MCC confers 715 degrees at Commencement rites

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

A capacity crowd watched 715 graduates receive their associate degrees at Manchester Community College commencement exercises Wednesday night at Clarke Arena in Manchester High School.

Led by Dr. Ronald H. Denison, MCC president, and State Sen. Audrey P. Beck, the gowned group of college officials and students marched in to the strains of the Manchester Pipe Band who played in a slow, measured beat.

After extending greetings, James Nakos, chairman of the MCC Regional Council, presented the community service award to Richard Bennett, president of the student senate.

President Denison acknowledged the presence of State Sen. David Barry and Rep. Francis Mahoney, who, with Rep. Theodore Cummings, were responsible for the bill signed by Gov. Grasso which will enable the college to build outdoor recreational facilities, the first permanent facilities at MCC. Work should begin this summer, Denison said.

In his valedictory address, Patrick Robbins noted that MCC's student body was made up of people of all ages in all areas of study, including women who are looking for an alternative to cooking meals and caring for the home.

For whatever purpose students are enrolled, and whichever category they are in, Robbins said that MCC provides that need.

The diploma is not the only requisite for future success. "Although the diploma is good to have, it's what we retain from learning that will be useful," he said.

A music major, Robbins gave his academic award, $50, to the Music Club "so that someone can benefit as much from the program as I have."

His gift was acknowledged by a standing ovation.

Sen. Beck opened her remarks by referring to public apathy that reigns in spite of the presidential campaign. She attributed that apathy to public disillusionment. This she explained by referring to several "emotional wounds" suffered by the nation since the time the graduates were entering kindergarten, and which had doubtless affected their lives.

"Non-participation in the political process is particularly prevalent among those under 25. If the people do not participate, then democracy is in trouble, and if the people fail to participate in their government, special interests will take over," she said.

Weicker, Dodd ask for report on cheating at USCGA

NEW LONDON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell Weicker and Rep. Christopher Dodd want a report on a cheating incident at the Coast Guard Academy which resulted in the resignation of a graduating cadet and the suspension of five others.

Weicker, a Republican, and Dodd, a Democrat, both termed the incident unfortunate Wednesday and called for a complete report for their own evaluation. The academy reported the incident after a radio newsmen broke the story. The acknowledgement came following graduation exercises for 242 cadets, including the accused cadet who received a degree but was denied his officer's commission.

The cadet was later identified as Steven K. Barker, 22, of El Paso, Tex.

No mention of the cheating incident was made at the ceremonies by key speaker Retired Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, USN (Ret.), former chief of naval operations.

The Coast Guard reported the affair only after disclosures by Mike Xirinachs of radio station WNLC, who discovered the alleged cheating while interviewing cadets Tuesday night to get their comments on the cheating scandal at West Point.

Xirinachs said the cadets told him of the unreported disciplinary action at the academy that occurred at least a week earlier. One of the suspected cadets told Xirinachs, "I know a lot more have cheated. You got us but you missed an awful lot of others."

At West Point, the honor code requires cadets to report known incidents of cheating, but there is no reporting stipulation at the Coast Guard Academy.

Academy spokesman Lt. Charles H. King, when told of the report, said he was unaware of it. A short time later he contacted the news media to announce the cadet, who was unidentified, was found guilty of cheating on an examination and was asked to resign a week ago. The others were accused of cheating on a physics examination.

Mindful of the West Point scandal, UPI last week asked King whether the academy had a similar problem and was told there was none.

Academy Supt. Adm. William A. Jenkins would not comment on the disciplinary actions stating "the matter was still under investigation."

Syrians halt advance on Sidon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian troops marching toward Beirut seized right-wing, left-wing and Palestinian positions in southeast Lebanon today but halted their advance short of the strategic southern port of Sidon.

The troops, part of a 4,000-man force that invaded the eastern Bekaa valley Tuesday, moved south out of the valley and west across the lower Chouf region, meeting little resistance as they marched toward Sidon, 30 miles south of Beirut on the Mediterranean coast.

Right-wing sources in contact with the Syrians said the troops planned to take the port, a leftist supply center, and "then proceed toward Beirut to secure its airport and other strategic locations" in a "decisive move" to end the 14-month civil war.

One ranking officer of the right-wing Phalangist party with access to Syrian military information said the force had advanced to within a few miles of Sidon and — if the Syrians decided to take the port — "an advance on Beirut can be expected to follow within a few days."

But reporters in Sidon said no Syrian troops were sighted there Wednesday night. Evening strollers were out in the town's main square and conditions appeared normal, they said.

It also was quiet in the Bekaa, where the Syrian rear guard secured positions they had overrun earlier, moving troops, tanks and other armored vehicles north from Zahle into the Lebanese air base at Riyak, witnesses said.

An advance column of about 100 men moved three miles west from the crossroads city of Chtaura to the leftist-held foothills of Mount Lebanon at Dahr el Baider, halting about 500 yards from left-wing positions, reporters returning from the region said.

The Syrians imposed a strict ban against carrying weapons and no shots were fired in the area.

Right-wing and left-wing Lebanese leaders opposing the Syrian intervention shelved some of their differences and met for a rare conference Wednesday.

Kamal Jumblatt, chief of the left-wing alliance, and Phalangist militia chief Bashir Gemayel met for three hours and agreed "in principle" on an immediate withdrawal of Syrian troops and a cease-fire among Lebanese forces.

Police, fire fighter unions blast town for talk impasse

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

Contract negotiations with Manchester fire fighters and policemen have reached an impasse and are proceeding to fact-finding sessions after unsuccessful state mediation attempts, negotiators said today.

In a joint statement, presidents of the fire fighters and police unions today blasted the town administration's role in the talks. The town administration had little comment on the dispute.

Harold Pohl, president of the Manchester Fire Fighters Union, and James Taylor, president of the Manchester Police Union, said attempts to reach a settlement have been frustrating because the town won't compromise on several issues. Among the issues in dispute, Pohl and Taylor said, are wages, fringe benefits, and working conditions.

Pohl and Taylor said town administrators want to reduce or eliminate contract provisions for sick leave and disability leave, management rights, working hours and minimum on-duty manpower requirements.

At the same time, Pohl and Taylor said, the town has refused to offer a reasonable salary increase.

"They won't reduce your fringe benefits without giving us anything in return," Pohl said.

"The town is playing games with us; they're trying to strip our contracts without offering anything," Taylor said.

Both presidents said the town hasn't offered any salary increase for 1976-1977. Policemen have been offered a 3 1/2 per cent increase for 1977-1978, Taylor said, while fire fighters have been offered a one-time, lump sum bonus in 1977-1978, in lieu of salary increases, Pohl said.

Taylor and Pohl said each union is seeking increases, including salaries, increments and fringe benefits, totaling about 14 per cent over two years.

The Police Union represents 77 policemen and the Fire Fighters Union represents 62 firemen.

Asst. Town Manager Charles McCarthy, the town's chief negotiator, confirmed there are disputes over several contract issues but he declined to reveal the specifics.

"We're not interested in going to the newspapers," McCarthy said. "We've decided to follow the law and proceed to fact-finding."

Observers said today it appears the current contract dispute is the most serious ever involving Manchester policemen and fire fighters.

BRIDGEPORT — Jury selection resumed today in the felony trial of Superior Court Judge Samuel J. Tedesco, charged with falsely notarizing a country club liquor renewal application.

SPRAGUE — The New England Bicentennial Wagon Train, headed for Valley Forge, Pa., fell behind schedule Wednesday on the first day it was joined by the Connecticut wagon in Voluntown. It stopped 15 miles short of its goal of Lebanon because the horses were hot and tired. The wagons are to meet others in Valley Forge July 4.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — State Democratic Party Chairman Charles T. Reilly said Wednesday he will push for a convention nomination for Jimmy Carter even though he believes nine uncommitted delegates are "morally obligated" to cast a first-ballot vote for Edmund G. Brown Jr.

WISCASSET, Maine — Bloodworm diggers returned to the tidal flats today to dig for a half-cent more a worm than they received before walking off the job more than two weeks ago. They voted Wednesday to accept a new team of doctors.

National

1/2 cents a worm instead of the 7 they had originally demanded.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — Funeral services for Martha Mitchell, 57, were conducted today quietly and simply according to family wishes. She was buried in the family plot in Bellwood Cemetery. She was once a favorite of former President Richard Nixon but became one of his leading critics during the Watergate scandals. She died Monday in New York from cancer.

NEW YORK — The Newspaper Guild struck Time Inc. Wednesday night when last-minute negotiations failed to produce an agreement on a new contract. Supervisory personnel intend to turn out the firm's many publications during the strike. Included are Time, People, Sports Illustrated, Fortune and Money magazines.

DENVILLE, N. J. — Karen Ann Quinlan's physicians said Wednesday they will continue to keep the comatose woman alive but will not interfere with her parents' wishes to move her to a nursing home to be treated by a new team of doctors.

WEST POINT, N. Y. — The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force will investigate enforcement of the service academies' honor codes in the wake of the latest cheating scandal.

WASHINGTON — The king and queen of Spain have presented a Bicentennial loan of documents and artifacts relating to Christopher Columbus and his discovery of the New World to the Smithsonian Institution.

WASHINGTON — Britain's Magna Carta, almost four times as old as the United States, went on display today for the Bicentennial year. The document was brought to Washington by a delegation of British leaders.

$4,500 given earthquake relief

Manchester donations to the Venetian Earthquake Relief Fund have topped $4,500 with the response enthusiastic and funds coming in every day. Raymond Damato announced today.

Damato, co-chairman of the local drive for victims of the Northern Italy disaster, said solicitations have been made of professional and skilled groups and organizations with "extremely favorable results." He said donations may be made to Venetian Earthquake Relief Inc., Box 803, Manchester, Conn. 06040.

A meeting of all state groups involved in the relief drive will be held June 13 at Howard Johnson's Windsor Locks. Dr. John Basile, state coordinator of the drive, will present a consolidated report of the fund-raising and will report on the damage he is surveying firsthand. Dr. Basile is in Italy at his own expense, touring the devastated area.

Squarrito pleased by Brown showing

The state coordinator of Gov. Jerry Brown's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination said today, "To say I'm pleased with the California governor's showing in recent primaries would be the understatement of the year."

Squarrito predicted a heavy victory for Brown in next Tuesday's California primary. He said he has no knowledge of the trends in Ohio and New Jersey.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

Thomas Jefferson was not only a lawyer and advocate of America's independence, he was also an architect, botanist, classicist, inventor and musician. The author of the Declaration of Independence, inspired by John Locke, designed his own home, Monticello. Jefferson's pride to the Declaration, "A Summary View of the Rights of British America," published in 1774, attacked Britain for its uncompromising attitude toward the colonies, particularly the closing of the port of Boston. The World Almanac notes.

Cactus now 'in' with plant lovers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - The latest craze among plant lovers is the lowly cactus - and the price can run up to $800 if you want to be really "in."

"Sophisticated plant lovers are getting tired of the usual garden variety of household plants - creeping Charlie, wandering Jew and the like," Dean Vanderveen, co-owner of Sky Branch Cacti in North Beach, said.

extension of the phenomenal current interest in plants," the Red Desert owner said. The shops get their succulents, the broad term for their water-retaining plants, from southern California, Arizona and Texas. Some exotic types are brought from Mexico and Africa.

Flimflammer wants out of the slammer

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) - James C. Lambert is once again described as a silky-smooth flimflammer who could charm a canary to a tomatoe supper.

Lambert's smoothness caught up with him a couple of years ago and he now is serving a 24-year sentence. He was convicted in 1974 of defrauding six Milwaukee area women, aged 21 to 30. A jury said he promised to marry the women, induced them to give him about $14,000, and did not intend to pay it back.

Lambert's attorney claimed the women wanted vengeance because "they had played the love game and lost."

Several of the women took out bank loans to lend money to Lambert. One sold her home for him. Another gave him her wedding rings.

Then, two of the women discovered their mutual involvement with Lambert. In the resulting publicity, four more victims turned up.

The Supreme Court did not rule on the case. But Justice Roland Day commented from the bench: "This is a case of getting their money with no intent to marry them."

Police report

Additional charges stemming from a May 11 burglary at Shoor Jewellers, 917 Main St., have been lodged against Thomas Ferrer, 19, of no certain address, Manchester Police said today.

Ferrer was charged Wednesday with first-degree larceny and third-degree burglary. He had been charged earlier with third-degree larceny by possession of stolen goods.

Police said a small amount of merchandise missing in the break has been recovered. Investigation is continuing, they said, and more arrests are expected.

Taken in the burglary were 15 watches, 26 rings and a variety of other items with a total value of $4,914.

Ferrer, also facing a variety of drug charges as part of this week's local narcotics crackdown, is being held on bonds totaling $9,000 at the Connecticut Correctional Center in Hartford. His next court appearance is scheduled June 11 in East Hartford.

Other arrests made or summonses issued by Manchester Police included:

- Daniel J. Harris, 28, of 30E Channing Dr., charged Wednesday night with disorderly conduct, in connection with a domestic disturbance. Court date is June 21.
- Delia R. Coon, 17, of Hartford, charged Wednesday night with speeding, carrying an illegal weapon in a motor vehicle, and possession of marijuana. The charges were lodged after investigation of a minor traffic accident at 11:25 p.m. at Center St. and Falkner Dr., police said. Police seized a small amount of suspected marijuana and a set of manchu sticks, an Oriental weapon. Court date is June 14.
- Ernest R. Bruhn, 45, of 146 Center St., charged Wednesday night with disorderly conduct after an incident on Main St. Court date is June 21.
- Joel Spector, 24, of 24 Tyler Circle, charged Wednesday night with driving while his license was suspended, on Edgerton St. Court date is June 22.

Bomb blast injures reporter

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Newspaper reporter Don Bolles checked out a tip on a Mafia story he was writing and returned to his car. Seconds later a bomb blast ripped through the vehicle blowing off his right leg.

Bolles told paramedics he was "an investigative reporter working on a Mafia story."

"They got me," he said.

Bolles, 48, of the Arizona Republic, was hospitalized Wednesday in critical condition.

It was his seventh wedding anniversary.

Police are searching for the tipster who lured him to a hotel but did not show up. Associates said Bolles was "set."

Directors said unhappy with bids on firehouse

It appears the Board of Directors isn't too happy about the $38,500 high bid for purchasing the old Pine St. firehouse. It decided Tuesday night to give more consideration to alternatives before it accepts or rejects the offer.

The abandoned firehouse is used for storing town vehicles and equipment and selling it would mean the town would have to buy or build replacement facility.

Town Manager Robert Weiss, who had recommended selling the property originally, said Tuesday night he, too, isn't happy about the $38,500 high offer. He said 6,000 to 8,000 square feet of replacement storage space would be needed and estimated it could cost the town $50,000-$60,000 to buy or build.

The directors will inspect the firehouse and the equipment stored there before reaching a decision. However, Weiss already has said he has no recommendation, "one way or the other," and Mayor Matt Moriarty Jr. is on record as "opposed to selling at that price."

Health budget

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Mental Health Department's policy-setting board says the department's budget has been "severely squeezed in recent years" and needs more money.

The Board of Mental Health Wednesday said the budget situation was made worse by the last General Assembly's requiring that $15,000 be spent for alcoholism treatment services.

By mandating how the money was to be spent, the legislature created a "classic case of robbing Peter to pay Paul," the group said.

FOI conducts hearing on DeLuco complaint

A Freedom of Information Commission ruling is expected later this month on John DeLuco's request to see personnel records of successful applicants for a Town of Manchester job he didn't get.

Freedom of Information Commissioner Herbert Brucker, who conducted a hearing on DeLuco's appeal Wednesday, said he will study the issue and make a recommendation for full commission vote on June 9 or June 23.

DeLuco, a 44-year-old unemployed heavy equipment operator, said Wednesday he wants to see the records to determine why he didn't get one of four town laborer's jobs in April.

DeLuco, who said he said he was denied access to personnel records when he tried to learn why he ranked 4th in a field of 164 applicants for the state-funded jobs.

Miss Quinn feted at banquet

HARTFORD (UPI) — Katherine T. Quinn, a long-time power in the state Democratic party, got a congratulatory telegram from President Ford at a farewell testimonial dinner.

The bipartisan affair at the Hartford Hilton Wednesday was a testimonial to her 34 years work in partisan Democratic politics. The $13,000 proceeds were given Miss Quinn for use after her retirement from the state party next month.

More than 1,000 people attended the $25-a-plate affair.

Ford's message, read by state GOP Chairman Frederick K. Biebel, said, "This bipartisan salute should serve to demonstrate that while there is a diversity of beliefs in our two-party structure, there is also unity of purpose in achieving the goal of a better America."

Miss Quinn said, "I thank you all. Now I'm calling it quits. You've all been very kind to me."

Among Democratic leaders at the dinner were Gov. Ella T. Grasso, Lt. Gov. Robert K. Kiljian and Democratic party Chairman William A. O'Neill, and the wife of late party kingmaker John M. Bailey.

Miss Quinn entered politics in West Hartford in 1922, managed state party headquarters from 1939 to the present, served as a member of the state central committee from 1928 to 1968 and has been its vice chairwoman since 1961.

Mini-computer bids being studied

Town of Manchester officials and computer experts are beginning to review proposals and bids on a new mini-computer system for the Police Department which will go into service in about a year.

Bids from nine firms, opened Wednesday, ranged from about $78,000 to about $282,000 for the basic data processing system. Options added to the bids pushed the highest total to nearly $550,000.

Police Capt. Richard Sartor, who developed plans for the system, said it is too early to tell whether the Police Department will get the system it wants with the $170,000 it has available for the project.

He said the department will have to live within the $170,000, which is the total amount of state and federal grants awarded Manchester for the system.

Evaluation of the proposals and bids — using a variety of criteria including price — should be accomplished within two weeks, Sartor said. After that, the system selected by local officials will have to pass a review by the Connecticut Justice Commission and the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which provide the funding.

There was a wide range in Wednesday's bids, Sartor said, due to the open-ended invitation for proposals. There are many alternate systems, different levels of computers and numerous options to choose from, he said.

The mini-computer system — designed for record-keeping, statistical research and other uses — will be the first of its kind in the country, Sartor said. Other police departments have computers, he said, but no department has as extensive a system as is planned here, and no department has established a system with just $170,000.

Planning for the mini-computer system has been under way for several years. Existing police personnel are now training for its use and the police station is being remodeled to make room for the system.

Commencement transportation

Those are the breaks — a broken foot and a broken finger — but they didn't prevent Ronald J. Hary of Hebron from joining his classmates at Wednesday night's Manchester Community College commencement ceremonies. There to guide his wheel chair is his fiancée, Janice C. Griswold of Vernon, also an MCC graduate. Hary suffered his injuries in a motorcycle accident. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Spring Pops Concert set for Center Park

The choir and band of Manchester High School will present their annual spring pops concert Friday at 6 p.m. in Center Park. In case of rain, the concert will be moved to Clarke Arena at the high school.

Some of America's favorite music will be performed in a program entitled "Let Freedom Sing!"

The choir and the Round Table Singers will sing songs representative of each of the great periods in American history from the Revolution to the present.

Irving Berlin's "This Is My Country," a medley of George M. Cohan tunes, and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" will be performed.

Martha White will direct the choir. The band will be led by Andrew Shreeves.

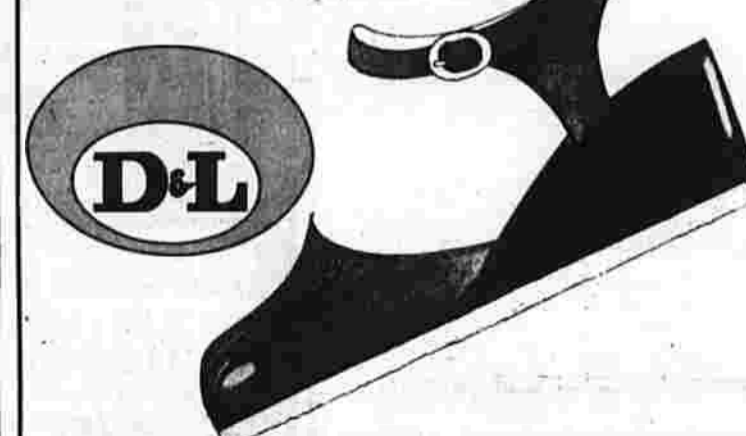

Guests are invited to bring a box supper and portable chairs for enjoying an old-fashioned evening of music in the park.

Bicentennial happening

While Manchester is celebrating the Bicentennial with a parade June 12, David Holmes of 246 Green Rd. and Stanley Wojzski of 25 Bliss St. will be involved in their own "Bicentennial Happening," an 81-day bicycle trip from Reedsport, Ore., to Williamsburg, Va.

The youths and their bikes will fly to Oregon Friday. They will join 10 other young people in Reedsport and leave for Williamsburg Saturday. They hope to arrive in Williamsburg Aug. 25, he said. He is also planning to take films during the trip and put together a day and spend nights either in tents or youth hostels, Dave said. Stan did 80 miles last Thursday on a practice run, he said.

The group will take turns cooking and buying the food. "The day you cook, you buy the food," Stan said.

The trip is being arranged by Bicentennial, a non-profit organization, with Bicentennial program status with the Bicentennial Administration, working in close cooperation with American Youth Hostels and American Wheelman.

Business Promoted at CML

James R. Eicker of Manchester has been promoted to project consultant in Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co's data processing division, Hartford.

A native of Chicago, Eicker graduated from Manchester Community College two years ago and is working toward his bachelor's degree at Central Connecticut State College.

He served in the U.S. Army from 1965 to 1967 and joined Connecticut Mutual in 1970 as a programmer. He was named a project manager two years later and senior project manager in 1974.

James R. Eicker

Native promoted

Gary A. Newman of Wollaston, Mass., and formerly of Manchester, has been promoted to program manager, at the Commonwealth Institute of Medicine Inc., Boston.

Newman's responsibilities include assisting in program development and evaluation, assisting in developing operational procedures, and direct supervision of programs' field staff.

Newman received his B.S.N. from the University of Connecticut in 1971. He previously held the positions of nurse practitioner in the outpatient department of Dick Hall's House at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H., and evening staff member in the emergency room of Windham Community Memorial Hospital, Willimantic.

In boat business

Richard Bellisle, 29, of Woodmere Rd., Coventry, began making fiberglass dinghy boats about five years ago in the new firm of Glass Tech, Mig. of Rt. 85, Hebron.

He did it part-time until January 1975. Now it is a full-time business to keep him busy full-time. In fact, he now needs much help from his wife, and his partner, Emil Fox of Gladstonebury.

The firm now makes about 400 boats a year.

Bellisle wholesales most of his boats to dealers in New England, New York, and New Jersey.

Bill changing school bonding procedure signed

HARTFORD (UPI) — Bills returning to towns the power to bond for school construction and setting fines for nursing homes that violate the state health code were signed Wednesday by Gov. Ella T. Grasso.

Mrs. Grasso also held a 45-minute meeting on a major bill passed by the 1976 legislature on which she has yet to act, merging the juvenile and common pleas courts into the state Superior Court.

Under the abolished school construction system, in effect since 1969, the state sold bonds to pay for 50 per cent of the costs of building local schools and 80 per cent of the cost of new regional schools.

But Connecticut recently has run into bonding problems — it has one of the highest per capita debts in the nation and its credit rating was dropped twice since 1975 — and lawmakers enacted the new bonding system.

The new system requires towns and regional school districts to issue the required bonds, and the state will reimburse them for 50 per cent or 80 per cent of the annual costs of retiring the bonds.

The nursing home bill allows the state health commissioner to impose on nursing homes fines ranging from $100 to $5,000 for individual violations of the health code.

Existing laws give the commissioner only the power to close nursing homes, and then only when the violations are so serious they represent a clear danger to the health and safety of the nursing home's patients.

The bill also establishes a network of volunteer patient advocates who will field complaints about nursing homes and insure patients are treated well.

The controversial court merger was the subject of a lengthy meeting between the governor and Judiciary Committee Cochairmen Sen. David Neiditz, D-West Hartford, and Rep. James Henley, D-Waterbury, who had little comment for reporters afterward.

Mrs. Liscomb is elected

Mrs. Vincent Liscomb of 215 Henry St., recently was elected president of the Women's Christian Fellowship of Second Congregational Church at its annual meeting at the church. She succeeds Ms. Joanne Anderson.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Melvin Stoltenberg, vice-president; Mrs. Michael Geoffrey, treasurer; and Mrs. Ralph Blodgett, secretary.

The Rev. Dr. Felix Davis, pastor of the church, gave the invocation, and Ms. Anderson welcomed the guests. Following dinner, speakers from "The Plant Store" gave hints on caring for house plants.

GAO issues unusual warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Accounting Office has warned two Cabinet officers they will be held personally responsible for payments made after July 1 to states inadequately reviewing nursing home care under the $14.7 billion Medicaid program.

Acting Comptroller General R.F. Keller threatened to "disallow payments" made to states with inadequate statements of compliance with the Medicaid review requirements.

The unusual warning came in 10-page letters from Keller to HEW Secretary David Matthews and Treasury Secretary William Simon, to 53 state and jurisdiction Medicaid directors and Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., who sought the opinion as chairman of a House subcommittee.

"We will invoke the authority contained in the Budget and Accounting Act... by holding responsible the appropriate accountable officer or officers of the government in the event they make payments for long-term care which have not been supported by required showings of compliance and a statement by the secretary or his designee that these showings are satisfactory," the letter said.

Long-term care refers mostly to nursing home care and to some hospitals and mental institutions, said a subcommittee attorney.

States receiving federal Medicaid funds are required by 1972 legislation to monitor the quality and cost of medical care provided to needy persons.

If a state cannot demonstrate that it has a utilization review plan, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is required by law to reduce the federal share of Medicaid payments, according to Moss.

HEW estimates $800 million in federal aid has gone to states unable to show they are complying with the law, according to the subcommittee lawyer.

Mathews has testified that HEW has not withheld any Medicaid funds, even though some states have inadequately assured the government of their compliance with the 1972 law.

Medicaid spending is expected to reach $16.6 billion next year, with a federal share of $9.3 billion and states $7.3 billion.

Tedford-Bombardier

Debra Jeanne Bombardier and Philip Wayne Tedford, both of Manchester, were married March 27 at the Church of the Assumption in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bombardier Jr. of 56 Griswold Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tedford of 19 Rosemary Place.

The Rev. William Hilliard of St. Thomas Apostolic Church in West Hartford, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Quiana re-embroidered Alencon lace with seed pearls and iridescent designs with fitted bodice, with bib insert, long sleeves with lace and beaded cuffs, high waistline with full circular skirt extending to a chapel-length train. Her finger tip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of matching Quiana trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses, carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Karen Tedford of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Bernice Rankin of Manchester; Miss Kathy Heim of East Hartford, the bride's cousin; Mrs. Eileen Beaulieu of Manchester; and Miss Debra Tedford of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister. Edward Bombardier of Manchester, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were Terry Ober of Rockville; Thomas Bombardier and Michael Bombardier, both of Debra Lee Colty and David Charles Sweany, both of Rocky Hill, were married May 29 at Concordia Lutheran Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilfred J. Colty of Fairview, Mass. and the late Wilfred Colty. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Sweany of Indiana. Mrs. Sweany is the former Carolyn Stankovitsky of Manchester.

The Rev. Burton Strand of Concordia Lutheran Church performed the double-ring ceremony. David Almond of Manchester, was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Ronald H. Nadeau, of Easthampton, Mass., wore a gown she made of off-white Quiana, designed with long sleeves, Empire waist, high neckline, with a lace inset at bodice.

Mrs. Ronald H. Nadeau of Easthampton, Mass., the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Gallagher of Hartford, cousin of the bridegroom; and Miss Dianne Stankovitsky of Manchester. Miss Melinda J. Nadeau of Easthampton, Mass., the bride's niece, was flower girl.

Charles A. Martin Jr. of Danville, Ky., served as best man. Ushers were Richard Harrington of Nashville, Tenn. and Hal McMahon of Huntington, W. Va. Ronald A. Nadeau of Easthampton, Mass., the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

A reception was held in the garden of the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Agnew of 49 Steepholow Lane, after which the couple left on a trip to New Hampshire. They will reside in Rocky Hill.

Mrs. Sweany is employed by Commercial Credit Equipment Corp. in Rocky Hill. Mr. Sweany is currently attending Holliston Junior College in Holliston, Mass.

The couple is planning an Oct. 1 wedding.

Mrs. Blanche C. Thibodeau
Mrs. Blanche C. Thibodeau, 74, of 132 W. Center St., was found dead at her home Wednesday afternoon. She was the widow of Onesimo Thibodeau.

Mrs. Thibodeau was born Dec. 8, 1901 in Leominster, Mass., and lived in Manchester for 18 years. Before her retirement 10 years ago, she was employed at Arrow-Hart-Hegegan Co. Hartford.

Survivors are a son, Vernon C. Thibodeau of South Windsor; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral is Friday at 9:30 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at the Church of the Assumption at 10. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

She was a communicant of the Church of the Assumption and a member of the Ladies Guild.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Armand P. Massari, 52, of 150 Shallowbrook Lane, Glastonbury, owner of Podunk Mill tavern and restaurant in South Windsor, died Wednesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Virginia Mattetti Massari.

Mr. Massari was born in New Haven and lived in South Windsor for many years before moving to Glastonbury eight years ago. He converted the old gristmill on Ellington Rd., South Windsor, into a restaurant 14 years ago. He was a Navy veteran of World War II. He was a member of numerous organizations including the Connecticut Restaurant Association and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Other survivors are a stepson, Douglas J. Luongo of South Windsor; two daughters, Mrs. Kathleen Cline of Coventry and Robin Luongo of Glastonbury; three brothers, Albert Massari of South Windsor and Alphonse Massari and Aldo Massari, both of Hamden; a sister, Mrs. Mary R. Cavallaro of Hamden, and three grandchildren.

The funeral is Saturday at 8:15 a.m. from the Callahan Funeral Home, 1602 Main St., East Hartford, with a Mass at St. Mary's Church, East Hartford, at 9. Burial will be in Mt. St. Benedict Cemetery, Bloomfield.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and Friday from 10 to 12.

James L. Breen, 49, of Mansfield, formerly of Manchester and Coventry, died Wednesday afternoon in Mansfield while driving his car. He was the husband of Mrs. Grace Bodreau Breen.

Mr. Breen was born in Manchester and lived in Coventry before moving to Mansfield 10 years ago. He was a sales manager for Christy Builders of Storrs. He was a Navy veteran of World War II. He was a member of the Mansfield VFW Post and the Willimantic Lodge of Elks.

Other survivors are two sons, Joseph Breen and John Breen, both of Mansfield; a daughter, Miss Julie Breen of Mansfield; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Breen of Columbia; three brothers, Richard Breen of Coventry, Edward Breen of Columbia and sister, Mrs. Alice Krieff of Columbia.

The funeral is Friday at 9:15 a.m. from the Potter Funeral Home, 456 Jackson St., Willimantic, with a Mass at St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel, Mansfield, at 10. Burial will be in Storrs Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

Pool contract awarded

A contract has been awarded the Hizzo Pool Co. of Newton for repairing and reconstructing Manchester's Verplank Swimming Pool, with the work to include construction of a wheelchair access ramp.

The two other bids were from Black & Warner of Unionville, $38,695; and Construction Services of Bristol, $43,320.

Today's bid openings were the second in four weeks for the project. Two bids were received early in May and both were rejected, one (Rizzo) at $40,243 because it was above estimates, the other because it didn't meet the specifications. Thus, by rebidding, the town saved $4,343.

No gun was located in the house, said the chief, who described the area of the two-story, four-bedroom home at 80 Perkins Road as "substantial." The home is located in a quiet middle class neighborhood of this wealthy suburb about 30 miles from New York city.

Police were sent to the Klein home to find why no one had come to school to pick up the unidentified 6-year-old who lived in the house. They left when no one responded but other officers returned two hours later. They entered the house about 8 p.m. through a window and discovered the bodies.

The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The Hays action came as the ethics panel voted 7 to 1 to meet behind closed doors to organize its investigations of the scandal.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said today he will resign as chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, but he defied a move to oust him from his more important chairmanship of the House Administration Committee.

The Hays action came as the ethics panel voted 7 to 1 to meet behind closed doors to organize its investigations of the scandal.

Traffic, parking rules set for parade June 12

Traffic and parking restrictions will be in effect during Manchester's June 12 Bicentennial Parade.

Parking will not be allowed on the entire length of Main St. and all streets involved in the parade after 6 a.m. the day of the parade. The no parking order will be enforced and cars parked in this area will be towed, police said.

Autumn St., Oakland and Summit Sts. will be open to and will be used for the major rerouting of traffic, police said.

Main St. from Woodbridge St. north and N. Main St. from Union St. to Oakland St. and all surrounding small streets will be shut off at 10 a.m. Traffic will be restricted at the north end of Main St. at 1 p.m. and stopped entirely at 1:30, with only a limited flow of traffic allowed to the south in order to clear the parade route.

Charter Oak Park, which will be used as a terminus for a shuttle service to the North End for parade participants, will be closed to the public.

At 1:30 p.m. traffic will shut off along the entire parade route and from the Charter Oak St. exit on Rt. 84 to the intersection of Elm St. and Hartford Rd.

The highway exit itself will remain open.

Parking and traffic restrictions will be lifted as the parade passes and the crowds dispersed at any given point.

The parade is expected to end at 6 p.m. at Hartford Rd. where the awards ceremonies will be conducted. Restrictions will be lifted in this area anywhere from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., police said.

Five new arrests made in drug investigation

Manchester Police today continued their roundup of suspected drug dealers, arresting two men this morning and reporting the arrests of three others Wednesday.

The five new arrests, plus seven others made Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, come at the end of a two-month investigation into illegal drug trafficking in Manchester.

Most of the arrests involved undercover purchases of marijuana and hashish (a marijuana derivative), although some of the charges lodged this week stemmed from sale of "spaced" (amphetamines) and hallucinogenic substances.

Wayne Wierzbicki, 21, of no certain address, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Michael McCarthy, 25, of Hartford, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Calvin E. Bragdon, 19, of 11 Harriet Dr., Vernon, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a hallucinogenic substance.

Freddie L. Schwartz, 16, of 140 Branford St., charged Wednesday with conspiracy to sell a controlled substance.

William Willard, 18, of 151 Hartford Rd., charged Wednesday with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Schwartz and Willard were released on bonds for appearance June 21 in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford. The three others were held for arraignment today in the East Hartford court.

Manchester Police today continued their roundup of suspected drug dealers, arresting two men this morning and reporting the arrests of three others Wednesday.

The five new arrests, plus seven others made Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, come at the end of a two-month investigation into illegal drug trafficking in Manchester.

Most of the arrests involved undercover purchases of marijuana and hashish (a marijuana derivative), although some of the charges lodged this week stemmed from sale of "spaced" (amphetamines) and hallucinogenic substances.

Wayne Wierzbicki, 21, of no certain address, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Michael McCarthy, 25, of Hartford, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Calvin E. Bragdon, 19, of 11 Harriet Dr., Vernon, charged today with illegal sale and possession of a hallucinogenic substance.

Freddie L. Schwartz, 16, of 140 Branford St., charged Wednesday with conspiracy to sell a controlled substance.

William Willard, 18, of 151 Hartford Rd., charged Wednesday with illegal sale and possession of a controlled substance.

Schwartz and Willard were released on bonds for appearance June 21 in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford. The three others were held for arraignment today in the East Hartford court.

MHS softballers defeat Stamford

Advancing to first round play, Manchester High's girls' softball team topped Stamford High, 7-5, in a CIAC State Tournament playdown round tilt yesterday at Fitzgerald Field.

The ninth-ranked Indians in the Class LL Division journey today to Glastonbury High where they'll put their 12-4 record against the Tomahawks. Stamford, 24th seed, bows out at 8-7.

Manchester struck for three runs in the first inning, added a single marker in the second frame and placed three big runs on the scoreboard in the fourth.

Sophomores Doreen Downham picked up the mound win. She allowed six hits and walked seven batters in the first post-season game for a Manchester girls' team.

Janice Dahm and Kathy Strand made fine catches in the outfield in support of Downham to cut off scoring opportunities for Stamford. Cochran speared a liner down the third base stripe and turned it into a doubleplay to choke off a Stamford batter.

Strand was the hitting star for the Indians with a single, double and three RBIs. Mary Willis took the loss for Stamford. She walked eight and allowed eight hits.

They fell out of Wednesday's game early, handing the Yankees five runs in the second inning on just two hits. Starter Dick Pole, who shut out the Yankees over nine innings last month in New York, and reliever Tom House combined for three walks, a wild pitch and a hit batsman in the second inning. Chris Chambliss had the only solid hit of the inning, a two-run single.

Figueroa, staked to a 6-0 lead after two innings, was unbeatable. The Red Sox tried using six left-handed batters and three got hits. The only runs scored on a Rick Miller single followed by Cecil Cooper's opposite-field homer in the fifth.

"I had an 0-2 count on him and I put the ball right out over the plate," said Figueroa, now 4-2 lifetime against Boston. "I was aiming the ball instead of just throwing it. But I've known how to pitch to Boston batters ever since I got my first major league win over them last 10-0 victory in 1974 while with the Angels."

Yankees not folding as Red Sox find out

BOSTON (UPI) — Contrary to popular predictions, the Yankees aren't folding and the Red Sox aren't straightening out.

The Yankees got four-hit pitching from Ed Figueroa and let the Red Sox hurlers hand them five second-inning runs Wednesday night to gain a 7-2 victory that put them eight games ahead of fourth-place Boston and five ahead of the second-place Orioles.

In contrast to Monday night's disturbance at Fenway Park, there was little noise from the fans. Only one firecracker was set off, that coming after Bernie Carbo was called out on strikes to end the game.

"Tomorrow's (tonight's) game is an important one for us to win; we don't want to fall nine games behind," said manager Darrell Johnson, whose Red Sox have lost four of the last five games to Baltimore and New York. "If we lose tonight to the Yankees, it will take us two and half to three months to catch up."

Boston first stop giving away games as they have done in the past two outings against New York. In losing Monday and Wednesday nights, Red Sox pitchers walked 11, threw five wild pitches and hit one batter.

They fell out of Wednesday's game early, handing the Yankees five runs in the second inning on just two hits. Starter Dick Pole, who shut out the Yankees over nine innings last month in New York, and reliever Tom House combined for three walks, a wild pitch and a hit batsman in the second inning. Pitching Phillies big plus

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ray Ruppelmeier, the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching coach, doesn't qualify as a baseball graybeard because his career dates back only 22 years.

But there's one thing he's sure of—and it's music to the ears of Phillies fans who haven't had a pennant winner since 1950.

"We've got six guys who can start," said Ruppelmeier Wednesday night after the Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Tom Underwood.

"I've never been lucky enough to have this type of staff on any club I've been with."

Underwood gave up three singles, a double and Hector Cruz solo homer in his fourth game with ninth-inning relief from Dave Giusti. Underwood pitched a two-run single in the fifth inning and added two more in the seventh on a walk, Dick Allen's double and Bob Boone's single.

Richie Zisk drove in two runs, including the winning run with a sacrifice fly after a triple by Manny Sanguillen in the eighth inning, enabling the Pirates' Bruce Kison to win his fourth game with ninth-inning relief from Dave Giusti. Underwood pitched a two-run single in the fifth inning and added two more in the seventh on a walk, Dick Allen's double and Bob Boone's single.

Davis 'hit' in debut

NEW YORK (UPI) — After compiling a lifetime .296 batting average with nine different major league clubs, baseball vagabond Tommy Davis' 16-year career was apparently over this spring when the 37-year-old hitting star drew his unconditional release from the New York Yankees.

Campbell walked the bases full. "I was prepared to go to work for my friend, Cecil Hughes," he said. "And when I had to make my decision yesterday, Cecil understood. He knows that baseball is in my blood and told me my job would be waiting when my playing days are over."

Tigers 6, Brewers 4
 Ben Oglivie stroked a two-run, inside-the-park homer in the eighth inning, and Willie Horton drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly as the Tigers won their fourth straight. Oglivie's homer accounted for the game-winning runs and staked Vera Rubie to his fourth win in five decisions.

But Davis turned up once again, in a California Angels' uniform, Wednesday night and came through with a two-run pinch-hit single that ignited a three-run eighth inning and subdued the Minnesota Twins, 5-2.

Lee May's two-run homer off reliever Tom Buskey broke up a scoreless game in the 14th inning and enabled the Orioles to snap a three-game loss streak. May's homer came after Reggie Jackson singled with one out for only the third Baltimore win. Wayne Garland pitched three shutout innings in relief of Jim Palmer to gain his fifth win without a loss.

White Sox 1, Rangers 0
 Jorge Orta's bases-loaded single one out in the 11th inning ended losing pitcher Jim Umberger's string of 24 scoreless innings and gave the Chicks their 13th win in 17 games. Dave Hamilton, who took over from Bart Johnson in the 10th, was the winner. Umberger is now 5-4.

U.S. net stars having trouble

PARIS (UPI) — Harold Solomon and Eddie Dibbs, America's premier clay court specialists, today attempt to salvage some honor from a dismal U.S. showing at the $210,000 French Open tennis championship.

second-round matches still to be played, only nine of the original 24 U.S. entries in the men's singles remain in the event, which has always had the reputation of being a graveyard for American players.

solomon faces Sashi Menon, an unranked Indian, while Dibbs takes on a more difficult opponent in Hans-Joergen Pohmann. The Paris-based player led Kodes, 6-4, 6-7, 7-6, when play was ended because of bad light Wednesday night.

Both Solomon and Dibbs, seeded joint fifth, will be in action today are Bjorn Borg, who took his crusade to become the first winner of the French crown for three straight years onto court against Hans Kary, the Austrian lefthander, and Manuel Orantes who met fellow Spaniard Antonio Munoz, whom he beat, 6-0, 6-0, to win his national championship two years ago.

Crying Celtics and coach find series all deadlocked

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Tom Heinsohn and his Boston Celtics better start thinking about playing basketball and forget the officials before it's too late, because the Phoenix Suns are for real and they aren't winning with mirrors.

won the first two games in Boston. "We've played 82 games and two playoffs of basketball, and now all of a sudden some guy waxes a story and we are back to high school officiating."

Heinsohn was referring to a story in a Phoenix newspaper last Sunday, which he said in a way intimidated the officials. What the writer did was ask Suns fans to support the team with their cheers, which they have in deafening fashion in the two games played here.

The Celtics had one last chance to tie the score, coming up court with the ball, with 13 seconds left. The Suns thought the ball would wind up in Cowens' hands for the final shot. It didn't, even though he was free, with Jo Jo White, who led Boston with 25 points, making it and missing at the buzzer.

Heinsohn said the cheering and "coaching" from the stands has affected the officials in their calls. John MacLeod, who also was slapped with a technical foul Wednesday's game, said his team must win in Boston or it has no chance.

The Celtics are great in Boston," he said. "We'll just have to play them as tough there as we did at home. If we don't, then we won't have a chance."

Alvan Adams, the 1976 Rookie of the Year, was held to 12 points in three quarters by Dave Cowens but broke loose for eight points in the last quarter to keep the Suns in front. Phoenix had led in every quarter but the Celtics never were that far behind and twice in the third quarter held slim leads.

But as the clock wound down to the final minutes, Gar Heard, who scored 19 points and had a game high 15 rebounds, proved the hero. He scored the winning basket with 58 seconds left. It gave Phoenix a four-point lead and made Cowens' final basket — he had 22 points in all — window dressing.

Aid to runaways program may end

South Windsor
A successful program, aimed at assisting runaway youths or children who cannot live with their families, hangs in the balance following severe budget cuts by the Town Council.
For only $2,000 a year the council could have continued a program entitled, "NET."
However, the council has informed the program sponsor, the Community Service Council, that the town cannot afford the money it has granted NET.
The program has been in effect for three years.
Critics of the council's move to cut NET point out the council's priorities are not consistent. Instead, critics say items such as the council clerk's salary took preference over something like the NET program.
The Town Council raised the council clerk's salary 25 per cent or $2,000.
The council has recommended the NET program be assisted through clergy members' organizations or charitable-minded groups.
While the Community Service

Council is following that recommendation, the council's attitude towards the situation is one that NET proponents take issue with.
They claim that without assistance from the service organizations the program is left for dead.
Beth O'Brian, director of the service council, said the organization has thus far serviced some 50 families.
NET has provided temporary homes for runaways or children who can no longer live within their homes. At the same time NET has focused on the problems which have caused the children to become homeless.
At times the legality of the NET program has been threatened by law suits.
To date NET has not been officially challenged nor has the town's legal responsibility in the matter been threatened.
Mrs. O'Brian said most of the 60 similar programs in other towns around the state are run by local clergy, while some are administered by town's youth service agencies.

Dump offer accepted

Bolton
The Board of Selectmen will officially notify Andover that Bolton intends to accept its offer of $50,000 for use of the Andover Disposal Area.
The selectmen are requesting a copy of the contract at Andover's earliest convenience. The contract will be signed for one year with an option for two more years.

It will include a clause for any extraordinary expenses.
Letters are being sent to all companies who submitted bids for refuse disposal saying all the bids have been rejected.

Tigers register players

Bolton
Registration for the town's midge football team, the Bolton Tigers, will be Monday and Tuesday from 7 to 8 p.m. at Herrick Memorial Park.
The Tigers are the 1975 Eastern Conference champions.
All those planning to play must register. All new players must be accompanied by a parent and bring their birth certificate. Players between ages 9 and 14 are eligible.
There is no registration fee. Practice will begin Aug. 2.
Head Coach Gil Bolsonneau said the Tigers will play eight games on the AB level and five games on the C level. He said there may be a post season, out-of-state game.
Other coaches are Jim Howard, Joe Hoffman, Dick Holcomb, John Moriano, Dye Hooper, Marshall Taylor, Dave Arsenault, Dave Walsh, and Jim Kalkus.
Taylor is head coach of the C squad.
To learn more, call Bolsonneau at 643-0688.

Andover's Bicentennial pageant

Andover
Mrs. Ruth Phelps plays on the Andover School's new piano while her daughter, Debbie, a Grade 7 student at Rham High School, turns pages during the school's Wednesday evening program, "Our Country 'Tis of Thee." The school dedicated the piano in memory of Mrs. Percy Cook of Andover. Mrs. Jacqueline Eagles, music director, led the program. Uncle Sam (Principal David Kravet in costume) led the readings. A large crowd filled the seats and covered the bank outside the school entrance.

Female athletes honored

VERNON

BARBARA RICHMOND
The Rockville High School's Girls Athletic Activities Club (GAAC) celebrated its 24th anniversary Wednesday night with enthusiasm.
The club members, 410 strong, were present in the school cafeteria to honor and be honored. One of the special events of the evening was the presentation of three $500 scholarships. This was a first.
Dr. Marion Baxter, head of the hematology department of Wallingford Hospital and president of the Zonta Club, made the presentation to Cindy Coughlin, Susan Dahling, and Elizabeth Ugolik.
The Zonta Club is a service club having professional women from all fields as members. Its goal is to promote the status of women in all walks of life. The high school has a branch of this called the "Z" Club.Mistress of ceremonies following the buffet dinner was Miss Coughlin, president of the GAAC. She Moody graduate this year and the newly elected president is Val Curtis, captain of the varsity softball team.

numerals, letters, charms, chevrons, gift certificates, and medallions, and bracelets. The list was endless. The school was presented with a silver bracelet for accumulating 225 points.
Winners and runners-up in other areas were: Terry Thompson and Robert Hughes, archery; Ellen Schumey and Kim Toth, freshman-sophomore badminton doubles champs; Janice McCann and Noreen Krowka, junior-senior badminton doubles champs.
Badminton singles champs, freshman through senior, are: Ellen Schumey, Amy Shapera, Lisa Larner, and Pat Sutyla. Miss Warner is the school champion.
The tennis winner and runner up were Lisa Warner and Lisa Moody. The golf runner up was Paulette Belhumeur.
In bowling Mickey Savage had the high average with a 191; Donna Smith, high triple, 168, 177, 156; Cathy Jaston, high single, 212. This was for the freshman-sophomore category.

Area police report

VERNON
Police are investigating the report of an armed holdup at the Gasland Station on Rt. 30 about 10:15 p.m. Wednesday.
Police said the attendant, Mark Allen, said two white males wearing stocking masks and carrying handguns entered the station and took an undetermined amount of cash.
Allen said the pair fled east toward South St. One was described as having red hair and the other black hair and a mustache. Allen said they were about five feet, seven inches tall and both were wearing white shirts and dungarees.

ROCKVILLE
Mark E. Roszcwski, 17, of 1 Walnut St. was treated at Rockville General Hospital Wednesday for injuries suffered when his car went off Grove St. and struck a utility pole. He was charged with failure to drive in proper lane. His court date is June 23 in Common Pleas 19, Rockville.
Carlos LaSanta, 39, of 23 High St. was charged Wednesday with third degree assault following a neighborhood dispute. He was held in lieu of $1,000 bond and was to be presented in court in Rockville today.

Authority picks housing architect

Coventry
The Coventry Housing Authority has appointed Dzik Associates of Brooklyn as project architect for the 30 units of senior citizens housing to be built in Coventry.
The firm was chosen from a field of 45 after months of visiting housing projects within a 30-mile radius.
The authority also held interviewing sessions with firms.
The next step will be for the authority to choose a site. Two sites have been slated for testing by Solid Conservation Service.

The Grade 8 group is in a film making project.

Dr. Diggs urges labs for EHHS

East Hartford
East Hartford's Superintendent of Schools Dr. Eugene Diggs reported to the Town Council Tuesday night on the proposed expansion of the East Hartford High School science wing.
In his opening remarks, Dr. Diggs said EHHS was built in 1954, three years prior to Russia's Sputnik. In 1957, science curriculums in this country went through a dramatic change and began offering students more.
With more students and less lecture and book work now than before, more lab equipment is needed, he said.
Dr. Diggs credited the high school's science department for doing the best job possible. He invited council members to visit Penney High School and then EHHS to compare. Penney's science labs allow for more sophistication.
For a program of this caliber, EHHS needs lab tables with hooptops for equipment and utilities. More sinks are needed. Referring the council to a blueprint of the wing, Dr. Diggs said the plans are for refurbishing and remodeling, not expansion. He did point out an area on the east side of the wing facing the quadrangle where a small greenhouse would be added for botany studies.

Doll show Saturday

Hebron
The Hebron Historical Society's second annual antique doll and miniature show and sale is Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hebron Elementary School.
Thirty-five dealers from the eastern seaboard will be at the show, said Mrs. Anne Ives, chairman of the restoration of the Old Town Hall. There will be a display of dolls dressed in historical costume by Grade 5 girls in the Hebron and Glead Hill Schools. The dresses span 200-year period. The youngsters were guided by Mrs. Candace Jose and Mrs. Olivia Patch.
A feature of the show will be the demonstrating by Mrs. Ginnie Luopetti of Rockville on making corn-nusk dolls.
There will be several authors and experts on dolls and miniatures present. Lunch and snacks will be available. Admission will be charged.

VFW drops County Home

Vernon
The VFW has voted to abandon plans to lease the town-owned County Home at the Vernon Center due to unexpected costs in making it safe.
Mrs. Marie Herbst, chairman of the Town Council's subcommittee working with VFW officials, told the council Tuesday night the action was recommended by the VFW building committee.
John Marshall, chairman of the VFW committee, asked Mayor Thomas Benoit to give him a list of properties that might be leaseable or saleable for VFW use.

ZBA denies vet variance

Hebron
The Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) has denied an application from veterinarian James Geer of Rt. 66 for a variance for a veterinary hospital in Rt. 66 district on the east side of Rt. 25 in Amston.
The board denied the request due to lack of hardship.
A public hearing was held by the board last month to hear the request.

Enumeration complete

BOLTON — The student enumeration is complete and results are in the office of Supt. Raymond Allen. Rita Sheetz chaired the effort. Occupants were Jean Gately, Phyllis Daly, Gloria Polidaro and Lois Ericson.

St. Maurice elections

BOLTON — Janos Decsy and James Vieth were recently elected Bolton representatives to the St. Maurice Church parish council. Bob Czarnecki was elected Hebron's representative, Bill Mumford for Andover, and Bob Simmons for Coventry. Induction of new members will be June 17.

Dog licenses

VERNON — Dog owners are reminded by the town clerk that dogs six months old must be licensed by the end of June. State law requires each dog to be licensed the month it becomes six months old and then renewed each June. The fee is $3.50 for male and spayed female dogs and $7.70 for unspayed females. When licensing a spayed female for the first time a certificate of spaying signed by a veterinarian must be presented. The town clerk's office is in the Memorial Building, Park Place.

Library hours

VERNON — The Rockville Public Library will be closed Saturdays during July and August. The decision was made by the Board of Trustees as an economy measure since Saturday is a low-use day during the summer. Regular hours will be maintained Monday through Friday. Saturday openings will resume on Sept. 11.

Miss Nancy McCooe Miss Doreen Gagnon

Town employs two as services aides

Miss Nancy McCooe of 110 Hamlin St. and Miss Doreen Gagnon of 258 Lake St. have been employed by the Town of Manchester as human services aides. Their duties include locating and visiting the elderly citizens of the community. They will also distribute a Directory of Services to the Elderly, which provides information about available services. Initially, Miss McCooe will be calling door to door in the Spruce St. to Autumn St. area, and Miss Gagnon in the Cooper St. to Pine St. area.

Both are employed for 13 weeks with the Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM) program. Miss McCooe was graduated Wednesday night from Manchester Community College as an occupational therapy assistant. She will be attending Eastern Connecticut State College, Willimantic, in the fall. Miss Gagnon is attending the University of Connecticut. She will be a junior in the fall and is majoring in psychology.

Tax settlements made illegally

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's top auditors said Wednesday the state Tax Department violated state laws by forging tax debts without the approval of the governor.

The practice rules out reviews by a third party of negotiated tax settlements, the auditors said in a report of department operations for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1973, and 1974.

"They said the violations were not meant to defraud the state, but rather to speed up the process of negotiating tax debt settlements.

The report also criticized lax administrative procedures which they said led the department to fail to either collect an underdetermined amount of taxes owed to the state or to pay tax rebates owed to taxpayers.

But auditors Leo V. Donohue and Henry J. Becker reserved their strongest criticisms for the manner in which the Tax Department negotiates tax debts without the approval of governors.

Donohue said the department doesn't make legal determinations of tax debts until its field officers discuss the cases with taxpayers and in most cases lower the preliminary debts found in audits.

That constitutes a negotiated settlement, Donohue said, but it bypasses a regulation requiring governors to approve all debt negotiations after the department makes its legal debt determinations.

Donohue said the department should first establish the legal debt, then proceed to negotiate it if it wants to, a procedure which would require the governors' approval.

Donohue and Becker also recommended the following steps to improve the department's control over tax collections:

- Require all Connecticut corporations to post bonds to insure payment of taxes in the event the firms go broke or out of business or leave the state.
- Require holders of special fuel licenses, who pay state fuel taxes on a quarterly basis, to post bonds for the same purpose when they have histories of being delinquent in their tax payments.
- Tax Department auditors should be given their assignments in prenumbered forms, so supervisors can keep better track of unfinished assignments nearing the end of the statute of limitations.
- Better records should be kept of cigarette stamps issued. The auditors said the shoddy records made it impossible for them to reconcile cigarette tax revenues with tax stamps issued.

New Haven schools to have 179-day term

HARTFORD (UPI) — New Haven students only have to attend school 179 days this year, instead of the usual required 180, according to the state Board of Education.

The board decided Wednesday none of the seven days lost to a teachers' strike last fall need be made up.

The city will lose $27,000 in state grants for not opening the extra day, but total savings will amount to $70,000 after consideration of the $100,000 a day cost of opening New Haven schools.

Earlier this year staff members of the state education department had recommended that four of the seven strike days be made up. That figure was later reduced to two days, then one.

The New Haven School Board appealed the one-day decision, leading to Wednesday's ruling, which allowed school to close June 24.

'Las Vegas Night' bill signed by Gov. Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso's office said today the signed legislation tightening laws on the running of gambling nights by charities as a means of raising money.

The so-called "Las Vegas night" bill was requested by state police who said organized crime had infiltrated the running of such events.

The new law requires persons wanting to operate a gambling night for a charity to be licensed by the state police and imposes more stringent standards on organizations seeking to sponsor such events.

State police originally had asked the law authorizing the gambling nights be repealed, but lawmakers decided on a compromise because many charities used them as a prime source of contributions.

Mrs. Grasso also gave her approval to a bill allowing municipal employees to participate in political activities.

But they still will be prohibited from being candidates for office in partisan elections or using their position to pressure others into taking an active role in a political campaign.

The governor also signed a bill permitting the sale of alcohol in bowling alleys, rather than restricting them to adjoining bars as now done.

The bill establishes a $2,000 fee to allow retail sale of liquor in bowling alleys with 10 or more lanes.

It would prohibit sale of alcohol before 5 p.m., except in a room separate from the bowling area.

Last year Mrs. Grasso vetoed a bill allowing sale of alcohol in establishments having six or more alleys. That proposal did not make provision for a door separating the area where the liquor was sold from the bowling area.

Mrs. Grasso, who has now signed 365 bills and vetoed eight others, also signed bills to:

- Allow the legislative Finance and Appropriations Committee to each hire one full-time staffer.
- Increase the interest rate on delinquent state taxes from nine to 12 per cent.
- Exempt state-employed lawyers and doctors from liability for damages resulting from performance of their duties, so long as their actions were not willfully negligent.
- Individuals wishing to file damage claims must do so against the state.

Arts Council to work on list of resources

The recently created Manchester Arts Council, meeting for the second time Wednesday night, decided its first priority is preparing a list of resources.

The council, with the help of Town Human Services Director Alan Mason, is preparing a questionnaire and survey to locate local performing and fine arts organizations, individual artists, and performing and exhibition "spaces."

Council members agreed Wednesday night that the resource list is probably the first step toward developing goals for the group. Also discussed were possible classes of council membership and a dues schedule, but no decisions were made.

Members said they'll have to find out who they'll serve before they can decide how to serve them. The most talked-about objective is to create a type of clearing house for the arts, by coordinating projects and events and publishing a periodic calendar of projects.

The council will meet again June 17. In the meantime, Mason asked arts organizations to contact him at his office, telephone 649-5261.

Striking nurses

WILLIMANTIC (UPI) — Negotiations between striking nurses and the Widham Community Memorial Hospital have been scheduled for Friday.

The session will be the sixth one since the strike began April 21 in Connecticut's first strike by nurses against a public hospital.

The meeting at the University of Connecticut was arranged by mediators.

Aetna offers CB insurance

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Citizens Band radio craze has fostered another one, theft of CB radios at such a rapid rate they require separate insurance, Aetna Life and Casualty has decided.

The firm, the nation's fourth largest auto insurer, has sold CB theft insurance since March for about $20 a year, in a program now effective in 10 states. The program will soon be effective in Connecticut.

CB radios were included in the comprehensive section of regular auto insurance until the theft rate reached epidemic proportions.

There were only about one million CB radios sold between 1947 and 1974. About one million are now sold every two months. Last year, 250,000 were stolen at a cost of $45 million.

In Houston, CB radios are being stolen at the rate of 80 per day, the company said. In Hartford, more recently converted to CB use, thefts rose from 21 in January to 125 in May.

Police said the best way to prevent theft is to remove the radio when a car is left alone for a long time. Hiding the antenna was also advised.

"That CB antenna, it's like waving a red flag in front of a bull," said Police Sgt. Thomas Nash.

Changes plea

NEW HAVEN (UPI) — A 28-year-old West Haven man accused in the 1974 shooting death of a New Haven man has changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

Joseph Lenzi was charged with one count of manslaughter and three counts of first degree assault in the Nov. 27, 1974 death of Dennis J. Scafariello, 25.

Police said that in addition to the death, five others were wounded in a shooting spree following a restaurant argument.

Credit union

TORRINGTON (UPI) — An employees' credit union at Fittzgerald Manufacturing Co. began four years ago by the workers' union has been dissolved.

"There are too many loans out and too many people laid off," said Mrs. Elaine Thomas, president of Local 24772, AFL-CIO.

She said employees with funds in the credit union will get their money back and borrowers will still have to repay loans.

Illinois doctor wins countersuit

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dr. Leonard Berlin was hurt by two medical malpractice suits — once when his insurance company settled a case without his permission in order to save legal costs.

He wasn't going to let it happen again.

Berlin, a radiologist from suburban Skokie, went to his lawyer in September when Mrs. Harriet Nathan of Wilmette, Ill., filed a $250,000 malpractice suit against him and another doctor because they failed to diagnose her fractured finger on the first X-ray.

Berlin filed a countersuit asking $3,000 in damages from Mrs. Nathan and her attorneys on grounds her suit was frivolous. Mrs. Nathan's attorneys, admitting they did not have a strong case, dismissed their suit.

But Berlin pressed his case.

Tuesday, a Cook County Circuit Court jury awarded Berlin $8,000 in actual and punitive damages — more than he requested.

All parties agreed appeals probably would go at least to the state Supreme Court.

Berlin and his attorney, Wayne Giampietro, said that if the ruling stands, it could help curb the soaring number of malpractice suits which have sent doctors' insurance skyrocketing.

"I think what it means is that attorneys now will be more careful about two things when they file medical malpractice cases," Giampietro said.

"No. 1, they will be sure there is some evidence of malpractice on the part of somebody. No. 2, they will be more careful about the people they name as defendants."

"I think it also means that juries are not going to be hesitant to review the actions of these attorneys in filing these cases."

Dr. Max Parrott, American Medical Association president, said the finding "serves notice that doctors intend to fight back" against legal attacks which have "no merit either in law or in medicine."

Berlin said, "I don't deny that real malpractice occurs, but there's been such an abuse in court.

Error delays drivers' license law

HARTFORD (UPI) — It will be impossible for the state Motor Vehicle Department to implement the new photo drivers' license law, according to Edward Carroll, MVD chief of management.

He said Wednesday the new licenses for Connecticut's two million drivers were supposed to be issued starting July 1, 1977 and be completed, at a rate of 500,000 a year, by 1981.

The licenses would cost $21 for four years instead of the present $10 for two years, and would have photographs on them.

But he said an error in the bill, as passed by the legislature and signed this week by Gov. Ella T. Grasso, would mean all two million would have to be done by 1980.

That would mean issuing one million licenses in one year, while the department would be equipped only to handle 500,000 licenses a year, Carroll said. He said the next legislature will be asked to correct the error.

Emhart makes offer to settle trade dispute

HARTFORD (UPI) — Attorneys on both sides of a federal restraint of trade suit described as "fair" a $7.5 million out-of-court settlement offered by Emhart Corp.

U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld Wednesday reserved judgment on approving the $7.5 million settlement, which would be paid by the Farmington firm to avoid trial on claims it conspired to restrict sales of master key lock systems.

Two class action suits claim the four firms that manufacture master key systems — frequently used in hospitals, hotels and apartments — have conspired to restrict distribution.

An Emhart attorney said only 700 of 40,000 users contacted by mail disapproved the settlement. Attorneys for government entities approved the settlement.

Attorneys for private lock users objected to the split of the settlement, 80 per cent to government users and 20 per cent to private firms.

Emhart was the only defendant to settle. Scheduled for trial in September are Sargent and Co. of New Haven, Yale Lock and Hardware Division of Eaton Yale and Towne Inc. of Rye, N.Y., and Itco Corp. of Fitchburg, Mass.

CNG accused of issuing inaccurate bill estimates

HARTFORD (UPI) — At a Public Utilities Control Authority hearing Connecticut Natural Gas customers called the company rude and insensitive and said it issued inaccurate estimated bills.

The customers Wednesday urged the PUC to pass regulations requiring more accurate estimated bills. One customer said his estimated bills of $90.48, $153.50 and $185.50 were followed by an actual-reading bill of $94.92.

The hearing concerned estimated bill practices of several state utilities, but only CNG was subjected to strong criticism.

The utility estimated an average 27,500 bills out of 112,000 customers during the last 15 months, according to Charles H. Cass, a CNG vice president.

He said it would cost $48,000 for an extra 20 meter readers to eliminate estimated bills. Cass also said the company was developing a computer system to provide more accurate bills.

During one recent month CNG estimated 83.7 per cent of its bills while two other gas companies estimated only 7.9 per cent of their bills, according to Alden Meyer of the Connecticut Citizens Action Group.

He said his group recommended a bar against estimated bills more than two months in a row. Meyer also suggested customers be allowed to make time payments on unusually large bills.

Some 13 million U.S. families now earn over $20,000 a year. Ten years ago less than seven million were in this income bracket, The Conference Board notes.

Foreign news commentary: An old face in new role

By STEWART KELLERMAN
TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Yigal Yadin, one of the most respected figures in Israeli life, has cautiously stepped into the Jewish state's confused political arena.

Yadin, a world-renowned archeologist and one-time commander of Israel's armed forces, has taken a relatively dovish position since ending a lifetime of political aloofness on May 25.

The 59-year-old, pipe-smoking professor said the occupied West Bank should be part of "an Arab-Palestinian state." He raised the possibility of talks with guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat if "it will bring us nearer to peace."

The balding, mustachioed Yadin, who looks like a Hollywood version of a retired British brigadier, told a television audience May 25 that he would run for office if he found enough support for him in Israel.

Yadin, who turned down dozens of offers to enter politics in the past, may be the only major figure in Israel to remain un tarnished by political mud-slinging.

A fellow professor at Hebrew University said Yadin has an extraordinary gift for getting his own way without antagonizing anybody.

He was one of the leaders of the 1950-61 exploration of the Dead Sea caves and wrote some of the basic research works on the Dead Sea scrolls, which have revolutionized Biblical scholarship.

Yadin has called for the resignation of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and an overhaul of Israel's Byzantine political system in which a plethora of parties has made agreement on even minor issues a monumental task.

Rabin is also involved in a bitter power struggle with Defense Minister Shimon Peres. One cabinet minister said the dispute recalled the interparty squabbles that led to the resignation of the late Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion in 1963.

Yadin said he is thinking about forming his own political movement, but political informants said he may eventually run for office through the Labor party, which has dominated politics in Israel since the birth of the state.

"It seems to me as a politician that Yadin might be holding himself out to labor as a possible candidate for the leadership," Adi Amorah, a Labor member of Parliament, said.

Both doves in the Labor party and hawks in the opposition Likud bloc expressed concern over the possible loss of votes to a new, Yadin-led political movement.

But Rabin tried to laugh off Yadin's challenge, saying he is always pleased by the "spirit of volunteering" among the Israeli people — even when it comes to volunteering for the job of prime minister.

Liberals clobber Carter

KEN FRANCHING
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — A combination punch from two liberal newcomers knocked Jimmy Carter flat in the beauty contest "part of Rhode Island's primary."

But the Democratic frontrunner may take more state delegates to New York City than his rivals.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. did not outshine Carter in Rhode Island singlehandedly. It was a combination of liberal votes for both Brown and Idaho Sen. Frank Church that eroded early momentum the frontrunner built in 10 months of carefully planned grassroots politicking.

"I don't really think they're out to stop Carter," said Democratic State Chairman Charles T. Reilly. "It looks like he's going to have around a 1,100 delegate votes. I think he should move behind him (Carter) and win the White House. That's our goal."

An uncommitted slate of delegates backed by Brown won nine of the state's 22 Democratic delegates Tuesday, compared to seven for the former Georgia governor and six for runner-up Frank Church. Actual delegate support in the close contest was uncertain because Brown and Carter both have backing among the uncommitteds.

Although it is the smallest state and sends a relatively insignificant number of delegates to the national conventions, the Democratic battle was one of the closest of the long primary season.

They fought tooth-and-nail for the 22 delegates. Carter, Church and Brown all blitzed the state in the final four days before the primary. Brown backers said the success of the uncommitted drive was made partly possible by members of the United Farm Workers union who entered the state during the last week.

"We helped organize and we helped him any way we could. He is the first governor in California to successfully help bring about the right of farm workers to secret ballot elections. We think that was the right thing to do. We did it and we support him," said Californian Marshall Ganz.

The Carter campaigners, visibly disappointed there was no landslide win, remained boyed by his total delegate count when discussing the results at their downtown headquarters.

"Although the uncommitted slate did win, those uncommitted delegates include a number of people who are committed to Jimmy Carter," Bernard McKay, his state campaign co-chairman, said after the votes were tallied.

"Not only has he come in first among the candidates on the ballot in Rhode Island, he's also going to go to New York with the majority of delegates from Rhode Island," McKay predicted.

There was disagreement in the Brown camp — jubilant over the upset it staged with a hectic two-week campaign educating supporters how to vote uncommitted.
