Ford spendes $11 million in primaries

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford has spent more than $11 million in his bid for the GOP nomination and can spend $2.4 million more before reaching the legal limit,, according to his campaign committee.

A report filed by the Ford Committee with the Federal Election Commission showed that as of June only $8.5 million he spent count toward the $10.9 million legal spending ceiling.

But a considerable part of the $2.4 million left over was spent on this week's California, Ohio, and New Jersey primaries.

As of June 1, the Ford campaign had a cash balance of about $550,000 and received another $200,000 is federal funds after the report was filed. The campaign listed debts totaling $220,000.

Going into June, Ford expended more money in Texas than any other state, sending nearly $870,000 in the May 1 Texas primary which Ronald Reagan swept. Ford spent $765,000 in Florida and $762,000 in Illinois, two primaries he won. As of June 1, his losing Califor nia primary had cost Ford $520,000.

HOMELY!

DEAR ABBY: Last summer we sent Jimmy, our 12-year-old son, back east to visit both sets of grandparents. They live within 15 minutes of one another, and Jimmy had a wonderful time visiting back and forth. When he came home, he said he was very upset when his paternal grandparents told him stories about how "stupid" his father had been in school and what a "cry baby" and "sissy" he had been as a boy. This hurt my husband's sissy ne nad been as a boy. This nurr my husband s feelings, and it took us a long time to explain to Jimmy that his grandparents shouldn't have put down his father— who's a wonderful man and deserves respect. Jimmy wants to go back this summer, but we don't want

Ask Kleiner By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Why do the TV networks insist upon having Barbara Walters appear in anything that requires talking? The Women's Awards show was a fiasco as far as she was concerned — her rambling, mambling, low talking and fast going was too much for many of us. So many women commentators have wonderful diction. Why Barbara Walters? L.R.T.

No matter what you (or I) may think of her, she is the fairhaired woman today. ABC just lured her away from NBC with a $1 million-a-year, five-year contract. They obviously think the public likes her, despite her hard-to-understand delivery. Just goes to show you - there's more to show business than

DEAR DICK: Is Charo, the singer, married? And, if so, to whom? DWIGHT BRADEN, Reno, Nev.

Sure, Charo is Mrs. Xavier Cugat. And, despite the age difference, it seems to be a marriage that works very well. DEAR DICK: For many years, Miss Miller has been in Mery Griffin's audience, and in the past months I saw her with Mike Douglas and Carol Burnett. Is she really a private person or is it a publicity stunt? She fascinates me. MARILYN,

Welland, Ont., Can. Yes, she is a private person, a lady who has endeared herself to hosts like Griffin and Douglas. In fact, Douglas looks for her whenever he originates his show in Los Angeles. He says that if she didn't exist he'd have to invent her because. to him, she symbolizes the audience.

DEAR DICK: The first sound movie I recall seeing was "A Girl of the Limberlost" in 1934, when a traveling man showed it to a small school group. Who played in it besides Marjorie Main? Seems like Jean someone was the girl star. R.C. MCCOURT, Gladewater, Tex.

Either your memory or my reference books are playing tricks. The cast of that film was headed by Louise Dresser. Ralph Morgan, Marion Marsh, Henry B. Walthall and Betty Blythe. No Marjorie Main. No Jean Someone.

DEAR DICK: Are Linda Blair of "The Exorcist" and Linda Purl of "The Young Pioneers" the same person? They look very much alike. S. Cardwell, Springfield, Mo. No. They're two entirely separate Lindas.

DEAR DICK: I have seen "Dr. Zhivago" three times and I still don't know who played the part of Victor Komorowski. Also, who played Pasha, Julie Christie's boy friend who wears spectacles? F.M.P., Stockton, Ca.

Rod Steiger was Victor and Tom Courtenay was Pasha DEAR DICK: Was John Hillerman, who plays Simon Brimmer on Ellery Queen, ever in radio? He has such a good voice and it sounds familiar. L.E. WEAVER, Republic, Mo. No. Hillerman was too young to have been around in the glory days of radio. He says he's done a few things, but nothing anybody would remember him from. But you're right abou his voice being especially good.

DEAR DICK: I have some questions about Mark Shera of S.W.A.T. Will be ever star in a movie? And does be smoke or drink? My friend says he does. DEE RHOADS, Williamsport,

"Ever" is a long time. At the moment, there are no movie plans for Shera, although that is something he would very much like to do. Yes, he does smoke and does drink a little, but nothing excessive. Does that bother you?

DEAR DICK: Subject: Dwight Frye. He was Bela Lugosi's Man Friday in the original "Dracula." Might you know if he still lives? H.E.R., Oklahoma City, Ok. Frye, who made a career out of playing crazy hunchbacks and might have gone on to greatness. DEAR DICK: I have heard that Irene Ryan, Granny on The Beverly Hillbillies, was dead. Is that true? W.D. WEST, and other weird creatures, died in 1943. He was 44 at the time,

Somerset, Ky.
DEAR DICK: Is Betty Grable still alive? DEACON JARVIES, Manassa, Colo.
DEAR DICK: Is Henry Winkler — Fonzie — alive or dead?

11:30 (22) Baseball: Red SUSAN SIMMONS, New Orleans, La. Irene and Betty are dead, but Henry is still with us.

Facing the green just past the junction of Rts. 87 and 209 is the home Joseph Trumbull built in 1735 for his son Jonathan, who was then 25, newly married, and just beginning his career as a merchant. The following year he launched his political career as Lebanon's deputy in the General Assembly.

Governor from 1769 to 1784, Trumbull provided a steady hand as Connecticut went from colony to state. He was, in fact, the only royal governor who supported the Revolution from the outset.

The Trumbull house is open to visitors Tuesday through Saturday from 1 to 5. Remarkably well preserved and furnished with authen-

The spacious ten-room home was not too grand for a Calvinist merchant, and not too large for the family of six children raised there.

Among its special features are the center hall construction, and the three separate chimneys that merge into a single center stack.

Upstairs, the room where the Governor worked has small antechamber that became a sentrybox for a soldier who stood guard there during the Revolution. (Because of Trumbull's stand on independence, there was a price on his head.) The single window in the study is high up on the wall, so that the occupant could not be seen from outside.

A narrow "hidden" staircase in the back of the house, according to the stories, allowed the Governor to go unseen from his study to the un-

Both buildings have been moved from their original positions and the tunnel is long since filled in, but the War Office is just down the road and open to visitors Saturdays or by arrangement with the Trumbull House curator.

Originally a business office and store from which Trumbull, and his father before him, conducted an extensive trading business, the War Office was the center of Connecticut's critical supply effort which won her the title "Provisions State" during the Revolutionary War. The state government's Council of Safety met in its plain chamber more than a thousand times, the Governor presiding, to decide on military and other questions. Famous visitors who came to consult Jonathan Trumbull included Washington, Lafayette, Rochambeau, Benjamin Franklin, Samuel and John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Generals Putnam and Knox, and the Duc de Lauzun, whose the green during the winter of 1780-
