Syria sends in more troops to impose peace in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Thousands of Syrian troops spearheaded by 200 tanks invaded east central Lebanon today in Syrian President Hafez Assad's second operation in 24 hours to impose peace on Lebanon.

Palestinian and Christian spokesmen reported the troops began disarming warring Moslem and Palestinian guerrillas whose battles with Christian Phalangists have blocked all efforts to end the 14-month-old civil war.

Today's invasion coincided with the arrival in Beirut of Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin. Diplomatic sources said Kosygin was displeased about the invasion but that the 3 a.m. move to increase Syrian influence in Lebanon was carried out before his plane arrived in Damascus.

Moslem and Christian sources said the latest invasion was made by up to two full regiments — 2,000 to 4,000 men — and that they had linked up with another force of 6,000 to 10,000 Syrian army and Palestinian Liberation Army troops sent in several weeks ago.

Another force of 2,000 men and 60 tanks entered northeastern Lebanon Monday and smashed through a leftist blockade to the villages of Andkeet and Kobayat, 31 miles northeast of Tripoli. Christians there had appealed for help against the four-day siege.

Today's massive invasion force pushed forward the besieged Christian city of Zahle 18 miles west of the Syrian border and 30 miles east of Beirut. The new force seized rival rightist and leftist positions in the Bekaa Valley in the first Syrian confrontation with the Palestinian guerrillas.

Massive numbers of Syrian troops accompanied by 200 tanks and armored vehicles entered the Bekka valley this morning," a Phalangist spokesman said.

"They have warned both sides to evacuate their combat positions. The Lebanese (rightist) forces had no military choice. They agreed to evacuate their strategic positions so that Syrian forces could take them over," the spokesman said.

Fighting in Beirut tapered off in the wake of the new Syrian intervention although rightists again shelled Beirut airport during the night, causing some runway damage. Casualties over the past 24 hours were put at 114 dead and 262 wounded.

A statement issued by the Palestinian news agency Wafa said the Syrians began pushing west across the Bekaa valley shortly after 3 a.m. and fanned out into scattered positions across the flat, fertile farmland.

It said another force moved on toward Zahle "after disarming (Palestinian) commandos and Lebanese nationalist fighters in their area."

The Syrian move today came in response to Christian appeals to save Kobayat and Andkeet from being overrun by a four-day leftist siege.

Reports reaching Beirut late Monday said the Syrians had arranged a cease-fire around the two towns and that the cease-fire had taken effect with only "scattered violations." Lebanese sources believed the Russians were displeased about the Syrian intervention in Lebanon, fearing like the Palestinians, that the guerrillas would come under Syrian tutelage.

Western diplomatic sources said they believed the timing of the Syrian intervention was partly related to Kosygin's visit. "It would be more difficult for the Syrians to send in troops during or after the visit than before it," one diplomat said.

The new Syrian incursion — the third this year — did not alter the military balance decisively, but increased the number of Syrian regular troops within Lebanon's borders to at least 8,000.

Political observers said it served to indicate to all parties in the conflict that Syria has no intention of acceding to leftist demands to withdraw its troops.

There was no immediate leftist response to the Syrian move, but the right-wing Phalangist party issued a statement saying the door should be left open "to any foreign initiative that desires to assist us in a practical way in the political and moral spheres."

Today's primaries just a warmup for next week's big showdown

By CLAY F. RICHARDS
United Press International
President Ford and Ronald Reagan were expected to break even in today's Montana, Rhode Island and South Dakota primaries, while two Western liberals fought to beat front-running Democrat Jimmy Carter in the three states.

For candidates in both parties, the three primaries were just a warmup for next week's showdown in Ohio, New Jersey and California where one-third of the delegates needed to win the Republican and Democratic nominations will be elected.

Since there are only 56 Democratic delegates at stake today, Carter still will be the big front-runner, but he could suffer psychologically if liberals Frank Church and Morris Udall beat him in two or all three of the contests. Church is assured of winning Montana, and was pressing Carter in Rhode Island, while Udall stood a chance of winning his first primary in South Dakota.

Carter has lost five of the last nine elections — three to Church and two to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Reagan and Ford have virtually ignored the three states. Ford was favored in Rhode Island; South Dakota was a tossup; and Montana, which holds only a beauty contest with no delegate election, was expected to go for Reagan.

As of today, Ford held an edge in delegates of 794 to 640 for Reagan, with 1,130 needed to nominate.

Carter has won 17 primaries and is far ahead with 885 of the 1,505 delegates needed to win the Democratic nomination. Udall was second with 301.

Carter remained optimistic about his chances as he campaigned Sunday and Monday in Rhode Island and made a stop also in South Dakota on his way to California.

He called Rhode Island a key state but said "there's no cause for concern."

"I have a good chance to win Rhode Island," Carter said. "I would be disappointed and surprised if we should lose here."

Several thousand watch parade

Barry calls for vigilance in Memorial Day address

Several thousand people watched the Memorial Day Parade in Manchester Monday morning under bright skies and in warm weather.

The traditional parade began at Bennett Junior High School, moved up Main St. and E. Center St. to Munro Park, paused there for a brief ceremony, moved back to Center Park where it passed a reviewing stand and disbanded.

Several hundred people remained in the sunlit park during ceremonies. State Sen. David Barry of Manchester delivered the day's address.

Barry noted recent traumas in America. He said we survived them and now must work to preserve the democracy for which so many Manchester men died. He urged citizens to be vigilant and to vote.

Excerpts from the senator's address follow:

"Since 1965, when I last spoke here on the occasion of another Memorial Day, our country has suffered a series of traumas perhaps as severe as any in her history.

"A brutal war in Asia sharply divided our people and disaffected a large portion of our society...

"And when it was over, there was no taste of triumph or prize of victory. There were no parade or welcome home celebrations for the brave people who returned...

"The second trauma involves the long struggle for racial equality in this country. The legal rights given a people during the Fifties became another cause for conflict when attempts were made to exercise and enforce these rights in the Sixties...

"Thirdly, in the recent past we have seen a challenge to our governmental institutions like none since the Civil War. We have observed corruption at the highest levels of government...

"Why do I mention these recent national problems on Memorial Day? Because a lot of good people died believing in our form of government with all its faults.

"Over two hundred Manchester residents have given their lives over the years in defense of this government.

"And so today I ask you to have faith in America and its institutions, to be vigilant and to be critical but not to be cynical, to evaluate and judge all aspects of your government and to participate if only to express an informed opinion. But most of all to demand integrity and competence in the management of this country, this state and this community we love.

"The people we remember today have done their duty. Now it is time to do ours.

Restaurant ordinance hearing tonight at 8

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

Public hearings on a variety of proposed actions plus public comment on a variety of agenda items is expected to consume the greater part of the meeting of the Manchester Board of Directors will conduct tonight. It will begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

The board meets twice each month — on the first Tuesday, as tonight, to conduct hearings; and on the second Tuesday, to take action on agenda items.

Hearings tonight will be on a proposed ordinance for licensing and regulating restaurants and take-out food services; on a new fee schedule for water and sewer charges; on the proposed construction of sanitary sewers in the east end of Linwood Dr.; on assessments for sanitary sewers already installed in the west end of Linwood Dr.; on assessments for sanitary sewers already installed on the north side of E. Middle Tpke., from Plaza Dr. to Linwood Rd.; and on four proposed additional appropriations, all to be financed by equivalent receipts or grants.

Final comment session draws one supporter

Only one person appeared during the first hour of the last of three public comment sessions this morning on the proposed restaurant ordinance.

David Leason, assistant manager of Bonanza on Spencer St. called the proposal "extremely logical, self-explanatory, and contains only things that make common sense."

The proposal calls for a $50 two-year license fee, and separate male and female toilet facilities, among other things. The issue of toilet facilities has been the main subject of the other comment sessions. Many small restaurant owners have said there would be a hardship if they were forced to comply with the requirements.

About 20 persons attended the three sessions that were monitored by health department officials.

A public hearing will be held tonight at 8 by the Board of Directors in the hearing room at the Town Hall.

Cash, goods said stolen

Weekend cases reported by Manchester Police included thefts of goods worth more than $5,500 and the attempted holdup of a West Hartford man at Burr Corners Shopping Plaza.

The thefts included $2,600 in cash and stereo equipment from the Hartford Road Cafe, $2,000 worth of cigarettes from the Pinehurst Grocery, $1,800 in goods from a Channing Dr. apartment, and robbery of $80 from a Manchester man.

Scott Arnold of West Hartford, an employee of the A & P store at Burr Corners, was the victim of the holdup attempt, which occurred at about 11:50 p.m. Saturday.

Arnold told police he had locked the store and was going to his car when he was approached by a young man wearing a stocking mask. The youth, brandishing a small revolver, demanded Arnold's money.

Arnold told the robber that the store receipts had already been deposited and he didn't have any money. The robber then demanded the store keys, but Arnold complied by handing over his car keys instead.

At that point, a car approached and the robber jumped in. The car sped away toward I-84, Arnold said. Police, using Arnold's description of the car, learned it had been reported stolen earlier Saturday from an East Hartford parking lot. The vehicle was found early Sunday morning, abandoned in East Hartford.

The burglary into the Hartford Road Cafe at 382 Hartford Rd. was discovered Sunday morning. Cafe owners said a door had been pried open, a $1,000 stereo system was missing from the cafe, and $1,000 in cash receipts was missing from a basement hiding place.

Four hundred cartons of cigarettes valued at about $2,000 were the only items taken in the burglary at Pinehurst Grocery, 302 Main St., police said. The burglary, through a store window, was discovered Monday morning.

Goods taken from the Channing Dr. apartment, reported to police Saturday, included stereo equipment, golf clubs and clothing. Police said entry was gained through a sliding glass door.

The robbery of $80 from Manchester resident Willrose Labelle occurred late Saturday night, police said. Labelle told police she had been assaulted and beaten by two or three young men, who stole his wallet. The incident occurred on Main St., police said. Labelle was treated for his injuries at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Other breaks reported to police over the long weekend included cases at homes on Avery St., Thompson Rd., Green Rd. and Main St. Among the missing items are liquor, cash, jewelry and a BB gun.

Boys injured in crash of stolen motorcycle

A 14-year-old Manchester boy, not identified because of his age, was listed in satisfactory condition today at Manchester Memorial Hospital, suffering injuries from an apparent motorcycle crash in Glastonbury Saturday.

A second 14-year-old boy, also involved in the early morning crash, was treated at the hospital and released.

Manchester Police said the boys were taken to the hospital at about 5:30 a.m., after they were seen walking on Kenney St. near I-84. A passing motorist reported seeing the boys, one of whom was covered with blood.

When police arrived in the vicinity, the boys ran into the woods. The more seriously hurt boy came out of the woods a short time later and was taken to the hospital. The other boy was apprehended later. Police said initial investigation of the case has shown that the motorcycle involved in the crash on Manchester Rd., Glastonbury, had been stolen from a Manchester address during the night.

Police said investigation is continuing and it is expected that the boys will be referred to Juvenile Court.

an outstanding educator

Miss Huldah Anne Butler has given much to the Manchester public school system. It could be that she was the first teacher in the system to work with the exceptional child; she did that in 1914 in the "opportunity room" at Barnard Junior High on Vine St., now a part of Bennet Junior High. She supervised a "game room" at Barnard before there was an East Side Recreation Center. She experimented with group reading for children before the idea was widely accepted. One of her great thrills was being the first nonspecialist chosen chairman of the Connecticut All-State Reading Conference. During her nearly 48 years in the public school system —

1914 to 1962 — Miss Butler has been more than just a teacher and an administrator; she has been an inspiration to the learning process. Her activities in the Manchester community brought her into more contact with those pupils as a Sunday School teacher, a choreographer, a teacher of aesthetic dancing, pottery-making, and playground supervisor. We applaud the Board of Education decision to name the new wing at Nathan Hale the Huldah A. Butler Wing. We herald the school board's continued practice of honoring dedicated people while they are still with us; when they can listen to a community tell them they have served it well, an appreciation that should not go unnoticed.

Regulating the regulators

Federal regulation — overregulation, that is — has been blamed for everything from inflation to emigration, from high costs of shipping or airline travel to low levels of industrial productivity or television entertainment. Earle B. Barnes, executive vice president of Dow Chemical Company, charges that "the business community has long been guilty of losing its freedom by the cowardly act of compromise when they knew a (regulatory) bill was totally onerous from the beginning." He calls for businessmen to be more aggressive in defending themselves against unrealistic or unnecessary federal regulation. But when does federal regulation become unrealistic or unnecessary? Equally as strong sentiments have been voiced on the other side. For example, a plan to reduce the Interstate Commerce Commission's control over the nation's transportation would "plunge the trucking industry into chaotic rate wars and drastically reduce the number of firms in the business," warns Lee R. Sollenbarger, chairman of the American Trucking Association. "Airline deregulation will lead to chaos and higher costs rather than improving the existing system," says Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., chairman and president of TWA. These two industries, however, seem to be exceptions to the current anti-regulatory mood shared by most businessmen as well as the general public. According to Sen. Charles Percy, regulatory reform is one of the critical issues confronting the 94th Congress, and although not as glamorous as some other issues, in many respects it is far more important and its consequences for the nation are likely to be greater. Excessive regulation, says the Illinois Republican, has an annual cost in excess of $60

Closer look at the man with no warts

WASHINGTON — For some months now I have had a feeling of unease about Jimmy Carter. But nothing I could put my finger on. In the past few days I have read a biography by the man himself, and I now know what gave rise to my unease. Nowhere in his 154 pages could I find an admission of a single fault. Well, maybe three but listen:

Way SURE I REMEMBER YOU! HOW COULD I FORGET A CLASSMATE?! HOW'S IT GOING? GEE! YOU HAVEN'T CHANGED A BIT!

Waddell School gift acknowledged

To the editor: The following letter is one received a short while ago from Donna Carpenter, a young woman from Manchester who has been teaching in Bolivia for almost three years. In late March, sixth grade class at Waddell School, spent a Saturday morning conducting a "Games Fair" the proceeds of which were to go to the people in Los Barreros, Bolivia. After meeting Miss Carpenter (when she was on a visit in February) and seeing slides of the people and living conditions in the village of Los Barreros, the children felt they wanted to do something to help directly. It took three weeks to gather prizes from local merchants and for the children and some parents to make the games. The children worked hard to make the event successful. They made a total of $219.06. After costs were deducted, we were able to send a check of $200 to Miss Carpenter. This letter of thanks was so touching and sincere that our principal, Maxwell Morrison, suggested we submit it to The Manchester Herald. We were all deeply moved by it and hope that you can also appreciate its meaning. — Ms. Cusano's Sixth Grade class.

Dear Ms. Cusano and Students: This past Wednesday as I headed into Santa Cruz with my village to pick up the first certified letter that I've ever received, I was excited and curious as to what it might be. When I opened it and read the very nice letter that accompanied the check, I was truly overwhelmed — so overwhelmed that I'm not sure I can find the words to express to you all what very special meaning this has to me and my village. On occasion I have received money from different people and organizations, but never have I been so touched as I am with this very special gift. I have worked with many students of all ages and never have I seen a group that shows such a true concern for others and takes an active part to demonstrate this concern. I look at you and rejoice that there are people like yourselves who help make this world such a beautiful place to live. Through my experiences I have found that one of the greatest joys is sharing unselfishly with others. Now I am sure that you, too, have felt this same joy of sharing — not only among yourselves through growing closer by working together but also through sharing your love and concern with us. We have not decided yet in exactly what way we will use the money, for it is always hard to give consideration and planning to use it to its fullest. However, I have talked with the people of my village about the gift and they were thrilled (and may

And on page 130 he lists "A fault; I don't know how to compromise on any principle I believe is right." Then he adds "But maybe this is a time on matters of principle, for an absence of compromise." From his young manhood on, by his own account, Carter was engaged at all times, waking or sleeping, in the pursuit of excellence and the righting of wrongs. Carter's other confessions are always phrased in words that picture him unusually devoted to his beliefs. He admits to having made 300,000 political visits for himself in three months while making 140 visits to families to witness for God in 14 years. What stands out, of course, is that it is highly unusual for a man in public life to spend that amount of time in individual witnessing in addition to the many duties of a regular church goer. Somewhat, this Jimmy Carter was always right, even though some wrongs in society did not occur to him as wrongs in his earlier years. It was simply that he'd given these matters no thought. During the past several decades as a newsmen, I've met, read about and studied a good many remarkable men, some powerful and famous, some not well known but great all the same. All had warts but their greatness outshone their faults. The greatest men and women I met over the years, Helen Keller, Will Rogers, Albert Einstein, were humble, aware of their own weaknesses and what they owed to others. None

Betty's notebook

The weather for the Memorial Day weekend was great but the weekend nevertheless left me with a deep feeling of sadness. The death of Martha Mitchell, who I considered a personal friend, curbed the more joyful activities usually enjoyed on long weekends. I first met Martha several years ago when I was covering the New York Couture Business Council's fashion presentations at the Plaza Hotel in New York. She popped in during one of the showings, I snapped her picture (the one below) and she asked me to send it to her. A few weeks later, I mailed it off to her and since that time our friendship blossomed. I covered the fashion shows in New York City twice yearly, in January and in June, and each time Martha would either leave a note at my hotel that she had previous commitments or that she could meet me for lunch at the Plaza. She was, despite of her outspokenness, a soft, sparkling woman, who in our conversations lent herself to interest in home, fashions, and travel. We rarely discussed politics; she seemed at ease just to talk on a woman-to-woman basis. Always attractively dressed and very fashion conscious, Martha was a delightful, witty woman. For over seven years, I looked forward to our luncheons and was deeply disappointed if she was in Washington or had another engagement. In either case, she always left a note with the hotel office telling me of her change of plans or that she would be late. Chattering with her was always a highlight of my hectic week in New York viewing fashions from 8 a.m. till after 4 each day. Perhaps my deepest regret is that for a woman who was so vivacious, so full of life, with a rather devil-may-care attitude, that when she finally crossed over the bar, she was all alone. New York will never be quite the same. Rest well, Martha. 'Our Paradise'

State gas tax goes up a cent

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state's gasoline tax rises to from 10 to 11 cents a gallon today, which gives Connecticut the highest rate in the nation, according to Rep. Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford.

Yanks no palsies

No longer are the New York Yankees rolling over and playing dead against Boston at Fenway Park. Manager Billy Martin has injected new life into the Yanks and the overall team speed is a thing of beauty to watch as thousands saw at Fenway last night and millions more via teevee. As the broadcasting team of Warner Wolf, Bob Uecker and Bob Prince never umpired a game one statement made last night needs a little clarification concerning a half swing. The plate umpire needs help on occasion on this particular type pitch because he could be blocked out. It's the hardest pitch for a plate ump to call. Thus, if there is any question, with a four-man umpiring crew, he turns to first base for help with a right-handed batter and to the third base ump when a left handed batter is involved. The base umpire has a much better view on a half swing. One member of the broadcast team last night noted that Thurman Munson's homer for the Yanks would have counted if play was then suspended because of the rain with New York leading. Not true according to the rule book. The score would have reverted back to the last completed inning. Bring back Curt Gowdy and Tony Kubek. Three men in the booth are too many and one could easily fall asleep with Bob Prince describing the action. With three men there is also too much small talk.

Armstrong is the assistant girls' jayvee basketball coach, Gary Frost coaches the Bennet-Hilling swim team, Phil Blanchette is an assistant track coach at Bennett and Jack Holik is the MHS varsity football mentor.

Armstrong and Frost are assigned to the high school Blanchette to Bennett and Holik to Hilling. Rich Evans capped the Spring Sizzler stock car feature race at Stafford Speedway yesterday before 7,000 fans. Geoff Bodine and Ray Hendricks followed Evans home. Little Don Davidson, fired by the Atlanta Braves, has hooked on with the Houston Astros as publicly director. Charlie Duggan won the 6 1/2 mile road race in Granby with John Vitale second. Both are expected to take part in the Manchester Relays June 26-27. Jeff Koelch took in all the NCAA college baseball playoff games last week in Middletown. He's serving as manager with Moriarty's in the Twilight League again this season. Manchester High varsity tennis team will stack up against the facility in a special match. Playing with the teachers will be Phil Hyde and Tom Rodden, two of the area's top players. Is jai alai sports or entertainment? Baseball Hall of Famer Max Carey had died in Florida at the age of 86. He played with Pittsburgh and the Brooklyn Dodgers. Southpaw relief pitcher Tom House doesn't appear to be the answer to the Red Sox' pitching woes and one wonders after last night if Fergie Jenkins might be over the hill as a big winner. No word on Ted Kelley's pitching progress with Tidewater in the International League. Boston Lobsters face High baseball games, points out that four members of the Board of Education security staff are in coaching.

Notes off the cuff

Steve Armstrong, the fine sports correspondent for The Herald who has covered a number of Manchester High baseball games, points out that four members of the Board of Education security staff are in coaching.

Fog helped WSox against Rangers

NEW YORK (UPI) — It can truthfully be said that the Texas Rangers played like they were in a fog Monday night.

Grieve told the ball in the fog and it fell behind shortstop Toby Harrah for a bases-clearing triple.

"I didn't have the slightest idea where it was until it hit the ground," said Grieve. "All Toby did was point. All he knew was that it wasn't a grounder."

In other AL games, New York defeated Boston, 8-3. Cleveland swept Baltimore, 4-1 and 4-3. Oakland routed Kansas City, 10-1. Detroit nipped Milwaukee, 5-4, in 11 innings and California edged Minnesota, 3-2.

While it won only one event, East Catholic's track team showed superior depth to capture the Class M Division outdoor championship Saturday at Coghinchaug-High in Durham. The M Division crown is the Eagles' second in three years previously having taken it in 1974.

Senior sprinter Cephus Nolen showed the way for East winning its lone event, the 100-yard dash with a :10.1 clocking. Taking a surprise second in the event was senior Brian Foley, more notable in the 400. Foley after a very short respite came right back and took a strong second in the 400-yard run, only three-tenths of a second behind the winner.

Senior Mark Skehan gained a second place in the mile run with a 4:27.4 clocking, junior Luke O'Connor placed second in the two-mile run with a 9:41.4 clocking and Cephus Nolen came back to take second in the 220-yard dash with a time of :32.9.

Junior Bob Caffrey took fifth place in the high jump with a leap of 6-foot-2-inches and the mile relay quartet of Jim Charest, Mike Hennessey, Skehan and Foley completed the Eagle scoring with a third place finish with a time of 3:31.8.

East's thrifolds now move onto the State Open Meet Saturday at Roger Ludlowe High in Fairfield.

In the Class LL Division championship at Southington High last Saturday, Manchester High's Jeff Joy tied for fourth in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and senior Bob Hawkes took sixth place in the shot put.

CIAC tennis finals

Visgilio, Lareau doubles champs

Putting icing on a fine 1976 season Saturday at Cheshire High was the East Catholic tennis team.

Sophomores Peter Visgilio and Greg Lareau combined to win the Class M Division doubles title while junior teammate Mark Briggs made it to the finals only to be upended.

Visgilio and Lareau advanced through the semifinals with a hard-fought three-set victory over Brook Baxter and Ray Buckman of New Milford High. Scores were 7-5, 4-6, 6-1.

The Eagle duo dropped the first five games in the finals against Chris Johnston and Bill Redlund of Farmington High before coming back to take the next four. But the Farmington pair took the 10th game and the beginning of the end as Visgilio and Lareau "served and volleyed extremely well," according to Coach Jack Redmond and took the next two sets by 6-3, 6-2 scores.

Home opener

Both Manchester entries in the Twilight Baseball League will be in action tonight.

Moriarty's host Vernon at 6 at Mt. Neo and MCC faces Society for Savings at St. Thomas at the same hour.

Yesterday, Paul Placido and Jim Blanchard of MCC participated with the Connecticut junior college all-stars again in a losing 8-5 game against the Massachusetts JC stars at Holy Cross. Placido went one for three and Blanchard doubled as a pinch-hitter.

Moriarty's dropped their first start last week while it will be the MCC's opener tonight.

Briggs No. 1 singles player on the East coast, topped Mal McLaughlin of E.O. Smith 6-4, 6-9 in the semifinals. But Tom Ruotolo of Guilford High took home the laurels with a 6-4, 6-1 victory. "Mark didn't play badly, he just ran into a super kid who was hitting winners," Redmond noted.

Briggs and the Visgilio-Lareau tandem qualified for the State Open Meet June 11-12 at Yale University in New Haven. This was the first year the scholastic tennis tournament was divided into divisions.

The girls' tournament begins play Wednesday at Hall High in West Hartford and continues Thursday and Friday. East's entrants are Mary Catherine Mirano and Kellie White in singles and Lori White-Sue Anderson and Kathy Viola-Ann-Marie Cantata in doubles.

Homer record

TOKYO (UPI) — Former major leaguer Clarence Jones posted a Japanese professional baseball record for foreign players Monday when he slammed the 26th homer of his career in Japan.

The 34-year-old American belted a two-run homer in the second inning, his seventh of the season, off right-hander Masashi Koga to help the Kintetsu Buffaloes to a 7-1 win over the Taiheyo Club Lions in a Pacific League game.

Easy night for Yankees against enigmatic RSox

BOSTON (UPI) — Cherry bombs exploded on the playing surface and New York outfielders had to dodge golf balls and close their ears to abusive remarks Monday night at Fenway Park.

In comparison with the going over they took from the 35,939 fans, the Yankees had an easy night of baseball — accepting an 8-3 victory handed them by the enigmatic Red Sox.

The contest, the first of a four-game set between the American League East leaders and defending league champions, drew the largest crowd in 20 years as well as a national television audience. It was the first seasonal meeting of the two clubs in Boston and the Red Sox fans wanted to retaliate for a brawl that broke out May 20 in Yankee Stadium.

Catfish Hunter was pitching for the visitors and was laying in lollipops the first two innings. But the Red Sox, who have lost three of their last four games to Baltimore and New York, stopped hitting and played poorly on defense.

Pitchers Ferguson Jenkins and Jim Willoughby combined for three wild pitches, catcher Bob Montgomery was guilty of a passed ball that resulted in three unearned runs in the third inning, outfielder Fred Lynn

Yankees expected trouble at Fenway Park

BOSTON (UPI) — The New York Yankees had expected some kind of trouble from Red Sox fans when they took the field Monday night at Fenway park.

"They got it in the form of small explosives thrown at outfielders, a few golf balls hurled their way and a smattering of unsavory remarks. The outburst by some among the 35,939 fans came in response to a melee the last time the Red Sox were in Yankee Stadium. Red Sox pitcher Bill Lee suffered a dislocated left shoulder from the incident and catcher Carlton Fisk has missed the last three games as a result of an injured chest suffered during the May 20 mayhem.

The fans' prime target was center-fielder Mickey Rivers, one of the more active participants in last month's fight.

"I expected it," said Rivers, who wore a batting helmet in the outfield Monday night during the Yankees' nationally televised 8-3 win. "A lot of different things happened (such as a cherry bomb exploding close behind him) but they called me a lot of names. But I just closed my mind to it and didn't pay any attention. I just wanted to play ball."

Outfielder Oscar Gamble said a golf ball barely missed him in the latter innings. Third baseman Graig Nettles, who punched Lee in the face during the brawl after failing to claim the pitcher down, said he was surprised and pleased at the lack of attention the fans paid him.

"Because of the way the stories of the fight were written up I didn't get too much heat or flak," said the third baseman after noting he had seen one sign that said, "Drill Nettles."

"As long as the fans don't come on the field, I don't mind the crowd," added Nettles.

The fans got so unruly in the eighth inning that the public address announced broadcast a warning that the Red Sox (down 7-3 at the time) would forfeit the game if fans persisted in throwing objects on the field.

"When the throwing started (earlier in the game), it should have been announced that the game would be forfeited and if there is any more (throwing), the game should be forfeited," said New York manager Billy Martin, a veteran of player and fan disturbances. "Pretty soon someone's going to get hurt."

"It was not a true Red Sox fan (responsible for throwing objects). It had to be someone on grass or somebody who can't hold his beer," Boston outfielder Dwight Evans acknowledged the Boston fans threw things but said their actions were far less serious than during the light-marred game in New York. "They were throwing bottles and balls of tape with pieces of glass stuck in them," Evans said of the New York game.

It will be up to the commissioner's office, not the players or the clubs' management, to determine if any action will be taken, according to Yankees' general partner George Steinbrenner.

"I hate to see the fans here doing that kind of thing, like they do in New York," he said.

Steinbrenner said it was Martin's decision whether to call his team off the field but added, "I'll tell you I don't want my ballplayers out there if they can get hurt."

Boston manager Darrell Johnson said he was disappointed in the actions of the crowd, the largest gathering to witness a Red Sox game at Fenway Park since the Yankees drew 36,350 in 1956.

"I have to see the fans here doing that kind of thing, like they do in New York," he said.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman (in fact I'm married and have children), and I have a couple of questions I am ashamed to ask anyone else but you because they might think I'm a moron.

What is the difference between a mule, a jackass and a donkey? Also, does a rooster have a male organ and a female mare?

EVIE IN DES MOINES

DEAR EVIE: An ass is simply a donkey. A jackass is a MALE donkey. A mare is the offspring of a male ass and a female mare.

In cases where the SHE-ass mates with a stallion horse, the offspring is known as a "hinny" (which is a "horse" on one side and a "hinny" on the other) and is capable of reproducing.

Concerning roosters: Yes, a rooster does have a male organ, but it is so small it is practically invisible. I suppose you would probably tell you it's adequate for her needs, but by human standards, it is certainly nothing to crow about.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for your very sound advice to FRIENDLY PARTING, who insisted, in obtaining a divorce, that she and her husband agreed on absolutely everything and they didn't see why they needed a lawyer just to fill out a few forms. (You said, "Some of those do-it-yourself divorces are more expensive in the long run than the regular kind. See a lawyer!")

I wish I had written to you before I decided to save a few dollars on a do-it-yourself divorce. I hope FRIENDLY PARTING takes your advice.

FOOLISH IN MARYLAND

DEAR FOOLISH: It's strange that when a person has a physical problem he goes to a physician and is glad to pay him for what he knows, but when he has a legal problem, he resents paying a legal fee.

A competent lawyer is worth every dime he charges.

DEAR ABBY: OPEN BOOK IN MICHIGAN said her sex-life was fantastic, but she found out that her husband had been blabbing about it to all the men at work.

You said: "Tell him you know he's been talking, and if he doesn't know his big mouth shut, he's not going to have anything to talk about."

Abby, withholding sex as a form of punishment is the worst thing a wife can do.

I hope that you will reconsider and come up with a better answer.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

DEAR VOICE: You (and many others) misunderstood my reply. I did not recommend that the wife withhold sex from her husband to punish him. I meant that if she knows that her husband is talking about their mattress activities, she's got to become inhibited and turned off. And once there will be nothing to talk about.
