one paid much attention when water began seeping through the 310-foot Teton Dam. But then a whirlpool appeared ominously near one corner - and the earth-fill dam burst, sending millions of gallons of water racing through the Upper Snake River Valley.

Daryl Grieg was fishing Saturday when he looked up to see a "giant wave that looked like it was 30 feet high" rushing at him. Grieg, 22, rode a logjam in the flooded Teton River until he climbed to safety in a tree.

By the time the water level over 300 flooded square miles dropped Sunday, at least six persons were reported dead because of the disaster and numerous others were listed as

"Please Don't Rain on My Parade," was the theme song of the day in Vernon, Sunday. The plea didn't work for the entire day but just the people were dampened, not the

The three-mile route of the bicentennial parade was lined with people eight and nine deep and about 50,000 strong. They started to take their front row places about an hour before the 1 p.m. parade started from Rockville High School.

The first unit arrived at the finish point at Vernon Circle at 2 p.m. The weather prediction was sunny and 90 degrees but the sun didn't peep through and the thermometer on a Rt. 83 bank registered 66 at noon and by the time the parade concluded about 4 p.m., it had taken a sharp drop to 58 degrees. With the drop came heavy rains and those at the end of the march, while still smiling, were a bit soggy.

Shortly before the final units passed the finish point, the ambulance had to go through to transport an apparent heart attack victim to Rockville General Hospital. The victim was a Bloomfield woman who was watching the State and local police and Explorer Scouts were out enmasse to keep traffic moving smoothly before and after the parade.

Leading the procession was the Rockville High School Band with its majorettes still stepping sprightly after their three-mile hike.

Next came Gov. Ella Grasso who just stopped long enough to change cars at the reviewing stand and then left immediately for Hartford. She was accompanied down the parade route by Mayor Thomas Benoit. Her car was followed by Sen. Lowell Weicker riding in an open converti-

Presidential primary season ends Tuesday

By ELIZABETH WHARTON United Press International

With only hours to go before the windup of the long 1976 presidential primary season, all of the candidates were on the stump - rhetoric escalating, accusations flailing, promises rife.

The three states 9- California, Ohio and New Jersey - have close to a third of the total number of delegates needed for both the Republican and the Democratic nominations.

California is the biggest, but since it is considered all but sure to go for its Democratic governor, Jerry Brown, and its Republican exgovernor, Ronald Reagan, most of the excitement was elsewhere.

Ohio is crucial for President Ford, who must win both it and New Jersey with a big enough delegate pickup to offset Reagan's expected win of the big delegate block in California. Ford flew to Ohio from New Jersey

Sunday and scheduled a 288-mile motorcade today, insisting his televisiom ads — which hit at Reagan's foreign policy positions are justified by the challenger's own

Referring to Reagan's statements concerning the use of American troops to keep the peace in Rhodesia Ford's commercial said: "Governor Reagan could not start a war. Presi dent Reagan could." The Reagan camp called it unfair and underhanded. But there was no indication it would be withdrawn. Reagan returned to California Sun day for a final day of blitzing his home state. Ohio could be just as crucial for the Democratic candidates. A big Jimmy Carter win there, it is generally conceded, would all but cinch the nomination for the former Georgia governor

But a loss either to Morris Udall it would be his first win - or to Frank Church, who entered late but has campaigned hard, would be a severe blow to his stretch drive and might bring him yet another opponent Hubert Humphrey.

Humphrey, who cinched 51 of his-homr state's 65 delegates Sunday, says he will "reassess" his position once the primaries are over - unless Carter wins Ohio with enough delegates to put him within reach of the prize.

Udall said Tuesday is "judgment day," and told a crowd in Parma, Ohio: "if Jimmy Carter wins big here in Ohio, it's all over - you know who your nominee is going to be."

Carter seeks to overcome Jewish voters' misgivings about him with a strong stand on Israel's future. In a speech Sunday he pledged an "absolute" commitment to Israel's

Honorary marshals named for Bicentennial parade

Nine honorary marshals have been named for Manchester's June 12 Bicentennial Parade, many of them descendents of the early settlers of Manchester. The parade will start at Honorary marshals are:

Ruthuen T. Bidwell, a descendent of Capt. Ozias Bidwell who answered the Lexington alarm. The Bidwell family was one of the first proprietors of Manchester., Earl Bissell, the descendent of Capt. Ozias Bissell who was a hero of the Revolution and served in the French and Indian wars. He was captured by the British in the Battle of Long Island. All five of his sons served in the Revolutionary War. Leslie Buckland, whose ancestor, Elisha Buckland, answered the Lexington alarm. Another, Arron Buckland, opened the first Manchester Textile Mill on Bigelow

St. in 1870. Mrs. Hazel (Driggs) Lockward, a descendent of John Driggs, who also answered the Lexington alarm and was one of the first settlers of Wap-ping. For many generations, her family operated a large farm in the same area on the border of Wapping. Manchester and Vernon.

John Cheney, whose ancestor, Timothy Cheney, started the first clock shop in Manchester in 1745 near the skating pond in Center Springs Park, which led to the manufacture of silk in Manchester and became known worldwide. Timothy Cheney also served in the Revolution as a captain from Orford Parish, later known as Manchester.

Miss Hazel (Packard) Robb, a descendent of Daniel Packard who answered the Lexington alarm and fought at Bunker Hill. Another, Elmore C. Packard, ran the first pharmacy in Manchester in the Odd Fellows Building at the Center. The original home of Elmore Packard is where the older section of Whiton Library now stands.

Lt. Col. Francis P. DellaFera, who formerly served as town director and chairman of the Republican Town Committee and has been active in town civic and fraternal affairs. He will serve on the staff of Maj. David Gay, chief of staff for the Bicentennial Parade.

Mrs. Murphey to take part in third centennial parade

Mrs. Horace Murphey of Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Manchester, will be riding in her third centennial parade June 12 when she accompanies her husband, one of the parade marshals, in the Bicentennial Parade.

Mrs. Murphey, the former Gladys M. Kletzle, was the "Spirit of Education" on the educational float in the Manchester Centennial Parade in 1923. At that time she was a senior in the South Manchester High School class of 1924.

In 1973, she rode in the Manchester Sesquicentennial Parade with her husband, who was grand marshal of

She and her husband formerly lived at 16 Benton St. in a house built by Mrs. Murphey's father, the late John M. Kletzle, who was a superintendent of Cheney Bros. machine shop for 27 years. He left the post in 1938 to work at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Technologies, East Hartford. He retired as a foreman in 1947.

GOP leader criticizes Democrats

HARTFORD (UPI) Democrats who control the egislature have spent too much time on insignificant matters while ignoring the state's real problems, according to Senate Minority Leader Lewis B. Rome, R-

"No one can accuse the Democrats of not paying attention to details this session," Rome said Sunday. "Unfortunately that's about all they've attended

"The Democrats lack of action outweigh any accomplishments they made this year," he said. Rome listed failure to cut spending and reform the budgetary process and the welfare system as areas where the Democrats had failed. Mock interview

Robert Butler, a senior at Manchester High School, is being interviewed by T.A. Harcharik, employe relations supervisor at Union Carbide, during a job seeking workshop conducted in the training room at Sears at the Parkade. Mock interviews were held following a discussion on proper dress and how to fill out job applications. Workshop leaders stressed the need for persistence in seeking employment and a positive attitude of wanting a job, even though the employment situation in the area is bleak. The program was sponsored by the MHS guidance department. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Oswald: "Starting in 1975, New York's Cavendish Club

runs an invitation tournament for the benefit of the Children's cancer fund. Jim Jacoby won it last year with Jeff Westheimer. This year it was won by Allen Sontag and Peter Weischsel, one of the best young pairs today."

DEAR ABBY: While buying postage stamps at the post office, the man behind me complained to the stamp clerk that the price of postage was about to break him.

The postal employee said, "Well, either deliver the letter yourself or call long distance!"

That postal employee should bear these facts in mind: Since 1956, long-distance telephone rates have been DECREASED 14 times and increased only twice!

On the other hand look at what has becomed to the mail now goes air.)

DEAR WOON: It's still a bargain. And that last increase has had a sobering effect on us. Now we stop and wonder if what we have to say is really worth 13 cents.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a grown man, well over 21, and I've had enough experience along this line to know better, but I got myself into a tight spot.

About six months ago I started dating this cute young chick, and we really dug each other. The problem is, I did mention marriage, but I most definitely did not say when.

Well, I really don't want to get married, Abby, I've been that route and it's not for me, but you know how it is when the lights are low and the music gets to you - a guy makes a ot of "campaign promises."

I guess this chick told her mother and all her friends that we're getting married sometime late summer. Abby, I'm not about to marry this gal or anybody else right now, so what

TALKS TOO MUCH DEAR TALKS: A man who makes "campaign promises" is definitely a candidate, so prepare to run – in one direction or the other.

DEAR ABBY: Because you are able to solve so many diverse problems, I am presenting mine.
In our home we have color TV, which is on almost all of the time. It is situated so that I am very close to it while I am in my kitchen doing my laundry. I have read that radiation from color TV can be ingerous, so I don't dare do the laundry while the TV is My husband insists that I am being foolish to worry about the radiation. What are the facts?

DEAR MRS. S.: After considerable research, the consensus is that the radiation from a color TV is so minimal, it is no threat whatsoever, so go ahead and do your laundry,
