia of 1941A and B classes

These members of the 1941 classes at Manchester High School look over a table of items reflecting upon those classes during a reunion Saturday at The Colony. Ted Cummings, left, 1941B class, was master of ceremonies; Betty Brown Peracchio, 1941B, was secretary; Mike Gino, 1941A, was a committee member; and the cochairmen were Marge and Howard "Bub" Holmes. More than 220 attended the reunion from the two classes.

Homeowners plan tax strikes

United Press International — Homeowners in at least two Connecticut cities are protesting rising property tax rates by closing their purses and organizing taxpayer strikes. In Waterbury, Conn., the Taxpayer's Association of Waterbury, Inc., today plans to begin distributing forms to its 7,500 members in this town of 117,000 which instruct banks to withhold property tax payments from their mortgage accounts. The Waterbury effort, which began a week ago, spread to New Britain, according to Marcel Jeannin, the head of the taxpayers association. He said the 500 members of the Citizens Property Tax Association voted overwhelmingly Friday to support a tax boycott after he addressed them. Both groups are seeking lower property taxes and decreased city spending. Waterbury homeowners are protesting the rise from $70 to $88 dollars per thousand dollars assessed value in the property tax rate. In New Britain, the effort is to cut a $60.84 per thousand rate to $45. Walter Janus, who heads the New Britain group, said the organization had about 2,500 signatures on a petition from persons who say they will take part in the tax strike effort. He predicted about 2,000 actually would join the effort in his town of 80,000. Last year's rate was $55, but many property assessments have doubled, making this year's effective rate $121.88 on last year's base. "It's time the taxpayers started controlling their spending or their destiny, as the case may be," Janus said. He said taxpayers in New Britain were upset because teachers served on the Board of Aldermen which runs the city and voted on city budgets which include teacher pay. The association's attorney warned those who refused to pay property tax faced 12 per cent interest charges for late payment. Similar warnings to the Waterbury group elicited from Jeannin the bicentennial response. "The colonists were quite aware there were legal sanctions against what they did. What did they do? They struck."

People mover bidding not exactly spirited

WINDSOR LOCKS (UPI) — Bidding to run the controversial $4.5 million people-mover at Bradley International Airport has hardly been spirited, since the three bids have peaked at $3 a year. William Huebner, chairman of the Economic and Industrial Development Commission, offered the state $3 a year if it would let him run the system. His less than serious offer was made to counter that of the Connecticut NAACP and an ecology group. They offered the state $2 a year — to continue not running the system. The shuttle is not running because its estimate annual operating expense is $300,000, officials said. MAB Machine Corp. once offered to lease the system for $1 a year and share profits with the state. The NAACP and the Connecticut River Ecology Action Corp. groups said they thought it "disquieting" to lease property built with public funds to private, profit-making firms. Huebner said the two groups were "afraid the shuttle will prove itself." He said it will work eventually.

Police report

Arrests made or summonses issued by Manchester Police included: James K. Cochran, 19, of 337 W. Center St., charged Sunday night with operating a motorcycle without a license, reckless driving, failure to obey a policeman's signal, operating an unregistered motorcycle, and failure to wear eye protection. Police said the charges were lodged after a chase around the Manchester Shopping Parkade off Broad St. Court date is June 1. Rudolph L. Moran, 21, of Hartford, charged Saturday with disorderly conduct and intoxication after a domestic disturbance on Prospect St. Court date is May 24.

Water grant BOSTON (UPI) — U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regional administrator John A.S. McGinnon said Connecticut has received a $91,700 grant to establish and administer a state drinking water supply program. Under the 1974 Safe Drinking Water Act, the EPA has established national drinking water standards, which the states must develop programs to meet, he said.

Dynamite cache found

DEEP RIVER (UPI) — State police were trying today to unravel the mystery behind 187 sticks of dynamite found by hikers on a rock ledge in the woods. "We don't know if it was stolen or what the story is," said Sgt. William Goddu of the Westbrook state police barracks. Working by portable lamps through the night, the bomb experts, led by Sgt. John Mulligan, removed the three different types of dynamite and finished the job about 1:30 a.m., Goddu said. The dynamite was driven out in three separate trips because the bomb container could not hold the 187 sticks in one trip, Goddu said. "It was transported to our back door temporarily at the Westbrook barracks."

McCormack said gracious lady

Joseph McCarthy, the lead delegate for the Manchester state supporting Ellen McCormack in Tuesday's Democratic primary, met Mrs. McCormack Saturday in Hartford and reported her to be "a very warm and gracious lady." He said she's pleased with the support she's getting in Manchester and throughout the state and the many "Right-to-Life" chapters that have sprung up in Connecticut. Mrs. McCormack, running on an anti-abortion platform, said she's concerned at the impression being given by Jimmy Carter supporters — that the former Georgia governor's stand on abortion is close to her's. She said the impression is wrong and then discussed at length her regard for unborn babies and their right to life.

The camp will close Aug. 6. Orientation days for volunteer counselors will be June 24 and 25 at the camp site, off Dartmouth Rd.

British General "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne's nickname was coined by his soldiers in tribute to his humanity in a day when soldiers were trained like dogs. Burgoyne's treatise on the duties of officers urged that soldiers be treated like thinking human beings and not be subjected to frequent and brutal corporal punishment. The World Almanac notes.

Two submit pool bids

The Town of Manchester has received only two bids for repairing and reconstructing Verplank Pool, with Construction Service of Bristol the apparent low bidder. Its price is $38,000, with an alternate of $36,540 if the town does a portion of the work.

The other bidder is Rizzo Pool Co. of Newington, with a base price of $46,243 and an alternate of $40,243. The town had estimated the cost at about $40,000.

Before a contract can be awarded, the town must verify one condition of the bid specs—that the bidder has done similar work on at least five pools.

Ground water causes flood

A recent flooding problem on Conway Rd., brought to the attention of Manchester officials by a petition from seven property owners on the street, has been determined to be caused by ground water.

To eliminate the problem would require an extensive underdrain system, plus the rebuilding of curbs and sidewalks, said Town Manager Robert Weiss in a reply to the petitioners.

"This is a very extensive and expensive project," said Weiss, "and, at the present time, we do not have funds available to undertake it."

He concluded, "Unfortunately, with the present budget situation, I cannot offer you any encouragement for early relief of the problem."

He promised to keep the problem in mind "in developing future drainage improvement programs which will be funded by bond issues."

Court denies Ray appeal

CINCINNATI (UPI) - James Earl Ray, the confessed assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. who now claims he is innocent, today lost his latest attempt to change his guilty plea and stand trial.
The U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, in a unanimous 3-0 ruling, decided that Ray had intelligently and voluntarily pleaded guilty to killing the civil rights leader and had received competent legal advice.
Ever since entering the guilty plea, Ray has been seeking to withdraw that plea and to stand trial.
Ray based his appeal on the contention that his guilty plea was not "voluntarily and intelligently" made because his attorney, Percy Foreman, pressured him into pleading guilty against his will.
King was assassinated April 4, 1968, in Memphis, Tenn. Ray, pleaded guilty to first degree murder on March 10, 1969, is now serving a 99-year sentence at the Tennessee State Prison in Nashville.
Ever since entering the guilty plea, Ray has been seeking to withdraw that plea and to stand trial.
Ray based his appeal on the contention that his guilty plea was not "voluntarily and intelligently" made because his attorney, Percy Foreman, pressured him into pleading guilty against his will.

Houston goalie Wayne Rutledge makes save on Ron Busniuk
Whaler also fired rebound in first period action but puck was stopped short of goal

Raeder man of hour in Whalers' triumph

HARTFORD (UPI) - Rookie goaltender Cap Raeder of the New England Whalers was the man of the hour following a 4-1 World Hockey Association playoff victory over the Houston Aeros.
But the 23-year-old Needham, Mass., rookie still maintained the easy-going, nonchalant attitude which has helped him stand up to playoff pressure.
"i was fun out there because of the way the guys played in front of me," Raeder said. "It was our best effort of the playoffs."
The victory gives the Whalers a 2-1 edge in games for the best-of-seven United States championship round series. The next game is Tuesday at the Hartford Civic Center.
A sellout crowd of 10,500 watched the action.
Raeder's performance was singled out by Houston standout Gordie Howe, 46, as making the difference.
"i he is an excellent goalie and when a goalie gets hot between the pipes early, he usually stays hot," Howe said. "The youngster played his angles well."
Coach Bill Dineen of the Aeros credited the Whalers with a fine team effort, saying, "It was a complete reversal of Friday's game which we won. They took it to us in the first period with some solid forechecking and we just couldn't make it back although we did play better in the third period."
Whalers mentor Harry Neale, was pleased with his team's showing, calling it "perhaps the best prolonged effort since I've been with coach." Neale took over the Whalers with 18 games left in the regular season.
Neale was quick to caution: "This series will go on a while. We haven't got our foot in the door yet."
Dineen echoed that observation, saying, "We have been down 2-1 before in the playoffs and came back. But the key for us is to get a better start in Tuesday's game."

Last inning rally nets East victory

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter
Shades of last year East Catholic baseball Coach Jim Penders called it.
The Eagles, down by a run with three outs to go, pushed across two runs in the last of the ninth to pull out a 5-4 decision over HCC foe Northwest Catholic Saturday at Eagle Field.
The win moved East's conference mark to 5-3 and aggregate ledger to 7-5. Northwest stands 2-5 in the HCC and 5-5 overall. The Eagles are in action today at Windsor Locks High still looking for their first road victory.
The deciding ninth began with a leadoff walk to Garry Hammick. Losing pitcher John Heslin pushed Hammick to second with an errant pickoff attempt. Kevin Shorey, batting ninth in the order, bounced a one-hop groundrule double over the right centerfield fence knotting it up.
Mike Farlow, although in the throes of a batting slump, was patient enough to draw a bases on balls and Tom Gerbo also stroled to first on a free pass jamming the bases. Bill Moffett going after a full count offering singled past the glove of third baseman Buzzy Smith for the winner.
Northwest did its scoring in the third inning on three hits and an error by rightfielder John Krashetski which sent home two of the tallies unearned. The Indians thought they had a run in the eighth - but they didn't.
Ray DeCampos reached safely on a third strike wild pitch by Shorey, who went the distance to notch his second win against one loss. DeCampos went to second on a sacrifice by Lincoln Maguire and apparently scored on a loop single to right by Kevin Kelly which Krashetski made a diving attempt on.
After a short delay to make repairs on Krashetski, East appealed at third on DeCampos and base umpire Leo Diana ruled him out. He (DeCampos) navigating home and failed to do an important task - touch third.
East scored a run in the second on a Hammick double and cut the deficit to 4-3 in the home third on a two-run homer by Gerbo over the rightfield fence. It was his fourth roundtripper

Carlin 10-pin king

Four years ago, Denny Carlin reigned as the Manchester 10-pin Men's Handicap Division bowling champion.
Yesterday Carlin won all the marbles in the Men's Scratch Division at the Parkade Lanes and in doing so emerged as the town big pin champion.
Carlin turned back the challenge of young Bruce Moquin in the best of five finals by a three to two game margin.
After getting off to a slow start, with a 152 game, Carlin rolled consistently with 206, 203, 189 and 202 efforts to walk home with cash and a trophy from Director Bernie Giovinio.
Lynne Topping defeated Mary Boyko in the Women's Handicap Division, three games to one, and Ray Weikert took the measure of Leo Nelson in the same number of games in the Men's Handicap Division.
Moquin, like Carlin, a finalist for the first time, won the first game, 188-152, but lost the next two 206-182 and 203-191 before squaring the match at 2-2 with winning game No. 4, 194-189. Carlin's 202 topped a 170 effort by Moquin in the decider.
Topping had a 32-pin handicap and Boyko 40 while both men had 23-pin handicaps.
Handicap results:
Topping (3) 218-190-220-226, Boyko (1) 205-190-192-201.
Weikert (3) 240-168-217-183, Nelson (1) 179-204-188-174.
Handicap winners also received cash and trophies and runner-ups gained cash awards.

MCC nine bows in tourney finals

By CHRIS BLAKE
Correspondent
An ordinary team might have been downcast after losing an 11-0 verdict in the N.C.A.A. Region XXI New England baseball finals. But Manchester Community College proved once again, as it had throughout the tourney, that it is no ordinary team.
The Cougars left their heads up after being outclassed by a superb Massachusetts Community College. The winners from Brockton, Mass., pounded out 17 hits on the Mitchell College diamond yesterday.
MCC Co-captain Paul Placido accepted the second place trophy and said that the impressive finish should be looked upon with pride.
Massault (18-3) the fourth seed, reached the finals by nipping Tuxis Community College, 16-9, Friday, and dispatched No. 1 seed Mass Bay Community College 8-5 Saturday.
Manchester (12-8) reached the finals with two stunning upsets over teams with higher rankings. The seventh-ranked Cougars toppled Rhode Island Junior College, 8-4, Friday, and came from behind twice Saturday to gun down third-ranked Quinsigamond Community College (the defending champ) by an 11-0 count.
Quinsigamond started early against MCC scoring four first-inning runs. It didn't take the Cougars long to knock the issue. In the top of the second, MCC knocked Chief starter Rich Razzano out of the box with four runs.
The Cougars loaded the bases with one out against Razzano. Leadoff hitter Jim Blanchard delivered a two-run single to starting the scoring. Joe Banning legged an infield hit to reload the sacks and Jack Maloney singled home the tying runs to finish off Razzano.
The Cougars briefly took the lead in the third with a single tally. Rich Linden singled, took second on a wild pitch and scored on a throwing error.
A two-out Quinsigamond rally netted the tying runs in the bottom of the third. Mike Moran reached on an error, stole second and scored on a Christie single.
Quinsigamond scored twice in the fourth to take a 7-3 lead. MCC starter and winner Steve Weisler should have been out of the inning unscathed but a grounder took a bad hop on Linden scoring a run. Dave Agbay then pounced an RBI single and the Worcester club was on top again.
Things stayed quiet until the MCC seventh when the Cougars passed across three runs. Al Diome, who was four-for-four, singled Linden over to third with two outs. Larry Morrison sent Linden home with the long double to left center. Chief reliever Wayne Rogers, who had been effective, suddenly lost the plate walking Blanchard and Banning on four pitches forcing in a run. A wild pitch sent another run home and the Cougars had the lead for keeps at 8-7.
MCC pushed runs across in the final three frames. Weisler, who had some rocky going in the early going, settled down and finished strong. During the last five innings, the Chiefs could manage just three hits against Weisler, now 4-0.
In the championship tilt Sunday, Massachusetts went to work right away. Scoring in small numbers in each of the first four frames, Massault unleashed its heralded hitting attack in the sixth by scoring four. By this time, MCC was hopelessly behind, 9-0.
Al Ervey pitched a strong three-inning shutout to notch the victory. Ervey's shutout marked the first time MCC has been held scoreless this season.

Weekend briefs from the UPI wires

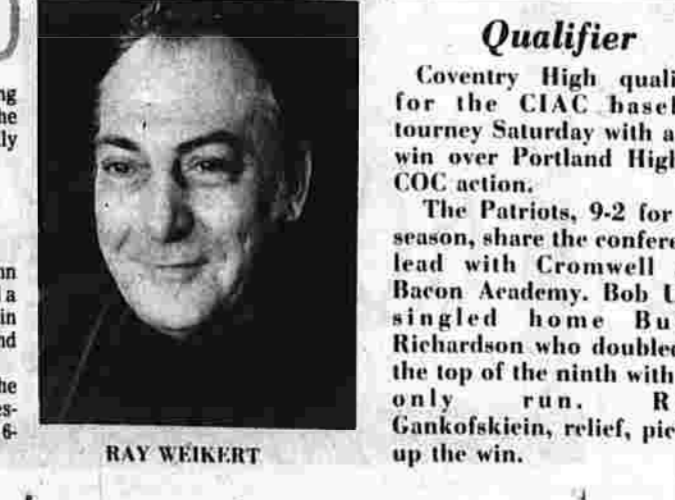

Montreal wins
MONTREAL (UPI) - In hockey's most hallowed shrine, where a certain mystique of past glory hangs heavy, it's not uncommon for Montreal players of succeeding generations to be pushed forward by divine inspiration.
But there was nothing supernatural about the guiding force at the Forum Sunday night. No voices from the past, no mystical visions. All it took was a few shouted words in Gallic by defenseman Guy Lapointe.
The result was a comeback 4-3 victory for Montreal over the Philadelphia Flyers in the opening game of their Stanley Cup title series, one that the Canadians felt they were lucky to get after falling behind 2-0.
Celtics prevail
BOSTON (UPI) - The Cleveland offense cracked under pressure Sunday, giving the Boston Celtics the break they needed to take a 2-0 lead in their NBA Eastern Conference championship series.
With Charlie Scott applying the defensive tournaucet in the second half and Dave Cowens, John Havlicek and Jo Jo White operating the first break, the Celtics caught the Cavaliers, 94-89, in the nationally televised contest.
Ellis injured
BOSTON (UPI) - Catcher John Ellis of the Texas Rangers suffered a dislocated left ankle and broken shin bone Sunday while sliding into second base against the Boston Red Sox.
Ellis, 27, was removed from the field on a stretcher and it is estimated he will be out of action for 6-to-8 weeks.

Nine defeats in row for slumping Bosox

BOSTON (UPI) — The snowball is rolling into an avalanche. And the juggernaut is gathering momentum.

Sunday, for the seventh time this year, the Texas Rangers defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-5, in what was the Rangers' eighth straight overall, and seven straight of the streak has been achieved against Boston.

The Red Sox have lost nine in a row, sandwiching two midweek losses to the Kansas City Royals around seven losses to Texas.

"You talk about that snowball, well it's getting pretty big," Boston starter Bill Lee said after the game. "And before we melt it we're going to have to slow it down. We slowed it down today. We almost won."

The winning run was scored on an error, one of three in the game. Boston took a 5-4 lead into the eighth before Texas turned the game around.

Juan Benitez, who played last year for Boston's American League pennant-winning team, figured in the winning rally. Roy Smalley led off the inning by drawing a walk of later Jim Willoughby and went to second on a single by Jim Sundberg. Roy Howell's fielder's choice grounder erased Smalley at third, but Benitez singled to left to lead the bases.

Lenzy Randle hit a hard grounder to Steve Dillard at shortstop and he threw to second baseman Denny Doyle for the force. But Doyle threw wildly trying to get Randle at first, and the second run of the inning scored.

"I've been through these things before," said Boston captain Carl Yastrzemski, a 15-year veteran. "It's a slump and everybody's pressing. We're making errors because we're not relaxed. We're afraid of what's going to happen so we press. Once things fall into place and we start winning, then we'll start making the plays."

After squandering a 4-0 lead in the fourth, thanks to two errors, the Red Sox were up 5-4 going into the eighth. It could have been more but Yastrzemski's double with two runners on base was cut off in center field by Benitez, allowing only one run to score.

"It was the play of the game," said Texas manager Frank Lucchesi. "Juan has been playing super defense for us since he came here."

Benitez was traded by Boston to Texas along with pitcher Steve Barr for pitcher Ferguson Jenkins. "I guess it's only natural to want to beat your old team," said Lucchesi.

Benitez was a one-man wrecking crew this whole series. He had a super series.

Boston got all its runs off Texas starter Gaylord Perry. A single by Denny Doyle and a double by Cecil Cooper, followed by two walks and a sacrifice fly produced two runs in the first. Cooper and Jim Rice hit solo homers in the fourth.

Wrigley Field suits Redlegs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds and Wrigley Field form the sweetest combination since Baskin met Robbins.

"If we played 81 games in Wrigley Field," says Reds' manager Sparky Anderson, "we'd probably break the all-time scoring record. I don't think anybody could hold us under seven runs."

Anderson could be right. The Reds completed their three-game weekend sweep in Wrigley Field Sunday by thrashing the Chicago Cubs, 14-2, behind a 21-hit attack that featured a grand slam homer by Ken Griffey, a pair of solo blasts by Tony Perez, a two-run shot by Don Drysdale and solo homers by George Foster and Pete Rose.

It was the second 14-run game for the Reds in as many days at Wrigley Field and in the three-game series Cincinnati collected 41 hits.

It was only a few months ago that Richards, 37, was in retirement, relaxing on his ranch and thinking about his baseball past.

Richards, who left his ranch in Waxahachie, Texas to assume the reins of the Chicago White Sox this season, learned Sunday left-handed ace Wilbur Wood probably will be left to the club for the remainder of the season.

Wood was suffered a left-kneecap injury in the sixth inning of Sunday's 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers by a line drive off the bat of Ron LeFlore. X-rays later revealed that he had suffered a fractured kneecap.

The loss of Wood, a four-time 20-game winner, leaves Richards with a gaping hole in his rotation. Richards scored their third straight come-from-behind victory over the Indians. Royals 7, Orioles 4.

Bob Stinson doubled to the second base and Frank White added a two-run single during a five-run inning of the game.

Palmer carried the Royals past Baltimore, 7-4, and Minnesota beat Milwaukee 6-4.

Janet still hopeful at Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — If the third time proves a charm, Janet Guthrie may get on the track today at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in her efforts to pass the rookie test for the world's richest automobile race.

Both Saturday and Sunday Guthrie, the first woman ever nominated to drive in a May 30 Indianapolis "500," was left on the sidelines despite encouragement of thousands of race fans as her car developed problems during shakedown runs.

Until recently, women were not even allowed into the pits around the track in the belief that they were bad luck, and some old-timers may have taken delight in her difficulties, which may point to problems during the next two weekends of qualifications for the $1 million classic.

Saturday the Rolla Vordtstet entry required extensive repairs to the clutch that consumed most of the day, then when teammate Dick Simon took it out for a shakedown run, it developed an oil line leak

Loranger pleads for bigger center

Vernon
At a public hearing in Hartford Thursday night Town Planner John Loranger made a plea for Title XX funds to expand the town's day care center services.

Loranger told state officials Vernon is demanding the state Social Services Department reallocate $70,000 of funds allocated to other areas and make it available to the Day Care Program of the State Department of Community Affairs for funding of new child day care programs.

Michael McElduff Jr., director of the Hockanum Valley Community Council, helped Loranger prepare the proposal.

Vernon has one center funded by state and federal money, the Hockanum Valley Day Care Center in the First Congregational Church.

Loranger is looking to expand day care services to include children in kindergarten through Grade 3. The Town Council has set aside $40,000 of the Community Development Act

GOP leader attacks budget handling

Vernon
Donald Sadrozinski, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, has called for a second public hearing on the budget before the May 18 annual meeting.

Sadrozinski said the hearing two weeks ago "was a farce and made a complete mockery of the taxpayers' right to question and discuss the proposed budget."

He said Mayor Thomas Benoit presented a budget that reflected a 10 mill increase and "purposely hid certain income items and in doing so he cheated the public of its right to know."

"If the reasons for the mayor's very questionable handling of the budget were not explained at a second public hearing, then the mayor, and not his numerous

Rumors uproot maples

Ellington
Rumors a corn field would supplant a maple tree farm on Piney Rd. resulted in the theft of about 100 trees, each about 15 feet high, said Ellington's resident state trooper, James A. Morianos.

"The rumor has it the trees were to be plowed under," said Morianos. "And anybody who wanted a tree could take it."

The large tree farm is owned by Charley Burr, former owner of Burr Nurseries of Manchester. Burr is growing the maples for sale later to a tree wholesaler.

Budget tight, aide to go

Hebron
Letting go of a school health aide is a step considered by the Public Health Nurse Agency, said Tom Ford, chairman of the agency's board of directors.

Ford told the board of directors in the selectmen last week letting go of one aide from the two elementary schools, because of cuts in their budget request, is the "only direction we feel we can take."

Ford said last year the agency's budget was cut by about $5,000 which put them in the hole. He said they will be $2,000 in debt at the end of this fiscal year.

"The finance board has seen fit to cut us again," he said.

He told the board the other towns are passing their budgets in the full amount. He said it is not possible to cut a shared item out of the budget and the school health aide is the only item not shared by the other towns.

Towns served by the agency are Hebron and Andover, Columbia, Marlborough and Lebanon.

Another choice would be to reduce hours of the school health aide. But this would put the agency $800 in debt at the end of the year. Instead of

Students take over town

East Hartford
SHEILA TULLER
Town government changed hands last week.

Town officials stepped down and observed for the day as students from Penney High took over Town Hall Tuesday.

Youth in Government Day began over 20 years ago to teach the basics of elections and government. The town's two high schools take over alternately.

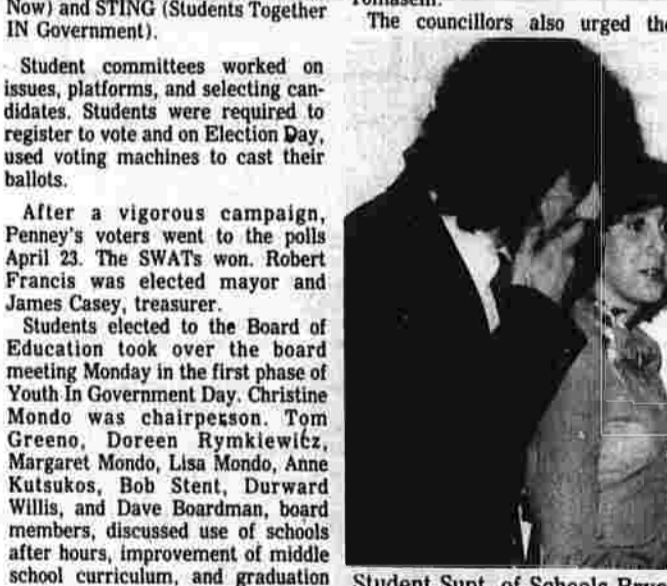

Prior to Tuesday, the students at Penney formed two political parties, the SWAT (Students Want Action Now) and STING (Students Together in Government).

Student committees worked on issues, platforms, and selecting candidates. Students were required to register to vote and on Election Day, used voting machines to cast their ballots.

After a vigorous campaign, Penney's voters went to the polls April 23. The SWATs won. Robert Francis was elected mayor and James Casey, treasurer.

Students elected to the Board of Education took over the board meeting Monday in the first phase of Youth in Government Day. Christine Mondo was chairperson. ### Anti-sewer group makes plans

Coventry
The Board of Directors of Residents for Responsible Planning met recently to get data on the forthcoming sewer issue to the voters.

Concern was voiced over the "pig rule" imposed on Town Engineer Walter Fuss by the Sewer Authority. RRP had requested a meeting with Fuss to discuss the technical aspects of alternatives to the regional sewer system being planned by the town. This was blocked by authority members who said they are the "sole source of engineering information on the sewer issue."

RRP strongly protested since members of the authority are not engineers qualified in this field.

RRP proposed the following action:

- A sanitary survey of the town be taken by the state Health Department to determine the success of past on-site corrections and the distribution through town of existing failures.
- A public information campaign be initiated at once to inform the voters of the alternatives.
- A fund-raising campaign begin through direct appeal.
- The board said the main issue with sewers in the future residential, commercial and industrial development of the Town of Coventry, not pollution.
- The voters must decide whether they want their town rapidly to change its character, as have many of the neighboring towns, or to retain its rural nature.

PTOs meet
Coventry
Parent groups in all town schools will meet tonight at the high school at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the Board of Education budget for 1976-77.

All townspeople are invited.

The school board recently completed its budget after cutting some $274,000 from its original request of $2,289,000.

The budget in its final form will be $2,015,000, together with the General Government budget, be subject to voter action at the Annual Town Meeting Friday.

The board said the school budget in its final form does not provide sufficient funds to maintain the current level of education.

In other PTO news, the Capt. Nathan Hale School PTO announced it will sell refreshments at the May 27 C.N.H. Spring Concert, to benefit the guidebook being prepared for the fall.
